NEW PLAN TO BRING PEACE IN MEXICO HAS PROMISE OF SUCCESS

Mediators Hope to Bring Warring Factions Together.

Might Effect Settlement Without Need of Armistice.

Sending of Carranza Agents to Niagara Pleases Mediators.

FORMAL INVITATION TO CONFER IS ISSUED.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 22.—The United States government has invited representatives of Gen. Carranza and Gen. Huerta to meet at an informal conference here with the hope of bringing about the pacification of Mexico.

The Huerta delegates today informed the American delegates through the mediators that they were willing to deal with the Constitutionalists in this way.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 22.—Actual negotiations between representatives of the two fighting factions in Mexico, in an effort to agree on an individual for the provisional presidency, is the latest plan which the mediators have evolved for the solution of the Mexican problem.

Just how the two elements will be drawn together remained a secret today, but it became known that strong pressure had brought to bear on Gen. Carranza, through the American government, and that the mediators had persuaded the Huerta government to come into the plan.

Informal parleys between the representatives of the two factions, outside of the formal mediation proceedings but with the counsel and advice of the American delegates, is the object of the new plan. This move was adopted as a last resort—every effort to get the Constitutionalists to agree to an armistice as desired by the mediators having failed.

Mexicans to Save Themselves.

The appeal which is said to have influenced both factions is that the Mexicans themselves must save their country from further spoliation and bloodshed by each making certain sacrifices, but neither side will be asked to abandon the principles for which they have been contending. It will be sev-

WILL FOLLOW ROUTE WASHINGTON TOOK

S. A. R. Will Go From Philadelphia to Cambridge, Mass.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—Preliminary to the starting tomorrow of the pilgrimage from this city to Cambridge, Mass., over the route taken by Gen. Washington 139 years ago when he went to New England to take command of the continental army in 1775, members of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution today visited historical places in this city and Germantown and also made a trip to Valley Forge. The visitors were the guests of the Philadelphia chapter of the society.

MURDER SYNDICATE TOOL IS EXECUTED

Nineteen-Year-Old Italian Is Electrocuted at Sing Sing.

Ossining, N. Y., June 22.—Peter Rebacci, a 19-year-old Italian, a tool of a blackhand "murder syndicate" in Westchester county, was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison today for the murder of Tony Marro of White Plains. Rebacci had figured in other crimes, and on his promise to expose the workings of the "murder syndicate" Governor Glynn granted him a six months reprieve.

BEGINS INQUIRY IN LORIMER BANK CASE

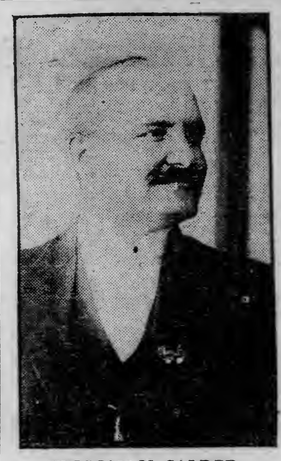

Illinois Prosecutor Has Session With State Examiner.

Chicago, June 22.—A conference between Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney, and Daniel V. Harkin, state bank examiner, today was scheduled to open the state's attorney's inquiry into the closing of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings banks and the other Chicago state banks of the Lorimer-Munday chain.

Hoyne said that he would study the report Harkin made to the state auditor and then would summon the employes of the bank for examination. Harkin turned his attention today to the four affiliated state banks closed by the suspension of the La Salle Street banks.

The Fernwood Trust & Savings bank, a small suburban private institution with deposits of $20,000, closed its doors today for the purpose of going out of business. The bank is said to be solvent, but unable to withstand a run inspired by the failure of other banks recently, especially a neighboring institution which belonged to the Lorimer-Munday string.

WILLIAM M. CALDER.

Albany, N. Y., June 22.—William M. Calder of New York has announced himself a candidate for senator from New York state to succeed Elihu Root. Mr. Calder is a member of congress. He was born in Brooklyn in 1869. He is a builder. He was building commissioner of Brooklyn borough before he was elected to congress.

BANK BOARD PROBE IS ON

Senate Committee Looks Into Records of Reserve Officers.

President Expects Fight on Some of His Appointees.

Washington, June 22.—Searching the records of the five men President Wilson has nominated for the Federal reserve board began today in the senate banking committee, but no formal action was taken.

Friends of the administration admitted they would press for immediate confirmation of the nominees, and several senators seemed satisfied with President Wilson's explanation of how Thomas B Jones of Chicago came to own one share of stock of the International Harvester company. The president wrote to Senator Owen that Mr. Jones owned the stock merely to qualify as a director, and that he entered the Harvester board to correct conditions the government is now fighting through the department of justice.

Paul M. Warburg of New York also was discussed at today's meeting.

Mr. Jones will have an opportunity to appear before the committee. Several members want to hear from Mr. Jones himself just what his relations have been with the Harvester company.

President Wilson expects a fight on the confirmation of nearly all the men he nominated, but it was made clear in circles close to the president today that he thinks the board the best it was possible to get and will stand behind it.

Chairman Owen went to the White House after the meeting of the committee. Senator Lewis conferred with the president over the nomination of Mr. Jones. The president is understood to have decided on Mr. Jones for governor of the board and is particularly interested in his confirmation.

HIRE TRUCKS TO CARRY U. S. MAIL

Action Follows Refusal of Electric Company to Serve.

Washington, June 22.—As a result of the Connecticut Electric Railway company's refusal to transport mail, Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart today instructed postmasters in Connecticut to hire automobiles or trucks for that purpose. The company abandoned the service last night.

HAMMOND IS SURE WINNER

Has Safe Lead for Democratic Nomination for Governor.

Preus Wins Out Over Rines for State Auditorship.

St. Paul, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The nomination of W. S. Hammond, Democratic candidate for governor, is now practically assured. Official returns received today made little change in the reported lead of the two as recorded yesterday.

Congressman Hammond has a lead over his rival, D. W. Lawler of St. Paul, of between 800 and 1,000, while Mr. Preus is credited with a net gain of over 900. This includes first and second choice votes. There are eleven counties yet to be heard from, and it is said they will make little change in the finals as recorded by Secretary of State Schmahl.

Seventy-five Counties In.

Up to noon seventy-five counties have made official returns. There are still eleven counties out, but they are expected to report in time for the state canvassing board, which will meet tomorrow.

A tabulation of the seventy-five counties reporting gives Hammond a lead of only 94, but reports by wire from the other counties bring his lead up to the figure named. St. Louis county, which is among the missing, gave Congressman Hammond a majority of over 500. There are ten other counties

PLAN TWO BIG WORLD PEACE CONFERENCES

Protestants Will Meet at Constance, Catholics at Liege.

New York, June 22.—Plans for a world church peace council to be held in Constance, Switzerland, on Aug. 2 and to continue four days, the first event of its kind in history, were announced last night by Dr. Frederick L. Lynch, secretary of the Church Peace union founded by Andrew Carnegie in February with an endowment of $2,000,000.

On the same days, in Liege, Belgium, a peace conference of Catholics has been arranged under the leadership of Count Albert Apponyi, the Hungarian statesman and peace advocate.

Both meetings will be under the auspices of the Carnegie union. According to the arrangements, only members of the Protestant denominations will participate in the conference at Constance.

The conferences at Constance and Liege are intended, Dr. Lynch said, as a preliminary step toward a church peace congress of monumental proportions to be held in 1916 at the time of The Hague peace conference.

PARTIES TO $100,000 HEART BALM SUIT

ENGENE ZIMMERMAN.

ICY WAREHAM.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 22.—Icy Wareham was not cold to the pleadings of Eugene Zimmerman, according to her story. The famous Cincinnati railroad man melted her heart with the warmth of his protests and she promised to marry him. Thereupon Eugene got cold feet—at least this is Icy's story—and refused to fulfill his promise. Hence Icy's suit against Eugene for $100,000, brought in New York. Miss Wareham is a dog fancier and runs famous kennels at Elmhurst, L. I.

Mr. Zimmerman is a railroad capitalist, but he is better known as the father of the duchess of Manchester and the financial backer of the duke. Miss Wareham says Mr. Zimmerman promised to marry her in December last.

HAVE FOUND 181 CORPSES

Searchers in Canadian Mine Find Fifty Together.

Village Cemetery Prepared for Most of Male Population.

Hillcrest, Alta., June 22.—Discovery by rescuers of fifty bodies lying in one of the tunnels of Mine No. 20 of the Hillcrest Collieries, Ltd., today brought up to 181 the total of recovered dead at the mine, which was wrecked by an explosion Friday, causing the deaths of 195 men.

Eighty grave-diggers worked all day in the little mountainside cemeterday just outside the village and by night it is expected the greater portion of the former male population of the mining colony will be resting there.

Although it is understood an official investigation into the cause of the explosion is being conducted by the owners, no explanation of its origin has been made. The generally accepted theory is that the disaster was due to an explosion of gas, which had accumulated in the lower levels.

J., began sessions here today to study industrial conditions in Philadelphia. The hearings will continue throughout the week. Today's sessions were given over to examining witnesses on general industrial conditions and relations.

PUBLIC WEAL THEIR THEME

American Medical Association Delegates Renew Health Fight.

Comprehensive Program Is Outlined at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 22.—Wrestling with the world-wide problem of public health is to be undertaken with renewed vigor by the American Medical association. This broader aspect of public health conservation was dominant at the opening here today of the sixty-fifth annual meeting of the association.

Today's session was that of the house of delegates, the legislative body of the association, which now represents a membership of 41,029. The treasurer's report shows a balance of more than $140,000. Among the expenditures for the year were $18,465 for education, and more than $10,000 "for propaganda against frauds and fakes."

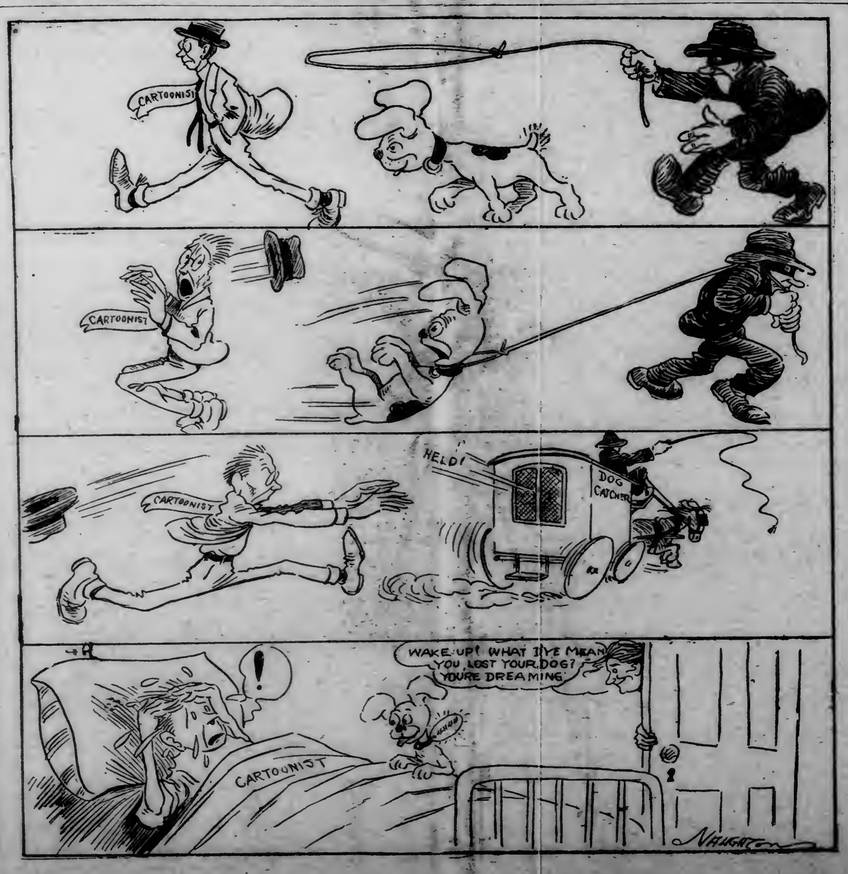

Comprehensive Plans.

The report of the council of health and public instruction outlined a comprehensive program for extending the study of the public health. The plans are for a thorough investigation of public health conditions in the United States, with the gathering of more reliable data; the education of the public "by every possible means," and the "crystallizing of public sentiment in obtaining necessary public health laws, regulations and ordinances which will render possible a conservation of human life commensurate with our advancing knowledge."

MUST ACT AS TO NEW HAVEN

Legislative Delay Will Mean Pressing of Dissolution Suit.

President Wilson Makes Statement as to Government Plans.

Washington, June 22.—President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds are agreed that the dissolution suit against the New Haven railroad must go forward unless the Massachusetts legislature empowers the holding company to sell its Boston & Maine stock.

President Wilson told inquirers today that unless the legislature acted in line with the suggestions of the attorney general and Governor Walsh, the only course left open to the department of justice would be to go ahead with the Sherman lawsuit, which has been held up, according to the agreement between Chairman Elliott of the New Haven and Mr. McReynolds.

Time Expires July 15.

When negotiations for the peaceful dissolution of the New Haven merger approached a point several weeks ago where a settlement without a protracted contest in the courts seemed assured, Attorney General McReynolds agreed to hold back the government's suit until July 15, awaiting the action of the Massachusetts legislature. The consent of that body is necessary before the holding company may sell its Boston & Maine stock.

The disposition of those holdings is one of the government's foremost demands. Officials of the New Haven agreed to it and Governor Walsh recommended that the legislature pass a bill necessary to that end. Last week the legislature referred the bill to a recess committee, and a delay until after Christmas was threatened.

Officials here expect to see the suit filed before the expiration of the time limit set by Mr. McReynolds, unless the legislature takes the action recommended by the governor and the Federal government.

IOWAN SENDS $630 TO CONSCIENCE FUND

Government Has Received Nearly $500,000 in That Way.

Washington, June 22.—Secretary McAdoo received a $630 contribution to the conscience fund today from somebody in Burlington, Iowa. There was no clew to the identity of the sender of the record contribution for the current fiscal year.

Nearly a half million dollars has found its way back to the government in that mysterious fashion since Madison's time.

FEDERAL PROBE OF MISSISSIPPI WRECK.

St. Louis, Mo., June 22.—A Federal inquiry into the sinking of the excursion steamer Majestic in the Mississippi river near St. Louis early Saturday morning, was begun here today. One life was lost in the sinking of the ship, which struck the foundation of the new intake tower of the municipal waterworks one hour after 800 girls and women had been put ashore at Alton, Ill.

Government Loses Oil Land Case in the Supreme Court.

Judges Hold Other Construction Would Be Disastrous.

Declare Reversion Clause in Patents Is of No Effect.

Washington, June 22.—Trans-continental railways won their fight for title to some $700,000,000 worth of oil lands when the supreme court today held void the clause in the patents making the land revert to the government if found to contain minerals.

The court held that the patents were irregular, but that they could not be attacked collaterally—by other claimants—but could only be set aside by a direct attack by the government.

The government has a separate suit, distinguished from the case today, to cancel the patents to oil lands held by the transcontinental carriers.

Today's decision was in a case brought by Edmund Burke of California, who claimed the right to lands now held by the Southern Pacific on the ground that they should revert to the government because oil had been found after the issue of the patents to the railroad.

Oil Lands Are Mineral.

Inasmuch as all the transcontinental lines have similar lands, they came into the proceeding. The court decided practically only one point in favor of the government's contentions—that oil lands were mineral lands.

The recovery, however, of lands exceeding in value seven times all the gold coin in the United States and more than all the personal property and real estate taxed in Louisiana, Rhode Island, Virginia, North Carolina or Nebraska, was involved.

Justice Vandevanter for the court, incidentally emphasized the claim that the government's time in which it could attack the patents had expired in 1900 or 1901.

"In every case before this court," said Justice Vandevanter, "we have held that where the law says that only mineral or homestead lands are to be granted by the land officials, the officials must do their duty of ascertaining whether that land came within the law, and that they could not perform their duty by inserting exceptions that the land should not pass if found later to be not within the law."

Upheld Roads' Contention.

This was precisely the contention of the attorneys for the railroads.

Justice Vandevanter pointed out that all the land patents granted to railroads since 1866 contained a clause declaring the land should not pass from the government if later it was found to contain minerals.

"Let us see what this would mean in the case of the Northern Pacific," said he. "The Northern Pacific got every alternative section of land in a forty-

AVIATOR ATWOOD AND WIFE ARE SAFE

Airship Beaten Down to Island in Erie By Storm.

Toledo, Ohio, June 22.—Aviator Harry N. Atwood and bride, supposed to have been drowned in Lake Erie while flying in an airboat from Sandusky to Toledo yesterday during an electrical storm, are safe at Bono, on the lake shore, twelve miles east of Toledo.

At 5 o'clock this morning Atwood telephoned to Toledo that his airship had been beaten down by the storm to a small island and that later he made his way to the main land in the airboat, which was undamaged. Atwood did not say what island. He said he expected to continue the flight to Toledo today.

"FIGHT IN THE OPEN" IS WILSON'S PLEA

President Gives His View of Anti-Trust Law Campaign.

Washington, June 22.—Discussing the so-called "psychological" business depression with callers today, President Wilson declared he had no quarrel with any persons or corporations who desired to express either to him or to congress their own opinions on business conditions and anti-trust legislation; but he contended that systematic circulation of form letters and telegrams protesting against new legislation was "certainly open to criticism."

The president said all he wanted was a square deal, and that everything should be open and aboveboard. Telegrams and letters sent broadcast to be signed and forwarded to government officials constituted an artificial campaign, he believed.

PRESIDENT WOULD SELL BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, June 22.—President Wilson told inquirers today that he was supporting the provision in the naval bill to sell the battleships Mississippi and Idaho to Greece. He has been assured by A. Vouros, Greek charge d'affaires, that battleships are not to be used in any immediate war. Mr. Wilson told callers that if he had any idea that the vessels were to be used against Turkey or any other nation he would not support the project.

EDUCATION OF THE NEGRO

Speaker Says Race Is Blamed for Crimes of Few Illiterates.

An interesting lecture on the education of the Southern negro was given last night at the Westminster Presbyterian church by James A. Dooley, principal of the Southern Normal and Industrial college of Brewton, Ala. The speaker quoted statistics to show that during the fifty years that the negro had been liberated his people have made rapid strides in education and that although less than 10 per cent of the negroes were able to read and write half a century ago that today more than 70 per cent of them had educations.

Mr. Dooley and his family, assisted by one of the instructors of the school, rendered several of the religious plantation songs and ditties as sung by the slaves prior to the war. Mrs. Dooley also gave a reading from Dunbar's works.

The speaker told of the condition in the district where the Brewton school was founded by him three years ago. He said that the school board of that town had met each year regularly and appropriated $125 to operate this school on the condition that the building and the instructors could be secured for five months. There were eighty colored children attending the school, he said.

Compulsory school laws and aid for schools were, he said, necessary for the salvation of the people of the South. He said that not only were the negroes lax in sending their children to school, but that many of the white people were also delinquent.

The crimes charged to negroes he said were not committed by those who had the education, but by the uneducated negro. He appealed to the audience to assist the people of the South in educating these people in order that the entire black race might not be condemned for the work of the few.

According to the plans outlined by Mr. Dooley, the school seeks to raise a building fund of $10,000. The school now has 260 acres of land and a small building. Various trades are being taught, as well as agricultural work. With the $10,000 it is proposed to erect school buildings, which would cost that amount, but which he said could be erected for half the sum, because he intended that the students should do the work, and a large amount of the material was to be had on the ground, the other half to go towards the purchase of necessary equipment for the institution.

TOWN TOO "DRY" FOR CONVENTION

Crosby Cannot Accommodate Royal League—Plans Are Changed.

Members of the Royal League of West Duluth will not go to Crosby this year to attend the annual conclave of the lodge. The reason given is that Crosby went "dry." Because of that fact the state convention will be held this year in Duluth.

It is not that members of the Royal League are addicted to the liquor habit and the lack of getting liquor is preventing them from holding their convention at Crosby, they say. But it is because the town went dry and thereby put out of business the paying end of the hotel business leaving the place without hotel accommodations for the visitors.

H. H. Stone, special deputy for the lodge in Duluth said this morning that it would be impossible for the members to be accommodated with lodging and meals during the two convention days and the idea of holding the convention there had to be abandoned.

The West Duluth and Pocohontas councils will meet tomorrow night at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms for the purpose of electing officers as well as delegates to the convention. Plans will also be made to assist Zenith and Ruth councils in entertaining the delegates to the convention. The state meet will be held the latter part of July.

AUTO OVERTURNS; INFANT IS KILLED

Little Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Johnson Victim of Accident.

Mabel, the 10-months'-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Johnson, 912 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, died at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning from injuries sustained when the family automobile, carrying her parents and 4-year-old brother, turned turtle at 10:30 o'clock Saturday evening at Sixty-second avenue and Bristol street. Mrs. Johnson was the only other occupant of the car to be injured but her injuries were slight.

Mr. Johnson was driving along Bristol street returning from spending the evening with friends in the western end of the city. On following Bristol street he ran onto the washout caused by a recent storm at the intersection of Sixty-second avenues. The machine turned turtle and their infant daughter was caught under the car.

Services of a physician were immediately secured but the injuries to the head were such that it was impossible to save the child.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Interment will be made in Oneota cemetery.

A banquet, at which it is expected there will be more than 200 guests, will be served this evening at the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, and will be one of the principal features of the silver jubilee of the church. It will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the church began yesterday morning. A short talk by Rev. A. F. Thompson, founder of the church twenty-five years ago, featured the service. Letters were read also from a number of former pastors.

Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the church, will preside at the banquet. The principal address will be made by Bishop William A. Quayle and Rev. M. P. Burns. A musical program has also been arranged.

RAILWAY MUST PAY FOR "NOISE"

Caused Depreciation in Value of Property of Mr. and Mrs. Kernsten.

A jury in Judge Ensign's division of the district court has returned a verdict for $350 in favor of Carl Kernsten and his wife, Minnie Kernsten, of West Duluth, who sued the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company for $2,000 damages claiming that was the amount of the depreciation in the value of their $4,500 home on Sixty-ninth avenue west by reason the operation of a roundhouse in close proximity to the premises.

The Kernstens claimed that the clanging of engines and other noises coming from the roundhouse constituted a nuisance, which the court was asked to abate. It was further sought to have the railway company enjoined from dumping ashes and glowing clinkers in Sixty-ninth avenue in front of the Kernsten premises. The court has not passed on this feature of the case. The jury only disposed of the claim for damages.

AFTER YOUTHFUL CIGARETTE SMOKERS.

The police of West Duluth propose to place a ban on cigarette smoking. Boys or young men under 21 years of age are hereafter to be brought before the court when caught puffing away at the weed.

Last night three young men fell into the net of the officers. They gave the names of Alfred Gagne, 19 years old; George Anderson, 18 years, and Frank Daugherty, 18 years. They were allowed to go on their own recognizance and will be given a special hearing this evening before Judge Lanners.

Lieut. C. E. Wilcox is of the opinion that the boys will give the police the names of dealers who are supplying the tobacco and papers to boys. It is the intention not only to get the boys but also the men who sell the cigarettes.

TELLS OF RESCUE OF EMPRESS' VICTIMS

Second Officer and Sailor on Storstad Testify at Quebec.

Quebec, June 22.—The second officer of the Storstad, Einar Reitnertz, took up the story of the Empress of Ireland tragedy today when the government commission began the second week of its investigation. Reitnertz was asleep in his berth when the steamers collided, and his testimony had to do with events that followed. He said that when he first saw the Empress she was moving rapidly forward.

Reitnertz said that he took charge of one of the boats lowered from the Storstad, and rescued fifty persons from the water on the first trip, although the boat was supposed to carry only thirty. He did not have to row far, he said, to reach the people in the water.

Knute Tonder, a sailor on the collier, said that the Empress was on the port bow of the Storstad when he first saw her. He could tell by the vibration of the propeller, he said, that the Storstad's engines had been put astern.

BOARD MEETS TO HEAR KICKS

One Property Owner Highly Indignant at Tax of $1.80.

Assessment on Black Diamond Samples Is Problem to Equalizers.

The city board of equalization this morning started its series of meetings to hear complaints of those who have objections to make against their assessments for this year. The board consists of City Assessor J. Allyn Scott, Mayor W. I. Prince and City Clerk C. S. Palmer.

From the nature of many of the "kicks" which are registered, the trio might be designated as a board to hear how poverty-stricken are many residents of the city. That has been the experience of previous years, and the session this morning did not indicate that the current year would be any exception.

The first man to appear became quite peeved when the board declined to make a reduction of $25 in his assessed valuation. He was on the books for $150, on which he is allowed an exemption of $100, leaving $50, on which he would have to pay about $1.80. He wanted this cut in two. When the board informed him that he had not paid anything last year, and that no reduction would be recommended, he let loose a few heated remarks about the principle of the thing, rolled his postal card into a ball, pitched it across the table and stamped out into the hall.

Another man had an assessment on which the tax would reach the magnificent sum of 90 cents. He said that his belongings weren't worth anything. But he admitted that he carried $500 of insurance and had a family with three children attending school.

A third had an assessment on which he would contribute the handsome amount of 45 cents towards the maintenance of government, police and fire protection, street maintenance, etc. He declared that it would be a rank injustice if his assessment were not completely wiped off the roll. The man in question has a small store, and the assessment was on his stock of goods and personal belongings.

Other complaints of more magnitude than these were made. Some were adjusted with a simple explanation and others were taken under advisement. One of the latter had to do with the assessment of an automobile owned by a Duluthian, but which has been out of the state since last fall. Another was relative to an assessment for black diamonds handled by a local representative of a New York firm.

The assessment for 1914 is still incomplete. Up to date the records show that it will run from $14,000,000 to $14,500,000, which will leave the total about the same as last year, according to the assessor. The moneys and credits, which are classed separately and pay at the rate of $3 per $1,000, will show a gain of $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. Last year they aggregated approximately $14,500,000.

Iron Workers Still Out.

Structural iron workers employed at the Superior normal building are still out on the strike called last week when a dispute as to the wages to be paid arose. No disorder of any kind has taken place as yet and men in other lines of employment are still at work. Labor leaders expect to reach an agreement with the contractor before the end of the week.

STILL TIME TO PLANT VEGETABLES

The Homecroft Committee Urges Householders to Get Seed in Ground.

The homecrofting committee of the Commercial club held a meeting during the lunch hour at the club and discussed the matter of working up enthusiasm for a good and representative exhibit at the annual fall exposition. The committee has already urged upon householders of the city the planting of vegetables, not only for exhibit purposes but to get after the H. C. of L. in Duluth. Many people have complied and are getting their produce in shape to exhibit it next fall.

But the committee is not yet satisfied and is still urging that there be a good deal of planting done. According to a statement given out today by the committee there is still time to plant and develop the following vegetables:

Beans—Scarlet runner, Kentucky Wonder, stringless green pod.
Head lettuce—Big Boston.
Turnip—White egg.
Rutabagas.
Peas—Senator and Telephone.
Endive—Green curled.
Wax Beans—Hudsons.

COPS MUST BE NEAR SPRINTERS

Must Do 100 Yards in Less Than 19 Seconds.

To become policemen or firemen in Duluth applicants must be able to run 100 yards in less than 19 seconds and lift a 78-pound bar bell over their heads more than four or five times.

One of the seventeen applicants for the police force and one of the eight candidates for the fire department lost out in their physical examinations Saturday because they fell down on these tests. They were weak in other respects but were lowest on these two. The examination was given at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium under the direction of Physical Instructor Olson and Secretary Johnson of the city civil service commission. The others will not know whether or not they have been placed on the eligibile lists until their written examinations have been marked.

RAINS WASH OUT KANSAS RAILROADS

Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific Trains Are Tied Up.

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—Heavy rains today washed out railroad tracks in Eastern Kansas and brought to a standstill several railroad lines in the affected district. Near St. Joseph Chicago, Burlington & Quincy trains were being detoured because a bridge at Wester, Mo., went out.

This morning no trains were running between Atchison and Topeka on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, a three-inch precipitation in the intervening district having swept away large stretches of track. The Missouri Pacific road was temporarily tied up between Atchison and Kansas City by washouts.

REDUCTION OF EXPENSES

Platform of Candidate Dahl for Governor of Wisconsin.

No State Tax Necessary for General State Purposes.

Madison, Wis., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew H. Dahl of Vernon county, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, today made public a declaration, calling for reduction of state expenses, a modification of the state highway aid law, retrenchment in building oparations, and co-operation between the governor and heads of departments in avoiding duplication and work. He points to the tremendous economic and financial progress of the state during the past fifteen years. Mr. Dahl say:

"No state tax should be required to meet appropriations for general state purposes. These expenditures can be kept within the revenues derived from corporations and other sources, and the state levy should be limited to the fixed mill taxes for educational purposes.

"The present large sums appropriated for state highway aid have put at the disposal of the highway commission annually a greater sum than can be economically expended. These appropriations should be reduced and greater control of the levying and expenditure of highway funds should be given to the local committees.

Building Retrenchment.

"The people have, in the recent town meetings, not only plainly demanded these changes in the highway laws, but also that a check be placed upon appropriations for new buildings, especially for the university and normal schools. In view of other present demands, the policy of building boys' dormitories at the university at this time, entered upon by the last legislature, seems unwise. The cost will eventually exceed $1,000,000. It should be reconsidered by the next legislature with a view of repealing the $350,000 appropriation heretofore made. Other appropriations for buildings plainly should be extended over such period of years as will avoid burdensome tax levies.

Repeal of Board of Public Affairs.

"To secure proper co%operation and elimination of duplication of service, the govetrnor should call in the heads of the departments for the consideration of important matters affecting state government. In this manner the board of public affairs, costing the state approximately $40,000 per annum, can be dispensed with—and its duties performed by the several departments working in co-operation, without expense to the state.

Abolish Bill Factory.

"The legislative reference library should be brought back to its original purpose, that of furnishing information to the legislature. The 'bill factory' functions should be abolished. This duty should be performed by the legislators, with such clerical assistance as they require from the revisor of statutes."

eral days before the plan will materialize and Constitutionalist delegates can arrive.

In the meantime the mediators and the Huerta and American delegates will continue their discussion of other points in the general peace plan. Separate conversations with the Huerta and American delegates were set for today.

The determination seems to be to leave the question of a provisional president to the two Mexican factions to decide.

Advantage of Plan.

The advantage of the new plan, it is said, is that the conference will be continued while the situation in Northern Mexico is developing.

Fernando Iglesias Calderon, leader of the Liberal party in Mexico, is understood to be the head of the delegation appointed by Carranza to attend the informal conferences here.

The Huerta delegates are understood to have consulted their government and secured permision to deal with the Constitutionalists.

After the conference between the American delegates and the mediators, Justice Lamar said he had not been authorized to make any statement. He indicated, however, that the proceedings would be considerably prolonged. A few minutes later the Mexican delegation was summoned for a conference with the mediators.

Hope of Settlement.

Washington, June 22.—President Wilson and his advisers today were to take up the new course of action proposed by the South American envoys designed to prolong the mediation conference in the hope of an eventual settlement of the Mexican problem. Despite Carranza's reiterated stand against a discussion of the Republic's internal affairs, the mediators, it was declared, had not given up hope of bringing the Constitutionalists into touch with the Niagara conference. Confirmation was awaited here today of reports that the United States had invited Carranza to send his representatives to Niagara Falls to confer with the American delegates.

Welcome to Mediators.

Indications here today were that the coming of the three new representatives of the Constitutionalist movement would open the way for informal negotiations between those forces and the South American mediators at Niagara Falls. That the mediators themselves will welcome anything the American delegates can do with the Constitutionalists was assured here.

The three new delegates en route here, said to have the approval of Gen. eral Carranza and Gen. Villa, are Fernando Iglesias Calderon, who has been in conference with Carranza at Saltillo; Alfredo Breceda, aide to Carranza, and Leopoldo Huertado Espenosa, a member of congress during the Madero administration. It is believed here that Calderon will succeed Rafael Zubaran as chief representative of the Constitutionalists here. The three men are expected Wednesday.

Another mesage from Gen. Carranza to the mediators has been forwarded from Washington to Niagara Falls. In that communication the Constitutionalist first chief is reported to have discussed probable informal negotiations as to a provisional government through the American commissioners.

HAMMOND IS SURE WINNER

among the missing, and the majority of them are for Hammond.

No Recounts.

Threats of a recount in the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and the Republican nomination for auditor went glimmering today when T. W. Doty, representing D. W. Lawler, one of the Democratic candidates for governor, said his client had no such intention. Mr. Doty said he had simply been employed to watch the canvass and see that Mr. Lawler's interests were protected.

Henry Rines, one of the other candidates for state auditor, who early in the game looked like a victor, has given it out that he is satisfied.

The state canvassing board will meet tomorrow and canvass the returns from the various counties. It is expected to report officially by Thursday at the latest.

Jepson and Ellsworth Win.

Lowell E. Jepson of Minneapolis is the Republican nominee for congress in the new Tenth district by a margin of 1,400 votes over J. Adam Bede, former humorist of congress. Bede ran second, leading Senator Victor L. Johnson of Center City by about 500. Jepson carried Wright and Kanabec counties, as well as the Hennepin portion of the district, and ran strong in all the counties.

Complete figures from the Second congressional district show the nomination of Frank F. Ellsworth of Mankato on the Republican ticket by 1,151 votes over Senator J. E. Haycraft of Madelia.

TRANS-CONTINENTAL ROADS ARE VICTORS IN $70,000,000 SUIT

mile wide strip from Duluth to the Pacific. Should these clauses be held valid, the question would arise as to whether those who long ago purchased from the railroad and created farms, ranches and towns upon them had any rights."

The company contended that evidence could not be presented at this day to show that the lands were mineral, and that the issuance of the patents was conclusive proof that they were not. It also argued that the exception was void.

Effect of Statute.

Justice Vandevanter held that a general statute made it the duty of the secretary of the interior to inquire whether the lands were of the class for which a patent could be issued.

Referring to the practice of the land office, Justice Vandevanter said it has been the uniform practice to ask whether the practice was within the limits of the application when the application was made and before the issuing of the patent.

Story of the Case.

More than $700,000,000 worth of oil lands owned by the great transcontinental railroads are involved in the supreme court's decision in the case of Edmund Burke, who claimed title to part of the lands which were granted by the government to the Southern Pacific railroad in California. The government contended that when it gave the lands to the railroad it did not grant valuable minerals not then known to exist.

The government issued a patent in 1894 to the Southern Pacific in aid of its construction of a trancontinental line. Patents were issued likewise to the Northern Pacific and other lines traversing the plains and the Rockies to the coast. Each patent contained an exception and reservation reading as follows:

"Excluding and excepting all mineral lands should any such be found in the tracts aforesaid but this exclusion and exception, according to the terms of the statute, shall not be construed to include coal and iron lands."

Long, Fierce Controversy.

For years a fierce controversy has been waged as to the effect of the discovery of oil. The railroads contended that oil was not a mineral, and therefore oil lands were not excepted from the grant. Furthermore, the railroads contended that the exception was void under the law governing realty.

The government took the position that it could show at any time, even after the issuance of the patent, that the lands were oil in nature, and thus prevent their remaining in the hands of the railroads.

Previous to the government suit, a three-cornered nature of the controversy was emphasized by Burke and others laying claim to a portion of the oil lands under the placer mining laws. They contended that the Southern Pacific had no title to the lands, on much the same grounds as the government, and asserted affirmative title for themselves.

Northern Pacific Entered.

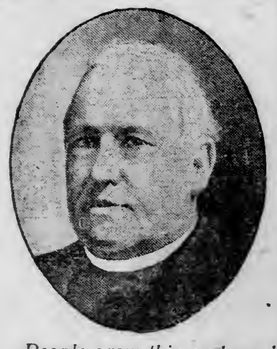

The Northern Pacific obtained leave, because of its indirect interest in the litigation, to present an argument in the case. It contended that other land-grant railroads would be affected vitally by a decision upholding Burke's claim.

The value of the property at stake has been emphasized by showing that it is more than the valuation placed upon both real and personal property for taxation in either Louisiana, Rhode Island, Virginia, North Carolina, or Nebraska, and nearly as great as that in Georgia, Kentucky or Oregon. The value is said to be seven times as great as all the gold coin in the United States, and about three times the combined public debts of the various states.

CENTRAL FIGURES IN MARYLAND MYSTERY

ELLA WINTER.

D. MEREDITH REESE, JR.

Ella Winter is the Baltimore stenographer whose body was found in the water of Curtis creek. She had been on the houseboat of D. Meredith Reese, Jr., and he said he had left her on shore the evening before the body was found, and knew nothing about the cause of her death. Her family instituted an investigation, believing she had been murdered, but the autopsy proved that she had been drowned, and not killed before her body entered the water, as they had believed. Friends said that she had often spoken of unhappiness because of her relations with Reese, and had spoken often of suicide. The authorities believe it a clear case of suicide, but the family of Miss Winter still is investigating the matter.

D. Meredith Reese, Jr., is a Baltimore business man and was the last person to see Ella Winter alive.

HER LIONS KILL LOVER

Madame Castillo's Trained Beasts Partly Devour E. D. Dietrich.

Attack Theater Manager During Stop in Chicago.

Chicago, June 22.—Emerson D. Dietrich of Brooklyn, manager of a theatrical production presenting a troupe of trained lions, was killed and partly devoured last night by six lions when he entered the car in which they were caged.

While the keepers were trying to recover Dietrich's body from the beasts, a lion escaped from an adjoining cage and terrorized residents of the thickly populated quarter in which the car stood. The escaped lion finally was driven back to its car before harming any one.

A pike pole from the fire department was used to withdraw Dietrich's body from the lions after it had been sprinkled with formaldehyde to drive the animals away.

Teddy Led Attack.

George McCord, keeper of the lions, was unable to help Dietrich.

"When he went into the den where the animals are kept," said McCord, "Teddy, the leader of the attack against Dietrich, began to play with him, and he told the beast to get down. Four of the lions were facing him. Finally Teddy slunk around behind him and in a minute was on his back. Four others leaped on him a moment later, and I think his neck was broken at once.

"Trilby, the oldest of the lions, tried to save him, but the others pushed her away, and she quit and watched them, without joining the attack."

Owned by His Fiancee.

The lions were owned by Madame Adgie Castillo, to whom Dietrich was engaged to be married. She declared she had formerly taken care of the animals herself, and said none of them had ever given indications of being vicious. She attributed the attack to the fact that the car was quite dark when Dietrich entered.

The lions had become greatly excited and kept up an incessant roaring which attracted a great crowd.

A score of policemen and members of a fire company were needed to withdraw Dietrich's body from the cage. After the disinfectants had been thrown into the den the animals made repeated plunges at the bars just outside of which the rescuers were working.

The lions have been used in hundreds of public performances, according to Madame Castillo, five or six of them being liberated on the stage together to perform under her direction. She always has controlled them bp using only a short whip.

presented its tenth annual report, showing that in 1904, when the council was created, there were 160 medical colleges in the United States, many of which were organized and conducted a purely commercial basis; that, due largely to the council, the number of colleges has been reduced to about 100; and that whereas in 1906 there were only four medical colleges having a high standard of entrance requirements, there are now eighty-two colleges which require one or more years of college work in addition to a standard four years' high school course as condition for entrance.

Praises Southern Colleges.

The council pays a tribute to the medical colleges of the South for the remarkable manner in which they have grappled with the problems of medical education. In 1907, the southern section of the country had 41 medical colleges, of which 17, or 41.5 per cent, could be rated in class A.

For the first time provision has been made for a careful investigation of post-graduate medical schools of the country. It is a new line of work which the council has not heretofore undertaken.

The committee to consider the movement to commemorate the completion of the Panama canal recommended that a monument be erected, to be financed by the American Medical association, located on the canal zone, at a point to be chosen by the secretary of war; this monument to be commemorative of the contribution of the American Medical association to preventive medicine and sanitary science.

Home Treatment for Sallow, Wrinkled Skin

A. C. F. asks: "What should I do for my sallow complexion, and how can I get rid of my wrinkles?"

Sallowness is best removed by removing the skin itself. This is effectually accomplished by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which causes the offensive outer skin gradually to peel off, in fine particles scarcely noticeable to the naked eye. Within a week or so you will have an enviable complexion, the new skin exhibiting a healthful, youthful tint incomparable with artificial coloring. Get an ounce of this wax at your drug store, apply at night like cold cream, only don't rub it in. Wash it off in the morning with warm water.

For your wrinkles try a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pint witch hazel. Bathe your face in this every morning for a while. The result will surprise you.—Beauty's Mirror.

ROBINSON DENIES MURDER IN BOSTON

Man Wanted for Crimes in Michigan Pleads Not Guilty.

Boston, Mass., June 22.—A plea of not guilty was entered by Lawrence Robinson, alleged slayer of three persons at Grand Rapids, Mich., when arraigned today charged with the murder of Police Inspector Thomas F. Norton. Robinson was committed without bail to Charles Street jail to await a continued hearing June 27.

Norton was shot and killed in a Boylston street restaurant Friday evening as he was about to arrest Robinson for the murder of three jewelry store clerks at Grand Rapids. Robinson was captured after a revolver battle with the police in which he received three wounds.

Manacled to two officers, Robinson was brought in an ambulance today from the City hospital to police headquarters, where he was questioned. Later he was taken across Pemberton square to the courthouse. Despite his wounds he walked up the steps, smiling at the crowd that had gathered to see him. He was not attended by counsel.

BURY FORTY-SEVEN EMPRESS VICTIMS

Both Protestant and Catholic Services Read for Unknown Dead.

Quebec, June 22.—Forty-seven unidentified bodies of persons who perished May 29 in the wreck of the Empress of Ireland were buried today by order of the coroner. Services were conducted by both Protestant and Catholic clergymen.

Diver Loses Life.

Rimouski, Que., June 22.—Efforts to recover bodies from the hull of the sunken liner Empress of Ireland cost the life Sunday of Diver Cossoboom of New York, in the employ of the Quebec Salvage company.

With several other divers, Cossoboom made a descent. After he had been down thirty minutes the men on the surface tried to signal him but received no answer.

Two divers from the British cruiser Essex tried to find him but failed. Another diver from the Essex found Cossoboom lying unconscious on his lifeline. He was brought to the surface, but died in half an hour.

LOCAL FISHERMEN MAKE RICH HAUL.

Catch 400 Pounds of Pike and Sturgeon Weighing 149 Pounds.

Three local sportsmen, Dr. E. H. Lower, G. F. Campbell and E. C. Rigley, have just returned from the northern part of the state after one of the most successful fishing trips of their lives. Four hundred pounds of pike and one sturgeon weighing 149½ pounds were brought to Duluth as a result of their trip.

Fishing at International Falls, Spider lake and Ranier was found to be first class. The sturgeon is said to be the biggest ever caught in this state. A large amount of caviar was taken from the big fish and with caviar and fish selling at the present prices it is probable that the fish will bring more than $50.

AMERICANS FREED BY REBEL LEADERS.

Consul Hanna reported that order has been established at Monterey.

CAP PISTOLS ARE BEING SOLD TO BOYS

The police have received several complaints lately from Duluthians, who claim that local grocers and confectioners are selling cap pistols and caps to boys about the city.

It is against the law to sell fireworks of any kind in Duluth and the police plan to make an investigation of these complaints. It is claimed that several storekeepers have stocked up in preparation for the Fourth of July.

The maximum penalty upon conviction of selling fireworks is $100 or eighty-five days in the county jail.

EDITORIAL

The Cameron-Johnson-Horgan Furniture Co., incorporated at $50,000, slightly more than a year ago, and we had Matteson and McGregor, public accountants, audit our books and records recently. Our sales only show a net profit of 13.4 per cent, we believe by far the lowest percent-of profit known in the furniture business, which substantiates our statements that purchasers do not pay retail shop prices at our salesrooms. The auditors further show we turned our invested capital eight (8) times, thereby yielding the stockholders a handsome profit. Our progressive method of selling a superior quality of furniture at factory distributor's prices enabled us to win huge success in the furniture world.

Our operating expenses also show the most economically conducted business in the city, volume of sales, etc., considered. It's our aim this year to beat the past record 50%.

Right here we wish to thank our many customers for their liberal patronage, assuring you all our policy in the future, as in the past, will be rapid sales and less profits, courteous salesmanship, liberal credit terms and improved delivery service.

STEEL TRADE IMPROVING

Bumper Crop Prospects Are Forcing Railways to Make Ready.

Illinois Central Plans to Spend $10,000,000 in Improvements.

Taken in all, the iron and steel market is considered to have shown some improvement last week, and it is estimated that an increase will be recorded in the aggregate outputs of the plants for the present week.

The feature at present is the better inquiry from the railroads both for rails and equipment, some of the systems deeming it inadvisable to defer holding up their orders any longer in view of the expected bumper crop movement this season. The St. Paul road has placed an order for 40,000 tons of steel rails, the bulk of it going to the United States Steel corporation. The Boston & Maine has ordered 10,000 tons of rails, and the Maryland Steel company received an order for 10,000 tons of rails to be shipped to Australia.

Another interesting development in the trade at the end of last week was the announcement by the Illinois Central that it proposes to expend $10,000,000 in improvements on its system to include some double tracking and the laying of heavier rails over a few stretches of line.

The Canadian outlook for railroad buying has improved as a result of the government guarantee of $45,000,000 Canadian Northern bonds, and of $16,000,000 guarantee to the Grand Trunk Pacific. The former road has just placed an order with the Dominion Steel company for 45,000 tons of rails to be laid on the Pacific coast end of its system.

The pig iron market is said to be showing more activity than in some time back and quotations are stiffening up. The American Steel Foundries company, for example, is reported to have offered $13 per ton for from 5,000 to 10,000 tons of basic iron to be delivered at its Sharon and Alliance plants, without finding any takers at the quotation. In the last two weeks, Birmingham, Ala., reports between 160,000 and 175,000 tons of foundry iron sold, mostly for third quarter delivery.

It is intimated that considerable new construction is under contemplation at some of the Eastern steel plants, to be proceeded with in the near future. Improvements costing many thousands of dollars, in addition to the building of four open-hearth furnaces at Wheatland, Pa., are to be made at its finishing department by the Sharon Steel Hoop company. Work on these betterments is to be started within the next few weeks.

DEEDS NEEDED TO RECLAIM ZION

Judge Bregstone Talks on Zionism at Adath Israel Synagogue.

"Not tears and lamentations, but deeds of service are to be the means of regaining Jerusalem for the Jews," declared Judge Phillip P. Bregstone of Chicago in an address on "Zionism, Past, Present and Future," before a large gathering of Duluth Jews at the Adath Israel synagogue.

"Zionism," he added, "is no longer a dream of the past, but a reality. The love of Zion is older than organized Zionism; and is growing, and will grow, until the prophecy of Isaiah, the prophet, that the day will come when the wolf and the lamb will lie down together and when the spears shall be converted into prunning hooks and the sword will be hammered into the plough shares, is fulfilled.

"Theodore Herzl, the founder of Zionism, came into the Jewish life a brilliant comet across the horizon—unexpected and unannounced. But Herzl's ideas left an everlasting and glorious light for all ages to come. So long as there will be a Jewish people, so long will there be a remembered and beloved Herzl. Where there was despair, he planted hope; where before men had walked bowed beneath the weight of shameful persecution, ashamed to look men fairly in the eye, now walked men erect, fearless and hopeful of the fulfillment of the prophecies of old.

"Hebrew is the speech in the street as well as the school or synagogue in Palestine. The old land is truly reclaimed. From the homes and fields resound the laughter and song of women and children, joyously performing their tasks, happy in the knowledge that here they have found a haven of freedom and peace."

Max Oreckovsky, president of Ohave Zion Gate of Duluth, presided at the meeting. Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits of Temple Emmanuel preceded Judge Bregstone with a few remarks, making a strong appeal in behalf of Zionism.

On Wednesday evening Judge Bregstone will address the Kodivrum club on "The Rise and Development of Yiddish Literature" at the Montefiore Hebrew free school. During his stay in Duluth Judge Bregstone will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Goldberg of the Holland. He will spend a week here, after which he will deliver addresses in Fargo and Grand Forks, before returning to Chicago.

HILL SEES BRIGHT BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Empire Builder Expects Crop to Exceed That of 1912.

James J. Hill is now optimistic on the crop and general business outlook.

In the course of an interview in New York after a trip over the Great Northern as far as the Rockies, he expressed the opinion that if nothing untoward happens between now and the harvest, this season's crop would be larger than that of 1912. He found that the prospects are excellent everywhere. He did not think that as a general rule the railroads in the Northwest would be confronted with any insurmountable difficulties in moving the expected bumper crop.

"Great Northern is rushing outside work and will have its tracks in fine shape for the fall and winter by the middle of July," he said. "We have been employing more men than last year, and are just now beginning to lay off some, as our work nears completion."

Mr. Hill said that earnings on the Great Northern's stock for the fiscal year ending June 30, would be in excess of 8½ per cent. Gross earnings are picking up, and the gross revenue for June will probably be only about $500,000 less than a year ago, whereas in April and May the decreases were more than $1,000,000. A larger amount than last year had been expended in up-keep work on the various sections of the Great Northern.

DANE WILL TRY TO REACH NORTH POLE.

Copenhagen, June 22.—Ole Olson, a Danish minister, has undertaken to finance a new North Pole expedition under the command of Knud Rasmussen, the Danish explorer. The expedition probably will start for the pole next summer and will be provisioned for two years. All possible modern appliances are to be provided, and Rasmussen is to have a staff of scientists with him. He will establish his base at Cape York, Greenland.

"DOES NOT KNOW WHY" SHE KILLED HUSBAND.

Portsmouth, N. H., June 22.—"I do not know why I killed him," is the statement attributed by jail attendants to Mrs. Mary Hardy Folsom, a Smith college graduate who was arrested Saturday on the charge of shooting her husband, Henry H. Folsom, while they were driving near Exeter.

"He was a very fine man," Mrs. Folsom is said to have declared, "I could not have been in my right mind when I did it. I had no reason for doing it."

Mrs. Folsom explained her possession of a revolver by saying she had kept one for some time to protect herself.

One of the county officials expressed the opinion that the woman would not be tried. He pointed out that she was released two years ago from an asylum where she had been confined for three years, and that steps could be taken to have her recommitted.

LONG FLIGHT POSTPONED

Plans for Duluth-San Francisco Trip Receive Setback.

The proposed flight from Duluth to San Francisco, by way of the Panama canal, has been abandoned temporarily at least.

After nearly $3,000 of the required $5,000 had been raised, it was found that the manufacturer of the hydro-aeroplane wanted could no longer hold the machine. He had government contracts which he was compelled to fill on a specified date, and the machine which was made for the Duluth flight was delivered to the government.

Murrell Elliss, the aviator who was planning to make the flight, is now in Los Angeles, and still hopes to arrange for a machine to make the trip, but the trip will be postponed until late in the summer or possibly until next year.

THREE DULUTHIANS TO GET DEGREES

Minnesota Will Have Nine Graduates at Ann Arbor This Year.

Duluth will be represented by three of its young men in the graduating class of the University of Michigan this year. At the seventieth annual commencement of the institution next Thursday, June 25, the degree of bachelor of arts will be conferred upon Oscar Glenny, and the degree of bachelor of laws upon John Jones and Roger Spencer, all of Duluth.

The state of Minnesota will have nine representatives in this class. The other graduates with their home addresses and degrees which they will receive, are as follows: The degree of bachelor of arts will be given to Harry Rabinowitz of Eveleth, Madaline McVoy of Minneapolis and Martin C. Briggs of St. Paul. Carl Shurman of Morris will receive the degree of master of science in forestry; Curtis Pillsbury of Minneapolis, the degree of doctor of medicine in homeopathy; and Charles Baker of Jackson, degree of bachelor of laws.

The class of which these young people are members is the largest ever turned out here, numbering about 1,000 students. Almost every state in the Union and a score of foreign countries are represented in it.

MILLIONAIRE IS GIVEN $200 FINE.

Chicago, June 22.—Washington Porter, reputed a millionaire, charged with leasing a hotel building for immoral purposes, was found guilty and fined $200 by a jury here. The prosecution alleged that Porter could not have been ignorant of the source of the unusual income from this property.

LORD KITCHENER IS MADE AN EARL.

London, June 22.—The king's birthday honors were announced Sunday. The list includes a large number of barons and baronets. Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, his majesty's agent and consul general at Egypt, is made an earl.

Sir Herbert Cozans Hardy, Sir Edward Vincent, Maj. Gen. John Fielden Brocklehurst and Sir Leonard Lylle are raised to barons. Among the baronets is Albert H. Stanley, manager of the London underground railways, who is English born but was raised in the United States. Mr. Stanley came to London from Detroit and assumed his British citizenship last year.

HONORED BY GRAND LODGE

Templars Again Elect Nelson Secretary and National Delegate.

Indorse Hobson Bill and Work of Federal Indian Agents.

E. J. Christensen of Minneapolis was re-elected grand chief templar, and P. A. Nelson of Duluth was again named grand secretary of the Minnesota grand lodge of the International Order of Good Templars at the closing session of the annual convention at Rowley's hall Saturday afternoon. The convention opened Friday morning and continued for two days.

In addition to being chosen for another term, both Mr. Christensen and Mr. Nelson were elected as delegates of the state grand lodge to the national convention of the order to be held at Philadelphia June 27-29. Secretary Nelson was also named as delegate of the state to the international gathering to be held at Christiania, Norway, July 18-Aug. 5.

The other officers named for the ensuing year are: Mrs. J. H. Wolfe, Goodhue, grand vice templar; Mrs. Margaret Gardner, Duluth, supervisor of the juvenile temple; Mabel Simonson, Duluth, grand assistant secretary; F. A. Anderson, Minneapolis, grand treasurer; Peter Foster, Duluth, grand electoral superintendent; T. B. Sether, grand counsellor; Mrs. Anna Lapham, grand choplain; J. P. Schweiger, grand marshal; Mabel Sylstad, grand deputy marshal; C. J. Anderson, grand guard, and M. M. Elde, grand messenger.

At the closing session Saturday resolutions were adopted approving the Hobson bill for nation-wide prohibition and indorsing the work of the government agents in their efforts to keep the Chippewa Indian territory dry.

The convention came to a formal close Saturday evening with the dancing party given for the 100 delegates at the Rowley hall. Luncheon was served during the evening and a program of songs and addresses was given.

VILLA DENIES HE RAISED ANGELES

Also Denies Report of Execution of Gen. Chao.

Torreon, Mexico, June 22.—Rumors that Gen. Angeles had been proclaimed provisional president by Gen. Villa and that Gen. Chao had been executed, were denied Sunday by Villa. As soon as the reports reached his headquarters, Gen. Villa said he had heard nothing of Gen. Angeles' dismissal from Carranza's cabinet, as reported from Saltillo. Chao was seen here two days ago as he was about to entrain his troops to move against Zacatecas. Angeles has been near Zacatecas with the artillery brigade for the last four days.

"The story that I executed Gen. Chao is a malicious lie," declared Gen. Villa. "Gen Chao is with the division of the north at Zacatecas, and far from dead. Two days ago he was a guest at my house, and the two of us parted on the best of terms. The story is a fabrication.

"I must say the same of the rumor that I proclaimed Gen. Angeles provisional president of the Mexican republic. I have done nothing of the sort, no matter who said so, and nothing has been further from my mind."

LOUISA M. OLCOTT'S HOME REOPENED.

Harvard, Mass., June 22.—"Fruit Lands," for a time the home of A. Bronson Alcott, the philosopher, and his daughter, Louisa M. Alcott, the novelist, and one of the meeting places of the Concord school of philosophy, was formally reopened yesterday after being remodeled and restored as nearly as possible to its original condition.

WIDOW GETS BULK OF RIIS ESTATE.

New York, June 22.—The will of the late Jacob A. Riis, social worker, author and friend of Col. Roosevelt, was made public by his son, Edward Riis. The will says that Mr. Riis had accumulated no money to give the settlement which he founded in this city and which bears his name. He asks an advisory board to guide the affairs of the settlement, naming Theodore Roosevelt, Lyman Abbott, Robert Bacon and other prominent persons as members.

The bulk of the estate, the value of which is not given, goes to his wife, Mary Riis. Four children by a former wife have heretofore been provided for, the will says, by a deed of trust.

JAPAN AND U. S. TO PUBLISH LETTERS.

Tokio, June 22.—Japan and the United States have arranged to publish simultaneously at Tokio and Washington, some time this week, the text of the correspondence bearing on the California anti-alien land act, according to announcement made here.

Foreign Minister Kato probably will be speaker on this subject at the special session of the diet which opened today.

STORMS COOL OFF THE AIR IN KANSAS.

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—Thunder storms at many places in the Southwest late Sunday brought relief from the heat, and in some sections of Kansas temporarily checked the wheat harvest. Prior to the coming of the cooling breezes and rains, high temperatures continued. According to the local observer of the government weather bureau, storms shifting over the Southwest promise temporary lowering of temperatures generally over this section.

In several places the storms of Sunday did considerable damage. At Topeka, Kan., lightning set fire to the roof of the First Congregational church, but a heavy rain extinguished the flames before great damage was done. Two inches of rain fell at Topeka.

At Leavenworth a cloudburst accompanied by heavy wind and lightning caused considerable damage there and in the surrounding country. The heavy rain in that section extended into northwest Missouri. Valley Falls, Kan., reported four inches of rain. Other places in Kansas including Salina and Dodge City reported precipitation of from one-half to three inches.

"Tea and Coffee

are just as harmful to children as alcohol is to grown-ups," says Dr. Charlotte Abbey, superintendent of the Women's Directory, New York.

The reason why coffee and tea injure anybody is because these beverages contain the poisonous drug, caffeine, (from 1½ to 3 grains to the cup), which physicians have long known affects the heart, stomach and liver.

Children especially, with their delicate nerves, are susceptible to the action of caffeine, and should never be allowed to have tea or coffee or any other beverage containing drugs.

Thousands of adults have found that their headaches, nervousness, indigestion and sleeplessness have vanished when a change was made from coffee and tea to

CLAIM BOAT WAS JAMMED

Coroner Probes Deaths of Twelve in Oswego River.

All But One of Victims Lived in Syracuse, N. Y.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 22.—An investigation of the launch accident which resulted in the drowning of twelve people in the Oswego river last night, was being made today under the direction of Coroner Moore.

There were twenty passengers on the boat, and it was reported today that the craft was licensed to carry not more than ten passengers. It was raining at the time of the accident, and the canvas curtains had been pulled down and buttoned securely, so that the boat proved a death trap for its passengers.

The dead:

MRS. GEORGE H. ADAMS, 26, Syracuse.
THREE GIRL CHILDREN OF MRS. ADAMS, 1, 4 and 5.
MRS. HARRY WELSH, 25, Syracuse.
KATHERINE WELSH, aged 1 year.
JOHN MOGG, 38, Syracuse.
FLORENCE DAINER, 12, Syracuse.
EARL DAINER, 10.
CHARLES SHULTZ, 22, Syracuse.
MISS MABEL TIBBETS, 26, Syracuse.
HOWARD CRANE, aged 3, Liverpool.

Seven Reached Shore.

The disaster occurred south of Mud Lock near Onondaga lake, in an isolated section in the environs of Syracuse. Of the passengers on the little vessel, only seven reached the bank safely. They were on their way home after a day spent at the lake resorts.

It was 10:30 o'clock, just ten minutes after the launch had left the lock, when the craft capsized. Lewis Dainer, owner and navigator of the launch, said rescue work was made extremely difficult by the intense darkness.

"I had just started on my journey and was less than a quarter of a mile from the lock when the launch struck a stump," he said. "Before I knew what had happened, the boat tipped over.

"I had life preservers aboard, but there was no chance to use them. There was no opportunity to rescue the women or children. It was everyone for himself in the darkness.

"I do not know how many went down, but I heard that four persons swam to the bank of the canal."

For seven years the launch had been plying between the two points on the canal. It is a 25-foot craft.

RAILWAY HELD NOT LIABLE

Settlement Twelve Years Ago Grounds for Dismissing $30,000 Suit.

When the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company, through its claim agent, paid $600 to the father of John Hannula, a 4-year-old boy who lost both legs under the wheels of a locomotive at Embarrass station twelve years ago, the company was released from further liability for the accident. Such was the holding of a district court jury in Judge Bert Fesler's division Saturday afternoon.

The injured boy, now 16, through his guardian, Erick Johanson, sued the railroad company for $30,000. The company, in answer to the suit, set up as a defense that the claim had been settled by the boy's father for $600 on Feb. 1903. The accident occurred on Nov. 14, 1902.

The boy's parents, however, testified that their understanding of the settlement of $600 was for the personal claim of the father and did not release the company from the claim of the boy for damages on his own account. The father signed a paper, however, releasing the company from the boy's claim.

The question for the jury to decide was whether or not there was any misunderstanding of the terms of the release at the time it was signed by the father. The testimony was that the father could not read or write the English language. The jury found that the settlement had been made and that no fraud had been committed upon the father or his son.

The claim agent of the company testified that the money which had been paid was given merely from sympathetic motives and not because the company considered itself liable for the accident. The boy had climbed on a locomotive standing near the schoolhouse at Embarrass. The engine was started and he fell under the wheels, both legs being amputated.

The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. Joseph W. Reynolds is attorney for the plaintiff and Howard T. Abbott was in court for the railroad company.

KILLS BROTHER IN ROW OVER TIMBER.

North Reading, Mass., June 22.—A forty years' quarrel over timber land came to a climax Sunday when Charles Samuel Harris, a farmer, was shot to death by his brother James. Directly after the shooting James gave himself up to the police. He said his brother had attacked him with an ax during an argument about cutting the timber on their land, and that he shot in self-defense.

According to the statement of James to the police, although the two brothers lived together forty years, they always had been at odds over the disposition of the timber. Sunday Charles went to the lot and felled several small trees. When he returned to the house James met him in the kitchen and the old quarrel was renewed.

STEEL PLANT AMONG BEST

Engineers Are Surprised at Duluth's Stupendous Establishment.

Make Thorough Inspection of Plant and See Other Sights.

Neither Pittsburg nor any other big steel center has anything on Duluth when it comes to a steel plant according to thirty members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers who made an inspection of the plant at New Duluth Saturday under the guidance of Gen. Supt. S. C. Sheldon and G. H. Sampson, head of the power plant.

The engineers were taken through all departments of the new plant, and they expressed great surprise at the stupendous size of the Duluth establishment. They declared that while Pittsburg and other Eastern cities had gigantic steel plants, none had a better equipped plant than that of the Zenith City.

The engineers and their wives, who arrived here from St. Paul Friday evening, had a fine visit here. Upon their arrival they were taken to the Spalding hotel for dinner. After dinner they were given a ride about the harbor in the steamer Columbia.

The steel plant was visited Saturday by the men while the women were given an excursion voyage to Fond du Lac. The men joined them and all returned to the city together. The party reached the Spalding about 3 o'clock, and passed the remainder of the afternoon in sight-seeing. Most of the visitors left the city Saturday night.

The Duluth committee that came in for so much praise from the engineers was made up of the following: T. W. Hugo, Ford E. Boyd, William R. Cornish, Floyd M. Fuller, John R. McGiffert, George M. Olmsted, S. B. Sheldon, S. S. Rumsey, William N. Ryerson and Henry J. Wessinger.

OBESITY CURE KILLS PEACE PRIZE WINNER

BARONESS VON SUTTNER.

Vienna, June 22.—Baroness Bertha von Suttner, the Austrian writer who had devoted most of her life to peace and who was awarded the Nobel peace prize in 1905, died Sunday.

Baroness von Suttner had been ill three weeks. She was undergoing a cure for obesity which her constitution proved unable to bear. She gave instructions that her body be cremated at Gotha, without religious ceremony, speeches or flowers, her ashes to be deposited in a columbarium there.

Born in 1843, the daughter of Field Marshal Count Franz von Kinsky, the baroness became noted as the editor of Die Waffen Nieder (Lay down your arms), the magazine of the national peace bureau in Berne which was named after a volume written by her in 1888 designed to spread the idea of peace throughout Germany and Austria.

In 1876 she was married to Baron von Suttner, who died in 1902. In 1912 Baroness von Suttner spent six months in the United States, where she delivered a series of lectures to promote the cause of peace.

LONGEST DAY IS DARK AND GLOOMY

The elements were against Old Sol yesterday. Scheduled for the longest performance of the year, he did not once get a chance to greet this part of the sphere with a single welcoming ray of sunshine. Old Jupiter Pluvius, with his cloud chariots and sprinkling can, held the stage, as a result the longest day of the year was dark and gloomy, while a raw, chill breeze blew from the northwest. Some of the more daring defied the elements for a day outdoors but the bravery was largely unrewarded. They had an unpleasant day outdoors, on the whole. The experience of two Sundays preceding, when threatening forenoons developed into sunshine and warm zephyrs, was not repeated.

An elaborate program of entertainment has been arranged for the credit men. The meetings will close Friday with the annual election of officers.

TARIFF REDUCES PRICE OF SUGAR

Consumer Receiving Benefit of Reduction in Duty on Sugar.

New York, June 22.—F. Chavery, manager of the sales department of the Federal Sugar Refining company, has issued a circular letter on the reduced price of sugar, in which he says:

"Three months' operation under the new tariff shows that the consumer is receiving all the benefit of the 25 per cent reduction in the duty of sugar. Since the new rates went into effect refiners' selling price has averaged 3.819 cents per pound as compared with an average price for the last ten years of 4.85 cents per pound. The average in-bond price of 96 deg. test raw sugars for the same period has been 4 cents per pound. The reduction in the duty, combined with the fact that the world's production this year is the largest on record, is responsible for the prevailing low prices, but that the reduced tariff is directly responsible for a large part of the decline is shown by comparison of prices between March 1 and June 1, 1914, with prices for other years when the in-bond price of raw sugars was on the same basis.

"The average price of refined sugar in other years when raw sugars were selling in bond at 2.09 cents per pound as compared with 2.04 cents now, was 4.40 cents per pound in contrast with 3.819 cents per pound during the past three months. It is therefore clear that a saving of .581 cents per pound is being effected by the reduced duty, which, figured on the amount of sugar consumed in the United States last year, namely, 3,743,139 long tons or 8,384,631,360 pounds, would be equal to $48,714,708. While the 25 per cent reduction in the tariff affords some relief from the exceptionally high rate that we have been laboring under, the real benefit to the consumer will come in 1916, after which a further saving of some $100,000,000 per year will effected."

"KID" GAMES PLAYED BY THE DIGNIFIED

Young Old Timers at Annual Picnic Are Driven Inside.

Tiddle-winks, old maid, dominoes, pussy-wants-a-corner and other well-known and exciting games were substituted for those of baseball, races, jumping and other stunts at the annual picnic of the Young Old Timers' association held yesterday at L. R. Birch's farm on Lester river yesterday. The substitution was made because of the visit of Old Man J. Pluvius, who started his sprinkling can in operation shortly after the 225 members of the organization arrived at the picnic grounds.

The crowd left Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street at 8 o'clock. Twenty cabs and tallyhos were pressed into service to take the members on the outing. Early risers in the eastern end of the city who saw them going out thought that some parade that had not been well billed was being pulled off and stared in wonderment at the string of carriages.

The members were just getting ready to play their annual ball game between the benedicts and bachelors when the lawnsprinkler started. At first came a few drops and the braver ones continued playing, but these were quickly driven to shelter when the downpour began.

Indoor games were then resorted to. Prizes intended for the winners of outdoor sports were assigned to the winners of indoor games. A. E. Thompson and A. J. Otterson divided the honors at the tiddle-winks; Charles Hoar, former alderman of the Sixth ward, Steve Cody and W. M. McClaim developed professionalism in playing old maid; Ever Sweted, Fred Britts and Axel Erickson showed the greatest ability in playing dominoes, while the twenty or more members who played the "pussy" game each claimed to be winner of prizes.

"Best time we ever had," said one of the members this morning. "We got a little wet but none of us melted from the heat."

SUNDAY SERMONS IN DULUTH PULPITS

SELF PRAISE CONDEMNED

"We Get Our Morality as We Do Our Fashions," Says Dr. Gebauer.

Urges People of Present Day to View Past From Proper Viewpoint.

That we should "see ourselves as others see us" was the central idea of the sermon preached by Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church, yesterday morning. His topic was "Self-Exaltation." His sermon in part follows:

"In looking over the past we are quite prone to overestimate the present and our own selves in it. We are quite apt to take personal credit for what belongs to conditions, and in the weakness of a past period, we are apt to forget our own failings. It is an easy matter to show why Rome declined and Athens fell, why France was shaken by revolution. Social conditions were rotten in one way or in another. But at the same time it is not so easy to show that the individuals of such periods of history were essentially worse than we are. It is a foolish self-exaltation to say as did the Jews, 'Yes, if we had lived in the days of the fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.' We are all largely conformers to the spirit of the day in which we live.

Morality Comes Like Fashions.

"We got our morality as we get our fashions. Indeed often when we are most loud and severe in our condemnation of people of past ages we show how much we have of their spirit in us. We read with moral horror the sad story of the Salem witches, and call the Puritans of those days cruel and superstitious. We are so satisfied with our own humaneness and liberality. But after all that liberality is hardly proved by railing against the actions of a past generation that saw a sacred duty in hanging witches. We may not be better, but may merely have reached a different plane of thought, which makes belief in witchcraft irrational and its persecution a great wrong. The question really is not if we today act more humane, but how we would act, if we were placed in the same conditions and the same mental atmosphere which was breathed by Cotton Mather. In that atmosphere of super-naturalism and bibliolatry, belief in witchcraft and persecution of witches was most natural and persecution true logic.

"But we not only exalt ourselves above the past, but we are very prone to elevate ourselves above our neighbors without seeing the obvious folly of it. How glibly we talk about the sins of the rich, their frivolous life, their heartless extravagance. We forget that in the atmosphere of wealth frivolousness will naturally thrive and luxury and extravagance flourish and foolishness besides. We might be just such fools if we were rich, and a good many of us manage to be fools, though we are poor. Indeed a man may be as much a foolish spendthrift with one dollar as with a million. Again we speak with indignation about the degraded position of the European woman, and quickly flashes before us the picture of an old woman, who has harnessed herself by the side of a dog before her little cart and is straining the load of vegetables up hill. A shame we cry out. But after all the shame is not so great as it seems, though it is said that woman is merely managing her own business with her canine partner and perhaps she would heartily resent your sympathy and indignation. Perhaps she might tell you that she rather pulls to market her load every day and make an honest living, than to dole away her hours in the nicest home for old people you might devise. And the possibility is that she even laughs at her rich sister, who in her limousine takes her Spitz and her Pomeranean out for a ride. Social conditions have raised one woman to hard, but after all honorable service, while the other by her wealth is condemned to useless, degrading lifelong leisure. Hence, while we may pity the woman who lives through hard work, and feel shame for the civilization which permits this, we ought to feel still greater pity our greater shame for the womanhood that our social conditions creates. Yes, the realization of this should make us humble and turn us to our own duty.

Blinded By Self-Exaltation.

"So in a larger sense our self-exaltation may blind us. We read about some outrage committed against the Greeks in European Turkey, or the Jews in Russia or Roumania, or against the miserable half-breeds in Mexico. We are very apt to believe that after all we are so much more humane, that we are a civilized Christian people. But after all, beneath our Christianity is still a good deal of the old barbarism, which now and then crops out to the distress of some of us. The fact that we do not mistreat the Jew does not prove that we are altogether humane and just. The negro of the South and the Indian in the West have their story of abuse to tell. Or, if we point with scorn and condemnation across the Rio Grande, we forget our own little Mexicos in Michigan and Colorado, where anarchy has reigned supreme and all humanity has been forgotten.

"The wrong we see in the past and in others should not exalt us but rather call our attention to our own failings; we should learn to see ourselves in the mirror of our brothers and of our fathers, and put our own house in order."

"THE QUEST OF HAPPINESS"

Rev. W. F. Hovis Says That It Is Universal Among Mankind.

Lies in What Men Are, Not What They Have.

Illustrating his sermon with Maurice Maeterlinck's play "The Blue Bird," Rev. William Forney Hovis yesterday chose for the theme of his sermon "The Quest for Happiness."

Mr. Hovis briefly related the quest of the children for the blue bird which was to bring happiness, and of their final return to their humble cottage. "It was the same woodchopper's cottage," he said. "It was the same simple hearted father and mother they saw, but Light had opened the children's eyes until they could see the lovely soul of things. Happiness is not something that hands can hold or eye of sense can see. It is an attitude of the heart toward things with which we have to do. The parable of 'The Blue Bird' teaches that the seeker for the soul's supreme desire needs only to pray 'Open thou mine eyes that I may see.'

Universal Quest.

"All men desire happiness. The quest of happiness is so universal that philosophers have called it the final motive of all conduct. The quest for happiness is inevitably joined with all the other quests of life.

"Men desire fame but fame alone can never make them happy.

"Byron was a man of genius but he lacked in moral balance and therefore was not happy.

"Goethe, the great German scholar, says that he never experienced five weeks of genuine pleasure.

"Wealth in itself has no power to make one happy.

"The story is told of a Persian king who being out of sorts, consulted his astrologers who told him that he could find happiness by wearing the shirt of a perfectly happy man. The court and the homes of the prosperous were searched in vain—no such man could be found. A last a common laborer was found who fulfilled the conditions, but alas! the remedy was as far off as ever—the man had no shirt.

"A friend of Rothschild, the money king, while visiting him and noting the luxury of his surroundings, said, 'You must be a very happy man.' 'Me happy!' shouted the old money lender, 'when just now comes a letter from some villain in a back street declaring that if I do not send him fifty pounds by tomorrow night that he will make an attempt on my life.'

"Sensual pleasure cannot produce happiness.

"Apicius, a Roman epicure in days of Tiberius and Augustus, according to Seneca, spent three and a half millions inventing rare dishes, and then poisoned himself because he thought that his remaining four hundred thousand would not permit him to continue his expensive living.

"Xerxes had enormous armies and fleets and fabulous wealth, but he offered a reward for a new pleasure.

All May Be Happy.

"All men may be happy.

"A sense of happiness arises out of the harmony between one's nature and his environment.

"'When I was a boy,' said Thackeray, 'I wanted some taffy. It was a shilling. I didn't have a shilling. When I became a man I had a shilling, but I did not want any taffy.'

"Madame de Stael, who possessed everything that men admire and women covet, said that she would surrender all her gifts for that one which nature had denied her—beauty.

"Man should limit his desires to the possibility of satisfying them.

"One should be happy when he is living at the top of his condition.

"Happiness is a mood of the heart.

"Real enjoyment arises from what one is and not from what one has.

"Haman, the pretender to the Persian throne was not half so happy as Mordecai, the Jew, who was only a gate keeper in the palace.

"Nero, the emperor, was a wretched prisoner in his costly palace, compared with Paul, the happy, free man who could rejoice out of the blackness of a Roman dungeon and could say, 'I have all things and abound.'

"In the royal bedchamber may lie a murdered Duncan and through the regal halls may wander a blood-stained Macbeth, who has 'eaten of the insane root that takes the reason prisoner' until his very thoughts have made his brain a hell: while on some lowly cot where 'heaven's breath smells wooingly' may recline some toil-worn son of labor, while 'sleep knits up the raveled sleeve of care.'

"Happiness, like the kingdom of heaven, is 'within you.'

"Trust in God is the only basis of enduring happiness."

SAYS MILLENIUM IS NEAR AT HAND

Norwegian Lecturer Pictures Christ's Second Coming.

H. Finjord of Minneapolis gave a free lecture on "The Great Hereafter Beyond the Grave," before a good sized audience yesterday afternoon at Gilley's hall, 322 Central avenue. The lecturer quoted dozens of passages from the Old Testament prophecies which he believes show that the long-expected millennium is near at hand, and that God has many wonderful blessings in reservation for the restored world of mankind. He declared that all who are in the graves will come forth and that all who have not heard the gospel in this age, all who have not had a just and equal opportunity for salvation, will be enlightened, till all shall know Him, from the least to the greatest.

He declared that it will be in this coming period of blessing when the long-promised universal reign of peace, plenty, health, justice and equity will be realized. He pictured Christ in His second advent as being the powerful, though unseen ruler of that day, assisted in the rulership by His glorified saints, that this will be the great kingdom that many have so long prayed for, saying "Thy Kingdom come."

The thought was presented that ultimately the eternal home of the vast majority of the human race will be, not in heaven—the exclusive abode of the saints; nor in hell torment—for hell is to be destroyed, but here on earth restored to Edenic conditions.

The lecture, which was in the Norwegian language, was declared to be purely educational in its purpose. Mr. Finjord spoke with much enthusiasm, and proved to be very entertaining.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

A NUMBER of cities this summer are planning for outdoor moving pictures and stereopticon views showing activities in different cities, in the way of city betterment. These exhibitions are held in the park or on vacant lots once a week, during the evenings, to which the general public is invited. In some cities this program has been supplemented by music, both vocal and instrumental, in most cases a band. In some cities they have carried this a little further in the formation of a People's Institute where they can get together to discuss municipal and other problems.

Civic problems probably receive more attention in Duluth than in the average city of its size, through the medium of numerous improvement clubs, social centers and civic organizations in all parts of the municipality. Stereopticon views have not been generally used to supplement the discussions but might be used to advantage in some instances, such as fathering a clean-up campaign. A series of ten or a dozen band concerts will be given this season in various parks. These are intended for the public's enjoyment and not to further interest in city affairs.

FORESTERS WILL REDUCE "SICK LIST"

Grand Lodge Cuts Down Benefit to Thwart Undeserving.

The sixth biennial convention of the high court superior of the United Order of Foresters came to a close with a dancing party at the Foresters' hall Saturday evening, after a two-day session.

The final business meeting was held Saturday afternoon, when the newly elected officers were installed and a resolution adopted, by which the high court hopes to put a stop to the method adopted by many members in feigning illness and thus drawing regular sick benefits from the lodge. In the past members were paid $15 a week for accidents and $10 a week during illness, but in the future all those earning $50 a month will receive but half of the regular benefits. In this way those who earn $50 a month will not receive more during their illness than when at work and the change is expected to stop the continual drawing from the lodge's treasury.

Following the business meeting Saturday the eighty delegates to the convention were taken on a tally-ho ride about the city. This ride was arranged for Friday, but was postponed on account of the contests in the annual election that afternoon.

On Saturday evening the local lodge entertained the delegates with a dancing party, during which John McMurchy, high ranger of the court for the last fourteen years, was presented with a diamond stick pin, while I. W. Gilliland, high secretary for seventeen years, was the recipient of a gold watch. Bert Williams of Ashland, Wis., was elected high ranger last Friday.

DIES TRYING TO SAVE HER HUSBAND.

McEwen, Tenn., June 22.—Efforts of Mrs. J. L. Carter, wife of a rich lumberman, to save her husband yesterday after he had poured coal oil on his clothing and set fire to it, not only failed, but cost the woman her own life. Mrs. Carter's clothing caught fire as she tried to beat out the flames that were burning her husband to death. The woman's screams brought neighbors, who saved the home, but who arrived too late to aid either husband or wife. The lumberman died almost immediately, but his wife lived several hours.

WHY DINING CAR CHEFS PREFER

KC BAKING POWDER
Those who have had cakes ruined by jarring the stove, slamming the oven door or a heavy footstep, may have wondered how the dining car chef can turn out such marvelous biscuits, hot breads and pastry when his oven is being incessantly jarred and jolted and shaken by the motion of the train.
To get pastry to raise and stay raised under these conditions, a baking powder must be used that continues to give off its leavening gas—that sustains the raise—until the dough is baked through.

Dining Car Chefs have found a baking powder exactly suited to their needs in K C and you will find it just as well suited to your requirements. K C is really a blend of two baking powders, one active as soon as moistened, the other requiring both moisture and heat to start the generation of leavening gas. No matter how moist and rich you make your cake, K C Baking Powder will sustain the raise until a crust is formed and all danger of falling is past.
K C Baking Powder is pure and healthful. It is guaranteed under all pure food laws, and is guaranteed to please you. And it is sold at a reasonable price—no baking powder should sell for more.

Woman's Realm

Miss Gertrude Ellis Cleveland and Carl Fox Tronsen were married yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. C. M. Ross, 4029 East Euperior street. Rev. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The bride's gown of white silk crepe was made en train and was trimmed with old lace and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Agnes M. Boss, wore silver jusi cloth over pink and carried yellow roses. The bride's mother, Mrs. Myra G. Cleveland, played the wedding march and her uncle, James H. Alward, gave her in marriage. The bridegroom was attended by Angus M. Grant.

Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was served. Those who assisted were Miss Grace Bergstrom and Miss Susan Pastoret. The living room and dining room were decorated with June roses.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. T. Tronsen of Mankato, Minn., and Mrs. Donald MacQueen of Oconto, Wis.

The bride is a former resident of Hunter's Park, but recently has been a member of the faculty of the industrial high school at Sterling, Colo. The bridegroom is well known in Duluth, having rowed with the D. B. C. crew in 1910. He is now assistant chemist of St. Paul. Mr. and Mrs. Tronsen will be at home after July 15 at 68 South Snelling avenue, St. Paul.

OWNS UP TO IT.

Duluth Girl Confesses Engagement at College Breakfast.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Marianne Williamson of Duluth was one of the sixteen fair co-eds at the University of Michigan college girls' annual breakfast who ate a slice of lemon as an acknowledgment of the fact that they had fallen a victim to Cupid's darts and become engaged during the past year. Another of the number was Miss Madeline McVoy of Minneapolis, who, this year by vote of the men of the senior class here, holds the honor of having been acknowledged the prettiest girl in the senior class.

For years it has been the custom at the University of Michigan for the college girls to hold a breakfast at the close of the year, and at this breakfast a dish of sliced lemons is passed and the engaged girls are expected to remove a slice and eat it. After that the candle at each girl's plate is extinguished, and the engaged girls relight theirs.

BEATTY-WEIRICK.

Hibbing Physician Married in Washington.

Miss Marilla Elizabeth Beatty and Dr. Howard Weirick of Hibbing, Minn., were married June 6 at the home of the bride in Ellensburg, Wash. The ceremony, attended by only the relatives and intimate friends, was performed by Rev. Charles L. W. Reese before an improvised altar decorated with ferns, white rose buds and rose-colored peonies. Tall cathedral candles on each side of the altar formed an effective setting for the bridal party.

The bride wore a white chiffon gown embroidered with pearls and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

After the ceremony elaborate refreshments were served after which Dr. and Mrs. Weirick left on the afternoon train for a short visit to Sound points. Before coming to Hibbing they will return to Ellensburg for a short visit.

The bride, who has lived in Ellensburg six years is popular in musical and social circles. The bridegroom is a well known physician of Hibbing, and was mayor of the village for several terms.

Household Hints.

The only things that keep the cherry pie season from being an unmixed joy are the seeds. A woman who makes her head save her hands has solved the cherry-seeding problem by an inverted penpoint in a penholder. The point is inserted in the cherry at the stem end, the edges of the point cut the pulp and the stone slips into the groove in which it is removed easily.

Strips are fashionable in jelly as well as in dress material. As currant, crabapple and plum jellies are made put a layer in the glasses your wish to fill in this way. The result will be an attractive mold to turn out and serve with meats.

A special meeting of the interdenominational Missionary union will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. Matters left over from the summer school of missions will be finished at this meeting.

COHAN COMEDY PLEASES

Baldwin Players Score Heavily in "Broadway" Jones.

"Broadway Jones," one of the best of Cohan's comedies, was presented at the Lyceum theater Sunday matinee to a well-filled house, despite the inclemency of the weather. The play itself needs little recommendation and no commendation; it is only required that a company properly stage and properly act it, and in both of these essentials the Baldwin Players acquitted themselves in the initial performance this week with honors equal to their previous Duluth productions—which is quite enough.

In the title role, Homer Barton as "Broadway" Jones, carried the crowd with him from the moment he took the stage, "soused," (he does it well), until the final curtain: Lola May as Josie Richards, was pretty and pleasing, and, as is usual with her, expertly handled her lines; while A. Romaine Callender, as Robert Wallace, a friend of the happy-go-lucky "Broadway," scored heavily—as well as he did several weeks back in "Baby Mine."

Helen Keers as Mrs. Spotswood was the personification of the big-hearted, hospitable "home body" of the well-known Eastern small-town type; in fact, her work was a bit better than anything that she previously has done in Duluth. James E. Nelson makes a capital Judge Spotswood. Dolle Gray, as the judge's daughter, Clara, was a cute little person, indeed. Pearl Melville, cast as the wealthy widow, Mrs. James Gerard, deserved a lot of credit and got it from the audience.

Walter S. Baldwin, Jr., who does not appear until the final setting, comes on in a huff, and as the father of Robert Wallace, soundly cusses that young gentleman. There were those in attendance who believed that, even if the lines are so written, a blue pencil could correct, without spoiling the dialogue, at least a part of the strong language. Otherwise, Mr. Baldwin's short appearance was effective.

Joseph De Stefani, as "Broadway's" valet, made much of his part.

When a young, good-looking and wealthy man goes to New York city to bask in the white lights and scatter gold like a "Coal Oil Johnny," he finds the lights a-glitter to his satisfaction, and he also finds that the scattering gold seldom has a chance to "ring" on the sidewalks of New York; it is caught by greedy hands before that. "Busted," he runs into debt—$60,000 in debt—and he stalls along, using his credit, until he faces financial disaster.

At an all-night debauch in one of Broadway's resturants the young man sits moodily staring straight ahead; a money-burdened widow of twice his own age catches the stare, smiles—and they become engaged. He seeks her fortune; she seeks a husband.

But just then enters the profligate's friend. The ridiculousness of the marriage appeals strongly to him; he offers financial aid, but "Broadway" refuses. "I might as well owe it to others as to you," he says.

Then, when "Broadway" is discharging his cook and valet a telegram arrives. Shortly thereafter a representative of the chewing gum "trust" puts in an appears, offers condolences and "Broadway," after a search, finds the unopened telegram in his own pocket, opens it—and dances a hoe-down! An uncle has died, leaving "Broadway" his entire estate—which proves to be a well-known and well-advertised chewing gum factory in a small town back East.

"Broadway" and his friend, the friend leading the way, rush to the scene of the new fortune. They find it under the competent charge of a young and attractive woman—Josie Richards. She explains to "Broadway" that if he sells out to the "trust" he will be taking the bread and butter out of the villagers' mouths, and "Broadway" decides to stay and fight the "trust." Another reason—Josie Richards—aids him to this resolution.

Meanwhile "Bob" Wallace has fallen in love with old man Spotswood's daughter. The rich widow pursues "Broadway" to the village, but she is shunted away, in the company of "Broadway's" valet. The old Jones home, where "Broadway's" ancestors lived, furnishes the last scene of the play. Josie, Clara, Bob and "Broadway" are there, also Judge Spotswood, his wife and son. One by one, and two by two, they disappear, and "Broadway" alone with Josie on a bench made for two, tells her that he loves her. And she loves "Broadway."

Oh, but here comes the widow! But never mind; she has married the valet!

Walter S. Baldwin's reputation for correct and artistic stage effects is enhanced by this production. For a stock company, with weekly changes in scenery, the staging so far put on by the Baldwin Players has been remarkable.

Several unpleasant incidents jarred, if they did not mar, portions of Sunday's first production. In one of the boxes sat three persons—a man and two women. The man persistently pinched the women and made himself obnoxious to a great many people in the audience, who could not help noting his actions. The ushers remained inactive. The man pinched on. One of the women defended herself kittenishly with a hatpin. The Lyceum should employ a "bouncer."

Then there was the fellow in the dress circle with the pump-handle laugh. The laugh created mirth—at first; then it spoiled the lines of the play. Barton, the leading man, in a deep dialogue with Lola May, irritated by the annoyance, finally stopped short, glared into the dress circle and sought to locate the human ass that brayed out of season. Lola May stuck to her lines, however, and successfully carried through what might have proved to be a bad mixup.

Yes, the house needs a "bouncer."

"Broadway Jones" will be continued throughout the week. It is a mighty good little play; it is well put on and well acted.

Amusement Notes.

"Henpecked Henry," a musical farce, will open at the Empress this evening, with Jack Trainor, a loose jointed comedian in the title role. The engagement will continue today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The plot of the little farce is as follows:

Phil Mason's uncle goes away and leaves him in charge of this Chicago residence. In order to relieve financial embarassments the young man decides to rent "furnished rooms." Then the fun begins. A vaudeville queen and her bevy of assistants—ten in number—take apartments, also a retired banker from Kalamazoo, Mich., with his wife and daughter, engage a suite. The foxy old banker is kept busy dodging wifey and making love to the actress. The young man falls in love with the banker's daughter and complication after complication arises and the audience is screaming with laughter constantly. "Henpecked Henry" is the nearest thing to the old-time Hoyt farces that has been produced in recent years. Mr. Trainor has scored a success in the title role. He has a collection of mannerisms all his own, including a startling array of grotesque and laughing poses—not forgetting the "loose jointed" walk for which he is famous.

Starting with today's matinee the Echo theater will show for three days the musical comedy, "Hotel a la Carte."

The cast is one of excellence and is headed by Jack Hubb and Marie Russell. The chorus fully maintains the reputation of being one of the best.

The story of the play, while light, has many comedy and complicated situations dealing with the funny doings in a hotel lobby. The cast includes a bell hop, who furnishes the occasion for most of the laughter. A leading lady from one of the show houses, who is much admired by all who see her; a German barber who is the real comedian of the show and does some very creditable work, and the goody, goody man, who is picked upon and for whom life is made a burden. "Hotel a la Carte" contains all the ingredients which go to make a musical comedy a big hit.

Verandas Can Be Made Comfortable.

I called today on a friend and found her looking over screens, puttering over tables and sorting cretonne table coverings and pillow slips, laying this chair aside to be painted and discarding another as being too shabby for the summer retreat. She was planning a general freshening up of the furnishings that go to make her out-of-door living room on her side veranda one of the most attractive spots that I know of.

"I think I can make it very comfortable at very little additional expense this year," she said. "Last year I bought the new hammock, which was quite expensive, and this large rug, but this year the purchase of one chair is all that is necessary.

What a summer living room this woman has contrived out of odds and ends, with here and there a piece of furniture bought purposely to add to its ease and attractiveness. The first year her only expense was the wire screen, which cost very little, and the inexpensive pieces of cretonne. The next two years she expended stated sums, while they did not amount to much, added immeasurably to the looks and the enjoyment of her piazza retreat.

What this woman has done anyone can do, provided they have a veranda. The one I speak of is high up on the topmost floor of the house. There is an army cot with a mattress, which is covered with a flowered cretonne which may be put into the wash whenever it gets dirty. This summer couch is loaded down with pillows.

Then there is a low, round table with a broad top that the mistress bought cheaply and made presentable by dint of sand paper and varnish. There is a Morris chair at which my friend turns up her nose, because it has stuffy cushions, but the man of the family insists upon it. Then there is an old-fashioned, deep-seated chair and a wicker rocker, besides a Gloucester hammock.

These people are stay-at-homes, but from the top of their summer nest, which overlooks a bay of water, they can be more comfortable than they could be at the average hotel or cottage. This same scheme of fixing up the veranda is open to everyone just as my friend is in her $25 a month apartment, two flights up.

THE DAIRY INDUSTRY NEAR DULUTH.

Thursday and Friday farmers and business men of Northern Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota will gather at the Commercial club in Duluth and at the Jean Duluth farm near Duluth to discuss the dairy industry of this section—to take account of growth and progress and to build further growth and progress for the future.

When one surveys the splendid advance of dairying in Northeastern Minnesota, the astonishing thing is not that so much progress has been made, but that this development has come about in the short space of seven years.

Seven years ago a few, seeing how clover grew by the wayside like a weed and better even than most weeds, realized that there were dairy possibilities in this region. A soil that could grow clover like that, they argued, must be worth cultivating.

So they cultivated it. And today's splendid array of dairy cows and dairy farms is the result. Big farms and little farms, farms run by rich men and farms run by poor men, all are prosperous and profitable when good business judgment has guided them. The soil and the climate and the market have combined to lay the foundations of what will soon be the greatest industry of this region.

Moreover, it will not be long before the country at large will recognize in this the greatest dairy country in the world.

This meeting is important. Its program will be interesting. Some of the greatest authorities on dairying and farming in the country will be here. Local men who can tell of their own experiences will supplement the opinions of the experts with actual achievements.

And this is not a matter of interest only to those who own land and cows. Almost unsuspected, there is growing up hereabouts a great industry which means much to the business interests of Duluth—an industry that in the last analysis will mean more to the growth of Duluth than the coming of the steel plant or any other manufacturing industry. So the story of progress and prospects in the dairy industry of Northeastern Minnesota is of interest and of direct personal concern to every citizen.

It not only was the longest day of the year, but it showed it.

CHEAP PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

Many people have been shocked to learn that the tolls to be paid at the Panama canal toll-gate will amount to nine to twelve thousand dollars for every trip of each boat of the average size that will be likely to operate through the canal.

Nine to twelve thousand dollars! Might as well take a little more time and go by way of Cape Horn, eh?

But no. That would cost at least twice as much.

The Vancouver Board of Trade has figured it out. It has been making investigations of the cost of carrying cargoes from British Columbia ports to the Atlantic coast of North and South America, comparing the Cape Horn route with the canal route.

The fastest steamers now make the run from Vancouver to New York around the Horn in sixty-five to ninety days, under a daily cost of five to six hundred dollars for operation. By the Panama canal the same vessels will make the trip in about twenty days. On the basis of sixty-five days for the other route this makes a difference of forty-five days, which multiplied by five hundred dollars per day for operating cost gives $22,500, the steamer's actual saving. This leaves the canal tolls looking small.

They look smaller still when it is realized that a vessel can make two or three trips by way of the canal where one is made by way of Cape Horn, and when the increased earnings because of this are figured in.

When this wreck business reaches the point where it has to take in places like the Oswego canal, it seems as if it is pretty nearly time to call a halt.

DISTRIBUTING LABOR.

Miss Frances Kellor, managing director of the North American Civic League for Immigrants, is urging the creation of a "bureau of distribution" in the department of labor. The object, of course, is to bring about a better distribution of labor in this country.

And that is an object worth anybody's energy.

There is not, and never has been, any adequate system of labor distribution in this country. What little attempt at system there is is operated by private agencies, and the welfare of the worker and the general requirements of industry are the last things sought to be served.

Always there is a congestion of labor in some places, and a scarcity of labor elsewhere. The times are never so good that the congested labor centers have no idle men. The times are never so bad that there is no call for labor anywhere.

A public agency, under the Federal government, could survey the requirements of the whole country, and working in the interests of the worker and of general industry it could bring about and maintain a fairer equalization of the labor supply at all times.

Says Miss Kellor: "The process of securing employment will then be very simple. When there is a demand for labor in one of the commercial centers, its branch will communicate directly with the central bureau at Washington. This bureau will then communicate with the labor exchange at the most convenient distribution center, and order the necessary labor to be shipped directly to the commercial center."

Miss Kellor's interest is in the immigrant, and that does her credit. The problem, though, is broader than that because there are many workers not immigrants who need the help of such an institution.

Again, while the function seems naturally to come under the department of labor, the scheme could hardly be complete without the use of the postoffice department, which reaches every part of the country and can furnish information regarding the labor supply everywhere. Very likely it would be possible to arrange a plan whereby the operating machinery would be under the bureau of labor, but postmasters would be made its agents for the purpose of collecting information about the labor supply and keeping it up to date. Good use could be made, too, of the various state employment bureaus and of municipal employment bureaus where these exist.

Some definitely organized and legally provided for machinery for better distributing the labor supply is needed, in the interests of the worker, of industry and of the country as a whole.

This is one time when the almanac and calendar come handy to tell what time of the year it is.

FOR GOVERNOR—WINFIELD SCOTT HAMMOND.

The Democrats of Minnesota have nominated as their candidate for governor Congressman Winfield Scott Hammond of St. James.

Frankly, we are glad. We are glad for the Democrats, but gladder still for Minnesota.

There is an assurance, now, that Minnesota will have a governor of caliber and capacity, of sympathy and humanity, of courage and ability, of broad powers and high purpose.

The nomination is not by a large majority—not so large as it should have been nor so large as we should have liked to see it. But Daniel W. Lawler, with his friends and his eloquence, put up a heroic fight, while Mr. Hammond's friends took too much for granted. And anyway, a miss is as good as a mile, and we have the utmost confidence that the majority in November will be vastly greater.

Mr. Hammond is not yet intimately known by the state at large.

They know him down in Watonwan county, where he was county attorney three terms though the county is strongly Republican and he is a Democrat.

Ex-Governor John Lind knew him when he appointed him a state normal school director, and ex-Governor Van Sant knew him when he reappointed him to that place.

The country knew him when at Denver in 1908 he made a ringing speech placing the name of John A. Johnson before the Democratic national convention as a candidate for president.

The Second congressional district of Minnesota knew him when it put him in congress in 1906 in place of James T. McCleary, when it re-elected him in 1908, when it re-elected him again in 1910, and when it returned him once more in 1912—always by impressive majorities though the district is normally Republican by a large margin. The Second district knew him when in the recent primary contest its counties gave him ten-to-one votes for the Democratic nomination for governor.

And before the ballots fall in November, the state at large will know him as intimately. His conception of the duty of a public servant was shown by the fact that during the primary election contest he stuck to his post at Washington, serving his state and his country and upholding the hands of President Wilson.

The Democrats have chosen wisely. They have wrought well for Minnesota.

Here is a candidate who has not sought the honor and who refused to participate in any unseemly scramble for it, but who in the fall months when the work of congress is over and the people are ready again to consider their public business will make an ardent but dignified canvass of the state.

The campaign of September and October will introduce him to the people of the commonwealth as he is known to the people of the district he has so ably represented in congress, and we have the utmost confidence that the result of that canvass will be his election to the governorship by an overwhelming majority.

For here is a candidate whom any citizen, whatever his party or factional affiliations may be, can support with full confidence that his support will not be misplaced or his trust disappointed. As a candidate he will be an honor to his party, and as governor he will be an honor to his state.

Women and the Newspapers

Indianapolis News: Dispatches from Chicago say that the women attending the meeting of the general federation of women's clubs are amazed at the amount of attention that is being shown them by the newspapers. But why they should be amazed is not clear to the newspapers or to the people in general. Women and their ways and their work were ever interesting and ever commanded attention. As their interests formerly were scattered and scattering, the attention paid to them was naturally of like nature. But now that they are getting together it is altogether a different matter. When hundreds of them meet as one organization to discuss affairs of state it is not only natural, but it is necessary that they should receive the closest and most respectful attention.

"It is a significant fact," said Mrs. Robert W. Spangler of Twin Falls, Idaho, a member of the press committee, "that women are being treated more seriously." It is, indeed! It is significant of the realization of the rest of the country that the women are acting more seriously. They are gravely discussing weighty questions, ranging all the way from clothes to suffrage, and they are doing so in a determined way that must bring results of some kind. The clash between the conservative and the advanced radicals in the matters sartorial is of no small moment, and of even greater possibilities is the contest between the women who are bound to vote and the women who would not vote under any circumstances.

These are only two of the more prominent differences that have arisen within the ranks of these eminent club women and have precipitated the discussion which must result in a clearing of the atmosphere and a better understanding all round. The outcome of all this no man—and, perhaps, few women—can foresee. The possible combinations are various—to dress daringly and to vote; to dress quietly and to vote; to dress daringly and not to vote; to dress quietly and not to vote.

There should be no wonder then that the newspapers, interpreting the attitude of the country, are treating the meeting with much seriousness, and giving it a great deal of attention. When so many determined differ so radically on such important questions something of an epoch-making nature is almost certain to happen. But what it will be—who knows?

On Their Trail.

Pittsburg Post: "Look how the Raffleses and the Wallingfords get along in literature. Crime seems safe and easy."

"Oh, I don't know. There's the Hawkshaws and the Sherlocks, you know."

The Game of Golf

Editorial in the New York Globe.

Once upon a time a king in Persia was ill. But a sage constructed a "staff," the handle of which was hollow, and in the cavity placed medicaments. This he gave to the king, and with it a ball.

And the sage up and said: "O King, whose (etc., etc.), take now this staff and with it smite this ball as far as thou canst. Then go to where it lies and smite it once more." And the king did that little thing.

Now the smiting and the going made the king warm, and his palms became moist, and the medicaments in the hollow of the staff—by a species of endosmosis which Scheherazade didn't stop to explain—got in their fine work, and the king recovered his reason and his reins, as the quaint old writers call them, were quite all right again.

Now this was undoubtedly the origin of golf. Some writers claim, of course, that it was the origin of polo, because the king played the game mounted on a horse. This reasoning is not sound; it would be as easy to argue that the king was the founder of feminism because he wore a jeweled and brocaded gown or robe.

Golf disappeared during the Dark Ages, along with most other games. And when civilization began to move again toward the aeroplane and the submarine, people were so busy doing the outdoor work of the world that they never realized that they needed exercise. And it never came back into popular use until the days of calisthenics, eugenics, hygienics and similar useful amusements.

Happily golf had, before the days of its disuse, become acclimated in Scotland, and so was preserved. Anything Scotland has once adopted as a sport is sure of perpetuity—witness Scotch whisky, tossing the caber, curling, a dozen or so of humorous stories as traditional amusements of the Bruces and Burnses.

So golf came through the joyless centuries alive. England adopted it because Scotland claimed it, and England never permits a thing like that to go unannexed. America took it up first because it was expensive, difficult and English.

But golf proved to be an odd game. The millionaires who were our first golfers had caddies, of course, and the caddies played with the cast-off clubs and lost balls of their employers, as caddies will. Driven from the aristocratic, highly groomed "real course," the caddies set up links of their own in back lots.

Country clubs were just then coming into fashion. This was in the '80s and early '90s.

Golf had this advantage; while only four persons could make use of a tennis court at one time, and eight crowded a croquet ground, seventy-two could play at one time on an eighteen-hole golf course, a foursome to a hole, with a few extras hunting for sliced or pulled shots.

It proved to be a better game for the man over 40 than tennis, for the exercise is not so violent, and agility and strength are not indispensable.

For the young men golf was not at first attractive. It took more than a little courage to carry a bag of clubs across a city, fifteen years ago, and even now the sight of a man on his way to the links is pretty sure to provoke sarcastic comment from the other kind of unemployed.

But the young men came in at last. They usually began with a scornful "try" at hitting a teed ball. One can always make a splendid drive at the first attempt. And having experienced the delightful sensation which ensues upon a sweet smack of the gutty, the young men usually remarked: "Say, where do you buy these things, anyway?"

Country clubs could not hold the increasing hosts; public links began to appear. Today, if you would play on the Cortlandt park course in New York on a Sunday, you must wait at the first tee for hours before your turn to start.

The qualities of golf fit for people of both sexes and all ages and degrees of strength. The psychics of golf contain so much that appeals to humanity's sport instinct that it is the game of games, so far as interest goes. It needs no partner, yet can be played by a regiment.

And as a medicine of ambition and patience, it makes the average philosopher look like a fretful, unreasonable and rather profane child.

Why Railroad Advice Goes Unheeded.

New York World: Railroad managers, in voicing their satisfaction with the decision of the United States supreme court in the Shreveport case, are practically unanimous in the opinion that it is a long step toward elimination of state regulation of rates.

Yet the railroad managers for twenty years successfully fought the regulation of freight rates by the national government. They preferred state regulation then; because the railroads usually controlled the state governments and became their own regulators.

Now that the political power of railroads has greatly diminished in both state and national politics, and state regulation in many instances has proved more drastic than national regulation, the railroad managers are all keen for control by a single authority. They have completely reversed their position, and the thing they were fighting against is the thing they are now clamoring for.

Yet railroad managers wonder why their opinions are held in so little esteem by presidents and congresses and the general public.

My Prayer.

Let me be true enough to meet each honest eye,
Yet if a friend whose sorrowed heart has been undone
Asks me for comfort where in truth there can be none,
Then let me grasp his groping hand—and kindly lie.

And if my neighbor does those things I think are ill,
Let me not judge! Who knows what tangled taunting skein
Fate may have woven to have meshed his heart in pain—
Would I have smoothed the evil knot with half his skill?

Since I must play the game of life, this is my prayer,
Though I may lose, let me preserve a smiling face,
Let me not scorn the weak who falter in the race;
Let me be merciful—let me play fair.
—Caroline Reynolds in Los Angeles Graphic.

Battleships and Economy.

Fort Wayne News: If Secretary Daniels can sell two or three of our old battleships to Greece, for heaven's sake let him do so. We need the money. Moreover, if aerial navigation continues to develop in the next ten years as it has during the last five, we shall soon be glad enough to swap some of our dreadnoughts for field glasses and cyclone cellars.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is necessary to bear in mind throughout this story that Mr. Bill Kettner, member of congress from San Diego, Cal., used to be a life insurance agent.

If everybody will agree to hold fast to that fact during the unfolding of our little narrative we can proceed at once. Very well.

It seems that there is some kind of international chamber of commerce meeting to take place in Paris this summer, with delegates from various large cities. The chamber of commerce out in Bill Kettner's town yearned to be represented and they wrote to Kettner that he would simply have to fix it. Sadly Kettner found that the list of delegates had already been made up. But a day or two later he learned to his great joy that there was a bill pending which gave the president of the United States the right to name ten additional delegates-at-large. Kettner skirmished about and made arrangements for the chamber of commerce in this town to get one of these. Meanwhile the San Diego folks, never doubting that Kettner would be able to talk the proper authorities into doing whatever was wanted, had sent along their delegate.

This delegate struck Washington and Kettner's office in a great hurry, saying that he had to leave town that afternoon at 2 o'clock and must have his credentials at once, as he was to sail from New York the next day.

But there was a hitch. The bill entitling the president to appoint Bill Kettner's delegate had not yet been signed. Kettner rushed to the White House and found that the bill was there ready for signature.

"Ah, well then," smiled Kettner, "we'll have the president sign it at once and my friend will just have time to catch his train."

"But the president has just gone to lunch," explained Tommy Brahany, one of the smart young Irishmen who look after things at the executive offices. "He'll be gone for an hour or so."

"Gracious sakes alive!" exclaimed Kettner. "It's too bad, but we'll simply have to disturb him at his victuals and let him sign the bill over in the dining room. I'm sorry but that's what we'll have to do."

"Oh we couldn't do that," Brahany told Kettner. "I doubt if there is a case on record where a president was disturbed at his meal to sign a bill."

"Can't help that," insisted Kettner. "If we wait for the president to finish his dessert and come back here my friend will miss his train. You wouldn't stand idly by and see a man miss a train would you?"

Well, without going into further details, Kettner talked Brahany into sending the bill over to the president for signature. And Kettner's friend made his train with a minute and a half to spare. Now you know why it was necessary to bear in mind that Kettner used to sell life insurance before he came to congress.

Two men entered the office of Congressman Bathrick almost simultaneously to talk about the farm credit measure in which Bathrick has been interested. One of the visitors was, frankly, just a plain farmer, from one of the Carolinas, with the kind of whiskers farmers wear in the comic weeklies, and the warm weather was the only reason he did not wear felt boots. The other one was a distinguished doctor of philosophy from Columbia university. He had come to discuss the farm credit bill from the learned, economic, sociological, philosophic angle, and he did so. As he talked the Carolina farmer listened with mouth agape, and seemed to be drinking in every word the scholarly man said. It was evidently his first contact with so much learning, and he was receiving a liberal education. So intent was he on not missing any of it that he uttered not a single word until—

But wait.

The Columbia professor branched off from farm credits and talked of the Wall Street point of view.

"Those fellows," says he, "curse and resent the facts that exist instead of trying to remedy the conditions that bring them about. They're like the tyrants who beheaded the messengers that brought bad news, back in the time of Louis XV."

"Sixteenth," spoke up the farmer in a still, small voice. It was the first word that had escaped his lips—simply because it was the first time the professor had made an inaccurate statement.

"Yes," said the professor, "I meant to say Louis XVI."

Two photographers were trying to take a photograph of Vice President Marshall up near the capitol one morning.

"Just look right into the lens," said one.

"Right into this lens here," directed the other.

So the V. P.'s eyes shifted nervously from one camera to the other.

"Hold on," chuckled Marshall. "You fellows make me think of the cross-eyed butcher. He was about to kill a steer and had persuaded a hanger-on about his place to hold the steer while he hit it between the eyes.

"'Goin' t' hit where you're looking?' asked the helper.

"'Yep,' replied the cross-eyed butcher.

"'Then you can hold the blamed thing yourself!' declared the helper as he walked off."

Sleep Enough.

Boston Globe: Scientists and nerve specialists may insist that a man can exist just as well on a few hours' sleep, say four or five, as he can on seven, eight or nine; but human beings will do well to consult their own feelings and take as much slumber as they feel they must have in order to preserve their health.

Some very active brain workers may be able to get along with little sleep; but if all the facts concerning their health and length of life were obtainable, it would be found in most cases they would have been stronger physically and mentally if they had conserved their vitality by indulging in more rest.

Sleep is still Nature's sweet restorer, and it is not wise to ignore its beneficial effect on the body and mind.

Up in the Air.

Philadelphia Bulletin: Gen. Funston, said a war correspondent just back from the front, was admiring one day in Vera Cruz the splendid flying of one of our army airmen.

"No uncertainty about that chap," the general said. "He's not like a flyer I heard about recently.

"A millionaire paid this flyer $100 to be taken up in his monoplane. Up they rose, but the dipping, the zigzagging and the side-slipping were terrible.

"'Easy, man, easy!' the millionaire roared above the shriek of the wind and the thunder of the motor. 'Easy! This is only my second trip, remember.'

"'It's my first,' said the pilot."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

The Value of Training.

Albert Lea Tribune: Do you notice that the average boy who graduates from one of our Minnesota high schools does not join the loafers? He gets a job and in a short time has won promotion, or else he goes to college and prepares himself for a broader field of usefulness.

Dollar Wheat.

Preston Republican: Those who worried about the effect of the tariff on farm produce should know that Chicago had dollar wheat only a week ago and that in the face of the most promising prospects that have been noted since the weather department was established in Washington. Unless some unusual catastrophe overtakes the standing wheat crop, this year's harvest will be by far the greatest in the history of the country. And yet we have dollar wheat. All of our alarming and disquieting predictions do not seem to work out.

A Lesson From Norway.

Austin Transcript: Norway has 144 tree-planting societies. The first was founded in 1900 and since then 260,000,000 trees have been planted, more than 200,000 having been set out last year. This is the correct way of conserving our forests.

Life Always Menaced by Cowards.

Mankato Free Press: Human life is not worth a pinch of snuff so long as any irresponsible person can purchase a gun as easily as he can an ice cream soda.

The Best People.

Carlton Vidette: Just to satisfy our own curiosity we asked a well-known citizen whom he considered the "best people in town." "The best people in this town or community," he said, "are those who believe in the town, who speak a good word for the town and who spend their money IN the town." Are you one of the best citizens?

A Pertinent Question.

Slayton Gazette: About 700 freshmen failed by the end of the first semester of the state university last year. In nine cases out of ten the failure was due to lack of thoroughness in the common branches. As only the best of graduates of high schools usually go to the university, what must be the condition of those who are fair, average or poor?

Heir of All the Ages.

Minneapolis Journal: The Federal reserve board has been completed by the nomination of Charles S. Hamlin of Boston in place of Mr. Olney, and Thomas D. Jones of Chicago in place of Mr. Wheeler. The board is as broad in character as the new banking system, which is conceived to gather all the trade, finance, industry, corporate and individual business of the country into an interlocking mechanism.

The new law attracts wide attention abroad for its daring extent and scientific thoroughness. A director of the reichsbank calls it the most comprehensive experiment ever made in banking organized into a center and branches under close government control; even broader and riper than the system created in Germany with the empire.

That may be, because the American system was built in the light of centuries of evolution of the banks of England and France, with forty years more of observation than the German empire had.

Don't Worry.

Don't worry, though above your head
The threatening storm clouds meet,
The rainbow as of yore shall spread
Its sign of promise sweet.
The flowers fled when winter gray
Proclaimed again his cruel sway,
Yet early blossoms smile and say,
"Don't worry."

Don't worry, though the noontide find
Your footsteps faltering,
The morn's glad hopes left far behind
The day its joy shall bring.
When sunset's radiant curtains fall,
Sleep's angel, ready at the call
Of night, shall whisper low to all,
"Don't worry."

Don't worry, though with little good
Your eager quest seem fraught,
He that has striven as he could
Has striven as he ought.
Ask not how destiny was planned,
The little that we understand
Is eloquent with the command,
"Don't worry."
—Tit-Bits.

Consolation.

Lippincott's: A depot agent in a certain small town in Minnesota had inherited an amazing degree of that awful, consuming curiosity on which womankind is generally supposed to have a monopoly.

Some time ago a box containing a Belgian hare in transit for the West was dropped off at this station. When the agent saw the cloth across the box move, he started an investigation.

No sooner had he loosened the cloth sufficiently to enable him to peep into the box, than Mr. Belgian Hare, like a flash of light, was gone from the box and out of the depot. The agent gave chase. At a lively rate of speed the two went across the railroad tracks and toward the lake, the hare several paces in the lead. The agent's position was embarrassing, but it was up to him to recover the hare, and he kept on running. At times he seemed to be gaining a little. Suddenly, just at a most exciting time, he stubbed his toe and fell. When he picked himself up, Mr. Hare had disappeared from sight over a rocky ledge. The agent stopped short, with a look of distress on his face, and a laborer returning from work heard the following remark fall from his lips:

"Run, darn you, run! You don't know where you're going, anyhow! Your address is on the box back at the depot!"

Lost Argosies.

The days of youth are sunk behind thee now,
Galleons that sailed so proud and fair and free
On far, dim stretches of life's stormy sea,
Laden with untold wealth from stern to prow;
Enchanted Pegasus, the Golden Bough,
The Magic Apples gathered on the shore
Of faery bays that thou shalt see no more,
Youth's ecstasy and love's first, trembling vow * * *
"Gone! gone!" they cry; "All, all forever lost!"
And weeping, all regretfully dost try
To stretch thy finite senses for reply
To futile tasks of counting up the cost.
Weep not, for thou shalt see them by and by Sail into Port beneath a cloudless sky.

On the Farm Is Real Life

Breeder's Gazette: Why is it that railway magnates, presidents of banks and heads of great enterprises who must perforce do business in cities, almost all try to have homes on farms in the country, where they develop soils, plant crops and breed animals? It is because there is wearisome monotony in piled up brick and stone. There is confusion in crowded streets and clanging trolley cars and hot smoky railways. These things man has made, and they are needful, but they are not life, much as the farm boy may imagine them to be.

Life is in the open country. Life is in the growing grass, the waving fields of wheat, the spring corn. Life is in the trees and birds, life is in the developing animals of the farm.

Any man who works with the land, who feeds a field and watches the result, gains a real fundamental knowledge of the underlying foundation on which rests all our civilization. It makes him a sober man, a thoughtful man, a reverent man, and if he experiments wisely a hopeful optimist. Life is where things are born and live and grow. On the farm is real life.

Awaiting His Task.

"Good," said Pat, taking off his hat and coat. "Send them out one by one."

Strange Neglect.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of genera. interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHY NOT "B'JOU, NICHI?"

To the Editor of The Herald:

A committee is looking for a name for the festival it is proposed to hold here during the summer of 1915 and annually thereafter. Someone suggested that the Chippewa word for festival be used. But it seems that those of our old-timers who had more or less knowledge of Chippewa were not familiar with their word for festival. Evidently festivals were not the things they had had much occasion to discuss with their friends, the Indians. The word was finally found, but did not seem quite to meet the requirements.

But there is a Chippewa phrase that is perfectly familiar to all the old settlers, even to those who never attained to a knowledge of the language. I refer to the familiar greeting, "B'jou, Nichi." (B'jou, or Bujou being a corruption of the French "bon jour," and Nichi meaning friend or comrade.)

In the early days this form of greeting was so common that you would occasionally hear it used between whites. Say "B'jou, Nichi" to one of our old-timers and you have put him in a reminiscent mood.

Probably nothing else is so strongly indicative of the friendliness of the relations between our early settlers and the natives, as the commonness and the familiarity of this phrase.

So why not call this festival, at which we hope to greet many friends from far and near, "B'jou, Nichi." Nikaniss or Nita might be substituted for Nichi. But the most common form of greeting is "B'jou, Nichi."

None of these offers any difficulties of pronunciation—after you have heard them spoken once or twice.

PERSONAL LIBERTY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It seems to me that since the worthy editor has spoken so freely of personal liberty and home rule that some one should take a little rap at last night's editorial in regard to the impending congressional vote on national prohibition. The Herald strongly opposed Eberhart and Lawler because they were backed by the interests. It also rightly assailed that little Sunday drunken spree which a governor of a great state stooped so low as to attend, but he won't attend many more as governor. But in that same editorial it tells us very plainly that if those people wanted a drunken spree on the Sabbath and also desired to sell liquor on the same day, it was no one's business, as every community should have the absolute right to do as they please on that question, as it would infringe their personal liberty to stop them.

By that same rule saloons should run Sunday and houses of assignation should not be stopped, as that is infringing on some one's personal liberty, for the said editor tells us that if our worthy congressman should vote for national prohibition he would be infringing on the rights of St. Louis county and destroying the principles of home rule. If The Herald is so saintly in opposing machine and boss-controlled candidates, then why in heaven's name hasn't it ever had the backbone to say a word against or help in any way to curb the liquor interests of the town or nation. In every recent fight against the liquor interests The Herald has been on the wet side.

Does the editor mean to warn our congressmen that if they dare vote to allow the states to vote on an amendment to the United States Constitution to do away with liquor that they must expect the animosity and opposition of their powerful paper. In this day when bribery is dangerous, it is an insult to any intelligent congressman for a newspaper like this to demand of him that he shall not vote for prohibition or anything else.

Every party is awakening to the national demand against this accursed evil and it will be the chief issue in one of the great parties soon. This is not an article by a rabid Prohibitionist but by a Democrat and a Herald subscriber, and in defense of those same principles of home rule and personal liberty, for liquor is not a personal or local matter now. It is impossible for one county to be dry and adjoining ones wet.

Hoping I may see this in the Open Court and thanking you for this opportunity to give you a deserved lambasting, A SUBSCRIBER.

BASEBALL STANDINGS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly inform me, through your Open Court column, which are the right baseball standings, those of the News Tribune or those of your paper? A FAN.

Duluth, June 20.

The Northern league standing in The Herald Saturday was the official table. The other league standings are corrected daily by comparison with Twin City and Chicago papers and every two or three weeks with official standings sent out from league headquarters. Every effort is made to keep them accurate, but mistakes occasionally creep in either from typographical errors, or errors in compiling.—The Editor.

Old Duluth Resident Is Called After Short Illness.

Mrs. N. B. Merritt, 77 years old, a resident of Duluth for the last thirty years, died late Saturday evening at her home, 1530 East Fourth street, following a week's illness.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one sister, Mrs. Harriet Palmerly of Auburn, N. Y., and four stepsons. They are: Thomas A. Merritt of Oklahoma and Fred, Eugene and Frank Merritt, all of Minneapolis.

The funeral will be held at noon tomorrow from the family residence, Rev. W. Grant Fritz of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, of which she was a member for the last twenty-two years, will officiate and the body will be taken to Blanchard, Iowa, in the afternoon. Interment will take place there Thursday afternoon.

FLEECE ITALIANS IN UNITED STATES.

Waterbury, Conn., June 22.—Michaele Riccio, Italian consul at New Haven, has come here to investigate a conspiracy through which Italians in many states have been defrauded of thousands of dollars. The inquiry is in the name of the Italian government.

The arrest of Frank Sandula disclosed the conspiracy. Sandula confessed he was employed by wealthy New York Italians who make a practice of fleecing their fellow countrymen.

The scheme is for an Italian to pay $200, which entitles him to a paper, signed by the "King of Italy," exempting him from military duty if he wants to go back to his native land. Sandula says he got $400 in Waterbury and sent it to the head of the clique in New York, receiving therefor 10 per cent commission.

WORK ON THE TARGET RANGE

Duuth Companies at Lake City Complete Their Rifle Practice.

Ninth Annual Reunion of the Fourteenth Minnesota Association.

Camp Lakeview, Lake City, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The First battalion which began practice on arrival at camp finished its work on the target range with the following scores:

Slow Fire.

	300 yards.	500 yards.	600 yards.
Co. A, Duluth	636	407	404
Co. B, Anoka	927	854	881
Co. C, Duluth	1,351	1,182	1,114
Co. E, Duluth	1,117	1,022	1,014

Rapid Fire.

	200 yards.	300 yards.
Co. A, Duluth	542	583
Co. D, Anoka	1,056	886
Co. C, Duluth	1,377	1,352
Co. E, Duluth	1,127	1,017

Saturday morning rain partially interrupted the work of the Third regiment. However, the weather cleared up in the afternoon, which allowed all the work which had been laid out to continue without interruption the rest of the day, which consisted of inspection of the equipment of the First battalion by Capt. Charles M. Gordon, infantry, U. S. A., and inspection of the Third battalion by Lieut. Phillip G. Wrightson, infantry, U. S. A. Individual field kits of all tents must be arranged in a uniform manner for the daily inspection. For this purpose a specimen kit and tick has been arranged in one of the tents of Company K-Olivia to serve as a model.

Saturday night a heavy shower resulted in some of the company kitchens being surrounded by pools of water, and Sunday morning breakfast was delayed for half an hour, as it was necessary to drain the water and put temporary floors in the kitchens.

Fourteenth's Reunion.

The ninth annual reunion of the Fourteenth Minnesota Volunteer association was held in camp Saturday evening. The business session was held in the north mess house. The following members were present at roll call: President Edward G. Simpson of the Third Regiment band, Vice President James Cowell of Anoka; Principal Musician Arthur Groh of the Third regiment, St. Paul; Battalion Sergeant-Maj. Jenson of the Third regiment, Minneapolis; Battalion Sergeant-Maj. Fred H. Wood of the Third regiment, Duluth; Maj. Quane of the Second regiment, St. Paul; Regimental Commissary Sergeant George Geddes of the Third regiment; Capt. Caswell of Company B, Anoka; Maj. A. F. Pratt of the First battalion, Third regiment; Lieut. Milton A. Gallup of the Third regiment; Commissary Capt. Roy G. Staples of the Third regiment; Lieut. R. C. Nelson of Company C, Duluth; Lieut. Thomas L. Chisholm, battalion adjutant, Duluth; Capt. Rodger M. Weaver of Duluth; Capt. Carl C. Weaver of St. Paul, quartermaster of the Third regiment; Dr. James C. Ferguson, and Dr. Carl V. Cole of the Third regiment.

Col. F. E. Resche and Lieut.-Col. H. V. Eva of Duluth are also members of the association. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Maj. Quane; vice president, Battalion Sergeant-Maj. Jensen; secretary and treasurer, Regimental Commissary Sergeant George E. Geddes. The retiring secretary and treasurer, Principal Musician A. Groh, has held this office for the past eight years, and was given a vote of thanks for his faithful service.

Owing to the rigid government inspection which is being made by the regular army officers detailed at this encampment, the strictest military discipline is being enforced.

The Commissary Department.

The commissy department, which is in charge of Capt. Roy G. Staples, assisted by Commissary Sergt. Geo. E. Geddes, is the busiest department in camp, as this is where the rations for the regiment are given out, and the list of food supplies issued every day proves that the appetites of the men are in a healthy condition. The supplies of food consumed each day consist of 800 pounds of beef, 250 pounds of ham and bacon, 400 loaves of bread, 40 pounds of coffee, 65 pounds of beans, 110 pounds of sugar and 20 dozen cans of fruit and vegetables, such as apples, peaches apricots, tomatoes, corn and peas. The staple articles of the rations are purchased by the commissary in large quantities, and issued to the various companies at cost. Capt. Staples has been very careful to secure only the best quality of everything. The Sunday dinner was especially fine. The menu of Company M, Hibbing, included the following:

Entrees: Fricassee chicken and butter biscuits. Sirloin of beef au jus. Vegetables; cream peas; stewed tomatoes; mashed potatoes. Fruit pudding with lemon sauce. Ice cream and assorted cake. Young onions. Radishes. Dill pickles. American cream cheese. Tea, coffee, milk and lemonade. This menu was gotten up by the company cooks, Wilcox and St. Julien, and Quartermaster F. Romanski. Practically all the other companies had the same menu.

The gasoline torches that were formerly used to furnish light in front of the colonel's quarters and for the band concert at night, have been done away with. Col. Resche was instrumental in equiping the band stand with electric lights and the band members are very much pleased with this new arrangement. A Duluth firm donated a large portable acetylene gas light which is used in front of the colonel's tent every night.

"Kunkaroo Court."

Company C of Duluth held their usual "Kangaroo Court" Saturday night, and several men were found guilty of serious offences, and the punishment handed out to the prisoners was what is termed as a "watering duel." Each one was given a large pail filled with water and when they got through no ducking in the lake was necessary.

The ceremonies Sunday evening consisted of regimental parade and review under command of Col. Resche. Company C of Duluth was detailed for guard duty, with Capt. W. O. Flodin as officer of the day.

The following men have been detailed to act as mounted orderlies for the field officers: Samuel L. Orton, Company G, Princeton, for Col. F. E. Resche; Fred Bailey, Company L, Red Wing for Lieut.-Col. H. V. Eva; Roy Fillmore, Company L, Red Wing, for Maj. Matson; Ernest Archibald, Company F, Eveleth, for Maj. Pratt; Harry Robinson, Company D, Zumbrota, for Maj. Nuenberg.

Owing to important business matters that require his attention, Capt. Roger M. Weaver left for Duluth Sunday night. Battalion Sergeant Major A. K. Wheaton, also left for Duluth Sunday night. Lieut. Milton A. Gallup will relieve Capt. Weaver of his duties during his absence, and Battalion Sergeant Major Fred H. Wood will act as regimental sergeant major during the balance of the encampment.

Sunday Visitors.

Sunday was visitors' day in camp. Drills, schools and rifle practise were entirely suspended and the day given over to the entertainment of the friends of the regiment, as the weather was beautiful. In the evening the usual large crowd of people from Lake City came down to camp to witness the ceremonies and parade, and stayed for the band concert which was a decided success owing to the fine program and special preparations which were made for this occasion.

The following visitors arrived in camp Saturday: Mrs. F. E. Resche, Master Joseph Carpenter, Mrs. W. O. Flodin, Duluth; Mrs. James A. Ferguson, St. Paul; Mrs. Roy G. Staples, Stillwater; Capt. A. K. Alcott, Capt. Smith and Capt. F. E. Reed, First infantry, St. Paul; Capt. Rosenwall, Second infantry, New Ulm. J. McK. Heffner of Fort Dodge, Iowa, former officer of the Third regiment was a visitor over Sunday renewing old acquaintances. Capt. Peter I. Edie, Company I, Crookston, arrived in camp Sunday and took command of his company. Capt. Henry De Witt of Red Wing is a frequent visitor in camp. Capt. De Witt was formerly captain of Company K of the Second regiment, stationed at Duluth. Col. Resche and Lieut.-Col. Eva were enlisted men in his company at that time.

This afternoon the annual inspection of the field officers, staff and band and machine gun company of Rochester will take place.

VISIT MAY BE FRUITFUL

Detroiters Favorably Impressed With City; Will Aid Deep Waterway Fight.

Facts as Presented By Julius H. Barnes Hold Their Attention.

As a result of the visit of the members of the Detroit board of commerce to Duluth last Saturday, it is believed to be more than likely that that organization, backed by the newspapers of Detroit, will join with Duluth in the fight for a deep waterways to the sea. That such co-operation and such backing for the project will be of invaluabale aid, the members of the Duluth Commercial club, who have been urging such a matter upon both the American and Canadian governments, feel certain.

During the stay of the Detroiters in Duluth Saturday, a buffet luncheon and informal meeting was given them at the Commercial club rooms, and there the business men of the two cities gathered and exchanged ideas. A number of addresses were made, mostly on business matters, and in a spirit of felicitation, one of the chief ones being that by Julius H. Barnes, who has made the matter of both lake and rail transportation a deep study.

Mr. Barnes has lost no opportunity for a long time, of urging the importance of a deep waterway in the Great Lakes to the ocean, and on Saturday he talked of this to the Detroit men. So impressed were they by the facts and figures which he presented that many of them talked to him in private about it and grew quite enthusiastic over the possibilities. Several Detroit newspapermen who came up with the party on the steamer Detroit III, among them "Eddie" Guest of the Detroit Free Press, asked Mr. Barnes for his figures to form the basis of articles to be written by them for their papers, urging the improvement advocated by the Duluth man. Detroiters who heard the address expressed themselves as astounded and somewhat chagrined that they have not realized before now the importance of a deep waterways to the sea. Mr. Barnes pointed out that by obtaining this deep waterways the lake cities would be taking the greatest possible step towards obtaining their commercial and transportation rights.

Duluth men who spent the day with the Detroiters, feel that as a result of the visit, there is bound to be a closer friendly and commercial feeling between the two cities and that the Detroit men have carried away with them a first-class impression of the importance of Duluth as a great commercial center and the further importance of Detroit getting into closer commercial touch with the Head of the Lakes city.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, June 22.—Unsettled, showery weather will prevail Monday over the northern districts of the Rocky mountains, the weather bureau predicts probably continuing Tuesday in the Middle Atlantic states and New England, with generally fair weather following during the remainder of the week.

"It will be warmer early in the week in the east, but unusually high temperatures are not expected, and moderater temperatures will prevail during most of the week over the northern districts east of the Rocky Mountains" the bulletin continued.

SPLITS CHIHUAHUA INTO THREE PARTS.

Mexico City, Mex., June 22.—The proclamation amendment to the Mexican constitution recently adopted by congress by which a new territorial division of the republic was established, took place with the traditional military ceremony.

The governor of the Federal district and the members of the city council, accompanied by a large body of cavalry and infantry, marched through the main streets with bands playing. At intervals posters were affixed on the street corners containing the proclamation.

It divides Chihuahua into three entities to be known as the State of Chihuahua in the center, the territory of Bravo in the north, and the Territory of Jiminez in the south. Morelos is deprived of its statehood and made into a territory.

While the ceremony was in progress a salute of twenty-one guns was fired from the citadel.

HARD physical labor may be done by men who never eat meat, and with endurance equal to or better than men who do eat meat. There is probably more harm than good in the "meat three times a day" notion of the American workman. He would be healthier and happier if he ate less meat and more vegetable protein, or nitrogenous food, like beans, peas and nuts.

There is no difference between red meat and white meat in the diet of persons who have joint troubles. This old-fashioned idea has long since been dropped. White meat is just as good, or bad, as red meat in the diet.

Lean meat is more quickly digested than fat meat. Oils and fats tend to delay digestion in the stomach.

Mutton is perhaps the most nourishing, the most digestible and the most economical meat to buy.

Both beef and pork or ham are dangerous to eat unless thoroughly cooked. The cause of tapeworm in man is eating raw or half-cooked beef or pork.

Getting Nourishment From Meat.

The strength of meat is in the solid meat and not in the broth. The broth tastes appetizing, stimulates the appetite and stimulates the circulation slightly, but it does not feed the patient. The only way the patient can get the real nourishment out of meat is to eat the meat.

Meat undergoes putrefactive change in the digestive tract more readily than other kinds of nitrogen. Hence non-meat diet is advised for various intestinal and digestive disturbances, also for the relief of certain general symptoms attributable to absorption of the by-products of putrefaction into the blood.

Effect on Blood Pressure.

Excess of animal meat in the diet tends to raise the blood pressure. For this reason the amount of meat is reduced in the diet of patients who have such arterial diseases as apoplexy or Bright's disease.

In gout, which is extraordinarily rare in America, all nitrogenous foods, both animal and vegetable, are concerned in the production and deposit in the joints of urate salts. Therefore it is futile to cut out beef, pork or mutton and substitute an equal supply of energy in the shape of fish, eggs or vegetable nitrogen. Most of the gout in America occurs among the poorer classes. In fact, gout is usually a poor man's ailment.

Questions and Answers.

H. C. R. asks: (1) How do we get the malaria parasite known as the host? (2) Can the anopholes mosquito carry it without previously having bitten an infected person?

Answer—(1) Man is the host; anopholes mosquito is intermediary agent. (2) No.

O. B. asks: Isn't a licensed, graduate druggist capable of treating minor ailments?

Answer—The college course in pharmacy teaches nothing whatever about diagnosis or treatment. The druggist knows as much about treating minor ailments as a silkworm knows about dressmaking.

L. M. K. asks: (1) Is the exclusive use of distilled water advisable for drinking purposes? (2) In regard to the sun baths advocated in one of your recent articles, can the same effects be obtained through clothing?

Answer—(1) No. (2) No. If exposure of the naked body is impossible, then a very porous covering may be used, with longer exposures.

NO MORE WELLS FOR THE PRESENT

Temporary Order Made Permanent, But Case Will Be Reopened.

Pending the renewal of condemnation proceedings by the village of Hibbing to acquire title from the state of Minnesota to a tract of land for the purpose of augmenting the village's water supply, attorneys for the village and the attorney general have stipulated that the temporary injunction issued by Judge Bert Fesler at the instance of the attorney general restraining the village or its contractors from taking further steps in sinking wells in the property may be made a permanent one. Judgment to this effect was ordered by Judge Fesler Saturday.

Before the injunction proceedings were brought, Judge Dancer dismissed condemnation proceedings instituted by the village against the state. The dismissal was ordered solely on the grounds that the village officers had mistaken their course of procedure. It is understood that the proceedings will be renewed.

Melville Elevator Burns.

Melville, N. D., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Melville now has only one elevator as a result of a fire which burned the Star elevator here, owned by Pierce Blewett of Jamestown. Manager Hoff was underneath the building in the pit with a lantern, which was overturned and the flames spread quickly all over the building. The sparks were carried a quarter of a mile and set a barn, on the Buchanan place, on fire. This was extinguished.

NO MEDIATOR AT PITTSBURG YET.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 22.—Neither the strikers nor officials of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company had information today from Washington regarding the coming of Federal mediators to settle the strike. It was announced in Washington Saturday that a representative of the department of labor would be sent here in an attempt to settle the strike.

The general strike committee held a meeting and gave final instructions to the subcommittee that is expected to call on Mr. Herr later in the day in an effort to reach an agreement. Officers of the union said that no change had been made in their demands.

Hostetter Is Pleased With Work of Northern Pacific Agricultural Special.

A. B. Hostetter, district agricultural agent, who returned to Duluth yesterday after spending two weeks on board the Northern Pacific agricultural special which visited the farming communities tributary to the Minnesota & International line which runs between Brainerd and International Falls, expresses himself as being well satisfied with the results of the trip. Said he:

"The plan of the special differed widely from other agricultural specials in one essential. The special consisted of but two cars, a diner and a sleeper. No exhibit cars were taken along.

"An entire day was spent at every place visited. The teaching staff on the train divided itself into three sections and each of the divisions spent the day out on the farms in the immediate vicinity. With but a few exceptions, the meetings were held at the home of some farmer, where the instructors and tillers of the soil came into direct touch with the problems which confront the farmers in the particular community visited.

"The dairy farms were visited and instruction given in regard to the care and feeding of dairy cattle at this time of the year. The clover fields were also inspected for the purpose of showing the farmers the life of the clover plant and its effect upon the soil, as well as the best manner of cultivating and thinning root crops.

"The general plan of the trip especially with reference to reaching the farmers, was heartily approved by the instructors and met with the satisfaction of the farmers themselves. Farmers' club in many instances attended the meetings in a body and at most of the gatherings all-day family picnics were in evidence."

CONTRACTOR SUES CITY FOR $5,471

J. F. Fredin Declares City Broke Contract Before Work Was Done.

Trial of an action brought by John F. Fredin, a local contractor, against the city of Duluth was started in district court this morning before Judge Ensign and a jury.

Fredin is seeking to recover $5,471 on a contract which he had with the city for the removal of rocks from the Point of Rocks last year. He alleges that the city broke the contract and would not permit him to finish his work. The city, answering, denies any breach of the contract or any liability in the matter.

"NO SETTLEMENT YET REACHED"

Sellwood Case Is Scheduled for Hearing Tuesday Morning.

Whether the Sellwood will contest will come on for a hearing before Judge S. W. Gilpin of the probate court tomorrow morning or another adjournment will be asked for has not yet developed. It is believed, however, that negotiations for a settlement are under way and that the dispute over the will will be adjusted out of court.

So far as the court has been advised, the matter will come on for a hearing tomorrow morning, an adjournment having been taken until that time. Attorney C. O. Baldwin, of counsel for R. M. Sellwood and his sister, Mrs. La Rue S. Mershon, when asked concerning the rumored compromise stated that "no settlement had yet been reached."

ELECTRICIANS MAY DECLARE STRIKE

Employes of Phone Company Asking Raise in Wages.

A strike of local electrical workers of the Bell Telephone company may be called July 1 according to an official of the Duluth union today, but it has not yet been decided on. The matter has been put up to the union but no decision has yet been reached.

Action by the local union is the result of an announcement made by James Fitzgerald, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, that electricians in the employ of that company in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota would go on a strike at that time for a wage increase of 30 cents a day.

President Fitzgerald, whose home is in Des Moines with headquarters at Springfield, Ill., is said to have just completed the count of the strike vote.

Local officials say that a strike would not affect Minnesota very extensively as Duluth is the only city in Minnesota that has a union coming under Fitzgerald's jurisdiction. The electrical workers of the state are divided into two factions and the other locals come under a different jurisdiction.

The Duluth union men are not anxious for a strike as working conditions here are said to be fairly good. For that reason action has been deferred. The Duluth union is not a part of the Minnesota Federation of Labor.

WILSON EXPECTS FAVOR FOR TREATIES.

Washington, June 22.—President Wilson believes that when the Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties are understood, they will be am-ly supported in the senate. He made this clear to callers today, but refused to go into details. The treaties are pending before the foreign relations committee, before which Secretary Bryan again appeared today to continue his explanation.

TAKE FIRM STAND FOR HIGHER RATES

Vesselmen Will Haul No More Grain for Less Than One Cent.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 22.—Cleveland vessel men have taken a decided stand against the prevailing low rates on grain cargoes from Chicago and Duluth to Georgian Bay. The unwritten ultimatum issued was that from now on the rate on grain cargoes from Chicago and Duluth to Georgian Bay is to be 1 cent, with the side port rate 1¼ cents.

It was further declared that no more boats are to be chartered for grain cargoes at ⅞ cent between these points, notwithstanding that ship owners are experiencing the dullest midseason in many years.

The vessel men claim it is almost an impossibility to break even at the lower figures, and that if better rates cannot be obtained they will save money by tying up their boats. Grain cargoes at Chicago are on the increase. Vessel room was chartered there yesterday for 600,000 bushels at ⅞ cent. Contracts also were made for transportation of 500,000 bushels for export.

CARRIERS WORK OUT BETTER SYSTEM.

A method for receiving expeditious and accurate reports of disabled aids to navigation, or aids that have been displaced by the elements or passing steamers, has been worked out by the Lake Carriers' association. For years it has been a problem.

Vessel masters reported defective lights only occasionally, and then not minutely. The time of day and sometimes the date, the exact position of the air, the name of the boat and occasionally the name of the master, was omitted from the reports.

This year each master of a lake boat was supplied with a bunch of cards, addressed on one side to William Livingstone, president of the association, and on the other side spaces for filling in particulars. So far, many reports have been received, and no matter what district the affected aids are in, the inspector in that district is immediately notified, by wire if in outside districts.

SAILOR HAS FALL, BREAKING HIS LEG.

Hubbell, Mich., June 22.—Earl Munroe, a sailor aboard the steamer Warner, fell from the rigging to the deck, a distance of thirty feet, while in port here Saturday and sustained a fractured leg. He was removed to the Lake Linden hospital. In the event that his injuries will permit, the injured man will be removed to the Marine hospital at the Soo.

Eight years ago yesterday the Panama Canal received its final approval.

Yesterday was another June 21st, supposed to be the first day of summer. It acted more like last day of summer or like the ninth day of November, when we expect grey skies to shed chilly tears.

Well, we had plenty of summer this spring, so we shouldn't kick even if we missed that double-header over in Hislop Park.

We go on digging all the time, making plain sailing for modern men who want modern clothes. We protect you from rainstorms with watertight coats, umbrellas and whole shoes, and when the sun shines bright on Lac Superior we adorn you with comfortable Athletic Underwear, soft shirts and straw hats. WIFE ROUTS "AFFINITY"

Circus Rider Supplants Shoemaker's Spouse; Arrest Follows.

Former May Be Deported to Denmark By U. S. Authorities.

Enamored of Ella Anderson, a circus rider he met last winter, Axel Hanson, a shoemaker at 228 West Second street, left his wife and home in West Duluth and decided to live with the former.

Last Saturday evening the former circus rider was arrested by the police on the complaint of Hanson's wife and the young woman is being held by the immigration authorities, pending her possible deportation to Denmark.

Miss Anderson worked in a circus that toured Denmark up to about a year ago, when she decided to come to America. Last January she met Hanson and the two decided to live together, it having been agreed that the young circus rider would keep house for Hanson.

A few weeks ago Hanson's wife made a complaint to the authorities and on promises made by Hanson and the young woman they were given their liberty. Last Saturday she made another complaint and this time Miss Anderson was arrested by Sergt. Roberg. She is being held at the municipal lodging house until word is heard from Washington. It is probable she will be deported to Denmark some time next month.

Hanson has been married several years.

MURDER OF AURORA GIRL UNDER PROBE

Four Jurors Already Secured to Try Anthony Petras.

Aurora, Ill., June 22.—The trial of Anthony Petras, 23 years old, for the murder of his former fiancee, Theresa Hollander, who was dragged into a graveyard on the outskirts of Aurora and clubbed to death with a timber the night of Feb. 16 last, opened at Geneva, Ill., today.

Nobody saw the crime or heard any cries, but the state has upwards of thirty witnesses who have contradicted statements made by Petras, while an unclaimed, shining knife found in the cemetery near where Miss Hollander's body lay has been traced to the home of Petras' father-in-law, where he boarded before he was married.

Evidence Circumstantial.

It became evident early in the case that the prosecutor intended to rely upon circumstantial evidence. Prospective jurors were quizzed as to whether they would convict on such evidence, and if they would impose the death penalty. Four jurors who satisfactorily answered these questions had been accepted early this afternoon by the prosecution.

There was a mild sensation at the opening of court when Attorney Frank Joslyn, for the prosecution, demanded that Deputy Henry Young be removed as bailiff in charge of the jury. Young was on too intimate terms with Attorney Charles Hazelhurst of the defense, Mr. Joslyn said. A new bailiff was named.

SECRETARY LEE OF MINERS ARRESTED.

Trinidad, Colo., June 22.—Dan Lee, secretary of the miners' union of Papetown, El Paso county, was lodged in jail here today in connection with the killing of nine employes of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company during a battle with strikers at Forbes on April 29. Lee was arrested yesterday at Colorado Springs.

MOVE TO HURRY UP NEW HAVEN BILL.

Boston, Mass., June 22.—The probability that enabling legislation for the separation of the Boston & Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad systems would be enacted at the present legislative session was indicated at the state house today when the committee on rules, at the conclusion of a brief hearing, recommitted the question to the committee on railroads.

MAY BE SON-IN-LAW OF RUSSIAN EMPEROR

CROWN PRINCE GEORGE Of Saxony.

Crown Prince George of Saxony came of age in January, and now it is announced that he will probably marry Tatiana, daughter of the czar of Russia. The crown prince's mother was that unfortunate princess Luise of Tuscany who ran away with a music teacher and whom the king of Saxony divorced. Prince George has two brothers and three sisters. The second son of the king, Prince Friedrich Christian, was born less than twelve months after his brother.

Grand Duchess Tatiana is the second daughter of the czar. She has just celebrated her seventeenth birthday.

WIRTH'S HEIRS LOSE APPEAL

Catholic Vow of Poverty Upheld By Supreme Court.

Minnesota Priest's Property Will Go to the Church.

Washington, June 22.—The supreme court today reversed the decision of the Eighth United States circuit court of appeals, which held that the vows of poverty in Catholic orders were void because against public policy.

The point arose in the case of Augustin Wirth, a member of the Order of St. Benedict for some sixty years, who died while serving as a priest in charge of the parish of the German Catholic church at Springfield, Minn.

He had taken a vow of poverty to turn all his property over to the order and all that he might thereafter possess in return for his support and education.

Relatives Claim Property.

Upon his death he was possessed of more than $5,000 received from several copyrighted books written by him. Wirth's nephews and nieces, as his heirs, claimed the property. The circuit court of appeals held that the agreement of poverty with the society was void as against public policy, and held that the nephews and nieces were entitled to the property.

Justice Hughes, announcing the decision, held that the lower court erred in interpreting the rules of the order as preventing members from leaving. He explained that the court failed to distinguish between an ethical withdrawal and a civil withdrawal from the order. The rules, he added, merely bound him for life in a religious sense to the order.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

GOLF TROPHY FOR GIRL MEMBERS

Contest for Prize Will Be Played Friday June 26.

A special prize has been offered by a member of the Northland Country club to be contested for by the junior girl members on Friday morning, June 26.

This will be a handicap contest, 18 holes medal play. The handicap will be fixed by the games committee prior to the contest, but will not be announced until all contestants have turned in their cards.

The trophy offered can be seen at the club house.

Owing to the inclement weather upon June 11, the ladies' handicap event scheduled for that date was participated in by but four members. They have each consented that the event be postponed to July 15, at which time the ladies' handicap will be played. The qualifying round will be at 18 holes. The first eight to qualify for match play upon handicap basis and the finals to be played off prior to Sept. 1, 1914.

The handicaps will be those recently posted upon a basis of par as the same now stand, or as they may be revised prior to the morning of July 15.

TY COBB MAY BE SUED FOR DAMAGES

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—Tyrus R. Cobb, the famous outfielder of the Detroit American league baseball club, may be defendant in a suit for damages as a result of the trouble he caused in the butcher shop of W. D. Carpenter here Saturday night. Cobb pointed a loaded revolver at Carpenter and then assaulted Harold Harding, an employe, when the latter attempted to interfere.

Carpenter conferred with an attorney today and said that he had not decided to whether to ask to have Cobb arrested or seek damages in a civil suit. He was inclined to believe he would take the latter course. It could not be learned whether any action would be taken on behalf of Harding.

Cobb, in a signed statement, admitted both charges. He said that Carpenter had insulted Mrs. Cobb during an argument over a purchase she had made at the butcher shop. He went to Carpenter's place of business to demand an apology and declared he took an automatic revolver loaded with four cartridges to protect himself if necessary.

WILL TRY TO ENJOIN CHASE FROM PLAYING.

Chicago, June 22.—If Hal Chase attempts to play with the Buffalo Federals this afternoon injunction papers restraining him from playing will be served on him, according to a statement made at the office of the Chicago American league club today. Until an early hour this afternoon no request had been made in any local court for an injunction against the first baseman and at the same time Chase, it was rumored, had left the city.

President Chivington of the American association said that no plans for a new "bg league" under the wing of organized baseball had been suggested to him, or so far as he knew, to any club owners in his circuit. He reiterated that the American association was able to weather the storm brought on by Federal league competition and said he expected no changes in the circuit.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 22.—Hal Chase, who jumped the Chicago White Sox and signed a contract with the Buffalo Federals, arrived here this afternoon. The quick jump to Buffalo was attributed to a desire to avoid a restraining order, which it was reported would be obtained. Chase played yesterday with the Buffalo team at Chicago and will play here Thursday.

Had Too Much Money.

Because the postal savings bank takes only $100 a month from a single depositor, John La Presky obtained the assistance of his wife and two children in depositing $400 he had earned in the North woods last winter. Accounts were opened by La Presky in his own name and in those of his family.

Held for Breaking Window.

Herbert Lair, 33 years old, was arrested Saturday evening on a charge of disorderly conduct, the police claiming that he smashed a window in a West Michigan street saloon. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Cutting this morning and his trial was set for this afternoon.

Moves to New Ulm.

J. A. Kennedy, who for years has been a resident of Virginia and who was associated with O. H. Griggs in the lighting plant recently sold to the city, was in Duluth Saturday on his way to New Ulm, where he will reside, having obtained a lighting franchise there. He is now putting in a plant and expects to have it working before very long.

City's Health Good.

The local contagious disease condition continues to show a marked improvement. The records at the health department show that the city has but thirty-two cases of scarlet fever, as compared with twice that number two weeks ago. Fourteen cases of diphtheria are listed but six of these are classed as "carriers" and are not sick. There are but six cases of smallpox, nineteen of measles, twelve of chicken pox, four of typhoid fever, four of erysipelas, two of whooping cough and one of cerebrospinal meningitis.

Forfeit Bail.

Peter Dahlberg, 21, and Helen Madison, 22, who were arrested in the Astoria hotel Saturday night by Sergt. Roberg and Patrolman Ricketts, failed to appear in police court this morning and their bail was declared forfeited. Dahlberg was out on $12 bail and the Madison woman had been given her liberty upon paying $20.

KENTUCKY TOBACCO POOL LAW INVALID

Supreme Court Says Law Provides for Impossible Acts.

Washington, June 22.—The Kentucky statute making it legal for farmers to pool their tobacco was today annulled as unconstitutional by the supreme court.

The court held that the conviction of Patrick Collins, a farmer of Mason county, Ky., for selling his tobacco to an outsider after agreeing to pool with the Burley Tobacco society, a tobacco growers' organization, was invalid. Collins had been fined $500.

In substance the court found that as a result of the passage of the tobacco pooling act, the Keltucky state courts held that the trust law of the state was that any combination was legal that did not enhance or depress prices above or below real value.

The court held it was beyond human ingenuity to determine what was "real value" of an article under imaginary conditions.

COUNTY CANVASS ABOUT FINISHED

Official Count on Primary Election Will Soon Be Announced.

The county canvassing board is winding up its work this afternoon. It is expected that the official count for the county will be announced either late this afternoon or tomorrow morning. The work of the board has been tedious owing to confusions which arose in the return of the count on the second choice votes.

County Auditor Halden today denied that the state auditor had called his office to account for eliminating candidates on the state ticket where the second choice proposition was a factor, as was stated in a Minneapolis dispatch Saturday.

In the first place, the official canvass of the St. Louis county vote was not completed until this morning. In a telephone conversation with the state auditor this morning Deputy County Auditor Walker was told that the statement had never been authorized.

ELOPEMENT MAY END IN DIVORCE

MRS. JULIAN LITTLE.

It is reported that the beautiful Mrs. Julian McCarty Little will get a divorce. Her marriage to Little was the culmination of a sudden romance which ended in an elopement. Her name before she married the first time was Frances Coster Jones. Her first husband was Henry Spies Kip, one of the members of a well-known New York family. Mrs. Kip became dissatisfied with mere married life and society and decided to go on the operatic stage. She had sung frequently in public but as an amateur. She went to Paris and put herself in the hands of professional teachers. Then she got a divorce from Mr. Kip, and it was believed she would devote herself thereafter to art. But the red hot romance with Julian McCarty Little, another well-known New Yorker, developed and she ran away from art and married him. Now report has it that she is again weary of married life and will try to be freed.

BUTTE MINERS IGNORE MOYER

Go Ahead With Plans for Independent Organization.

I. W. W. Men Are Prominent in Seceders From W. F. of L.

Butte, Mont., June 22.—With President Charles D. Moyer, of the Western Federation of Miners, insisting upon his plan of conciliation, which will be announced tomorrow at a meeting of the old Butte Miners' union, as the only avenue by which peace can be restored, preparations are going rapidly forward today for the permanent organization of the Butte Mine Workers' union, launched yesterday by the secessionists from the Western federation.

Leaders of the new organization say that President Moyer will be brought to a realization that the federation has lost practically all support among local miners.

Moyer expects to remain here a week or ten days. He will leave about July 1 for L'Anse, Mich., where he is to attend trial on charges arising out of the Michigan copper strike last winter.

Rejected Moyer's Offers.

The seceders from the Western federation launched their independent union yesterday after rejecting peace overtures from Moyer and his associates. Thy elected as temporary president M. McDonald. Federation officials threatened to import miners to fulfill the contracts with the operating companies.

The mass meeting Sunday was attended by 5,000 miners. All voting was done by acclamation, the officers addressing the assembly through megaphones. The report of the executive committee, in whose hands has been left the drafting of the insurgents' policy, was adopted without change. It provided for the eventual formation of a permanent organization. Temporary headquarters will be established, and an assessment of 50 cents per month levied. The membership roll will be opened Tuesday morning.

No official notice was taken of the Western Federation, and President Moyer had no one present to offer compromise.

Unofficially it was announced that the seceders' reason for not accepting advances from the Federation officials was determined opposition to the national as well as local officers, and a strong desire not to be affiliated with any national organization.

The future policy of the Federation will be announced at two meetings on Tuesday.

I. W. W. Men Prominent.

The seceders have an active committee of twenty, a majority of whom are known to be members of the Industrial Workers of the World. The chairman of the committee is J. E. Bradley, one of the leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World in Butte.

The Western Federation holds contracts with the mine owners, and besides the miners has jurisdiction over the mine workers, including hoisting engineers, carpenters, timber men, blacksmiths, rope men, electricians, teamsters, machinists and boilermakers. All of these are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The Western Federation has the power, by its contracts with the mine owners, to say who may be lowered into the mines, and the federation's agent at the mines has the power to order the engineer not to lower any of the seceders into the mines.

Under the contract between the federation and the mine owners, the federation, if it has not enough men in Butte to work the mines, must furnish men from the outside.

"Nothing to Do With I. W. W."

President "Muckie" McDonald's statement that the new union would have nothing to do with the Industrial Workers of the World organization has caused a feeling of optimism among business interests here. McDonald signs his name "Muckie" to union documents.

PIPE LINE LAW VALID

Supreme Court, However, Exempts Uncle Sam Company.

Washington, June 22.—The supreme court today upheld the pipe line act of 1906, placing all interstate oil pipe lines under interstate commerce commission regulation as constitutional, but not applicable to the Uncle Sam Oil company.

The pipe line amendment to the Hepburn rate law of 1906 was the result of investigation by the bureau of corporations into the affairs of the Standard Oil company. When the bureau, through President Roosevelt, informed congress that the Standard's control of pipe lines in the United States was one of its chief sources of power as a monopoly, Senator Lodge moved to amend the rate law, then before congress, so as to place pipe lines under the regulation of the interstate commerce commission.

Senator Foraker of Ohio began a fight against the Lodge amendment, contending that it would be unconstitutional unless it placed under the commission only those lines which held themselves as common carriers.

Amendment as Passed.

The amendment as finally passed read:

"That the provisions of this act shall apply to any corporation or any person or persons engaged in the transportation of oil or other commodity, except water and except natural or artificial gas, by means of pipe lines, or partly by pipe lines and partly by water—who shall be considered and held to be common carriers within the meaning and purpose of this act."

When the interstate commerce commission began to enforce the law, it called upon the pipe line companies to file rates. Of the twenty-eight principal pipe lines in the United States, six refused to comply. Those were the Ohio Oil company, the Standard Oil company of Louisiana, the Prairie Oil & Gas company, the Uncle Sam Oil company and the Tidewater Pipe company, Ltd., carrying oil from the Appalachian field covering New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee; the Illinois-Indiana-Ohio field; the mid-continent field, covering Kansas and Oklahoma, and the Gulf field, covering Louisiana and Texas.

Commerce Court Decision.

The six hostile companies applied to the commerce court and it enjoined the enforcement of the order on the ground that the amendment was unconstitutional. The court held that there was not the real and substantial relation between the avowed objects of the legislation and the means devised for attaining those objects to make the law constitutional.

Before the supreme court, the government took square issue with the commerce court about the relation of the objects and the means used. The government insisted that the object of the legislation was to make it impossible to organize another oil monopoly, such as had been struck down by the court in the Standard Oil decision in 1911. It contended that monopoly of pipe lines was the root of total monopoly of the oil business that must be eradicated if a full grown monopoly was to be avoided. It contended congress had a right to prohibit corporations carrying oil in interstate commerce by pipe lines unless they became common carriers.

Was Not Satisfied.

The government was not satisfied with the suggestion during argument that the law should be construed so as to apply only to those companies which hold themselves out as doing business for the public, or as common carriers.

It asserted that all that would be necessary in order to make the law a nullity then would be for the owners of the lines to change their names during the last few miles of pipe, creating a station or terminus of the common carrier out in the woods, where no small independents would find a market for oil, and the terminal company remaining a private carrier.

It was pointed out that at present the terminus of the Ohio Oil company line was at a little village of 100 population in Pennsylvania ;and the Prairie Oil & Gas company in a similarly remote village in Louisiana, named Ida, as Solicitor General Davis told the court he had heard, was in touching tribute to the biographer of Standard Oil, Miss Ida Tarbell.

NURSING FOR THE AVERAGE FAMILY.

The Survey: If you are very rich and very sick, there is the luxury of home care with a noiseless trained nurse radiating efficiency and prophylaxis.

If you are very poor and very sick, there are free beds in hospital wards, sociable to be sure, but admirably sanitary and comfortable.

But if you are neither very rich nor very poor, but yet are sick enough to need constant care, there is nothing but worry and trouble. Either the whole family must skimp to pay $25 a week for the trained nurse or the patient must be hazarded to some slipshod "Sairy Gamp" from round the neighborhood.

To provide at a moderate charge for adequate "care of sickness in the home and for the care of the home during sickness" is the dual slogan of the Household Nursing Association of the Women's Municipal League of Boston.

The problem of finding competent attendants to furnish this "adequate care" will be facilitated by the opening of the Robert B. Brigham hospital this month. With the co-operation of the advisory committee of the association the new Robert Brigham hospital has decided to give a one year course and is considering giving a four months' course in order that women may be trained to work under the supervision of graduate nurses for the Household Nursing association.

It is not the intention of the association to furnish graduate nurses for long periods to individuals who can pay the regular nursing fees. Such applicants will be referred to nursing directories. Instead, although a graduate nurse will be sent out in a crisis, the association aims to supply for $10 to $15 a week a strong, capable woman who is willing to attend to both the needs of the patient and the ordinary housework.

JAMES EXPLAINS.

Portland Spectator: James started his third helping of pudding with delight.

"Once upon a time, James," admonished his mother, "there was a little boy who ate too much pudding, and he burst!"

"There must be," contended his mother, "else why did the little boy burst?"

James passed his plate for the fourth time, saying: "Not enough boy."

WILL IMPROVE SUBURB ROAD

City Plans Concrete Work Which Would Cost $90,000.

Resolution Will Be Introduced By Commissioner in Near Future.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division, will introduce a resolution at an early meeting of the city council ordering the improvement of the New Duluth road from the east side of the Eighty-first avenue fill to House street, which is about the dividing line between Gary and New Duluth.

Commissioner Murchison said this noon that he had planned to introduce the resolution at this afternoon's meeting but that it would very probably be impossible for him to attend as he would be obliged to be at the district court.

He said that the distance between the two points is about four miles and that the engineer's estimate for a concrete roadway is approximately $90,000.

The charter gives the council power to order improvements without petition but the same section also provides that the resolution must lay over sixty days before it becomes effective. This is to enable objectors to file a remonstrance against the work. To be valid the remonstrance must be signed by 25 per cent of the property owners, owning 25 per cent of the property.

Those who are anxious to have the deplorable condition of the highway improved assert that it is highly improbable that a remonstrating petition can be secured, as some 1,300 to 1,500 owners are affected. They declared that the remonstrance would be as hard to get as would a petition asking that the work be done and they characterize the latter as almost hopeless.

If the resolution becomes effective the city will be in a position to proceed with the work and assess the cost against the property benefited. The resolution will include concreting the surface of both fills, one at Eighty-first avenue and the other near New Duluth.

LISTENED TO ADVICE.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts launched this one at a recent banquet when reference was made to the wisdom of following good advice:

Dinner was being served in a happy home one evening when little Willie came up for discussion. One word led to another, and in the end all hands seemed to be afflicted with the necessity of giving the kid a few words of advice.

"It's just this way, my son," chestily remarked father. "Always be observant. Cultivate the habit of seeing everything and you will be a successful man."

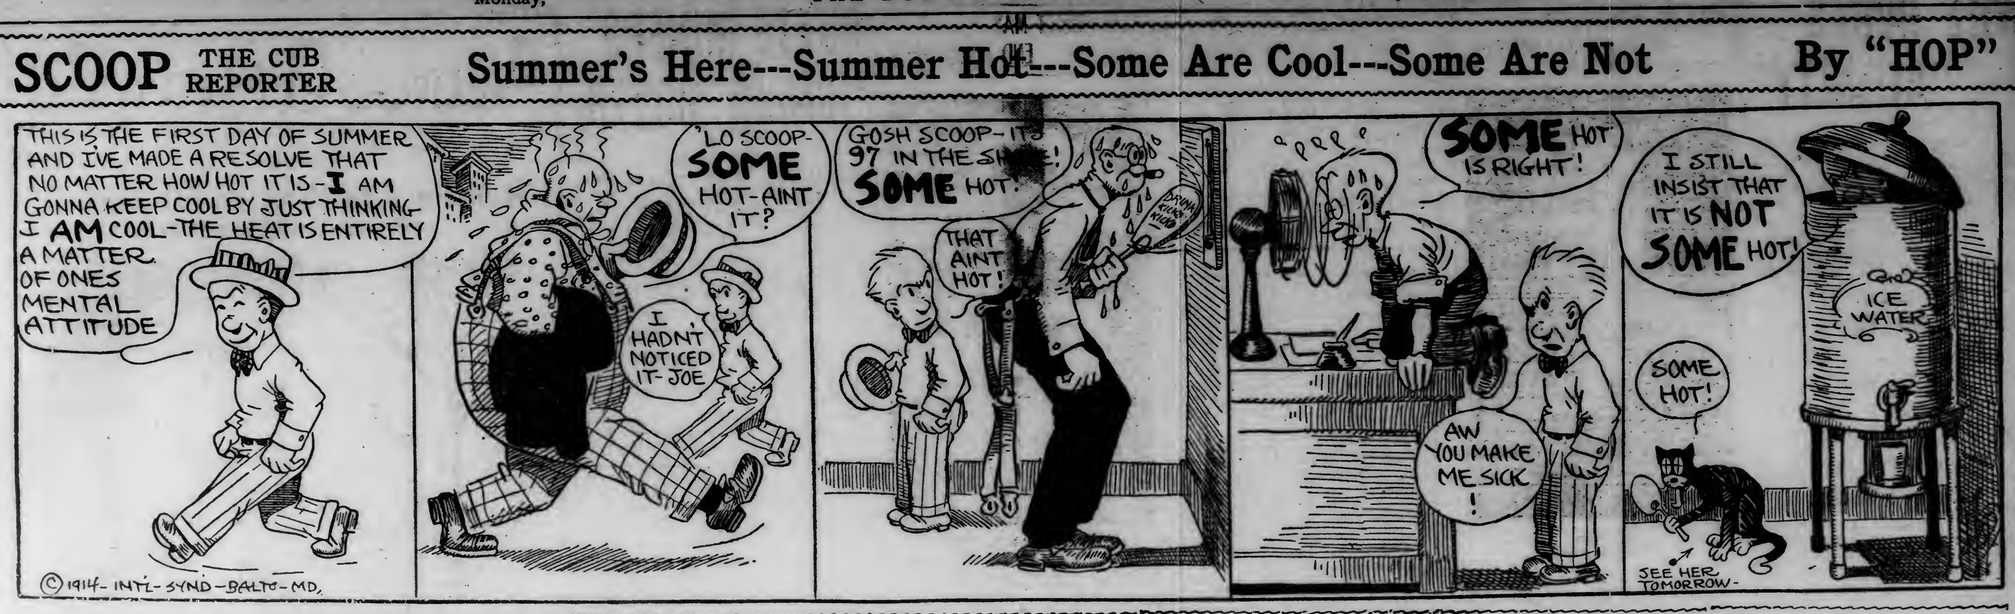

"Just so," supplemented Willie's uncle. "Don't go through the world blindly. Use your eyes at every opportunity."

"Yes," chipped in Willie's aunt. "Little boys who are observing always know a great deal more than those who are not."

Little Willie thoughtfully pondered, which his father set down as a good sign, and the next evening when he came to the table a bright expression was flitting over his features.

"You seem very pleased about something, Willie," remarked his mamma. "What is it?"

"I have been observing, mamma," was the youngster's startling rejoinder. "Uncle has got a bottle of whiskey hidden in his trunk, aunty has an extra set of false teeth in her drawer and papa has got a deck of cards behind the books in his desk."

Discovery of Body of Missing North Dakotan Aroused Community.

The last seen of Sexse was May 31, till his almost nude body was taken from the river at this point. There was a bullet hole in his breast and he had evidently been murdered, robbed and his body thrown into the river.

Started for Canada.

Inquiries at the Burns' farm resulted in the statement that Sexse had gone to Canada after selling his farm to Burns. The deed was suspected as being a forgery. Later when it was learned that a watch belonging to Sexse had been pawned by Burns, the latter was arrested. The settlers are extremely indignant over the crime and summary action has been threatened against Burns.

SAVES FOUR LIVES.

Millionaire Rescues Them on River From Going Over Dam.

Appleton, Wis., June 22.—Three men and a woman thrown into the swollen Fox river Saturday by the overturning of a launch, were saved from being carried over the dam by Albert W. Priest, millionaire pulp and paper manufacturer.

The rescued are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hanson of Oshkosh, Wis., and Herbert Reinick and Adolph Gerson of Chicago. They were en route in a new launch from Oshkosh to Chicago via the Fox river, Green Bay and Lake Michigan.

A half mile above the dam their launch capsized, the four clinging to the bottom of the overturned craft. Several experienced rivermen who witnessed the accident refused to aid them, asserting a rescue was impossible in swirling waters which have reached an abnormal level due to recent heavy rains.

Ignoring the advice of friends, Priest pushed a rowboat into the stream and set out for the four who were rapidly being carried toward the dam, picked up two and towed the other two ashore.

PARDONS GRANTED IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Murder in cold blood, followed by robbery of the cash register and of three other men, including one of the victim's sons, who were in the store, was the climax to a long series of drug store holdups in which the bearded man has figured.

Mayor Nye offered a reward of $250 for the murderer's arrest.

TUTTLE-YOUNG FIGHT.

Second North Dakota Congressional Contest Is Warm One.

Valley City, N. D., June 22.—The contest in this, the Second congressional district, between Congressman Young of this city and Col. W. P. Tuttle, which will be decided by Wednesday's primary is one of the liveliest in the state. Col. Tuttle is considered a reactionary Republican, while Young is aligned with the La Follette wing of the Progressives.

Young seems to have incurred the hostility of certain officials of the Farmers' Equity society and, although he has been strongly endorsed by Senator La Follette and Congressman Helgeson, the latter an uncompromising independent of the La Follette school, the Valley City man seems to be having difficulty in combatting the charges against his progressiveness. Tuttle is very strong in the western part of the district and Young in the central sections. Barnes county, Young's home, is almost unanimous for him, but at that the race is expected to be close.

The Right Treatment Will Solve Worst Problem

The key to unlock the mysteries of eruptive skin afflictions is S. S. S. the famous blood purifier. If you will write for a splendidly illustrated book "What the Mirror Tells" you will learn why and how S. S. S. causes new skin and tissue to replace the afflicted spots.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today at any drug store and waste no more time with salves, ointments or lotions. Skin health comes from your blood. It comes from the network of tiny blood vessels that interlace all skin tegument and tissue. Now, when S. S. S. enters the blood it is carried throughout your body in about three minutes and its most active work takes place in the skin. Here it puts into motion the process of preparing all impurities into a substance that is promptly expelled through the skin pores. This process goes on day and night, all eruptive conditions cease, the old skin disappears in the form of invisible vapor or perspiration. Don't fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. today and write for the valuable book to The Swift Specific Co., 103 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga.

WHITE SOX TAKE ANOTHER CONTEST FROM SUPERIOR

Cunningham Pitches Duluth to a 7 to 3 Win at Hislop Park.

The Win of Saturday Made Eleven Straight for Darby's Dooks.

Saturday the industrious Dooks won their eleventh consecutive victory of the season by defeating the Landry gang of Superior by the score of 7 to 3. Cunningham was on the mound for Duluth and kept the hits of the Red Sox scattered. Glass started hurling for the villagers and later was replaced by Peggy Rhodes. The White Sox played errorless baseball, while the Sox of a deeper hue mussed the ball upon several occasions.

Glass, the demon hitter of the Northern league, has been in a slump of late. Because of this slump it was decided to give the former pitcher a trial on the mound. For four rounds the large slugger did fairly well. In the fifth the Dooks fell upon the delivery of Glass and hit his offerings to various corners of the Hislop enclosure. The hurryup call was wafted along to the sidelines and Peggy Rhodes was dragged into the affray.

Cunningham was wild but succeeded in keeping the Superior hits admirably scattered. In the final round the home team had three men on hassocks and the situation looked bad for a minute. But Sturgeon Lake's leading citizen pitched himself out of the hole and failed to allow Landry's men a score in the final session.

Duluth not only hit the ball hard, but Darby's men also ran the bases at will. Some clever fielding upon the part of the White Sox shut off several near hits while the ragged playing of the railroad gang assisted the visitors in getting runs.

Rain prevented the scheduled doubleheader of yesterday, much to the disappointment of the followers of the White Sox. At the rate the Duluth team is going it is generally believed that we would have been able to take both of the games from the Red Sox and thus draw up on nearly even terms with Virginia. The score:

MAROONS TAKE LAST FROM FLICKERS.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 22.—Winnipeg defeated the Flickers in the game of yesterday by the score of 4 to 1. Dougan was on the mound for the visitors and held the locals safe all the way. Opposed to the hurling of Dougan was Donley. In all but one round the home mound artist was an enigma to the hitters of the visiting club. In the seventh inning two doubles, three singles and a walk, assisted by a long sacrifice fly scored all of the Winnipeg runs. The attendance was so large that it was necessary to make ground rules. Score:

Grand Forks Beats Peggers.

Grand Forks, June 22.—Morse, former St. Paul corner lotter, held Winnipeg to three singles spread over as many innings in Saturday's game. He saved himself in the seventh when with the bases full he fanned three of the Peggers, Curtis, Tacke and Swalm, without missing fire. Catcher Peterson of Grand Forks drove out two doubles driving in both the runs of the Flickertails. Both teams fielded perfectly. Score:

VIRGINIA TAKES WILD GAME FROM FARGO.

Virginia, Minn., June 22.—The Ore Diggers defeated Bob Unglaub's Fargo team here yesterday by the score of 12 to 9. It was a free-hitting game in which errors were mixed with blows. Both Faeth and Maupin were hit freely. Unglaub and Sullivan cleared the fence with home runs. The home team bunched its attack in two rounds. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning to allow the visitors to catch a train. Score:

Canucks Lose Two.

Fort William, Ont., June 22. — The series ended Saturday with Winona taking three out of four by winning a double-header from Fort William Saturday. Both teams clouted the ball hard in the afternoon fixture, but Winona grabbed their hits when men were on the bases. Torason shut out the locals in the evening game, having slightly the better of a duel with Weidell. The Canucks fell down badly when Winona had men on bases and lost many opportunities to win by failing to hit safely. The visitors made three lightning fast double plays. Phillips of Winona sprained his ankle in the opening game. Scores:

Breaks Senators' Losing Streak.

Detroit, Mich., June 22. — A mighty wallop by Walter Johnson with the bases full, broke Washington's losing streak yesterday and incidentally checked Johnson's row of defeats. Detroit lost 3 to 7 after winning three consecutive games from the senators. Boehler was invincible until the fifth when, with three men on bases, he hit Williams, forcing in Shanks. Then Johnson drove the ball far over the left field wall.

Johnson was wild and erratic up to the time he put his team in the lead. Five hits and three wildpitches had given the Tigers two runs, but after the fifth Johnson was a stumbling block. Detroit's third run was scored in the sixth when Moeller dropped Stanage's fly.

Cobb was not in uniform and, according to the club physician, probably would be out of the game for ten days. An X-ray examination of his right hand proved his thumb was fractured. Cobb injured the member during a fight with a butcher's clerk Saturday night. Score:

Chicago 5; Boston 3.

Chicago, June 22.—Chicago had little difficulty hitting Foster yesterday and won the final game of the series with Boston, 5 to 3. Fournier, who succeeded Chase, fielded in fine form and hit the ball hard.

In the second inning, Schalk slid into second base, and wrenched his knee. He tried to continue in the game but after an inning or two, had to retire. He may be out of the game several days. Speaker, who wrenched his ankle in Saturday's game, was unable to play yesterday. Score:

Naps 7; Yankees 3.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 22.—The Naps evened up the series with the Highlanders yesterday, winning 7 to 3. Steen was given an early lead and he refused to relinquish the advantage. Four triples were made by the two teams, each entering into the scoring. Score:

Browns 5; Athletics 0.

St. Louis, Mo., June 22. — St. Louis bunched hits in two innings off Bush and Brown and won from Philadelphia yesterday, 5 to 0.

Philadelphia's five hits off James were scattered through as many innings. In only two, the first and fourth innings did Philadelphia get men as far as third base. Fast fielding saved James on both occasions.

In the seventh Brown replaced Bush. Dressler pitched the last inning, allowing one hit. Score:

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—Although Kansas City batters worked as valiantly as their Pittsburg opponents yesterday, errors undid the good work and the visitors won 7 to 3. With two men on bases in the sixth, Adams intentionally passed Berry and Barger's hit went through Krueger, allowing Barger to get to third while three runs were scored. Two more Pittsburg men scored before the inning closed. Score:

The game was played on a muddy field, but only two fielding misplays marred the contest. Loudermilk was wild but invincible with men on the bases. Young passed but one man in the thirteen innings. One Game Won; Second a Tie.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 22.—Cleveland won the first game of a double-header from Minneapolis yesterday 7 to 6 and tied the second 3 to 3. The state law that prohibits baseball after 6 o'clock Sunday afternoons, was responsible for the calling of the second contest at the end of the eighth. Both games were featured by the wildness of pitchers. Twenty-nine bases on balls, were issued during the afternoon. The scores:

FEATHER WINS SECOND RACE

Dr. Lynam's Boat Shows Speed—Allegro Also a Winner.

Dr. Lynam's Feather won again last Saturday in the 28 foot class sailing races of the Duluth Boat club. The Scud came in behind the Feather and the Sea Gull secured third place. The contest between the Scud and Sea Gull for second place was one of the prettiest races of the afternoon.

The Allegro won from the X. Y. Z. in a close finish in class B. Not only was this contest a pretty one all the way, but the course was also sailed in fast time.

Brewer's boat sailed the course in 1:32:03, and the X. Y. Z. skipped by Frank Lynam, Jr., finished in 1:33:16. The Dixie skipped by Trux was third, the time being 1:34:09.

Dr. Lynam's Feather finished in the elapsed time of 1:51.40; the Scud in 1:57:12, and the Sea Gull in 1:57:15.

ANOTHER INJUNCTION ASKED.

Yankees Seek to Bar Albert Schulz From Playing With Federals.

Chicago, June 22.—Application for an injunction to restrain Albert Schulz, the pitcher who left the New York Americans for the Buffalo Federals, from playing with other than the New York club, was filed here Saturday.

Judge Charles M. Foell in the superior court refused to issue an injunction immediately, instructing counsel to first obtain service. Deputy sheriffs were unable to locate the pitcher. He was not at the Federal league park here. It was reported Schulz was sent to Buffalo, supposedly to evade service.

The application says that Schulz is under contract with the New York club for 1914 at a salary of $2,400, and that he went to the Buffalo organization June 15. It is alleged he has played one game with that club, in Indianapolis, and was believed to be in Chicago prepared to play with Buffalo Saturday.

The court set the hearing for today.

This is the third suit of the kind to come before Judge Foell. He ruled that "Chief" George H. Johnson, who jumped from the Cincinnati Nationals to the Kansas City Federals, can play only with the former club. The case of Fred Blanding, who left the Cleveland Americans for the Kansas City Federal league club and then returned to Cleveland, is still pending.

BROOKSTON SHUTS OUT CLOQUET NINE.

Brookston, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Brookston ball club defeated the Cloquet nine in a seven-inning game here Sunday afternoon. Adams, who occupied the box for the home team was in fine form and he allowed only one safe hit. He had the Cloquet batters popping flies and hitting puny grounders that were easily converted into putouts. Rain stopped the game while Cloquet was at bat in the first half of the eighth inning, score 8 to 0.

Batteries—Brookston, Adams and Stein; Cloquet, Bonneville and Boyer.

ILLINOIS CLUB GETS FIRST PLACE IN MEET.

Chicago, June 22.—With a score of 48 points, the Illinois Athletic club won an easy victory in its first annual handicap track meet in Grant park Saturday. Illinois Athletic club athletes won first place in six of the thirteen events, and five of these first places were taken by two of the club's stars—Alvah Richards, formerly of Brigham Young university, and Joey Ray. Richard won individual honors with 15 points, winning first place in the broad jump, high jump and shot-put, while Ray took the mile and two-mile runs. The Chicago Athletic association ran second to its old rival, scoring 38 points. The Chicago Athletic association entered a protest against Richards on the ground that he is not a resident of the A. A. U. district in which is situated the A. C., while the latter club protested on technical grounds the participation of Marchal, C. A. A., winner of the half-mile run. Both protests will be taken up, it is expected, by the A. A. U. authorities.

A leap of 22 feet 3 inches, including his handicap of four inches, enabled Richards to beat Dan Ahern, hop, skip and jump champion, in the broad jump. With the aid of an 18-inch handicap he put the shot 44 feet 6 inches, and from scratch won the high jump at 6 feet 2 inches.

Ray easily outran the fields in the long runs, winning the mile pulled up in 4:29 1-5 with a 20-yard start and the two-mile in 9:44 from scratch.

Scheneberger helped Northwestern pile up 12 points for third place by winning the discus throw with a heave of 137 feet, including a 10-foot handicap.

The University of Wisconsin counted five, the victory of Burke in the 120-yard hurdles, and Notre Dame won three through Bachman's taking second in the discus.

SHAMROCK SAILS WELL.

Changed From Sloop to Cutter and Has Better Pace.

Southampton, Eng., June 22. — Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV showed a fine turn of speed in her first spin Saturday since her rig was changed from a sloop's to that of a cutter.

The new challenger for the America's cup quite outplaced the older Shamrock in a good breeze. The changes in her canvas and the reduction of the amount of lead in her keel greatly diminished her stiffness and increased her pace. She sailed without a centerboard, but this can be quickly replaced if thought advisable.

CLOSE FIGHTS IN BIG LEAGUES

Week Brings Tightening Up in Pennant Races and Narrow Margins.

Cincinnati Loses Chance to Unseat Giants—Braves Show Improvement.

New York, June 22.—A week during which the business side of baseball flashed into unwonted mid-season prominence was featured on the playing field of the major leagues by notably even work by most of the National league teams, a winning spurt by the Detroit pennant chasers and a Sox slump by the equally ambitious Washingtons.

Rivalry for National leadership between the champion New Yorks and the aspiring Cincinnatis was settled temporarily in the Giants' favor in the eagerly awaited meeting between the two at the Polo grounds. Charlie Herzog's youthful team apparently suffered from an attack of stage fright before the large and friendly crowds which greeted the club. They played poor ball in the two games staged at the big arena. The Reds were by no means up to their standard, while the steadiness of McGraw's veterans stood them in good stead.

Herzog's men go back West after today's game with the Giants and with a long stand on the home grounds will have a chance to get their bearings again, while the Giants will be on a long tour after the home games of Independence week.

McGraw's men, however, have proved themselves good travelers this year and are likely to face the Western trip with confidence. Except in the Cincinnati series they got no better than an even break at home against the Western clubs. Their road work has been better than that on native soil so far this season. The Pittsburgs recovered from their slump and gained a little on the leaders, although they are still hovering near the .500 mark. The Pirates' recent weakness with the bat has held them back more than anything else.

The St. Louis team fell off somewhat, chiefly because of weakness of the pitching staff at critical moments, and has now only an even mark on games won and lost.

Boston Stalls Cubs.

The Chicago Cubs has a bad time of it in Boston, finding Stallings' men hard to beat, as St. Louis did later in the week. In Philadelphia, however, the Cubs found the going easier and won two of three games by out-hitting Dooin's men. Home runs by Zimmerman, Schulte, Saier and Leach were important factors in winning these games.

The Brooklyns were able to play only four games during the week and lost three of them. Their failure to take advantage of excellent opportunities for scoring counted heavily against them and showed lack of "punch" in their attack.

The story of the Boston Braves is an entirely different one, however. Stallings' men lead the league both in batting and run-making in the week play. The Braves do not seem fated to occupy last position in the race much longer.

In the American league, the Athletics have shaken off pursuit by their opponents only to be pressed closely later in the week. The Mackmen slaughtered virtually all the White Sox pitchers.

The St. Louis boxmen proved harder nuts to crack, however, and the Athletics dropped two games in succession to Rickey's team before finding Earl Hamilton's offerings to their liking Saturday.

The Tigers drew up largely through the good work of their pitchers, Covaleskie in particular, starring with two shut-out games, which raised his record of consecutive innings pitched without being scored on to 31 2-5. If Ty Cobb, who was injured again Saturday, is out any length of time, Jennings' men probably will have hard work keeping their pace.

Senators in Bad.

The Washingtons could not win a game, the mighty Walter Johnson dropping two contests, while Boehling, Shaw and Ayres were equally unsuccessful. Their losing streak was cut short at seven straight games, when Johnson made another try at it yesterday, and beat Detroit.

St. Louis, although still in third place, lost some percentage points, chiefly through inability to hit the Boston pitchers. The Red Sox made their greatest gain for some time in the St. Louis series.

The work of the White Sox was poor in the Philadelphia series, but up to the mark in the game with Boston, Callahan's men taking three out of four.

The expected decisive battle between New York and Cleveland for the cellar position was disappointing because two of the five games scheduled were postponed on account of rain. The Yankees won the first game and as yesterday's was dropped, they are assured of coming home no lower than seventh. The Clevelands have been playing much better of late, although crippled by attacks.

Four teams took turns at occupying first place in the Federal league race. Sunday night found the Baltimore club still in the lead, but reverses dislodged the Terrapins and put Buffalo in the front. The Buffeds were leaders for only a day or two, Indianapolis tumbling them out of first place when it defeated them on Thursday for its ninth straight victory. Chicago succeeded Buffalo, Tinker's men winning from Pittsburg on the same day that Indianapolis downed Buffalo, but the glory of the Chifeds was not lasting, for Ford pitched Buffalo to a win over Chicago on Saturday, and Indianapolis, scoring a double victory over Pittsburg took the lead with its eleventh straight triumph.

The Terrapins had been a stumbling block to Chicago all along, but the Kansas City and Indianapolis teams did what the Chifeds themselves were unable to accomplish.

Association Tightens Up.

The winning streak of Jimmy Sheckard's Cleveland team and the tightening up of the American association race furnished excitement in the Chivington circuit. Beginning last Sunday, the Cleveland team started a spurt that put it in second place, and turned things upside down throughout the league. Two defeats were administered to Milwaukee on Sunday, on Monday and another on Tuesday, the result dropping the champions from first place and bringing Cleveland into second place. On Wednesday Sheckard brought his crowd to St. Paul and downed the Saints on that day, on Thursday and on Friday. Meanwhile Louisville began a winning streak that landed the Colonels in front.

Three out of four games at St. Paul went to Louisville in three days, and though the Saints got an even break in the double-header on Tuesday, one win was enough to put Louisville in first place. On Wednesday, Loudermilk's great pitching against Kansas City stopped Gallia's winning streak, won an 11-inning battle for the Colonels and kept them in front half a game ahead of Cleveland. Northrup blanked Kansas City on Thursday, giving Louisville a 6 to 0 victory, and keeping it just ahead of Cleveland.

By Friday the race had grown so close that only five and a half of the games separated Louisville at the top and Columbus in seventh place.

Roumas Beats Moore.

Springfield, Ill., June 22.—George Roumas of Springfield defeated Roy Moore of Decatur here yesterday in straight falls, the first in 14 minutes and the second in 12 minutes. Roumas wrestles Walter Evans, welterweight champion, here the Fourth of July.

Lord Loris Wins.

Paris, June 22.—The grand steeple chase at 4½ miles and valued at $20,000, run over the Outeulle track yesterday, was won by James Hennessy's chestnut, Lord Loris. Sydney Platt's bay colt, Clitias, was second and L. Frates' Marlean II third. Lord Loris won easily by three lengths.

CLOSE SCORES TURNED IN

Dr. Cullum and Mrs. Ward Ames Win Foursome.

Dr. M. B. Cullum and Mrs. Ward Ames were the winners of the mixed foursome medal handicap golf play of Saturday at the Country club. The score of Dr. Cullum and Mrs. Ames was 92, which, with a handicap of 13, gave the net score of 79. A. M. Chisholm and Mrs. T. F. Cole turned in the next lowest score of 105, which with a handicap of 18 made the net score 87.

The contest was one of the most interesting of the season and brought out some very good golf. So close were the scores that the result was not known until the last card was figured out.

The detailed result:

	Score.	Hand-icap.	Net.
M. B. Cullum and Mrs. Ward Ames	92	13	79
H. H. Windom and Mrs. R. N. Marble	116	22	94

NEW MAJOR LEAGUE TOPIC OF HOUR

Magnates Say It Will Be Settled Inside of Ten Days.

New York, June 22.—The baseball atmosphere, disturbed Saturday by stories that the magnates of organized baseball had about decided to launch a third major league to combat Federal league opposition, was still somewhat unsettled yesterday. Echoes were heard from the West of opposition to the proposed move on the part of American association men, and representatives of the organized game, but they fell upon unresponsive ears so far as this city was concerned. Hardly a representative of the big leaguers was left in town, and such as were here were silent on the baseball topic of the hour.

Ban B. Johnson left early for Chicago. All he would say was that the matter of the new league had been left entirely with the commission and that a final decision would be reached within ten days. President Tener of the National league did not linger long after Saturday's meeting and had no statement to make.

There were observers of the situation, however, who did not take seriously the proposed invasion of the new league, if one is brought into being. One surmise that found belief in some quarters was that the real plan would provide for placing second teams in Brooklyn, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Detroit and Washington. Buffalo filling out the Western wing and Baltimore and Buffalo completing the Eastern division.

Chicago, June 22. — Steps will be taken today to restrain Hal Chase, former American league star, from playing another game with the Buffalo Federals, according to an announcement last night by Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago Americans, after he had been informed that Chase had played in yesterday's Federal game.

SPEND QUIET SUNDAY.

Oarsmen in Training on Hudson Have Uneventful Time.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 22.—The six score of oarsmen in training for the intercollegiate regatta spent a rather quiet Sunday in and around their quarters along the west shore of the Hudson. In the morning a number of them attended church services.

The Wisconsin men attended church in the morning and in the afternoon made a tour of inspection of the scientific fruit farms around Milton. A number of the Wisconsin oarsmen are from the agricultural school and they found the trip instructive.

In the afternoon the substitues and members of the Wisconsin colony not in training, organized a baseball team and were defeated by the Milton team by a score of 10 to 4.

But three days more of hard work will be given the men. Nothing but light work will be done Thursday, the day before the race.

RAIN PREVENTS DULUTH INCREASING RECORD RUN

The White Sox Had Superior Beaten 9 to 2 When It Poured.

Virginia Here for Series—John Burmeister May Head the A. A.

Rain prevented the White Sox setting their record run of victories at the remarkable figure of twelve straight. The first game of the scheduled double-header was started yesterday at Hislop park shortly before 3 o'clock. The score was 9 to 2 in favor of Duluth when rain finally put an end to the pastime for the day.

Henry Clay Blancke was on the mound for the climbers, and he proved a puzzle to the Red Sox. The game went four innings—or the game that was no game went that long—the excessive downpour coming just in time to save the gang from over the way from an awful drubbing, and also just at an unfortunate time to rob the White Sox of a record of twelve consecutive wins.

Virginia Here Today.

Barring the low-down meanness of the weather man, there will be three games with the Virginia team. In these three games it is the ardent hope of the Dooks to climb further in the precipitate flight to the regions of the column where a clearer view of the other teams can be commanded.

Virginia is immediately ahead of us in the flight to the pole. Beyond are the fleeing figures of Grand Forks and Winnipeg. It is there that we should be. In accomplishing this desire it is quite necessary to bring about the defeat of the cohorts of Kid Taylor. The series brings the first Duluth appearance of the Ore Diggers this season, and the three games also mark the last appearance of the Dooks on the home lot until July 5. Considering the importance of the outcome of the series to the Dooks, also considering that it is the first appearance of Virginia here this season, and once more considering that the Virginia seance will be the good-by of the White Sox, it is expected that the attendance will be very large and enthusiastic.

John Burmeister Leaves.

John Burmeister, the large and genial president of the league, was in our presence last Saturday. The league executive came to the Head of the Lakes to see President Harry A. Blume of the White Sox and also to give the work of Umpire Tim Flood the once over. From here Burmeister left for Grand Forks.

"The attendance this season is better than last," said President Burmeister. "Especially gratifying has been the attendance at Fort William. In one of the games with Winona the crowd was the largest of the present year. This shows that baseball is appreciated in the new towns of the league, for up here we are from both Fort William and Port Arthur.

"In view of the splendid attendance that the citizens at the Head of the Canadian Lakes have given to their team, it is rather disappointing that the Fort William aggregation is not making a better showing. If the attendance is so large with the Twins in their present lowly position, it would possibly be larger were the team making some kind of a race out of it."

President Burmeister also stated that the turnstile returns at Winnipeg indicated a greater attendance than last season, and that Grand Forks and Fargo so far have been giving their teams fine support.

The umpire question is one that is engaging the attention of the league executive at the present time. Large John is keeping his bright orbs glued to the work of his arbitrators and declares that he is going to keep the indicator handlers working in good shape.

What Dame Rumor Says.

Now that Burmeister has gone and left, it might not be out of the way to repeat what is being whispered around some of the baseball camps.

It is rumored that John Burmeister may be the next president of the American association. These be parlous baseball times, 'tis true, and it is also true that the large lumberman of Minneapolis has shown the executive ability and the back bone that is needed in baseball.

Burmeister is a business man of independent means. He is not drawing a cent as president of the Northern league. He has made emphatically good on the job, and it is the qualities of directorship that he has displayed that first directed the rivet-eyed attention of the Cantillons to a new and somewhat unique figure in baseball.

Whether he is ever made president of the American association or not, the fact remains that he is being dimly considered for the job.

Thus do we see that baseball every now and then throws diamonds upon the shore of contemplation.

THIS "DARK HORSE" A ROAN SURPRISE.

San Francisco, Cal., June 22.—Birdseye, a shaggy roan horse that rattled bones around the streets of San Francisco in the shafts of a butcher's cart on week days, won the silver trophy in the free-for-all trot of the San Francisco Driving club's matinee races yesterday.

The roan defeated a field of other speedy trotters shipped here for the race.

The butcher purchased the horse recently for $100.

MANY SEEK GRAND CHALLENGE CUP

Crews From America, Canada and Germany Entered for Race.

London, June 22.—English oarsmen are seriously concerned over the "foreign invasion" of Henley. The coming of crews from America, Canada and Germany to row for the Grand Challenge cup in the first week of July has set them to figuring as to what they can depend upon to defend English prowess, which in this event has only four times lowered its flag to the foreigner.

The first foreign victory was in 1906 when the Belgians won the cup. They repeated the victory in 1907 and again in 1909, while the Australian crew took the cup in 1912. However, this year the oarsmen are watching the Americans more closely, remembering how near the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia came to winning in 1905.

With all this competition, England this year finds herself sadly lacking in first class material. The Leander club, which in previous years could be depended upon to put a strong crew on the river, has not been receiving so many rowing recruits lately. Formerly it was the usual thing for rowing men from all the universities and colleges to join Leander on graduating and to keep up their rowing for some years afterwards. Now more men from the universities go into business and have not the time to devote to training, or else they go abroad.

Only recently the Leander club lost its captain, Stanley Gartin, and this position has fallen to A. F. N. Wiggins, a former president of the Oxford University Boating club. He will have the assistance of R. L. Bourne, who stroked Oxford, and will stroke Leander; Scrutton, an Eton captain; C. S. Clark, a Cambridge blue, and Horsfall, another university oarsman. Where the others are to come from has not yet been disclosed.

What Oxford and Cambridge will do in the way of crews cannot yet be stated as their summer races come very late this year and until they are over no crews will be made up.

The foreign entries which had to be in by June 1, follows:

Grand Challenge Cup—Ruder Verein, Mayence Germany; Harvard Athletic Association Boat club, U. S. A.; Union Boat club, Boston, U. S. A.; Winnipeg Rowing club, Winnipeg, Can.

Thames Challenge Cup—Royal Club Nautique de Ghent, Belgium.

Stewards Challenge Cup—Grasshopper club, Zurich; Ruder Verein, Mayence.

Diamond Challenge Sculls—James B. Ayer, Union Boat club, Boston; Robert Dibble, Don Rowing club, Toronto, Can.; William Tudor Gardiner, Union Boat club, Boston; Guiseppi Sinigaglia, Larlo club, Como, Italy; Paul Withington, Union Boat club, Boston.

MORE OLYMPIC RULES.

American Proposal Rejected, But One From England Adopted.

Paris, June 22. — The International Olympic congress today rejected a motion by Col. Robert M. Thompson of New York to allow in each track and field event twelve entries and six contestants from each country. This was supported by all the American delegates and by Sweden.

The other countries objected to the motion because so large a number of entries and contestants would, they said, be too expensive for the smaller countries to maintain and send to the games.

Col. Thompson urged that countries with large populations ought to have more representatives in order to give them proportionally as great opportunity for competition.

Nevertheless the congress voted favorably on the motion of Franz Reichel of France to limit each country to teams of six, four of them to compete and two alternates.

The congress accepted a proposal by the Rev. Robert Stuart De Courcy Laffan, chairman of the English delegation, that each sport be considered as a unit in scoring and that no grand award be made to a country for a total score made up by taking all the games together.

It was represented that at previous Olympic games there had been made difficulties and disputes over the relative rating of sports. The new system of scoring, it was pointed out, would allow a country superior in one branch of sport to receive an award for it.

THREE YACHTS READY FOR TUESDAY'S RACE.

New York, June 22.—Having undergone various changes, the three cup class yachts, Defiance, Resolute and Vanitie, will resume their tuning up contests this week in Upper Long Island sound. The first race in the long series arranged for the yachts will be held off Greenwich, Tuesday, under the auspices of the Indian Harbor club.

Junior Championships Soon.

Chicago, June 22.—The junior championship of the Western Golf association will be played on the course of the Chicago Golf club at Wheaton, July 21, 22 and 23, according to an announcement here yesterday by R. R. Stone, secretary. The tournament is open to amateurs in the United States and Canada, younger than 19 years.

"WILLARD THE WIZARD" IS SUICIDE IN JAIL.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 22.—Robert Maloney of Cuero, Texas, a vaudeville actor known as "Willard the Wizard," committed suicide in the county jail here Sunday by jumping from the fourth tier of cells to a cement floor. His neck was broken. Maloney was under indictment for first degree murder for cutting the throats of his wife and child at a hotel here in December.

GREAT LAKES TO THE OCEAN

Senator Townsend of Michigan Pushing Plan of Joint Development.

Questions Are Now Being Considered By the Canadian Government.

Washington, June 22.—For more than fifty years there have been men who dreamed of the coming of a day when ships might freely sail from any port on the great lakes to any port on all the seven seas. Is this splendid dream about to become a still more splendid reality?

During the last session of congress Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan introduced a resolution authorizing the president to enter into treaty relations with Great Britain and the Dominion of Canada for the purpose of converting the boundary waters between the United States and Canada into ocean waterways. The resolution passed the senate unanimously, went to the president, who, in turn, referred the resolution to the secretary of state. There it rested for a long time, when finally, Senator Townsend, growing impatient over the delay in reporting upon the advisability of such an alliance for mutual benefit, induced Secretary Bryan to submit certain questions to the international joint commission created by act of congress June 11, 1909, which, in turn, was asked to submit the questions to the Canadian government. These questions are now being considered by the Dominion authorities and look to a report on the character of the waters to be improved, part of which lie in Canadian territory, part in American territory and part on the border between the two countries, the question of cost, lake levels and power development.

Water Highway to the Sea.

The resolution of Senator Townsend, into which new life has been breathed by the earnestness of the junior senator from Michigan, contemplates a water highway through the Welland canal and the St. Lawrence river, which would accommodate ocean-going vessels between Chicago, Milwaukee, Duluth-Superior and other lake ports and the Atlantic ocean.

Speaking of the resolution and its purpose, Senator Townsend said today: "The questions which have finally been submitted to the international joint commission, and by that body to the Dominion government, were thought to be necessary in order to get action on the part of our northern eighbors, to the end that when both countries had agreed upon the matters to be investigated such matters could be referred to the international joint commission for investigation.

"The Canadian government has those questions and until its answer has been received I presume nothing can be done looking to a comprehensive report of the international joint commission.

Location of Waterway.

"There is a decided sentiment in Canada, not upon the question of the advisability of an ocean waterway from the lakes to Montreal, for that has been decided long ago as highly necessary, but as to the location of that waterway. One faction of our Canadian cousins desires the route constructed in all Canadian territory and is contending for the route from Georgian bay in Canada to the Ottawa river, thence down the Ottawa to the St. Lawrence. The other faction favors my proposition which is, the enlargement of the Welland canal and the improvement of the St. Lawrence river from Lake Ontario to Montreal. This is the natural water course and by the erection of proper compensation sills in the upper Niagara river and in the St. Clair river the water now going to waste could be utilized to float a greater commerce than enters and clears at our entire seaboard today. Greater than all that which will pass through the Panama canal, plus all that passes in and out of the Suez.

"I am now trying to get an estimate as to what it would cost the United States to construct such compensating work and to enlarge all the channels from the Lake Erie end of the Welland canal through the Detroit river, Lake St. Clair, St. Clair river, Lake Huron, Straits of Mackinac, and the St. Mary's river and locks. This work would devolve upon the United States while most of the improvements on the St. Lawrence would be made in Canadian territory, and unless Canada would consent that part of the work be done by the United States, most of the St. Lawrence would be done by the Dominion government.

For Joint Development.

"My plan contemplates the joint development of this great waterway if the two nations can agree on such a course.

"It has been shown by reports that the Erie canal could be enlarged to accommodate the largest ocean vessel for less than one hundred millions, and if Canada should insist on constructing all the Canadian projects then it will clearly be in the interest of the United States to enlarge the Erie canal as suggested.

"The rational natural plan, however, is the one that uses nature's water courses in the improvement of which enough power could be generated to yield a great revenue upon the original cost. A conservative estimate of the potential energy which could be developed by improving the St. Lawrence from Lake Ontario to Montreal is four million horse-power. This power could be sold for a least fifteen million dollars, which would mean a 5 per cent return on a three hundred million dollar investment.

"If we do not construct this great waterway, not only in our interest, but in the interest of our children, Canada will do it. She will construct it on her own territory which will deflect our trade over Canadian rails, to be loaded into Canadian boats and routed for Canadian markets. She will fortify her canal, compelling us to fortify our end and the imaginary boundary will bristle with the guns of two great nations. A point control and a joint building of the canal will mean an everlasting peace between our two peoples."

Saved From Sea.

Fort Eads, La., June 22.—Capt. Charles Lawrence and a crew of twelve of the schooner J. R. Allison, which foundered at sea Monday, June 15, were brought here yesterday on the pilot boat Jennie Wilson.

ON THE WAY BACK.

Everybody's Magazine: A certain haunted house down in Georgia was held in terror by all the negroes in the vicinity except Sam, who bravely declared that for $2 he would sleep there all night. A purse was raised and Sam was told to carry out his end of the bargain and call in the morning for the money. When morning came no trace could be found of Sam; the house contained nothing but evidence of a hurried departure. A search party was organized, but without result.

Finally, four days later, Sam, covered with mud, came slowly walking down the road.

"Hi, dere, nigger!" yelled a bystander, "where's you been de las' fo days?"

To which Sam curtly responded: "Ah's been comin' back."

ON THE IRON RANGES

MANY EXPECTED AT VIRGINIA MEETING

Annual Session and Banquet of Range Municipal League July 2.

Virginia, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting to be held here July 2 of the newly organized Range Municipal league at which there will be a business session and banquet promises to be one of the big gatherings of the season in this section. Local people plan to make the affair the grandest ever held by that organization. A committee made up of Mayor Michael Boylan of Virginia, City Clerk A. P. Romer of Eveleth and Mayor William J. Doyle of Buhl, have been placed in charge of the arrangements and they are framing a program, the like of which has never before been witnessed on the range.

MINNESOTA TRAVELING MAN IN BAD SHAPE

In an affidavit executed before a Notary in St. Paul a traveling man swears to the following: Had a scrofulous ulcer about two by three inches in size on the right side of neck over the jugular vein—a dangerous place. Was treated by many doctors but no benefit. Allen's Ulcerine Salve cured the ulcer in six months.

This salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 it has been known as the only salve powerful enough to cure chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve acts by drawing out the poisons and healing the sore from the bottom up. It is so powerful that it heals new cuts and sores in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. And it heals burns and scalds without a scar. Sold by the Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

LAMBERT SENDS BALL FAR AWAY

Longest Hit Is Seen in Two Harbors-Winton Game.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—In seven innings of high class baseball the fast Winton city team defeated the local Gopher team here yesterday afternoon 6 to 4. The game was called at the beginning of the eighth inning on account of rain. The day was more favorable for a football game, but nevertheless a large crowd was present. This is the second victory for the Winton team over the locals, having defeated them earlier in the season at Winton. It was some game from the spectators point of view. Clean, rapid fielding and long drives furnished the crowd with plenty to see.

The latter part of the sixth inning was the big inning for the locals, and especially for the local fans. Ginter was given a base on balls, Lambert strolled up to the plate and it was evident that he meant business and the second ball pitched he knocked far over the center field fence. It was the longest hit possibly recorded on the local grounds. It was a lost ball and no effort was made to find it. This finished the scoring of the game. Bradley, the visitors' pitcher, was some pitcher and further, he was some hitter, out of three times to bat he got two two-base hits. Roberts, for the locals pitched a good game, but was taken out in the sixth on account of a sore arm which he has been suffering with for the last week.

RECORDER OF IRON INDUSTRY IS DEAD

James M. Swank of Iron and Steel Association Passes Away.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—James M. Swank, vice president and general manager of the American Iron and Steel association and widely known as an authority on iron and steel, died at his home in Philadelphia yesterday of oedema of the lungs. He had been ill three weeks. Mr. Swank, who was 83 years oflld, was connected with the American Iron and Steel association for more than forty-one years, first as secretary, and, since 1885, as general manager.

Born in Westmoreland county, Pa., Mr. Swank, before he was 20, had clerked in his father's store, taught school, studied law for a brief time, and served as editor of the Whig campaign newspaper during the stirring months in which that party in 1852 waged its final and losing battle. The following year he founded the Cambria Tribune, which, later under the name of the Johnstown Tribune, he published successfully for many years. Afterwards his political activities took him to Washington, for a time as clerk of the house committees on manufactures and agriculture, and later as chief clerk of the department of agriculture. In January, 1873, he became secretary of the Iron and Steel association and remained with it until his death. He was the author of many books dealing with the iron and steel industry. Andrew Carnegie once said: "Iron and steel owe an unpayable debt to Swank." He was frequently referred to as "the recorder of the iron and steel industry."

MELANCHOLY WOMEN

Women should understand that melancholy, commonly called the "Blues," is in nine times out of ten a pure symptom of some organic derangement which should have attention. For nearly forty years, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for such conditions, as proved by many testimonials which we are constantly publishing from women who have been restored to health by its use.

PAINS AROUND THE HEART

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force the food is retained until it ferments. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart disease rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to needless alarm.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich, red blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation. With thin blood and weak nerves it is impossible to avoid stomach trouble. Build up the blood and strengthen the nerves and note the increased appetite, the comfortable feeling after eating and the improvement in health and vigor.

Two books "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store.

Government's Charge.

The government charged that the retailers had combined to prevent wholesalers from selling directly to consumers by blacklisting them and refusing to buy from them if they did, and by other specified means. The government showed that there had long been friction between wholesalers and retailers, growing out of the alleged invasion by each of the trade province of the other.

The Federal district court for Southern New York held that there had been a violation of the Sherman law along the line complained of by the government, and issued an injunction prohibiting the circulation of the so-called "official lists" containing the names of wholesalers who sold direct to big consumers.

MARY, MOTHER AND DRUDGE

Her Lot Is a Baby at 14, and Seven Days of Toil—Conditions in Mulberry Street, New York.

New York Evening Post: Mrs. Mary Minora, 14, who appeared with her 3 months old baby yesterday and told the industrial relations committee that she and her mother supported themselves, their husbands, her younger brother, and the baby while the men of the family were out of work for nine months, was busy with her work of finishing trousers on the top floor back at 240 Mulberry street this morning. Mary is a blue-eyed, light-haired Italian, and she and her parents came to this country ten years ago from Sicily.

Ever since coming to America the women of the family have been working at finishing trousers. At first Mary used to help her mother, staying home from school whenever it was possible to do it, but for several years now she has had her own work. By sewing all day long she earns on an average of 60 cents a day, and the mother 70 or 80 cents a day. The father and the brother are both out of work and have been for nine months, ever since the men were laid off in the clothing factory, where they had worked as pressers. When employed they earned about $2 a day.

When both women work, all day long, the women seven, the men six days a week, the coffers of the family are filled to overflowing.

Rosario, aged 10, is the only one who doesn't work. He goes to school. Mary laughs when it is suggested that perhaps Rosario works.

"He, he is only 10," she says.

"But didn't you work when you were his age?" she was asked.

"Yes; but Rosario goes to school," and that seems to be all there is to it in her mind.

Rosario Catcher of Pigeons.

Rosario can't stand the imputation, however, that he is doing nothing to add to the family's income. So he shoves up his sleeves to show great sore patches of sunburn on both arms.

"I get that working on the roof," he explains. "I sit up there many hours trying to catch the birds," from which one gathers that Rosario has designs on the pigeons which fly around the roof.

"I'd sell one if I ever got him," he says, "I take a pole and tie a rag to it and hope they will come and think it is another pigeon. But I've never caught one yet."

Mary's mother isn't an old woman. Perhaps she is 35 or 40, and she is known as a good finisher. She can talk and sew, too, but when Mary talks she must give her whole attention to it. A gray kitten plays with the thread as the women sew on buttons, hem legs, finish linings and belts. There is a lot of work on one pair of those trousers.

"We used to get more money—over a dollar a day," explains the mother, with Mary who speaks English acting as an interpreter. "But now we don't get so much for many months. All of a sudden they tell us they can't pay us so much, and when we say, 'Why not?' they say, 'Never mind, take the work or leave it, we don't care. Other women want it if you don't.' We take it."

It is a small room, where Mary and her mother sit sewing on trousers from eight in the morning till nine at night, and the light from the two back windows is not so good as it might be. But the place is clean, the bed with its neat blue counterpane stands in one corner, shelves covered with white paper hold the dishes, there are Biblical pictures on the walls, a picture of the Italian royal family, and over the working table, a crayon portrait of the grandmother and grandfather who are still living in Sicily. Right by Mary is the crib with the baby, Pietro Angelo, asleep in it. The family have three rooms in all.

"What do you do to have some fun, Mary?" asked the visitor.

"Fun?" she asked.

"A good time," explained the visitor.

"I no have," she said.

"Did you ever go to Coney Island?"

"Me? No."

"Did you ever see Central Park or go to any of the playgrounds?"

"No. I must work."

"Did you ever get to the country?"

"What do you take me for?" said Mary Minora. "I never go away from New York. I don't go out all day, because I must work, and at night, too, and I am too tired when the trousers are done. Yes, I work all day Sunday, too."

"Didn't you have enough trouble to get along without getting a husband and a baby?" asks a man who comes to hear Mrs. Minora's story.

"Yes," says Mary, but adds: "I like my husband, so I marry him."

The baby sleeps peacefully through it all, with one pink sock on and one pink sock off.

"Nice baby," says the grandmother.

"My baby," says Mary Minora, who won't be 15 till September 4.

TO CO-OPERATE IN THE BUILDING OF IDEAL INTERNATIONAL CITY

A grandly idealistic project has recently been launched by an international organization known as the "World Conscience Society." The details and plan were conceived and perfected after ten years of altruistic labor and study on the part of Hendrik Christian Anderson, an American-Scandinavian sculptor residing in Rome, assisted by some forty sculptors, artists, engineers, architects and scientists, and has for its object the establishment of an ideal world city where all international activities are to have their home and inspiration.

A review of the massive and beautifully illustrated volume which embodies the plan in its details was recently published in the monthly bulletin of the Pan American Union. "This proposed international city," writes the reviewer, "is to be a city of light, health, wide avenues, parks, playgrounds, fountains, lagoons, and noble buildings. It is to be a city without slums, a city of efficiency, convenience and beauty. Not only in structure, plan, and equipment will it be the ideal city, but it is intended to become the intellectual, artistic, and practical international capital of the world; a clearing house for the various social, cultural, scientific and political aspirations of humanity.

"As designed it will cover some ten square miles of ground. Its architectural plans are so drawn that it can be built at almost any spot accessible to the sea that the nations may choose. While there is ample room within the limits of the city for the homes of the permanent inhabitants and the necessary business and manufacturing plants, the heart of the city is composed of buildings adapted to the unification of international interests. These are grouped into three centers devoted respectively to science, art, and physical culture. The scientific center is connected with the center of art by the broad Avenue of Nations, flanked on either side by palaces which will house ambassadors and delegates representing their respective nations. It has for its crowning motif the gigantic Tower of Progress, which rises to the height of 1,000 feet or more. On the summit of this tower will be installed a wireless telegraphy plant and on the lower floor of its colossal base will be found a world printing press.

"The tower rises in the midst of a circular space set apart for international congress buildings for medicine, surgery, hygiene, law and criminology, electricity and invention, agriculture and transportation, all of which are provided with halls, libraries, museums and accessory offices. To the northeast is the International Hall of Justice and to the southwest the Temple of Religions. Completing the conception stand an international bank or clearing house and a world reference library, while in gardens near by are found the international institutes of higher learning. The art center is connected with the physical culture center by means of gardens devoted to horticulture, natural history, zoology and botany. An imposing Temple of Art, forming the chief monument of this center, has been planned with spacious halls and galleries for sculpture and painting, surrounding a vast auditorium. The physical center is intended to facilitate a world reunion of athleticism and to promote the scientific development of the human form in all nations. A vast stadium is its central feature. Near it is a large natatorium, gymnasia for men and women, and open fields and athletic quadrangles for international expositions and contests."

The estimated cost of creating such a city, according to the author of the plan, would not be over $100,000,000, a sum that would not severely tax the resources of the governments of the world if equitably distributed. The international committee of the organization is to determine the site and location of the city at its meeting next year. Numerous places have been mentioned, such as the Dutch coast near The Hague; the Riviera, near Cannes; Turvueren, near Brussels; St. Germain on Laye, near Paris; the Marmora coast near Constantinople; the New Jersey coast, near Lakewood; the Isthmus of Panama, and recently the Island of Cuba. Many leaders in art, science, education and world politics in the various countries of the civilized globe are taking an active interest in the movement, and the meeting of the international committee next year will create a world-wide interest.

TO CLEAN THE BATHTUB.

An enameled bathtub may be satisfactorily cleaned by a mixture of lemon juice and salt, says the Dallas News. Cut a lemon in half, and have a saucer of coarse kitchen salt ready. Dip the lemon into this rubbing it over the surface of the bathtub until all of the dirt is removed. Then wash well with hot suds, whereupon you will observe the surface of your bathtub to be as clean and bright as when new.

MOVEMENT IS GROWING

Zionist Cause Making Tremendous Strides, Says Judge Bregstone.

Judge Phillip Bregstone of Chicago, a judge of the municipal court of that city and a member of the executive committee of the American Federation of the International Zionist movement, at the Holland today declared that the movement has made tremendous strides within the last year and that more serious thought and effort are being given to the aid of the movement than ever before.

"The foundations of the university that is to be constructed at Jerusalem are already in," said Judge Bregstone. "Through the influence of the American Jews, the language to be used there will be the old Hebrew language. Much influence was brought to bear to have the language of some other nation, but in the end the influence of the Jews of the United States prevailed.

"If you could appreciate the difficulty that confronts the education of the young Hebrew in most of the countries of the civilized world you would appreciate the great and potent influence this university is going to prove in bringing closer together our race. A race must have muscle and it must have intellect. In the past our people have had to adopt the religions of other nations to receive education. This has acted against us, as it has tended further to separate us as an individual people; the starting of our own schools will serve to draw us closer together."

Judge Bregstone declared that through the influence of Henry Morganthu, ambassador from the United States to Turkey, a commission will be sent to Jerusalem to study the conditions. Borris Bogen of Cincinnati, one of the best known settlement workers in the United States, will be a member of the commission. There will be five members. It will be composed of practical and professional men, and its prime object is to study at first hand the various problems that are to be solved in making Jerusalem a greater and better city to live in.

According to the statement of Judge Bregstone, the rich Jews of this country are visiting Jerusalem, whether or not they have taken any practical interest in the Zionist movement, which shows that the thought of the Jewish people has turned upon the greatest movement of the age, as the judge characterizes the Zionist movement.

On Wednesday at the Jewish Free school, Judge Bregstone will speak on the rise and development of the Yiddish literature, and he declares that the subject contains a great deal of interest for the people of all races.

SURETY COMPANIES NOT MUCH INVOLVED

Illinois Insurance Superintendent Gives Out Statement.

Springfield, Ill., June 22.—Superintendent of Insurance Potts stated today that from the report of Actuary Fairlie of the insurance department, who has been making an investigation of the extent to which surety companies are involved in the failure of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank and other banks in which Lorimer and Munday were interested, he was of the opinion that the surety companies are not involved to any such extent that their stockholders need feel any uneasiness.

Auditor Brady stated today that every opportunity would be given stockholders of the Lorimer-Munday banks in outlying districts of Chicago and down-state to "make good" to depositors before he would ask for receivers and that no immediate steps looking toward appointment of receivers would be taken.

SEEK LOWER RATE ON PULPWOOD

Action to lower the railway rates on pulpwood, which was originally heard last summer before the interstate commerce commission at Chicago, was brought up for a rehearing today before Examiner Gibson of Washington, D. C., representing the I. C .C. at the Federal building here. The action affects spruce pulpwood shipped from points in Minnesota to Wisconsin.

The case was brought by B. G. Dahlberg of St. Paul and is defended by practically all the railroads entering Duluth. Evidence will be taken this afternoon, tomorrow and possibly Wednesday.

It is claimed by the plaintiffs that rates from Minnesota points to Wisconsin mills are from 1½ cents to 3 cents higher than they are from Michigan and Wisconsin points.

"I'm taking a lot of work from you doctors, I am afraid," said Mr. Wright, with a mischevous smile. "I feel sory for the young Dayton medical student I heard about the other day.

"Two medical students were discussing their prospects in the profession, when one of them said:

"'To succeed in medicine it is necessary to specialize.'

"'Decidedly,' agreed the other. 'What specialty are you going to choose?'

"'I'm going to specialize in aeroplane accidents—there'll be a great future there.'"

IN BAD FAITH, SAYS MOYER

Head of Western Federation Criticizes Butte Secessionists.

Secession in Michigan and Utah Predicted By McDonald.

Butte, Mont., June 22.—In a statement surveying the situation here, Charles Moyer declared today that the leaders of the new miners' union did not act in good faith; that the workers in Butte's mines had been delivered over to the Industrial Workers of the World, and that "there are hundreds—yes, thousands—of irresponsible men headed for Butte at this instant. What are they coming for?" he asked. "They have no jobs," Moyer said, "for there are more men in Butte now than there are places for in the mines. The public can take warning as to their mission."

Criticized Mayor.

Moyer also criticized Mayor Duncan, Socialist, for failing to appear at the mass meeting yesterday to advise against the formation of the new union before Moyer's conciliation plan could be presented to the men.

Fortified with the backing of the Western Federation and all international unions of the American Federation of Labor, together with $70,000 in cash in the bank and $50,000 more in property in this and other cities, the old miners' union will continue its business here, according to Moyer.

He indicated that the federation would continue to hold its contracts with the mining companies, and would furnish sufficient federation man to fill all places in the mines.

Secede in Michigan.

Action to this end, he said would be taken if the men who have seceded fail to take advantage of the opportunity to return to the federation.

President McDonald of the new union said that federation members in Michigan and Utah were on the point of seceding, and had agreed to join the protest movement.

I. C. ORDER HELD VALID

Commerce Court Reversed in Intermountain Rate Case.

Washington, June 22.—The supreme court today reversed the commerce court and upheld the intermountain rate order of the interstate commerce commission.

Justice White first decided that the long and short haul clause was constitutional.

Orders Issued in 1911.

The intermountain rate orders were issued in June and July, 1911, by the interstate commerce commission, under authority of the "long and short haul section" of the interstate commerce act. This section clothed the commission with discretion to make exceptions to the general rule laid down in the law that railroads should not charge more for a short haul than for a longer haul in the same direction and over the same lines or routes.

The orders were the outcome of a change in the law in 1910. From 1887 to 1910, the law against a greater charge for a short than for a longer haul applied only to hauls under "similar conditions," but that proved unsatisfactory and led to the law's being amended by striking out this phrase "similar conditions" and leaving the commission with discretion to make exceptions to the general rule laid down in the law.

Shortly after the passage of the act in 1910, practically all the railroads traversing the intermountain region of the West applied, to the commission to have exceptions made so that a higher rate could be charged on shipments from the East to intermountain cities, such as Spokane, Wash., Reno, Nev., and Phoenix, Ariz. The rates to these cities from points east of the Rockies had for years been made by adding the through rate to the Pacific coast and the local rate from the Pacific back to the interior city.

Opposed by Cities.

The intermountain points rebelled against what they claimed was a monopoly given to the Pacific coast cities of the trade at all points from the coast back to the very doors of the intermountain cities. The matter was fought out in hearings before the commission.

The decision of the commission was a compromise. It refused to let the railroads charge a higher rate to the protesting cities than was charged to points beyond them, on shipments originating west of a line that would run north and south through St. Paul, Minn., but on shipments originating between St. Paul and Chicago, the railroads were permitted to charge an increase of not more than 7 per cent; on shipments originating between Chicago and Pittsburg, not more than 15 per cent; and from the zone between Pittsburg and the Atlantic, not more than 25 per cent.

The commerce court set aside the orders on the ground that the commission had no authority to issue "blanket" orders, or "zone" orders, but could act only in regard to the reasonableness or unreasonableness of specific rates. An attempt was made to have the commerce court hold unconstitutional the section of the law under which the orders were issued, on the ground that congress had given no guide to the commission's discretion and therefore the legislation was a delegation of legislative power.

Commerce Court Decision.

The majority of the commerce court, however, found a guide to this discretion in the preceding section of the law, which declared rates must be "reasonable" and non-discriminatory. Judge Archbald expressed a belief that the law was unconstitutional.

The ground upon which the railroads asked for the exemption under the "long and short haul" clause was that water competition required the railroads to carry commodities to the coast at an unreasonably low rate, and that the rates proposed for the intermountain cities were reasonable in themselves for the service performed. Inasmuch as Middle Western cities would not be able to compete with New York and Atlantic coast cities if New York alone enjoyed the low rates, the railroads claimed a right by virtue of "market competition" to allow Middle Western cities to enjoy the same rates as New York.

BUYING A PAIR OF SHOES FOR WILLIE.

Modern Shoemaking: Mrs. Perkins (entering shoe store with little Willie) —A pair of shoes for the boy.

Shoe Clerk (affably)—Yes, madam, this way, madam. Sit down right here. What size does the young man wear?

Mrs. P. (firmly)—A size that fits him.

Willie (shrieks)—No, no! Size three.

Mrs. P. (determinedly)—Pay no attention to him, mister! Give him a size that fits him.

W. (protests)—Size three is my size.

Mrs. P.—It is not. It's two sizes too small for you. Now, Willie, if you don't behave, I'll go right out and you won't get any new shoes.

W. (tearfully)—Think I'll have the fellers all laughing at me? Nobody wears a size five shoe. "Clodhoppers," they'll call me.

Mrs. P.—Willie - will - you - behave? What price? Oh, nothing too expensive. Just medium priced—but they must be good. If they aren't, I'll bring them right back.

S. C.—Oh, no fear, madam; our shoes are the best in the city. (Departs in quest of shoes.)

Mrs. P. (turns to Willie)—Now, Willie, no more nonsense! What kind of a boy will people think I've got if he acts this way? What will they think of his mother?

W. (doggedly)—I'm not going to wear a shoe that's two sizes too big for me.

Mrs. P. — Shall I spank you right here? (S. C. returns.)

S. C.—There, madam, is one of the finest shoes we have in stock. Russian calf, stylish, well fitting, snug, comfortable—for a shoe, madam. (Slips it on Willie's foot.) Well, how does it feel, young man?

W.—Take it off, take it off, quick! It's too big.

Mrs. P.—No, no, don't take it off. Here, let me see that. (Picks up Willie's foot and presses the tip with her thumb.) Why, Willie, that shoe is altogether too tight. Give him a larger size, sir.

W. (wildly)—'Tain't fair, ma. You want me to wear elephant shoes.

S. C. (cheerily)—Oh, don't mind that, young man. The girls will like you just as well. Wear a shoe that won't hurt your feet and when you grow up you'll have better feet than the boys that wear tight shoes.

W. (blind rage)—I don't wanna have girls like me.

Mrs. P.—No, sir, that shoe won't do. Let me see a larger one. That one's too small.

W.—Say, ma, I'd like to see you wear big shoes. Well, wouldn't you start a fuss, though. Why, you're twice as big as me and wear shoes twice as small. And I've heard you tell pa that they hurt your feet, too.

Mrs. P. (gratingly)—You'll come home with me in just a minute and get the spanking of your life. But on that shoe question. No, thank you very kindly, sir, I'm not in a mood to see any more shoes. I'll come in again.

MARKET HAS BAD SLUMP

Wheat Breaks Sharply on Lower Cables and Good Crop Reports.

Flaxseed Declines on Heavy Liquidation and Light General Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 22.—The weakness was still more pronounced at the close. July wheat closed 1⅛@1¼c off; September 1¼c off and December 1⅛@1¼c off. July durum closed ⅝c off and September 1¾c off.

Oats closed ⅝c at 38c for on the track or 37¾c for to arrive. Rye closed steady at 60c and barley unchanged at 35@59c.

At Winnipeg, July oats closed at 39½c bid and October at 38¼c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis September wheat closed at 80½@80⅝c and calls at 80½@81⅜c.

A sharp decline in Liverpool cables and pressure entailed by the prospective heavy marketing of the record winter wheat crop were responsible for marked weakness in the wheat market today.

Advices from the southwest told of good progress in threshing through Kansas and Oklahoma, and Southern Kansas and Missouri, wheat cutting though there were rains in Northern and Missouri, wheat cutting had not been interfered with to any extent, while corn and oats had been greatly benefited. The receipt of nineteen cars of new wheat was reported at Kansas City yesterday. Conditions through the northwest are said by experts to be about the best ever known. The wheat plant has had sufficient moisture to carry it through for some time, and with warmer clearing weather now promised, the situation is regarded as satisfactory all around.

The break in the foreign markets was brought about by the weakness in America on Saturday and favorable crop news from Russia. Winnipeg was exceptionally weak in the new crop options, December opening 1⅞c down from Saturday.

Stocks of wheat in Duluth elevators as on Saturday, were reported at 2,071,987 bu. of all grades, a decrease of 987 bu. in the week. From that 1,038,661 bu. in the week. From that is to be deducted 147,000 bu. loaded out today. Last year at this time, stocks here amounted to 8,421,911 bu. Further charterings of boat space were reported today, so that in spite of liberal receipts for the season, supplies are getting down to the lowest notch in years.

July wheat opened ¼c off at 90¾c, and it declined ⅝c more up to the final hour. September opened ½c off at 83¼c and it broke ⅝c more. The December option opened ½c off at 84¼c, and weakened ¼c more.

July durum opened ¼c off at 89c and declined ¼c more. Special weakness developed in the September option. It opened ¼c off at 86c and broke 1⅛c more.

Flax Breaks Also.

Flaxseed followed the course of wheat around the opening. Prices were fractionally off at the start and then on the appearance of considerable liquidation, they broke sharply. It was noted that crushers were in the market at the low points, but that buying was not sufficient to stay the slump.

Final quotations showed declines of 1⅝@2⅛c in the day with the close at the bottom.

Foreign markets were only slightly down. Buenos Aires closing ⅜c off; London ⅝c off and Antwerp unchanged.

July flax opened ¼c off at $1.60⅝ and closed 2⅛c off at 158¾ bid. September opened unchanged at $1.62¾, and closed 2c off at $1.60¾. October opened unchanged at $1.62, and closed 1¾c off at $1.60½ bid, and the November option opened unchanged at $1.61¾ and closed 1¾c off at $1.60 asked.

At Winnipeg, July flax closed at $1.38½ bid and October at $1.42 bid.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—Easiness in America Saturday and larger world's shipments than expected, stimulated profit-taking at the opening and values ⅜@¾d lower with December leading the decline. Following the opening there was a further decline of ⅜ to ⅞d with July liquidation on private reports received of American harvesting returns being larger than expected and a belief of early shipments of winters. Cash here under pressure. Russian shipments were larger than expected and very favorable private wire reports received as to the condition outlook. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak ¾@1⅛d lower, July having recovered some of the decline with shorts covering and rumors of an increased continental demand.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Drop at Liverpool Puts Wheat Prices Way Down.

Chicago, June 22.—Wheat took a downward turn today influenced by falling quotations at Liverpool. The result was the lowest price level reached here so far on this year's crop. Commission houses were generally on the selling side, whereas buying was only of a scattered sort. There were reports of heavy acceptances of bids made from Chicago to country dealers. After the opening which was a shade to ⅝c lower, the market gave no sign of any important rally.

A further decline ensued owing to reports that never before had new wheat started from first hands in such volume as at present. The close was weak, 1 to 1¼c net lower.

Rainy weather and prospect of more weakened the price of corn. Besides, Eastern shipping call was said to be extremely poor. The start ranging from ⅛c off to ⅛c up, was followed by a sag, which was especially noticeable in the July delivery.

The smallness of the increase in visible supply helped check the decline. The close was weak at a net loss of ⅝@¾c to 1¼c.

Oats dropped with corn. Crop damage reports seemed to have lost their force.

Higher prices for hogs made provisions firm. Changes, however, were narrow.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Decision in Southern Pacific Oil Case Causes Activity.

Market Is Sluggish and Narrow Until Near the Close.

New York, June 22.—Speculation was active in Rock Island securities at the opening of the stock market today, but otherwise trading was featureless. Rock Island debentures were slightly higher, but the other bonds, which advanced on Saturday after announcement of the reorganization plan worked lower. The collaterals dropped back 1⅜ to 29½. These bonds, as well as the common stock, at 1⅞, and the preferred at 3¼, made new low records. The general market was steady with an improving tendency among the standard shares. By rising ⅝ to 59, Utah copper reached the highest of the year.

Efforts to revive bullish speculation by bidding up representative stocks met only with temporary success. Although the list improved slightly after the opening, prices were shaded later and by noon the average was fractionally under Saturday's close. Rock Island collaterals slumped to 28¾ below receiving support which carried them back to 30¾. Another engagement of gold for export amounting to $1,500,000 was announced. Sterling exchange was strong and higher. Bonds were irregular.

Attention was again directed toward Washington in the early afternoon with some hope that one or more of the important decisions affecting financial interests might be handed down. A sudden spurt of over a point in Southern Pacific followed the decision of the United States supreme court in favor of the Southern Pacific railroad regarding some of the latter company's oil holdings in California. There were contrary movements, however, Amalgamated and Western Union manifesting weakness. The 4 per cent bonds of the Chicago & Indiana Coal railway, which last week fell 27 points, today added another 10 points to their loss.

Sluggish and narrow movement characterized speculation in stocks today until the supreme court decision in the Southern Pacific Oil case galvanized the market into activity and strength. The closing was at the best.

Southern Pacific extended its rise to over 3 points on largely expanded dealings. Other stocks rose to a fractional extent.

PEACE PLANS TURNED DOWN BY CARRANZA

Breceda Says His Chief Will Not Accept Invitation.

Will Not Send Men to Meet the Huerta Agents.

Changes in Cabinet Are Regarded as Gains for Villa.

New Orleans, La., June 23.—Carranza will not accept the invitation of the United States government to send representatives to meet informally with agents of Huerta in any endeavor to select a provisional president of Mexico, according to a statement here today by Alfredo Breceda, private secretary to Gen. Carranza and a member of the latest commission Carranza is sending to Washington.

Fresh from a visit to Carranza, Fernando Iglesias Calderon, a leader of the Liberal party in Mexico, is en route to Washington to confer with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, not as a representative of Carranza, but as leader of the Liberal party. With Alfredo Breceda and R. F. Villaviciano, a Constitutionalist official of Saltillo, he arrived here yesterday and probably will leave for Washington tonight.

Calderon was emphatic today in his declaration that he would not represent Carranza in any negotiations that he might enter, either at Washington or at Niagara Falls. His traveling companions, however, stated that Calderon might act as go-between for the Constitutionalists in whatever negotiations he might be a party to.

Victory For Villa.

El Paso, Texas, June 23.—The removal of Gen. Trevino as Carranza's chief of staff, and of Ysidro Fabela, acting minister of foreign relations in the Constitutionalist cabinet, reported from Saltillo, was taken by revolutionists here today as a victory for the Villa faction. Both were said to have been opposed to Villa's southern campaign and in favor of the creation of the new military zone, which blocked his progress until Villa insisted on continuing his advance toward Mexico City.

The prospective appointment of Eduardo F. Hay as chief of staff was hailed as agreeable to both factions. Hay, now chief of staff to Gen. Iturbe in Sinaloa, won his spurs in the Madero revolution. He is a civil engineer and a graduate of the University of Notre Dame, Ind.

Ysidro Fabela, a young attorney of Mexico City, took a conspicuous part in drafting Carranza's notes to the Washington government and to Niagara Falls in connection with the Mexican mediation conference. It was predicted here that Luis Cabrera, now in Washington, will succeed him in the foreign relations portfolio.

HOYNE IS REFUSED BANK REPORT COPY

State Auditor's Action Halts Lorimer Bank Inquiry.

Chicago, June 23.—Plans of State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne for the investigation of the suspension of the La-Salle Street Trust & Savings bank and others of the Lorimer-Munday string of state banks were brought to a halt, at least temporarily, today, by the refusal of James J. Brady, state auditor, to turn over to Hoyne a copy of the report of Bank Examiner Daniel V. Harkin. Hoyne declared that the report was public record and that he could enforce its production.

FORMAL CLAIM TO NORTH POLE ASKED

Smith of New York Offers Resolution in the House.

Washington, June 23.—Congressional action to determine the priority of the discovery of the North Pole is proposed in a resolution prepared for introduction today by Representative Smith of New York. It declares that in view of the questions of scientific, commercial, economic and educational importance involved in the discovery of the North Pole, the unsettled right of United States citizens to participate in the fur, mining and other industries in the far north and the lack of any declaration by the United States government that an American "reached the North Pole in advance of any other explorer, the secretary of the navy is directed to prepare and transmit to congress a detailed report of his findings in regard to the discovery of the North Pole."

PART OF STREET IN BROOKLYN CAVES IN

One Man Is Killed in Accident in Subway Work.

New York, June 23.—Nearly half a block of sidewalk and superstructure over a new Brooklyn subway caved in today, burying more than twenty workmen, killing one and badly injuring six. A wagon and a team of horses were engulfed and one of the animals was killed. Many tons of debris filled the excavation and firemen and police reserves had to dig out the injured.

The superintendent and foreman of the job were arrested, pending an investigation.

Quebec, June 23.—Cardinal Begin of Quebec, Canada's first cardinal, arrived on the steamer La France last Friday, coming from Rome, where he went to receive his red hat. He was met by a delegation of clergymen and laymen from Quebec.

LIFE FIFTEEN YEARS LONGER

So Says Dr. Vaughn to American Medical Association.

He Predicts Bitter Criticism of Our Age By Historians.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 23.—At the first general session of the sixty-fifth annual convention of the American Medical association here today, Dr. Victor C. Vaughn was installed as president of the association, succeeding Dr. John A. Witherspoon of Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Vaughn made "The Service of Medicine to Civilization" the subject of his inaugural address.

"In the last century the average of human life has been increased by fifteen years, and this increase could be duplicated in the next twenty years," he said, "if the facts we now possess were effectively employed.

"The further developments of medicine, both curative and preventive, depend on scientific investigations. The public is the beneficiary and should in every way encourage medical research."

"The Best Government."

"The Federal government and the states should sustain and promote scientific research. That government is the best which secures for its citizens the greatest freedom from disease, the highest degree of health and the longest life; and that people which most fully secures the enjoyment of these blessings will dominate the world.

"We boast of a great civilization, but this is justified only within limits. The historian of the future will have no difficulty in convincing his readers that those who lived at the beginning of the twentieth century were but slightly removed from barbarism, as he will tell that the school, saloon and house of prostitution flourished in close proximity; that the capitalist worked his employes under conditions which precluded soundness of body; that the labor union man dynamited buildings; that whilst we sent missionaries to convert the Moslems and the Buddhist, ten thousand murders were committed annually in our midst, and that a large percentage of our mortality was due to preventable disease.

"In each state there should be a hygienic laboratory, equipped with able men supplied with facilities for the study of sanitaray conditions and for the prosecution of scientific research."

FLEE FROM FLOOD OF BURNING OIL

People of Meadowlands, Pa., Spend Night of Terror.

Washington, Pa., June 23.—After a night of terror, the people of Meadowlands, a little mining town near here, today returned to the homes they had yesterday forsaken when it seemed the village would be engulfed by a torrent of burning oil. Twenty-four families, rendered homeless by the fire or the dynamite used to check its progress, were camped on the hills until officers of the United Coal company could find them more comfortable shelter.

Doctors and constables mingled with the crowds in search of those who had been hurt in the panic last night, but no seriously injured were found. The oil in the tank, struck by lightning Sunday night, had burned itself out, although great masses of black smoke still rolled up from the spot where it had stood.

The tank, containing 25,000 barrels, resisted all efforts of firemen yesterday, and last night when an explosion scattered the oil, the other tanks in the vicinity were threatened. Scores of workmen diverted the flaming fluids in ditches and the town was saved. It was said the loss would reach $75,000.

Steamer and Scow Crash.

New York, June 23.—The United Fruit company liner Tenadores, inbound from West Indian ports, was in collision with a scow outside the harbor today. The scow was stove in. One of the Tenadores' plates was bent but she came up to her dock unassisted. There were forty passengers on board. No one was hurt.

RECOUNT ON AUDITORSHIP IS PROBABLE

Julius Block Enters Protest With State Canvassing Board.

He Claims Enough Second Choice Votes to Nominate Him.

Objects to His Name Being Arbitrarily Dropped By Board.

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A probable demand for a recount of the votes cast for the Republican nomination for state auditor and a possible attack on the second choice provision of the state primary law was foreshadowed this morning when Julius Block of Duluth, third in the race, protested to the state canvassing board against his name being dropped because of a lack of first choice votes.

Mr. Block, who was formerly state treasurer, this morning wired Secretary of State Schmahl and the state canvassing board as follows:

Protest Against Elimination.

"I have reasons to believe that I have received second choice votes enough to assure my nomination for state auditor. They should be counted by the board. I protest against my name being arbitrarily dropped on the face of returns of first choice votes."

J. A. O. Preus, to whom the Republican nomination for state auditor is conceded, and Henry Rines of Mora, his chief rival, were acquainted at an early hour with the contents of Mr. Block's telegram. Mr. Preus showed some uneasiness, but the Mora man met all queries regarding its purport with a smile. He was decidely noncommittal. He said he knew nothing regarding Mr. Block's intentions, either in the way of a recount or a possible attack on the second choice provision of the primary law.

Under the law Mr. Block, because of the fact that he is third in the race,

NO INDIAN LAND LID ON BEFORE OCTOBER

Bemidji Liquor Men Allowed to Ask Reargument of Case.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 23.—Just before adjournment for the present term, the United States supreme court yesterday granted counsel for the Bemidji liquor dealers permission to file an application for a reargument in the Indian liquor case within sixty days. This action of the court will result in a suspension until October of its decision that the "lid" should be placed on the territory covered by the Chippewa treaty of 1855.

Officials of the interior department and the Indian bureau are confident that the court will refuse to reconsider the case, but until formal action is taken they can take no steps towards enforcing the anti-liquor provisions of the treaty.

NOT GUILTY, NOR INNOCENT

Judge Speer Blamed But Not Impeached By Sub-Committee.

"Witnesses Dared Not Talk," Says Report—Volstead Dissents.

Washington, June 23.—"The subcommittee regrets its inability either to recommend a complete acquittal of Judge Speer of all culpability so far as these charges are concerned, on the one hand, or an impeachment, on the other hand."

This was the conclusion submitted to the house judiciary committee today by the special sub-committee that for months has been investigating charges of official misconduct filed against Emory Speer of Macon, Federal judge for the Southern district of Georgia.

The report, after an exhaustive resume of evidence with severe comments, held that some of Judge Speer's official actions "tend to approach a condition of tyranny and oppression," but recommended that no further proceedings be had by the house.

These conclusions now rest with the full committee on judiciary, which is expected to report them to the house for final disposition of the case before the adjournment of the present session of congress. The subcommittee comprises Representatives Webb, North Carolina, Fitzhenry, Illinois, Democrats, and Volstead of Minnesota, Republican.

Volstead Disagrees.

Mr. Volstead in a minority report, similarly declaring that there is no evidence warranting impeachment, attacks the majority of the subcommittee for criticizing a judge they declare not guilty of any impeachable offense.

Nineteen charges were filed with the committee. They alleged, among other things, that Judge Speer entertained

WISCONSIN G. O. P. RALLY

"Conservatives" Meet at Madison to Condemn High Taxes.

Five Candidates for Governor Already in the Field.

Madison, Wis., June 23.—"Conservative" Republicans from throughout Wisconsin gathered in Madison today to nominate a state ticket and adopt a platform with which to go before the primaries in September.

Political conventions in Wisconsin not being legal, it will be necessary for those named at today's gathering to secure the necessary number of signatures to petitions in order to insure their names being placed upon the primary ballot.

Up to date there are no fewer than five candidates for governor on the Republican ticket. Of these, W. H. Hatton, New London; Merlin Hull, Black River Falls, and Andrew H. Dahl, Westby, claim the support of the followers of United States Senator Robert La Follette on "good government" platforms. Henry F. Roethe of Fennimore is appealing to the farmers for support, and B. W. Ulman of the Eleventh district will ask for votes on a platform favoring a market commission measure.

Not All for La Follette.

Many of the leaders in today's gathering are known to be opposed to Senator La Follette.

E. L. Philipp of Milwaukee, it is expected, will open the convention this afternoon with a short address, setting forth the purpose of the gathering and naming James G. Monahan of Darlington as temporary chairman.

It is understood that John M. White-

ULSTER VOTE BY COUNTIES

Plan to Adjust Home Rule Is Offered to Lords.

Marquis of Crewe Offers Amendment—Situation Is Unique.

London, June 23.—The crisis in connection with the granting of home rule to Ireland entered another stage today when the marquis of Crewe, Liberal leader in the house of lords, introduced a bill to amend the Irish home rule bill.

By the new bill, the parliamentary electors of each county in Ulster are to be allowed to decide by vote whether the county shall be excluded from the provisions of the home rule bill for a period of six years from the first meeting of the Irish parliament.

The terms of the amending bill are identical with those offered on March 9 by Premier Asquith and contemptuously refused by Sir Edward Carson, the Irish Unionist leader, who described the premier's proposal as a "hypocritical sham."

Unparalleled in Britain.

The situation has never been paralleled in parliamentary procedure in the British Isles. Never before has a bill been presented to parliament to amend a measure not yet on the statute books. This was, however, the only means of overcoming the deadlock, as the house of lords refused to consider the main bill until the full proposals of the government were before it.

In introducing the amending bill, the marquis of Crewe dwelt much on the religious difficulties surrounding the question of Ulster, but while admitting the necessity for some form of exclusion for those who deemed themselves affected by the home rule bill, he contended that the exclusion of the entire province of Ulster would involve great injustice. The government consequently, he said, had reiterated in the amending bill Premier Asquith's proposal of exclusion by counties from the operation of the home rule measure.

CLASH AS TO BRIDGE HEARD AT CAPITAL

Duluth Men and Lenroot of Superior Before House Committee.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 23.—At a hearing before the house committee on interstate commerce today, Charles E. Adams, attorney for the St. Louis county commissioners, H. J. Mullin, president of the Duluth Automobile club, and Thomas McGilvray, former city engineer of Duluth, urged a favorable report on Representative Miller's bill authorizing the county of St. Louis to build across the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac.

The Duluth men informed the committee that the bridge was needed as a result of the state highway now under construction from the Twin Cities to the Head of the Lakes, and also for the accommodation of the residents of this suburb of Duluth.

Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin opposed the bill on the ground that the county should be compelled to build an approach to the bridge at the steel plant and thus make the new bridge unnecessary.

The committee took no action.

RAILROADS CANNOT CUT CANAL GAINS

Carriers Must Allow Benefits to Go to Whole Country.

Intermountain Rate Case Decision Is So Interpreted.

Also Has Bearing on Eastern Roads' Plea for Advance.

SHIPPERS MAY GET BACK $10,000,000.

Washington, June 23.—With the supreme court's decision sustaining the interstate commerce commission's intermountain rate orders, the way is opened for shippers to recover sums estimated as great as $10,000,000 from railroads which have been charging the old rates while the case was being fought through the courts. Reparation, if any, and the amount will have to be decided by the commission in a separate action.

Washington, June 23.—That the distribution throughout the country of the benefits of the Panama canal will rest with the interstate commerce commission, and not with the transcontinental railroads is one of the conclusions being drawn today from the supreme court's decision in the intermountain rate cases, in which the court upheld the orders of the commission.

It has been generally claimed that the Panama canal would reduce freight rates from Atlantic seaboard points to Pacific coast cities and vice versa, but questions of to what extent the railroads might allow interior points to share in the benefits of water competition enjoyed by the seaboard cities were in dispute. The decision of the court is that the commission will answer those problems, and that the railroads may simply proceed to haul the freight.

The Railroads' Claim.

The railroads fought for the right to adjust the trade balances among various sections of the country. The court found an answer to the whole controversy in the holding that congress had conferred on the railroads

WHAT IT COSTS TO RUN FOR OFFICE IN ST. LOUIS COUNTY

Candidates, Successful and Otherwise, Have Spent $6,800 to Date.

Magie and Meining Lead—Former Has Spent $808.

More than $6,800 has already been spent by St. Louis county candidates seeking office at the November election, according to expense statements which have been filed during the last few days at the office of County Auditor Odin Halden. Where nominations for the fall ticket were contested in the primaries, $6,283.33 was spent by the candidates in the race. Of this amount only $590 was for filing fees. Candidates not affected by the primaries, have already spent $530.61 of which $200 is for filing fees.

Run for Sheriff Costly.

The most costly race at the primaries was the contest for the nomination for sheriff. Frank L. Magie, one of the nominees, spent $808.68, and John R. Meining, the other nominee on the fall ticket, has filed a statement showing an expenditure to date of $777.26. Magie spent $244 for stamps alone Meining's bill for stamps was $185. All told, the race for the nomination for sheriff cost $1,944.34. The expense accounts of the various candidates follow:

Blackwood	$ 10.00
Johnson	156.20
Magie	803.68
Meining	777.26
Miller	192.20
Total	$1,944.34

Magie and Meining lead all other candidates who are seeking office in the amount of money expended to date.

Peter J. Borgstrom, a candidate for the nomination for register of deeds, spent the third highest amount in the primary contest. His statement shows an expenditure of $298.98 in his race against Charles Calligan, the incumbent and Benjamin F. Smith. Calligan and Smith were nominated. The expenditures for candidates in this contest were as follows:

Borgstrom	$289.98
Calligan	200.25
Total	$704.23

Primary election contests for nominations in both the Second and Sixth commissioner districts were costly to candidates. In the Sixth district where seven candidates were in the field, the amount expended was $965.65 and in the Second, where thirteen were in the contest, $943.80 was spent. In the Second district, however, the $10 filing fee of Wayland W. Sanford, a candidate who withdrew before his name went on the ballot and $38 which had been expended by the late John Tischer, whose death occurred during his candidacy are included in the total given.

Charles Pentilla, who was nominated as one of the candidates on the fall ticket in the Sixth commissioner district, spent $271.99 in making the primary race. Glode, an unsuccessful candidate, was second with an expenditure of $203.55. N. B. Shank, who was also nominated, was third high on the list. He spent $158.82. P. R. Cosgrove, who was a close third in the race for the nomination, expended only $66.80.

Sixth Commissioner District.

The list of candidates' expenditures in the Sixth commissioner's district is:

Cosgrove	$ 66.80
Erickson	11.10
Glode	203.55
Hawkinson	96.90
Nelson	156.49
Penttilla	271.99
Shank	158.82
Total	$965.65

Robert H. McQuade, who was unsuccessful in getting on the November ticket, set the pace for candidates in the Second district. He spent $151.17 in making the run. Anderson and Christenson, also numbered among the disappointed candidates, were second and third with expense accounts of $135.15 and $115.20. Thomas H. Little, who received the greatest number of votes, spent $77.05, and Fort Krisback, who was also nominated, expended $87.13.

The expense accounts of the various candidates follow:

Amon	$ 57.71
Anderson	135.15
Christensen	115.20
Collatz	51.0..
Cox	39.96
Dillon	38.55
Holder	49.96
Kribsback	87.13
Little	77.05
McQuade	151.17
Nossum	31.44
Osman	46.64
Stock	14.75
Sanford (withdrawn)	10.00
Tischer (deceased)	38.00
Total	$943.80

School Men Spend Little.

Fewer expenditures were made in the race for the nomination for county school superintendent than in any other primary contest. In all, $173.56 was spent, divided as follows: N. A. Young, nominated, $73; Arnold, also nominated, $63.52, and Forsell, unsuccessful, $37.04.

In the contest for nominations for representative in the Fifty-ninth legislative district, N. M. Triplett, an unsuccessful candidate, spent more than any one else in the race. The list of expenditures follow

Bernard (nominated)	$ 34.75
Foubister	10.04
Laukki	10.00
Mattson	45.20
Nelson (nominated)	67.91
Olsen	28.94
Triplett	86.98
Total	$283.82

Seven in Race.

In the Sixtieth legislative district, where Bessette, Collins, McNiven and Scott were nominated out of seven candidates in the race, the expenditures of those running were as follows:

Bessette	$69.35
Chance	11.83
Collins	10.00
Greaney	26.00
McNiven	12.33
Scott	41.54
Woods	22.00
Total	$191.20

J. W. Osborne, who was the only candidate who was not nominated for the fall ticket in the contest for the legislature in the Sixty-first district, spent $65.31. All other candidates spent twice this amount. The amounts expended by the various candidates are:

Gill	$110.36
Murphy	154.88
L. M. Osborn	226.84
J. W. Osborne	65.31
Sax	170.12
Total	$727.82

Legislative Contests.

In the contest in the Fifty-seventh legislative district for nominations for state senator, the total expenditures of candidates were $197.21, which includes a $10 filing fee paid in by Ray E. Hunt, who later withdrew from the race. The expenditures of the candidates who were on the ticket were as follows:

Kenny	$10.00
North (nominated)	54.09
Wheeler (nominated)	23.31

Close Run at Slight Cost.

Richard Jones, who lost the nomination for senator in the Fifty-eighth district by three votes, spent but $15 in making the attempt. Thomas M. Pug'h expended $131 and John R. Randall, who was also nominated for the fall ticket spent $95.70. All told, $241.70 was expended in this contest during the primaries.

Filing Fee Only.

D. T. Collins of Hibbing enjoys the distinction of being the only candidate who was successful at the primaries who made no expenditures except the required one filing fee. He was nominated on the fall ticket as a candidate for representative in the Sixtieth district.

Other candidates at the primaries who expended only the required $10 filing fee were E. J. Kenny, candidate for representative in the Fifty-seventh district; Leo Laukki, a candidate for representative in the Fifty-ninth, and Edward Blackwood, candidate for sheriff.

J. E. Foubister, candidate for representative in the Fifty-ninth spent $.04 in postage, this being the only expenditure outside of his filing fee. Chance, a candidate for representative in the Sixtieth spent $1.83 more than his filing fee, and Erickson, a candidate for commissioner in the Sixth district, exceeded the $10.00 mark by $1.10 of which $1 was spent for notary fees in making out his returns of expenses to the county auditor, and $.10 for the necessary postage in sending it in.

In cases where no contests for nominations developed at the primary election, some candidates who will go on the fall ticket have already turned in their expense statements to the county auditor showing $530.61 already spent.

Although no one will oppose him as a candidate for the office of state senator in the Sixtieth district at the fall election, O. H. Griggs turned in a statement to the county auditor showing an expenditure of $93.45. Of this amount, all but $10, the filing fee, was unnecessarily squandered.

The list of other expenditures of candidates follows: Grant McMahon, candidate for commissioner in the Fourth district, $38.20; John E. Porthans, $29.64; George M. Peterson for senator in the Fifty-ninth, $88.66; Edward Hatch, candidate for county auditor, $12.82, and County Auditor Halden for re-election, $137.84.

Plans for a residence estimated to cost $30,000 have already been prepared by a local architect.

DOG DIGS UP BODY OF BUTCHERED BABY

Takes First the Torso and Then an Arm to Boy.

Staples, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A fox terrier, carrying the dismembered trunk of a baby girl from a swamp, has revealed a gruesome tragedy in Byron township, twelve miles northeast of here. Later the dog brought to the 12-year-old son of a farmer named Mannik, an arm, which had been rudely chopped from the body. The elder Mannik reported the case and today County Attorney Ed Rogers, Deputy Sheriff Mack Kennedy with Coroner E. F. Miskella of Cass Lake, are on the scene. The baby is believed to have been twelve hours old before being killed.

STILL SEEK COMPROMISE IN SELLWOOD WILL CASE

Another postponement of the Sellwood will contest hearing which was granted in probate court this morning is generally regarded to be an indication that negotiations for a settlement are still in progress. Attorneys who are interested in the case have intimated that a compromise is brewing, but have refused to disclose any further information on the subject.

During the last three or four days attorneys who have been engaged in the case, have frequently consulted the files and exhibits which are on file in the will contest case at the office of the judge of probate and it is believed that the purpose of the investigation is to obtain data which might assist in an inventory of the estate, which has been variously estimated at $700,000 to $3,500,000.

PULP RATES ARE LOWERED

All Parties Compromise on a Three-Quarter Cent Rate.

Only Question of Reparation to Shippers Left to Be Settled.

By a compromise made shortly before noon today, the shippers, carriers and consignees connected with the hearing started in Federal court yesterday before G. S. Gibson, examiner of the interstate commerce commission, all agreed on a differential of three-quarters of a cent per hundred pounds between Duluth and Superior and Wisconsin mills, and the Wisconsin dealers waived all right to any reparation from the railroads. It is now left to the shippers to secure any overpayments that might be found to have occurred in shipments from points of origin north of Duluth.

Wisconsin Men Complain.

Last summer the interstate commerce commission, conducted a hearing in Chicago and at that time the pulpwood rates were reduced. The charge of 1½ cents per one hundred pounds from Duluth to Superior was reduced to 1 cent, but this was considered excessive by the Wisconsin pulp and paper manufacturers and they intervened in the present hearing, asking for a reduction and also reparation from the railroads, as claimed by the shippers.

As a result of the compromise made today, the Wisconsin manufacturers waive all claim to any reparation that may be decided upon by the interstate commerce commission at a future date. It was agreed that the rate from Duluth to Superior shall in the future be ¾ cents and this compromise will be brought before the commission for a final approval. It is expected that the commission will concur with the compromise made between the shippers, carriers and consignees of pulpwood.

Immediately following the announcement of a compromise, which came shortly after a recess of fifteen minutes had been requested by C. C. Wright, attorney for the Chicago & Northwestern and Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroads, and Ernest E. Watson & Abernethy, attorneys for the shippers, it was decided to continue the hearing, in so far as the reparation requested by the shippers from payments made on shipments from points of origin into Duluth is concerned. The Wisconsin dealers have waived all claims to any reparation that may be forthcoming in this state, so that the matter will be taken up this afternoon between the shippers and the carriers.

Hearing Will Adjourn.

Mr. Gibson will adjourn the hearing at the close of the afternoon session until a future date, Thursday at the earliest as Mr. Watson, attorney for the shippers, has a case in the state supreme court at St. Paul tomorrow.

The hearing was begun yesterday morning and the following shippers are included as claimants for reparation and for the reduction of the freight rate, the latter having been effected by the compromise this morning: Curry & Whyte company, Duluth Timber Supply company, Duluth Log company, Zenith Cedar company, Martin Bros., Finch Bros., Northland Tie company, Saari Bros., P. H. Martin and W. D. Williams.

The defendant railroads are: Duluth & Iron Range; Duluth, Missabe & Northern; Duluth & Rainy Lake; Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific; Duluth & Northern Minnesota; Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; Chicago & Northwestern; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha; Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, Northern Pacific and Great Northern.

Representing the shippers is Ernest E. Watson of Watson & Abernethy of St. Paul. The Wisconsin Pulp and Paper Manufacturers' association was represented by Felix J. Streychmans of Chicago. With the compromise effected this morning his intervention suit was ended and he will leave for his home this evening. C. C. Wright of the Chicago & Northwestern and Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroads, is conducting the defense for the roads, each of which, however, is represented by its respective attorney. Paul H. Welch of Duluth, attorney for the D., M. & N. and the D. & I. R. roads, conducted the defense for the roads this morning and assisted Mr. Wright. The other attorneys here are: J. T. Pearson, Duluth, Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific; James D. Sheehan, Chicago, C., St. P., M. & O., and A. H. Losser, Minneapolis, Soo line. The roads are also represented by their traffic managers.

Shippers Want Reparation.

The only matter to be settled now is between the shippers and carriers, the former demanding an indemnity for what they claim was overcharged in shipments of pulpwood made from points of origin to Duluth. The claimants declare that the freight rates on pulpwood are greater than those on saw logs. Should any reparation be ordered, it is expected that this amount will total nearly $200,000, the money will go to the various shippers in this suit.

D. J. Curry of Curry & White, Duluth, was called yesterday afternoon, and he testified as to the future shipments from the range and the possible cost to shippers in the event of no reduction being ordered. The fact that shipments are made in most cases f. o. b. Duluth caused quite an argument during the session, and resulted in a lively tilt between Mr. Curry and Mr. Wright. The point was raised by Mr. Wright that rates between Duluth and Wisconsin points would only indirectly affect the shippers, and that the rate to Duluth should concern them.

This morning J. T. Wallstein of Tower, a shipper of pulpwood, testified for the claimants. He reiterated the statements made by Mr. Curry, but declared also that many shipments were made to points in Wisconsin f. o. b. Tower, instead of Duluth. He testified also that there is enough pulpwood at the various stations near Tower to assure business for ten or twelve years to come.

It was following the testimony of Mr. Wallstein that a recess was requested by the attorneys. It was then that the compromise was effected and the matter settled, so that there is only a question as to the reparation on overpayments that may have been made by shippers to Duluth from points north of this city.

BRIGHT LIGHTS LEAD TO CELL

Kramer Hotel Man "Paints" Two Cities; Passes Worthless Checks.

Bright lights and taxicabs proved the undoing of Nick Tomick, 24 years old, who claims to own a hotel at Kramer and who was arrested this morning on a charge of passing worthless checks in Duluth and Superior.

Tomick pleaded guilty when arraigned in police court shortly before noon, but the court continued sentence until tomorrow, pending an investigation. Tomick claims that he owns a hotel and that he will sell the hostelry to meet the overdrafts on his account in a bank at Two Harbors.

Two checks, one for $35 in payment for taxicab rides and the other to be cashed, were made payable to Asa Lyons, taxicab driver, while three, totaling $45, were cashed by John Carlson, a saloon keeper. It is claimed that Tomick also cashed several checks in Superior and it is partly for this reason that sentence was continued, so that the officers may have an opportunity of finding these checks.

Tomick came to Duluth several days ago, he told the police.

THIRD AUTO IS REPORTED STOLEN

Two of the Cars Are Found But One Is Still Missing.

Henry Bridgeman of Forty-seventh avenue east and London road reported to the police shortly before noon that his automobile was taken out of the garage sometime last night and left standing in front of his residence. His chauffeur made the discovery upon going to the garage this morning, Mr. Bridgeman said. The automobile showed considerable usage and it is believed the thieves ran the car all over the city for several hours, before returning it to the owner.

Two other cars were stolen last night, one of these, the property of A. M. McDougall, was found early this morning by a policeman. The other is still missing.

Hibbing, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Otto Berglund, boarding housekeeper at the Stevenson location, will have to be satisfied with $20 for the $630 he claims to have lost in a game of "twenty-one" in the saloon of E. J. Johnson of Stevenson, April 25, last, according to the verdict rendered in district court here. Berglund sued for the whole amount he claimed to have lost in a game with Johnson and a friend.

The case of Richard Terrill vs. the Virginia Brewing company to recover $5,800 for the death of his young son, Russell Terrill, who was killed by a delivery sleigh of the defendant, which began in district court yesterday, is still on trial, the plaintiff not being through yet.

DIES AT RIPE AGE.

Mrs. Johanna Lundgren, 82, Passes Away After Short Illness.

Mrs. Johanna Olivia Lundgren, 82 years old, died at 1 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hilden Wiking, 305 East First street, following a short illness.

She was born in Sundsvall, Sweden, and came to this country about twenty-five years ago, shortly after the death of her husband. Up to 1912 she made her home with her son, Abel Lundgren of Marinette, moving to Duluth at that time to live with Mrs. Wiking. She leaves three sons and one daughter. They are A. G. Lundgren of Superior, L. G. Lundgren of Minneapolis, Abel Lundgren of Marinette and Mrs. Wiking of Duluth.

The body will be taken to Marinette tomorrow for interment there Thursday.

PRESBYTERY HOLDS REGULAR MEETING.

The presbytery of Duluth district churches held a short meeting yesterday at the First Presbyterian church. Representatives from all churches of the district were present. Only routine business was transacted. The resignation of Rev. H. A. Neff, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Virginia, was accepted, and he will close his pastorate there next Sunday. No one has yet been selected to fill his vancancy.

WIDOW CALLED AT AGE OF 86.

Mrs. Mary Birmingham, 86 years old, who had been living all alone in a small house at 2100 Minnesota avenue, Park Point, for several years, died yesterday afternoon following a short illness.

She was a widow, her husband, William Birmingham, having died here several years ago. No living relatives are known.

The funeral will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Sacred Heart cathedral, and interment will be at the Park Hill cemetery.

YOUNG WOMAN WILL NOT BE DEPORTED.

Ella Anderson, who was taken into custody by Sergt. Roberg of the police department and placed in the municipal lodging house, pending action by the immigration officers, has been released and no further effort will be made to deport her.

The immigration authorities claimed that she had been making her home with Axel Hanson, a shoemaker at 228 West Second street, and that the latter's wife had separated from him.

Hanson claims that the young woman has been acting as his housekeeper only, and that there was nothing immoral in their relations. He stated that he was supporting his wife, although they had separated, and that during the last few weeks the young woman had been preparing his meals.

GETTING READY FOR BIG PARIS FIGHT

Paris, June 23.—Jack Johnson and Frank Moran today began to reduce their training activities with the approach of June 27, the date of the contest for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The champion has cut down his long walks and has lightened his boxing and other work. Moran took things easily and was cheered by the receipt of a batch of letters wishing him success.

At the Velodrome d'Hiver, where the fight will take place, workmen today began arranging the seats in preparation for a large crowd, among which the nobility will be represented.

So far there has been little betting on the bout. The odds on what money was offered today were in favor of Johnson.

COOLEY SUSPENDED BY WESTERN LEAGUE.

Denver, Colo., June 23.—It was uncertain today whether the game scheduled between the Denver and Topeka teams of the Western league would be played. As the result of a clash yesterday James C. McGill, owner of the Denver team, announced that Dick Cooley, the Topeka manager, would not be permitted on the grounds today. Cooley said his team was ready to go ahead with the game but that he would not submit to being barred from the grounds. McGill telegraphed President Norris L. O'Neill at the league headquarters at Chicago demanding Cooley's suspension on the charge of using improper language before the spectators at yesterday's game.

The Denver management charges the Topeka players that, when it began raining they deliberately tried to prolong the fourth inning in yesterday's game in order to prevent the playing of the four and one-half innings necessary for a valid game. Denver was in the lead.

After the shower the game was completed, Denver winning by a score of 17 to 5.

Chicago, June 23.—Manager Cooley of the Topeka club was notified of his suspension today by President O'Neill of the Western league, pending investigation of charges that he made his men delay the game at Denver yesterday. The suspension followed the receipt of dozens of telegrams from Denver, complaining against Cooley's actions during the contest, and not only were the telegrams from Denver club officials, but from women "fans" and newspaper men.

The telegrams charged Cooley with improper language.

OLYMPIC CONGRESS ENDS SESSIONS

Baseball Rejected But Rugby Football Is Permitted in Games.

Paris, June 23.—Baseball was today rejected as one of the sports at the Olympic games to be held in 1916 at Berlin.

James E. Sullivan, head of the American delegation, requested that baseball be included, but the president, Baron Pierre de Coubertin, reminded him that it was necessary, in order to have baseball considered an international sport, that six countries should play the game.

The congress passed unanimously on motion by the Rev. Robert Stuart de Courcy Laffan, chairman of the English delegation that:

"Each sport shall have an international federation controlling that sport and if no federation exists, by the committee of organization of the Olympic games. Track judges shall be appointed by the country where the games are held."

The congress also decided that notification of the number of entries must be made to the committee agents in advance and the names of the entrants fifteen days in advance. Archery and rugby football were adopted as permissible sports.

After limiting the duration of the Olympic games to three weeks instead of two months, the congress closed its sessions.

The electrical process of tanning leather has been in experimental use in England for some time, and it has now reached a stage of development that warrants its adoption on a commercial basis.

EBERHART WILL TALK

To Issue Statement Covering the Recent Primary Election.

Can Nominees Select Committee Without Presence of Quorum?

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Eberhart, who is now in the East, will return about June 25, and his home-coming will be followed by a statement covering the recent primaries in which he was distanced by his rival, W. E. Lee. George F. Authier, private secretary, made the announcement this morning.

"We are all Republicans here," said Mr. Authier, "and the governor's statement will be in keeping with that stand. I do not know what the governor will say, but I do not think that the enemy will be able to take much encouragement from it."

W. E. Lee was a caller at the state capitol yesterday. He visited all the offices but that of governor. Mr. Lee refused to say who was his choice for state chairman. The gossips today, however, are crediting his preference to either Henry Rines of Mora or W. O. Clure, Mr. Lee's campaign manager.

An Important Question.

Under the law the nominees of the several parties will meet Thursday at the state capitol and name a state central committee. In the case of the two dominant parties, the Republicans and the Democrats, quite a number of the candidates will be missing, and this fact has prompted the question whether or not in the absence of a quorum can such a committee be named. The question also has been asked, can proxies be used? Both questions have been put up to Attorney General Smith.

In the case of the Republican nominees, none of the candidates for congress, with the possible exception of one, will be present. The two United States senators will also be among the missing. This will mean a minority gathering, and the question as put up to the attorney general regarding the need of a quorum is considered important. Attorney General Smith has promised to have an answer ready by tomorrow.

CHURCH HOLDS BANQUET

Asbury Congregation Celebrates Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

A banquet featured the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, last night. The affair was attended by about 200 guests.

Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the church, was toastmaster. The principal address was given by Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Paul. The bishop spoke on the progress of the church during the last quarter century.

The program also included musical numbers and an address by Rev. M. P. Burns, superintendent of the Duluth district for the Methodist church.

This evening a special program has been arranged for the young people. Motion pictures will be a feature of the program.

LOSS OF STEAMER WILL BE PROBED.

New Orleans, La., June 23.—The loss at sea of the steamship J. O. Ellison will be investigated at a Federal inquiry to be held here tomorrow. The inquiry will be conducted by Inspectors Kelly and Bean, stationed at New Orleans.

The Ellison foundered on June 15, 150 miles south and 69 degs. east of South Pass lighthouse. Capt. Lawrence and crew of twelve put off in lifeboats and were picked up by the schooner Helen W. Martin. They were transferred to the steamer Antilles and arrived here yesterday.

MEET TO CONSIDER NEW MISSOURI CODE.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 23. — The Missouri code commission, recently appointed by Governor Elliott W. Major to make recommendations for the reform of judicial procedure throughout the state, met here today in a special session called by the governor.

At today's meeting the commissioners considered plans for obtaining enough signatures to initiative petitions to put the proposed amendment to the vote of the people of the state next fall.

HIBBING COAL BIDS.

EASILY REMEDIED.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Gathered around the campfire the other night they were talking about the country hotels they had collided with when Congressman Charles L. Bartlett of Georgia, told of an experience that a commercial traveler had down east.

Compelled to remain in a small town overnight the commercial traveler sought what appeared to be the best hotel in the place and was assigned to a room on the second floor.

In the beginning everything seemed to be all right, but just as the salesman was about to retire a life size rat galloped across the bedroom floor, followed by another rat and then more rats. Downstairs went the salesman with some speed.

"Look here," he cried to the proprietor, in a voice of mingled indignation and reproach, "I can't sleep in that room!"

"What's the matter," was the wonderling response of the proprietor, "ain't ye sleepy?"

"It's rats," answered the salesman. "The room seems to be full of them."

"Oh, that's easily fixed," cheerfully said the proprietor, turning to an employe. "Sam, take a cat up to No. 12."

DAIRY COW IN LIMELIGHT

Leading Stock Experts of the West Will Gather Here.

Coming at Own Expense for Worthy Purpose, Says Craig.

Joseph E. Wing of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, editor of the Breeders' Gazette, Henry Wallace of Des Moines, editor of Wallace's Farmer, two of the leading breeding authorities in the world, will arrive in the city tomorrow morning to take an advance survey of the agricultural and cattle conditions in this part of the country in preparation for their addresses at the breeders' conventions to be held here on Thursday and Friday of this week.

These conventions will be—on Thursday—that of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association; and—on Friday—that of the Guernsey Breeders' Association of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. An elaborate program is being prepared for the affairs, which, coming on consecutive days, will be attended by delegates to both conventions.

Aside from the notables mentioned as coming tomorrow morning, there will be others. Concerning them, C. P. Craig said:

"I would like to impress on the business men of Duluth the importance and sacrifice of these noted men in the breeders' world, who are coming to Duluth without pay, buf wholly for the good of breeding, and for the dairying development. There is a sordid side to the affair too. These men, authorities in their line, and leading writers, will, when they have seen the possibilities of this county, write about it to effect. I estimate that we will have a circulation of 1,000,000 copies of dairy journals advertising our country as a result of these conventions. But aside from that, these authorities are coming to tell us how to develop and conduct a dairy country, and without remuneration. It is surely up to the business men to turn out to entertain them. I would feel rather sick were only a corporal's guard to turn out to see that these men are entertained.

Serious Purpose.

"They are not coming here to have a good time; nor to be on a 'jamboree,' but for the purpose of giving us the benefit of their skilled knowledge and information. I hope that the dinner to be held here on Thursday evening will be well attended by business men of the city, and that the leading men will do everything in their power to see that our distinguished visitors are shown the city and the surrounding country. They will lose nothing by such time from their business; and they will gain much."

Aside from those already mentioned, there will be present such authorities as Dean Woods of the state agricultural university, A. J. Glover, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, the Elisha to Governor Hoards Elijah, Prof. Van Pelt of Kimball's Dairy Farmer; D. A. Wallace, Henry Wallace's son and editor of The Farmer of St. Paul; Hugh J. Hughes, editor of The Farm Stock & Home of Minneapolis, and Prof. H. R. Smith of the state agricultural school, and others.

The meeting of Friday will be of the greatest interest to the dairy development of Northern Minnesota and particularly that part surrounding Duluth, which is considered by those who have investigated it, one of the greatest dairy countries on the globe. It is therefore urged that there be a strong representation of business men and farmers from this section in order that nothing may be lost from the information and enthusiasm that is bound to result from the meeting.

The agricultural committee of the Commercial club held a meeting at noon today, and there was a very representative gathering, and large in number. This meeting resulted in a program for Friday, and all those interested are urged to be at the club at 9 o'clock in the morning in order that they may get acquainted "all hands 'round" and then be ready for the business of the day.

From the club they will go to the Jean du Luth farm, and it is expected that they will arrive there about 10 o'clock. They will then inspect the farm and stock of the Jean du Luth, and at 11 o'clock there will be a meeting of the Farmers' clubs of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin, which form the Guernsey Breeders' Associations of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. A picnic luncheon will be the feature of the noon hour. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the Guernsey Breeders' association will be called to order by President C. P. Craig and at 1:30 an address of interest will be given by W. H. Caldwell, secretary of the American Guernsey Breeders' association, who will come here from Brattleboro, Vt. He will be followed by Joseph E. Wing, A. J. Glover and Charles L. Hill. Following that will be dairy stock judging and a demonstration by G. P. Grouth of the Jean du Luth farm and W. H. Caldwell and others. The meetings promise to be the most important in the dairy history of Northern Minnesota, and all farmers and Northern Minnesota men are urged to attend.

JUST A PINCH OF SALT.

Some of the Thousand and One Ways in Which It Can Serve Housewife.

New York Tribune: Only a pinch of salt, yet what a difference it makes in the flavor of the dish that we are preparing! We all know that salt is indispensable to the human body, yet we seldom think of it as a cleanser, or as a first aid to the housewife.

A pinch of salt added to coffee, or chocolate, improves the flavor greatly. A little bit of salt thrown into any pudding makes it more appetizing. A little salt in custard keeps it from drying and caking, and adds to the flavor.

Salt added to apples or apple sauce alters the flavors of the apples. Some housewives, in preparing apples for baking, add salt instead of sugar, and stuff the apples with ground ham or a slice of bacon.

Eggs which are to be beaten, or cream that is to be whipped, will foam more readily if a pinch of salt is added.

Place salt in the oven under the pastry pans or tins to prevent the scorching of the contents of the pan. To prevent an omelet from sticking, or burning, sprinkle salt on the bottom of the hot pan, then turn it out, wipe with a dry cloth and proceed to make the omelet.

Some housewives in order to hurry the cooking of food in a double boiler, add salt to the water in the outer boiler. Salt added to water in which desserts, candies, or puddings are cooled will hasten the cooling process.

Salt is a great aid in putting out fire. When one uses a gas stove for broiling purposes the grease or drippings from the meat often catch fire. Sometimes the servant is careless and forgets to clean the dripping pan, consequently when the oven is again lighted a fire is the result. In either instance, or when the grease in the frying pan is burning, salt will stop the mischief.

Many housewives will be glad to know that a pinch of salt will prevent the spluttering of candles.

Place the candles in the ice box two or three hours before they are to be used, rub salt on the forefinger and thumb, then rub the wick of the candle between them. Be sure to see that all salt is removed from wax part of candle. The result will be clear, even burning.

Salt stacked about the base of the candle of paper lanterns, which may be used in some homes, will prevent the paper from catching on fire.

A teaspoonful of salt added to the kerosene in a small lamp, or a tablespoonful of salt added to that in a large lamp, will cause it to give a more brilliant light and will lessen the chances of smoking.

Nearly every housewife uses salt to set the color in wash fabrics. All use salt to remove spots. Salt and lemon juice will remove iron rust. During these winter days when it is impossible to put the garment in the sun, if salt and lemon juice are spread over the mouth of the teakettle, the steam will do the work of the sun and air.

A mixture of salt and flour will remove mudstains. The mud should be thoroughly brushed out first, the stain covered with the mixture and the garment kept in a dark place. Lemon juice and salt are well known agencies for the removal of mildew.

AN INVENTOR'S FLIRTATIONS WITH DEATH.

Hudson Maxim Saved His Life By Acting on Impulse When a 10-Inch Gun Was Being Tested.

Hudson Maxim in the Youth's Companion: One of the most thrilling adventures in my experience took place at the government proving grounds at Sandy Hook, N. J., when the United States government was testing maximite before adopting it.

Near a light frame building in which I was filling shells with maximite, a 10-inch gun was being tested. A number of shots had been fired from the big gun. Just as I had concluded my work and started for the wharf to take the government tug for New York, the signal was sounded for another shot. I was walking along a stretch of railway track directly behind the gun.

At that instant I remembered that several years before, when one of these guns was being tested, the breechblock had blown out, passed through the bombproof and killed six officers and men; but I argued with myself that the chance was infinitely remote that the breechblock would be blown out of the present gun on this discharge, at the very instant I was in range.

A Fortunate Impulse.

The testing of those guns had been for years a frequent occurrence, and only once had such an accident happened. Nevertheless, upon a sudden impulse, I ran with all my might.

The gun was discharged. I looked around just in time to see the huge breechblock pass through a building near the one in which I had been at work. It came up the track, striking and breaking one of the rails over which I had passed. It ricochetted against the top of the old granite fort, and glanced high into the air. A shower of stones and debris fell over a wide area, and many fragments struck the ground close to me.

I walked back to the scene of the accident, and found that the windows in the little building, where I had been filling maximite shells, were completely riddled with partly burned cinders of smokeless powder that had been blown from the gun.

A Ship Was in Danger.

I once had another curious experience at Sandy Hook during some trials of the Maxim automatic machine gun.

Among the severe tests to which the gun was subjected was one intended to simulate what might occur in making a landing upon the seashore, where the mechanism of the gun might get filled with sand. The test is known as the "sand test."

The gun being tested at the time was of the kind using black gunpowder cartridges, for it was before the introduction of smokeless powder. There was so much energy in the recoil of the barrel that a great deal of sand could be thrown into the mechanism without interfering with the working of the gun.

The commanding officer did not arrive to see the gun fired until after the board in charge had completed the test. He then appeared, and demanded that the firing should be continued for his benefit. The chairman of the experimental board demurred, saying that the gun had passed through the test admirably, and that it was too bad to fire it more than was absolutely necessary, with its mechanism filled with sand. But the commander insisted.

A schooner was approaching near the line of fire. The commander said he only wanted to see a few rounds fired, and that the firing would be completed before the schooner would come within the range. Accordingly a belt of 333 rounds was inserted, and the firing began. After perhaps fifty rounds were fired, the command was given, "Cease firing," but the gun kept right on. It afterward proved that the trigger was blocked by sand, so that it was impossible to stop the gun. The schooner came into range, and the bullets flew over and round her.

My assistant, who was firing the gun, did his best to work the trigger and stop it. It did not occur to him on the instant to unlimber the gun and swing it round so as to bring the schooner out of range. As the gun fired at the rate of 750 shots a minute, the firing was all over inside of half a minute.

Fortunately no damage was done. When the same gun was undergoing a sand test at Annapolis, Md., I came very near being killed by it.

The Gun Came to Life.

The gun had passed successfully through a severe sand test, but the officer in charge wanted to see whether he could put enough sand into the gun to stop it. So he had the gun box filled full. The gun fired about 150 rounds, and then stopped. My assistant threw down the safe—that is to say, locked the trigger, so that it could not be pulled—and began clearing the gun box.

Thinking that the gun was safe, I was just about to step round in front of it. Suddenly it fired a dozen or more shots so close to me that my clothes were seared by the powder gases.

One of the tests made at Annapolis was to fire a Maxim gun vertically into the air. We had fired a couple of hundred shots in this manner, when something struck very near us. It then occurred to the officer in charge that what goes up must necessarily come down. Firing ceased, and we sought cover for a few minutes to avoid the leaden rain.

WASTE.

Josephine Goldmark in the Survey: Innate in most of us is the dislike of waste. It offends us. Throwing food away, for instance, is obnoxious to most persons normally inclined. Worse than waste of matter is waste of energy, waste of human effort. It does more than offend—it outrages.

The girls who operate laundry machinery, bearing down with all their weight upon the foot treadles of the "body-ironers" and "pressers," work hard. How hard, a tested scale showed in the latest government investigation of women's work.

For ten hours a day they expended about 100,000 pounds foot-pressure per hour. This is not guess work; it is arithmetic. The scale showed at certain machines 100 pounds pressure at each tread of the girl operators. They made 16 treads per minute.

The test was tried in Milwaukee, where Miss Obenauer of the Federal bureau of labor statistics investigated 31 power laundries in co-operation with the state industrial commission of Wisconsin. Nor is this an extreme statement. Conditions described in Milwaukee can be found in most towns and cities throughout the country.

Now, if the Milwaukee investigation had done no more than record these pressures accurately, a service would have been rendered. But it did more. Far more significant, far more arresting, was the discovery that much of this effort was unnecessary.

This too was simply proven. The investigators forced down the treadles of certain machines until the garment in process of being ironed received the "finish" or gloss necessary to pass muster. The scale attached to the treadle showed that, unknown to the workers unknown to the employers themselves, a needless exertion of from 25 to 30 pounds was put forth at each tread, "amounting," says the report, "to a wasted exertion of 270,000 to 288,000 pounds in a ten-hour day." Here we have an index in cold figures of the wasted muscular effort of one girl during one day.

AUNT LINDY'S "HOME."

Plain, every-day household errands brought about the contacts with poverty which so stirred an Indiana woman that she could not stop until she had aroused the whole state to enact a housing law. Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon tells of one of these experiences in The Survey:

"I drove down past the heart of town, near one of the railroad stations, to hunt for Aunt Lindy, an old colored washwoman who had moved. I found her sitting in the door of a dilapidated rear dwelling that faced a dirty alley, looking so out of place, in her white turban and spotless apron, that I could but express my surprise. 'Yas'm,' she said, bobbing up. 'I sho' do feel misplaced, but I'se fixin' to move agin jes' as soon as I kin fine a bettah house.'

"Through the open door I could see the neat bed and the clean bare floor. But flakes of soot were falling like black snow, clouds of dust poured in from the street, and the slime of the alley ran to her very doorstep.

"'I don't see how you manage to keep everything so clean,' I said.

"'I wuks ma fingahs off, dat's how,' she responded, and poured out her disgust for the miserable place. Six families fought over one cistern, there was no place to pour the suds but into the alley, by the doors; a cess pool reeked by her windows, rats overran the place, bad neighbors fought and caroused. While she talked, I gazed up the alley, where pickaninnies were hopping over garbage pails with white children of their own age.

"When she brought my bundle of laundry I was amazed to see the snowy miracle she had wrought, in such a place.

"As I left the alley there came over me that depressing feeling I had felt in the neighborhood of the river hotel. I wiped the black alley mud off my feet, as an outward sign of that indefinite contamination, but the Shadow clung to me and followed me, just as did the foul smells of the alley."

ATTEMPTS TO PROVE ILLEGITIMATE BIRTH

FRAU ISOLDE BIEDLER.

Frau Isolde Biedler of Bayreuth is engaged in the rather remarkable task of trying to prove that she is an illegitimate child. Her mother, Frau Cosina Wagner, was the wife of von Buelow when she met and loved Richard Wagner. It was the general understanding that the three children born after their meeting and before her divorce from her first husband were Wagner's children, and daughter Isolde, who married Herr Biedler, has gone through life calling herself "Biedler, nee Wagner." It appears that a good deal of money is involved in the determination of the question whether Isolde was really "nee Wagner" or "nee von Buelow." Frau Wagner has revived all the old scandal by insisting that Isolde and her sister were really the children of her first husband and not of Richard Wagner. The German people are reported to be rather sick of the scandal.

BOUILLON CUBES ARE NOT FOOD.

Journal of the American Medical Association: Advertising literature in which catch phrase display lines form a conspicuous feature shows the novel expression "bouillon cubes" among the more recent innovations. The thinking part of the purchasing public have by this time been educated into an appreciation of the limitation of extract meat as a source of nourishment of the human body. There was a time when beef extract was looked on as embodying the very essence of nutrition. The fact is that it is a flavoring agent, and, in the words of a well-known writer on dietetics, "its proper place is in the kitchen and not by the bedside." However widely this fact may deserve appreciation and even seem to receive it at present, the American public is a gullible one. From the claim that extract of meat—to quote some actual instances of misbranding—is "a concentrated food that represents the nourishing constituents of fresh beef," or "a combination of all the strengthening and stimulating properties of prime lean beef," or "the most perfect form of concentrated food known," it has been a short step to another suggestive type of advertising. Now it is to the category of the "brain fag" relievers that the extract meat in its up-to-date guise of bouillon cubes has been consigned by the present day exploiter. Undue claims of nutritive superiority are no longer made, but the meat extractives have joined the brigade of ready relief specifics which are intended to enable the jaded worker to finish his day's task. At any rate, the role of the bouillon as stimulant alone is implicitly recognized in this latest enterprise.

Common salt is the foremost constituent, contributing from 49 to 72 per cent of the total weight of the cubes of ten leading brands manufactured in the United States and Germany last year. The amount of real meat extract present ranged from 8 per cent in the poorest to only 28 per cent in the best brands marketed. It is true that most of these cubes have no advertised claim to be concentrated beef broth or essence. Many persons, however, believe them to be so, little realizing that cubes which contain about two-thirds salt and never more than one-third meat extract are an expensive form of obtaining the flavor and other virtues of the latter.

Home-made meat broth or meat and vegetable soups contain more meat extractives and real nutrients than the commercial preparations, and they are cheaper than the bouillon or soups prepared from commercial cubes, extracts of juices. This fact need not, however, condemn the popularity of a harmless ready-to-use expedient in the hasty and convenient preparation of a cup of palatable bouillon. One might as well argue that the nutritious ready-to-eat cereals are to be rejected because they are more expensive, and, in the taste of many, more palatable than the old fashioned oatmeal which requires a somewhat laborious culinary treatment. The public should be educated to know precisely what is involved when claims pertaining to diet as well as to drugs are made to attract a purchaser. They can then intelligently count the cost and balance convenience and elegance against personal effort and economy.

WANTED THE FULL NUMBER.

Boston Advertiser: An old gentleman from "several miles out" came into a notary's office and announced that he wanted to execute a deed. The official, who knew the visitor as "Uncle Alex," got a blank deed and prepared to write.

"What are your initials?" he asked.

"X. Z." replied the old man.

"Why, your name is Alex; and it commences with an A."

"Yes, sure," said the old man, "my initials are A. Z."

Grown somewhat suspicious of the old gentleman's erudition, the notary asked:

"And what is the Z for?"

The would-be grantor replied: "It stands for Zander; my full name is Alexander."

A CANDID OPINION.

Lippincott's: Mr. Harris had been considering for some time the advisability of approaching his son's school teacher in regard to that young man's studies. He was sure William was not getting along as fast as he should, and this fact worried the father greatly.

He was greeted kindly by the teacher, and after a few preliminary questions the father inquired:

"What branch do you consider the most profitable for my son William, Mr. Flint?"

"I can hardly say, but I think a good, stout blue beech or a long, sinuous birch would do him as much good as any."

VISITOR IS A GOOD BOOSTER

Alabaman Writes to His Home Paper of the Wonders of Duluth.

The wonders of Duluth's summer climate, its remarkably advantageous position commercially, its picturesque setting on "the hill," and its great shipping business, have impressed Jacob Pepperman of Montgomery, Ala., who with his wife, is passing his vacation here. So pleased has Mr. Pepperman been with the city and its climate that he has written a letter to the Montgomery Advertiser in which he reminds the readers of that publication that "it's cool in Duluth" even if his Southern friends can't keep a linen collar from melting. He says his health and strength have been recuperated here in a short time. His letter as published follows:

"Duluth, Minn. June 15, 1914.

"Editor The Advertiser:

"Believing that the readers of the Advertiser will be interested in learning something of this Great Lake section of the country, I am sending you a short letter for publication.

"Mrs. Pepperman and myself left Montgomery on the 7th inst. and arrived here the 10th, having spent a day in Chicago. Of course we were delighted to find a recent copy of the Advertiser awaiting us, and we read it with much interest.

"Duluth is 'a city set upon a hill,' has about 80,000 population, situated on glorious Lake Superior, and is in every sense a hustling, prosperous and progressive city. Duluth has the largest shipping tonnage of any inland port in the world. A great fleet of modern, steel steamers carry the coal and manufactured products of the Eastern states to Duluth and return with cargoes of grain and iron ore to Chicago, Detroit, Ohio points and Buffalo.

"Duluth is rapidly coming to be recognized as 'the coolest summer city in America' and it will be the mecca of thousands, from now until the end of the summer, especially of people from the Southern states. And it really is cool in Duluth, as we are well able to testify. Our residence is located on what is known as 'Park Point,' a narrow strip of land, running out into Lake Superior for a distance of seven miles. The average width of the strip is about 400 feet, which gives a fine beach on both sides, and insures a constant cool breeze. This 'point' divides Lake Superior proper from the harbor. It is covered with a heavy growth of pine, wild cherry and cultivated shrubbery and flowers. This is a remarkable feature, when it is remembered that there is no soil, except the white sand from the lake.

"To reach Park Point we transfer from the car to the 'Aerial Bridge,' a mechanical wonder, which has no duplicate in the world. This bridge is really a car, or basket, suspended from a massive steel structure over 200 feet high. The ship canal is operated by the government, and through which all of the lake boats must pass, makes the aerial bridge necessary. The car, or basket, is operated by electricity and is propelled back and forth across the canal at about four miles per hour. It carries autos, teams and passengers. After crossing the bridge we transfer to an electric line which serves the homes on the point for a distance of about three miles.

"While you in Montgomery were sweltering from the excessive heat of last week we were sitting in front of an old-fashioned fireplace trying to keep warm. Outside a 'northeaster' made the weather too cool for comfort and we could hear the roar of the waves as they were whipped by the storm. Sunday we all went to church —and we had to wear heavy winter wraps.

"I am here for a much-needed rest, and to regain my health and strength, after close application to my work, and I am already beginning to feel the good effects of this wonderful Duluth climate. The weather here now is similar to that experienced in Montgomery in October. Sincerely yours,

"JACOB PEPPERMAN."

ICE CREAM SUPPLY PURE

Local Manufacturers Are Making Better Record Than Last Year.

The ice cream which is being manufactured in the city this summer is purer than a year ago, according to Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health.

Dr. Webster states that comparisons of the records of the samples which have been tested for bacteria this season with those of last summer show a marked improvement. Thus far but one sample has shown more than 500,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter, the maximum allowed under the state law. With this exception they have been running well below this mark. One company which was a bad offender last summer has installed new equipment and is coming within the limit.

The health director says that the department proposes to closely supervise the city's ice cream supply throughout the summer. He explains that it is a necessary health precaution as considerable discomfort, if not actual sickness, may be caused by ice cream which is not properly made and handled.

BEMIDJIANS DO WORK ON ROADS

Don Overalls and Fix Up Highways in That Locality.

Bemidji, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Donning overalls and work jackets, 100 business men equipped themselves with picks and shovels and worked all day in bettering roads in this vicinity. John Moberg, a veteran in road construction, superintended the work, which extended south and east as well as to the north and around the scenic Bemidji lake.

Planning for Fourth.

Fifty energetic business men are staying awake nights planning and working for the big Fourth of July celebration which, like previous years, will be entirely free this year. The baseball game and amusements will be entirely free to the public. Eugene Berman has been placed in charge of all concessions.

J. H. Herbert has been elected to succeed H. H. Mayer as manager of the Elks' baseball team. Mr. Mayer is the secretary of the rapidly growing Bemidji Commercial organization and he says that this, with other duties, forbid him handling other propositions. The resignation of Mr. Mayer is effective at once.

County Auditor George has paid many claims of persons who bid on the wrong land or paid the wrong price for their land in the recent government land sale. The sale was one of the biggest in the history of Beltrami county.

Mass Precedes Drill.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 23.—A solemn requiem high mass in St. Peter's cathedral, for the souls of deceased members, opened the second day of the International Convention of the Knights of St. John here today. A grand prize drill and visits to various amusement places made up the program for the rest of the day.

ROSY FUTURE FOR WORKERS

John Wanamaker Testifies Before U. S. Industrial Commission.

Says It Is Insane Not to Recognize Labor Organizations.

Philadelphia, June 23.—"It's an insane thing not to recognize organizations of labor," said John Wanamaker today in giving further testimony between the United States commission on industrial relations.

He made this statement in reply to a question whether employers should recognize labor unions. On the general question of unionism Mr. Wanamaker said he believed labor has "suffered frightfully" in the past because of poor leaders, but added that he is seeing a better class of leadership coming in.

The witness painted a rosy future for the working man.

"Men and women are in a rising market; they are being better educated, have more sanitary surroundings, and are no longer mats for rich men to wipe their feet upon," he said.

Right to Organize.

Commissioner Weinstock of California, who presided today, asked the witness if he could supply the missing link that would bring capital and labor together. Mr. Wanamaker said:

"I believe that labor and capital both have the right to organize. On the one side, capital, there is responsibility, and on the other, labor, there is none. There you stop. The missing links I believe to be prejudice and misunderstanding which must be overcome.

To Wipe Out Prejudice.

"One of the ways to wipe out this prejudice and misunderstanding is to unhitch labor unions from political parties."

Mr. Wanamaker believed that the departments of commerce and labor should be courts of last resort in labor disputes. One of the things he found wrong in labor unions was the limiting of the number of those who want to learn trades.

Contact with the employes is a remedy for much misunderstanding, the witness said.

"There are labor unions which have no other purpose than to protect their wages," he said. "Men who spend their time getting their salaries raised generally fail."

Commissioners Lennon of Illinois and O'Connell of Washington, who are the representatives of workmen on the commission, plied Mr. Wanamaker with many questions. Asked whether he was an advocate of the eight-hour day he replied.

"Eight hours or less."

Ownership of Utilities.

Discussing public ownership as a means to reduce industrial strife, Mr. Wanamaker said he was an "absolute believer" in government ownership of public utilities.

"I believe the government should own the railroads," he said. "It would prevent conditions that have existed in the New Haven road and Rock Island system. Government ownership would bring 1-cent postage because the government owned the means for carrying the mails."

EMPLOYMENT FOR YOUNG MEN

Duluth Y. M. C. A. Will Open New Department; Secretary Engaged.

The Duluth central Y. M. C. A. will soon open a branch that is the latest innovation in Y. M. C. A. work—an employment department—and has already engaged a secretary for this division of the work.

The new secretary is S. W. Harris, and he comes from Portland, Or. He will reach here as soon as the present Y. M. C. A. conference at Lake Geneva is ended. Aside from being an expert in the employment business Mr. Harris, it is believed, is sure to be a prominent man in Duluth for he stands 6 feet 2 inches in his holeproofs. He was formerly a successful traveling man, but for some years has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

Portland, where the employment feature started, is said to have developed the employment branch of the Y. M. C. A. work to such a remarkable degree that other cities are sending men there for instruction in that work. Chicago is one of these cities and others are doing the same. Mr. Harris has been engaged with the Portland department for some time and has helped develop the new branch materially, and General Secretary Wade of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. feels that the executive committee has been fortunate in obtaining his services here.

The committee that will have charge of the new department consists of H. F. Salyards, Frank Crassweller, and W. D. Bailey.

SELL SHIPS, SAYS DANIELS

Secretary Would Take Greek Offer Despite Turks' Protest.

Athens Ready to Pay Cash for Two Warships.

Washington, June 23. — Secretary Daniels said today when the cabinet assembled that Turkey's protest against the sale of the batleships Mississippi and Idaho to Greece had not altered his view nor that of the administration in favor of the sale.

The diplomatic representatives of Greece and Turkey called on President Wilson within a few minutes of each other, one to urge and the other to oppose the warship deal. Greece takes the position that if she buys the vessels, the balance of power in the Mediterranean will be preserved and peace maintained; while Turkey claims that peace can best be guaranteed by the refusal of the United States to aid in augmenting her rival's naval forces.

President Wilson told callers in the day that he favored the sale of battleships to Greece because it had been represented to him that such action would be in the interest of peace. He said if he thought the vessels would be used in an immediate war, he would not consent to their sale.

Want the $12,000,000.

The question of the sale of the battleships is to come up in the house on a senate amendment to the naval appropriation bill. Secretary Daniels desires the $12,000,000 which Greece is willing to pay for the batleships to build a dreadnought similar to the Wyoming, and most of the leaders in congress are inclined to authorize the step.

The new Turkish ambassador, Rustem Bey, called on the president ostensibly to present his credentials, and the Greek charge d'affairs, A. Vouros, presented the new Greek naval attache, Commander Teouklas. Both diplomats took the opportunity, however, to present their views on the batleship controversy.

The Greek charge stated later that the acquisition of the batleships by Greece was necessary to avert a war between Turkey and Greece, which would otherwise be brought about by the seizure by Turkey of adjacent Greek possessions. He based the claim of Greece to naval expansion on the treaty of London and Athens, which ceded the islands of Chio and Mitvene to Greece, and declared Greece must be in a position to defend these possessions.

Mr. Vouros declared that Greece intends to keep pace with Turkey's naval expansion. He pointed out that even when Turkey obtains a dreadnought which is now being built for her in Brazil, Greece will be stronger if she acquires the American batleships.

Ready to Pay Cash.

It was understood that Greece has the money ready to pay for the batleships, and that the sale can be consummated immediately if the United States decides to sell.

The Mississippi, now at Pensacola navy yard, could be turned over to a Greek crew or 40 a crew of American merchant sailors hired for the purpose in about a week after the sale is ordered. The Idaho arrived Saturday at Gibraltar with the Illinois and Missouri, and if sold while in the Mediterranean, her crew probably would transfer to the other ships.

From Duluth Jim Kelly went to Exeter and at that preparatory school he made one of the greatest records of any student in the history of the school. As a member of the track team he showed exceptional ability, and he was also elected captain of the football eleven.

Jim Kelly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kelly of Duluth. Senator Hollis of New Hampshire has secured the appointment of young Kelly to West Point, which institution he will enter in the fall.

SOME EAGER TO GET ON THE PETRAS JURY

Lawyers Hope to Fill Panel By End of the Week.

Geneva, Ill., June 23.—Tony Petras, the young husband who was put on trial here yesterday for the murder of his former fiancee, Theresa Hollander, said today he "liked the looks" of the 100 men summoned in a special panel, and attorneys began to hope that a jury might be obtained to try the case by the end of the week, although no juror has been finally accepted as yet. The men newly summoned average about 35 years and come from the city.

Thus far no man has been summoned who has not heard of the graveyard slaying, in which Miss Hollander was beaten to death with a coffin-rest, and most of them have formed an opinion. A number have appeared eager to get on the jury, Attorney D. H. Gunsul, chief of counsel for Petras, says.

Young Wife in Court.

Petras' girlish wife was at his side in the courtroom again today, and they laughed and smiled at each other as though they had not a care in the world. "I never felt better in my life," the accused man said. The courtroom was packed.

A second change in bailiffs in charge of the jurors was made as court convened, E. H. Gary, who succeeded Henry Young, giving way to Warren Andrus. Gary said he had too much other work to care for in the sheriff's office. Young was objected to yesterday by the prosecution.

SAYS COMMISSION WAS NEEDED BEFORE

Newlands Declares Trade Board Would Have Prevented Trust.

Washington, June 23.—That a Federal trade commission, created at the time of the establishment of the interstate commerce commission, would have prevented the development of industrial monopolies in the United States, is one of the contentions in the report of Chairman Newlands of the interstate commerce committee on the trade commission bill presented today to the senate.

"If this commission had been in existence," said the report, "we would not now have to deal with such organizations as the United States Steel corporation, the International Harvester company or the American Sugar Refining company. Such a commission would at least have kept within limited bounds the activities of a multitude of price-fixing associations in different branches of business, which, together with the great trusts, have been potent causes of the present high cost of living."

The senate bill is substituted for the house bill. The two measures are alike in principle, but the senate bill would make "unfair competition" illegal and empower the commission to prevent such competition, and would allow an investigation of foreign trade conditions and their effect on United States export trade.

PLENTY OF BOATS ON THE EMPRESS

Law's Requirements for Safety Exceeded By Company.

Quebec, June 23.—When the Empress of Ireland wreck inquiry was resumed today, Capt. Walsh, marine superintendent of the Canadian Pacific railway, continued his testimony in regard to the number of boats and life belts carried by the liner. In each case the number called for by regulations was found to have been exceeded.

C. S. Haight of counsel for the owners of the collier Storstad, which rammed the Empress, questioned the witness about the promotion system in vogue in the Canadian Pacific railway marine service. Capt. Walsh said that the command of the Empress was the highest position in the service and that the more efficient men get the better captaincies.

"Does not efficiency include making regular trips?"

"No," said Walsh. "Our captains are ordered that they must take no risks when the lives of so many passengers would be involved. The ability to make regular trips does not enter into it."

PLUCK IN DEFEAT.

Minneapolis Journal: Charles Edward Russeell, the Socialist candidate for the mayoralty of New York, said of his defeat:

"At any rate we put up, we Socialists, a brave if hopeless fight. And now, in our defeat, we are as cheery as the traveler.

"A traveler bought a ticket from Paint Rock out to Nola Chucky, and then, going out on the platform, said:

"'How soon does the train start?'

"'Why, there she goes now,' said the station hand. 'You've just missed her.'

"The traveler leaped on to the line and set out in pursuit of the train with all his might. But in two or three minutes he came trudging back over the ties.

"A laughing crowd had gathered and the station hand said:

"'Well, did you catch her?'

"'No,' said the traveler, 'but, by jingo, I made her puff.'"

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

INSURGENTS NOT SEATED

Duluth Delegate to Woodmen Convention Makes Report on Meeting.

Claims Sundeen Faction Joined With the Administration.

Insurgent Minnesota Woodmen delegates to the biennial convention of the Modern Woodmen of America held at Toledo last week were given no seats at the convention, according to W. E. Tusken of Old Hickory camp No. 1555 of West Duluth, delegate from the Eighth congressional district, who returned from there last night. J. L. Sundeen of Minneapolis and his followers joined the regular forces, said Mr. Tusken and were given the seats and voted for all of the old officials.

The present plan of insurance will be in vogue by the order during the next two years. The Indianapolis plan, as it is called, was adopted in preference to the plan advocated by the insurgent faction which proposed an increase in the rates amounting to about 60 per cent.

In commenting on the convention Mr. Tusken said:

"We arrived in Toledo, Ohio, Monday, June 15, and were met at the station by both factions of Woodmen delegates, the insurgent and administration forces, who proceeded to question us as to where we stood, but when they found out who and what we were and from what state we hailed, it was easy to decide that we belonged to the insurgent side of the question and that we had come to contest the seats of what is known in Minnesota as the Sundeen insurgents. These later proved not to be insurgents in the least, but Mr. Sundeen and his followers joined the head camp officers.

He did this after having condemned the head camp officers from one end of the state to the other for their extravagance in the use of the Woodmen money in trying to force the Chicago rates upon the Woodmen of this state as well as elsewhere. Among his delegates were such men as E. P. Bacon of Pillager H. Jennings of Minneapolis, E. L. Everett of Hibbing, who were known as strong insurgents, and D. P. O'Neil of Thief River Falls, who was the author of a bill in our state legislature against the head camp officers. They were bound by the strongest insurgent ties and we did not think that Sundeen could control such men as these, but it was proven later that they all voted for the head camp.

Paramount Issue.

"The paramount question seemed to be the election of head camp officers and nothing much was said about the rates at first.

"We were not the only contesting delegates, as Head Consul Talbot's own state, Nebraska, was hotly contested along with Iowa and Illinois.

"The convention was called on Tuesday and adjourned, as the credential committee was not ready to report.

"Wednesday they again adjourned. This was the scene of wild disorder. The band started to play, keeping this up for two hours, but there was no cause for the police, as there was no fighting or foul language used.

"Thursday morning they met and adjourned until evening. The morning session showed the strength of the administration forces on a ruling of head consuls which, was sustained by a vote of 233 to 125, only the uncontested delegates voting. The evening session was taken up by the Minnesota and Nebraska contests. The Sundeen faction in Minnesota being seated and in Nebraska the administration faction being seated, this taking up the entire evening until 1:30 a. m. Friday.

"The Friday session was taken up in the contests of Iowa and Illinois delegation. The administration forces won out. The insurgents placed in circulation circulars calling for a reduction in salaries of head consul, clerk, banker and directors, for a complete reorganization of the deputy system for abolishment of sinecure offices and stricter economy in the management of the affairs of the order. Upon a motion this was lost to the cause of insurgency. The election of head camp officers was held Saturday, the administration forces electing their full ticket. The rate question was debated upon and the Indianapolis rates were adopted.

IS KILLED IN RUNAWAY

John Makkila Fatally Injured While Working on Getchell Road.

John Makkila, about 45 years old, a laborer, employed as a teamster for Sam Frederickson on the Getchell road, was instantly killed at 9 o'clock this morning by being run over by his team. The accident occurred in front of the barn at the camp about a mile north of Oneota cemetery.

According to the story told by Mrs. Christ Westman, who with her husband, has charge of the camp, Makkila had driven the team to a point in front of the barn. While he was passing in front of the horses the team became frightened and started running away.

Makkila was knocked down and trampled under the horses' hoofs and the wheels of the wagon passed over his head. Mrs. Westman immediately notified the men working on the road a short distance from the place and Mr. Frederickson notified the coroner, who ordered the body removed to Fillatrault's undertaking rooms.

Makkila had been working for Frederickson for about three weeks. He made his home with August Pesola, 102 North Sixty-fifth avenue west. He is believed to have a family living in Finland. Arrangements for the funeral will be made this afternoon.

RAILROADERS DISCUSS HANDLING OF FREIGHT.

"Handling of Freight and Freight Trains" was the subject of an interesting paper read by H. P. VALUATION OF LIGHT PLANT

"Good Will" Expected to Be Only Subject of Debate.

Physical Valuation Will Be Announced Within Few Days.

Within a few days the city will probably know the physical value of the Duluth - Edison Electric company's plant.

W. J. Hagenah, who has been retained by the company to handle its interests in the appraisal, reached the city this morning and went into consultation with W. B. Rittenhouse, who has had charge of the city's inventory.

Charles L. Pilisbury of New York, consulting expert of the city, is due in Duluth tomorrow morning. When he gets here he will meet with Messrs. Rittenhouse and Hagenah and Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utility division. They will endeavor to come to an agreement as to a fair price for the property.

When Mr. Hagenah was here some weeks ago he stated that he did not expect that the city and the company would have much difficulty in agreeing upon the physical value, as he believed Mr. Rittenhouse had done his work well, but that the principal negotiations would be relative to what might be termed good will, including allowances for the business which has been built up, the saving to the city of interest which would have to be paid if the city were to build a plant, etc. He said that this allowance generally runs from 10 to 20 per cent and that he had known it to go as high as 30 per cent. This would be added to the appraised value if the city took over the plant.

If the value of the plant is between $900,000 and $1,000,000, as report had had it, the "good will" would bring the cost up to $1,000,000 or $1,200,000.

Before Mr. Hagenah left at the time of his last visit he requested that the appraisal values be not made public, as their publication might interfere with the city and the company reaching an agreement. This was tentatively agreed to by the city officials and for that reason they have not been published. It is stated that if an amicable agreement cannot be reached the figures will be given out in a few days, as will be the case if an agreement is concluded. Commissioner Merritt has stated that if the city and the company cannot agree upon a fair price he is prepared to proceed to the courts to secure the plant through condemnation proceedings.

MOYER AND OTHERS TO BE TRIED JULY 6

Change of Venue From Houghton to L'Anse Granted.

Calumet, Mich., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, vice president, C. E. Mahoney, national council members, W. P. Davidson, Guy Miller, J. C. Lowney, and William Mills and thirty-one other officers and members on charges of conspiracy, has been set for July 6 in Baraga county circuit court at L'Anse, on a change of venue from Houghton country. Judge P. H. O'Brien of Calumet, will preside.

The act charged constitutes a misdemeanor only, conspiracy to prevent operation of mines by violence or other means being alleged. The case establishes a precedent. A similar charge has never before been brought against any labor organization, making this of nation-wide importance.

An imposing array of legal talent has been summoned by both the defense and the state. Assistant Attorney General Grant and Attorney G. E. Nicholls of Grand Rapids, have been detailed by Attorney General Fellows to assist Prosecutor Lucas to handle the case. Former Judge O. N. Hilton of Denver, heads the federation counsel. Both sides have been preparing for months for the trial of the case, which grew out of the grand jury investigations of violence used in the recent copper strike.

SHIP'S MYSTERIES BAFFLE SOLUTION

San Francisco Chronicle: If the ocean has its mysteries, so has the ship that rides it, and which furnishes the more baffling puzzles would be difficult to determine.

Ships leave ports and are never seen nor heard of again, and—in home respects more inexplicable still—passengers board vessels and suddenly forever vanish from human ken.

The strange disappearance of Dr. Diesel, the famous inventor, is a case in point which must be fresh in everybody's mind.

One day the early part of this month, it will be remembered, Dr. Diesel left Antwerp on board one of the Great Eastern Railway company's steamers for Harwich, whence he proposed journeying to London to keep an important business engagement. On board the steamer the doctor appeared to be in the best of health and spirits, and at 10 o'clock p. m. retired to his cabin for the night.

Into the Night.

Next morning he was nowhere to be found, and the mystery of his disappearance remains still unsolved.

Again, not many months ago the steamship Baldor, on arrival in the Firth of Forth from Gothenburg, had a queer story to unfold through the mouth of her skipper.

It concerned the uncanny disappearance of a second-class lady passenger. The last seen of her was late at night, when one of the stewardesses noticed her pacing the deck. The vessel was then in the North sea.

Afterward the passenger's berth was found to be unoccupied, and not only the lady, but her baggage, consisting of a bag, had vanished. Where and how no one knows.

Could anything be more baffling than the following? It occurred on board a steamer between Leith and Orkney. Among the passengers were two sisters, who were traveling to attend the funeral of a third sister.

When off Bell lighthouse one of the women retired to her bunk, the other, as the night was fine, preferring to remain a little longer on deck. That was the last seen of her.

Through the Porthole.

Another amazing incident was that reported by the captain of a Dutch steamer, the Van Noort, on his arrival at Singapore. The parties immediately concerned were three sisters of German nationality who were passengers aboard, and had been touring in Java.

After having spent the evening on deck, chatting and reading, they were seen one night going to their cabin about 10 o'clock. Next morning the attendant could get no answer to his knocks at the cabin door, and, on an entry being made, the room was found empty.

On the table was a note addressed to the captain, which briefly stated that he was to have their luggage, and on a desk was a bottle containing a few drops of chloroform. From this it was conjectured that the three sisters had each taken chloroform and then climbed through the porthole into the sea!

As a final example may be mentioned the case of a vivacious young woman who disappeared from a steamer while crossing from Belfast to Fleetwood.

At 11 o'clock p. m. the young woman was seen by the stewardess, whom she asked to bring her a cup of tea at 7 o'clock next morning, as she wished to catch an early train to Manchester. At the hour named the stewardess took in the tea as desired, but was amazed to find the cabin empty.

It was surmised the girl had fallen overboard while walking in her sleep, or climbed through the porthole into the sea—two theories which had not much of the element of probability to recommend them.

LINGUISTIC OFFENSES.

Indianapolis Star: Somebody has gone and muddled up the wells of English undefiled on Britain's isle. Far from blaming Americans for all the corruptions of pronunciation and idiom. Dr. Bridges, poet laureate, and Thomas Hardy, Nobel prize winner, propose a reformation of England's English.

An Oxford professor is guilty of "ewesh-yun" for "question," Dr. Bridges tract tells us; "neycher" is rapidly taking right-of-way within earshot of Bow Bells, where it used to be "nature;" one professor of English language and literature habitually says "audjins" for "audience," and the younger generation prefers "pawing" to "pouring."

In the United States we sometimes have "su-jest" for "suggest." "Ak-rut" for "accurate" is not unfrequently heard from cultured lips. But Dr. Bridges, by his indictment of Englishmen for their ripping discourtesy to their mother tongue, proves that not all linguistic sins are "made in America."

KNIFE NOT USED.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "How did you happen to have Old Man Longwind on the program at your informal banquet?"

"Well, he wasn't on the program, but somebody who was on couldn't come, so the old guy was asked to fill in."

"What did he do?"

"Not a thing but arise and speak for forty minutes."

"Gee! Did he have his speech all cut and dried?"

"No—it was only dried!"

FLIES MILE A MINUTE

Aviator Roger Jannus Covers Fourteen Miles on the River.

Campers and Fishermen Surprised at Spectacle of Flying Boat.

Lone fishermen and campers along the St. Louis river were amazed and startled yesterday afternoon, by the sudden appearance of a flying boat skimming along the river at the rate of sixty miles an hour.

It was the flying boat "Lark" of Duluth, owned by William Jones of this city and flown by Roger Jannus, a brother of Tony Jannus, who spent last summer in Duluth. The boat was being taken from her winter quarters at the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club to the main house, where it will be used during the summer carrying passengers and making exhibition flights, and on its first trip of the season it carried a Herald reporter for a passenger.

The boat left the Spirit Lake branch of the club at ten minutes to 5, and it was exactly seven minutes after the hour when the passenger stepped out of the craft on the float at the main house. In that seventeen minutes it left the float at the branch gathered headway enough to rise, after traveling nearly half a mile on the water for the purpose of testing the machinery, and made the landing.

The distance covered, which was the long way following the main channel outside of Big Island, was estimated at fourteen miles, so that the boat traveled approximately sixty miles an hour while in the air.

"The propellor bearing was loose, so I did not dare let her out," explained Mr. Jannus after landing. "I kept her throttled down as low as I could and remain in the air. The boat will easily make eighty miles an hour if it is pushed. It is one of the fastest and most easily handled flying boats I have ever been in. It is very sensitive to the control, and when it is properly tuned up there won't be many faster or better flying boats in America."

The greater part of the flight was made but a few feet above the water, the boat rising to a height of from 150 to 200 feet only when it was necessary to soar over bridges. With the aviator, his passenger, and some tools and equipment, the boat carried a load of fully 500 pounds in addition to its own weight.

One lone fisherman who was holding his rod in a boat on the upper bay was given the surprise of his life. The wind was blowing from him toward the approaching aeroplane, and he did not hear it until it was almost directly over him, but a few feet in the air. He nearly fell out of the boat after giving a yell that could be heard above the roaring of the engine, but before the aeroplane was out of sight he recovered sufficiently to good naturedly wave at the aviator and his passenger.

MISSING BANKER CLAIMS $50,000

Appears in Court Through Attorney; Whereabouts Is Unknown.

St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—Charles Gordon Ricker, formerly president of the defunct Yates Center National bank at Yates Center, Kan., for whom a nation-wide search has been conducted since Dec. 16 last, through an attorney yesterday entered his appearance in the circuit court at Clayton, in St. Louis county.

A. B. Chandler, his attorney, however, did not explain where Ricker could be found, and his whereabouts still is a mystery. Federal officers have sought him in vain since the failure of the Yates Center bank.

Ricker's appearance in court came in the form of an answer to a $20,000 attachment suit filed in the Clayton circuit court last Monday by A. H. Gillis, receiver for the Yates Center bank. Ricker filed a counter claim for $50,000 against Receiver Gillis.

Ricker declared he owed the Yates Center bank $5,700 and that on Dec. 13 he gave Alexis C. Butler, then the bank's receiver, property valued at $50,000 as security for the debt. Ricker declared the present receiver is claiming absolute title to these securities.

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

Efficiency of the Heart

IN the earlier development of the art of diagnosis with the aid of the stethoscope physicians were inclined to attribute too much to a "murmur" which could be heard on listening to the heart beat. Knowing that deformities of the heart valves resulting from disease permitted a "leakage" of blood through the damaged valve, and that this was accompanied by a purring, abnormal sound called a "murmur," the medical man often jumped at the conclusion that where there was a murmur there must surely be heart disease.

Reserve Power.

Of course it is now known that murmurs are nearly as common in cases with no heart trouble whatever. In fact, the presence of an audible murmur is no longer considered the important sign of heart trouble. Even with a badly damaged valve, the quality or loudness of the murmur is a minor consideration; the prognosis depends rather on the reserve power of the heart. In other words, no diagnosis is complete without a careful investigation of the heart's efficiency.

Many persons have valvular disease and don't know it. Many have a murmur, and do know it, and imagine they are victims of heart trouble, whereas they have nothing of the kind. Many suffer from "stomach trouble" or "bronchial trouble" or "a tendency to asthma," which is really a secondary symptom of unsuspected heart disease. Such symptoms would obviously remain unrelieved as long as the heart's efficiency is inadequate for the individual's daily work.

Heart failure usually begins weeks, months or years before the patient realizes how serious his condition is. And it is just this insidious exhaustion of the heart's reserve force—the force necessary to cope with all the little strains of daily work or play, over and above the ordinary demands on the circulation—which may be conserved by proper treatment in the beginning. That is to say, if there is any feeling or sensation of physical incapacity, of a falling off in ones' power of endurance, or perhaps inability to put forth the effort one formerly could, then it is by all means time to go and have a thorough physical examination by the physician. Degeneration and exhaustion of the heart muscle commonly expresses itself in a gradual loss of efficiency.

LESS MEAT; MORE EGGS

Packing House Figures Show Smaller Consumption of Meat.

Cattle Scarce and Are Bringing Record-Breaking Prices.

Consumers in Duluth, and in fact throughout the whole country, are eating much less meat than a year ago. That is attributed to the fact that the average family in moderate circumstances has been forced to cut down its consumption of meats owing to the high prices that have prevailed for some time back.

"It is undoubtedly the case," said the manager of a Michigan street packing establishment today, "that people are not buying as much meat as they were, and they are using eggs largely as a substitute. I know that our handlings of eggs have increased heavily during the last few months, and I guess that it is the same all along the street. I may say that the packers are not to blame for the present price situation in meats. The high cost of feeds in the Middle West has led to higher prices for livestock, and receipts at the same time have fallen off sharply. Cattle are scarce all over the country. Cattle are bringing record prices at packing points. Sheep and lambs are also selling at higher figures than last year, while hogs are averaging about 50 cents per hundredweight cheaper.

Statistics of the movement of cattle, hogs and sheep to Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis, Sioux City and St. Joseph since the beginning of the year are said to indicate a decrease in packing house production of more than 300,000,000 pounds of dressed meat. Imports have been heavier than ever before, but they are thought to have offset that 300,000,000 pounds decrease, and the decrease that has come about at other packing points only slightly.

The six leading Western markets—Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis, Sioux City and St. Joseph—report livestock receipts as follows since Jan. 1 this year and in 1913:

	Cattle.	Hogs.	Sheep.
1914	2,650,000	8,220,000	5,340,000
1913	2,900,000	8,947,000	4,850,000
Decrease	250,000	727,000	.....
Increase	.....	.....	490,000

The falling off in cattle receipts is estimated to mean a shrinkage in excess of 125,000,000 pounds in the beef output of packers, and the decrease of 727,000 head in hog receipts means a reduction of more than 100,000,000 pounds in hog products. The increase of 490,000 in sheep receipts is thought to figure out an addition of only 19,000,000 pounds in the meat supply, as sheep and lambs dress out much less in product than the other important meat animals.

Packing house interests are said to be watching industrial conditions closely, as they say that increased operations at the steel plants, as appears likely in the near future, will lead to a much heavier demand for pork products and a higher range of prices in provisions to bring them in line with quotations of other meats. No reduction in the range of meat figures is looked for unless the cost of oats, corn and other feeds should be materially reduced.

HOUSE AGAIN VOTES LABOR EXEMPTION

Adopts Appropriation of $300,000 to Enforce Trust Laws.

Washington, June 23.—The house last night again went on record for exempting labor unions from prosecution under the anti-trust laws. A provision in the sundry civil appropriation bill appropriating $300,000 for enforcement of the anti-trust laws was adopted after a sharp and protracted political debate over the provision exempting labor and agricultural organizations. This provision reads:

"No part of this money shall be spent in prosecutions of any organization or individual for entering into any combination or agreement having in view the increasing of wages, shortening of hours, or bettering the conditions of labor, or for any act done in furtherance thereof, not in itself unlawful.

Provided further, that no part of this appropriation shall be expended for the prosecution of producers of farm products and associations of farmers who co-operate and organize in an effort to and for the purpose of obtaining and maintaining a fair and reasonable price for their products."

Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, who sought to have the provision stricken out, quoted Col. Roosevelt as opposing such legislation, and thereby became involved in a heated argument with Representative Bryan of Washington and other Progressives.

NONE TO BLAME FOR KILLING BY LIONS

Story of Men's Enmity Crops Up in the Affair.

Chicago, June 23.—The death of Emerson Dietrich, killed by lions here Sunday, when he entered their cage was accidental, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury.

Miss Adgie Castillo, a vaudeville performer who used the lions in her act, and who was engaged to marry Dietrich, her manager, declared that George McCord, the keeper, should have entered the cage when the attack was made.

"It would have been death to do so," replied McCord; "the beasts were enraged, and I did the best I could with a fork with which I speared at them through the bars."

Miss Castillo said that McCord was lazy and Dietrich did much of his work, but when she was asked if McCord was jealous of Dietrich she answered, "No such thing, there was no possibility of it."

McCord frankly admitted that he and Dietrich quarreled frequently, but the disputes were transitory over details of the work, and Sunday, he said, he and Dietrich were on a very friendly footing.

"I warned him not to go into the cage," said McCord.

Miss Castillo said that there was no reason to shoot any of the lions.

OUSTED MAYOR OF COPPERFIELD SHOT.

Copperfield, Or., June 23.—Henry H. Stewart, who as mayor of Copperfield was removed from office in December by Governor West, was shot and probably fatally wounded on his ranch near here yesterday. His removal from office followed a sort of feud among saloonkeepers here which led the governor to dismiss all city officials and close all saloons.

FIRE HALL BEING MADE FIRST CLASS

Building Being Remodeled and Equipment Is Increased.

The fire hall at New Duluth is rapidly being put into such condition that it will give the best of service to the residents of the suburbs. Within the last week the New Duluth company has had added to its equipment a team of horses, an additional man, and a combination hose and truck.

The team formerly used at the No. 8 station at West Duluth has been installed at the suburb fire hall. E. G. Banker, formerly connected with Company No. 4, is the new member of the department. This gives the local hall three men, the other two being Charles Pearson, the captain of the company, and Harry G. Olson.

Considerable improvement is being made to the building. The second floor is being rapidly put in shape for sleeping quarters for the men, and the first floor has been fixed up so that the team can be accommodated.

STOPS STOMACH PAINS

In Two Minutes.

The recent discovery by a leading specialist that pure bisurated magnesia will almost instantly relieve pains in the stomach resulting from indigestion, dyspepsia or acidity, is of the greatest importance to thousands of people suffering from various forms of stomach trouble. As is well-known, nine-tenths of all the stomach disorders are directly traceable to stomach acidity. One to two teaspoonfuls taken in a little water after meals not only neutralizes the acid and stops the pain but quickly overcomes the cause of the trouble, soothes the inflamed lining of the stomach and in a short time will correct the cause. Be sure to ask your druggist to supply you with bisurated magnesia.—Advertisement.

ATHLETES ENTERTAIN.

Gary Club Gives Show to a Capacity Audience.

The Gary Athletic club entertained last evening at the Maccabee hall in New Duluth at a vaudeville performance that drew a packed house. The show was given for the purpose of raising money to purchase equipment for the club.

Many members of the club took part in the performance and pleased the audience with their parts. It is the purpose of the organization to equip a club room and gymnasium where the young men of the suburb can gather for healthful exercise.

IMPROVEMENT PLAN PLEASES SUBURBS

City and Traction Company Expected to Co-operate in Highway Work.

Residents of New Duluth and Gary are pleased at the announcement that the city commissioners propose to order the improvement of the highway from Eighty-first avenue to Gary. According to the announcement made, the improvement will be ordered at the next meeting of the commission.

It is proposed to build a concrete roadway from the terminal of the present macadamized road on Grand avenue to Smithville, through Smithville to Zimmerly avenue, on Zimmerly to Commonwealth avenue and from there to House street. The improvement is estimated to cost about $90,000, which will be distributed among 1,300 property owners.

It is believed that at the same time the Duluth Street Railway company will lay its tracks to the suburb. This work will probably be done just ahead of the concrete laying, and in that way the street railway company will be able to assist the city in hauling considerable of the material.

At present a concrete highway between the main highway through Smithville and the Model City is under construction. The roadway is being prepared for the laying of the paving material. It is said that the Minnesota Steel company has plans for laying street railway rails along this highway leading through its little city.

HARD GAME EXPECTED.

The New Duluth baseball team will play the Fitwell team of West Duluth at the New Duluth grounds Sunday afternoon. The locals have made an enviable record so far this year, not having lost a game this season.

The team is expecting its hardest battle Sunday. The Fitwell organization is one of the strongest amateur baseball teams in the city. The game is expected to draw the largest crowd of the season at the suburb's ball grounds.

HOW FRENCH PEOPLE CURE STOMACH TROUBLE

A household remedy of the French peasantry, consisting of pure vegetable oil, and said to possess wonderful merit in the treatment of stomach, liver and intestional troubles, has been introduced in this country by George H. Mayr, who for twenty years has been one of the leading downtown druggists of Chicago and who himself was cured by its use. So quick and effective is its action that a single dose is usually enough to bring pronounced relief in the most stubborn cases, and many people who have tried it declare they never heard of anything to produce such remarkable results in so short a time. It is known as Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and can now be had at almost any drug store. It is now sold here by your nearest druggist.—Advertisement.

DULUTH CHILD PIANIST SCORES IN TWIN CITIES

Little Louis Gomberg, the 7-year-old pianist of Duluth, is in St. Paul and Minneapolis with his teacher, Mrs. D. H. Day of this city. Judging from the newspaper reports he is creating quite a sensation among the musical people of those cities. J. McClure Bellows, the musical critic, has this to say of the boy and his playing in the Pioneer-Press of recent date:

"Before a few invited guests, Master Louis Gomberg of Duluth, known as 'The Little Mozart,' gave a piano recital at the studio of Mrs. Gardner Moore in the Moore block, yesterday morning. Young Gomberg was accompanied by his teacher and benefactress, Mrs. D. H. Day of Duluth, a sister of H. T. Morris of this city.

"While only 7 years old, the little pianist in no wise resembles the usual style of youthful prodigy to which many have become accustomed; on the contrary he is a healthful, and to all appearances, a very happy, normal boy, naive and full of enthusiasm.

"Along with these traits are also to be noted a natural musical genius combined with surprising rhythmic sense and a certain appreciation of light and shade that are quite remarkable in one so young.

"He has been admirably schooled thus far, evincing technique and style of correct and refined character. While seated at the piano, an attachment to the pedals is contrived to meet the young pianist's feet, thereby denying him no opportunity to display to the full his equipment. His use of the pedals, together with the independent development of his left hand, constituted two of the extraordinary features of his playing.

"Beautifully phrased and admirably executed were the selections played by him. These were a theme and variations by Beethoven, a movement from a Mozart Sonata, a folk song by Schumann, Tschaikowsky's 'The Lark,' delightfully rendered with real insight into the latter's poetic spirit, and several other numbers of equally exacting quality. The lad will play at the Lyric theater in Minneapolis at a children's concert next week and then will return with Mrs. Day to Duluth to continue his studies."

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Broadway Jones."
EMPRESS—"Henpecked Henry."
ECHO—Musical Comedy.

Amusement Notes.

"Broadway Jones," that remarkable gatling-gun of rapid-fire Cohan comedy, which is holding the boards at the Lyceum, is being ably presented by the Baldwin Players this week. Every time "Broadway" opens his mouth the audience chortles with glee—that is when he is doing his little comedy stunt—but in his more serious moments he becomes a real hero and his boyish likableness has a peculiar magnetic charm that smooths out all the frowns of his friends and disarms his critics.

"Broadway Jones" is a real character—fundamentally genuine even if a little overdrawn for stage effect. He is a typical Cohan character, and his genuineness stamps all the characters in the play. George Cohan has struck ten several times, but has never been more successful than in this play.

With practically the same company that appeared here last October, Jack Trainor returned to Duluth yesterday for a three-day engagement at the Empress theater in his musical farce, "Henpecked Henry."

The show is as funny as ever, while Mr. Trainor continues to excel as a comedian. He is a "scream" when on the stage and he is on the stage nearly all of the time. He reminds one very much of Richard Carle in the latter's hit, "Mary's Lamb."

The cast is, with one exception, the same that appeared here last fall. The songs and ensemble numbers have been changed, however, and Mr. Trainor succeeds in presening a very able production. Miss Louise Willis, as Henry's wife, is the best of the female characters and her interpretation of the wife of a henpecked hubsand is convincing. Miss Alice Lee as Elsie Smitt is the only new member of the cast. Miss Edna Raymond as Fay Davenport, the actress, scored continually with her song numbers.

"Henpecked Henry" will continue until Wednesday evening, with the regular daily matinees.

A feature of the Empress theater is the presentation of "Our Mutual Girl," which was shown for the first time yesterday afternoon. These pictures were shown at another local playhouse until recently, but will appear regularly at the Empress from now on, until the new Zelda theater opens. This week Margaret, the Mutual girl, is being searched for by her aunt and the services of Sir Conan Doyle and William Burns are employed. They are both shown in the film.

Manager Mistachkin of the Echo theater yesterday began to feel the need of an enlarged playhouse when overflow audiences attended the opening performances of the mirth-provoking musical comedy "Hotel a la Carte." The show was billed as the "funniest musical comedy ever produced."

There were twenty people in the cast, the chorus having been enlarged, and and besides comedy there were song and dance specialties. Every number scored a big hit with the audience.

Jack Hubb, the producer, headed the merrymakers as "Charles Knickerhocker," a bell hop. Hubb is a good laugh-getter and is becoming very popular with Echo audiences. Miss Marie Russell, who is billed as having form as well as histrionic ability, was one of the big cards on the bill. Lea Hoyt as "Heiny Schultz," the hotel barber, was a hit, as was Miss Blanche Carr, who introduced a song specialty. Her voice is far above the chorus variety and she makes an excellent appearance. Other members of the cast made a very creditable showing.

During the last half of the week Manager Mistachkin will put on "September Morn" with Miss Russell in the title role. He is arranging to augment his chorus to twenty-five for this production.

THE CZAR'S CHEF THEIR COOK.

Two Travelers in France Were Most Happily Surprised.

New York Times: "The best meal I ever got," said the globe-trotter, "was in the back parlor of a small shop in an old town in France. It cost me fifty cents." The first man who got his breath asked for details. The globe-trotter gave them.

"It was in Blois," he said. "Not much of a place, but it has a fine castle, with moats and ramparts all complete, and there's a certain little cake shop down in the heart of the town.

"I was there with a friend named Bodfish. After doing the castle pretty carefully, we found our way to the little cake shop for a bit of lunch. The proprietress, a very pleasant old woman, indeed, introduced us to her son, who was modestly hiding behind his mustache in a corner.

"We had some rather ragged French conversation with him, and ended by hiring a room in the house for the night, we meant to stay just one night in Blois.

"'And—er—dinner?' asked Bodfish.

"'If the messieurs will permit, I will do myself the honor of cooking them a dinner,' said the cake woman's son, bowing courteously.

"Thereupon Bodfish and I went blithely to an attic, made our toilet, and descended to the dining room, which was a cozy little room in the rear of madame's cake shop.

"Our landlady's son was there, ready for us. So was a soup.

"I have traveled all over the world, and tasted the best every country has to offer, but at the first taste of that dish all my memories of other soups huddled together in a dark corner of my mind and froze to death.

"I looked at Bodfish. He was speechless with delight.

"'More, messieurs?'

"Between us we razed that soup to the ground.

"'Entree, messieurs?'

"Don't ask me what that entree was. It couldn't have been anything commoner than nightingales' eyelashes Bodfish ate it with his eyes shut and his head bowed reverently.

"We stayed in Blois for twenty-nine meals. We knew only two sorts of time, meals and between meals. As for sight-seeing, we didn't see much more than our plates, because after each meal in the back parlor we could only lie about on couches and blink sleepily. You may get some idea of the sort of meals we got when I tell you that Bodfish summed up the cook's ability in these words:

"'At times he seems to lose his culinary skill and descends to mere perfection.'

"After the twenty-ninth meal Bodfish and I remembered that we belonged somewhere, had a number of relatives, and had business awaiting us that we must really attend to. So we called the cook, said that we were leaving, and asked how much we owed.

"'Six francs for each day, messieurs,' said he. 'One for the room, one for breakfast, one and a half for lunch two and a half for dinner.'

"Bodfish and I fell heavily against each other. We could hardly believe our ears. Then we paid the bill, and started for the door.

"'Wait,' said our host, 'I, too, travel away today.'

"'Whither are you bound?' we asked.

"'To St. Petersburg,' he replied. 'I came to see my old mother. I had not seen her for five years. I must thank you, messieurs, for giving me this chance to keep up my art. Had you not done so, I fear that it would have suffered——'

"'Wh—wh—what are you in St. Petersburg?' we inquired, huskily.

"'Chef,' he said, bowing, 'to his imperial majesty, the czar.'"

SALAD DRESSING.

This dressing is desirable for any vegetable or meat salad when French dressing is not used. It is especially nice with cabbage cut fine.

Four tablespoons of butter, one tablespoon of flour, one tablespoon of sugar, one tablespoon of salt, two tablespoons of mustard, dash of pepper, one cup of milk, one-half cup of vinegar, three eggs.

Heat the butter (do not brown) and stir in the flour. When smooth add the milk and stir until nearly boiling. Set the saucepan containing the mixture in another pan of hot water, or better yet use a double boiler. Mix together the sugar, salt, pepper and mustard and add to the cooking mixture. Beat the eggs, whites and yolks together, add the vinegar to the cooking mixture, and last of all the beaten eggs. Stir until thick like a soft custard. If cooked too long it will curdle or separate, as any such mixture which contains eggs. When done remove and set in cold water. Put in a fruit jar and set in the ice box. It keeps nicely.

CHICKEN SALAD.

Remove the skin from stewed chicken and dice the meat fine. Cut in small pieces a head of celery and mix with the chicken. Mix all with cooked salad dressing and serve on crisped leaves or lettuce. Sliced olives may be added if desired. The stuffed olives make a pretty bit of color.

If French dressing is used, put the salad mixture in the French dressing to marinate and allow to stand several hours. Stir frequently. Serve on lettuce with a bit of the cooked dressing put on the top of each service.

Study Yourself to Retain Husband's Affections.

Why is it that so much blame attaches itself to the wife when she loses the affection of her husband or expresses the fear that his love for her is on the wane.

I sat opposite a woman at luncheon yesterday who confided a little of her misery to me. "Do you know that I am afraid to have you see my hands and nails," she said. "They are in bad condition from peeling onions, potatoes and rhubarb and other things so that my husband may have his full of good food. But it has no effect in keeping him at my side. I have tried all the plans advanced and warranted by theorists, but he just goes and I feel more like a slave than a wife."

Probably no amount of housewifely prowess, daintiness of person or powers of mind would serve to hold such a man to his sworn vows of loving and cherishing. Because, despite the woeful lack of housekeeping knowledge among young wives, there are young husbands, and old husbands, too, who are seemingly impervious to wifely effort, goodness and love.

As someone has said, "A husband does not stop loving his wife in a day or a week or a month. His disillusionment is gradual and in its early stage can be arrested. Almost any woman can win a man, but eternal vigilance is the price of keeping one. You must not watch him, mind, but watch yourself."

While I have no wish to underestimate the value of good housekeeping, I have seen and constantly do see evidences that slaving to keep a house clean and homelike and to prepare good meals does not fill all the requirements. That is, it does not keep husbands tethered in anything like the proportion one would suppose from the treatises forthcoming all the time on the subject of housing and feeding the superior animal, man.

So, while the advice, "watch yourself and not your husband," in order to keep his affections, has its merits; while catering to him is often effective, it sometimes happens that none of these things will avail to make him devoted and attentive. And my advice to any woman is not to shed tears over the matter if she has done her part well.

Consider these in buying a Diamond

First: Is the stone without a flaw?

Second: The color of the stone.
Third: The cutting of the stone.
Fourth: And most important of all, the reliability of the store from which you buy it.

The first three reasons greatly affect the value of the stone.

Some of these reasons are only discernable to an expert and therefore in purchasing a diamond you must rely upon the person from whom you buy it.

That's why it pays to buy a stone at a reputable store like Henricksen Jewelry company, for you then know exactly what you are getting.

Gardener's Calendar.

Secure fertilizers to use during the growing season.
Summer prune shrubs.
Start perennials for next summer's borders.
Select peonies and iris for fall planting.

The problem of what fertilizer to use and how much during the growing season is a serious one with the average gardener in the city. Where an adequate supply of well composted manure is not available, in all probability bone meal or bone and blood will prove the most valuable substitute. These fertilizers contain nitrogen, phosphorus potash and lime—all important elements in plant growth and soil building. While much of the food in bone meal is immediately available, much is retained by the soil for the future. Many of the so-called commercial fertilizers are merely plant stimulants and in no sense soil builders. As a rule several of them must be combined in order to get balanced results. For instance, nitrate of soda is good where a rank growth of foliage is desired, but if applied carelessly, the crop will be burned out, and nitrogen alone will not produce flowers and fruit in abundance. Our soil lacks phosphorus, and bone fertilizers will supply it. These fertilizers should be used sparingly and should be thoroughly mixed with the top soil. A scant tablespoonful for each plant is an ample supply. Care should be used not to allow the fertilizer to fall on the leaves of the growing plant.

As soon as shrubs are through blooming they should be carefully pruned to insure plenty of bloom next year. Dead or scrubby wood is always a drain on the vitality of the plant; and, as a rule, it is the wood made now that will give next year's supply of blossoms. Then, too, summer pruning has a tendency to bring the sap down and induce flower buds to form for next season.

Seeds of perennial plants may be sown in the open border now, and much stronger blooming clumps will result for next season than from August sowing.

The German irises are in full bloom now and peonies will be at their best in another week. Those intending to plant in the fall should select varieties and get in orders during the blooming season. Early September is the proper time for planting or dividing peonies and iris. Both of these perennials should be more generally planted in Duluth. They are absolutely hardy and no other plants can surpass them in beauty for home grounds or for cut flowers during their season. There are now more than 1,000 varieties of the peony on the market, and there are several hundred varieties of the iris. These plants will grow and thrive for you where other things fail, and they are a permanent investment.

themselves the right to make discriminations in favor of a long haul, and hence had the right, and did in 1910 take this right from the railroads and give it to the commission.

Had the decision been to the contrary it would have rested in the judgment of the railroads as to how far interior cities should share with seaboard cities in the benefits of water competition.

Many Applications Waiting.

Applications from railroads to put into effect long and short haul rates throughout various sections of the country have been held up pending the court's decision. It is expected that the commission will at once take up those applications, pass upon them, and if they are found reasonable, determine by how much it is right for the railroads to allow certain long hauls to exceed short hauls.

Briefly the interstate commerce commission's so-called inter-mountain rate orders were sustained as valid by the supreme court, which held, at the same time, that the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce law was constitutional. Both had been attacked by the transcontinental railroads. The defunct commerce court, passing over the constitutional question, had annulled the orders on the ground that the commission had no authority to issue "blanket" or "zone" orders and might act only on the reasonableness of such rates.

"In overturning that contention and holding that the commission did have such power, the supreme court decided a point which lawyers and close observers of the interstate commerce commission's procedure say is of equal importance to the intermountain rate case itself, if not greater. Opposition to the 5 per cent increase in freight rates being asked by the Eastern railroads, and upon which the interstate commerce commission is expected to announce its decision at any day, has been based principally upon the contention that the commission did not have authority under the law to grant such a "blanket increase." Copies of the court's decision yesterday were sent immediately to the commission for its guidance.

What the effect, if any, of the decision upon the rate case may be can only be the subject of conjecture. There are those among the well informed in the commission's procedure, however, who say the decision in the disposition of the railroads' application has been delayed awaiting the supreme court's decision on that important point.

Effect on Western Rates.

As to the intermountain rate orders themselves, their effect is that such Western cities as Reno, Spokane and Butte would not be forced to pay on their freight from the East the regular rate through to the Pacific coast, and then also another rate from the Pacific back to their stations, because the railroads are competing with water-borne traffic around Cape Horn or through the Panama canal.

They will, however, pay certain increases over the normal rates from certain zones. Thus the railroads may charge no more than the regular rate on shipments originating in the territory west of a vertical line drawn through St. Paul.

They may, however, charge an increase of 7 per cent on those originating between St. Paul and Chicago; not more than 15 per cent on those between Chicago and Pittsburg and not more than 25 per cent on those between Pittsburg and the Atlantic seaboard. Those increases the commission prescribed as reasonable because of the condition of the water competition.

Fixes Commission's Right.

As a result of the decision all question is removed as to the right of the commission, not only to pass on the reasonablenss of a lower rate for a haul to a more distant city than to a nearer one in the same direction, but to fix how much the difference may be. It recognizes the power of the commission to fix such rates by zones, as distinguished from taking up the conditions surrounding each point of shipment in the United States.

matters beyond his court's jurisdiction, allowed excessive trustee fees to a personal friend, used his official position for preferment of his son- in-law, A. H. Heyward, abused his authority by domestic use of government-paid court employes, violated laws regarding drawing of jurors, and dissipated bankrupt estates by appointing unnecessary officials and allowing excessive fees.

Accused of Contempt.

Another charge was that, in the case of Henry Jamison, a Macon negro, Judge Speer defied the mandates of the supreme court of the United States and the circuit court of appeals.

The subcommittee's conclusion follows:

"The conclusion of the subcommittee, deduced from the evidence taken and from the construction of the precedents of impeachment trials, is that at the present time satisfactory evidence sufficient to "support a conviction upon a trial by the senate is not obtainable.

"In the conduct of the hearings the committee was extremely liberal, and did not confine the witnesses to the giving of technically legal evidence. Much evidence of a hearsay nature was received. The committee felt justified in such a course in the light of the fact that it came to the attention of the committee that many witnesses were apprehensive of the consequences of giving evidence against Judge Speer, in the event of his acquittal.

Feared Judge's "Wrath."

"This feeling and the general disposition on the part of individuals to protect themselves against what was termed the 'wrath' of Judge Speer, kept from the committee the names of the witnesses and a knowledge of the facts in their possession. Many of the witnesses whose testimony would be absolutely necessary to sustain some of the charges made are dead. Others have removed from the Southern district of Georgia and their whereabouts are unknown.

"Another phase of the record is that it details a large number of official acts on the part of Judge Speer which are in themselves legal, yet, when taken together, develop into a system tending to approach a condition of tyranny and oppression. There has been an inequitable exercise of judicial discretion, many instances of which have been frequently criticized where the cases in which they were committed have been reviewed by the courts of appeal, while in others litigants were unable, financially, to prosecute appeals. That the power of the court has been exercised in a despotic and autocratic manner by the judge cannot be questioned.

Disregarded the Law.

"The Jamison case is one of many instances shown by the record where the judge, without taint of individual corruption and with the apparently laudable purpose of purifying the community and inaugurating a civic reform, disregarded the law and apparently considered that the end justified the means.

"The record shows instances where the judge, sitting in the trial of criminal cases, apparently forced pleas of guilty from defendants, or convictions and there is strong evidence tending to show that in one case, at least, he forced innocent parties to enter such pleas through a fear of the consequences in the event of an unfavorable verdict at the hands of a jury presided over by the judge in the manner peculiar to himself.

Lacks Evidence.

"The sub-committee regrets its inability either to recommend a complete acquittal of Judge Speer of all culpability so far as these charges are concerned, on one hand, or an impeachment on the other. And yet it is persuaded that the competent legal evidence at hand is not sufficient to procure a conviction at the hands of the senate. But it does feel that the record presents a series of legal oppressions, and shows an abuse of judicial discretion which, though falling short of impeachable offenses, demand condemnation and criticism.

"If Judge Speer's judicial acts in the future are marked by the rigorous and inflexible harshness shown by this record these charges hang as a portentous cloud over his court, impairing his usefulness, impeding the administration of justice, and endangering the integrity of American institutions."

Volstead's Report.

Complete exoneration of Judge Speer from the charges that led to congressional investigation of his conduct was recommended in the minority report by Representative Volstead. Representative Volstead also attacked the methods and findings of the majority of the sub-committee, who held that the evidence did not warrant impeachment, but criticized certain acts of the accused jurist.

"While I concur in the recommendations made in the majority report that no further proceedings be had upon the charges against Judge Speer, I desire to express in as emphatic language as possible my protest against the methods that have been pursued," says Representative Volstead in his report.

"I desire to have its distinctly understood that I do not criticize the motives of my associates, but the proceedings in this investigation have been marked by acts cruelly unjust and unfair. No effort was made to protect the judge against mere slander and abuse that could serve no other purpose than to disgrace and humiliate him. No court in any civilized country would tolerate any such proceeding."

"Short-Cut Method."

The Volstead report declares that "the evidence introduced was nearly all either hearsay or secondary evidence," and that "this short-cut method of arriving at the guilt or innocence of the judge created confusion as to actual facts."

Much attention was paid to the charge that Judge Speer allowed bankruptcy estates to be dissipated through allowance of excessive attorneys' fees. To refute this charge, Representative Volstead presented statistics of the cost of administration of bankruptcy assets in the Southern district of Georgia from 1899 to 1912, in comparison with the districts of residence of the various members of the house judiciary committee for those years. This tabulation, taken from the reports of the attorney general, showed the cost in Judge Speer's district was 9.7 per cent, while the average for the other districts listed was 19.2 per cent.

"If judges are to be subjected to the treatment accorded Judge Speer," concludes the report, "how can they be expected to maintain that spirit of independence so essential to the just administration of the law?

Many Beautiful Acts.

"It is not necessary to say anything in commendation of Judge Speer. The last line of the majority report recommending no further action upon the charges is, despite all criticism to the contrary, a complete vindication. It would not have been written if the evidence had pointed to anything worthy of real criticism. Let me add that the day will come when Judge Speer will be remembered with pride by the people of Georgia, not only for his ability and integrity, but especially for what Mr. Wimberly called his many beautiful acts of mercy to the poor and oppressed."

CREDIT MEN MEET.

Rochester, N. Y., June 23.—The nineteenth annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men opened at Convention hall this morning. About 1,000 delegates and many visitors from various parts of the country were on hand for the opening session. The convention will continue four days.

head of Janesville will be the choice for permanent chairman.

Several platforms are said to have been prepared dealing with various state and national issues, foremost among which are said to be those relating to taxation, commission and the tariff.

Predicted 1,000 Delegates.

One hundred and twenty-five delegates swarmed the headquarters at a local hotel this forenoon.

E. L. Philipp, promoter of the gathering, mingled with the crowd, meeting the delegates as they came from Milwaukee, La Crosse, Baraboo and Janesville. Early in the day he predicted the convention would grow beyond his expectation and would witness an attendance of 1,000 delegates.

The platform makers worked all night, their object being to declare against the Democratic tariff law and against extravagance in the support of state appropriations. Much will be said against the commission system in the state government.

Delegates' badges prepared for the convention are red, white and blue and printed in bold type are the words "Republican convention" with streamers attached on which reads "Lower Taxes, Fewer Commissions and Business Administration."

C. H. Kelsey of Milwaukee, publicity agent, said that the list of delegates would not be made public.

"It is a big general mass meeting," he said, "and we will be unable to furnish the names of all who will be present."

SCOTS WILL CELEBRATE

Six Hundredth Anniversary of Bannockburn Will Be Observed.

Tomorrow will be the 600th anniversary of the battle of bannockburn, which set Scotland free from the English, and made famous her great king, Robert Bruce; and the members of Clan Stewart, Order of Scottish clans, propose to celebrate the day in proper fashion.

To begin with, the largest class of candidates for membership in the clan's history, will be initiated at the hall, Fourth avenue west and First street. About 125 will be initiated the degree work being performed between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening. This will be followed by an entertainment which will last from 9 until 10, refreshments then being served, and an impromptu musical program coming after that, and lasting, as Royal Counsellor Alex G. McKnight says, correctly quoting a much abused phrase, until "the wee, sma' oors ayont the twal."

The affair will be for members only.

A. G. MACAULAY,
Chief of Clan Stewart, O. S. C.

It is expected that most of the 500 members will attend, and in view of that fact the entertainment had to be restricted to the men for the hall will be pretty well filled at that. The clansmen are giving praise to Chief A. G. Macaulay, who has made a record in increased membership, untouched by any of his predecessors. He has made the Clan Stewart the fourth largest in the country.

The program prepared for the entertainment is as follows:

Address of welcome to the new members .....
Past Royal Chief Simon Clark.
Recitation—"Bruce and the Spider" .....
.....Eliza Cook
Royal Counsellor A. G. McKnight.
Vocal solo—"Where Has Scotland Found Her Fame?" .....
Dr. J. G. Adams.
Paper on "Bannockburn" by David Finlayson .....
Read by John G. Ross.
Vocal solo—"Scots Wha Hae," the poetical rendition of Bruce's address to his troops at Bannockburn
F. G. Brown.
Vocal solo—"Scotland Yet" .....
Robert Drummond.

VILLA DETERMINED ON FULL CONQUEST

Will Keep on Fighting Toward Mexico City, It Is Said.

Eagle Pass, Tex., June 23.—Gen. Villa is anxious to complete the absolute defeat of Huerta and fight his way at the head of his army into Mexico City, irrespective of the action Gen. Carranza may take, according to reports brought to the border by travelers arriving from Torreon and Monterey. These reports state that after Villa occupies Zacatecas, he will push on south without waiting for troop movements other than those under his own direction.

At Saltillo, it is reported that Gen. Trevino, chief of staff to Carranza, soon will be assigned to field duty and will command a brigade in the attack on San Luis Potosi. Gen. Eduardo Hay, who has been with Gen. Obregon's command on the west coast, is expected to succeed Trevino as chief of staff. The change is part of the plan to heal the breach between Villa and Carranza.

The retirement of Marida, one of Carranza's civil secretaries, who left Saltillo a few days ago for Washington, and Isador Favel, acting secretary of state, is anticipated.

It was said by arrivals from Torreon that Gen. Fierro of Villa's staff went to Saltillo Sunday, but the object of his mission was not made public. Fierro's name was closely connected with stories of the death of the Englishman, William H. Benton, some months ago. A number of those wounded in the Zacatecas attack have been brought to Torreon, according to men who reached the border from Torreon.

FILIPINO TELLS OF ARREST IN MEXICO

Alcarez Says He Had Fair Trial and Was Well Treated.

Mexico City, June 23.—Gregorio Alcarez, the Filipino servant of Capt. Rush of the U. S. battleship Florida, for whom the state department at Washington instituted a search, has been found. He walked into the Brazilian legation yesterday and introduced himself to the minister. The Filipino showed no signs of ill treatment.

Alcarez said he was released from the Santiago military prison on June 9, when, at the invitation of a fellow prisoner, a Mexican, he went to Tizpan, an Indian village a few miles from the capital. He remained there until yesterday morning, when he read a newspaper account of the search being made for him by the Mexican police. He then came here immediately. He said he did not know the Brazilian minister had charge of American interests, and was told there was no American consul in the city. As he had no money he was unable to return to Vera Cruz.

Arrested as a Spy.

Alcarez said he left Vera Cruz at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of May 6 to buy fruit for Capt. Rush. On passing the Mexican lines he was arrested at Tejeria as a spy. He gave his right name, but did not reveal his connections with the United States navy. He was held at Tejeria until May 7, when he was taken to Pasodel Marco, remaining there until May 9, when he was transferred to Cordoba. The Filipino arrived in Mexico City in custody on May 10 and was confined in the barracks of the Twenty ninth regiment. On May 15, he was removed to Santiago prison.

Alcarez said he was tried and acquitted on the charge of being a spy for the Americans. The trial, he added, was a fair one, the judge explaining the points of law very carefully, as the Filipino knows little Spanish, speaking only English and his native Tagalog dialect.

Gave Back His Hat.

The judge at the trial, Alcarez said, expressed disapproval that the Filipino had been deprived of his money and of his Panama hat by the authorities at Tejeria. His property was returned.

At the trial Alcarez did not reveal his connection with the American navy, saying he left Vera Cruz to look for a house in Zoledad with the object of getting married and living there.

Only by the efforts of the Brazilian minister was the identity of Alcarez fully established. The minister had been working unceasingly on the case for a month.

The Filipino was furnished with enough money by the Brazilian legation to pay his expenses, and he will leave Mexico City today for Vera Cruz, accompanied by a representative of the legation who will deliver him to the American autorities.

The Brazilian minister cabled to the state department at Washington and to Consul Canada in Vera Cruz regarding the case. Alcarez said he had received all privileges accorded Mexican prisoners. The Filipino's statements fully corroborated those of the Mexican war department, which is shown to have acted in good faith throughout the negotiations.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

FLOODS IN CHINA.

Hongkong, June 23. — Extensive areas in the provinces of Kwangsi and Kwantung are inundated as a result of the flooding of the West river, which has risen seventy feet out of its banks. Thousands of natives were compelled to flee to the hills for safety.

The parade ground in Wuchow, a treaty port in the province of Kwangsi, 180 miles west of Canton, is ten feet under water. Customs officials and members of the foreign staff there are living on boats. A houseboat from Kweilien, capital of Kwangsi, sank. A Chinese official and the members of his family on board it were drowned.

Boats plying between Hongkong and the flooded districts have been forced to return here without discharging their cargoes.

The telegraph lines are down and communication is difficult.

The Saving Habit Pays Dividends on Past Efforts.

"Get the habit" is a slang phrase, but it is excellent advice when applied to the habit of saving.

Our advice to the young man and young woman who have a desire to get a start in the world is to have a savings account and then to "get the habit" of depositing regularly, a part of his or her earnings.

The dividends are not merely the interest you receive on your savings—the habit formed is worth dollars to you all the rest of your days.

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

"HUNCH" FAMOUS THE NATION OVER

Cheerfulest Character That Ever Smoked a Jimmy Pipe or Rolled a Cigarette.

How He Was Created Featured in One of a Remarkable Series of Advertisements Which Starts in Tomorrow.

Beginning tomorrow, the most unique and interesting series of advertisements ever printed in these columns will appear at regular intervals. It is all about Prince Albert, "the national joy smoke" tobacco. This publicity is notable from the standpoint of reading interest and illustrative treatment.

Prince Albert advertising has long been a feature of the country's magazines and it is so original and appealingly human in both text and illustration that people everywhere follow it with keenest interest.

You read it (in the language of Prince Albert) "for what ails you" and it will help you to "hear the bees buzz and the little birds sing early in the a. m." The language is so happily natural and so cheerful that to read one advertisement makes you feel you want to read more and more, just as you anxiously await new chapters of a continued story.

There's a lot of quaint humor in the "copy" and oddity and humanness of expression. It seems to "inject some real sunshine into your system." That's because it's just natural talk about how good Prince Albert really is.

The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. have received thousands of letters about their advertising. Folks just seem to get "happy" over it. You will.

Illustrations are are as unique as the reading matter. Some of the greatest character artists in the country have contributed to this new series.

It will interest everyone to known that the odd picture printed herewith was named "Hunch" and is probably the most famous of a long series of notable illustrations. You know him—everybody knows him! That's why he's so popular. He appears in large size in one of this new series of ads. By the way, we recently asked the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. whether "Hunch" was sketched from life or was just created." We found that "Hunch" does not exist in real life.

It is said that when the artist was given his instructions he was told to create a character "who lived in a small country town, who was always at the station when the train came in; knew everybody's business better than his own, was always broke, with money 'just in sight,' happy natured and just kind of glad he was alive if he had his jimmy pipe and a tidy red tin of Prince Albert."

"Hunch" was the result! Now he's famous all over the nation. The series of ads that starts tomorrow will certainly interest you.

NO CHANGES IN RESULTS

Official Count of Primary Election Returns Is Completed.

Only 130 Women Voted for County School Superintendent.

Although the official count of the primary election canvassing board was closely watched by those interested in a number of close contests in the recent primaries, the final figures did not change the relative standings of any candidate as shown by unofficial figures.

The official count was completed shortly before midnight last night by the county canvassing board. Deputy County Auditor J. O. Walker and a large corps of assistants aided the board of canvassers in totaling and checking up the totals for the various offices voted upon in St. Louis county.

In all, 172 precincts were canvassed. The canvass shows that 17,759 votes were cast, which was 1,572 less than the number registered for the election. The total woman's vote was 130 out of 137 registered. These were cast by the women in the districts outside of the city of Duluth, where candidates were balloted upon for the office of county school superintendent.

Several Close Races.

There were several close races. The returns in the Second and Sixth commissioner districts on candidates for county commissioner were watched with considerable interest. In the Second district, where thirteen candidates were in the field for the two places on the ticket, Thomas H. Little won handily down and the contest proved to be between Kribsback and Osman for second place. Kribsback won out by ten votes.

The race in the Sixth commissioner's district, where seven candidates were in the field for the two nominations, was even more exciting and it was not known until Saturday who the nominees were. The complete unofficial count Saturday gave the nominations to Shank and Penttilla with Cosgrove a close third.

The official count showed no changes except a slight difference in the returns from the city of Virginia. The unofficial count from Virginia gave Penttilla three and Shank two more votes each than did the official count, but this correction will not affect the relative standings of the candidates. When the smoke cleared away the count showed the following:

What to Do to Get Fat and Increase Weight

The Real Cause of Thinness

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Boyce Drug store and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back. —Advertisement.

ARE DELAYED BY THE FOG

Noronic, Carrying Ohio Bankers, Will Not Arrive Until Evening.

Fog has delayed the arrival of the Ohio bankers, who were due in Duluth this morning, and they will not arrive until about 8 o'clock this evening.

The bankers are taking the lake trip on the new steamer Noronic. They were expected in Duluth at 11 o'clock this morning, but a wireless message received at 10 o'clock stated that the boat had been delayed by the fog at Fort William and would not reach Duluth until tonight. The program of entertainment will have to be revised, and perhaps eliminated entirely, as the stay in Duluth will be cut short.

We hope they keep it up.

Today it's the bankers of Ohio, members of the bankers' association of that state, who are out on a pleasure trip and have taken the right route to the right place for it.

Duluth is glad to welcome them to its midst, and to show them that though Ohio is fair, there is yet Minnesota; and that though Cleveland and Cincinnati and Toledo and Port Clinton and Wapakoneta and the rest are sightly and pleasant and good to live in, there is yet Duluth.

These are bankers, and Minnesota knows the bankers and appreciates them. They are good people, and sturdy and dependable timbers in the structure of society; and if they have certain foibles and idiosyncracies such as those which make it difficult for a man to borrow money on a piece of blue sky or on the figment of a superheated imagination, we set it down to human frailty and try to put up with it.

If these bankers were not on a pleasure trip, and therefore presumably indisposed to talk shop, we might spin a lot of figures about Duluth's financial and industrial and commercial fibers and show these visitors that Duluth is all wool and a yard wide—several long, as they would have noticed if they had not missed the automobile trip—and that it is swinging up the pike of prosperity, headed for the top, at a smart and steady pace.

However, they can see and absorb that for themselves, and we shall not burden them with the figures.

Duluth is honored and gratified by this visit, and extends the hand of friendship and good will to the party, collectively and severally. It hopes they are all having a fine trip, and that it will yield them not only a good time and new energy for the next year's work but a pleasant recollection of Duluth, and that it will plant deep in them somewhere a determination that if they ever do move, it will be over the route they have just come and to the place that has pleasure in entertaining them today.

Whatever else he may do, it is unreasonable to expect Lee to congratulate himself on Hammond's nomination.

MORE SHACKLES SHATTERED.

An amazing freight rate situation has existed out in the mountain country east from the Pacific coast.

On the ground that they had to meet water competition, the railroads charged Spokane, Butte and other mountain cities for hauling their freight from the East the full rate from the East to the Pacific coast, plus the rate from the coast back to the mountain city.

For instance, when a Spokane citizen got a freight shipment from New York direct, it cost him just as much for freight as it would if he had had his shipment sent to Seattle and then returned to him at Spokane.

Of course this put a tremendous handicap on the interior cities, and they complained to the interstate commerce commission. That body ruled against the old practice, but to help out the railroads, which were forced to make lower through rates because of water competition, fixed a system of blanket or zone rates that relieved the mountain cities while allowing the railroads to charge a differential on through rates that increased as the point of origin was farther east.

The commerce court—which did a great deal to confirm the suspicion that it was created to handicap the interstate commerce commission in the interest of the railroads—held that the commission had no power to make blanket or zone rates.

And now the supreme court has held that it has that power, thus striking from the commission another of the shackles riveted upon it by the happily deceased commerce court, which was one of the triumphs of the last Republican administration.

The decision also has an important bearing on the right of the commission to make the horizontal increase in freight rates asked for by the railroads.

Still more important, it means that the interstate commerce commission in behalf of the whole nation, and not the railroads, shall determine how far and in what manner the benefits of cheaper water transportation by way of the Panama canal shall be distributed.

When somebody tries to blow up the czar, official Russia promptly denies that anybody did such a thing. Query: Just how much strain does the denial take off his majesty's nerves?

A CONCRETE ROAD TO THE STEEL PLANT SUBURBS.

Where there's a will there's a way.

One of Duluth's greatest needs, next to the need of a street car line there, is a suitable highway from West Duluth to the up-river suburbs, neighbors to the steel plant.

There were difficulties in the way. There were many men of many minds, and the minds were so various and conflicting and the difficulties seemed so many that in certain quarters there was a good deal of pessimism.

Finally the city authorities discovered that the way to do what everybody agreed needed to be done was to do it.

And now they propose to do it—to build a fine concrete highway upon the initative of the city, and to assess the cost to the property benefitted—which was the only possible way—except the cost of the intersections, for which the city will pay.

This is good news. Mr. Murchison should introduce his resolution at the earliest possible moment; and the council should pass it. While the prescribed sixty days of waiting are passing, preparations should be made so that on the sixty-first day the city can plunge into the work, fully equiped and in a spirit that will finish it on record time.

The city needs this highway, and the quicker it is built the better.

Just the same, it was mean of Taft to write that Senator Stephenson always agreed with him.

WARDEN WOLFER.

After more than twenty years of service as warden of the Minnesota state prison at Stillwater, Henry Wolfer leaves that position July 1.

There are few servants of the state of Minnesota whose loss would be felt so keenly. Mr. Wolfer has furnished a combination of talents that hardly any other prison authority in the country could parallel, if there is any who could. He is a humanitarian, a skilled penologist, and a broad-gauged business man. The combination is rare indeed. The state prison under his direction has become one of the finest institutions of the kind in the country, and he has made it so.

Mr. Wolfer has well earned the rest he seeks. Though the loss is great, still it must be remembered that he leaves behind him a going institution, fully organized on the broadest lines. His successor—of whom we hear many good words—has but to keep it going as it is. It is not, then, as though Mr. Wolfer had been compelled to leave his plans partly uncompleted. The state which he has served so well will wish him success and happiness in whatever pursuit he follows hereafter.

How long before congress will start an investigation of Mount Lassen?

"Imported Cloth."

Fiber and Fabric: The craze for "imported cloth" has reached the men as well as the women shoppers, and merchant tailors are reaping a rich harvest in "imported" cloth for custom-made suits, some of them using $1 per yard American wool fabrics and charging up to $5 and $6 a yard and selling $30 suits at from $50 to $60.

The misrepresentation of the cloth is between the jobber and the suit maker, as the mills are not mixed up in the fraud in any particular. The buyer swells up in his "imported" suit that cost him $60, and it is not difficult to match the suit in the big ready-to-wear shops at $20 to $25. A leading Western woolen manufacturer recognized a piece of his cloth in a tailor shop in an Eastern city not long ago and it was prominently labeled "imported." Inquiry brought out the story of how it was a piece of fancy English woolen, not equaled anywhere, and a bargain at $4 a yard, the price paid to the jobber for it. A suit would cost $60.

This particular fabric was sold by the Western mill at $1 a yard, and the mill profit was 10 cents a yard. The jobber put on the "imported" label and took 300 per cent profit and the tailor made at least 200 per cent on a suit. The consumer paid this exorbitant profit under the impression that there was something extraordinary furnished when, as a matter of fact, the fraud was on a par with gold bricks and the badger game. There is need of laws protecting the consumer. The manufacturer is the one surrounded by the fool laws, and he is the goat. The jobber and the retailer carry off the plums and the consumer is defrauded.

Col. Watterson on the Political Outlook

Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The movement of the sugar barons of Louisiana to break the Solid South by falling out of the Democratic and dropping into the Bull Moose column is characteristic not only of modern but of universal politics.

The Bull Moose seems to be at once an amphibious animal and a hermaphrodite. He stands half way between hell and the iron works, the devil and the deep blue sea. Thus he can swim or eat live coals, as the case requires, be a woman or a man at will.

In the North he is a dissatisfied Republican, in the South a disgruntled Democrat. In Louisiana one might call him old Sugar-in-the-Gourd, in Pennsylvania the He-Goat of High Tariff. In Roosevelt he is masculine, in Perkins feminine and in Pinchot neuter. All things by turns and nothing long, his votaries worship at the shrine of Teddy of the Forked Tongue and the Tiger Heart, whilst Teddy rides him for all he may be worth.

Sectional partyism has too much ruled the country. All of us must admit that. The dividing line involving an irrepressible conflict was made in the old slavery days and has continued ever since. The South was made solid by the solid North. It could hardly help itself. Proscription drove it into a corner in sheer self protection: Otherwise the people of the South, no more than the people of the North, think, or ever thought alike.

The Republican party, which began a sentimentalist, became, after a period of more or less professional patriotism, a professional trencherman. All parties, in every age or clime, intrusted too long with power, grow despotic and corrupt. Inevitably the slick rascals drift into them and forge to the front. Soon, or late, they split upon rival ambitions, or differences inherent to the state of parties.

The old historic Democratic party ruled for sixty years and went at last to pieces on the rocks of African slavery. It was strong enough to precipitate the country into secession and war. During those sixty years the opposition had two delightful interludes of fumbling with the loaves and fishes; that under Adams, between 1829 and 1832, and that under Taylor-Filmore, between 1849 and 1853, the Harrison-Tyler episode a Whig flash-in-the-pan.

The Republican party, coming in through a breach in the walls of Democracy, succeeded to more than fifty years of dominion, broken only by the two Cleveland snapshots at the pie counter. And, finally, history repeating itself, the Democrats arrived once more within the pearly gates of opportunity and patronage, thanks to Theodore Roosevelt.

Now, curiously enough, Theodore Roosevelt, discovering through the election returns of 1912 that he is not as big a man as he thought he was, seeks to rearrange the party conditions so that in 1916 he may be able to paste the Republican label on the Roosevelt bottle, and so that the field as the single contestant with the Democrats whom he had brought into power four years before.

The Democrats, on the other hand, with a leader whom chance rather than choice evolved out of chaos, must stand or fall by their administration. That means Wilson, of course. He has proved himself all the Courier-Journal said he was, a schoolmaster, able, learned and intrepid, sure to make the boys stand around. Working not to harness—making common cause with none—a dogmatist who does his own thinking and a disciplinarian who carries his own rod—he bosses the ranch and has reduced congress to a pulp.

Recalling the events of 1911-1912, the Courier-Journal, like Brer Rabbit of Uncle Remus and blessed memory "jes lolls back an' larfs." Wanting nothing except good government, it "is tickled nigh on to death." It is tickled by the way Wilson has tackled each piece of work that was to be done. It is tickled by the way he has tamed Bryan. It is tickled by the way he gives confidence to nobody, goes his ain gait, and, at once capable and heartless—save in the matter of foreign affairs—he has made himself hated and feared by the politicians who would not take our word for it, but backed away from Champ Clark, and, to escape the alternative of nominating Bryan, who had deadlocked the convention to that end, nominated Wilson. Now they wish they hadn't, whilst the Courier-Journal—as self-contained as the president—does not care a hill o' beans, supporting him wherever he is right, opposing him where it thinks him wrong, as free, happy and independent as a nigger sitting on the fence of a watermelon patch sucking the luscious fruitage and singing for dear life.

That the president's mishandling of the Mexican question has cost him something is indisputable. But we know not yet what the conditions will be in the middle of October, as the voters are bearing down upon election day. There is time for the administration—which is Wilson—to retrieve its errors. On one point let us be specific; he has striven for peace and nobody wants war. Thus much in any event will go to his credit. On the domestic policies, however, he has been from the beginning strong—very strong—and our hope and reliance is that these will pull him through and give him another Democratic congress. The majority will be less, of course. That, however, may be rather an advantage than a disadvantage.

As to the Bull Moose scheme of breaking the solid South it will not amount to much. It is too early for the South to pull away from Democracy. We are not yet quite out of the woods. Between the old prescriptionists of the Republican party lingering on the scene and the newly-arrived opportunists of Progressivism, led by Roosevelt—full of fads and fancies—averse to lawful methods and restraints of any kind—steadfast to nothing, true to nothing, agreeing on nothing except as heroizing idolators of one man and he a very dangerous man—our civilization is still beleaguered with only the Constitution to guard us against the invasion of statehood and racehood by fanaticism masquerading here as a prohibitionist, there as a woman suffragist, but everywhere and always a menace to sober, wise and orderly government.

There are some things in the outlook that do not look good for the Democratic party. But the pessimistic and the timorous were better to think twice before "coppering" the result of the fall campaign. The opposition is very active and noisy. But more than ever is there likely to appear at the polls a vote that is silent now, for, whatever the politicians may think, the president is stronger today than he was a year ago.

The issues remain what they were in the campaign of 1912, re-enforced by the Wilsonian example and the acts of congress. The same old enemy is still in front of us—old Zip Coon!—whether he calls himself a Republican or a Progressive—and the program approved in the election of the Democratic ticket and the sixty-third congress has lost none of its virtue or force, now that it has been put into effect and has crystallized into the law of the land.

Has the Colonel Decided to Run?

New York World: Col. Roosevelt's Progressive admirers in this state ought to be highly gratified over his seemingly final declaration:

I will not run for governor of New York.

Nov. 8, 1912. The colonel issued an equally emphatic statement, in which he said:

On the 4th of March next I shall have served three and a half years, and these three and a half years constitute my first term. The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination.

Dec. 11, 1907, the colonel reaffirmed this decision in language that was as positive as anything he has said about the governorship:

I have not changed and shall not change that decision thus announced.

Feb. 24, 1912, the colonel issued a further statement in which he said:

I will accept the nomination for president if it is tendered to me.

And when the nomination was not tendered, the colonel busted up the Grand Old Party and proceeded to nominate himself.

In the circumstances, what the colonel said at Southampton should prove distinctly encouraging to those Progressives who want him to be a candidate for governor. If a third-term nomination for president was only a third cup of coffee, as Dr. Lyman Abbott so piously explained, a second nomination for governor may be only a second cup of tea, and as primary day approaches, the colonel may discover that a second cup of tea is the one thing his system needs.

John L. Sullivan's Last Drink.

New York letter to the Cincinnati Times-Star: Eight years ago John L. Sullivan, unshaven and unkempt, emerged from the bar of the Grand hotel at Broadway and Thirtieth street, stood for a moment looking back at the door and then walked uncertainly uptown. It was 8 o'clock in the evening and the ex-pugilist brushed shoulders with well-groomed people hurrying to the theaters. He was the derelict in the stream. On his face there was a half smile, but it wasn't a pleasant one.

At the corner of Thirtieth street he met "Morry" Cohen and a newspaper man, with both of whom he was acquainted. He growled something incoherent in response to their greeting and was apparently about to pass on. But he paused and turned toward them.

"I've just been turned down in that barroom for a drink," he said. "I wanted one drink more and didn't have the price. They didn't give it to me. They put me out. They didn't send the proprietor or the manager to put me out. They sent the porter. I've spent $5,000 over that bar. And they put me out because I wanted a drink and couldn't pay for it. There's only one thing you can figure out of a proposition like that. Quit drinking! Tonight I quit.

The ex-champion's friends expressed indignation over the treatment he had received. It roused no spark of anger in "the big fellow." He was too filled with the sense of shame and mortification. Still brooding over the indignity he had suffered he accompanied Cohen and the newspaper man to Murphy's saloon, at Sixth avenue and Thirtieth street. Cohen ordered a drink. Sullivan filled his whisky glass to the brim.

"Boys," said he, "here's the last for me."

That's the true story of John L. Sullivan's last drink. Eight years have passed and the John L. Sullivan who was tottering on the edge of the gutter looks eight years younger today than he did that night. And he has $100,000.

The Leader.

They spoke of him as one who with the tongue
Of serpent hissed in poisonous breath the lies
That lured men into sin and made them false
To all that held the nation stanch in faith.
His name they stained with obloquy, with hate,
A thing to be a mockery and reproach.
If they but knew the truth! And yet what would
It matter? Naught cared he for praise or blame
Except that it might speed the day when all
Should see, as with his vision clear he saw
Life's meaning, through the love of man for man,
Breaking the shackles of the mass enslaved,
Content he was to wait, nor thought of self;
His prayer was for the race, the destiny
So long denied, and yet so close
That he could note the harbingers of joy!

A few remember him. And though he left
Long since the world where ceaselessly he strove,
They breathe his name with tenderness, with hope,
That like them, every one shall some day know,
And make atonement, cry his worth and ask
Forgiveness of his spirit. It may be;
But if it be not, let us still rejoice;
It is enough that once he lived on earth,
And walked with other men and shared their pains
And loved and made the supreme sacrifice!

—John D. Barry in the Poetry Journal.

He Knew the Answer.

Lippincott's: His name was Tommy, and he came home from school looking so down in the mouth that mother asked him severely what was the matter?

Out of his little trousers pocket he fished a note from the teacher, which said, "Tommy has been a very naughty boy. Please have a serious talk with him."

"What did you do?" asked mother.

"Nothing," sobbed Tommy. "She asked a question, and I was the only one who could answer it."

"H'm'," murmured mother. "What was the question?"

"Who put the dead mouse in her desk drawer?" answered Tommy.

His Sunday School Report.

Chicago Record-Herald: "What did they say to you?" asked little Harry's mother, after his first visit to the new Sunday school.

"The teacher said she was glad to see me there."

"Yes?"

"And she said she hoped I would come every Sunday."

"And was that all she said?"

"No, she asked me if our family belonged to that abomination."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio has a secretary, Hubert B. Fuller, who is almost as scholarly as Burton himself. Although he is a clean-shaven young man still in the front part of his 30's, Fuller has a dandy collection of plain and fancy college degrees and has dashed off a number of ponderous tomes that would do credit to the most profound and most bewhiskered old college professor in the land.

One of Fuller's books, "The Speakers of the House," promises to be a standard work for many years to come and reads every whit as learnedly as if it had been done by James Bryce or Henry Cabot Lodge. More recently he turned out a leather bound book dealing with insurance law that weighs seven pounds and a quarter, stripped, and is the most complete thing of its kiud that has ever been attempted.

Now, Senator Burton, in connection with the Panama tolls question was recently making an exhaustive investigation of all matters pertaining to international waterways and international purchases of land. He sent over to the congressional library for a list of everything they had bearing on these points and picked out about a hundredweight of books to take to his apartments and sift. One of the most valuable works of the whole lot for his purposes was a book about the size of Robinson Crusoe, but entitled "The Purchase of Florida." Burton sat up long after all law-abiding men should have sought their beds, absorbing the tale of the purchase of Florida with feverish interest.

The next morning, a trifle sleepy from having been up half the night reading, but full of enthusiasm over the kind Providence that had sent him "The Purchase of Florida" from the library, Burton entered his office with a number of books clutched under his arm.

"Fuller," remarked the senator, knowing his secretary's ready appreciation for anything really worth while along historical lines, "here is a book called 'The Purchase of Florida,' that is a remarkable treatise on the very questions we have been investigating. Had you ever seen it?"

"Oh, yes, sir," admitted Fuller, swallowing; "in fact, er—well, to tell you the actual truth, I wrote the book. I wrote it as a thesis to get myself a master's degree when I was a lad at Yale college up in Connecticut."

Burton stared at Fuller in admiration for some moments, as he muttered:

"Well, well, well!"

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma used to teach school. One day a girl pupil tripped him up on a big word and showed him where he had been pronouncing it wrong.

"Well, I'm apt to go wrong now and then," admitted Murray. "Even the books have things wrong sometimes." He picked up an arithmetic and remarked that he had no doubt it contained mistakes.

A smile of derision showed on the face of practically every pupil in the room. They were loth to believe that the book could go wrong. Anything between covers, thought they, was infallible. They thought he was just trying to excuse himself.

So Murray had to make good. Night after night he went home and worked at problems over in the back of the book. Finally he struck one that contained a printer's error in the answer. He wrote to the book company, calling their attention to it, and they sent him a letter acknowledging the error. Proudly Murray exhibited this letter to his pupils. He was vindicated.

Kent Cooper of the New York office of the Associated Press had his home, in Brooklyn, robbed one night in his absence. Among the articles taken were a lot of silverware and a little leather card case containing Cooper's name and an address in Indianapolis where he used to live. These articles were recovered by the police and when they read the name and address on Cooper's card case, they indited a letter to the police at Indianapolis.

"We're not certain that this man Cooper had anything to do with the job," wrote the Brooklyn cops, "but he probably will bear watching and we would like to know who some of his pals are."

And there's more to the story. When Cooper learned that the Brooklyn police had his silverware he went to get it.

"I doubt if you can have it back," they told him; "here of late we've been turning most of that kind of stuff into the pension fund."

Vice President Marshall promised a young woman out in Indiana, when he was elected governor of that state, that if he ever became president he would buy her a large sumptuous dinner. A few months ago that young woman came to Washington for a visit and reminded Marshall of his promise.

"That's so," he admitted. "Well, I suppose as things stand now I ought to buy you a luncheon."

They Ought to Have a Time on That.

The Advertising Men's club of Fort Worth wanted to attend the national convention at Toronto, and in order properly to represent their community, which we might call the Duluth of the South—and surely praise could go no higher—they wanted to make a real showing. It would cost money, of course; and there was the problem of how to get it. Where there's a will there's a way—the Star-Telegram provided it. The Star-Telegram volunteered a generous share of the proceeds of the edition of Sunday, June 14, and the ad men turned in. They hustled the business, they edited the paper, all but the current news, and the result is the Souvenir Ad Men's edition, now before us—an edition that is unique in many ways, and striking for bulk, excellence and fatness—typographically, artistically and financially. It is the first edition of a daily paper ever gotten out, edited and published entirely by an ad men's club.

The edition is Exhibit A. Exhibit B is the Star Telegram's check for $2,000, a facsimile of which appears in this edition, to the Advertising Men's club. They ought to have a good time in Toronto on that.

Giving Their Money's Worth.

Lippincott's: Fred Montgomery of Montgomery and Stone fame tells the following story of a theatrical manager who was trying to produce musical comedy, but was very unmusical himself.

"On one occasion," says Mr. Montgomery, "when he was superintending the arrangements of some performers who were representing allegorical characters, the author of the piece was present and was offering some suggestions.

"'Here in front,' said the author, 'we will put the nine muses.'

"'Nine muses!' cried the manager contemptuously, 'nine muses would look fine in that great space, wouldn't they? We will have thirty-six muses instead!'"

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

The Fly in the Ointment.

Brown's Valley Tribune: There will be plenty of time between now and election day to consider the qualifications of the different candidates that made the grade—the ones that were eliminated don't have to be considered. But you can at least heave a sigh of regret that in many cases the best man was eliminated.

Certainly!

St. Charles Union: The man who refuses to help some good cause or to march along the path of progress because it may interfere with his accumulation of wealth is not a true citizen. If in the brave days of old our forefathers had been imbued with that spirit we would not now be citizens of an independent nation. But because of the patriotism and superiority to worldly gain displayed by those same men we can hold our heads high. And it is our bounden duty not to lower the standard.

Away With the Private Bank.

Albert Lea Tribune: The Clinton, Iowa, Herald says "the private bank flourishes in Iowa and Illinois because it has as good a front entrance as an incorporated bank." The private bank is nothing more or less than a relic of by-gone days and its methods of doing business, without any outside restrictions, are liable to be pursued at times in a careless and loose manner. We believe in a short time there will be no such a thing as a private bank in any of the United States.

Such Has Been the Case.

Coleraine Optic: "Still water runs deep" and "actions speak louder than words." We cite the case of Boyle and Miller for example. There is such a thing as making too much noise even in a political campaign.

There's Philosophy.

Waseca Herald: Well, the defeated candidates in Tuesday's election have one consolation. It is less expensive to be beaten at the end of the first campaign than at the end of the second.

It's Awfully Binding, Anyway.

Stillwater Gazette: Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage association, scoffs at the marriage ceremony, declaring it has outlived its usefulness and should be relegated to oblivion. She calls the marriage service a poll-parrot affair and the method as used in reciting the pledge as ridiculous. Notwithstanding this declaration of the woman at the head of the woman suffrage movement, there is little doubt but that the marriage ceremony that has been in vogue scores and scores of years, will continue to be the popular style for many years to come.

Master of the Situation.

Le Sueur News: Speaker Clark, the Democratic statesman from Missouri, recently kicked at President Wilson's canal policy and hit a stone that crushed his toe. It is useless. The schoolmaster has all of them in a bottle, but is not corking them in if they behave.

Dr. Eliot, Optimist

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Plenty of pessimists are ready to tell how inevitably the nation is going to smash and why. It is refreshing occasionally to find one who believes quite the contrary and knows why.

Dr. Eliot, former president of Harvard, contributes to a popular monthly some wisdom of the optimistic sort. He insists that a long life is promised the American nation because of these considerations:

Our toleration in religion.

Universal education.

The better family life than existed in any of the historic republics that perished.

More equitable inheritance laws.

Publicity in all activities that concern the general public.

The organization on a large scale of corporations which afford "a new discipline for thousands of managing or directing people."

And, to quote directly, "universal suffrage prolongs the effect of universal education, for it stimulates all citizens throughout their lives to reflect on problems outside the narrow circle of their private interests and occupations; to read about public questions; to discuss public characters, and to hold themselves ready in some degree to give a rational account of their political faith."

The period of unrestrained muckraking is past, and the effect of it was far from being wholly bad. Healthful, intelligent criticism of government and private affairs should never be discouraged. If anything, people criticize too little; take too much for granted. On the other hand, there is always a good deal of mistaken pessimism voiced which passes too often for intelligent comment.

Accordingly, it is interesting to have a thinker of Dr. Eliot's caliber come to the front with specific considerations which argue a long life for the nation which some pessimists would have one believe is doomed to early extinction. He puts into words what nearly all feel to be facts.

Once in a While.

I stepped in a home I did not know,
And there, on a chair and all below
Scattered around were blocks and strings
And the floor was littered with various things—
A rubber ball, a horse on wheels,
A mule with upward-kicking heels,
A festive rooster winged with blue,
That laid an egg and flapped and crew,
And other right bewitching toys
Athrill with satifying joys.

"A real home this, I plainly see,"
Quoth I to one who beat her knee
To pick the things up one by one,
"Where is the baby? Daughter or son?"
She laid them each in proper place
And turned to me a wistful face—
A face whose lips had learned their part,
Lest the eyes too plain betray the heart,
"He has just gone home," said her lips to me;
"I borrow him once in a while, you see."

—Grace Allen in New York Times.

Impossible!

National Monthly: "I was outspoken in my sentiment at the club this afternoon," said Mrs. Garrulous to her husband the other evening.

With a look of astonishment he replied: "I can't believe it, my dear. Who outspoke you?"

Luck.

Life: Diogenes was looking for an honest man.

"What luck?" asked the wayfarer.

"Oh, pretty fair," replied Diogenes. "I still have my lantern."

To Postpone Dying.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: A move of much practical utility is made by a life insurance company in offering free physical examinations to its policyholders, who may care to avail themselves of the privilege. A department of life and health extension is established to carry out the project.

The interests of company and policyholders are identical in respect to the prolongation of life. The company wishes to postpone the day when it shall be obliged to pay a death claim, and will doubtless find a measure of economy in assisting the owners of its policies to delay the final accounting.

Ordinary disease is an insidious enemy, creeping on one without warning. The average person seldom thinks of prevention; he waits till some complaint has gripped him and then seeks relief. Unfortunately it is then often too late for relief.

Life insurance companies are giving more and more attention to this new angle of their business. They are teaching the principles of health and long life. There is too much dying; too much carelessness of ordinary precautions, of which no one is really ignorant, but which many appear too busy to observe.

Periodic physical examinations might accomplish wonders in the way of postponing premature dying. But a life insurance company seems about the only organization at once strong enough and interested enough to promote such a conservation project.

HUMAN NATURE AND WORK OF REFORM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The question that appeared in your Saturday paper's editorial page in regard to the human nature interrupting the progress of idealistic reforms is a very important one. Human nature is a wonderful thing and as difficult to comprehend as the infinity of space; it is different in different individuals, but in all cases very much apt to be influenced by either good or evil. Covetousness and selfishness are perhaps the two principal evils that invaded human nature and are most responsible for the prevention of any kind of progress. Those two evils seem to be parents to other evils as theft, robbery; cruelty, murder, lewdness, intemperance, prejudice, superstition and in fact anything contrary to the divine law.

It is astonishing how the human nature is demoralized by the eagerness for gain, in many instances. A real greedy person has no conception of a thing in its most perfect state. The man of tremendous wealth, who is dead to everything else but the dollar, who thinks more of a penny than the poor man of a $5 gold piece will most certainly not worry himself about progress of idealistic reforms.

Then we have the man whose nature has been conquered by selfishness, who strives to gain power and influence for the purpose of serving his own interest, forcing on to his subjects such principles that will most likely favor the accumulation of wealth and increase of his power. The man that holds a bag of money in one hand and sways the scepter of oppression with the other is surely not in favor of progress in respect to high ideals.

We regret that we yet in the twentieth century have people with us whose acts are of such nature that they like to have them concealed. Instead of promotion of idealistic reforms they hoot at their progress as well as free press and speech. If the nature of those human beings was not ruined they would conceive that there is no true happiness without seeing others happy and prosperous.

Fortunately, however, the natural affection of most of humanity is good and enlightenment will cause more and more to work in direction of idealistic reforms. Although their progress is hampered by the powers of evil they will advance in spite of the great army of evils that must be fought.

THINK IT A STEP IN RIGHT DIRECTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is pleasing to note that an ordinance will soon be passed by the city commissioners and among other regulations it will compel drivers of automobiles to stop the practice of passing between the sidewalk and a standing street car, when the latter is taking on or letting off passengers. From this practice alone I have seen quite a number of very narrow escapes from injury and possibly death by passengers leaving or going to board a street car. It will also be good news to the public if an effective remedy will be put in force to stop this auto and motorcycle scorching business. One of the latter recently tore along Garfield avenue at a rate computed to be more than sixty miles an hour. Many of these drivers of motorcycles are noted for their scorching proclivities when no minions of the law are in sight. Many auto drivers are not exempt from this fault when they get a chance. Recently I saw a little boy pushing a small wagon along on the sidewalk on the upper side of West First street. As he was passing a garage out came an auto without a warning toot. A second sooner and a mangled, bleeding corpse would likely have been the result. Last week I saw a lady crossing Superior street. An auto came tearing along, but the driver managed to stop it within a few feet of her. Unlike some drivers he appeared much frightened from the nearness to what might have resulted in a fatal accident. The majority of auto drivers I believe to be reasonably careful, but there is no use denying the fact some are very reckless and seem to have little respect for life and limb of pedestrians and only wish to get a chance to cut loose with their autos and burn the atmosphere. As a protection to the public I do not think anyone should be employed as a chauffeur who drinks strong liquors, smokes cigarettes or uses snuff. The use of the first mentioned makes them reckless and incapable; the second weakens the nerves and system, and the last mentioned clouds and befogs the mind and makes them slow of perception. It is to be hoped that none of Duluth's automobile chauffeurs indulge in any of the three above mentioned bad habits.

Yours truly,

ONE OF THE PUBLIC.

HONORING THE FLAG.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly grant me space for a few lines? In the May 30 issue of your paper I read an article signed by the parson. He says it goes hard with every man who fails in outward respect for the flag. That is very true. Now, I don't suppose this writer is any more loyal to the American flag, or more patriotic in principle than most other intelligent citizens of our country. He says the colors represent, red for sacrifices; the white, purity; the blue, truth. Then he quotes the old toast we have heard so many times: "My country, may she be always right, but right or wrong, my country." Now I don't consider this good patriotism or citizenship. Then he compares this country to such nations as Russia. He may well do this, when we consider the way people in Colorado and other places have been treated. Then he says it is sweet and glorious to die for one's country, and winds up this way: "Not many of us, please God, will be called on to die for America." Oh, what patriotism! Do you know what I think about this? I think I am as good a patriot as he is. I uphold my country's flag and welfare, as long as my country is ruled with justice and fairness to each and every one of her people. I am ready to take up arms and take my chances of death the first time my country is invaded by an enemy or foreign power, or our ships plundered and the crews murdered by pirates on the seas. Then I am ready to give my time, prospects or life in defense of my country and her rights, as ready as the people of Washington's time; but I see lots of jingoism in patriotism. At the time of the Civil war, the big fellows (preachers and such) were very patriotic until our Uncle Sam found out that the Union forces were hard pressed, and he had to order the draft. Oh, what a fright some of these patriots and lovers of the flag got then. They used every means to evade the draft, and they shook in their shoes. They called meetings and effected laws to save the rich men, so that they could hire substitutes to go and get killed instead of the rich. Oh, what patriotism! How they did love the flag! Now, I will say that I am ready at any time to go out and fight in protection of my country as long as she stands for what is right. I did not serve in the Civil war, but I signed for enlistment under a recruiting officer. I was only 15 and small for my age, so I failed to pass the examination. I think this is more than the parson can say, and I did really desire to go to the war at the time, for I did then, and do now, believe in freedom for all mankind. Very truly yours.

SOMEWHAT INCONGRUVIAL

By SAVOYARD

Washington, June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—I have been about this capital for more than a third of a century, and I never knew an administration so viciously and unscrupulously assailed by the opposition as that of Woodrow Wilson. The Democrats treated R. B. Hayes with comparative distinguished courtesy. The assaults on Grover Cleveland were less malignant than those aimed at the man now president. If they would confine themselves to the truth it would little matter, but they resort to all sorts of lying and slander.

I'll tell you what is the matter with these gentry. They voted against the income tax and they are striving to divert public attention from the fact. Every one of 'em is a henchman of monopoly, fetching and carrying for the plutocrats who have controlled the Republican party for more than thirty years. Faced by dire necessity the Republican party levied an income tax during the great war of 1861-65; but when peace came that party repealed the act. The Democratic party gained political power in 1893 and imposed on the rich an income tax which a Republican supreme court promptly declared unconstitutional. More completely than during the Civil war the Republican party was in power from the retirement of Cleveland until the advent of Wilson, and they did not enact an income tax. But public opinion forced from them a reluctant assent to a constitutional amendment authorizing an income tax, though the best lawyers in the land declared that such amendment was not necessary. Had not the Republicans been bitterly hostile to imposing on wealth a fair share of the public burdens, the amendment would have been in force before McKinley died, and the income tax levied before Roosevelt was warm in his seat.

Here is the Wilson program: Reduction of the tariff and an income tax; reform of the banking system, repeal of the ship subsidy, and strengthening of the anti-trust law. Reduction of the tariff and income tax prevailed at the extraordinary session of the Sixty-third congress, banking reform followed early during the first regular session, and the ship monopoly will be forced to relax its hold on the graft that had been granted it. And before the session closes Wilson will have extorted from a reluctant Democratic congress such amendments to the anti-trust laws as will take from high finance the power to duplicate such capers and shines as were seen in the wreck of New Haven, of Chicago & Alton, of Frisco and other high toned robberies practiced by Big Business. Of course, the henchmen of monopoly in congress are enraged. Of course, they are calamity howlers, of course they are base slanderers.

Well, there's this about it—Wilson springs like a tiger and holds on like a bulldog, and this congress will have to stay here until the Wilson program is vitalized and the law of the land. Then there will be two years to try it out. If it shall prove successful, there will be nothing political in the country but the Democratic party; if it fails, Theodore Roosevelt will be "Everyman himself." That is all there is to it so far as the Democratic policy is concerned.

But the fiercest assaults are aimed at Wilson's Mexican policy. And no national honor could be gathered from a war with that weak, torn, distracted country, so no national dishonor can arise from a resort to even extraordinary means to avoid such a war. If it were a nation of our size and class Wilson is the very man to throw down the gage or pick up the gauntlet, but the strong should have patience with the weak. The jingoes would have us a bully and some of 'em insist that we shall not only carry fire and sword into Mexico but that we must rob her of the best part of her fair domain. That was considered all right centuries ago when the scale of justice was ever inclined to the sword of Brennus.

Wilson is striving to get out of Mexico without a war and if every American citizen had upheld his hands, this good day the Mexican question would be composed and comparative tranquility established in that unhappy land. Talk about Copperheads! They are the jingoes in congress who seek to embarrass and hamper and thwart a president of their own country in his dealings with a foreign pawn. The jingoes of sixteen years ago forced a war on McKinley. Of course, there were a few heroes, mostly naval, developed in the scrimmage that can hardly be dignified by the name of war, and one skirmish, which neither Grant nor Lee would have considered of moment enough to report to Washington or Richmond, graduated a president of the United States.

They have called Mr. Wilson all sorts of names. Jones of Washington gave us fine an exhibition of disgusting hypocrisy as ever was ordered, when, protesting respect for the president, he had read into the Record scurrilous aspersions of him; but the senate, even Republicans, rebuked Mr. Jones, and if his hide is not rhinocerosian he felt it.

The people chose Wilson for president to do the things he promised. A British administration that is bound to be responsive to the electorate, or meet with woeful disaster, puts its program in force immediately. Wilson should have had his policies crystallized into law six months after his inauguration. Here it is fifteen months after he came in and much remains to be done.

The cry is "Give the country a rest!" Well, damn 'em, why don't they give the country a rest by passing the bills and go home? They don't want any "rest" for business while a Democrat is president. Calamity is their only howl. Their only wish is expressed in the line:

"Empty the mart and shipless the bay."

Ye hypocrites!

IMMIGRATION KEEPING UP

Movement Into Northern Minnesota Districts Continues Heavy.

Drainage Ditches Are Opening Up New Tracts of Land.

Settlers are coming into Northern Minnesota districts tributary to Duluth in large numbers, and the outlook for the fall months is regarded as most promising by land agents.

P. M. Cole, sales manager of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad's land department, said yesterday that though the present is the off season in the way of promoting a selling campaign, owing to farmers being busy with general work, good inquiry is being received from North and South Dakota and Nebraska points. Some business is resulting from it, recent sales including two tracts in the Floodwood district to South Dakota parties. The majority of those becoming interested contemplate coming up this way to look over the ground during September and October.

Owing to the quiet situation on the iron ranges many tracts are being disposed of by the railroad company at its Virginia and Floodwood office to miners who propose changing their vocations. The majority of these are foreigners who had been engaged in farming in their native countries, so that they are well qualified as a rule to make a success of the venture here.

"We are pushing our land selling campaign on a broader scale than ever this year," said Mr. Cole, "and we are getting results from our propaganda of previous seasons. Sales are being effected in all our districts, including Meadowlands, Floodwood, Kelsey, Cook and in Aitkin county. We are at present engaged in putting twenty-four miles of drainage ditches in the Meadowlands district, and with their completion we will have a stretch of fourteen miles of good land between Meadowlands and Floodwood available for settlement. Our Meadowlands demonstration farm is being found productive of good results under the direction of W. A. Dickinson. It is enabling settlers to obtain their stock cheaper, and is leading them to grapple more intelligently with the various agricultural problems peculiar to the district that confront them. It is the aim of the farm management to help settlers in the way of information and advice whether they bought their land from the company or not."

Though the season is somewhat backward owing to excessive rains, Mr. Cole averred that the various crops promise well, with the yield of hay likely to be especially heavy. The best relative progress is being made in dairying, according to the company's records. The output of cream being shipped to the creameries has shown a remarkable gain this season, and settlers are therefore directing all their energies towards increasing their dairy herds.

ITCHING ERUPTION ON ARMS AND LIMBS

Became Red and Pimples Formed. Could Not Keep from Scratching. Clothing Irritated It. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Cassoday, Kansas.—"Some two or three years ago the trouble began with irritation and itching on my arms and lower limbs. The affected parts became red and pimples or eruption formed. The itching was so severe that I could not keep from scratching and some sores formed on my face and limbs. The clothing irritated at times and made the itching worse.

"I tried various remedies relieving to some extent the trouble but I continued to suffer and finally the malady spread over my body but was very bad on my head and face and around my waist. The skin became rough and thick and sores formed on my face. The itching and burning often kept me awake at night. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment last winter. I bathed with the Cuticura Soap and hot water at least once a day and used the Cuticura Ointment two or three times a day. In five months I was cured." (Signed) E. Cameron, Sept. 17, 1913.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

THE city of Columbus, Ohio, has decided that the health of the community is a matter of business. This statement is made in a health department bulletin which declares prosperity would result if business men would be more attentive to the community's health. Too many business men fail to understand that business is disgraced when a business man sells dust-carrying or adulterated foods. An effort is being made to secure the co-operation of the chambers of commerce and other civic bodies to bring about the elimination of conditions that spread disease.

Duluth health officials have long taken the view that improving the health of the city is a matter of business and have been operating on that basis. An effort has been made to secure the most efficient men available for the several branches of the department and to co-ordinate the whole into an efficient and capable division of the city administration. The officials appreciate that bettering the community's health is furthering its prosperity and general welfare.

With a plain delatone paste, it is now an easy matter for any woman to keep her face, neck and arms free from hairy or fuzzy growths. Just enough paste is made with powdered delatone and water to cover the hairy surface. This is applied and in 2 or 3 minutes rubbed off and the skin washed. WOULD REGULATE WATERWAY WORK

Newlands Offers Cabinet Amendment to Appropriation Bill.

Washington, June 23.—Creation of a commission with broad authority to control Federal activity in waterway improvement is proposed in an amendment by Senator Newlands to the pending rivers and harbors appropriation bill. This plan to regulate the expenditure of millions taken from the national treasury every year, was drafted by a cabinet committee and approved by the president.

Under the river regulation amendment, a commission composed of the secretaries of war, interior, agriculture and commerce, two senators and two representatives, would be given authority to investigate "questions relating to the development, improvement, regulation and control of navigation, as a part of interstate and foreign commerce and the related questions of irrigation, forestry, fisheries, swamp land reclamation, clarification of stream, regulation of flow, control of floods, utilization of water power, prevention of soil waste, co-operation of railways and waterways, and promotion of transfer facilities and sites."

Coordinate Service.

The provision would authorize the commission to coordinate the various government services now working on waterway improvement, and to work with the various local government authorities in its investigations. The amendment would appropriate $500,000 for the commission's expenses.

Senator Newlands announced that the amendment was a step toward his proposal for a government bureau in charge of all river and harbor improvement, with an appropriation of $600,000,000 annually.

SECTION WORKER DIES IN THE WOODS

Leaving his fellow workmen Friday afternoon, complaining of a slight illness, Enoch Sodilus, 50 years old, a section hand for the Duluth & Northern Minnesota railroad near Rush Lake, did not return that day and a search instituted by the crew lasted until Sunday afternoon, when the body of Sodilus was found in the woods.

The body was brought to Duluth late yesterday afternoon and was removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms. The funeral will be held from there tomorrow afternoon and interment will be at the Park Hill cemetery.

Nothing is known about Sodilus, except that he was a Russian and had been in this country but a short time. He came to Rush Lake about ten days ago. He had complained of feeling ill Friday morning and in the afternoon the foreman told him to go back to town and take a rest. He was not found that evening and a search was started, ending in the discovery of his body in the woods. The cause of his death is unknown.

Joyful Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectation. But this is quite overcome by the advice of so many women to use "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to so lubricate the muscles and to thus so relieve the pressure reacting on the nerves, that the natural strain upon the cords and ligaments is not accompanied by those severe pains said to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses.

Many people believe that those remedies which have stood the test of time, that have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the fact that "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmother's earlier years and is known throughout the United States it may be easily inferred that it is something that women gladly recommend.

"Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by druggists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 307 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

BILL IS AIMED AT U. S. CORPORATIONS

Maj. Shee Offers "Foreign Companies Control" Plan in Commons.

London, June 23.—Corporations whose stocks are sold in Great Britain must comply with British laws in making public reports of their business, or be outlawed from protection of the courts, under the terms of a bill which Maj. Archer Shee has introduced in the house of commons.

While this bill is entitled "foreign companies control," it is aimed particularly at the United States and is designed, among other things, to give British shareholders in American corporations a larger share of control in them, and compel them to give more information concerning their business to their British investors than they can be forced to do under existing laws.

The enactment of the bill into law is considered probable.

CATTLE AND SHEEP MEN IN BATTLE.

Goldendale, Wash., June 23.—Cattlemen and sheep men fought out the old feud of the plains near Grand Dalles Sunday night until one man was killed and two were seriously injured. A telephone appeal from Wahkiacus for physicians was the first news of the trouble. The sheriff went along with the doctors.

According to the telephone message, sheep herders employed by Leo Brune, a wealthy sheep man, were called from their tents and fired upon by masked men. The onslaught demoralized them and a flock of shep was stampeded into the timber and slaughtered by the night riders.

The attack is the second on this camp within ten days, and both were preceded by warning that the sheep must be kept off the ranges heretofore used by cattle.

TROUBLE MAKER IS OUSTED BY CARRANZA

Douglas, Ariz., June 23.—A telegram received here from Gen. Carranza by Roberto V. Pesquiera, Carranza's personal representative in the United States, confirms the reported retirement of Gen. Felipe Angeles, acting minister of war, from Carranza's cabinet. Carranza holds Gen. Angeles responsible for the misunderstanding with Gen. Villa, Pesquiera stated.

EXTRA PAY FOR NAVAL MILITIA.

Washington, June 23.—Comptroller Downey of the treasury, interpreting the militia act of Feb. 16, 1914, has decided that officers and men of the naval militia are entitled to 10 per cent additional pay when on sea duty under conditions where officers of the regular navy are allowed the additional pay.

Congratulates George V.

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson, in recognition of the official celebration of the birth of King George yesterday, sent this congratulatory telegram to the British monarch:

"I beg of your majesty to accept my hearty felicitations on this birthday anniversary and my best wishes for your continued happiness and well being, and at the same time I wish to convey to you the expression of good will which this government and people bear to your great country."

Congress Reconvenes.

Mexico City, June 23.—An extraordinary session of congress opened yesterday and organization was completed, but no other business was transacted.

CITY MATTERS LAID OVER

Council Transacts Only Routine Business in Absence of Members.

Five File Claims for Damage; Saloon Licenses Are Tabled.

Because of the absence of Commissioners Murchison and Hicken the city council transacted only routine business at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

Twenty-two more saloon licenses were laid over one week for consideration, as was the hearing of Henry Casmir, proprietor of the saloon at 505 West Michigan street, who was cited to appear to show cause why his license should not be revoked. Action on these is pending the return of the safety commissioner. Had Commissioner Murchison been present he would have introduced a resolution ordering the concreting of the New Duluth road from Eighty-first avenue west to House street. He would also have presented a resolution ordering the concreting of Victoria street from Woodland avenue to the Hartley road to a width of 16 feet, but he was engaged at a court hearing. These will be considered at an early meeting.

The construction of an 8-inch gas main in Superior street, 876 feet from Thirty-sixth avenue east, was ordered. A 10-inch gas main was ordered in London road from Fourteenth avenue east to the middle of the block between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues east. The new main will be installed to improve the gas supply service to the eastern suburbs.

Five property owners at Fond du Lac filed notices of damage claims against the city for damages alleged to have been suffered by them because of the overflowing of Mission creek May 28, last. A. La France asks $150, Mrs. T. Hollenbeck, $200; C. A. Krause, $150; Edward Johnson, $200, and Judge W. A. Cant, $375. They were referred to the city attorney.

The city engineer filed a condemnation plat of the right of way for Farrell road, which would provide an easier grade to Duluth Heights, via the poor farm, than any road at present in use. A resolution directing the city attorney to institute proceedings to condemn a 66-foot right of way, as designated in the plat, was passed.

Files Injury Claim.

Edith Jacobson filed notice of a personal injury claim of $112.75 against the city, through her attorney, C. A. E. Finlayson. She claims the city was negligent in allowing a hose to be stretched across the sidewalk in front of the new Grand theater, 215 West Superior street. She alleges that she stumbled over it, sustaining injuries to her person for which she asks $100, and damaging wearing apparel, for which she demands $12.75.

The payroll for the improvement of West Superior street between Fifteenth and Thirtieth avenues, amounting to $5,206.13, was approved, as was the payroll of $3,130.50 for the primary election.

The health department was authorized to employ an additional nurse during the months of July and August at a salary of $60 a month. She will assist in infant welfare work and will have charge of the milk station at West Duluth.

Petitions were presented for the opening of Seventh avenue east to the boulevard and the construction of a sanitary sewer in Seventh alley from Nineteenth to Eighteenth avenue east.

Block for residences.

An ordinance designating block 10, Woodland park, Seventh division, as a residence district, was given its first reading, as was an ordinance appropriating $585 for the purchase of an automobile for the West Duluth police department.

No action was taken on the amendment to the blind-pig ordinance, intended to compel wholesale liquor dealers to pay the city $1,000 a year for a license or quit selling in quantities less than five gallons.

The News Tribune will be the city's official paper for another year, the council yesterday passing a resolution awarding The Herald company the contract for printing the official proceedings.

DRUNKEN MAN'S GROANS FRIGHTEN BURGLARS

Groans of a drunken man lying on the sidewalk in front of the John Grady residence, 1601 East Fourth street, frightened away two burglars shortly before midnight last night.

Two men were seen skulking about the Grady home during the evening and shortly before midnight one of the neighbors telephoned the police. Meanwhile the drunken man was heard to groan and the two men fled at the sound. Detective Irvine and Patrolman Westerlund responded to the call and when they arrived on the scene, they found the drunken man lying on the sidewalk, while a short distance from him two socks filled with sand, the legs knotted to form handles. It is believed these were made to be used as weapons and dropped by the burglars when they were frightened away.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady were away during the evening, but when they returned, found nothing missing from their home.

No More Superfluous Hair

HOW TO KILL AND PERMANENTLY DISSOLVE OUT ROOTS AND ALL

Reader Explains How to Prepare and Use at Home the Simple New Absorption Process by Which She Avoids Danger and pain of the Cruel Electric Needle. Why Prescriptions, Appliances, Acids, Lotions and Similar Remedies Should Be Avoided.

To readers of The Herald:

At the recent medical conference held in Paris, numerous eminent physicians cited cases which prove beyond doubt that since the discovery of a new and simple absorption process superfluous hair has become as unnecessary as it is repulsive. It was also explained how electrical processes always STIMULATE hair growth, how pulling with tweezers causes ingrown hairs and how acids, caustic pastes and other worthless remedies only affect surface hair, which soon grows again.

Then the distinguished physician told how anyone can now prepare and use at home a simple liquid which immediately creeps down through hair shaft (just as oil creeps up a lamp wick) dissolving hair as the liquid is absorbed. Thus the entire hair structure from socket to root and papillae may be dissolved out of existence, so there is nothing to grow again. The liquid acts only upon hair and is harmless to the most delicate skin and tissue as a test will quickly prove, but the liquid MUST NOT BE ALLOWED TO TOUCH DESIRABLE HAIR, AS I KNOW OF NO WAY TO RESTORE LIFE TO ROOTS THUS DESTROYED.

A reader kindly tells in this article how she killed the roots of her superfluous hair by a simple home absorption process, after the electric needle, acids, pastes, etc. had all failed

When I see daily so many women with perfect features who would be radiantly beautiful were it not for hideous growths of ugly hair upon lips and chin, I always wish I could tell them how easily they could recover their natural heritage of delicate feminine charm and attractiveness.

I should therefore be only too happy to send literature in regard to the preparation and use of the marvelous liquid explained at the conference which it was my privilege to attend. If any woman reader of The Herald cares to send me her name and address, plainly written, (postage to England 2 cents) together with a 2-cent stamp for return postage, I shall be pleased to send in plain sealed envelope, full particulars without charge of any kind, so women readers can use the new process in the strict privacy of their own boudoirs. Have correspondence brief as possible and do not write to thank me after hair is destroyed as my time is greatly limited and I have nothing to sell. I can agree to answer but one person in each family and correspondence will be considered strictly confidential.

SAYS LASSEN IS REALLY VOLCANIC.

Redding, Cal., June 23.—Mount Lassen is not a geyser. Its action, since it first broke into eruption on May 30, has been decidedly volcanic. This was the declaration of J. S. Diller, the foremost authority on the Lassen quadrangle.

"I don't predict more serious eruptions,' said Mr. Diller, 'but the mountain ought to be watched for increased activity, and for tremors which would precurse more serious disturbances. The action to date involves only a small area of the mountain top, but if new apertures should be blown open, they would be the forerunner of more dangerous disturbances."

STATEMENT ON TREATY

Bryan Answers Criticism of Agreement With Colombia.

Fifteen Million Dollars Saved By Present Action.

Washington, June 23.—Criticism of the proposed treaty to settle differences between the United States and Colombia over the secession of Panama, brought a formal statement from Secretary Bryan last night defending the clause expressing "sincere regret" on the part of the United States that anything should have occurred to mar the friendly relations between the two countries. The expression "honest regret" Mr. Bryan said was used in the memorandum drafted during the Taft administration, on which the present negotiations, as well as those which had failed previously, were based.

Despite opposition in the senate, Mr. Bryan was hopeful that the treaty would be favorably reported and ratified. Members of the foreign relations committee expected that correspondence in the archives of the state department bearing upon the treaty would reach the committee Wednesday. It will be referred to a sub-committee and made public.

Plan Under Taft.

It is said that this correspondence will show that at one stage of the negotiations with Colombia during the Taft administration the United States proposed to present the dispute to arbitration with the knowledge that a verdict in favor of Colombia would mean a judgment for at least $40,000,000.

Secretary Bryan's statement follows:

"Article 1 of the treaty now before the senate reads as follows:

"'The government of the United States of America, wishing to put at rest all controversies and differences with the republic of Colombia, arising out of the events from which the present situation on the Isthmus of Panama resulted, expresses, in its own name and in the name of the people of the United States, sincere regret that anything should have occurred to interrupt or to mar the relation of cordial friendship that had so long existed between the two nations.

"'The government of the republic of Colombia, in its own name, and in the name of the Colombian people, accepts this declaration in the full assurance that every obstacle to the restoration of complete harmony between the two countries will thus disappear.'

In Dubois Memorandum.

"In what is known as the Dubois memorandum,' made during the Taft administration, which produced the basis upon which he was authorized to negotiate a treaty, the following language is used:

"'The government and the people of the United States honestly regret anything should have ever occurred to mar, in any way, the long and sincere friendship that existed for nearly a century between Colombia and the United States, and the latter country has, for years, earnestly desired to remove the ill-feeling aroused in Colombia by the separation of Panama.'"

"It will be seen from a comparison of the two paragraphs that they are identical in meaning and almost identical in language. In the Dubois memorandum the United States 'honestly regrets' and in the pending treaty 'the government of the United States expresses in its own name and in the name of the people of the United States' sincere regret.' There is no material difference between 'honestly regrets' and 'sincerely regrets.'

"The pending treaty uses the phrase 'to interrupt or mar;' the Dubois memorandum uses the words 'to mar.' The Dubois memorandum describes the friendship formerly existing as 'sincere' while the pending treaty describes it as 'cordial.' Both refer to the 'events of 1903.'

"The Dubois memorandum speaks of 'the ill-feeling aroused in Colombia by the separation of Panama;' the pending treaty refers to 'the events from which the present situation on the Isthmus of Panama resulted.'

Colombia Accepts.

"In the pending treaty the government of Colombia accepts this declaration in full assurance that every obstacle to the restoration of the complete hermony between the two countries will thus disappear, while the Dubois memorandum declares that the United States earnestly desired to remove the ill-feeling aroused in Colombia by the separation of Panama.

"'This comparison is made to show that the two 'expressions of regret' are in all essentials the same."

PILE OF WORK DONE BY SUPREME COURT

Five Hundred and Ninety-One Decisions Given During Term.

Washington, June 23.—When the supreme court adjourned yesterday until October, just fourteen cases in which arguments had been made were left undecided. These include the cases involving the constitutionality of the "grandfather clauses," limiting the right of negroes to vote in Oklahoma and Annapolis, Md., the mid-west oil land case, involving the validity of President Taft's withdrawal of oil lands from entry; the Nashville grain reshipping case, and the Henry case, involving the right of congress to compel individuals to testify before investigating committees.

The court, during the term, disposed of more cases than in any year since 1890. Five hundred and ninety-one decisions were handed down.

No Damage for Pass Users

Railroads are not liable for injury to interstate employes or members of their families riding on passes which contain stipulations that the passenger assumes all risk while so transported.

The court so decided, and held that a pass is not to be regarded as part of the compensation for which the employe works, but is in reality free and subject to any conditions the railroad may impose.

Ex-Slaves Cannot Inherit.

The court upheld the validity of the state statutes under which the supreme court of Tennessee held that former slaves have no inheritable blood and cannot inherit property under the order rules of kinship.

TAKE DIVERS FROM WRECK OF EMPRESS.

Rimouski, June 23.—Divers from H. M. S., Essex, who have been engaged in trying to recover the 800 bodies entombed in the sunken hull of the Empress of Ireland, have been ordered to discontinue their operations. Lieutenant Commander Forbes of the Essex, in investigating the death on Sunday of Edward Cossoboom of New York, learned that the man died as the result of sliding off the slimy bottom of the liner, and that the accident occurred at low tide. Every known precaution for safety to deep sea divers had been taken.

It is the belief in maritime circles that the Canadian Pacific company will soon abandon diving operations.

CAN GET NO JURY TO TRY BANKER RAINE.

Memphis, Tenn., June 23.—The trial of C. Hunter Raine, formerly president of the Mercantile bank of Memphis, charged with misappropriation of $1,091,000 of the bank's funds, was continued yesterday until the fall term of criminal court. Judge J. W. Palmer held that efforts to get a jury at this time would be useless.

PAROLE DENIED ABRAHAM RUEF.

San Quentin, Cal., June 23.—The state board of prison directors, by a vote of 4 to 1, denied the application for parole of Abraham Ruef, the former political boss of San Francisco, who is serving a fourteen-year term in San Quentin prison as the result of a conviction in 1908 in the so-called graft prosecution on a charge of offering a bribe to a supervisor.

According to the rules of the board, Ruef's application cannot come up again within one year, except upon recommendation of the warden or the directors' motion to reconsider. Ruef has served three years and three months. With good behavior his term will expire in December, 1919.

121 INDICTMENTS AGAINST BANKERS.

Ottawa, Ill., June 23.—a total of 121 indictments were returned yesterday against John E. Hartenbower of Chicago, president of the defunct Tonica Exchange bank, George D. Hiltabrand, cashier, Ben F. Hiltabrand and W. J. Ebner, assistant cashiers. Hartenbower and the Hiltabrands were charged with embezzlement, playing a confidence game and receiving deposits after they knew the bank was insolvent. Ebner was indicted for receiving deposits after the bank was insolvent.

Hartenbower and George Hiltabrand furnished $45,000 bonds each, B. F. Hiltabrand furnished $15,000 and Ebner $10,000.

The bank failed last November, and an investigation by a grand jury has been in porgress ever since.

Girls and Bank Accounts

If we could see into the future we could plan accordingly, but not being able to do so we should guard against eventualities as much as possible.

Many a young girl has been unexpectedly thrown on her own resources through the death of her parents; many a woman has been left a widow without a cent; others with some means, but no experience of money matters.

It is neglectful—yes, cruel—of parents not to bring up their daughters as well as their sons in habits of thrift and teach them the uses and advantages of a bank account.

It is never too soon to teach them the value of money, never too soon to open bank accounts in their names.

AITKIN HAS CHURCH MEET

200 Delegates and Visitors at Swedish Lutheran League Gathering.

Churches at Mud Lake and Section 10 Visited During Sessions.

Aitkin, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The largest convention ever held here is now in session at the Swedish Lutheran church, being the Mississippi district of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church. The session opened Saturday evening and will continue until this evening. Over 200 delegates and visitors are in attendance.

Visit Nearby Churches.

A large number of the delegates made a trip to the Maria church at Mud Lake Monday and held a meeting, and today a trip was made to Bethlehem church ten miles south of Aitkin in section 10, where another service was held.

Rev. P. A. Mattson, president of the Minnesota conference, and Rev. J. C. Johnson, president of Gustavus Adolphus college, St. Peter, delivered addresses Sunday. The church was not able to accommodate the congregations that assembled for the services of the day.

Two large tents have been erected upon the church lawn and meals are being served therefrom.

Edwin Olson, Aitkin, was elected district secretary.

OPERATOR SAVED SMELTZ IN LAKE

Was Fishing Near When Boat Upset and Went to Rescue.

Staples, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Later advices concerning the double drowning in Fishtrap lake, near Lincoln, when Mrs. Joe Smeltz and Miss Miecish perished, are that the fatality resulted from Miss Miecish, sister of Mrs. Joe Smeltz, falling into the water when she tried to change places in the boat with Mrs. Smeltz's brother-in-law, Will Smeltz, the third person in the boat. It is thought that in going over the gunwale of the boat she grabbed Mr. Smeltz pulling him along and upseting the boat also throwing Mrs. Smeltz into the water.

The third trick Northern Pacific operator at Lincoln, was fishing in the lake nearby and he rowed hastily to the scene, getting there just as Mr. Smeltz came to the surface. He grabbed Smeltz and got him into the boat where he was revived. There was no sign of the two women and it is believed they did not come to the surface again.

Never Came to Surface.

They drowned in thirty feet of water west of Big island. Both bodies were recovered shortly afterward and brought here. Both the deceased were well known here, having lived here most of their lives. Mrs. Joe Smeltz leaves a husband and two children, girl and boy, about the ages of 7 and 10, all of whom were here at the time of the accident, Mr. Smeltz having planned to go to Lincoln on the evening train and return with the party. They have many relatives and friends here.

Mrs. Joe Smeltz was the wife of Joe Smeltz, car foreman of this city, and her sister, Miss Miecish, had just arrived from the West.

NORTH DAKOTANS TO NAME CANDIDATES

Day Before Primary Finds Political Prophets Much at Sea.

Fargo, N. D., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a wide divergence of views among the politicians of the state over the results of tomorrow's primary election. As the Republican party is the dominant organization, it has the largest number of candidates, and naturally is attracting chief attention. The Democrats have contests only for United States senator, governor and attorney general. The Socialists have one nominee for each place, and the Bull Moosers have only a partial state ticket.

The Democratic contest for senator looks like Purcell over "Jones of Rock," and for governor the nomination of Hellstrom over Knudson is predicted. Moellring is expected to defeat Cameron for attorney general.

There are four candidates seeking the United States senatorship on the Republican ticket, with honors apparently divided between Gronna, Miller, Worst and Midtbo.

Young-Tuttle Contest.

There is no congressional contest in the First. Young and Tuttle are having a real scrap in the Second. Young won in a field of five candidates two years ago with about 800 over Tuttle. This year they have the race between them, and each are after the 8,000 votes received by Bessesen, White and Kirk two years ago.

In the Third Simpson seems to have the edge on Norton. In a field of five two years ago Simpson led on first choice votes, but the second choice nominated Norton. The betting favors Simpson.

The greatest perplexity exists over the gubernatorial race. Until Wishek entered the contest Hanna seemed to have a walkaway. It now appears that the race may be close. The outcome hinges on how many votes Wishek will draw. He will run strong in German counties that were formerly favorable to Hanna. He will have some resubmission support, but this has caused the Prohibitionists to rally around Hanna and will offset to some extent the Wishek strength. Burdick is expected to run well along both sides of the Great Northern main line, and his friends claim that Wishek will cut into Hanna so much in the German counties that Burdick will win.

BABY BROTHER SLAIN

When Gun Goes Off in Carlton County Boy's Hands.

Moose Lake, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Axel Hammarstrom, Jr., the 10-year-old son of Axel Hammarstrom, a prosperous farmer residing five miles west of this place, accidentally discharged a shotgun yesterday, instantly killing his baby sister Evelyn, aged a little less than 2 years. The gun had been kept hanging on the kitchen wall loaded, to be used on the hen hawks, which have been very troublesome lately. In preparing to repaper the room the gun was taken down, and the boy was attempting to clean it when it was accidentally discharged, the charge passing through the baby's head, causing instant death.

HAM LONG BURIED

Dug Up at New England, N. D., Apparently in Good Shape.

New England, N. D., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A ham that may be thirty-five years old was dug out by excavators who were preparing to construct an addition to the Herald building here. The earth underneath which the ham was found had not been disturbed at least for eight years and may not have for more than a third of a century. In 1887-8-9 residents of the New England states started a colony and a townsite here, calling it New England. After a few years they abandoned the place and nearly all left. During a part of that period there was a fortified fort and troops here. It is thought this ham was in a cellar, which later caved in and the soil had entirely preserved the ham. It seems to be in excellent condition and bears the imprint of a well known packing company.

SHERWOOD LIGHT PLANT SOON READY.

Sherwood, N. D., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The building for the new electric plant is completed and the machinery is being installed. Men are wiring the business and residence districts and electric lights will be turned on July 1.

MAKING SOIL SURVEY.

Wisconsin U Geologists Working in Sawyer and Rush Counties.

Couderay, Wis., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The University of Wisconsin is making a geological survey of Southern Sawyer and Northern Rusk counties this summer. There are eighty men making the soil survey, divided into ten different parties, each party comprising six geologists and a cook. Each party has a certain area to cover, making a survey of the rock, minerals, rivers, lakes, soil, timber and climate.

They expect to have the work completed by Sept. 20.

BEFORE GRAND JURY.

North Dakotan Expected to Involve Mill City Physician.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 23.—Norman Watson, Bathgate, N. D., is to tell the Hennepin county grand jury today of circumstances leading to the death of Miss Mary Ryan, and the police say his story will involve a Minneapolis physician and the keeper of a "baby farm." Miss Ryan died last December at Grand Forks, N. D., after she had spent several weeks in Minneapolis.

Miss Ryan lived in Adelaide, Ont.

FORKS PAIR INDICTED.

North Dakotans Alleged to Have Used Mails to Defraud.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 23.—E. E. Sandlie and Bernard P. Sandlie of Grand Forks face Federal court indictments charging them with using the United States mails to promote a fraudulent scheme.

The indictments just announceed grow out of the state's action against the International Securities Company of America of Grand Forks, of which the Sandlies were officials. In the state's action, it was contended that the company had exceeded its charter rights and that fraudulent representations had been made to investors.

The indicted men appeared before Judge Amidon of the Federal court, giving bonds to insure their appearance before the term in October.

The International Securities company is now in the hands of a receiver, appointed by the district court upon the state's relation. The report of the bank examiner's department was responsible for breaking up the concern.

BOY TACKLES BEAR.

Northwestern Minnesota Youth Hits Bruin With Club.

Spooner, Minn., June 23.—A big black bear had no terrors for the 11-year-old son of A. Friestad living near Carp, according to the story that comes to town. While building a smudge on his father's homestead for the benefit of the cattle, a large black bear came out from the brush and faced him. The little fellow grabbed his ax and swung for Mr. Bruin but missed, then he laid down his ax and took a club and pelted the animal, which immediately turned tail and made for the brush. The boy then ran for his home to secure his father's gun, but his mother very wisely refused to let him have it.

SPORTS

The Herald Sporting Gossip Is Reliable

Just Between You and Me

By BRUCE

LOTS of things are happening in baseball, Bill, besides the playing of the games. P. T. Barnum was the greatest showman in the world. Once in a burst of confidence the late and greatly lamented P. T. confided that it was quite possible to give the people too much of anything.

Let's take up the question of baseball. Of late years it has been gradually encroaching on the preserves of all other sports. Baseball starts in the spring before the winter sport regime is over—and it holds over in the fall until after the football season has started.

In this city Charles Comiskey touched upon this very question. To the writer the noblest Roman of them all said:

"The schedule of the major leagues should be shortened. We should give football a chance. There is no use in crowding the other sports out of the program. It isn't good policy."

One of the reasons, to our way of thinking, for the decrease of interest in baseball, is because the people have become sick of hearing so much of it.

In the years that have yored with enthusiastic yoring we have had lots of baseball, but not a surfeit. During the last year there has been very little else but baseball. When one subject was exhausted, one would come to another subject. It was the Federal league most of the time, and some of the acts of the ball players who have ably acted in a way to thoroughly and heartily disgust the dear old public. Some people are quite foolish enough to say that the dear old public can be eternally damned; but it is the public that pays, and when the pay stops, good night.

Heretofore we have heard about the players—what he eats, how he spends his time off the field, and other interesting facts that the special writers have shed for the delectation of Mr. Fan. But, come to think of it, most of the talk you have heard during the last year, good Mr. Fan, is money, sordid money, the more intimate details of commercialized baseball, and you are becoming sick and weary of it all.

You have come to the conclusion, perhaps, that all there is in the world of baseball, is money, and the greatest goal is the making of it. This discovery came in the nature of a shock and it has lowered somewhat your estimation of the game and the players in it.

A business man put the question to us in a new light. Said the business man: "The theatrical business was injured to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars by the fight between Klaw & Erlanger and the Shuberts. Now we have a fight between the greatest interests of baseball, and to one who has taken a great interest in the warfare waged in the theatrical game, the clash of the powers in the great national game can only presage inestimable injury."

This is a bad year—one of the worst in the history of the modern game; it's a bad year because the fans are disgusted. They have been given some of the commercial side, and in knowing more of the commercial side they have come to think less of the sentimental side of baseball, our national sport.

There must be a halt some place in the present road. Salaries can't mount and the turnstile figures decrease without something dropping. The old sentiment is waning; it is the money now, and this fact is being felt by those who go to the games because they love the sport.

Whitney Is Tough.

THE Atlanta Star of Atlanta, Ga., is authority for the statement that Frank Whitney had it clear over Charley White, the conqueror of Willie Ritchie, when the two boys fought in the Southern city on the evening of Aug. 13, 1913.

In the account that was mailed here at the request of the promoters of the forthcoming battle between Pal Brown and the Southern lightweight, it says that White was in after the seventh round of the fight and that Whitney won the decision.

When Battling Nelson was good this Whitney boy licked the tar out of him for ten rounds. Frankie Russell is another of the tough boys that Whitney beat at Atlanta. Billy Walters, a welterweight, also lost to the lightning Southern lightweight.

If the record of Whitney is an indication of his prowess, he carries the kick. If Whitney goes in to slug from the bell with Brown the spectators should see some real battle all the way through.

Kid Billings Gets On.

FINALLY Kid Billings has worked his way up to a star bout. The inhabitant of Billings Park is to meet Hal Clark in the star bout of the coming boxing show of the Superior Boxing club. The kid from the suburbs of the suburb across the way has earned this boxing distinction by beating all of the boys he has opposed. Not one decision has the kid lost since he started the boxing game. Local talent should be played up, therefore the fans and fanatics should assemble at the ringside to give the kid a reception as he embarks upon the rough sea of upper case pugilism.

In addition to the bout between Clark and Billings, Young Ertle, the youngster who made so great a hit at the last show of the Superior Boxing club, and Young Blanche will clash, Young Truman and Battling Camel and Kid Butler and Young Jack Johnson will furnish the remainder of the card.

BASEBALL'S CZAR FACING A CRISIS

BAN JOHNSON.

Ban Johnson is the czar of baseball. He is also the most dominant figure of the great national pastime. In the building of the American league his work stamped him as an executive of rare genius. DOOKS LEAVE FOR ROAD AFTER PRESENT SERIES

Kid Taylor's Virginia Team the Opponents of White Sox for Windup of the Domestic Stand.

The games of today and tomorrow bring to an end the domestic doings of the industrious Dooks. Virginia, led by Kid Taylor, will oppose us in the two remaining games of the series.

After the contests with the range aggregation the Sox will hit the road under the transportation direction of master properties, Frank Lohr. Darby O'Brien, lest there be even the least bit confusion in this statement, will have charge of the players and the literary department.

During the trip that begins on June 25 at Fort William, we will play Winnipeg and Grand Forks in addition to the lowly Conrad bunch.

Winnipeg will give us trouble and the same is true of the tribe of Eddie Wheeler. We should wax fat off the opposition of Fort William; at the Peg and the Forks the tale will be of a different plot.

It is the ambition of Leader O'Brien to leave here with the record of thirteen straight wins. This would be setting a league record extremely difficult to break. In order to bring about this cherished desire it will be necessary for the Dooks to win today and tomorrow.

In the luscious event of the Dooks copping two games from the Virginia aggregation, the local record will be one remarkable in the extreme.

The present winning streak of the White Sox started on June 9. Previous to the win of the second game with Winnipeg the Sox had been playing ragged and faltering baseball.

Fred Curtis and his Peggers came into our midst on June 8. The first game of the series was lost by the White Sox by the count of 6 to 3. Leahy and Grina were opposed to Dusty Rhodes. Brackett mounted the mound the following day and won a ten-inning battle. That contest was the first of the eleven straight wins that the Sox have accumulated.

Today is ladies' day and it is expected that the fair fans will be out in large numbers to lend gentle-handed aid to the righteous cause of victory.

Some of the fans of the range are coming down for the game of tomorrow, according to the statements that have been received at the baseball office.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Pennsylvania in 20:14 and Cornell in 20:47. The time of Washington and Pennsylvania is unofficial, but that of the Ithacans is official. A comparison, however, of the three times would be unfair, because of the different conditions that prevailed during the tests.

Coach Conibear was the first on the course and sent the Washington crew away at the start with a dash, the men hitting the stroke up to 34 and 36 and finally settling down to 32. The coach megaphoned the crew continually during the last half mile, urging them to hit "a mile-a-minute" gait.

The Washington crew had got nicely off the course when Coach Nickalls came down the river on a trial with his three crews. The conditions were practically the same as existed during Washington's trial.

Coach Vail gave his Wisconsin crews a twelve-mile row on the lower course. The coach gave the varsity crew a new set of oars three inches longer than those discarded, and the change was at once noticed after the men had rowed a few miles. The shell traveled faster and the advantage of the change was apparent. During the last mile the two crews were put through a series of starts and spurts. After the afternoon's practice the coach expressed great satisfaction with the change.

An interested spectator of the practice of the course was Coach Wray of the Harvard crews, who viewed the practice from the Syracuse launch, being a guest of Ten Eyck.

Bloomington, Ind., June 23.—Carl Schultz, the left-handed pitcher of Indiana university and regarded as the premier pitcher of the conference, has announced that he has signed a contract to pitch for the Indianapolis club of the American association. He probably will join the team during the series at Kansas City.

Will Play at Last.

HELP, OR DUNN WILL QUIT

Baltimore Manager Says He Can't Continue to Lose.

Predicts Revolution in Organized Baseball; Johnson Announces Delay.

Baltimore, Md., June 23.—That a revolution in organized baseball is imminent was the opinion expressed last night by Manager Jack Dunn of the local International league club.

"I expect to see a big shake-up," he said. "We club owners cannot go on losing forever, and this fact seemed to have more weight with the national commission last week than anything else. I told the commission that something had to be done for me or I would drop out of organized baseball.

"In working out new plans with the International as a major league, I cannot see how there can be anything but such big changes in the baseball situation that there really will be a revolution."

Chicago, June 23.—President Ban Johnson of the American league said last night that there will be no third major league this season, if at all.

"The third league idea was merely suggested to the national commission and it is merely a possibility. No definite action was taken at our meeting in New York," he said.

"We are going to take a month or two at least to think that third major league business over," said Johnson "It is too late this year to take any active measures of any kind."

Johnson and Charles Comiskey, president of the Chicago Americans, had a long talk after yesterday's game. It is believed they discussed proposed legal action to restrain Hal Chase playing with the Buffalo Federals.

"I can state positively that any consideration of the third league at present does not affect any rearrangement of the American association," said Johnson. "It is believed the object of the promoters will be to establish themselves in cities where the Federal league has made a good showing."

WHITNEY IS CONFIDENT

Southern Lad Says He Will Put Pal Brown Away.

Kid Billings Will Get a Real Tryout With Hal Clark.

BY BRUCE.

Here is what Frankie Whitney says in regard to the coming fight with Pal Brown:

"I hope he is right, for he is going to take the count. I started fighting in 1908 and am in the best shape of my life. I have fought Charley White and Battling Nelson and Freddy Welsh, besides scores of others. I beat White and Nelson and held Welsh nearly even. I will knock Brown out."

The above statement was received by Sig Abrams today. Last evening the same boxing enthusiast received a long distance call from Pal Brown at Chisholm.

"Send me some boxers and send them quick," was the plaint of the message from the rauge fighter.

New York Jack Doyle, the lad who gave Johnny Sokol of Minneapolis and Billy Defoe of Red Wing two artistic lacings but recently, will be dispatched to the Brown homestead and will assist in the preparation of Pal for the coming encounter. Kid Billings will leave for the range after his fight with Hal Clark on Friday evening.

Whitney Is Formidable.

On Jan. 6, 1914, Whitney fought Freddy Welsh at Atlanta, Ga. The fight was over the ten-round route, and the fighting southern lightweight held the great Welshman nearly even.

On Feb. 21 Whitney fought Joe Mandot at New Orleans and was given a draw by the papers of Mandot's home town.

According to all the information that has come here of the fighting record of the southern boy, he is a slugger who loves to tear in and trade punches. This is just the kind of a boy who will make Brown fight and who will bring out the best milling in the range chap.

In the days of old Brown loved to stand toe to toe and trade wallops. This is the characteristic of Whitney, and the coming scrap has the earmarks of a slugfest and it is to be hoped that the fans in these parts will not be disappointed.

Kid Billings to Show.

If Kid Billings, whose real name is Kirby Peterson, is the fighter his large following of friends believe, the fight with Hal Clark of Milwaukee should be a hummer. Clark is one of the real tough welters of the middle section of the West. Some are of the opinion that a tartar has been picked for for Billings. The Billings park youngster has been in the ring only a matter of several months and in a tough fight experience is the necessary adjunct to secure victory.

In each fight he has made, Billings has shown improvement. Clark is the best man he has been asked to face and the result will be watched with a great deal of interest.

Doyle Wants Tillman.

Yesterday Jack Doyle declared that he would like to scrap Johnny Tillman. The New York boxer declared that he was willing to gamble on his ability to beat the Minneapolis boxer.

"If I don't win I will work for nothing," is the way Doyle put the proposition. The New Yorker said that he would have that proposition made in writing and would sign articles to that effect. It must be that Doyle possesses a lot of confidence in his ability to trim the Mill City boy.

"Tillman can't hurt me," said Doyle, "and I will sting him good and plenty. I have fought a lot of tough ones in my time, including Leach Cross. Bring on Tillman."

UPHOLDS TEN-DAY CLAUSE

Federal Judge Sanborn Makes Important Ruling in Marsans Case.

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—Organized baseball won another decisive victory last night when Federal Judge W. H. Sanborn granted a temporary injunction restraining Armando Marsans, former Cuban left fielder of the Cincinnati "Reds" from playing with the St. Louis club of the Federal league or any other ball club except the "Reds" until the alleged breach of contract he is charged with, has been tried in United States district court in St. Louis.

While the action is pending, Judge Sanborn ordered the Cincinnati Exhibition company, owners of the "Reds," to give a bond of $13,000 to indemnify Marsans for any possible loss he might sustain as a result of the injunction.

The cause of organized baseball was represented by George H. Williams of St. Louis, and Ellis G. Kinkead of Cincinnati. Representing Marsans, who did not appear in court, were Dwight Currie, attorney for the St. Louis club, and E. E. Gates of Indianapolis, general counsel for the Federal league. Edward Steiniger, president of the St. Louis Federals, was an interested spectator during the proceedings.

Upholds Ten-Day Clause.

The validity of the ten-day clause in organized baseball contracts was upheld by Judge Sanborn. He based his decision on the fact that Marsans accepted a contract in writing in which the Cincinnati "Reds" agreed to employ him for a specified period at a fixed compensation on condition that the club should have the right to discharge him upon ten days' notice. The contract was valid and binding after Marsans entered upon the performance of the contract and received the compensation according to the terms of the agreement, the court held.

The court also held that Marsans' ability as a baseball player was extraordinary and unique, and that it was impossible for the Cincinnati "Reds" to replace him with another player equally as good. The fact that Marsans had agreed not to play with any other team while under contract with the "Reds" was a "negative covenant" and the court stated that it was a settled rule of law that an injunction may issue to prevent an individual from violating his negative covenant in order to induce him to perform his contract.

Denies the Soft Impeachment.

That he was not an exceptional ball player was the statement made in an affidavit by the Cuban left fielder. He stated that the "Reds" had been as successful since he left as while he was a member of the team. He further stated that outfielders were plentiful, that the services of a pitcher or catcher were much more valuable, and such players difficult to procure.

Marsans has been a member of the Cincinnati Reds three years, the present making the fourth year. His salary was $4,000. He objected to the ten-day clause in his contract and gave ten days notice to the "Reds" management early in June, hoping so he claimed, that the obnoxious ten-day clause would be taken out of his contract. On the afternoon of the same day, Marsans was suspended without pay for alleged disloyality to the team and for other reasons. During his suspension he opened negotiations with the St. Louis club of the Federal but despite that fact, the Cuban "jumped" to the St. Louis Federals, claiming that his contract with the "Reds" was illegal on account of the ten-day clause.

In order to retain his services or prevent him from playing in the rival league, the Cincinnati Exhibition company sought a temporary injunction. The case will now be tried on its merits in United States district court. In the meantime, Marsans can go back to the "Reds" or not play at all.

Kansas City, Mo., June 23.—Outriding their opponents and outplaying them individually and as a team, the Blues of the Kansas City Country club defeated the Yellow Hammers of the same club in the first match of the tournament of the Western circuit of the National Polo association here yesterday by a score of 17½ to 5½.

YACHTS ENGAGED IN THIRTY-MILE RACE.

All three sloops have been rerigged and overhauled since the contests off Sandy Hook, ten days ago. The race was twice around a triangular course of fifteen miles.

To Decide Supremacy.

RAILROAD ADMITS BAD EXPRESS PACT

Says Interlocking Directors Were Responsible for It.

Concord, N. H., June 23.—The answer of the Boston & Maine Railroad company to a suit brought by Mrs. Clementine B. Wentworth of this city, a stockholder, asking for an annulment of the contract between the road and the American Express company, was filed in the superior court yesterday. The railroad company admitted most of Mrs. Wentworth's allegations that the contract was unfair to the railroad and was obtained through the dominating influence of interlocking directors.

Simultaneously the railroad company filed a bill in equity against the express company, asking that the contract be abrogated because of alleged invalidity.

FRANCE WILL TAX FOREIGN INCOMES.

Paris, June 23.—The French government has issued regulations under which a tax of 5 per cent is to be collected on income received in France from foreign stocks, bonds, and securities of whatever form including government bonds. The regulations go into force on July 1.

The law by which this tax is levied was passed in March. Since then enormous pressure from financial interests has been brought to bear upon the French government to delay the application of the legislation, while various changes have been proposed.

Among the arrangements put forward it has been urged that the law would drive out of France thousands of Frenchmen and foreigners resident in France who will prefer to leave the country rather than lose the twentieth part of the income they derive from capital invested abroad.

GAME IS WON BY HIBBING

Company M Defeats the Red Wing Guardsmen at Baseball.

Those Who Qualified as Expert Riflemen and Sharpshooters.

Camp Lakeview, Lake City, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Monday morning a shower lasting several hours delayed the shooting of the Third battalion on the rifle range. In the afternoon the Third battalion continued its practice, and Capt. Charles M. Gordon, detailed army officer with the regiment, inspected the officers, field staff, and machine gun company. The dismounted officers' equipment consisted of the following during the inspection: Pistol, pistol belt and holster, 21 rounds of cartridges, whistle, identification tag, first aid packet and pouch, field glasses, watch, compass, note-book, haversack, mess kit, and canteen. After the shower Monday morning the sun came out and the rest of the day was the warmest experienced in camp this year.

Company L of Red Wing, which has a baseball team, issued a challenge to any team in the regiment, and Company M of Hibbing immediately accepted, and the game was played Sunday afternoon. The score was 6 to 2 in favor of Company M. The batteries for Company M were St. Julien and Felton; for Company L, Nordeen and Kochitz.

The official photographer in camp is very much in evidence, and when any of the companies are lined up for inspection and look their finest, he is on the job. The pictures are finished right on the grounds, and a large number of them are sent from camp by the men to their friends at home.

Riflemen and Sharpshooters.

Private Benjamin Elstrom, Company K, Stillwater, and Sergeant O. M. Olson, Company E, Duluth, are entrusted with the work of compiling the scores on the rifle range, and the following is a list of the men who have qualified as expert riflemen and sharpshooters:

Company C, Duluth—Lieut. R. C. Nelson, 210; Lieut. R. K. Carpenter, 227; Sergeant E. C. Berning, 219; Corporal Sigmund, 221; Corporal Adams, 221; Sergeant Gasper, 197; Sergeant Schultz, 197; Private Buggie, 204.

Company E, Duluth—Lieut. Harrison, 215; Lieut. Brewn, 205; Sergeant Tischer, 212; Sergeant Signer, 197; Sergeant Foster, 201.

Company M, Hibbing—Private Larson, 211.

Field staff — Battalion Sergeant Major Jensen, 227.

Band—Sergeant L. F. Berger, 226.

Scores Necessary to Qualify.

In orred to get in the class of an expert rifleman, the men must make a score of 210 or better, and 190 to get in the class of a sharpshooter. The shooting must be done on the 300, 500 and 600-yard ranges, slow fire, and 200 and 300-yard ranges, rapid fire. Ten shots are fired on each range. On the 200-yard range rapid fire, ten shots must be fired in one minute and a half, kneeling position. On the 300-yard range rapid fire, ten shots must be made in two minutes, lying down.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Charles Heimer and Clarice Heimer of Duluth, accompanied by Mr. Cook, Miss Cook and Miss Lillyblade of Red Wing, were visitors at camp. Miss Alyda Flaaten of Duluth was a visitor at camp Monday afternoon and evening.

The ceremonies Monday evening consisted of a parade and review by the First and Second battalions, under command of Maj. F. W. Matson. Company E of Duluth was detailed for guard duty, with Capt. Stiles as officer of the day.

Annual Dance.

Monday night after the band concert the officers of the Third regiment held their annual dance in the north mess hall which is 150 feet long by thirty wide, which afforded plenty of room for the dancers. Music was furnished by the Third Regiment band, which rendered a fine selection of dances. It was rumored that Lieut. Col. Eva and Capt. Carl C. Weaver had been practising several of the modern dances on their tent floors for the past few days in anticipation of the event. Heretofore the dances were held in the officers' mess hall, in which the floor space is very limited, and the large mess hall was a treat to all those present.

EQUALIZATION BOARD

Is Appointed By the City Council of Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular meeting of the council last night was devoted largely to routine business. The new president, C. G. Rothfus of the First ward expedited matters and the business was finished up much earlier than usual. Monthly bills amounting to several hundred dollars were allowed.

The board of equalization was appointed as follows: First ward, John Anderson; Second ward, Robert J. Tubman; Third ward, Ernest Strand; Fourth ward, Harry Van Dyken.

City Manager Charles Esse appeared before the council to find out what the city wanted to do in regard to certain improvements in the city park. Consideration of the same was turned over to the committee on buildings and grounds.

DENIED NEW TRIAL.

Two Harbors Man Expected to Appeal to Supreme Court.

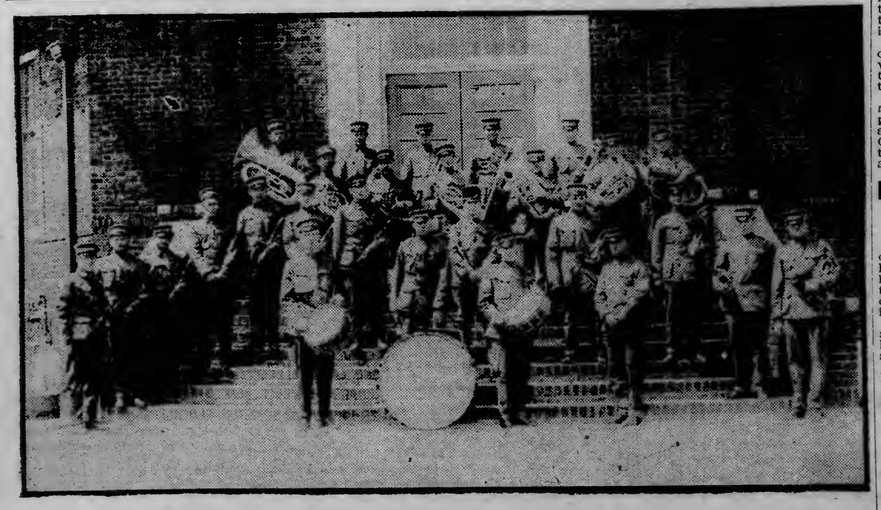

Two Harbors, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has been learned here that Judge Cant in Duluth some time ago denied a new trial to D. H. Lawrence of this city, convicted about a year ago of getting away with funds intrusted to him in the management of clients' affairs. It is expected that soon as sentence is passed, about July 1, his attorneys will take an appeal. The trial of Lawrence attracted considerable attention as he had long been prominent here and has an estimable family. He has held public office.

CHISHOLM FANS WANT REVENGE.

Chisholm, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manager James Leighty of the Chisholm team is arranging for the game here next Sunday with the fast Hibbing team. The loss of the game Sunday was not specially regretted here, at least not sufficiently to cause any bad feeling, and the followers of the game insist that Hibbing has nothing on the locals. Prominent men have taken up the matter of bettering the infield and a gang of men will be put at work at once to improve its condition.

The locals have received good financial support so far this season and the game at which the governor pitched the first ball was not up to normal for the reason that the Eagles were having a picnic across Longyear lake and held a large number of fans there. Next Sunday should see the ball park crammed to capacity.

CHISHOLM PEOPLE ARE PROUD OF THEIR FINE BRASS BAND

CHISHOLM COMMERCIAL BAND.

The people of Chisholm are proud of their fine brass band, shown herewith from a photograph taken on the steps of the new public library. The band has thirty members and is under the leadership of Oscar Simstrom. The Commercial club and the village council help support the band which has a contract to play twice a week during the summer, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons or evenings as is desired.

The day broke clear and sunshiny, contrary to expectations and predictions, and the worst that the weather man predicts for the day and for tomorrow is partly cloudy weather. He says nothing about rain; and here's hoping he doesn't.

CLOUDY

The day was warm and bright a year ago. The sun rose this morning at 4:13 and will set this evening at 8:07, the same hours as yesterday, and giving fifteen hours and fifty-four minutes of sunshine. This will be the case tomorrow also.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Showers fell during Monday or last night over Middle Atlantic states, the Ohio valley, lake region, Iowa Nebraska, Colorado, Western Gulf states and Western Canada. Heavy rain fell at Milwaukee, Wis. Hot weather prevails in the winter wheat states and the temperature has risen somewhat in the lake region and Wyoming."

DOCTORS PUZZLED OVER MAN'S DEATH.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Metzenhuber, 25 years of age, died at his home in the East Pokegama lake country, eight miles southeast of town, Friday of a disease that baffled attending physicians.

Mr. Metzenhuber was one of the new settlers in this section, having come here last year with his parents, and settled on the farm.

The funeral was held today from the Kremer undertaking parlors.

GRAND RAPIDS TO CELEBRATE FOURTH.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Rapids will have good attractions on the Fourth of July.

Among other things, there will be a carnival given by the Commercial Amusement company.

There will be a baseball game in the afternoon between the Grand Rapids team and some fast Duluth team. The local band has been changed and with the addition of four or five out-of-town players will have as good a band as the town ever had.

An unusual amount of interest is being displayed in the parade this year. Many floats, both comic and artistic, are in course of preparation.

There will be all kinds of street races and an interesting program has been prepared along this line, as well as a program of such other sports as can be pulled off. The day will be wound up with a display of fireworks.

MOUNTAIN IRON TO SELL BUILDINGS

Will Offer Houses and Barn on Proposed Library Site.

Mountain Iron, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the village council July 2 there will be offered for sale to the highest bidder two one-story houses and a barn that are now on the lots that have been secured for a site for the proposed new library and city hall.

J. F. Muench, superintendent of schools, is taking a special course at the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Muench is at her home here.

At a meeting of the committee having in charge the sports to be put on at the coming celebration of the Fourth George Williams was named to take the place of Dr. F. L. Parsons, who did not care to serve. The races and the amount to be given in prizes for each event was decided upon, together with the judges for the events. The judges will be: Charles Walker, D. E. Burley and Patrick Hagen. The prizes are very liberal.

The street paving is going along nicely, and it is now an assured fact that several blocks will be ready for the Fourth, so outdoor dances may be indulged in.

A regular meeting of the Commercial club will be held this evening at which, among other things, the location of the proposed park will be determined. Two sites are available.

About twenty men are working on a new road to run straight from this place to the Prindle mine, about three and a half miles to the north and west. Quite a few men living here work at this mine and there has been considerable agitation for a shorter route.

CHISHOLM PREPARING.

Fourth of July Committees Are Busy on Arrangements.

Chisholm, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Barney Graham, chairman of the Fourth of July committee, reports that all the sub-committees are getting things in shape.

The contract for decorating the streets has been let to the Southwestern Decorating company of Galveston, Tex., and calls for the same decorating as last year. More decorations will be given to the bridge.

The parade committee has detailed much of the work to those participating.

The fireworks committee has placed the order for fireworks and will take sufficient precaution so that nothing will happen to it during the day of the Fourth should rain come on that date.

The finance committee has collected a sufficient amount to insure a success.

The water rates will be reduced about July 1 to all patrons of the city plant and it is expected the reduction will save patrons about $10,000 per year. Virginia, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is much gratification among local business men over the announcement that the big Virginia & Rainy Lake sawmill here, which has been undergoing repairs and only partially running will put on 700 more men Thursday morning and run full blast. As the mill employs about 1,500 men when running full blast and has a big payroll, the increase in the force is welcomed.

MOUNTAIN IRON NOTES.

Hibbing, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of review of Stuntz township will meet next Tuesday. Assessor Joseph Moran has the work well along, notwithstanding the fact that changes in the law make the assessing much more difficult this year than ever before. A large number have not yet turned in their assessment, and these should act at once or the assessor will be compelled to put his own valuation on their property.

POISONED BY THE GRIP

The grip is no respecter of persons. No age or station of life is exempt from it. The grip is not a fatal disease but it leaves its victim in such a debilitated condition that one of our foremost medical writers has been led to say, "It is astonishing the number of people who have been crippled in health for years after an attack." It is a common thing to hear people date various ailments from an attack of influenza.

The condition of those who have had the grip is one that calls for a tonic for the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially adapted to meet this need as they purify and enrich the blood, tone up the nerves and give vigor, strength and health to the debilitated system.

"The grip left me without any vitality whatever," says one who has found relief, "and I lost all appetite and ambition. I was reduced in weight and was frequently confined to my bed for two days or more. My friends thought I was going into consumption. I owe my recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and cheerfully recommend them." The details of this case and a chapter on the proper treatment of the grip and its after-effects will be found in the booklet "Building Up the Blood," which will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The boys and other rat catchers are getting busy.

TWO AUTOS ARE STOLEN

Machines Left Standing in the East End Are Taken.

One Is Found, But the Other Is Still Missing.

Two automobiles were stolen in the Duluth residence district late late evening, and up to 2 o'clock today but one had been discovered by the police, who are making a search of this city and Superior.

The automobile found is a seven-passenger Cadillac and is the property of A. M. McDougall of 1005 East First street. It was discovered by Patrolman Dinkel at 2:30 o'clock this morning standing on First street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west. The machine had not been damaged in any way and the officer notified headquarters, whence a driver was immediately sent and he took the missing car back to Mr. McDougall.

The other automobile stolen last evening is a seven-passenger Case and is the property of James Flynn of 119 East Superior street, who conducts an auto livery. The car was left standing in front of the Kitchi Gammi club and when Flynn came out about 1 o'clock this morning the machine was gone. He notified the police immediately after making the discovery and all efforts to find the automobile have failed. The police are making a thorough search both here and in Superior, as it is believed that the thieves ran the car across the bay.

The McDougall automobile had been left in front of their residence, 1005 East First street and was missed about 11 o'clock.

ADVISE STRIKERS NOT TO TAKE PAY.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 23.—Pickets today surrounded the four Westinghouse plants where a strike is in progress, but no attempt was made to pass the closely drawn lines of deputy sheriffs near the entrances.

Hundreds of strikers were advised by their leaders not to present themselves at the factories for their pay, the leaders declaring that it was the intention of the management to recall all working and tool checks, usually the last proceeding when a man is discharged.

How to Banish Wrinkles Quickly

If your face is disfigured with wrinkles, no matter what the cause, you can quickly dispel every line, even the most obstinate, by using a simple, home-made wash lotion. Merely dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel——inexpensive ingredients found in any drug-store. Bathe the face in this, and——presto!—you scarcely believe your own eyes when you look into your mirror and behold the marvelous transformation!

The remarkable astringent action of the saxolite so tightens the skin, wrinkles are literally pressed out. Best of all, this result is not purely temporary, for the lotion also has a healthful tonic action, which tends to strengthen and tone up the weakened tissue, and added benefit may be expected with continued use. Use this once a day for awhile; it cannot injure the most delicate skin, the treatment itself leaves no trace—no one guesses the secret of your increasing youthful appearance. —Advertisement.

BEARS STILL IN CONTROL

Wheat Again Slumps Sharply on Heavy Selling By Operators.

Flaxseed Gains Slightly, With Fair Demand and Light Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 23.—The market was weak to the close, which was at the bottom. July wheat closed 1½@1⅝c off; September 1⅝@1½c off and December ⅞@1c off. July durum closed ⅞c off and September 1¼c off.

Oats closed ⅜c off at 37⅝c for on the track. Rye closed unchanged at 60c for on the track and barley closed with a drop of 5@8c at 46@54c.

At Winnipeg, July oats closed at 36¼c bid and October at 39¼c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis September wheat closed at 79⅛@79¼c asked and calls at 80¼c.

There was no comfort for bulls in today's wheat market. The opening weak, and thereafter prices receded under the influence of optimistic reports regarding the progress of winter wheat harvesting operations, and advices that threshing yields are greatly exceeding the original estimates. The yield is in Kansas is now placed at 180,000,000 bu., and Snow estimates the outturn of winter wheat at 600,000,000 bu. The weather in the Southwest is generally fine and favorable for wheat cutting today.

News being received by grain houses from over the Northwest is generally on the optimistic order, but fears are entertained in some quarters that the wheat may lodge badly in some sections in the Red River valley, where the moisture has been over-abundant. Eastern demand was quiet locally today, but some further export business in No. 1 northern wheat was reported to have been worked.

Operators are now generally of the opinion that the future course of the market depends upon the extent of the export buying. Unless it is maintained at a high notch, it is conceded that a still lower range of quotations must result if the new winter wheat crop is rushed to the market as promptly as is now promised. Hedging sales against country purchases have now become a weakening factor at Chicago and in the Southwest markets.

Another decrease of 10,418,000 bu. in the world's supply estimate today did not exercise any uplifting influence on the market, in view of the bearish conditions in other directions. Liverpool closed slightly up on improved continental inquiry, but the other foreign markets were lower.

July wheat opened unchanged at 89¾@89¾c and a decline of ⅞c was registered up to the final hour. September opened unchanged at 83¾c and it lost 1@1¼c. December weakened ½@⅝c at 83c. July durum opened unchanged at 88⅝c and declined ⅝c. The September option opened unchanged at 84½c and broke to the extent of 1¼c.

Flaxseed Holds Firm.

Flaxseed turned firm on the development of some buying and light offerings. Holders are generally bullish on the outlook in view of the large decrease in acreage sown in the seed this season. It is estimated by a prominent expert that only 2,500,000 acres is under the crop this season in the Canadian and American Northwest, as against 3,800,000 bu last year.

Quotations advanced ⅞c shortly after the opening and thereafter some appreciation appeared, which resulted in realizing the market down slightly. Final prices showed gains of ⅛@⅝c.

Buenos Aires closed 1⅜c off and Antwerp and London unchanged.

July flax opened unchanged at $1.58¾, and closed ¼c up at $1.59 bid. September opened unchanged at $1.60¾ and closed ¼c up at $1.61 bid. October opened unchanged at $1.60½, and closed ¾c up at $1.61 asked, and the November option opened ¼c up at $1.60½, and closed ⅝c up at $1.61.

At Winnipeg, July flax closed at $1.38¾ bid, and October at $1.42⅞ bid.

At Minneapolis the cash market was barely steady with the demand moderate. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 1⅜c to 3½c over July, but only a few choice cars at the top premium. Velvet chaff sold at 1½@1¾c over July. The tone of the market was easy. There was little improvement in the flour trade. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 86¾c to 88¾c and No. 2 northern at from 84¾c to 86¾c.

The Winnipeg Free Press crop report, out this morning, gives the general condition very favorable and much in advance of last year. Two hundred points heard from say that 60 per cent of the wheat will be in the shot blade by the end of this week. There has been little damage from drought and practically none from frost or hail.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "There was some little profit-taking at the opening which resulted in prices showing unchanged to ¼d lower with December leading the decline. This was caused by the weakness in American and decline in Winnipeg yesterday and the pressure of arrivals. During the morning, bearishness as a result of outside weakness was offset by a firmer offer of winter wheat and improvement in the continental demand, with a better demand here for new winters and Manitobas and shorts and speculators supported. At 1:30 p. m. the market was firm, ½d higher. "Corn opened unchanged to ¼d lower and during the morning it remained dull at the opening range. Weakness in America yesterday was offset here by the unsettled weather in Argentine and firmer Plate offers."

REMARKS—Showers fell over Nebraska, Iowa, the Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys and Lake region; hot weather prevails in the winter wheat states.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

•—Inches and hundredths.
†—Highest yesterday, lowest tonight.
‡—Not included in the averages.

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received and the average precipitations from the number of stations reporting 0.10 or more.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in the corn and wheat region for the week ending June 22, 1914:

Washington, D. C., June 23.—In the winter wheat belt the weather was favorable for harvesting which is well under way in Southern sections and began as far north as Iowa and Nebraska. The yields are satisfactory except somewhat less than expected in Texas and Oklahoma. In the spring wheat belt weather conditions were very favorable and the crop is making excellent progress.

Most too cold for corn in some Northern states and frost did some damage, especially in Michigan, but on the whole the crop made good progress. Cultivation is well under way and completed in many sections as far north as Southern Iowa. Corn needs more moisture in portions of the Ohio valley, Missouri, Kansas and southward.

Oats and hay continue favorable in Northern and Western districts.

Tobacco setting still delayed in many sections. Too dry.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Sells in Chicago for Under 80 Cents a Bushel.

Chicago, June 23.—Wheat today went down into the "seventies"—that is, sold for less than 80c a bu. The new decline took place after news came that an official estimate put the Kansas total yield this season at the huge aggregate of 180,000,000 bu. Shorts were the only buyers. Opening prices, which were a shade off to ¼c higher, were followed by a setback all around, with July at 79⅞c.

Afterward a decided additional fall occurred as a result of exporters backing away. The Kansas secretary of agriculture was quoted as saying the yields everywhere in the state exceeded expectations. The close was heavy, 1@1⅛c to 1⅜@1½c under last night.

Speculative purchasing on the part of big houses made corn firm. There was talk that the Oklahoma crop was seriously threatened by lack of rain, with temperature above 100. The market, after opening ¼@½c down to ⅛@¼c advance, scored a moderate general upturn.

Cash demand was better and there were virtually no offerings from the country. The close was strong at a gain of ¼@⅜c to ⅞@⅞c net.

Oats sagged because of sales by pit traders. What little demand there was came from the Northwest.

Lower prices for hogs weakened provisions. Most of the pressure was in lard.

Wheat—No. 2 red, 86½@87½c; No. 2 hard, 86½@88c; No. 2 northern, 91½@93c. No. 2 spring, 90½@92c.

Corn—No. 2, 69¾@72¾c; No. 2 yellow, 70½@71c; No. 3 yellow, 70¾@70½c.

Oats—No. 3 white, 39¼@39¾c; standard, 40¼@40½c.

Rye, No. 2, 65½c; barley, 50@60c; timothy, $4.25@4.50; clover, $10.00@13.00.

Pork, $20.65; lard, $10.05; ribs, $11.00@11.50.

COPPER STOCKS HAVE WEAK TURN

Stocks Close Generally Lower on Reported Break in Copper Metal.

After a firm opening, mining stocks gradually closed off at Boston today, through the development of weakness in copper metal in which sales were reported closed to the 13¾-cent level. Butte & Superior absorbed a large proposition of the day's trading, selling off 38 cents to $36.75. Alaska Gold closed 50 cents off at $27; Butte & Ballaklava a shade up at $2.88; Calumet & Arizona $1 up at $65; Granby unchanged at $51; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $32; Shattuck 25 cents up at $23.75; North Butte a fraction off at $25.63; and Amalgamated Copper $1 off at $70.25.

In the curb list South Lake closed unchanged at $3.75 bid.

Paine, Webber & Co., had the following from Boston: Electrolytic Copper weakened further today and was close to the 13 3-4 cent level. Producers admitted that it was impossible to attract buyers at 13 7-8 cents. There was some domestic demand today, but it failed to develop into actual orders involving large tonnage. Export business was also light."

Butte & Superior for the year ended June 1, returned net profits of $943,317, equal to about $3.50 per share on the stock.

Regular dividend has been declared on Anaconda of 75 cents, payable July 15 to holders of July 3.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Prices Drop in the Final Hour to Lowest of Session.

General Heaviness Attends Speculation and the Close Is Weak.

New York, June 23.—The stock market was under pressure early today and prices of the active shares gave way. The supreme court's decision against the railroads in the intermountain freight rate case gave the bear traders an opening which they utilized successfully offering down the Western railroad shares. Heaviness spread to other parts of the list and while a few issues made gains the general tendency was downward. Reading and the Harriman issues lost a point each. In the curb market, Standard Oil shares broke 1 to 3 points on the supreme court's decision classing pipe lines as common carriers.

The market gave a better account of itself after the opening recession. Partial recoveries were affected, but there was a marked absence of demand and at noon the level was still slightly under yesterday's close. Liquidation from foreign sources had much to do with the initial decline. Arbitrage houses sold international favorites steadily during the first hour. Copper shares were influenced by weakness of metal prices abroad and the corresponding changing of quotations. Amalgamated fell a point and the upward movement in Utah Copper was checked. Selling by disappointed traders who had counted on a dividend declaration on Central Leather caused that stock to sag a point. The outflow of gold was unchecked, $6,000,000 being engaged today for Europe. Bonds were irregular.

The market was sensitive to short selling after noon. Northern Pacific, American Telephone and Chicago Great Western dropped sharply. Recent indications of improvement in business conditions were borne out by the fortnightly report of idle freight cars, which shows a decrease of 9,468. Baltimore & Ohio's May statement disclosed a shrinkage in net earnings of $759,000.

General heaviness attended speculation today. The market was subjected to the adverse influence of the supreme court's intermountain rate case decision and the delay in announcing the freight rates ruling. Net losses in many cases amounted to a point. The closing was weak.

Eastern railroad shares were conspicuous in the final hour's selling movement which drove prices to the lowest of the day.

PETTY KICKS HAVE CEASED

The Board of Equalization Hears Complaints of Big Taxpayers.

Assessor Has Mailed Cards to All Who Are Assessed.

Yesterday's petty complaints against personal property assessments were not apparent at this morning's session of the city board of equalization.

The meeting was largely taken up with visits of men of means or representatives of business firms who believed that their assessments had been placed too high. Some of these were taken under advisement, some were denied and in several instances minor reductions were granted. The latter were greatly in the minority.

City Assessor Scott has mailed postal cards to all who have been assessed informing them of the amount of their assessment. Many seem to think that they pay taxes on the sum stated, but where they are householders they are allowed an exemption of $100. For instance, if the postal says that you have been assessed $200, you get a reduction of $100 and pay on $100. The rate for 1915 will not be fixed until this fall, after the city, county, state and school board have made their levies. It is not likely that it will vary greatly from that of the current year. In round numbers the tax on each $100 will be $3.50, or $35 for each $1,000. Money and credits are taxed separately under a special statute. The rate on this class of property is 3 mills, or $3 per $1,000. This special rate was made because the regular rate was nearly equivalent to confiscation in most instances. The belief that the new law would disclose a large amount of such holdings which had heretofore been concealed has been verified by the results. In Duluth the moneys and credits amounted to $14,500,000 last year and this year the total will be increased to about $17,000,000. From this will be derived a revenue of $51,000, very little of which would have been received before the passage of the new law.

Marine

SHOWS NEED OF MARINE BULLETIN

Hundreds Wait at Dock to See Big New Steamer Arrive.

The need of a lake passenger bulletin service at the boat landing was never shown to better advantage than it was today.

Hundreds of Duluthians who went to the Seventh avenue dock to see the new steamer Noronic, were disappointed when the big steamer failed to arrive on scheduled time. The vessel was due at 11 a. m., but a fog at the Soo delayed the boat so that she is not expected here until 6:30 tonight.

The dock was lined with spectators for more than an hour as no word as to the time of arrival was obtainable. Many telephoned to marine offices. As all lake passenger steamers are now equipped with wireless it would be a simple matter, marine men say, to post all changes of schedules on a bulletin board. This would save Duluthians hours of time that are wasted while waiting for delayed boats.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pulitzer sailed for England on the Mauretania of the Cunard line. Mr. Pulitzer, who has devoted himself very earnestly to the management of the New York World for a long time with practically no rest, feels the need of a breathing spell. Mrs. Pulitzer was Frederica Webb, daughter of Dr. W. Seward Webb. Her mother was a Vanderbilt.

STUDY OF WOMEN OF EMINENCE

Dr. Cora Sutton Makes a Statistical Study of Those Who Have Achieved Greatness in the World's History.

New York Evening Post: To be, or not to be, eminent! This is the instant query of every woman who reads "A Statistical Study of Eminent Women," a searching into the causes and numbers and customs and vitality and countries of this rarity, eminent woman. A rarity she is, as the searcher and author, Cora Sutton Castle, Ph. D., says that there have been only 868 of her in the last twenty-six centuries.

Mrs. Castle took her philosophical degree at Columbia university last June, and her book, a scholarly compilation, is based on the method used by J. McKeen Cattell, professor of psychology in Columbia, in his book, "A Statistical Study of Eminent Men." After explaining the method, and just what the term eminent woman means, she takes up the distribution of eminent women, their mariage, length of life, the relationship between them, and the number of biographical books and encyclopedias in which a woman is mentioned. Lippincott's biographical dictionary, the Americana, Larousse, Brockhaus' Konversations-Lexicon, Meyer's Konversations-Lexicon, and the Encyclopedia Britannica were used, and any woman mentioned in three of these is considered eminent. In all six of them 8,607 were mentioned, including repetitions, but those mentioned in as many as three were only 868.

The Person of Eminence.

Mrs. Castle, in noting the smallness of the number, says: "Is woman innately so inferior to man, or has the attitude of civilization been to close the avenues of eminence against her?" The list of women is given in order of eminence as shown by the number of lines devoted to them in the six volumes. The first twenty names are, as Mrs. Castle says, in spite of the fact that a consulting of other books might somewhat have changed their order, "the ones most familiar to us in literature and history, and they unquestionably deserve their position." They are Mary Stuart, Jeanne d'Arc, Victoria of England, Elizabeth of England, George Sand, Madame de Stael, Catherine II of Russia, Maria Theresa, Marie Antoinette, Anne of England, Madame de Sevigne, Mary I of England, George Eliot, Christina of Sweden, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Madame de Maintenon, Josephine of France, Catharine de Medici, Cleopatra and Harriet Beecher Stowe.

To go through the whole list with comprehension would be to see history from a new angle, with greater light thrown upon it from the vistas opened up. For one thing Cleopatra is the most distinguished woman of the pre-Christian era, and no eminent woman lived between the first century before Christ and the time of Jeanne d'Arc in 1411. The women who attained the highest degree of eminence lived in the sixteenth century; 81.6 per cent of them all belong to the last five centuries, and 63.1 per cent were born in the last 200 years.

Especially interesting is the relation of nationality to line of work; the largest number of eminent women are English, French and German, and, as Mrs. Castle says, "England has furnished more writers than any other nation; France more actresses, musicians, and politicians; Italy and Germany, many more musicians; America, all the reformers; and Rome most of the martyrs." Americans rank low, there being only 75 of them, 33 of the 75 being, incidentally, New Englanders. Altogether 42 countries are represented, and 29 different lines of work, but 38.8 per cent of the whole group were writers. The last 200 years alone have produced musicians, reformers, dancers, educators, travelers and physicians; and actresses date from the seventeenth century.

Acid Test for Husbands.

The amount of work which Mrs. Castle has done in this book takes alarming proportions when the marriage part of the book is investigated and it is discovered that the husbands of these women have been put through the same test for eminence as their wives. "Personally," she says, "we do not believe that, with rational people, love is blind, hence it seems that a study of the marriage relations of this group of eminent women ought to reveal information, not only interesting, but valuable in throwing light on certain social and psychological problems. We must remember in this connection, however, that one current definition of genius does not always grant the rationality of the individual."

Be that as it may, statistics have spoken: they say that 635 of the women have married one or more times, and that their average age for so doing was 23.4 years. In the nineteenth century they have married ten years later than in the twelfth. Reformers and musicians marry latest of this group; 29.8 per cent married eminent men, but in some cases their own eminence comes from the fact that their husbands were eminent, which rather complicates matters.

"Eminent women," says Mrs. Castle, "have not, on the whole, made particularly successful wives, since 11.6 per cent of the 781 unions have ended in separation or divorce. 39 of the 91 cases of dissolution occurred in families where both husband and wife were famous. Divorces have been most frequent among distinguished women of German birth."

The average number of years which the eminent woman lives is 60.8, and a correlation is found between the degree of eminence and the number of years, the most eminent living 3.3 years longer than the others. The American women live longer than any other women, as do also the philanthropists and reformers, chiefly because these are usually Americans. Mrs. Castle credits this American longevity to several causes, lack of early record to pull the average down, better sanitary living conditions, and greater surgical and medical skill.

England in the Lead.

England has the greatest number of the 107 contemporary eminent women, but America and Germany are not far behind. Literature, music, and the stage are the chief lines of work at present.

There are other investigations which are suggested at the end of the book, and which it is probable Mrs. Castle will follow up in later studies. Among these are the statistics to be gathered concerning the children of the eminent women, whether they suffered or benefited by the genius of their mothers, whether they themselves are eminent, and so forth. Also, as Mrs. Castle says, "a study of state of health and cause of death may reveal much needed information as to whether female genius differs physically or physiologically from others of her sex."

Mrs. Castle draws no theoretical conclusions from her own statistics. She lets them speak for themselves as they will, and she ends her book with the question, "A just and thorough consideration of all the points of approach will, we trust, enable us to answer with some degree of certainty the question which we propounded at the beginning of our study, and which has haunted us throughout the research, namely, has innate inferiority been the reason for the small number of eminent women, or has civilization never yet allowed them an opportunity to develop their innate powers and possibilities?"

In this question no consideration is taken of the fact that eminent does not necessarily mean worthy of eminence, and that the definition given in the front of the book of eminent as "high in rank, office, worth, or public estimation; conspicuous, highly distinguished," would be truer with the word worth omitted.

ERRATIC EROS.

London Morning Post: Of the regiment of minor planets the most valuable to astronomers is Eros, which, in addition to being of quite respectable size, has furnished by its orbit the material for a revised estimate of the sun's distance. Since the beginning of the twentieth century tens of thousands of photographs have been taken of this tiny spot of reflected light, and it may claim to be, with the possible exception of Mars, the most observed of all the planets during recent years.

Dr. A. C. D. Crommelin of Greenwich observatory mentions in "Knowledge" a rather curious fact about the variations in its appearance. At the time of its near approach at the end of 1910 and beginning of 1911 a large variation was detected in its brightness; there was a question whether the period of change was five hours or two and one-half hours. It now appears certain that Eros takes five hours to change from its brightest to its least brightest, but that there is a kind of double wave of change, and its brightest moments are not at all of the same intensity. When Eros was in opposition far to the south during 1903 its variability was examined very carefully by Prof. S. Bailey from the Arequipa observatory in Peru. The visual and the photographic methods of estimating the light have now been compared. They show good agreement and enable the variation and its timing to be now stated with exactitude. The exact value of the period of change is .2196 of a day, and one period of greatest brightness is less in value by one-sixteenth than another. The most probable cause of these variations in light seems to be the irregular shape of the planet. In such a tiny body, not much larger than a cubic Great Britain, gravity is very weak, and would be insufficient to draw the planetary material into a regular shape. On such a world anything of the nature of ice or snow is out of the question for Eros could not hold an atmosphere to its sides. For similar reasons we cannot suppose that it has any organic rocks, such as chalk; it is simplest to suppose it to be a crag of metal.

It seems not impossible that when Eros again draws very near in the year 1931 that our giant telescopes may be able to scan it as a tiny disc and to detect any notable departure from roundness. There is no reason to suppose that Eros is the only small planet whose shape is irregular. Many were, therefore, examined at Arequipa for irregularity in light reflection, and Sirona, Celuta and Tercidina all come into the category of variables. They all, it seems, must rotate rapidly. In the same number of "Knowledge," E. M. Antonidi, in the course of a correspondence on the reality of the "canals" on the planet Mars, remarks that the aerographer who drew more straight lines on Mars than any other, Prof. A. E. Douglass, declared all the canals which he had been seeing for years with the telescope at Flagstaff, Ariz., to be illusive.

SELLWOOD WILL CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT; CONTESTS DISMISSED

Terms of the Compromise Are Not Made Public By Attorneys.

"Satisfactory to Mrs. Leithhead" Is the Only Statement Made.

Question of Inheritance Tax Still Remains to Be Settled.

The Sellwood will contest has been withdrawn.

Rumors to the effect that the three-cornered legal fight for the fortune left by the late Joseph Sellwood had been settled out of court and that a compromise had been effected among the members of the family, were given full confirmation today when Mrs. Ophelia Leithhead, through her attorneys, A. L. Agatin and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, and Mrs. Martha M. Sellwood, represented by Fryberger, Fulton & Spear, each withdrew the contests which they had filed against the admission of Capt. Sellwood's last will.

The terms of the settlement were not made public. C. O. Baldwin of Baldwin & Holmes, attorneys for Richard M. Sellwood and his sister, Mrs. La Rue S. Mershon, who were seeking to have the will admitted to probate, stated this morning that he was not in a position to state what the terms of the settlement were. A. L. Agatin, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Leithhead, is out of the city today and could not be reached. W. D. Bailey also of counsel for Mrs. Leithhead, however, refused to discuss the terms of the settlement.

"All that I can say," said Mr. Bailey, "is that the settlement has been made and the contest has been withdrawn. I am not at liberty to disclose what

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY GRANTED DULUTH MAN

Structural Iron Worker, Convicted of Complicity in Big Dynamite Plot, and Now Freed By Order of President Wilson.

POWELL FREED OF ROBBERY CHARGE

Man Extradited From Detroit Is Released in Canada.

New Westminster, B. C., June 24.—Martin Powell, arrested at Detroit and extradited to Canada nearly a year ago, charged with complicity in the Bank of Montreal robbery when that institution was looted of $271,000, has received a stay of proceedings in the assize court and the charge against him was withdrawn. Powell was released from custody. When arrested he had a large number of stolen Bank of Montreal bills in his possession.

HEAR MERRY WIDOW 200 MILES AT SEA.

London, June 24.—Strains from a gramophone playing "The Merry Widow Waltz" and "God Save the King" were heard by wireless on the Nelson line steamship Highland Scot during a voyage to Buenos Aires. The boat was passing Vigo at the time. Afterward it was found the ship from which the wireless came was a private yacht 200 miles away.

ONE YARD LIMIT IS PUT ON ALL KISSES

Woman Movie Censor Says That Is Enough for Anyone.

Philadelphia, June 24.—Mrs. Cyra Niver, the only woman member of the new state moving picture censorship board, has decided that "one yard" is long enough for any kiss, after several weeks spent in passing upon thousands and thousands of yards of love drama films. The woman inspector has sat through yards and yards of kisses and her ultimatum after watching an embrace which occupied five yards of film was that four yards should be eliminathed.

DULUTH SWEDISH-AMERICANS OBSERVE MIDSUMMER'S DAY

Clear Skies Greet Thousands of Merry Makers on National Holiday.

Parade Opens Festivities Followed By Speeches and Sport Program.

SIGNIFICANCE OF MIDSUMMER'S DAY.

No task should be too long to finish in Sweden or Norway today, for in the northern part of the peninsula the sun will not set at all. That is why that part of the world is called the "Land of the Midnight Sun."

"Because this is the high-tide of summer, the Scandinavians celebrate it as Middsummer's day," said Dr. J. J. Eklund, a well known Swedish-American of this city. "The celebration of this day has no particular significance except that it is peculiarly appropriate for a summer holiday.

"The Scandinavians are very fond of holidays and festivities, and this day has been celebrated since time out of memory. The flag is run up, speeches are made, and dancing and many other forms of amusement are featured.

"In all parts of Sweden the day is celebrated, but it is not so widely observed by the Norwegians. Both races, however, whether in their native land or in America, look forward to the occasion as one of their most delightful holidays."

The Swedes find a special significance in celebrating this day because it was at this season that the victorious Swedish army in the Thirty Years' war landed on German soil. This gives it a patriotic significance and makes the raising of the flag doubly important.

Beautiful, clear skies greeted the Swedish people of the city at the opening festivities of the Midsummer's day celebration being held this afternoon and evening at Lincoln park. Fully 5,000 people had gathered at the park at 2 o'clock this afternoon to spend the

SAYS EMIGRATION WILL RUIN ENGLAND

Member of Parliament Denounces Work of Its Promoters.

London, June 24.—Right Hon. Jesse Collins, M. P., for Birmingham, attacks emigration societies, declaring their steadily increasing work presents a grave national danger. Emigrants increased from 71,188 in 1900 to 268,000 in 1912, all of such class as no nation regardful of its safety and prosperity can spare.

The emigrants are sound mentally and physically, thrifty, monied farmers, market gardeners, foremen, bailiffs, even laborers, going with money —often large sums—in their pockets.

He says: "Our countrysides are already so denuded of population that they must have become almost a desert. Passing through the rural districts by road or rail we see hardly a man, except in harvest time, working in the fields."

Collins urges a remedy in small ownership.

SAYS PIG IS BEST PET MAN CAN HAVE

Doctor Tells Philadelphians Swine Is No Disease Carrier.

Philadelphia, June 24.—"If a pet you must have, get a pig. The pig may not be so delicate and sentimental an animal as the cat and the dog, and he has a disagreeable squeal, but he is not a disease carrier."

So said Dr. D. T. Quigley of North Platte, Neb., at the Devereaux Methodist Episcopal church in a lecture on the prevention of infectious and contagious diseases.

It was especially in reference to the "common cold" that Dr. Quigley mentioned pets. He declared that the "common cold" was the worst ailment of the human race and that not a small part of the affliction was attributable to the family cat and dog, which boys, girls and grownups fondle.

Washington, June 24.—President Wilson today commuted to expire at once the sentences imposed on Michael J. H. Hannon of Scranton, Pa.; Frank H. Painter of Omaha, Neb.; Fred J. Mooney of Duluth, Minn., and William Shupe of Chicago, all convicted in the "dynamite conspiracy" cases. The other twenty defendants, including the leaders, must begin serving their sentences tomorrow in Leavenworth penitentiary.

IOWA STERILIZATION LAW HELD INVALID

Judge Smith McPherson Enjoins Officials From Obeying It.

Keokuk, Iowa, June 24.—The Iowa vasectomy, or sterilization, law passed by the last general assembly, was declared unconstitutional, null and void in a decision filed by Judge Smith McPherson of Red Oak, Ia., United States district judge of the Southern district of Iowa, here today.

The decision, which was written by Judge McPherson and affects similar laws in other states, grants the writ of temporary injunction applied for by Rudolph Davis, an inmate of the state penitentiary, enjoining the members of the board of parole, the warden and the penitentiary physician from causing the operation of vasectomy to be performed upon the complainant.

Judge Walter I. Smith, United States circuit judge for this, the Eighth district, and Judge John C. Pollock, United States district judge for the district of Kansas, concurred with Judge McPherson.

The defendants in the case were William H. Berry, John F. Howe and David C. Mott, constituting the Iowa state board of parole; James C. Sanders, warden of the penitentiary, and Austin F. Philpott, penitentiary physician.

TURTLE CARVED IN 1821 COMES BACK.

New York, June 24.—Josiah Ewitt, Jr., a farmer of Walnut Corners, N. J., found in a field on his farm yesterday a turtle, on the shell of which was carved the initials of his grandfather, "J. E.," and the date "1821."

Ewitt showed the turtle to several neighbors and then carried it back to where he found it, after carving his own initials and the date alongside those of his grandfather. He said his father had found the same turtle on the place some years ago.

He says as near as he can learn the turtle had moved about very little and has been practically in the same field for nearly 100 years or possibly longer. How old it was when his grandfather carved his initials upon its back he doesn't know.

"Equals Any for Twelve Months; Better Than Any for Ten."

At last the climate of Duluth is vindicated.

The vindication comes not from the enthusiastic praises of summer tourists, nor the firm, settled conviction of about 99 per cent of the residents that "Duluth climate is as good as any for twelve months in the year, and better than any other for ten months," but from the cold, official, government statistics, compiled by the United States weather bureau.

The official vindication is the work of H. W. Richardson, local forecaster, and it comes in the form of a pamphlet approved by Charles F. Marvin, chief of the United States weather bureau, and published by the Duluth Commercial club.

It is a little masterpiece. The pamphlet consists of about fifty pages of carefully compiled data, and Mr. Richardson has evidently spent many days and weeks of painstaking work upon it. If the rate case was Duluth's Magna Charta of industrial freedom, this little pamphlet will be the city's Magna Charta of freedom from the slanders abroad and the "knocks" at home, as far as climate is concerned.

EBERHART TO RUN FOR U. S. SENATE

Friends Say Governor Will Be Candidate Against Clapp.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Governor Eberhart will be a candidate for the United States senate against Moses E. Clapp in 1916, in spite of his defeat for renomination for governor last week, was intimated today by some of his political friends. They also hinted that whether the governor's organization supports W. E. Lee in his campaign for governor this fall may depend on the attitude of the Lee supporters toward the governor's senatorial boom.

Friends of the governor contend that he and his organization hold the key to the situation this year. Lee, they point out, received about 90,000 votes in the primary, while the normal November vote is more than 300,000, so he must get at least 60,000 more somewhere. The vote that went to Lawler in the primaries will not go to Lee, an avowed county optionist. Hammond probably will get an even break of the 100,000 or more who did not vote at the primaries. Lee then must get at least half of the Eberhart following to be elected, say these friends of the governor's.

LABELS MUST SHOW ALCOHOL IN JUICES

Department of Agriculture Makes Order Effective on Sept. 1.

Washington, June 24.—By a decision of the department of agriculture all fruit juices to which alcohol has been added must be plainly labeled to show this, if they are to be shipped in interstate commerce after Sept. 1, 1914. In the opinion of the department, such names as "peach juice," "cherry juice," should be applied only to fruit juices which are unfermented and which contain no added sugar, alcohol, or other substances.

In the past alcohol has been frequently added as a preservative to these preparations, which are used for such purposes as flavoring beverages or preparing cordials. After Sept. 1, goods that do not comply with the new ruling and indicate this fact on their labels will be denied entry into this country, and if found in interstate commerce "will be subjected to appropriate action" by the authorities.

CARRIERS QUIT AS PARCELS ARE SENT.

Tacoma, June 24.—Scores of star route carriers in the Pacific Northwest are refusing to renew mail contracts with the postoffice department. Carriers heretofore receiving $300 to $600 annually are retiring in disgust or insisting on $5,000 or $10,000 or $15,000 yearly. As a result of the parcel post, they have been delivering sugar, flour, lumber and other freight throughout counties distant from railroads and steamer.

PART OF WATERTOWN, S. D., WRECKED BY WIND

Over Quarter of a Million Dollars Damage Done.

Several People Are Injured and Baby May Die.

Watertown, S. D., June 24.—Daylight today disclosed a wrecked and debris-strewn Watertown.

The storm struck first at Third avenue south, extending south to Sixth avenue and cutting through for sixteen blocks, leaving the residence section at Tenth street east and First avenue south and running south to Fourth avenue south. Several large churches and school buildings were just missed by the storm, which passed up the business portion of the city entirely.

Telephone service and the electric light wires went out with the storm and great confusion followed.

Reports as far as obtainable show damage to the following residences:

Walter McLaughlin, totally demolished.
J. E. Bauer, complete wreck.
E. M. Barkers, roof beam off.
J. G. Bauer, total wreck.
Mrs. Catherine Shield, moved from foundation.
Carl Backlund, walls blown in.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two persons are known to have lost their lives in the storm which swept Minneapolis last night, two others are believed to have perished in Lake Harriet, many others were injured, and thousands of dollars damage was done to property.

Esther Munson, 17 years old, was killed when the wind crumpled the home at St. Louis park, the building collapsing and crushing her. Her father and brother jumped from the front porch and escaped injury.

Search for Bodies.

Louis Grams, 101 Western avenue, and Margaret Kelly, 923 Twenty-fifth avenue southeast, were in a canoe on Lake Harriet when the gale struck, and today the lake is being dragged for their bodies, as well as that of Miss Loretta Grams of Jordan, Minn., who is known to be one of the victims of last night's storm. Louis Grams is said to be no relative of Miss Grams.

At least twelve people reported missing have been found after search. In some cases the stormbound persons were unable to reach home because of exhaustion.

ROW OVER FUNDS PUT UP TO SAVE PATRICK

Milliken Is Sued By Another Brother-in-Law in Denver.

Denver, Colo., June 24.—John T. Milliken, St. Louis and Colorado millionaire, who saved Albert T. Patrick, his brother-in-law, from the electric chair at Sing Sing, has been sued in the United States court in Denver for an accounting of the costs of the fight to free Patrick.

Oil stock now valued at $250,000, which was contributed as part of the fund raised to save Patrick, forms the basis of the suit. Leonidas E. Hill of Denver, well-known Cripple Creek mining man, brother-in-law of Patrick and Milliken, brings the suit.

Hill alleges that in 1907 he turned over to Milliken 20,000 shares of oil stock of the Milliken Oil company, Tulsa, Okla., to be used to aid Patrick. He says Milliken has refused to make an accounting, and he is unable to ascertain just how much of the fund he gave went to the cause of Patrick.

MINERS' FIGHT LEAVES ALL EARMARKS OF WAR ON BUTTE

BEREAVED CAT RAIDS BURROW OF RABBITS

Abducts Bunnies and Fights Off Their Natural Parents.

New York, June 24.—A cat in Blue Point, L. I., adopted three baby rabbits last week and is bringing them up in place of her own kittens which had been drowned. The cat is the pet of Miss Irma Katzenmeyer, the 15-year-old daughter of Carl Katzenmeyer of Blue Point.

A week ago Monday tabby presented six kittens to her owner, but the girl's father, thinking six a few more kittens than he really needed about the house, took them out and drowned them.

The mother grieved over the loss of her offspring and refused to eat. On Tuesday she disappeared in the woods near the Katzenmeyer home, and did not reappear until Wednesday. When she came back she carried in her mouth a newly born wild rabbit. She laid her find gently down in the yard and went back to the woods. She reappeared with another rabbit. A third trip produced a third bunny.

The cat guards her new family jealously and will not let strangers approach them. Several times since Wednesday two full grown rabbits, presumably parents of the adopted ones, have approached the house, but every time the foster mother has driven them away in feline fury.

Armed Men Patrol Streets Strewn With Dynamited Wreckage.

Moyer and Other Union Officials Narrowly Escape Being Killed.

Butte, Mont., June 24.—Butte today presents the appearance of a city which has undergone a night of bombardment by artillery. Men walk the streets armed, deputies patrol main thoroughfares, windows are broken and Union hall is damaged by the dynamiting of insurgent miners last night.

At midnight Governor Stewart, who had been in telephone communication with Butte, said he had under consideration the question of ordering state troops to Butte. At 12:34 this morning twenty-three blasts had been exploded against the Miners' Union hall and the front of the building had collapsed.

Tried to Kill Moyer.

In clearing Union hall, repeated attempts were made to dynamite Miners' Union hall, evidently with the idea of annihilating President Charles H. Moyer and other officers of the Western Federation of Miners who were to address a peace meeting. The first at-

SELLWOOD WILL CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT; CONTESTS DISMISSED

Terms of the Compromise Are Not Made Public By Attorneys.

"Satisfactory to Mrs. Leithhead" Is the Only Statement Made.

Question of Inheritance Tax Still Remains to Be Settled.

The Sellwood will contest has been withdrawn.

Rumors to the effect that the three-cornered legal fight for the fortune left by the late Joseph Sellwood had been settled out of court and that a compromise had been effected among the members of the family, were given full confirmation today when Mrs. Ophelia Leithhead, through her attorneys, A. L. Agatin and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, and Mrs. Martha M. Sellwood, represented by Fryberger, Fulton & Spear, each withdrew the contests which they had filed against the admission of Capt. Sellwood's last will.

The terms of the settlement were not made public. C. O. Baldwin of Baldwin & Holmes, attorneys for Richard M. Sellwood and his sister, Mrs. Lu Rue S. Mershon, who were seeking to have the will admitted to probate, stated this morning that he was not in a position to state what the terms of the settlement were. A. L. Agatin, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Leithhead, is out of the city today and could not be reached. W. D. Bailey also of counsel for Mrs. Leithhead, however, refused to discuss the terms of the settlement.

"All that I can say," said Mr. Bailey, "is that the settlement has been made and the contest has been withdrawn. I am not at liberty to disclose what

Philadelphia, June 24.—Mrs. Cyra Niver, the only woman member of the new state moving picture censorship board, has decided that "one yard" is long enough for any kiss, after several weeks spent in passing upon thousands and thousands of yards of love drama films. The woman inspector has sat through yards and yards of kisses and her ultimatum after watching an embrace which occupied five yards of film was that four yards should be eliminated.

Powell was released from custody. When arrested he had a large number of stolen Bank of Montreal bills in his possession.

IOWA STERILIZATION LAW HELD INVALID

Judge Smith McPherson Enjoins Officials From Obeying It.

Keokuk, Iowa, June 24.—The Iowa vasectomy, or sterilization, law passed by the last general assembly, was declared unconstitutional, null and void in a decision filed by Judge Smith McPherson of Red Oak, Ia., United States district judge of the Southern district of Iowa, here today.

The decision, which was written by Judge McPherson and affects similar laws in other states, grants the writ of temporary injunction applied for by Rudolph Davis, an inmate of the state penitentiary, enjoining the members of the board of parole, the warden and the penitentiary physician from causing the operation of vasectomy to be performed upon the complainant.

Judge Walter I. Smith, United States circuit judge for this, the Eighth district, and Judge John C. Pollock, United States district judge for the district of Kansas, concurred with Judge McPherson.

The defendants in the case were William H. Berry, John F. Howe and David C. Mott, constituting the Iowa state board of parole; James C. Sanders, warden of the penitentiary, and Austin F. Philpott, penitentiary physician.

TURTLE CARVED IN 1821 COMES BACK.

New York, June 24.—Josiah Ewitt, Jr., a farmer of Walnut Corners, N. J., found in a field on his farm yesterday a turtle, on the shell of which was carved the initials of his grandfather, "J. E.," and the date "1821."

Ewitt showed the turtle to several neighbors and then carried it back to where he found it, after carving his own initials and the date alongside those of his grandfather. He said his father had found the same turtle on the place some years ago.

He says as near as he can learn the turtle had moved about very little and has been practically in the same field for nearly 100 years or possibly longer. How old it was when his grandfather carved his initials upon its back he doesn't know.

DULUTH SWEDISH-AMERICANS OBSERVE MIDSUMMER'S DAY

Clear Skies Greet Thousands of Merry Makers on National Holiday.

Parade Opens Festivities Followed By Speeches and Sport Program.

SIGNIFICANCE OF MIDSUMMER'S DAY.

No task should be too long to finish in Sweden or Norway today, for in the northern part of the peninsula the sun will not set at all. That is why that part of the world is called the "Land of the Midnight Sun."

"Because this is the high-tide of summer, the Scandinavians celebrate it as Midsummer's day," said Dr. J. J. Eklund, a well known Swedish-American of this city. "The celebration of this day has no particular significance except that it is peculiarly appropriate for a summer holiday.

"The Scandinavians are very fond of holidays and festivities, and this day has been celebrated since time out of memory. The flag is run up, speeches are made, and dancing and many other forms of amusement are featured.

"In all parts of Sweden the day is celebrated, but it is not so widely observed by the Norwegians. Both races, however, whether in their native land or in America, look forward to the occasion as one of their most delightful holidays."

The Swedes find a special significance in celebrating this day because it was at this season that the victorious Swedish army in the Thirty Years' war landed on German soil. This gives it a patriotic significance and makes the raising of the flag doubly important.

Beautiful, clear skies greeted the Swedish people of the city at the opening festivities of the Midsummer's day celebration being held this afternoon and evening at Lincoln park. Fully 5,000 people had gathered at the park at 2 o'clock this afternoon to spend the

Member of Parliament Denounces Work of Its Promoters.

London, June 24.—Right Hon. Jesse Collins, M. P., for Birmingham, attacks emigration societies, declaring their steadily increasing work presents a grave national danger. Emigrants increased from 71,188 in 1900 to 268,000 in 1912, all of such class as no nation regardful of its safety and prosperity can spare.

The emigrants are sound mentally and physically, thrifty, monied farmers, market gardeners, foremen, bailiffs, even laborers, going with money —often large sums—in their pockets.

He says: "Our countrysides are already so denuded of population that they must have become almost a desert. Passing through the rural districts by road or rail we see hardly a man, except in harvest time, working in the fields."

Collins urges a remedy in small ownership.

SAYS PIG IS BEST PET MAN CAN HAVE

Doctor Tells Philadelphians Swine Is No Disease Carrier.

Philadelphia, June 24.—"If a pet you must have, get a pig. The pig may not be so delicate and sentimental an animal as the cat and the dog, and he has a disagreeable squeal, but he is not a disease carrier."

So said Dr. D. T. Quigley of North Platte, Neb., at the Devereaux Methodist Episcopal church in a lecture on the prevention of infectious and contagious diseases.

It was especially in reference to the "common cold" that Dr. Quigley mentioned pets. He declared that the "common cold" was the worst ailment of the human race and that not a small part of the affliction was attributable to the family cat and dog, which boys, girls and grownups fondle.

HUERTA'S SOLDIERS SAID TO BE SNIPING AT THE U. S. TROOPS

Persistent Reports Tell of Effort to Bring on Fight.

Peace Protocols Are Soon to Be Signed at Niagara.

Washington, June 24.—Persistent reports of sniping by Mexican Federals on the American outposts at Vera Cruz and rumors of Constitutionalist further advances toward Mexico City served today to stir interest in the Mexican situation.

Although the war department will make public no reports from Gen. Funston regarding sniping on the American forces, it was known there had been an investigation of continued reports to that effect. There have been many inferences that Huerta's forces were attempting to provoke a fight with the American troops and force intervention.

Patient waiting on mediation continued today to be the attitude of the administration. The coming of Alfredo Breceda, a representative of Carranza, to Washington tomorrow was awaited with interest in official quarters. That Breceda and his colleagues are coming to participate in conference with officials of the Washington government is declared to be a fact, but whether they or other Constitutionalists will go to Niagara Falls to join the Americans and Huerta delegates in informal discussion of peace still seems problematical. Administration leaders insisted, however, that prospects were hopeful.

Will Sign Protocols.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 24.—Plans have been completed by the mediators for the signing within a day or two of all protocols in the peace plan which relate to the international differences between the United States and Mexico, except the plank giving the composition and personnel of the new provisional government.

The intention of the mediators is to have the peace plan ready so that at informal conferences the Huerta and Constitutionalist delegates may be charged with the task of selecting a provisional president and cabinet officers. Before these conferences are held, the work of the mediators and the American delegates will be practically finished. Representatives of the two Mexican factions then will assume their responsibility of making or breaking the peace program.

Reports from New Orleans quoting the private secretary of Carranza as saying the commission on route to Washington would not participate in informal negotiations with Huerta delegates, did not disturb the tranquility of the mediation colony. Assurances have been received from authoritative sources that the Constitutionalists will be here.

The signing of the protocols within a day or two practically settling the international dispute between the United States and Mexico, on the condition that a provisional government be established which the United States can recognize, is expected to serve as an incentive to the representatives of the two Mexican factions to agree on personnel.

Villa's Retreat Cut Off.

El Paso, Texas, June 24.—Gen. Villa has not burned his bridges behind him in the Zacatecas campaign, but rain has washed them away, it is announced by railroad officials. It was said that it would take a fortnight to repair the damage between Chihuahua City and Torreon. In the meantime, Villa's forces were reported preparing to attack at once the central Mexican city. This also may interfere with Villa's plans for obtaining supplies for his army during the siege.

Villa agents said that they even did not know Villa's whereabouts, but supposed he already had reached Fresnillo thirty-five miles north of Zacatecas, where Gen. Natera had maintained headquarters during his unsuccessful investment of the city.

From the Federal side came a report of Constitutionalist reverses above Zacatecas.

L. A. GUNDERSON, Prop.

WANTED RECEIPT FOR HIS $3 FINE

"Don't I get a receipt?"

"What for?"

"Why, I just paid you a $3 fine for being drunk and I would like to have a receipt showing I paid it."

"Aren't you getting out of jail by paying the fine? That ought to be a receipt enough."

The above conversation took place at police headquarters this morning, when a prisoner paid a $3 fine that had been assessed against him by Judge Cutting for having been drunk last night. After giving Jailor Johnson his money the prisoner asked for a receipt. In fact, he insisted upon it.

And it took the combined efforts of Capt. Fiskett and Secretaries Connelly and Johnson to convince the man that his freedom showed he had paid the fine.

After about fifteen minutes of arguing the man was convinced and he left the station without a receipt.

YOUNG BOY PROVES HIMSELF A HERO

FRANK ROSSITER, 13.

Frank Rossiter, 13-year-old son of Mrs. John Rossiter, 4741 London road, proved his courage yesterday afternoon, when he attempted to save the life of Henry Morrison, 15 years old. The boy is in the eighth grade of the Lakeside school.

Unaided, he plunged into Lester river when he heard Morrison yell for assistance, and three times he made an effort to save the life of his companion. They were drawn into a whirlpool just above the small falls and Rossiter was compelled to give up, and only with the assistance of other companions, did he escape drowning himself.

After the body had been found by D. M. Morrison, father of the drowned boy, the police were notified and the pulmotor was sent to the residence, 4738 London road, but all efforts to revive him failed. The police worked over the body for one hour, and although the machine was in perfect operation, life was extinct and the attempt proved fruitless.

LAKE MEN OPPOSE THE SEAMEN'S BILL

Will Meet Within Fortnight to Formulate Protest.

From The Herald's Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 24.—Representatives of all the passenger vessel lines on the Great Lakes will meet either in Detroit or Washington within the next two weeks to prepare a formal protest against certain features of the seamen's bill, which has been reported to the house for action.

Notice of that plan was given to Congressman Joshua W. Alexander, chairman of the house merchant marine committee, today by Frank E. Kirby of Detroit. Mr. Alexander is author of the house bill. Mr. Kirby conferred with the committee chairman on some of the features which the lake ship owners hope to have changed.

"The bill virtually throws the Great Lakes into the sea," said Mr. Kirby. "The provisions for Great Lakes vessels are the same as for the transoceanic vessels. We expect that in certain seasons of the year the Great Lakes vessels will not be required to carry such a high percentage of lifeboat equipment. Rivers, bays and sounds are exempt from the provisions of the bill. That hardly seems fair when it is considered that Long Island sound is very similar to Lake Erie in size and volume of traffic handled."

Harlow Is Bought.

With the steamer J. E. Mills, the Trotter Towing & Wrecking company of Amherstburg is endeavoring to float the steamer Harlow, on the bottom in River Rouge, which Capt. Fred J. Trotter bought for $2,700 at a United States marshal's sale.

The sale resulted from a libel for wrecking charges placed on the Harlow by Capt. Trotter, who raised the steamer last winter, after she was sunk above the head of Belle Isle in collision with an unidentified steamer in the storm of Nov. 9.

Capt. Trotter will take the Harlow to a Detroit drydocks for examination and probably will give her a general overhauling. Her engine and boilers are said to be in good condition and the steamer is equipped with a good clamshell rig. After repairing the vessel, Capt. Trotter plans to operate her in the sand and gravel trade.

PLAN LAKE TO OCEAN ROUTE

Buffalo is beginning to show a keen interest in the aim of Duluth lake shippers to secure as soon as possible an all-water route for ocean vessels between Duluth and the Atlantic. The aid of Buffalo and other Great Lake ports in this project would no doubt do a great deal to secure early action in the matter. The Buffalo Inquirer publishes the following:

"At the urgent request of Senator Townsend of Michigan, Secretary of State Bryan has submitted to the Canadian government for its consideration a resolution introduced by the senator and passed by congress in the last session authorizing the president to enter into treaty relations with Great Britain and Canada for the purpose of converting boundary waters between the United States and Canada into ocean waterways.

"Back of the resolution is a project for co-operation in the improvement of the St. Lawrence route and the Welland canal so that ocean vessels may navigate through them to the Great Lakes. At present the route from the ocean to the lakes through the Welland canal is useful only for vessels of light draft and small tonnage.

"The Dominion authorities are considering the suggestion and a report upon the cost of such an undertaking, its value and other phases is expected soon.

"It is claimed by advocates of the plan that its adoption would permit lake vessels to go into winter service on the ocean, instead of laying up for four or five months a year."

ORE TRADE FALLS OFF FIFTY PER CENT.

According to the statistics of the ore trade on the Great Lakes for this season up to June 1, there has been a falling off of 50 per cent.

The shipments show a total of 4,121,749 tons, which is a decrease of 4,028,850 tons as compared with the similar period of the season of 1913. This decrease of 50 per cent in shipments is due to the general lethargy of business and the fact that 25 per cent of the ore-carrying vessls are yet laid up and are not operating. The ore shipments are not expected, say lake men, to be brisk until well along in July.

Ten years ago the Gossard (the original front-lacing corset) was practically unknown. Today thousands of women in all parts of the world wear them. It gives them style and comfort that only wearers of the Gossard Corsets know.

Why Don't You Wear a Gossard Corset?

Have you an idea they wouldn't suit your figure or do you consider that they are too expensive? Whether you are heavy or thin, or "just right," there is a model that will exactly suit you—we will prove this by a trial fitting. If you have a perfect figure, the right Gossard will emphasize its best points.

Wear Gossard CORSETS They Lace In Front

If you are too heavy or too slender, we have a Gossard that will overcome these defects.

Corseting from a Medical Standpoint

Medical fittings—what are they? Nothing more than fitting a woman to a regular Gossard model designed for her figure, and then adjusting the corset to care for a hernia (rupture), a floating kidney, weak abdominal muscles, spinal curvature, maternity, or cases where the woman has just undergone an operation.

WILL OPEN MILK DEPOTS

City Will Resume Infant Welfare Work Next Wednesday.

Certified Milk Will Be Sold at Less Than Cost.

Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, said this morning that arrangements have been practically completed for the opening of the city's three milk depots next Wednesday, July 1.

One depot will be maintained at the Masonic temple, Lake avenue and Second street; another in the West end at the Patrick nursery, Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street, and the third at West Duluth in the basement of the Irving school, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Nicollet street.

The city will co-operate with the Masonic fraternity in the downtown district. The nurse employed by the Masons will be in charge and the health department will furnish the certified milk, which will be sold for 7 cents per quart, although the cost is 10 cents per quart. It was found last year that some families could not afford to pay 10 cents for the milk and did not take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the milk stations for that reason.

The West end and West Duluth stations will be in charge of nurses employed by the city and conducted under the direction of the health department. No milk station was conducted at West Duluth last year but the officials state that there has been sufficient demand for it to warrant its re-establishment.

Clinics will be held at all the stations. Mothers can bring their infants to them and they will be examined by Dr. Rood Taylor, who has been doing welfare work for the Masons and will assist the city in this line of activity. The hours for holding the clinics have not been definitely determined but will be partially regulated by the demand and necessity for them.

The nurses will be at the stations during forenoons but in afternoons will make personal visits to mothers to instruct them as to the best methods of rearing their babies.

The local milk stations have been operated in Duluth for several summers and have been highly successful. They are credited with having materially reduced infant mortality during the hot summer months and having greatly improved conditions for both mothers and babies.

FIGHTS DOG CATCHERS AND GETS IN TROUBLE

The life of the dog catcher is not a merry one.

At least, Patrolmen Axel Johnson and William Boland, who were appointed the official dog catchers two weeks ago, think so.

Yesterday afternoon the two dog catchers caught a dog in front of the residence of Frank Wickham, 505 West Third street, and upon going to the door to ask if the owners had a tag for the animal, they were met with a tirade of words and several blows at the hands of Wickham.

The two officers asserted their authority and arrested Wickham on a charge of assault. He was arraigned in police court this morning and, pleading guilty, was fined $25 or thirty days in the county jail. He will pay his fine.

WOULD-BE THIEVES NABBED AT WORK

Two Men Caught While Trying to Burglarize Store.

David Pentland, 39, and William Miller, 43, who were arrested by the police shortly after midnight while attempting to gain entrance in the rear of the Kenney & Anker store, will be given a hearing in police court at 10 o'clock Friday morning. They are charged with attempted burglary.

At midnight the police received a telephone call from Fred Schofield of the Mesaba block, who told the officers that two men were prowling about the rear of the building. Lieut. Barber and Patrolmen Johnson, Honnold and Dinkel responded to the call and they found both Pentland and Miller at the bottom of the rear stairs leading into the Kenney & Anker store.

In police court this morning the pair asked for a hearing, which was set for Friday morning.

DEBATE OVER MORMON PLEA

Sunday School Leaders Unable to Sidetrack the Issue.

International Convention Begins Sessions in Chicago.

Chicago, June 24.—The fourteenth international Sunday school convention began here last night with 4,000 delegates from the four corners of the earth in attendance. The main session was held at Medinah temple, with the president, William N. Hartshorn of Boston, Mass., presiding, while various churches throughout the city housed important conferences.

The convention was preceded by a meeting of the executive committee at which demands of the delegates from Missouri that the eligibility or otherwise of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints be settled were made. The question has been largely discussed during the last six years. Attempts to shelve the subject failed, and it was turned over to a special committee.

Missouri Question.

Rev. George R. Merrill of Minneapolis, secretary of the committee, read the communication from the Missouri churches. It asks if the reorganized church is an evangelical denomination, and as such entitled to issue to Sunday school teachers the joint certification of the church and the International Sunday School association.

The secretary next read a report by Shailer Mathews, dean of the divinity school of the University of Chicago, on behalf of a committee composed of himself, Rev. John Malcolm Shaw of Los Angeles and Rev. Charles B. Mitchell of Chicago. The report said that the subject had been investigated and that the Mormon church was ineligible because it placed the Book of Mormon on a par with the Bible.

Tried to Shelve It.

Having read the communications, the secretary remarked: "This is no matter for us to decide; let us turn it back to Missouri for that state to decide."

This brought James J. Park, a member from Missouri, to his feet.

"Gentlemen, this question ought to be settled here and now," he asserted. "We are tired of having no precedent to go by. If the Mormon church deserves admission, let us admit it. Let me say, however, that the Christian Science churches already are outside, clamoring for recognition, and other sects will follow."

"Then let us turn the subject over to a committee," rejoined Secretary Merrill. "We cannot take hasty action."

"If the case is clear that the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints does not teach what we profess, why should we dodge the issue?" asked Rev. William N. Dresel of Evansville, Ind. "No church that places the Book of Mormon on an equality with the Bible is evangelical," he concluded.

Fred A. Wells of Chicago, chairman of the executive committee, was instructed to appoint the special committee, of which it was said Appleton H. Williams of West Upton, Mass., would be chairman.

SEWERS FOR THE SUBURBS

Winter Work in Gary and New Duluth Being Considered.

System May Be Installed After Summer Rush Is Over.

The advisability of planning a sewer system for New Duluth and Gary when the season's rush is over and doing the construction work this winter, is being considered by Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division.

The commissioner states that a sewer system is one of the first needs of the steel plant suburbs and he emphasizes the fact that the underground work should be done before any of the streets in which pipes will be laid, have been paved. He says that part of them might be combined storm and sanitary sewers, but that that would be determined when the plans were being made.

Winter sewer construction was given a thorough try-out in Duluth last winter. It was found that the work could be done almost as well during the cold months as during the spring and summer. The cost was not above the engineer's estimate in any instance and in many cases was considerably below the engineer's figure.

Judging from the city's experience of last winter, Commissioner Murchison is confident that winter sewer construction could be successfully undertaken upon the larger scale which would be necessary to lay a sewer system for Gary and New Duluth. The city will not be able to undertake the task this summer, but it probably could be successfully handled next winter. The cost of the work would be assessed against the property benefited.

MORGAN PARK IS ITS NAME

Steel Company's "Model City" Named in Honor of Financier.

Fireproof Suburb With Modern Conveniences in Every Building.

Morgan Park will be the name of Duluth's model town, being built by the Minnesota Steel company and which to this time has been termed "The Model City." Official confirmation of this name was given this morning by George L. Reis, vice president and general manager of the company.

The name has been selected in honor of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, the world's greatest financier.

Morgan park, as it will hereafter be known, will be an almost entirely fireproof community. Every home in it is being constructed of concrete blocks. Hardwood is being used exclusively in the finishing of the interior of each building. Every family occupying a home in the park will have every modern convenience at hand.

Each building has its own basement equipped with its own laundry, bins and store rooms. Water, gas and sewer connections and wiring for electric lights and piping for gas are included. These improvements will all be in the homes before the families will be allowed to move into them.

The city or park is laid out on model lines. Each building will have adjoining its own private lawn and yard. The streets will be paved with concrete and concrete sidewalks all laid before the influx. The yards will also all be sodded.

Morgan Park will have its own club house for bachelors, a modern hospital, up-to-date school building and an office building. The latter will be used exclusively for offices of the Minnesota Steel company. These four buildings will, it is said, cost more than $500,000.

Residents of Morgan Park will not be cut off from the city. Plans are underway, it is said, to have the extension of the Duluth Street Railway company operate through the suburb. Rails for these tracks will be laid, it is said, at the same time as the concrete street leading from the main highway is being put down. The cars while not operating through the principal street, will connect closely with the residence portion.

Thomas Hyatt Is Crushed in Pulleys at Stone Plant.

Thomas Hyatt, 38 years old, 3808 West Seventh street, was instantly killed in an accident while at work at the Duluth Crushed Stone company plant at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Hyatt was caught in the conveyor belt and terribly crushed in the pulleys. Fellow employes standing near were unable to render assistance owing to the suddenness with which the accident took place. Just how it happened is not known, the men not being aware of any danger to their companion until they heard his agonizing scream. It is believed his clothes caught in the belt. The mangled body was taken to Filiatrault's undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made this afternoon or tomorrow.

Hyatt had been employed at the plant for the last four years. He was considered very careful in his work about the plant. He leaves a widow and one child.

PROPERTY OF CREW DESTROYED

Unknown Persons Slash Tent and Sink Tools in Creek.

Wanton destruction of property was reported to the police this morning by members of the Kilton Construction company. The depredation took place on the boulevard near Keene's creek, where the company has under construction a concrete bridge across the creek.

A tent used to shield about fifty sacks of cement was cut in several places during the early evening, allowing the heavy rains last night to spoil a large quantity of the material. A large tool chest standing in the road was ripped open and all of the tools thrown into the bottom of Keene's creek.

Foremen on the job are of the opinion that the work is that of some men who were refused work. The police are making an investigation.

BRING CASE TO MINNESOTA

Personal Injury Litigation Transferred From Butte to Duluth.

Dan Melichovich a personal injury litigant of Butte, who was injured four years ago in the Montana mines has brought his cause of action to the Minnesota courts for trial.

In district court this morning before Judge Dancer, a jury was drawn to determine what, if any, damages Melichovich was entitled to receive from the North Butte Mining company as a result of an accident he received in a mine at Butte, Nov. 21, 1910.

Melichovich claims that while he was working on a ladder in the manway of the mine a stone from above dropped upon him striking him on the head and knocking him off the ladder. It is claimed that Melichovich fell 120 feet but escaped death, that he did not recover consciousness for three weeks and for forty-two days following was out of his senses. He is suing for $40,000.

The case was brought to trial in the Federal court at Butte and a jury found for the defendant. The court, upon motion of the plaintiff, granted a new trial on the question of whether or not the company was liable for damages on account of an alleged negligent order given by the shift boss to Melichovich just prior to the action. The trial court ordered judgment in favor of the defendants on the question of whether the place was a safe one in which to work or not and this question cannot become an issue with the jury now engaged with the case as the question has already been adjudicated. The case was transferred from the Federal to the Minnesota courts.

Appearing for the Montana litigant are Attorneys Maury, Templeman & Davier and F. Alex Stewart. Howard T. Abbott of Abbott, McPherran, Lewis & Gilbert and C. C. Colton are in court for the defendant mining company.

Authorities Debate Whether to Storm the Building.

Paris, June 24.—About 600 striking letter carriers today barricaded themselves in the Paris central postoffice, of which they took possession last evening. A force of 800 policemen was placed in position around the block by the authorities, who were considering whether to storm the place and forcibly expel the strikers.

The men struck owing to the refusal of the senate to include in the postal budget some increased allowances.

VANGUARD OF EXPERTS

Dairy and Cattle Authorities Arrive for Two Conventions.

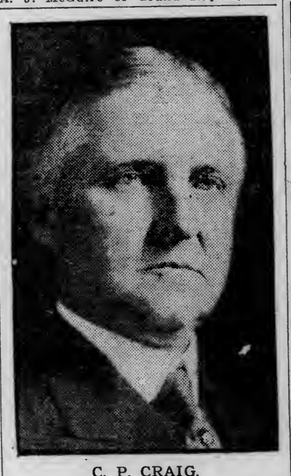

Gatherings Promise to Be Largest in History of This Section.

Joseph E. Wing of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, editor of the Breeders' Gazette, and Henry Wallace of Des Moines, Iowa; editor of Wallace's Farmer, Dean A. F. Woods of the state agricultural college, and one or two other dairy and breeding authorities arrived in the city this morning and were taken out at once to the Jean du Luth farms and to the experiment station to get an advance view of what is being done in this part of the country, in preparation for their addresses to be given tomorrow and Friday at the big breeders' conventions to be held here on those days. They were the guests this morning of C. P. Craig and John G. Williams.

Tonight and tomorrow the other experts who have agreed to come here and make addresses will arrive. The agricultural committee of the Commercial club, which has the conventions in hand, is doing everything possible to make the necessary arrangements and to see to it that the distinguished visitors are made welcome and are not neglected. Mr. Craig is urging the business men of the city to be on hand tomorrow at all times and to be out in force at the dinner and reception to be given for the visitors at the club tomorrow night at 6:15. Mr. Craig points out that these men are coming without pay to give the fast developing dairying interests of this section of the state the benefit of their knowledge and experience, and to give advice to the men who are engaged in the dairying which money could not buy.

This, Mr. Craig points out, is of direct benefit not only to those engaged in dairying but to business men in all lines, for with the growth of dairying hereabouts a growth in all business will naturally follow.

The convention that will be held tomorrow will be that of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association, and that of the following day will be of the Guernsey Breeders' Association of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. The convention of tomorrow will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and will last though with only the luncheon interruption to 6 o'clock in the evening, following which will be the dinner and reception, after which addresses will be made by Mr. Wallace, Mr. Wing, Prof. T. L. Haecker of the state university, Dean Woods, Prof. A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, and others. John G. Williams will be toastmaster. The program of the convention follows:

C. P. CRAIG.

Morning.

Address of welcome, C. P. Craig, Duluth.

Response, John B. Irwin, Minneapolis, president Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association.

Address, "Land and Livestock," Henry Wallace, Des Moines, Ia., editor Wallace's Farmer.

Address, "Seeding and Pasturing Cut-over Lands," C. W. Glotfelter, Waterville, Minn., president Minnesota Crop Improvement association.

Discussion.

Address, "The Making of a Farm," Prof. Andrew Boss, head of division of agronomy and farm management, University farm, St. Paul.

Afternoon.

Address, "The Dairy Cow and Agricultural Development," C. A. Nelson, Waverly, Ia.

Address, "Uniformity in Dairy Type," A. J. Glover, Fort Atkinson, Wis., editor Hoard's Dairyman.

Discussion.

Address, "Sheep Raising," Joseph E. Wing, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, special writer the Breeders' Gazette.

Guernsey Breeders Meet.

On Friday the visitors and business men will gather at the Commercial club at 9 a. m., and after introductions are made, they will start for the Jean du Luth farm, where it is expected they will arrive about 10 o'clock, and will inspect the farm and its blooded stock. The Farmers' Clubs of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin will then convene at 11 o'clock and after a meeting of an hour a picnic luncheon will be served at noon. At 1 o'clock the Guernsey Breeders' association will be called to order by President C. P. Craig, and addresses will be made by several of the visitors, the chief speech of the day being, however, by William H. Caldwell of Peterboro, N. H., general secretary of the American Guernsey Cattle club. Dairy stock judging and a demonstration will be conducted by G. P. Grout of the Jean du Luth farm and others. It is expected that both conventions will be largely attended.

CARELESS.

Indianapolis News: Tennyson, like Mrs. Browning, was careless regarding his manuscripts. Some weeks after leaving his lodgings in Mornington place, Hampstead, he wrote from Bonchurch, telling Coventry Patmore that he could not find his "book of elegies—a long, butcher-ledgerlike book," and asked him to make inquiries. Patmore went to Mornington place and, being allowed to search the poet's old rooms, found the book in a closet where Tennyson had kept his tea and bread and butter. It was the unpublished manuscript of "In Memoriam."

He was general roadmaster of the entire Northern Pacific railway from 1875 to 1884.

He had charge of building the dam here, under C. F. Kindred, now of Philadelphia.

He was later superintendent of bridges and buildings of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe at Chicago, where his son, Charles Taylor, is superintendent of that road's terminals. A daughter, Mrs. Lena Spencer, lives in St. Louis. Remains will be sent to Michigan.

RAIL COMMISSION WILL HEAR PLAINTS

Important Matters Coming Up at Special Fargo Meeting.

Fargo, N. D., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railway commission will have a busy session special meeting here July 7, for a hearing on switching and trackage charges. In some instances private companies have been forced to pay for track extensions and different rates have been charged for spotting cars and switching. An effort will be made to secure uniformity in this respect.

There will also be numerous applications for depots, loading platforms, sidings and wyes from different parts of the state.

The railway commission is seeking to give every applicant a hearing and has devoted considerable more time this spring than usual in making trips over the state for that purpose.

Get the Meaning of This Stamp, Plus the Armour Name

You probably know that the United States government inspects all meat food products for interstate commerce (that is for shipment from one state to another); that it rejects all the impure and unwholesome materials and products; and that it puts its stamp of approval pictured here on the pure and wholesome. Absolutely all Armour products are for interstate commerce. Therefore every ounce of meat product bearing the Armour label also bears the stamp which is illustrated above. Thus Armour products are doubly guaranteed. The U. S. Stamp certifies purity and wholesomeness of both the product and the raw materials entering into it. The Armour label guarantees the sum of unflagging effort to produce better and better and still better, which is Armour Quality protected by Armour Service.

DINNER DANCE.

First of Series at the Duluth Boat Club.

Boat club members and their friends are looking forward with great interest to a dinner dance to be held at the cafe of the main house of the Duluth Boat club tomorrow evening, June 25, from 6 to 8. A table d'hote course dinner will be served.

The dinner and the decorations of the cafe promise to be somewhat of a departure from anything ever attempted at the boat club. The sailors' division of the club is taking charge of the arrangement, and in a sense, is acting as host to the whole membership of the club. The sailormen of Duluth are famous for their enthusiasm and ingenuity, and it is hinted that there will be a number of interesting surprises and novelty features in the dinner arrangement of tomorrow night.

After the dinner Helen Shores Savage will give a free lesson in the new ball room dancing to all dinner guests, at the ball room of the main house. This will be followed by a regular program of new dances. La Brosse's orchestra will play.

A number of attractive parties are being made up by Duluth's society folk for this boat club dinner dance, and many reservations for tables are already made.

The popularity of the Duluth Boat club with the society folk is greater this year, both for dinners and for dances, than ever before. Automobile owners have found that the main house of the boat club is easily reached in their motor cars.

Hamm leads the seven highest contestants with a vote of 6,495, while her nearest rival is Miss Nellie Doig, treasurer at the Lyceum theater, who has 3,597 votes.

The list showing the vote up to last evening follows:

Mrs. Frank H. Hamm	6,495
Miss Nellie Doig	3,597
Miss Florence B. Lusk	2,560
Miss Esther Gomberg	2,465

The fight between the leaders in the contest and the seventy others who are entered is expected to become very spirited by the time the carnival opens next Monday afternoon. Voting boxes are to be placed on the carnival grounds at Thirtieth avenue west and these will be counted each evening for publication the following day.

The most popular lady will be awarded a $200 diamond ring as a gift from the Shriners on Saturday evening, July 4, the last day of the carnival. Each vote costs one penny and the votes may be cast at the Shriners' headquarters in the St. Louis hotel.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM — Baldwin Players in "Broadway Jones."
EMPRESS—"Henpecked Henry."
ECHO—Musical comedy.

Amusement Notes.

If crowds are any proof of the merit of a theatrical production "Broadway Jones," written by the versatile pen of George M. Cohan, should be given first honors among the plays put on this season by the Baldwin Players. No one who sees this rapid-fire comedy put on by such a company as the Baldwin Players will ever be accused of going to sleep during a performance. It is almost a continuous scream with just enough of the serious to make both most effective.

The production and the performance given by this capable company does credit to the play they are interpreting. The opening performances were crowded to the doors and there is little question that "Broadway Jones" will set a new record for attendance at stock productions in Duluth.

As in all of George Cohan's successes the laughs are blended with the tears. He takes freely from human nature and paints with a simple rather than a lavish brush. His theme pleases and even the most blase are touched by its naturalness. George Cohan knows what the public wants and he has given it in "Broadway Jones."

There will be a matinee today and Saturday.

"Henpecked Henry," a comedy that should be seen by all who believe in the efficacy of laughter as a saving grace of the world, is being presented at the Empress theater for the last time tonight.

In making this most successful of all musical farces over for vaudeville, the producers have gone the limit, both in cast and costumes. Jack Trainor, whose portrayal of the title role has placed him in a position second to none as a character comedian, heads the big show. Mr. Trainor is probably the most talked about comedian in the "tabloid game." His characterization of the sporty old banker is such that the auditor is loath to believe that the actor is not an old man with the funniest loose-jointed gait imaginable, while in reality Mr. Trainor is young and decidedly prepossessing off the stage.

A company of fifteen singers and dancers supports Mr. Trainor in an admirable manner. The chorus has been selected with care and dressed in quite an elaborate manner.

The lovers of the really high-class music as well as those who favor the more popular airs of the day will find much to win their approval when "The Pink Widow" comes to the Empress on Thursday for four days.

"Hotel a La Carte," the highly entertaining musical comedy being presented at the Echo theater, will be put on for the last time tonight. This hodge-podge of fun and melody has drawn record-breaking crowds and filled the management with optimism over the venture into musical comedy.

The cast of twenty players has met with great success in this vehicle and those rollicking comedians, Hubb and Hoyt, and Miss Marie Russell, leading woman, have appeared to great advantage.

"Oh, You September Morn," which is the most pretentious production attempted at the Echo, will begin an engagement tomorrow. There will be a beauty chorus of twenty-five in addition to the usual number of principals.

THE USE OF LEFT-OVERS.

Woman's World: Celery tops dried and kept in a paper bag furnish excellent flavoring for soups.

Water in which vegetables are cooked contains flavoring, mineral matter and sometimes starch. It makes a desirable addition to soup. Potato water should not be used, as it is considered by some to be unwholesome. Rice water is rich in delicate, well-cooked starch, and may be nicely used to furnish thickening as well as liquid to a soup. Onion water may be used in a vegetable soup where no meat is used. Water in which cabbage, cauliflower or turnips have been cooked furnishes a foundation for a soup when these flavors are palatable. Careful cooks buy few materials for every-day soup making. The left-over bits of meat (which have not been handled or served), the juices from the meat plate, the water from the vegetables and the left-over vegetables furnish sufficient materials. Small quantities of raw uncooked vegetables may be scraped, cut fine and cooked in a small amount of water. To them add some stock from fresh meat or ham liquor, season and serve with bits of toasted bread. The vegetables should not be cooked in the ham liquor, or strong flavor may develop. Tomato combines nicely with ham stock, as do potatoes and celery, oysters and celery. Okra combines nicely with corn, or with both corn and tomatoes.

Any of these soups from left-overs may be thickened by adding to them a few dry crusts of bread; allow them to soften and press through a colander, reheat and serve as a substantial dish for lunch or supper.

ONE THING MISSING.

New Orleans Times-Democrat: "You can depend on a youngster to stump you with some unexpected question," asserts Robert Edeson, the popular actor. "Take this case for instance:

"The superintendent of a Sunday school repeated to the children the text, 'Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt.'

"Then the superintendent showed a large picture illustrating this text in bright colors.

"'Isn't this picture fine?' he said. 'Here is the mother. Here is the young child. There's Egypt in the distance. Isn't it fine?'

"The children, however, looked disappointed, and finally a little boy piped out: 'Teacher, where's the flea?'"

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Swearing Is Never Justified.

"I'll admit that you were justified in doing some cussing," said a New Jersey judge as he sentenced two boys to an old-fashioned spanking each. Then he added, "But we can't have you swearing at police officers," this being the offense for which the boys were arrested and brought into court.

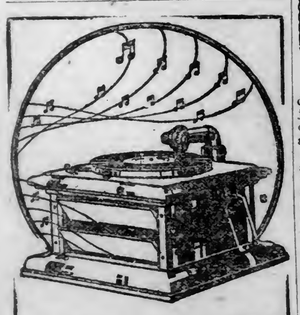

One of the main reasons that cussing, as the judge calls it, is heard so frequently on the lips of boys of all ages and sizes, is its prevalence among grown men. I have heard small boys by the score swear horrid oaths in the absolute confidence that nothing else they could do would so surely attest to their manliness. This is one of the worst things about it.

It is very offensive to hear grown men use profane or other unbecoming language, but when it falls from the lips of babes, so to speak, there is a great additional shock. With this in mind, one wonders how it is that men with sons, men who are big brothers to little fellows, and men generally, can befoul the air with words that can gain them nothing but the contempt and ill-will of every decent person who overhears them.

As for there being justification for cuss words—that is all in the imagination of the one who uses them. Never yet did an oath or a bad word relieve a situation, no matter how annoying or precarious it might be. On the contrary, the explosive nature of some folk, and their tendency to swear and rant around at what they considered provocation, has had the worst possible result, as many could tell if they would.

I know men whose idea of discipline consists of intimidation by means of coarse oaths, but I have yet to see this type of executive prosper for long in his position. The man of real force and character can find something better than cuss words in which to dress his orders and remarks to subordinates.

No man need fear that he will be considered weak-willed and without persuasion in argument who does not punctuate every sentence with a swear word. Every boy will be the better if he learns early in life to speak cleanly—if he takes no stock in the comment that cussing is ever justifiable.

Electric Road Assured.

Williston, N. D., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Such excellent support is being given the movement for the establishment of an electric railroad from this city to Divide county, that it is now practically assured that the railroad will be constructed during the latter part of the year.

TRAFFIC IS INCREASING

The Freight Movement Is Greater Than Last Year.

Prospects of Bumper Crop Cause Great Activity of Railroads.

Increases over last year in the volume of miscellaneous freight being handled are now being shown by the railroads operating from Duluth. Attributable to the bright crop prospects over the West, shipments of general merchandise and of some commodities from here are said to have shown substantial gains during the last week or ten days. This is taken as tangible evidence of the fact that business is improving with local wholesalers and manufacturers.

As previously intimated, railroad officials express confidence in their ability to cope with the forecasted heavy grain movement this fall. All out-of-order equipment is being rushed to the shops for repairs, and arrangements are being made by the traffic departments of the roads to spot cars at points where the call is likely to be the most urgent. Pending the freight rate decision, all the railroads are holding improvement work down to a minimum, but once that is settled, it is predicted that several important projects entailing heavy capital expenditures will be proceeded with.

"We have no ground at all for complaint; our aggregate business so far this month has run well ahead of a year ago," said a freight official of the Great Northern this morning. "Outside of a falling off in coal and lumber, the movement is satisfactory all round. There has been an increase in the volume of grain moved to the Head of the Lakes during the last ten days, showing, as our people have contended all along, that there was more stuff remaining in farmers' hands than had been estimated by the grain people. As for this year's crop, it is thought from reports gathered by our agents that the yield of all grains in the Northwest is likely to exceed the bumper harvest of 1912, if nothing disastrous happens during the next few weeks.

"As we have plenty of cars, we think we will be able to handle the fall traffic, provided shippers and the elevators do their part in loading and unloading cars promptly."

RAIN INJURES TUBERS.

Potato Raisers on Both Sides of Red River Suffer.

Fargo, N. D., June 24.(Special to The Herald.)—Some potato growers insist the loss to the crop on both sides of the Red river as a result of the heavy rainfall will reach from 15 to 20 per cent. More conservative estimates place the percentage lower.

There is no doubt about the destruction of the crop on several hundred acres. Some fields were cut down entirely, others as much as half, while many others only lost a small area in the lower spots. The growers on the Minnesota side suffered heavily as a result of the excessive moisture and more complaints are heard from there than from the Dakota side, as the potato area on this side covers a wider range and is not so closely confined to certain districts.

FARGOANS RAISE $100,000 NEEDED.

Fargo, N. D., June 24.(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo college has met the conditions imposed by J. J. Hill, in order to secure his donation of $50,000. The committees have secured $100,000 local subscriptions. In fact, that amount was slightly exceeded. The plan is now to secure $150,000 more and when the grand total reaches $300,000, the Congregational Educational committee promises to add $200,000, making a permanent endowment of a half million.

STATE GETS DEEDS.

Given Titles to 1,000 Acres in Itasca State Park

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—Deeds were filed with State Auditor Iverson yesterday by the state forestry board conveying to the state 1,000 acres of land in Itasca state park.

The grantors are T. B. Walker and wife and Florence A. Quirk and J. P. Quirk, Minneapolis, and the consideration was $50,000.

All the land contains some of the most valuable standing timber remaining in Minnesota.

The legislature appropriated $250,000 for the purchase of all privately owned land in the park.

REGIMENTAL TEAM SHOOT

Match to Decide Proficiency of the Companies in Shooting.

Lake City Camp Favored With Sunshine and Cool Breeze.

Camp Lakeview, Lake City, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the sun shining in a clear sky and a nice cool breeze blowing over the camp grounds, the regiment is going through the daily routine with a great deal of enthusiasm. Tuesday morning the First battalion, under command of Maj. A. F. Pratt, left camp at 7 a. m., and proceeded to the drill grounds and spent fifteen minutes in company close order drill, sixty minutes in company extended order drill, thirty minutes school of the battalion, and seventy-five minutes in field establishing battalion in defense. The Second battalion, under command of Maj. F. W. Matson, was also on the drill ground in the morning and was put through the following maneuvers by company: Pitching shelter tents, thirty minutes; advance guard, sixty minutes; establishing outpost by battalion, ninety minutes. The Third battalion were busy all day on the rifle range, and the regimental team shoot started at 1:30 p. m. today. The teams consist of seven of the best shots from each company and field staff and band. The result of this match is always looked forward to with great interest, as it will prove what company in the regiment is the most proficient in shooting.

Band Inspection.

The inspection of the band took place Tuesday afternoon instead of Monday afternoon. The inspection was made by Capt. Charles M. Gordon, Inf. U. S. A., which consisted of inspection of mess kits, equipment and instruments. During the inspection of quarters the band came to attention in front of the various tents occupied by the band men. After the inspection, the band held their daily practice in the messhouse. Owing to the extra work of playing for the officers' dance Monday night, the band was excused from playing the march Tuesday morning.

"Mock Funeral."

Monday at midnight a "mock funeral" was held by several companies of the regiment. Twenty men wearing black ponchos led the march chanting funeral songs, followed by the field musicians playing a funeral march. The corpse was carried on the shoulders of six men, who were also dressed for the solemn occasion, and were followed by eighteen men carrying picks and shovels at "right shoulder arms." One company acted as firing squad, and four men carried the departing hero's equipment. The procession marched up the regimental street and down the line officers' street, and stopped at the canteen, where the hero was laid to rest with elaborate music and ceremonies. This was really considered one of the best mock parades ever pulled off in camp, and there are a lot of them held at every encampment.

At guard mount Monday evening, Private Carr of Company E of Duluth was detailed as orderly to the colonel, and Private Kelly of the same company was detailed as orderly to the adjutant.

Tuesday evening the ceremonies consisted of escort to the colors, and regimental parade and review in closed column in command of Col. F. E. Resche, Company I of Crookston was detailed for guard duty, with Capt. Peter I. Elde as officer of the day.

Owing to the warm weather during the last few days the shower baths are very much in demand by the men during the time that they are off duty.

BOTH CLAIM TO BE MARINO MURDERER

Man and Girl Seek to Clear Each Other of Charge.

New York, June 24.—Two persons, a man and an 18-year-old girl, each told the district attorney that the murder of Giuseppe Marino, whose body was found in a Harlem flat a month ago, was their own individual act, and each denied that the other had anything to do with the crime.

The girl, Marie Magalusio, was arrested Monday night after masquerading for weeks as a man. She told the police she shot and killed Marino when he threatened her for failing to become a party to a blackmailing scheme.

The man, William Flack, who was arrested after the murder, was brought from his cell to the Tombs and heard the girl's story. He still insisted he murdered Marino after robbing him of $25. Both were locked up on a charge of murder.

GET $9 WEEKLY WAGE FOR LAUNDRY GIRLS.

Olympia, Wash., June 24.—A minimum weekly wage of $9 for women and girls employed in laundries and dye works in Washington is recommended to the state industrial welfare commission by the conference of employers, employes and disinterested citizens. It is thought the commission will accept the recommendation.

This is the third industry for which minimum wages for women workers have been recommended. A minimum wage of $10 a week for employes in mercantile establishments becomes effective Saturday and a minimum of $8.50 for factory workers will go into effect next month.

BRING SUFFRAGE TO FORE IN MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—Petitions for submission to the voters of a constitutional amendment enfranchising women, will be filed with the Missouri secretary of state at Jefferson City next Saturday, it is announced at equal suffrage headquarters.

The petitions have been signed by 33,000 persons and will be taken to Jefferson City by a delegation from each congressional district in which the necessary percentage of names was secured. Eleven women will go from St. Louis and suburbs, and at Jefferson City they will meet similar delegations from other parts of the state.

Cutter to San Domingo.

Washington, June 24.—The revenue cutter Algonquin has been ordered from San Juan Porto Rico to rebellion-torn Santo Domingo to rescue twenty-five starving Porto Ricans who appealed for help.

Opens Jobs to Veterans.

Washington, June 24.—The senate passed a bill to allow Federal and Confederate veterans of the Civil war to take the fourth class postoffice examination regardless of their age.

GROWTH OF EXPENSES

Pressure on the Legislature Results in Big Appropriations.

Plan Proposed By Efficiency Commission to Remedy Evil.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the things the efficiency commission has not published is a map of the state showing in red spots the institutions. It is a pretty map, well spotted. But some of the counties haven't any, and the commission was afraid it might suggest something to some of them.

That is one way appropriations grow. One member comes to St. Paul pledged to get a normal school for his district, another is out for a fish hatchery, another has some other pet scheme. Each of these members will be backed by his district and supported by a lobby. Did you ever hear of a lobby sent to St. Paul to reduce expenditures? The pressure is all on one side.

Like the Lumberjack.

The state treasury is a good deal like the lumberjack's roll. When Mr. Lumberjack comes to town at the end of the season he hands his roll to the hotel clerk. "Keep that for me," he says. "I've held out $10 to spend, and I'm going to plant the rest. If I come back and ask for it, don't give it to me."

All right. He spends his $10. Pretty soon he comes back for $10 more. Sooner or later he calls for the whole wad. If the clerk refuses, he coaxes, he begs. If he doesn't get it, he will fight for it. It is a rare event that he doesn't get it all and spend every last cent.

Acts Like Drunken Sailor.

Minnesota—and so does every other state—acts like a drunken sailor. Every session the citizens come clamoring to the legislature to let go. They want normal schools, fish hatcheries, drainage projects, river improvements, soil surveys, health campaigns, art, history, statues, parks. It is nearly always a laudable project. It is only the total that is sinful. They all beg the legislature to let them spend some of their own money and if they don't get it, they'll fight.

Usually they get it. Then they kick on the total, just as the lumberjack reproaches the hotel clerk when he gets over it.

The Remedy Proposed.

The efficiency commission proposes a budget. The budget won't prevent anybody from wanting more money. It won't shut off the lobby nor suppress the member who comes pledged for a new project. Women's clubs, health associations, agricultural societies and business organizations will still show how very profitable it would be to spend a hundred thousand for this or that and save half a million.

But the budget plan will show the legislature what it is doing. No legislature can spend twice what it intended to without knowing it. The legislature will keep track of itself every minute. And the administration will keep tabs on the legislature. The governor will have the base figures before him and can warn the legislature that, if the te[illegible]s too far from them, public opinion will compel him to use the veto.

The state will not stop spending money. It will quit spending like a drunken sailor.

PULPWOOD HEARING ENDS

One of the Main Causes of Dispute Settled By Compromise.

The hearing on pulpwood rates conducted in the Federal courtroom the last two days by C. S. Gibson, examiner for the interstate commerce commission, came to a close last evening and the attorneys and freight experts connected with the case left for their homes last evening.

The question of indemnity on shipments from this city, claimed by both the local shippers and the pulpwood dealers in Wisconsin, was finally settled with a compromise yesterday morning and the only problem left for the commission to settle is the one relating to alleged excessive freight charges to Duluth. Should the commission decide in favor of the shippers, the carriers will be compelled to pay nearly $200,000 as indemnity to about ten pulpwood shippers in Northern Minnesota. The attorneys for the railroads said at the close of the hearing that they would take the case to the supreme court, should the decision be against them.

Three-Cornered Fight.

The hearing begun Monday afternoon developed into a three-cornered fight between the shippers, carriers and consignees, the last named claiming reparation and declaring also that the shippers had no right to indemnity. By a compromise, in which it was agreed between all three parties to charge a differential of three-quarters of a cent per hundredweight from Duluth over Superior, instead of 1½ cents, the Wisconsin dealers agreed to abandon their claims for indemnity and drop out of the case altogether.

Yesterday afternoon the examiner heard D. J. Curry, T. P. Bradley and P. H. Martin, three local pulpwood shippers, all of whom claimed in their testimony that the business of hauling pulpwood is as great and as advantageous to the railroads as that of hauling sawlogs. They also testified that it will take ten years at least to haul all of the pulpwood from the Minnesota forests.

Examiner Gibson will take the testimony before the commission and that body will decide whether the shippers have been overcharged, and if so, what change must be made, and if there is any indemnity coming to them as a result of this alleged excessive freight rate, what that should be.

WILL SELL WARSHIPS

Government Plan Indorsed By Senate and House.

Idaho and Mississippi Will Be Sold to Greece for $12,000,000.

Washington, June 24.—Sale of the American battleships Idaho and Mississippi to Greece was approved by the house, which accepted yesterday by a vote of 174 to 87 a senate amendment to the naval appropriation bill to authorize the transaction and the building of a dreadnought with the proceeds. Formal protest from Turkey has not altered the plans of the administration, and the two warships probably will be in the hands of the agents of the Greek government within a week.

Final action on the appropriation bill will be taken in the senate today or Thursday, and the measure will be sent to the president for his signature. As soon thereafter as possible, agents acting as intermediaries in the negotiations will hand to Secretary Daniels a certified check for about $12,000,000, the price agreed upon.

Middies on the Idaho.

The Mississippi is now at Pensacola navy yard. The Idaho is at Gibraltar with a number of midshipmen aboard on their summer cruise from the naval academy. It is believed the boys will be transferred with the ship's company to the battleships Illinois and Missouri, also in the Mediterranean and the Idaho will be turned over to a Greek crew.

The Turkish ambassador, Rustem Bey, who protested to the president that acquisition of the American ships would unduly enlarge the naval power of Turkey's rival, declined to indicate whether a further protest would be made by Turkey.

The proposal was agreed to in spite of the charge by Republicans on the floor that the sale meant "entangling European alliances" and would involve the United States in the Balkan troubles.

Representative Padgett declared that the administration believed the sale of the two vessels would have a tendency to "preserve the peace" between the nations involved, and asserted that he knew of no protest against the sale being made by either country.

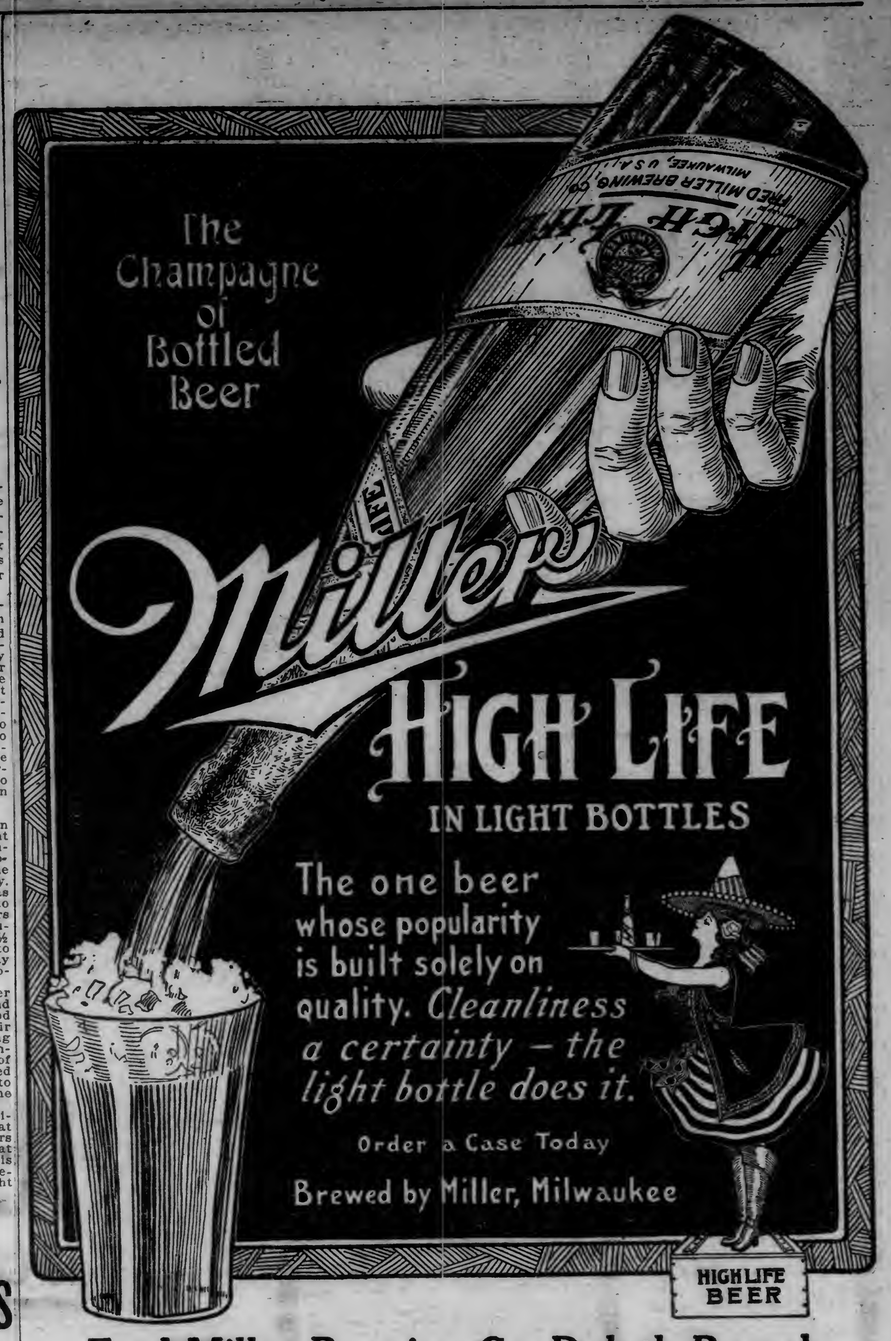

Statement by Daniels.

Secretary Daniels issued this statement last night:

"In the stead of these two vessels, the navy will obtain a superdreadnought of the most advanced type, such as the Pennsylvania, and not unequal to any four vessels of the type of the Mississippi or Idaho. This ship will carry a main battery of twelve 14-inch guns, as against the eight 12-inch guns carried by the Mississippi and the Idaho combined. She will have a speed of 20.5 knots, as compared with the maximum of 17.17 knots attained by the Mississippi and Idaho. Through the concentration of her big guns in four turrets and use of oil for fuel, she will require a crew of 864 men, whereas each of the old battleships required a crew of 700 men."

Steubenvills, Ohio, June 24.—Several hundred striking miners gathered at Dillonvale, a village near here, yesterday, to be present at the trial of Joseph Ettor, Industrial Worker of the World leader, on a charge of assault and battery, but the charge was withdrawn and his hearing on the charge of inciting to riot, which grew out of a recent I. W. W. demonstration, was continued until next Thursday.

LAWLER TO TALK FOR HAMMOND

Defeated Candidate for Governor Will Stump the State.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Daniel W. Lawler, who gave Mr. Hammond such a close race for the gubernatorial nomination, announced yesterday that he was for the winner and that he would work and stump the state in his behalf. Mr. Lynch says the party is thoroughly united.

Mr. Hammond will be present at the meeting of the Democratic candidates to be held here tomorrow under the provisions of the primary law.

SEE'S DISCIPLES PLEAD FOR PAROLE.

Joliet, Ill., June 24.—Mildred Bridges and Mona Rees of Chicago, "disciples" of the "absolute life" cult, and whom Evelyn Arthur See was convicted of abducting, pleaded with the state board of pardons yesterday to release him. See, originator of the cult, has served eighteen months in prison of his indeterminate sentence.

"We have been vindicated in Chicago," Mona Rees said. "We are training about fifty children in an advanced kindergarten which we call the 'young republic.' We are doing a world of good, and it is all due to Mr. See."

The two young women were accompanied by Mrs. Lucile Bridges, mother of Mildred and a member of the cult, Mrs. A. J. Shirley and See's aged father.

Fifty Children Hurt.

El Paso, Tex., June 24.—Fifty children were injured here yesterday when a pavilion at a local amusement park collapsed at a picnic party. Two hundred children were in the pavilion at the time.

THE FUTURE OF THE EFFICIENCY PLAN.

Governor Eberhart last year appointed an unofficial commission of thirty members to study the state government and report a plan of reorganization in the interest of economy and efficiency.

That the state's system, the more or less aimless product of a quarter of a century of the making of new boards, bureaus and offices, was unbusiness-like and wasteful had been generally recognized for years. The last legislature discussed taking steps to remedy it, but a stupid quarrel over details made the movement a failure.

Then Governor Eberhart appointed his commission of thirty, and he chose with rare wisdom, taking men from all sections, all parties and most of the varied business, professional, industrial and agricultural interests of the state.

The commission, though it lacked legal sanction and a legislative appropriation, has done splendid work. It hired experts out of its own personally contributed funds, made a thorough study of the state government, and mapped out a plan of reorganization along business lines that will, if it is adopted, give Minnesota the best and most business-like system of state government in the Union.

What is to happen to this plan? Potentially of the highest value to the state and to every citizen, it is utterly useless unless it can be made into law.

It was needless, probably, for Chairman Craig to point out that the failure of Governor Eberhart to secure a renomination has utterly no bearing on the fate of the plan. All Governor Eberhart could do he has done—and that was to appoint this commission. The rest is up to the legislature, and that means that it is up to the people of Minnesota.

Before this plan can become effective it must overcome the inertia of custom and the stubborn opposition of many whose sinecures it threatens; and this will be a difficult thing to do unless the people make it manifest to those who now seek the honor of making their laws that they want this plan adopted and put into effect.

Three things this state sadly needs, and the ever rising tax rate without any increase in governmental efficiency shows it. These three things this plan will supply:

First—The state government lacks co-ordination and definitely fixed responsibility; and this plan supplies both.

Second—The state's financial system needs a budget plan to avert leaks, to divert available funds into channels of greatest use, and to systematize expenditures generally; and this plan supplies such a system.

Third—The state needs a civil service system that will substitute appointments for efficiency in place of appointments for political reasons; and this plan provides such a civil service system.

It was rather unfortunate that attempts should have been made to associate Governor Eberhart's political fortunes with this plan. It tended to set Governor Eberhart's opponents against it; and it is sure enough that Mr. Lee, who defeated him for the nomination, has expressed no friendliness to the plan. It is fair to say, however, that Governor Eberhart himself did not make use of this campaign device.

However, all this is of slight moment if the public becomes aroused as it should be to the need and value of this plan.

If that happens, a legislature will be elected that will gather in St. Paul next January impressed with the fact that its chief business there is to consider this plan as a step toward curtailing the appalling increase in state expenditures and state tax rates; and then fair consideration of the plan and favorable action will be assured.

Greece wants to buy some battleships and Turkey doesn't want her to. Surely the millenium must be near when nations so recently at war with each other begin to show so keen an interest in one another's affairs.

THE CLIMBING DOOKS.

From winning pretty nearly no games to winning twelve in a row; from the humble and ignominious foot of the percentage table to a tie for third place: the Duluth baseball club is doing business these days.

And we are glad of it. We are glad to see, too, that the Dooks have so many friends. A little while ago their friends seemed to be falling off. Now they are innumerable. And it is always the way: nothing succeeds like success, and he who would have a following must deliver the goods.

A good ball team is a good thing for any town; a poor one is a less certain blessing. There is prestige for a community even in holding its own in the baseball percentage table, and Duluth surely deserves a team that can do that. It has such a team now, apparently, and it is good to see even if its recrudescence did come a little late. Better late than never, and while those lost games of the early season never can be regained, there are plenty more where they came from—and Darby's boys seem to have found the way to the place where they get 'em.

More power to them!

With La Follette and Alexander both urging bills for their betterment, American seamen may be pardoned if they seem surprised at the unexpected number of their friends.

FASHIONS IN BATTLESHIPS.

The navy department recently suggested selling the battleships Idaho and Mississippi to Greece, and congress has voted to do it.

These vessels were built six years ago—only six—and they cost six millions each.

They are every whit as good today as they were the day they were built. Neither of them has ever had a battle—happily. Neither has fired a shot at anything except a target.

When they were built, they exemplified the highest type of naval construction. Now—they are out of style. It will take the price of the two of them to build one battleship of the prevailing style.

And in six more years that, too, will be out of fashion and ready for the bargain counter.

People make a lot of fun of woman's fashions, which change every year so radically that it is utterly beyond the possibilities to make last year's hat or gown do for this year.

And many people, reflecting more or less soberly, wonder if there can be any doubt that these changes in style are made to help out the sales of new clothing—that those who make the styles manipulate changes so as to keep business active.

The rapidity with which styles in battleships change is just as funny—and about as costly, relatively,—and it gives rise to the same reflection: that manufacturers of battleships keep the styles changing so their customers must keep on buying constantly.

Nothing ever is worn out any more, in hats or gowns or battleships. It would be bad for business to give them a chance to wear out.

If anything were needed to prove the advancement of science, it is supplied in the fact that the doctors of today are studying the public's health instead of only the public's sicknesses.

INCOME TAX INQUISITION.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, in view of the disappointing returns from the income tax and of the obvious disparity between these returns and the vast number of rich individuals in the country, proposes this amendment to the income tax law:

> Every company or association as above described and every individual subject to the income tax law shall also permit free access to all books, papers, records and securities of every kind, no matter where or how kept, whether for itself, himself or for another, by any revenue agent or inspector employed for the purpose of investigating income tax returns or in ascertaining whether such returns should have been made where no returns were filed.

The New York Sun, never very enthusiastic about anything that treads upon the rich man's toes, is horrified by this proposal, and quotes that part of the Constitution of the United States which guarantees "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses and papers and effects against UNREASONABLE searches and seizures."

If B. Jones owes P. Perkins for groceries, and does not pay, B. Jones in his efforts to beat his bill cannot take refuge behind that clause of the Constitution. He can be forced to show what he owns, and if he owns anything, he can be forced to pay his bill.

If, however, B. Jones has a large income and refuses to pay his share of the expenses of government under the income tax law, is it "unreasonable" to compel him to disclose his resources in order that he may be compelled to bear his just share of the burden of governmental costs? Unless that is unreasonable, the constitutional guaranty does not avail.

If people will not voluntarily make true income tax returns, then it is necessary to equip the authorities with power to compel them to disclose the true facts.

The only real argument ever made against the income tax is that it is "inquisitorial;" and we never were much impressed by that argument.

The only objection to Mr. McAdoo's proposal is that it is "inquisitorial." And it will not be inquisitorial for those who make honest returns, as every honest citizen should.

Neither the man who pays his bills nor the man who cheerfully shoulders his share of the cost of government has anything to fear from any law for the protection of creditors or any "inquisitorial" adjunct of the income tax law.

Wisconsin is responsible for a new Republican faction called "the Conservative Republicans." Will somebody please compile a lexicon of the different varieties now extant?

Enlightened Selfishness Not Enough.

Edward T. Devine in the Survey: Will the time soon come when business will stand out in the open, not merely with an assenting lisp, but rather with a championing shout, declaring that in the last analysis the human factor must never be submerged under the commercial and industrial.

I hear that shout but it is in the language of civics and philanthropy and not in the dialect heard upon the Rialto. Looking to the future we may expect more from the development of the social spirit in the community as a whole, from the strengthening of the position of workers as such, and of consumers as such than from any clearer perception of the directions in which business interest, in the sense of larger profits, are to be sought.

There is no prospect that business will usurp the functions of philanthropy. There is no promise in any achievements of business unrestrained by law or external opinion which would warrant our abdicating as agitators of public opinion. There is no safety in leaving business to manage its own affairs, that is to say, our affairs looked at from the aspect of the pecuniary advantage of the business manager of them. On the contrary, the one constant factor in all social problems which is most baffling, most dangerous, and most worthy of our constant consideration is precisely the business interest which will suffer from its being solved.

The socializing of religion, of philanthropy, of medicine, of education, of recreation, of government, is going on apace. The socializing of business lags far behind. There are initial experiments but there are as yet no evidences that we may cast aside our philanthropic ideals and trust to business for social salvation.

An Example in Conservation.

Louisville Courier-Journal: By wise management of its resources the state of Minnesota has accumulated a trust fund of $20,221,418 for the use of its schools. This is being increased from year to year and ultimately is expected to reach $200,000,000.

This fund is said to exceed the combined funds of similar character in twenty of the twenty-five states east of the Mississippi river. The manner in which the money was accumulated was by the conservation of natural resources, the preservation of the land allotted the state by the Federal government and the setting aside for educational purposes of the receipts from land sales and timber and iron ore royalties. The state now owns lands ceded to it by the Federal government from which it receives an annual income in excess of $1,000,000.

The fact that Minnesota has so much school money enables good schools to be maintained even in sparsely-settled localities. In addition there is a 1-mill general school tax, which is cheerfully paid, inasmuch as "tuition is absolutely free of charges from A, B, C to the doctorate of philosophy." The income from the state lands and from the trust fund goes to the maintenance of the university and other state schools, to education in general and to road and bridge improvements. It is provided that the trust fund is never to be diminished nor to be diverted from these uses.

There are other states which might have done equally well by husbanding their resources for such excellent purposes, but unfortunately they did not think about it until everything had been squandered. Minnesota supplies about the best example to be found anywhere of the importance of conservation.

The Author of "Home, Sweet Home."

Toledo Blade: John Howard Payne, who was born 123 years ago, wrote sixty plays and operas. He composed music of all kinds, from simple songs which everyone sang to elaborate compositions which few understood and no one, unless it be the author, particularly cared for.

Yet of all the products of John Howard Payne's indefatigable industry there is but one that has given him a claim upon fame and memory. That, however, was the song "Home, Sweet Home," a song that has been sung wherever English speaking men and women have wandered, which has moved hearts and brought tears probably more than any other piece of musical work and which is today no less well known and popular than it was when, something like ninety years ago, it had the appeal of newness as well as of human feeling.

It was Payne's fate to die a poor officeholder, tucked away in Tunis as United States consul. The song of "Home, Sweet Home" seems the more sincere and touching because its author passed away fortuneless and an exile.

Back Talk.

Philadelphia Bulletin: Howard Elliott, the president of the New Haven lines, said at a dinner in New York:

"I don't encourage back talk among our employes—far from it—but I must say that my sympathies are rather with one of our conductors who ventured, under great provocation, on a little back talk the other day.

"As the conductor was punching tickets, a man said to him, with a nasty sneer:

"'You have a lot of wrecks on this road, don't you?'

"'Oh, no,' said the conductor. 'You're the first I've seen for some time.'"

A City Man of 42 Went to the Farm

William R. Lighton in the Country Gentleman.

Six years ago, when I was 42 years old, I went to farming. I wanted to make better provision for my family than seemed possible under town conditions, even though my income was good enough.

We lived comfortably in town and had no debts; so we were not considering farming merely as a refuge from failure, but rather as a sensible business proposition. We made our decision deliberately, after some careful team work in talking things over. Our actual working capital was rather less than $4,000 and we had no training in farming. Though our location gave us some conditions of more than ordinary difficulty, we have made it all work out admirably.

We had some foolish notions to begin with, notions gathered from back-to-the-land literature; and on some vital points our minds were blank. We had much to learn. We tried to keep ourselves free of the condition of mind of the average amateur farmer who fancies he knows it all. At the same time we knew well enough that there was a lot of outworn nonsense in the practice of the old farmers. We moved cautiously, giving plenty of time to sifting out the instruction and advice given us, husbanding our resources until we should form a definite scheme.

What a man ought to do before committing himself is to dig with all his might and main into the literature of modern scientific farming, filling his mind with it to the point of saturation. He ought to study carefully the stories of success achieved by the good modern farmer. The closest of attention to the intimate details of these stories will pay beyond all reckoning. It will show that success is attained quite as much by sound management as by crop growing.

Eighty acres of land, in my opinion, is too much for one man to farm, by modern methods, with any reasonable expectation of "getting out of it what it should produce." Forty acres is more than enough. Twenty acres is more than enough. Twenty acres properly farmed will yield better returns than forty or eighty loosely managed. Besides, the smaller acreage involves a smaller investment in land and leaves a correspondingly larger part of the capital free for use in operation, where it is likely to be needed.

A common mistake of townsmen farmers is to keep too little operating capital. With $4,000 in hand, I should say that not more than half ought to be put into the initial investment in land and buildings. The other half need not be wasted; the chances are that it will come in mighty handy before the farm is established upon a profitable basis.

The question of a location and the matter of choice between one farm and another cannot be determined by a stranger. I should say, however, that it is much better for a man to buy a farm in good condition than to venture with low priced, rundown land. I've found by experience that the building up of a neglected down-at-heel farm is a problem in itself. The worst feature of it is that it is full of discouraging delays.

Our own farm was one of that type when we bought it, and it took us three years to get even a part of our land in condition for normal crop production. That is a long time for the novice to wait. He is very likely to end by abandoning his venture as a bad job.

It is not easy to tell any particular townsman just how he may succeed at farming. The personal equation comes in, good and strong. It is quite possible that a man may fail, even though he begins his work with abundant enthusiasm and with a capital which ought to suffice for all reasonable requirements.

Speaking, genefally, however, I say emphatically that the man of 45, with $3,000 to $5,000 in money, with a brain that will work, with a well made plan and a firm purpose, certainly ought to succeed on the land. Even if he meets with no more than a part of the success he hopes for, in dollar profits, he will be able to realize something infinitely better—a share, right here on earth, in the peace that passeth understanding.

Big Fortunes Pass

Philadelphia Record: For those who fear the influence of colossal fortunes, such as those of the Astors, Vanderbilts, Goulds, Rockefellers and Morgans, upon the future of the United States, both economically and socially, there should be no little consolation in the present plight of the Missouri Pacific railroad. That is known as a Gould road, control of it having been secured by the late Jay Gould, and the financial troubles into which it has fallen are typical of those which descended upon nearly all the properties left by that most unscrupulous captain of industry to the incapable generation that succeeded him. From the feeble hands of the sons, unable to wield the power bequeathed to them, there have passed in turn the Western Union Telegraph company, the Wabash, the Lake Erie & Western and the Western Maryland railroads, the Wabash-Pittsburg terminal and the Manhattan Railway company. Before long it is expected that the Missouri Pacific, the Rio Grande & Western and the Western Pacific railroads will follow the same course.

One may regret the misfortune of these corporations and the distress which they bring upon innocent stockholders, but it is distinctly pleasing to see them released from the grip of a family unable to manage them properly.

Smith's Experiment.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Congressman Ellsworth R. Bathrick of Ohio, chuckled the other evening when the talk in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to savage dogs. He said he was reminded of a party named Smith.

Some time ago Smith and a friend were discussing the dog question when the friend remarked that the most vicious dog might be utterly subdued merely by a person sitting down and staring at him.

"Right you are, old pal!" was the ready response. "I know, for I once tried it on. Dog was coming at me at the rate of a mile a minute, and all I did was to sit down and stare at him."

"I am glad to hear you say that," responded the friend. "It is a confirmation of what science has always maintained."

"Yes, old fellow," grinned Smith, "but I should have added that when I sat down I chose the top limb of a 60-foot tree."

The Agile Politician.

Alexandria, Ind., Times-Tribune: The grasshopper can jump 200 times its own length. That's nothing. We know a politician who can jump sideways more different kinds of ways than his own weight multiplied by 1,800.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Martine rather enjoys presiding occasionally over the United States senate when the vice president is out of the chamber. Most of the other senators regard it as a more or less annoying chore to preside, and so Martine is asked to take the steering wheel oftener than any other member.

An hour or two in the chair palls, however, even on Martine. One afternoon the talk became so tiresome that he began to work off his nervous energy by scrawling his impressions of things on a scrap of paper that lay in front of him.

He did this almost without knowing he was doing it. As he absentmindedly toyed with a pencil his thoughts simply crawled out of the lead and over the sheet of paper.

Later on a little page boy, who had seen Martine abstractedly making notes, picked up the sheet of paper and here is a sample of what he read:

"They're talking now about the grain inspection bill.

"Wheat, wheat, wheat!

"I never heard so much talk about wheat!

"What in thunder do I care about wheat?

"I wish they'd talk about rye.

"Rye is a lot more interesting than wheat.

"So-and-so is speaking now.

"Oh, he makes me sick."

Representative Frank B. Willis sprung a startling statement the other day in a cloakroom conversation on the high cost of living. Willis asserted—and did so with such an air of truthfulness that many were inclined to believe him—that there is a good boarding house in his town of Ada, Ohio, where one can get twenty-one meals for $1.75, or 25 cents a day. They are good meals, too, Willis insists. He says that he himself boards there whenever he goes home for a few days and that he invariably leaves the table perfectly satisfied. The last statement was a clincher, for Willis is a large person and eats practically the same amount as the average horse. If they feed Willis three meals for a quarter and satisfy his appetite and make a reasonable profit from the transaction, there is something wrong somewhere. The middlemen, or the endmen, or somebody is exacting too much money. If a congressman in Ada, Ohio, can be boarded for $1.75 a week, a man in Washington who pays 10 cents for a piece of rhubarb pie ought at least to get a full quarter section.

When Louis Ludlow, Washington correspondent of the Indianapolis Star, and various other papers, was just entering Indianapolis journalism, he was sent one night to write an account of a society musicale, and he undertook to describe the gowns and jewels worn by all the beautiful women. He did not attempt to describe every item of each outfit, but just the salient features, thus: Mrs. De Hicks, pale pink velvet over blue plush; Mrs. von Tumpty, black charmeuse and muslin with gold braid. For one woman he wrote merely: Mrs. Smith, pearl necklace and diamond pendant.

This last item attracted the attention of the city editor. Says he: "Louis, we have a rule here that all women who go into our columns must be properly clothed. I think for propriety's sake we'd better give her a bracelet."

When Representative P. D. Decker of Joplin, Mo.—which is in the heart of the show-me section of that state—came here to congress, he called at the costly home of Former Secretary MacVeagh and expressed a desire to engage rooms there, thinking the place was an apartment house. It was built in the shape of an apartment house, and Decker was doubtless justified in thinking it was one of the modern high-priced hives with day and night elevator service and uninformed, uniformed attendants.

The story of Decker's error leaked out and got into the papers, and some of the new member's friends came to offer sympathy.

"Too bad. Everybody back home will hear of it and make fun of your for your ignorance," said they, in sadness.

"Why, I'm proud of the incident," declared Decker. "It'll be good campaign material, and I'm going to use it in all my speeches. I'll point out the wickedness of anybody having such a big house that it could be taken for an apartment building and remind my people of how fortunate they are not to live in a community where such mistakes could happen. And I'll cite the incident as proof that I did not take naturally to the costly ways of the money-ridden East. Then all my people will be more content than ever with the simple life of Joplin and environs, and they'll rise up and bless me and re-elect me."

It is the proud boast of Representative Charlie Adamson, chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, that although he practiced law for many years, he never accumulated more than one small farm and six cows.

A few years ago, when Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the speaker of the house, was a wee little girl, she went on the floor of the house with her father one day to see the closing of a session of congress. One of the members suggested that just before they adjourned they all rise and sing "The Star Spangled Banner." Now, the only trouble with "The Star Spangled Banner" is that only about one person in 10,000 knows the words beyond the first three or four lines. The members of the house started to sing and got along fairly well for a minute or two, and then in bunches of twenties and thirties they dropped out of the chorus for lack of information on what line came next. A few tried to keep on humming, but along about the middle of the second verse only one voice was to be heard. It was that of little Miss Clark. And without faltering, or missing a word, she sang the piece through to the end.

A Chinaman's View of the Opium Habit.

In the June American Magazine appears an article entitled "A Modern Opium Eater," written by a newspaper man, who became a victim of the habit and is now a convict in a penitentiary. "'You no quit. Every man alleetime say he quit. Every man alleesame you. Smoke one time, smoke two time, smoke tlee time, then smoke alleetime. Chineman, white man, chokqusy' (negro) alleesame. Independent Voters

Manchester, N. H., Union: There is exceptional significance in the fact that out of a total of 81,000 voters who exercised the suffrage in New Hampshire in the last election there are but 25,000 who have declared their allegiance to any particular party. More than two-thirds of the voters of New Hampshire have definitely and specifically declined to attach to their names, on the election check lists, a party tag. There is subject matter here for serious and painstaking thought on the part of party managers of all shades of belief.

If this indicates anything at all save indifference, and it certainly does indicate more than that, it displays the average voter as in a frame of mind where he is more likely to cast his ballot for a candidate whose personality and record appeals to him than to blindly mark his cross in the circle at the top of the ticket, regardless of the names its bears. This being true, and it is altogether fortunate that it is so, party managers can no longer, as of yore, rely upon a blind and unreasoning partisanship for success. They must, if they would succeed, take into account this growing independence of the public. They must recognize as essential the naming of candidates who are strong and clean and attractive. It is no longer true, and we hope it will never again be true, that you could elect a "yellow dog" if he happened to get his name on the Republican ticket. The kind of party loyalty that made that possible is an unhealthy and menacing condition which lent itself readily to indifferent, poor, and sometimes corrupt, public service, and protected the incompetent and the unscrupulous in their incompetence and wrongdoing.

This country is ruled and it is fortunate that it is so, by party government. This system makes for a tangible responsibility that could be attained in no other way, but it is as essential that there exist in the body politic a considerable percentage of independent voters, or at least, a large number of voters upon whom the sense of party loyalty rests lightly, as it is that parties themselves shall exist.

Under such conditions as today exist in New Hampshire, with two-thirds of the voters unenrolled, and the bulk of these feeling free to cast their ballots for the candidates who most appeal to them, no party can be permanently successful, and maintain a dominant voice in state affairs, which does not exercise care in the selection of its candidates, as well as in the measures that party elects to support. Continued indifference on the part of political managers to the constantly swelling total of independent voters is certain to spell frequent defeat and in the end complete disintegration.

The House Beautiful.

A naked house, a naked moor,
A shivering pool before the door,
A garden bare of flowers and fruit,
And poplars at the garden foot;
Such is the place that I live in,
Bleak without and bare within.

Yet shall your ragged moor receive
The incomparable pomp of eve,
And the cold glories of the dawn
Behind your shivering trees be drawn;
And when the wind from place to place
Doth the unmoored cloud-galleons chase,
Your garden gloom and gleam again,
With leaping sun, with glancing rain.
Here shall the wizard moon ascend
The heavens, in the crimson end
Of day's declining splendor; here
The army of the stars appear.
The neighbor hollows, dry or wet,
Spring shall with tender flowers beset;
And oft the morning muser see
Larks rising from the broomy lea,
And every fairy wheel and thread
Of cobweb dew-bediamonded
When daisies go, shall winter-time
Silver the simple grass with rime;
And make frosts enchant the pool
And when snow-bright the moor expands,
How shall your children clap their hands!
To make this earth our hermitage,
A cheerful and a changeful page,
God's bright and intricate device
Of days and seasons doth suffice.

Ezra's Example Reaches Texas.

Dallas News: A Northern agricultural paper tells of a Long Island farmer who became very much dissatisfied with the returns he was getting for some of his produce, so he concluded to investigate the matter. This farmer's name is Ezra Tuttle, and Ezra was particularly displeased with returns from his bean crop. He had produced a good crop of beans, and they were good, fresh beans. To be specific, Ezra received only 30 cents a bushel for his beans, and knowing that the city consumer was having to pay a price many times over what he was receiving as his share of profit, he determined to do a little Sherlock Holmes work on the market conditions and see how things were being carried on. This is what he found. The consumer was paying $4.80 for the beans for which Ezra received only 30 cents. Of course this made him feel "like thirty cents," to express it in the vernacular of the street. The result was that Ezra returned home and got busy. He told his neighbors and fellow bean raisers what was being done to them, and how, with the consequence that they have decided to maintain a bureau of markets of their own for the purpose of trying to get some of that $4.50 which has heretofore been sliced off on the road between the bean raiser and the bean eater—and it is not a long road, either.

Possibly the tomato, onion, bean and general vegetable raisers of Texas will follow the example of the Long Islanders more extensively than heretofore and get some of the various fourfifties they have been unwillingly donating to somebody between them and the consumers.

The Concern of Philanthropy.

Edward T. Devine in the Survey: The ideal of philanthropy is human. It does not become enthusiastic over such conservation of workers as is directed towards the increase of profits. It does not rave over high wages which are paid in order to secure a low labor cost. It believes in conservation and in high wages for other reasons. The content of life itself is the thing about which philanthropy is concerned. Workers are not looked upon as assets of business, but the ultimate consumers of the products of industry.

RESENTS INSULT BUT IS STILL IN DULUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I note in your last evening's issue that President Wilson favors a proposition of the sale of two of our battleships to Greece.

It particularly arrested my attention inasmuch as I have hitherto been unaware of the fact that we were overburdened with this form of commodity. In fact, I must confess that I have been ignorant enough to harbor the impression that our supply of seagoing war dogs might be increased to our advantage.

Considering the present comic opera war with Mexico, however, even I should scare up gray matter enough under that dollar-eighty panama of mine to figure out that perhaps Mr. Wilson has arrived at the conclusion that, with his judicious, psychological diplomacy toward nations that have already insulted us (or may insult us in the future) battleships would soon become ornamental, useless luxuries anyway.

Then, again, taking a glance over that Panama canal deal—Oh, why prolong this?—I am willing to admit that I am ashamed of myself for being surprised at anything, but I hereby make a motion that due notice be given the poor old public as to the date set for the big rafle of the White House at Washington, so I can "got in" on a ticket or two.

GOOD TIME TO SELL BATTLESHIPS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

So we have sold two warships to Greece. Good. The market for battleships is on the down trend, and a few years from now when countries begin to disarm, it will be hard to sell even a first-class new battleship that costs $20,000,000 and goodness knows how much every day to keep running.

Why can't we sell a couple more to Turkey, and then half a dozen to England, and some second-hand cruisers to Italy, and some gunboats to Austria, and a fleet of torpedo boats to Germany? It strikes me that this is an excellent beginning, and now when the market is good for battleships, we might realize enough off ours to make it worth while to get out of the fighting business. True, we would try to bear that. Our navy is a most expensive and useless luxury unless we are looking for foreign conquest, for European countries are too busy watching each other and too poor supporting their enormous armies and navies to ever think of crossing the Atlantic. Yours,

PAX VOBISCUM.

PAINT ROCK AND ITS VALUE

Writer in Iron Trade Review Treats of Sintering Process.

Millions of Tons Already in Stock Piles on Mesaba.

Of interest to mining men in general, and particularly to the iron ore trade, is an article which has been contributed to the current isue of the Iron Trade Review by W. R. Van Slyke on the subject "The Reclamation of Paint Rock Ores," in which it is contended that the Mesaba range paint rock ores contains between 35 and 52 per cent iron which may be recovered by sintering, and at cost, which would make the process worth while.

Among other things, the article says: "As is well known, the paint rocks of the Mesaba range are the result of the alteration of the slate members of the iron-bearing formation, which accounts for the high percentage of silicon and alumina. They occur in abundance and form ore reserves of millions of tons.

"Several million tons are already in stockpile from the open pits, and represent a mining charge of hundreds of thousands of dollars. The dry analysis of the bulk of them will vary from 35 to 52 per cent iron. The physical structure shows slaty characteristics, but varies from soft and greasy to hard and rock phases. As will be inferred from the alumina content, they are generally clayey in nature and retain much water, even when stockpiled for years.

The Cost.

"How much does it cost to sinter paint rocks and other high total volatile ores? This question cannot be answered exactly until there is a plant established on the Mesaba range for the commercial treatment of these ores. Naturally, all of the cost factors are subject to correction, as they cannot be accurately determined until a plant is actually established for the treatment of these ores."

The writer states that he "is not intimately acquainted with ores from ranges other than the Mesaba. Laboratory experiments some years ago with the Mesaba ores containing high percentages of total volatile matter both free and combined, indicated that all that was necessary to make such ores attractive from the standpoint of natural iron was to beneficiate them by driving off the volatile matter by some process which would leave them not dusty, but with a desirable structure for a blast furnace."

Mining men say that the chief interest the trade would have in the recovery of the iron content in paint rock at present would be in the paint rock that must be mined in connection with higher grade ores. With large deposits of good ore yet untouched, they say it would not pay to mine and treat paint rock; but where the paint rock must be mined to reach better ore, it might offset the mining cost to reclaim the iron content.

DROWNED IN LESTER CREEK

Henry Morrison, Aged 15, Meets His Death While Swimming.

Young Companion Nearly Loses Own Life in Attempt at Rescue.

Caught in a whirlpool just above the small falls of Lester river, Henry Morrison, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Morrison, 4738 London road, was drowned while swimming yesterday afternoon, despite the efforts of Frank Rossiter, 13 years old, who almost lost his own life in attempting to rescue his companion.

Young Morrison had but recently learned to swim, but he went in bathing with three companions early in the afternoon. He waded out beyond his depth and in attempting to swim, sank in the whirling pool. He yelled for help and immediately Rossiter swam to his side. The latter seized Morrison as the drowning boy rose to the surface for the first time, but he was compelled to loosen his hold, as Morrison fought desperately and was uncontrollable. The current pulled Morrison near the falls and Rossiter was compelled to give up.

In a modest straightforward manner the Rossiter boy told The Herald this morning of the drowning of his companion yesterday afternoon. He is in the eighth grade of the Lakeside school and risked his own life in an effort to save young Morrison.

Story of Drowning.

"I was swimming with Lawrence Sharsmith and Chester Bridgeman," said young Rossiter, "when I heard Henry cry for help. He yelled twice that he was drowning and I jumped in the water and swam to him. I got hold of his neck and tried to pull him to shore, but he fought so that I was compelled to let go.

"Henry went down a second time and when he arose I grabbed hold of him again and tried to pull him to shore. The current was very fast and we were being dragged in the whirlpool just above the little falls. He fought again and I could not drag him with me. He got loose and was carried into the pool, where he tried his best to grab onto some rocks in the water. I swam to him, and went down once myself in an effort to get him. The water must have been about fifteen feet deep at this point and when I arose, I had a hard time trying to save myself from drowning. Henry had been dragged farther into the pool in the meantime and in a few seconds he sank. He only yelled twice for help and this was at the beginning.

"Lawrence and Chester ran to my rescue and I grabbed hold of their hands. They pulled me to shore and I was nearly all in, but I soon recovered. We tried our best to find Henry and when we saw that it was impossible, we notified Mr. Morrison and Henry's mother."

Father Finds Body.

Mr. Morrison, who is a tailor, was at his place of business on Fifth avenue west when notified of the drowning of his son. He immediately went to the scene of the accident and after searching for an hour, succeeded in finding the body. He was assisted by Mrs. Morrison, who became drenched in her frantic efforts to reach her son's body. The body was found in about twelve feet of water. John McLeod of the life saving station also assisted.

Besides his parents, the drowned boy leaves two sisters, Margaret and Anna, and one brother, Donald. He was a member of the junior high school, having been graduated from the Lakeside school last January. The Rossiter boy is a son of Mrs. E. W. Rossiter, 4741 London road, while Lawrence Sharsmith also resides at 4741 London road and Chester Bridgeman at 4740 London road.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the family residence and interment will take place at the Forest Hill cemetery.

BAPTISTS WANT THE NATIONS TO DISARM

Adopt That and Other Resolutions at Boston Meeting.

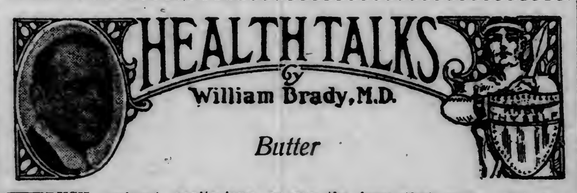

Boston, June 24.—Resolutions favoring disarmament and compulsory arbitration and opposing the liquor traffic and sectarian intrusion into state affairs were adopted after lengthy discussion at the Northern Baptist convention yesterday. The delegates also went on record as favoring the federation of state conventions and the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of cigarettes.

In the thirty-three states included in the convention there are 12,000 churches, according to the report on state conventions presented by Rev. C. A. Woddy of Portland, Or. These churches, the report says, have 1,306,154 members, an increase of 61,991 during the year.

The denomination was characterized as a billion dollar business organization in the report of the committee on co-operating organizations. This report set forth that church property was valued at $167,000,000, annual current expenses $20,000,000, representing the income on a capital of more than $400,000,000; educational institutions stood for an investment of about $200,000,000 and $165,000,000 represented the money put into beneficiencies and mission work. "Other items of charity," said the report, "bring the total well up over $1,000,000,000, representing an expenditure of some $50,000,000 a year."

Butter

SUCH eminent sanitarians as Doctors Rosenau, Frost and Bryant have been investigating butter, and, what is worse still, they have been turning the microscope on genuine, down east New England butter bought in the open Boston market. Next thing we know some daring scientist will be scrutinizing Elgin creamery!

The investigators purchased twenty-five samples of butter, paying all the prices demanded by various Boston dealers. They found no difference between the various grades, so far as physical and bacteriological purity was concerned.

Effect of Time on Butter.

Some of the things they did find, however, should be encouraging to the star and minor boarders. For instance, the more aged the butter the smaller the number of germs it contained. Would that we could speak as well of the lowly cheese! By the time butter reaches the vnerable age of six weeks there are few if any disease germs to be found in it at all. But in its youth the general run of market butter such as is used by Boston's first families who came over in the Campania is sometimes guilty of harboring desperate or even vicious microbes.

Colon bacilli were found in six of the twenty-five samples tested. When colon bacilli are found in drinking water it is considered polluted and unfit for internal use. Streptococci were found in no less than fourteen of the twenty-five specimens, and streptococci are the bugs that cause septic sore throat, septic blood poisoning, acute inflammation of joints and all sorts of unpleasant things. Two samples contained the dread tubercle bacilli.

Hereafter when we prescribe bread 'n' butter 'n' brown sugar on half an inch thick for the youngsters who need a tonic to build them up and keep them from taking cold when they go in swimming on the q. t. Sunday afternoon, we shall specify that the cream from which the butter is churned must come from a certified dairy or else be pasteurized.

Questions and Answers.

E. G. C. asks: Is there any special precaution one can take when paring corns to prevent blood poisoning?

Answer—Yes, dip the razor or knife in boiling water first, wash the feet thoroughly in hot soap and water, and as soon as you finish your surgery paint the corn and nearby skin with ordinary tincture of iodine. Then put on fresh clean stockings.

WOULD RIVAL U. S. CANAL?

Germany Tried to Deal With Nicaragua, Says Minister.

Statement of Chamorro Startles Members of Senate.

Washington, June 24.—Attempts by German interests to outbid the United States for rights to construct an inter-oceanic canal across Nicaragua were revealed to the senate foreign relations committee by Nicaraguan Minister Chamorro yesterday. The minister said Germans had urged that the $3,000,000 offered by the United States for canal rights and other concessions was not enough.

Senor Chamorro's statement was received with surprise, and led to much speculation among members of the committee. Some members understood him to mean that Germany had officially approached the Nicaraguan government, and the minister's difficulty in speaking English prevented his statement from being entirely clear.

Nicaragua Bluffing.

Members of the committee who did not believe that Germany had made any suggestions to Nicaragua, were inclined to the opinion that representative German bankers were responsible for anything that had been done, or even that Nicaragua might not be adverse to playing the American game of bluff.

It was recalled that no nation could expect to build a canal across Nicaragua to rival that at Panama without expending hundreds of millions of dollars, and the opinion was expressed that Germany hardly would be likely to engage in such an enterprise. That private banking institutions, no matter how rich, should seriously contemplate such an undertaking, was regarded as doubtful.

Was Not Specific.

Senor Chamorro was not specific about the German offer, but tried to make it plain that whoever made it, took pains to show Nicaragua that the United States was to get much more than they were entitled to for $3,000,000. He appeared before the committee particularly to speak of the political effect upon Nicaragua of the provisions in the treaty, by which the United States would assume a protectorate over the country and guarantee fair elections there, as in Cuba.

The minister was questioned about the American marines now in the republic. He said no request had been made by him to send the marines to Nicaragua some time ago. He added, however, that he believed their presence might be desired by the Nicaraguan president, Adolfo Diaz.

According to the senor, former Minister Weitzel played a part in the selection of Diaz as the conservative candidate, and Weitzel at the time was secretary to the Nicaraguan counsel of state, which selected Diaz for the presidency.

West End WILL MAKE MARKET PLANS

Club Expects Produce to Come in From Suburbs July 10.

Plan Is to Rent Individual Booths to Farmers This Year.

Plans for the opening of the West end public market at Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street will be made at a meeting of the West End Commercial club's committee to be held early next week. The first products of the soil from Hermantown and other sections of the farming community west of this point will be ready for the consumers July 10.

A conference will be held between the committee and city officials as to the market within a few days. It is proposed to dispose of the booths in a different manner than heretofore. The proposed plan is to guarantee the farmers a regular place on the market instead of compelling them to take chances of getting booths by the scramble method.

It is intended to rent each of the booths to the farmers at about $10 each for the season. This amount the farmers say they are willing to pay if they can be sure of having the same place every time they come to the city. A committee from the Farmers' and Producers' club of Hermantown recently made this proposition to the West end club members and promised that they would be at the market on three days of the week instead of two days as was done last year. They also said that they would waive any right to the booth for any of the market days if they did not arrive before 8 o'clock in the morning.

"A plan of this kind will have to be adopted if we are to have a successful market in the West end," said George M. Jensen, a member of the garden committee, last night. "Since the establishment of the market the farmers have had to scramble to get a position at the place. This has made it necessary for some to send a man as early as 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning in order to retain for them a booth for the day, and often then some of them would be beaten out because some enterprising young chap with a basket or two of small stuff from a nearby garden got there ahead of them. These young chaps probably would not make their appearance more than a few times during the entire summer.

"The farmers are willing to pay $10 for the season if they can be sure of a regular booth. This amount is nominal and will place all of the farmers on an equal footing. They will waive all rights to the place if they do not get there before 8 o'clock and that will give the acre-lot gardener a chance of occupying some space during the day. This system is in vogue in large cities where successful public gardens are in operation and will prove successful here."

Will Initiate Class.

Class initiation and a social entertainment are planned for tomorrow evening by Progress lodge, No. 6, Degree of Honor, at the Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Mrs. Clara Bender of Buffalo, N. Y., grand lady of honor will be guest of the lodge at this meeting. It is expected that a large delegation of members from West Duluth and uptown lodges will be present.

Sunday School Picnic.

Nearly 300 children of the Sunday school of the First Swedish Baptist church, left this morning for Fond du Lac on the steamer Columbia to spend the day at the annual picnic of the school. The children were accompanied by Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the church, and the officers and teachers of the school. A program of games was provided for the entertainment of the young folks. They will return on the boat at about 6 o'clock this evening.

ELECTRIC BELT MEN ACCUSED OF FRAUD

New York Office Is Raided By Postoffice Inspectors.

New York, June 24.—Upon the order of Postmaster General Burleson, the officials here of the Sanden Electric company, which carried on an extensive business in the sale of electric belts as a cure for various ills, were entered by postoffice inspectors yesterday and the general manager, Giden H. McIvor, was arrested on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Warrants for the arrest of two other persons are in the hands of inspectors.

It is charged that McIvor and his associates sold the electric belts by means of magazine and newspaper advertisements which, it is alleged, falsely represented that the belts would cure numerous diseases.

An assistant United States district attorney said the Sanden Electric company is the trade name for the business conducted by Albert T. Sanden, and that during the last few years the profits of the concern have amounted to $50,000 a year. During the twenty years of its existence, it was said, the concern has made profits of more than $1,000,000.

BANKERS SEE CITY BY NIGHT

Steamer Noronic Brings Three Hundred Ohioans Nine Hours Late.

Local Men Entertain Visitors; Mayor Prince and Others Speak.

Three hundred members of the Ohio State Bankers' association were guests of Duluth for three hours last night. The Ohioans were royally entertained by local bankers.

Both fog and rain did their utmost to mar the visit of the eastern bankers. The party was to have arrived yesterday forenoon at 11 o'clock, but the new steamer Noronic, which carried the excursionists was delayed nearly nine hours by a fog at Fort William. When the steamer did reach Duluth a heavy thunder storm had set in and continued until a late hour.

Welcome Is Hearty.

But despite these handicaps the entertainment went on with enthusiasm. When the bankers arrived at 7:30 o'clock they were met at the landing by a committee of the Duluth Clearing house, consisting of David Williams, H. S. MacGregor, W. G. Hegardt, J. W. Lyder, Jr., A. L. Ordean, J. H. Dight and Mayor Prince and taken in five chartered street cars to the Northland Country club. Many of the bankers were accompanied by their wives and daughters.

Arriving at the club house at 8:15 the whole party sat down to an excellent dinner provided by the Duluth bankers. After dinner David Williams, chairman of the Duluth Clearing House committee, introduced Mayor W. I. Prince, who welcomed the visitors to the city in a short address given in behalf of both the city and the bankers. The mayor expressed regret that the delay of the Noronic had made it necessary for the visitors to come to Duluth in the dark and hoped that at some other time Duluth would be able to welcome them and show them the city.

A hearty response was made by O. M. Sams, president of the Merchants' National bank of Hillsboro, Ohio. The speaker said that his fellow visitors were greatly disappointed in not being able to stay longer in Duluth and complimented the local committee for its splendid entertainment.

Cleveland Extends Invitation.

Col. J. J. Sullivan, president of the Central National bank of Cleveland and also of the Superior Savings and Trust company, thanked the local men for their royal entertainment and wished them continued success. He also extended an invitation to them to visit Cleveland in the near future.

After the speeches were over many of the party enjoyed dancing on the porch of the club house until it was time to take the boat.

The Ohioans left on the Noronic at 11 o'clock last night. They will return to Sarnia by way of Fort William. From Sarnia they will return to Cleveland by train.

The fog that delayed the Noronic was one of the densest ever experienced on the lakes, according to E. L. Coen, president elect of the Ohio association. Several of the party who went to Fort William Monday on a ferry had great difficulty in returning. The ferry ran into a sandbar three times while trying to reach the Noronic, and the party was content to wait at Port Arthur until the fog cleared.

GOES TO SAVE KING GEORGE FROM DEATH

Boston Psychic Says He Has Seen Vivid Vision.

Boston, June 24.—To save the life of King George is the mission of William H. Smith, a leading Boston psychic, who has just sailed for England.

He had a strange vision, he said just before sailing, of the death of King George. It reappeared to him three times, and was so vivid that he determined to warn his majesty personally of the shadow of death which Smith believes hovers over him.

Smith looks more like an athlete than traveler into the spirit world. Of his mission he said:

"There has been a plot under way in England for two years. There are only three persons who know anything about it. They are close to the king.

"One stands very high—yes, I know his name, and if I fail to reach the king and warn him I shall see this man who has worked out this dastardly plan.

Wonderful Drug!

"The king will receive an invitation for a yachting trip in September. On a certain afternoon the king will be seated at a table on the afterdeck of this yacht. The three men I have mentioned will be with him, discussing political conditions.

"They will be drinking. A drug little known to Western civilization, but similar to what we call 'eperret,' will be in one of the bottles. All traces of it disappear in water, but it holds its powerful effect in alcohol.

"This poison will not produce death, but it will produce a stupor like paralysis, and as the effect of this begins to be felt a carefully planned explosion will take place in the engine room of this yacht.

"The boat will be wrecked, and every one will jump or be thrown into the water. The king, already drugged, will be unable to save himself, and although sham efforts will be made to rescue him, he will drown.

"The moment the water enters his system all traces of the drug will disappear."

WIFE CHARGES CRUELTY.

Mrs. Leona Smith Seeks Divorce and Maiden Name.

Mrs. Leona Smith, alleging cruelty, filed suit for divorce in district court against her husband, Walter Smith yesterday. She asks the court for a decree and for her maiden name, Leona Crise.

In her complaint, Mrs. Smith charges among other things that her husband pawned their wedding presents, has used abusive language toward her in the presence of others and has threatened to kill her. She also alleges that she has been obliged to support herself since the marriage. The Smith were married at Hardgrove, Mich., Jan. 20, 1910.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

NORTH DAKOTA WILL BENEFIT

Visit of Governor Hanna to Norway Will Encourage Immigration.

Flickertail State Expected to Receive Much Good Advertising.

Fargo, N. D., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—That there will be a larger immigration into North Dakota next spring from Norway, Sweden and Denmark, and that possibly some German capitalists may be interested in the state, is generally admitted will be the result of the trip of Governor Hanna to Norway and other countries.

For some years North Dakota has had comparatively little of the Scandinavian immigration. The governments over there have done everything to discourage the young men from leaving, and are endeavoring to interest them in the development of their native land. What immigrants did come over were diverted elsewhere. There is a growing demand in North Dakota for more settlers, and the successes with which the Scandinavians have met in North Dakota is a great argument in favor of securing more of them.

Governor's Tour Attracts.

The governor's tour of Norway will naturally attract attention to this country and cause the younger men to make inquiries. The reports by the Norwegians who accompanied the governor for the presentation of the Lincoln statue, and went earlier for the centenary celebration, will also be highly beneficial. In some of the Norwegian provinces practically every resident has a relative in North Dakota, and those ties have a big influence on the younger generation.

In addition to touring Norway, the governor will be the guest of the king of Sweden. He will be able to interest some people of that nation in this state. He hopes to visit Denmark and explain to some of the people the remarkable development of the dairy industry in North Dakota and secure some trained experts from that country for this state.

In Germany he will explain the wonderful coal and clay deposits of the western part of the state and the great possibilities for tile, brick and pottery plants. He hopes to interest some German capitalists in the development of the western part of the state and may induce some of the experienced workmen to come to the western section of North Dakota.

BADGER STALWARTS NOMINATE TICKET

Bancroft for Senator, Phillips for Governor; Roast for McGovern.

Madison, Wis., June 24.—The conservative faction of the Republican party of Wisconsin in convention yesterday nominated Levi H. Bancroft of Richmond Center for the United States senate, named a full state ticket and heard speeches criticizing the state administration.

The following state ticket was named: Governor, Emanuel L. Philipp, Milwaukee; lieutenant governor, William M. Bray, Oshkosh; secretary of state, Nels Holman, Deerfield; treasurer, Marshall Cousins, Eau Claire; attorney general, A. L. Kreutzer, Wausau.

James G. Monahan of Darlington, temporary chairman, in his keynote speech denounced the state administration, charging extravagance. He said the state expenses had increased from $4,000,000 annually to $18,000,000 in the last fourteen years. He urged the abolition of many commissions.

"Reasonable Protective Tariff."

L. C. Whittet of Edgerton was made permanent chairman. Emanuel Phillip headed the resolutions committee, whose report favored "a reasonable protective tariff, scientifically adjusted; Federal legislation to control railway capitalization; retrenchment in statu expenses; elimination of useless commissions, including the legislative reference library of which Dr. Charles McCarthy is the head; legislative investigation of the state university; a single board to have charge of all state educational affairs; revision of the highway aid law; repeal of the state's reforestation plan; amendment of the water power law to encourage rapid development of power, and defeat of all pending constitutional measures, including the initiative, referendum and recall."

It was decided to organize every senate and assembly district to bring out legislative candidates.

Mill City Man Hurt When Auto Goes Over Bank.

Great Falls, Mont., June 24.—Robert W. Lowrey, president of a local fruit concern, was killed Monday evening when an auto he was driving got away from him about four miles east of the city and went over a high bank. R. A. Mr. Roberts says an instant before he was hurled into space, Mr. Lowery turned to say something to him and the machine apparently got away from him. The wheels cramped when the bank was struck, and with one lurch the big touring car went into space. It turned twice in the air, landing right side up, a wreck. The three guests were thrown many feet from the car on the rifght side and Mr. Lowrey was caught by the steering gear, his skull and chest was crushed.

FATAL EXPLOSION AT GRANITE QUARRY

Foreman at St. Cloud Concern Killed and Three Others Injured.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 24.—A premature explosion at the Melrose Granite company's quarries, three miles west of here yesterday, claimed one life and seriously injured three men.

The dead:

EDWARD FISCHER, quarry foreman.

The injured:

John Dambly, Peter Kraemer and John Kitowski.

Charging a "Lift."

The four men were charging a "lift hole" with powder preparatory to blasting out a huge block of granite. A hole seventeen feet in depth had been drilled into the face of the rock wall by the steam drill operated by Peter Kraemer. Practically the entire contents of a twenty-five-pound keg of powder had been placed in the drilled "lift hole" and the foreman was engaged in tamping the explosive with the assistance of the three injured men when the powder exploded.

Is Hurled Twenty Feet.

The force of the explosion was directed at Foreman Fischer who stood directly in front of the "lift hole" when the powder prematurely exploded. Fischer was hurled twenty feet. The force of the explosion and bits of flying granite gashed and mutilated his body and burning powder severely burned the foreman about the face and chest. Fellow employes rushed to his assistance, but death claimed the injured man just after the arrival of a priest within half an hour after the accident. The body was taken to the Tschumperlin undertaking parlors.

Dambley, Kraemer and Kitowski, who were assisting Foreman Fischer at the time of the explosion, were hurried to the hospital where they received attention within a few minutes after the accident.

May Lose Both Eyes.

The condition of Jacob Dambley appears to be the most serious. Dambley was severely burned about the face and arms. Both eyes were badly burned and it is feared by his physician that he will lose the use of both eyes. His injuries were confined to burns.

Kitowski was burned about the face and arms and is suffering intense pain. It is hoped that he will not lose the use of his eyes, although his facial burns are serious.

UPHOLDS STATE BOARD.

Mill City Physician Is Denied State Certificate.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—Judge Lewis of the Ramsey county district court has handed down a decision sustaining the Minnesota State Board of Medical examiners in its refusal to grant a license to practice medicine to B. T. Williams of Minneapolis. The board had held that Williams advertised himself as a specialist in the cure of cancer, of which the board did not approve. Previously he had been fined for practicing without a license, then denied the license by the board, appealing to the courts from that ruling.

FORGERS MAKE OVERDRAFT.

Get Into Floodwood Bank $137 Before Crime Is Discovered.

Floodwood, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cashier Zobel of the local bank would like to locate three young men believed to be Frank Jones, Ted Thielan and "Shorty" Ives, who are said by means of forgery, to have drawn all of the cash out of the bank to the credit of Dominic Spaun of Goodland, and created an overdraft of $137 before the crime was discovered, when Mr. Spaun notified the bank over the phone the checks were not issued by him. The trio came here last week and had a lively time, frequently drawing checks, it is said, against Mr. Spaun's account when their funds ran low.

It develops that one or more of the party had worked for Spaun clearing land, and in some manner had learned that an account to his credit was kept in the Floodwood bank, and outside of adding a final "k" on the end of Spaun's given name, the work was very clever. No trace of the forgers has been found as yet, although a good description of them has been sent all along the line.

FLOODWOOD BANK TO PAY 4 PER CENT.

Floodwood, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The First State Bank of Floodwood directors voted to increase the rate of interest on time certificates and savings accounts from 3 to 4 per cent, commencing July 1. This move on the part of the local institution will no doubt be appreciated by its patrons, as this is the only bank in St. Louis county paying 4 per cent.

Red Blotchy Skin Easily Remedied

Bathe Your Blood with a Cooling, Purifying Remedy

One of the Daily Perils

When your blood is overheated the congestion or inflammation makes straight for the skin. Then is the time you need that famous blood purifier S. S. S. The skin is a modified form of mucous membrane and it is in these membranes that impurities in the blood are prepared for expulsion. S. S. S. has a most remarkable action in assisting the membranes to eliminate those secretions which are the result of inflammation whether they take the form of catarrh or red patches on the skin. Its cooling, purifying effect is almost immediate since in three minutes after entering the blood it traverses the entire circulation. It so acts upon the cellular tissues in the skin that each cell rejects any invading germ and selects only its own essential nutriment from the blood.

These facts are brought out in a strikingly illustrated book "What the Mirror Tells" which is mailed free by the Swift Specific Co., 108 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist and thus insure pure blood and consequent health. Beware of imitations and disappointing substitutes.

DULUTH WINS ROUSING GAME FROM VIRGINIA

Dooks Cop Twelfth Straight Game in Sensational Manner, 9 to 8.

Ore Diggers Count Four in Final Round and Dooks Duplicate Feat.

BY BRUCE.

In the battle of Waterloo, N. Bonaparte had Dook Wellington on the run. In the first part of that rather well known affray, according to some of our best historians, the Dook was groggy and stalling for time. But in the end the persistent attack and the gameness of the Dook pulled him through. In the early stages of yesterday's near Waterloo with Virginia we were groggy and came near taking the count. Like D. Wellington, the White Sox possess a persistent attack and in the end we won the twelfth straight game of the present run by the count of 9 to 8.

It was some game. Strong men, imbued with business instinct and as shy of sentiment as a sheep is of bulldog tenacity, shouted and bawled out imprecations—and the gentle women present lent shrill voiced acclaim or the contralto protests to the general din of the large and luscious afternoon.

Handsome Clarence Grina, the wheat pitcher of Saxon, N. D., was on the mound at the start off. Right away the Taylor gang gathered three runs. In the second round the visitors added one run. Four runs is a lot to get back. Here it was that we were groggy. In the third we gathered three. In the fourth one and in the eighth we leaped blithely into the lead. But he who laughs last laughs last. The ancients sure did know the truth of things.

When all looked serene and pleasant under the smiling canopy of heaven, something happened. The hateful visitors gathered four runs in the ninth round, driving handsome Clarence Grina from the knoll and falling aslant the curves of Henry Clay Blancke for three runs.

Big League Baseball.

Torrid sections of yesterday's pastime were of big league baseball caliber. In the first round two runs for Virginia were stopped at the plate by remarkable playing. Bond cut one run off at the platter and Hargrove also cut another man down at the score tape.

James Esmond Collins made one of the greatest plays ever seen at Athlette park. Fremer lofted to James with Brokaw on first. In came the flying Collins and took the fly on the gallop. Brokaw was about ten feet off first. Without an instant's hesitation the left fielder whipped the ball on a line to Croake and the runner was doubled off the bag.

It Looked Gloomy.

Kernan walked in the opening round. Sundheim singled through the box. Brokaw attempted to sacrifice and Hargrove's throw pulled Croake off the bag. The bases were loaded and no one gone. Fremer hit to Bond. Harold dropped the ball but recovered instantly and threw to Crop Expert Edmunds in time to get Kernan. Oahland hit to Hargrove and Sundheim was cut off at the plate. Greisch hit to right center for two bags and three runs scampered over the plate. Mister Greisch is very fast and speed lent ambition to his hoofs. He attempted to make third on the play and was cut down at Hargrove station, Bond to Wolfe to Hardy. Some baseball people.

Couture singled through the infield in the following round and was advanced by Agnew. Faeth surprised the world by singling and the Couture one was over.

In the dear and never-to-be-forgotten third we assembled and put together three runs. Handsome Clarence Grina singled to right to start the festivities. Some great fielding held the hit to small dimensions. Brackett singled in the immediate vicinity of the right foul line. Bud Croake nearly hit the fence in deep right with a long hit. The hassocks were filled. Harold Bond pulled one out of reach of Sundheim and Clarence Grina, Saxon's pride, scored. Collins walked and Brackett was forced across the pan. Ford lofted to Greisch and Wolfe likewise flew to that gent, Bud Croake coming in home ahead of the throw-in on Bud's offering. Hargrove ended the joy round by going out from Fremer to Couture.

All was of the cerise serene until the ninth. In the eighth we piled in one more run and it looked like a million. With Edmunds and Clarence Grina, the handsome athlete, down, Brackett singled and counted on the long right-field double of Buddy Croake. It looked as if we had the merry merry contest sewed up.

Oahland started the pernicious and highly exciting ninth by singling. Greisch hit a ground offering that Ford knocked down but could not field. Couture was sacrificed and Ford mussed up the offering and three were on and no one out. Did it look bad, boy? It did, sir.

Out from behind the grandstand came Henry Clay Blancke. Heroes have faced worse situations. The classical countenance of the poet was blanched, but determination was written on his face and limbs.

Agnew hit to Ford. Father Ford fumbled the hit long enough to make the play at the plate impossible, but recovered in time to chuck out the catcher at first. Matts was out for being hit by his own hit. Kernan strolled and then Sundheim cleared the sacks by perniciously doubling to right center. It looked like slow music for the Sox.

But no, by gosh! Some hoary historian cried in hopeful enthusiasm that the game is never over until the last man is cut. Well spoken, my lad.

James Esmund Collins hurt his ankle earlier in the game and limped painfully. James came to bat in the ninth and smote the pill to the deep and misty confines of center field. Bum ankle and all James rounded up at third. Stalwart cheers rent the murky atmosphere. Ford walked. Wolfe singled to short, Sundheim failing to recover in time to field the hit, and Collins counting on the play. Hargrove was safe when Fremer mussed up his offering. Edmunds was out at first when Couture scooped his hit and tagged the runner on the path, Ford counting. Darby O'Brien, the brave and intrepid leader, hit in place of Blancke and Texas leagued to short right, Wolfe counting. Brackett was passed with malicious intent and then, as it often works out, Bud Croake out of pure and low down meanness of spirit clouted one to right and Hargrove crossed the plate with the winning run.

Tony Faeth was withdrawn from the popular voting contest at the end of three and one-third innings. We secured sixteen solid hits. They were evenly divided between the two pitchers, showing that the White Sox play no favorite and desire to hurt the feelings of no pitcher who is the guest of the home club.

In passing let us state that a one-handed-spear of a high foul by the glove hand of Bud Croake furnished one of the features of the torrid and somewhat het-up afternoon.

Fort William, Ont., June 24.—Fort William won the second straight game of the series yesterday by defeating the Superior team by the count of 8 to 5. As the result of this great run of victories the fans here are wildly enthusiastic. It is possible that a monument will be erected to Owner Conrad. Penfold, a local pitcher, was on the knoll for the Twins and twirled nice baseball. The hitting of Glass and Chapman provided the features of the game. Glass secured a homer and a triple, while Chapman pounded out a double and circuit smash. The score:

THE SYRACUSE VARSITY EIGHT

—Copyright by the Bain News Service.

Duluth followers of rowing have more than the ordinary interest in the outcome of the Poughkeepsie races. The Syracuse Varsity eight has a Duluth boy at stroke. Walter Glass, a former member of Jimmy Ten Eyck's crews, can be seen seated in the stroke position in the above picture. Art Osman, another Duluth boy, is the stroke of the freshman eight. James Ten Eyck, the veteran coach of the Syracuse eight, is the father of Coach Ten Eyck of Duluth and is personally acquainted with many of the local followers of the game.

WINNIPEG AND WINONA SPLIT

Winnipeg, Man., June 24.—Winnipeg and Winona split up the double-header of yesterday, the home club winning the afternoon contest by the score of 5 to 1 and the Pirates copping in the evening soiree by the close score of 2 to 1. Ralph Bell opposed Dusty Rhodes in the daylight game and the star pitcher of last year was outpitched by the local man. Toraason had the Maroon hitters at his mercy in the second game, fourteen of the home hitters whiffing. Shirley twirled a great game, a bad throw upon his part wrecking his chances in the final round. The final game was one of the prettiest staged here in years.

The scores:

FARGO WINS BATTING BEE FROM FLICKERS.

Fargo, N. D., June 24.—Grand Forks lost the second game of the series to Fargo yesterday afternoon by the score of 11 to 7. Drucke, former member of the New York Giants, was on the mound for the locals and was opposed by Bill Snow, late of Winona. Both twirlers were hit hard, but Snow allowed the hits to be bunched and the Unglaubs copped. Some sensational fielding upon the part of Fargo robbed the visitors of hits. Score: R. H. E.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Dodgers 2; Pirates 1.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 24.—Nap Rucker pitched one of his invincible games yesterday and downed Pittsburg 2 to 1 in a battle with Cooper, who, barring the first inning, was equally effective. In that inning, Brooklyn scored its two runs on O'Mara's pass, Daubert's bunt, Daley's sacrifice and Wheat's single. Hits by Carey and Mowrey and Vlox's force scored Pittsburg's only run. The game was played in 75 minutes. Score:

Cardinals 7; Phillies 5.

Philadelphia, June 24.—St. Louis won yesterday's game by knocking Rixey off the rubber in the third inning, the score being 7 to 5. Jacobs, who succeeded Rixey did excellent work, but Steele, who took Hagerman's place with the bases full and one out in the second session, held the home team in check until the eighth when a pass to Cravath, Luderus' single and Paskert's triple scored three runs. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Naps 5; Tigers 4.

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—Cleveland and Detroit played a postponed game yesterday, the Naps winning 5 to 4. The batting of Wood, with four hits out of five times at bat, was a feature. Capt. Moriarity of Detroit will be out of the game for a few days because of injuries to his hand, which he received when he stole home in Monday's game. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN ASSN.

Columbus Takes Two.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 23.—Columbus took two games from St. Paul yesterday, the first by 7 to 0, and the second 4 to 2 in innings.

In the first game, a home run, two triples, a double and two singles off Hall gave Columbus seven runs and thereafter the game degenerated into a farce. In the second game, Walker and Scheneberg had a pitchers' battle for nine innings, when Walker was taken out to allow Glenn to bat for him. Hopper, who succeeded Walker, weakened in the eleventh inning, and the visitors scored two runs. Scores:

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 24.—Kansas City and Indianapolis batted freely yesterday, but Gallia stopped the visitors' batting rally in the fifth inning after three runs had been scored, and the locals won 9 to 6. Kansas City scored four runs off Burk in the fourth and Laroy, who succeeded him, was unable to hold the locals. Score:

Millers Win Two Games.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 24.—Minneapolis took two games from Cleveland yesterday, 5 to 4 and 7 to 0. A home run by Williams with the bases full in the seventh spelled victory for Minneapolis in the first, although the locals made only two hits off Beck. The latter's wildness was costly. He gave eleven passes. Gilligan outpitched Lush in the second game, and although the Minneapolis pitcher allowed eight hits, he was unbeatable. Score:

Take One Each.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—Milwaukee and Louisville divided a double-header here yesterday, the champs winning the first game by a score of 4 to 3, and the visitors the second, 8 to 2. The second game was marred by a fist fight between Phil Lewis of the home club and McLarry. The trouble started in the fourth inning when McLarry apparently deliberately spiked Hughes at the home plate knocking the catcher down and dazing him. Lewis retaliated going into second in the eighth and while he was on the ground, McLarry jumped on him with both feet, cutting a gash in his chest. Lewis then jumped up and the two engaged in a fierce fist battle until separated by umpires and players.

During the mixup the crowd flocked out of the stands onto the diamond and in the excitement, a riot call was turned in. Both players were banished from the field. In the opener Daugherty twirled fine ball outside of the eighth. Toney was a puzzle in the second with men on the bases, while Braun was hit hard. Score:

CLOQUET WANTS A GAME WITH BROOKSTON

Cloquet, Minn., June 24.—The Cloquet Cubs were defeated by the Brookston team on the latter's grounds last Sunday by the score of 7 to 3. The local players claim that the umpire had a hand in their undoing The Cloquet team desires a return game with Brookston and the manager has offered a $50 side bet on the result. The Brookston field is in the nature of a hay field rather than a baseball ground, and the members of the Cloquet team desire to play on a ground that is something in the nature of a regular ball field.

LEAHY HAS LEFT CLUB

White Sox Pitcher Deserts Dooks Without Giving Warning.

Richard Henry Leahy, pitcher and globe trotter, yesterday folded his belongings in the manner that the Arabs are in the habit of folding their tents, and beat it for parts unknown.

The why and wherefore for the exceeding peeve or deep disgust of Richard Henry Leahy is unknown. He declared that his arm was ailing. The brave leader of our triumphant forces told the pitcher to take a rest. All seemed well in the mental makeup of Richard Henry Leahy, and no one suspected his unrest.

Without bidding his comrades of the battlefield a fond farewell, the pitcher beat it yesterday, and now the management of the club is on the diligent search for another twirler.

Carl Schrenk, the youngster that Darby had on the training trip, will be recalled from the confines of some small town.

Schrenk has shown great speed and some Anna Held curves, deep and sharp breaking. The youngster lacks experience, and it is experience that the pitchers of the White Sox should have at the present time.

Otto Sharin is with us, as has been previously mentioned. The management is on the bright-eyed lookout for another twirler. Lines are out for one.

Flying Fairy was next, with Old Donald MacDonald, sixth, and Lahore, who broke down during the race, last.

Only seven horses ran, as J. W.

Shorr's Luke McLuke, winner of the Belmont Stakes, and J. W. Messervy's Charlestonian, which won both the Withers and Larchmont stakes at Belmont Park, recently, were scratched.

The value of the handicap to the winner was not quite $4,000, while in 1908, when Celt won, the prize amounted to $19,750. The time, 2:08, for the race, was slow, but this can be partly accounted for by lack of pace being made during the first half of the race.

BIG FLYING BOAT EASILY HANDLED

Wanamaker's Air Craft, in Which Trans-Atlantic Flight Will Be Attempted, Proves a Surprise—Designer Curtiss Does Not Enthuse Yet.

Hammondsport, N. Y., June 24.—Trial flights were made yesterday by Rodman Wanamaker's trans-Atlantic flying boat America. The trials were successful in proving that the machine flies fast, is well balanced and handled almost as easily as a flying boat of less than half its size and weight.

Flights were made by Glenn H. Curtiss, Lieut. John C. Porte and John Gallett, all of whom expressed themselves as highly pleased with her behavior. Pilots were made enthusiastic over the performance of the machine.

"So far as the trials went, the boat did what we expected it would do," Mr. Curtiss, her designer, said. "Our big problem, however, lies in raising another 1,500 pounds from the water. When we have done that, I shall be glad to enthuse. Before we attempt to fly the machine fully loaded, I intend to add some auxiliary water planes. Yesterday's trials give me reason to hope we have made no mistake in our calculations."

Experts who witnessed the flights expressed surprise at the ease with which Lieut. Porte, who is to try to pilot the craft across the Atlantic, handled the big flying boat. They had expected that the machine, which weighed approximately two tons with the load it carried yesterday, and which has a wing spread of seventy-six feet, would prove cumbersome and difficult to handle.

Trials will be continued daily in order to tune the machine up for the great feat it is hoped to accomplish with it.

READY FOR RACE.

Intercollegiate Crews Have Last of Time Trials.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 24.—The last of the time trials by the crews to represent the Universities of Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wisconsin in the intercollegiate race to be held on the Hudson Friday, were held today. Only the crews of Pennsylvania and Columbia were clocked. The Columbia eights rowed the four miles upstream from the finish of the course this evening aided by a strong flood tide, and although the coach would not make the time public, it is believed to have been considerably below twenty minutes.

There was much disappointment in the Wisconsin camp yesterday when it was decided that Webster, the bow oar of the freshman crew, will not be able to get back in the shell. Webster has sore hands and Coach Vail decided that Poppy would row in the race at bow. In the varsity shell there was another drawback. Gosberg who rows at No. 5, had a strained back and the afternoon's practice was curtailed. Cosberg remained in the shell, however, and with proper treatment, Coach Vail believes the oarsman will be in condition for the race. This evening the freshmen crew went through a seven-mile row while the varsity was given nine miles at an easy pace.

Federal Suspensions.

Chicago, June 24.—President Gilmore of the Federal league has suspended Manager Bradley of the Brooklyn team for five days and fined him $100 for delaying the game at Indianapolis Monday. He refused to leave the bench when ordered to do so by the umpire. Fitzer Section of Brooklyn was suspended for three days and fined $50 for using abusive language to the umpire.

Battle for Big Purse.

London, June 24.—It was announced here today that "Young" Ahern of Brooklyn and Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, have been matched to fight in London on Aug. 2 for a purse of $20,000. The money was put up by Horatio Bottomley, the English publisher and financier and former Liberal member of parliament.

RESOLUTE AGAIN PROVES WORTH

Wins Clean Victory Over Vanitie and Defiance in Thirty-Mile Race.

Rye, N. Y., June 24.—All three of the cup aspirants, the Resolute, Vanitie and Defiance, met yesterday for the first time in a completed race, and finished in the order named, with the flag officer's yacht the winner by many minutes. It was her sixth and longest victory over the Vanitie, which seemed slower than usual, while the Defiance, which had a chance for the first time to show her worth, proved a disappointment.

At one time the tri-city yacht was more than four miles astern of the Resolute, which set the pace almost from the start. On the last leg, the Defiance brought in a new and freshening breeze and finished 23 minutes and 13 seconds behind the Resolute, and 8 minutes and 48 seconds after the Vanitie. The Resolute won the race by 16 minutes, 20 seconds in corrected time over the Vanitie and by 20 minutes and 12 seconds over the Defiance.

The race was sailed in light, fluctuating airs and smooth seas.

Southampton, June 24.—The British challenger for the America's cup, Shamrock IV, had her first hard weather trial yesterday with the older Shamrock and acquitted herself well. In a stiff breeze necessitating reefing of mainsails, the challenger worked out a lead of 3 minutes in a run of five miles. This was followed by a ten-mile thrash to windward in which the challenger did still better, beating her opponent by 12 minutes.

TIGERS BEAT ELIS IN SENSATIONAL GAME.

New York, June 24.—Princeton defeated Yale in the deciding contest of their series on the Polo grounds here yesterday 1 to 0. Deyo and Way had a sensational pitchers' battle, and the little Princeton star won by a shade. He permitted only three hits, all of them going to Hanes, who had a perfect batting average.

Princeton scored the only run in the fourth inning. Hanks led off with a single and was sacrificed to second by Laird and went to third on Gill's infield out, scoring when Green beat out an infield hit to Swihart. Swihart hurt his leg sliding to first and was relieved by Pumpelly. Both teams fielded in sensational style. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Princeton	1	4	2
Yale	0	3	1

Batteries—Deyo and Salmon; Way and Hunter.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 24.—Hitting at opportune moments, Michigan defeated Pennsylvania yesterday 4 to 0.

EXPECT GOOD RESULTS.

Delegates to Olympic Congress Satisfied With Work.

Paris, June 24.—Delegates to the International Olympic congress, which has been in session here since June 15, virtually have finished their labors, although there are several minor decisions to be reached. Never during an international congress has such good feeling prevailed. The American delegates assert they are thoroughly satisfied with the results attained.

James E. Sullivan, head of the American delegation, said that the work of the congress would have a far-reaching effect, especially in the United States. In all the large American cities preliminary competitions will be held and the winners will meet in New York the first Sunday in June, 1916, for the grand elimination trials to decide the entries for the Olympic games to be held that year at Berlin. The American Olympic team will comprise the men taking the first six places in big events, and the first three places in small events. The rules governing all sports will be published Sept. 1.

Exhibition Games.

Toledo, Ohio, June 24.—In a draggy and featureless exhibition before 12,000 employes of a large automobile manufacturing plant and their friends, the Chicago Cubs defeated Connie Mack's Athletics yesterday afternoon, 8 to 7.

START COAL PROBE EARLY IN JULY.

GET WEALTHY IN CONGRESS

Some Members Live on Perquisites and Save Their Salaries.

Arkansas Representative Is Going Home to Live in Ease.

Chicago, June 24.—A Washington dispatch to the Tribune says: That "tidy little fortunes" are being accumulated by some members of congress was the assertion made today by a member of the house who has been studying the subject from the inside.

Thrifty members, it is said, have "cleaned up" between $25,000 and $30,000 out of two terms in congress, while other members who have served five or six terms, and who come from districts where the nomination is as good as an election, have become plutocrats, according to the standards of their communities, out of the emoluments of their office.

The average senator or representative who accumulates what to him means a comfortable fortune while serving his country does it by living on his "mileage and mucilage," as they say in the cloakroom.

Members Hold Down Expenses.

There are at least a score of representatives who are living on $1,800 a year and supporting families. There are one or two senators whose expenditures for household expenses do not run over $2,600 a year. The perquisites attached to their offices furnish the sum necessary for their living expenses and their salaries of $7,500 a year are "salted" away against the time when some other man will take their place in congress.

The mileage allowance of members of congress varies according to the distance they have to travel to get to Washington, but the average is between $400 and $500 a session. It usually costs about a quarter of this sum to make the round trip.

Every representative and senator gets a stationery allowance of $125 per session, but as any member can get all the stationery he needs from his committee without cost a frugal member can draw this amount in cash.

Saves Hire of Clerk.

Representatives are allowed one clerk at $1,500 to $2,500 a year. The frugal representative who is out for the money appoints his wife, or some other member of the family, as his clerk, and gets along by writing the necessary letters himself.

Both senators and representatives get "free shaves" and "free baths," and the stationery room furnishes most of the household necessities, except food and clothing, at cost price.

The senator or representative who attempts to live on his "perquisites" may not have his residence in the fashionable part of Washington, where rents are high and where it is expensive even to board, but within a few blocks of the capitol, either southwest or northeast, the economical member may obtain rooms for light housekeeping for himself and family for $15 to $30 a month.

Handsome Office Provided.

The government furnishes every representatives and senator with handsomely appointed offices where he may receive his friends. Nor is the penurious congressman entirely shut out of the social game, for by reason of his office he gets invitations to certain official functions at the White House and at the homes of members of the cabinet, and there is no social obligation created which he has to repay.

Some of the men who are considered "accidents" in congress, having come in on the Democratic landslide that swept the country two years ago, will frankly admit that they expect to save enough out of their salaries to buy a farm.

A representative from Arkansas who is about to retire voluntarily after having served five terms, says:

"When I came here the salary was $5,000 a year. I found I could live on the perquisites and save the income. When the salary was raised to $7,500 a year I didn't have to increase my living expenses. I came here for the money and I am well content if the other fellow gets the glory. I am going home to live in ease."

PARALYZE POSTAL SERVICE IN PARIS

Employes Break Out Into Violence Over Failure of Bill.

Paris, June 24.—For seven hours last night 600 angry postmen were in possession of the central postoffice and prevented the movement of all incoming and outgoing mail. The trouble arose over the refusal of the senate yesterday to include in the postal budget certain increased allowances, in favor of which there has been strong agitation.

The news of the vote was received by the men with hisses. They tried to prevent the mail automobiles from going out of the yard, but the authorities had established guards with a view to possible disorders. They were unable, however, to prevent the postmen from overturning a machine and blocking the gateway.

The disaffected postmen rapidly grew in numbers and violence, and police were driven out of the building. All doors were closed and barricaded.

The minister of commerce, Gaston Thomson, sought to induce the men to withdraw, but his words had little effect.

Finally, about midnight, the men left, having accomplished their purpose of completely paralyzing the mail service from 5 o'clock.

NIGHT IN JAIL CELL ALTERS COP'S MIND.

Chicago, June 24.—Joseph Carney, a policeman, one of the collectors of a $60,000 fund by which the police contributors expected to get a raise in salary, changed his mind after having spent a night in jail because he refused to testify in the trial of William F. Stine, a policeman charged with embezzling part of the fund.

Although Stine appeared at the trial and testified, he was locked in jail again last night on a writ of attachment.

Carney testified he and Stine had collected the money from other policemen. When newspapers became too active about the so-called slush fund, they divided, he said, and he returned his to the contributors.

Filipino In Lieutenant.

Washington, June 24.—The appointment of Cadet Vicente Lim, a Filipino graduate of the United States military academy, as a second lieutenant of Philippine scouts, was announced at the war department. Lieut. Lim is not eligible to receive a commission in the regular army because he is not a citizen of the United States.

EXCEEDING EXPECTATIONS

Response to Invitations to Grain Growers Surprises Duluth Dealers.

More Than 525 Acceptances Already and 650 Visitors Expected.

The forthcoming assemblage of grain dealers in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 30 and July 1 promises to be one of the largest and most representative gatherings of outsiders ever held here.

Up to this morning more than 525 acceptances had been received in response to the invitation extended by the Duluth board of trade, according to the secretary, Charles F. Macdonald. They are from all sections of the Northwest, mainly from Western Minnesota and North Dakota with a fair representation also from South Dakota and Montana. Responses are still coming in batches by every mail, and furthermore requests for invitations are being received from quarters that had been overlooked.

It is therefore considered that a happy move has been made by the board of trade's executive committee in arriving at the decision to afford the trade through the West the opportunity to study at first hand the methods pursued in handing grain on this market. There is thought to be every probability now that the number of visitors here during the two days will reach over 650. They will represent the independent grain shippers of the Northwest, the majority of them the officers and directors of the Farmers' elevator companies throughout the country. In the list will also be included bankers and merchants interested in the grain trade.

Realizing the proportions that the gathering will attain, representatives of the railroad companies have been called into consultation with the board of trade committee, and arrangements are being made to accommodate the crowd in the way of sleeping car accommodation.

Entertainment Program.

According to the program arranged, the visitors will register at the Commercial club on their arrival in the city next Wednesday morning, and will be given their individual hotel assignments.

The morning will be spent at the board of trade where every preparation is being made by the committee to receive its guests. The state inspection office is making plans to explain its system of inspecting grains as completely as possible. They will then be shown how the grain is handled as the samples pass from the inspection office to the commission houses to whom they are assigned, till the grain is finally disposed of on the trading floor.

The afternoon will be spent in an automobile drive over the Boulevard and to the various points of interest in the city.

A banquet at which arrangements are being made for a crowd of 650 or 700 will be held at the Masonic temple in the evening. For it, a novel and interesting program is being prepared. The extending of accommodation by the Masonic fraternity is appreciated by the committee, it being regarded as timely in view of the fact that the number to be entertained will exceed the capacity of either the two clubs, and of every other dining room in the city.

On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the steamer Columbia will be boarded for a trip up the river. A stop will be made for inspection of the various elevators en route, and on reaching the Spirit Lake quarters of the boat club, the visitors will be entertained at a buffet luncheon. From there the crowd will walk over to the Minnesota Steel company's plant, an invitation having been kindly extended by General Manager George L. Reis. Guides will be provided by the company to show the party through the various departments.

On the return late in the afternoon, an exhibition of the flying boat will be afforded. The visitors will leave on the various trains during the evening for their several homes.

Philadelphia-St. Louis Barefoot.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—Dr. Edward F. Gilpin and Arthur Daly, graduates of the University of Pennsylvania, completed a barefoot walk from Philadelphia to St. Louis yesterday. The men said a club at the university offered a prize of $1,000 to any two men who would walk barefooted from Philadelphia to St. Louis. Six started. They left Philadelphia May 6.

HEAT KILLS ONE KANSAS HARVESTER.

Kansas City, Kan., June 24.—Intensified by unusual humidity as a result of recent rains heat sent many harvest hands to the shade in Kansas yesterday and in some towns set new temperature records for the year. Manhattan reported 100 degrees, equaling the season's high temperature record. Other towns report similar temperatures.

The hot weather claimed one life in Kansas harvest fields yesterday and has caused a shortage of help where plenty existed a few days ago.

DISEASES AMONG BABY-CAP MAKERS.

New York, June 24.—In 70 per cent of the homes in this city where babies' caps are made, venereal diseases were found, Miss Elizabeth Watson, a social worker, testified before the state factory commission gathering data for a recodification of the state labor law.

It has been found impossible to enforce the present factory and labor laws, Miss Lillian Wald, a settlement worker, and Miss Watson told the commission. The only solution was declared to be the abolishment of garment-making in homes. The evils of child labor, illustrated by the witnesses with reference to children from 4 years up employed in home work, were impressed on the commission.

RAAB FOR LEE.

Defeated Candidate Says He Will Support the Nominee.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. L. Raab of Duluth, who was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, has issued the following statement:

"I wish to congratulate William E. Lee on his splendid victory at the primaries. I am a Republican, and will stand by the Republican party, and can assure Mr. Lee of my hearty support. I will be with him and the party of which I have the honor of being a member, until the last vote is cast.

"I take pleasure in extending to the voters of the great and glorious state of Minnesota my heartfelt thanks for their kind consideration in the last primary, and assure them that I am, as I always have been, still a Republican."

Duluth Does Not Feel Full Force of Bad Storm.

Gale Reaches Velocity of Seventy Miles an Hour in Minneapolis.

Duluth, as usual, escaped the worst of the bad storm that swept the Northwest last night, and while this city merely got a first-class drenching from a heavy rain with a little electrical display, so high up in the air as to be apparently harmless, parts of the surrounding country sustained very severe damage, in some cases death occurring.

The wind here was not at all unusual. The highest it reached was thirty-six miles an hour. At Minneapolis, however, a gale of seventy miles an hour did considerable damage. In St. Paul the highest velocity reported was fifty-eight miles an hour, and it did damage. Eastern South Dakota got the worst of it, heavy damage and loss of life being caused by a tornado in Watertown, S. D., and other parts of that county.—Codington.

That section, Southern Minnesota and Wisconsin got the worst of it. Weather Forecaster Richardson says that the barometer at the weather bureau acted curiously last night. It suddenly began to go down rapidly and then it suddenly jumped high again. He says that indicated severe local storms close to Duluth.

The rainfall was heavy all over the Northwest last night, but Duluth got only 64-100ths of an inch. That is not considered an exceptional rain and the storm in general here caused no damage and little inconvenience.

Wire service is completely crippled between Chicago and the Twin Cities and to some extent between here and Chicago.

day in honor of the height of the Swedish summer.

The midsummer festival is being held under the auspices of the Swedish-American National league, an organization of committees representing practically every Swedish lodge in the city. The festival opened with an automobile parade in which fifty automobiles took part.

The parade was led by a handsome float decorated in national colors carrying a man representing Uncle Sam. Following it was a large machine carrying the Zenith City band. In automobiles following were city officials, speakers, members of the various Swedish lodges and their families.

The parade left Lincoln park at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and went east along First street to Seventh avenue east and returned along Superior street to Twenty-first avenue, then up to Third street and returned to the park.

C. E. Johnson, chairman of the speakers committee, presided at the opening of the celebration at 2:30 o'clock at the park. He gave a few words of welcome and spoke on the significance of the day. He said this was the fourth annual celebration held by the Swedish-Americans of Duluth and that it promised to be the best.

The principal speakers this afternoon will be Rev. A. F. Elmquist, D. D. of Minneapolis, former pastor of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church of the West end, and Mayor W. I. Prince. Several vocal selections will be given during the afternoon by the Svea Glee club, under the leadership of Charles Helmer, and band music will also be furnished by the Zenith City band.

Sports Program.

The sports program will be the principal attraction this afternoon for hundreds of young people. A long list of events, for each of which several prizes have been arranged, will be pulled off.

It is expected that before the end of the day fully 15,000 people of the city will have gathered at the park. Crowds which packed every street car going to the park were leaving uptown and hundreds of others were gathering there from the western end of the city. The crowd is expected to break all former records for a one-day gathering in the park.

The Swedish-American National league, to which is given the credit for the success of the affair, has forty members. The officers are O. W. Olson, president; Jacob Grandlund, vice president; J. O. Larson, secretary, and Charles Boostrom, treasurer. The lodges represented and the committee from each are as follows:

Vasa Order No. 170—C. E. Johnson, O. W. Olson, Jacob Granlund, J. O. Larson and Swenti Carlson.

Svea Glee Club—S. G. Peterson, Dr. Peterson, Albert Melander, Gust Westman and John Ek.

S. H. & B. E.—Charles Bostrom, Carl Hogstrom, Richard Hogstrom, Charles Edgren and Rudolph Lindquist.

Vasa Order No. 255—F. A. Thorwall, John Brander, H. A. Nelson, C. A. Carlson and Charles Jackson.

Swithiod Lodge—John Edlund, J. B. Sjodin, Erick Lindberg, Henry Nyquest and Charles Pearson.

I. O. G. F. No. 11—C. G. Carlson, Gust Hjerpe, Ed Sundquist, Viken Isakson and Elof Strombacks.

Vasa Order No. 243—N. H. Henrickson, Gottfred Johnson, Gust Enquist and Peter Ruse.

Zenith City Band—John E. Hanson, H. E. Magnuson, Ernest Mandelholm, John Johnson and Charles Westrom.

CLIMATE IS OFFICIALLY VINDICATED

up the average Duluthian's opinion of the climate here in the sentence: "Taken twelve months in the year, it is the equal of any, and for ten months it is better than any." Mr. Richardson elaborates on this thought and proves it.

Hereafter Duluthians will not be forced to listen in silence to the antiquated jokes about the "coldest winter I ever spent, being a summer in Duluth," and "Duluth has two seasons, ten months winter and two months late in the fall," or "they ought to make summer in Duluth a holiday," or "I don't know whether it gets warm here, I've only been here eleven months." In future it will be possible to flash a copy of Mr. Richardson's pamphlet on the joker, and make him retract.

Refute Slanders.

He goes right after his detractors in his introduction by saying: "The principal object in compiling and arranging the information contained in this publication is to present the facts concerning the climate in the vicinity of Duluth, to refute the erroneous impressions current in the minds of many and to indicate in some slight measure the tremendous possibilities in agriculture and other lines of business in this section, for without question the region at the head of the lakes is truly the land of opportunity.

"Of course this locality has some disagreeable weather now and then. What place does not? As a matter

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Weather Forecaster at Duluth.

of fact equally if not more disastrous snow and wind and rain storms occur elsewhere with as great or even greater frequency than here. There are many places having winters just as cold or even colder, and as for the summer and autumn seasons there are none finer anywhere than ours, while at the same time we do not have any sand storms, tornadoes and the like; nor are there any venomous reptiles and insects to be found hereabouts.

"Some of our people have, perhaps, been to prone to dwell upon the unpleasant weather features in our climate. When we do have a storm or a cold wave of any special consequence the fact has been advertised far and wide. It is the exceptional that excites comment and particularly newspaper comment. The average excellence of our climate is accepted as a matter of course."

Climate and Agriculture.

Several pages are devoted to the climate in its relation to agriculture. Mr. Richardson gives figures showing the variety of crops raised, and the uniform success met with in agricultural efforts. He says: "Gardens, root crops, small fruits, berries, flowers and shrubbery flourish here as nowhere else on account of soil, rainfall, humidity, temperature, wind and sunshine conditions. Some varieties of apples and tomatoes yield abundantly, the size being large and the quality excellent. It is also entirely probable that within the next few years grapes may be growing on some of our hillsides. Potatoes, the very finest in quality, average 300 bushels and better to the acre."

He dwells on the fact that Duluth strawberries won the highest award at the St. Louis exposition; Duluth potatoes the highest award at the American land show; and that Duluth lettuce and celery are at a premium in all parts of the country. He touches on the unexcelled grazing lands, and the wonderful success met with in raising all kinds of grains.

"It's Cool in Duluth," is proven by statistics. He shows that tempertaures of 90 degs. and above occur not more than once or twice during the summen "The night temperature in Duluth in the summer are generally so cool," he says, "that one feels comfortable sleeping under a blanket."

Hours of Sunshine.

Some interesting statistics regarding the hours of sunshine in the growing season are given. During the 144 days between May 10 and Sept. 30, the total amount of possible sunshine in Duluth is 2,069.6 hours, or twenty-four hours more than St. Paul has, 46 hours more than Des Moines, and 87 hours more than St. Louis. This fact, combined with the absence of extreme heat, and the plentiful moisture, Mr. Richardson cites as accounting for the rapid growth of all vegetables, and the excellent quality of all crops.

The annual precipitation is close to thirty inches of water, about eighteen inches of which falls during the growing season. The driest season on record showed twelve inches of water fall during the growing season. Water an inch deep measures 22,624 gallons an acre, giving some idea of the rainfall.

Says Mr. Richardson: "It is of especial interest to note that the least amounts of rain ever recorded at the Head of the Lakes during both the whole year and the growing season, represent practically the normal amounts for those periods in the region from the Dakotas southward through the central and western portions of Nebraska and Kansas, including central and Western Texas."

Extreme Cold.

The slanders about the extreme cold weather in the winter months are refuted. He shows that the mercury has reached 40 below zero but once in forty-three years. It has reached 30 below but four times in December, 26 times in January and 6 times in February in all those years.

Mr. Richardson devotes three pages to showing how well the precipitation is distributed during the year, and there are tables showing the first and the last killing frost. The average last killing frost in the spring comes on May 3, as compared to May 6 in St. Paul, April 28 in Des Moines, and April 4 in St. Louis. The first killing frost in the fall comes on Oct. 4 in Duluth, compared to Oct. 5 in St. Paul, Oct. 8 in Des Moines and Oct. 29 in St. Louis. He devotes nearly twenty-five pages to comparative tables, showing everything that an inquirer could ask regarding the climate of Duluth. The tables cover the records of forty-three years, and the pamphlet as a whole is a complete and thorough exposition of why the Duluth climate is "equal to any for twelve months in the year, and better than any for ten months."

TWO DEAD, TWO MISSING AND MANY INJURED IN TWIN CITIES

1441 West Lake street, and Robert McMichael, 16 years old, are among those found.

Mrs. Roy W. Sherman, wife of a construction foreman on the Dan Patch line, was severely hurt last night when the tent in which she was sleeping was blown down at St. Louis park. She was still unconscious this morning.

Damage at Fort Snelling.

Searchers this morning found that the district from Lake Harriet to Fort Snelling was the most disastrously affected by the storm, the military post being hardest hit.

Two hundred trees were blown down on the reservation, and off each of the four cavalry horse barns a strip of slate roofing 200 feet long was torn. The slate today is plied twelve to twenty-four inches deep about the premises. Peter Railly, a retired sergeant who lived near the barns, found his home "snowed under" with slate this morning. Every window in the house was broken.

Fifty feet of the hospital porch was torn away. Aviator Heine's aeroplanes at the post were wrecked. One was in the hangar and another outside, in preparation for a flight today.

At the A. Graham home on Chicago avenue, Minneapolis, a chicken coop was carried away by the wind, being turned over several times and fifteen chickens killed.

Trees, Crops and Wires Suffer.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crops blown down and gardens leveled constitute the chief loss in the wind storm which struck St. Paul at 10 p. m. yesterday. While many beautiful shade trees were blown down and damage done to awnings, the loss directly inside the city was not great.

For a while this morning the city was almost isolated from the outside world. The Western Union Telegraph company had only one wire to Chicago, where ordinarily it has seventeen. It had no connection with St. Louis, Sioux City or Des Moines, and could get to La Crosse, Aberdeen, Watertown and Sioux Falls only by "the back door route"—going roundabout. The North American Telegraph company had no connection with Chicago.

Inside the city the Northwestern Telephone company reported hundreds of phones out and additional reports of trouble still are coming in. Practically all the long distance lines were out of commission, and days will elapse before the damage is repaired.

The Northwestern was hit harder than the Tri-State. This company had 300 city phones out, and nearly all of its long distance wires were down. Only Hastings, Forest Lake and River Falls could be reached at 9 a. m. At least three days will elapse before repairs are completed.

Hurt When Tent Fell.

The condition of Miss Clara Fedga, 32 East College avenue, injured at the Newsboys' Carnival when a tent blew down upon her, was unchanged this morning.

"We cannot tell yet just how badly she is injured," the attending physician at the city hospital said.

Little delay was reported by the railroads, although some trains are running late as a result of slow orders. Were trouble to develop today in addition to the several reported, the insurgents had organized an independent organization.

Asked for Guards.

Mutterings against officers of the Western Federation of Miners had been heard and President Moyer asked Sheriff Driscoll to have guards at the hall to prevent any interruption of the meeting which was to outline new overtures of peace.

Many of the 2,000 men who had left the old union declaring that they would no longer adhere to its officers and endure what they termed unfair treatment, announced that any efforts to entice back any of the seceders would be met with active interference.

The revolters declared that they had been unduly assessed to help the miners who struck in the Upper Michigan copper fields and that they had been disfranchised in a recent union election because they had refused to comply with the order of the union to show their cards at the entrance of the mines on going to work. This disfranchisement had caused the insurgents to wreck Union hall, destroy the ballots, carry away the union's safe, dynamite it and take all the papers and valuables it contained.

Peace Effort Futile.

When President Moyer arrived and looked over the situation, he asked that all the officers of the Butte union elected while the revolters were disfranchised resign, and the officers consented. This did not appease the insurgents, and they perfected a new union.

It was to adopt new measures for enticing the rebels to return to the Western Federation that the meeting was called last night. Many armed deputies were at the hall to preserve order, and many of the seceders were around the miners' headquarters.

The insurgents started to storm, according to Sheriff Driscoll's deputies stationed there, and several shots were fired in the air to drive the besiegers back. The impetus of the rush was so great that the crowd came on in spite of the warning shots.

Bystander Killed.

More shots were fired and Ernest Noy, traveling inspector for the Montana demurrage bureau, fell dead. He was only an onlooker.

J. H. Brune, 52 years old, who was going up the stairs to attend the meeting in Miners' hall, was shot through the head as the deputies, desperate at the continuel onslaught of the men, fired at every one in sight. Brune cannot recover it is said.

A third man shot in the first onslaught was Charles Kramer of Los Angeles, a bystander. A bullet grazed his abdomen, but he was not severely hurt.

As the three men fell, the attackers became frightened and fell back. The deputies then reloaded their weapons and prepared for any renewed assault on the building.

Shouted for Dynamite.

Sheriff Driscoll rushed more deputies to the hall, and soon 100 men with sawed-off shotguns were on guard. They attempted to keep everybody from the building as it was reported that the structure was about to be dynamited.

As the miners were driven back by the incessant firing of the deputies, they scattered throughout the city, shouting for dynamite. Several armed men went to the Stewart mine and carried towards union hall several boxes of explosive. They were prevented from approaching the building by deputy sheriffs.

Sheriff Driscoll, as soon as the attackers were forced down the street from the hall by the fusillade, stepped forward and shouted to the crowd that he wanted 500 deputies at once. No one responded to this appeal and the sheriff began to dispose his men as best he could.

Mayor Duncan was advised of the situation and he wired to Governor Stewart at Helena. The mayor told the governor later that the city was under control, but this message had scarcely been sent before the dynamite was set off under union headquarters.

Many insurgent miners went to the tops of nearby buildings directly after they were first repulsed and opened fire on the deputies in Miners' hall.

The officers retreated for a time to the inner rooms of the building, then sallied to windows, fired at the besiegers and retired. This warfare in the darkness between housetops and windows did not last long, the miners scattering to obtain dynamite.

McDonald for Peace.

President Michael McDonald of the newly organized union, composed of the revolters from the Western Federation of Miners, finding that he could not control the men in their mad attacks, had thousands of handbills printed hurriedly and distributed about the streets calling on them, in the name of the union to disperse and go home.

CANDIDATES ARE SCARCE

Few Duluthians Are Willing to Serve as School Directors.

President W. E. Magner Will Not Accept Another Term.

Aspirants to hold office as director of the board of education do not seem to be very plentiful or very eager. Filings will have to be made soon for the time is short. All petitions, nominating candidates for the four directorships to be filled, will have to be in the hands of C. A. Bronson, clerk of the board, not later than 7:45 o'clock a week from Friday evening. The election will take place on July 18.

As yet no petitions have been filed, and there seems to be a dearth of active candidates. Business men of the West end have induced Dr. L. Q. Greeley to make the run, in view of the fact that the West end has not been represented on the school board since Capt. D. E. Stevens was defeated for the office about two years ago. Dr. Seashore of West Duluth, who was appointed a member of the board some months ago to fill out the unexpired term of Dr. S. H. Boyer, who resigned, will try to succeed himself. During his short term of office Dr. Seashore has shown himself to be a very efficient member, his fellow members claim.

E. R. Cobb, whose term is about to expire, has consented to permit the use of his name for renomination, and will be placed in nomination. John H. Norton has announced himself as a candidate and has a nominating petition in circulation. Andrew Nelson, whose term also expires next month, has not said what he intends doing. In view of the fact that he is a Democratic candidate for congress, some believe that he will not make the run, but he has been so efficient a member that he is being urged to run anyway. Mr. Nelson is not in the city himself, so therefore could not be reached.

President W. E. Magner, whose term expires, has announced that he will not consider a renomination under any conditions, for the reason that the office takes too much time away from his business, more than he can afford to give it.

The last week before the close of nominations usually brings out some candidates, but aside from those mentioned, nobody seems to be either in the "mentioned" list nor in the aspirant list.

will run between $150,000 and $300,000, the exact amount of loss being undetermined at this time.

The J. D. Barr house was totally wrecked, but the family was visiting when the storm struck. Walter McLaughlin's house was leveled to the ground while the family was not at home. At the home of E. M. Baker, editor and publisher of the Watertown Saturday News, the roof was torn away.

Mrs. Catherine Shields' house was lifted from its foundation and faced half way about.

Remarkable Escapes.

Many miraculous escapes from death in the storm are reported, some families escaping through their houses which were completely demolished.

Several persons were injured by flying portions of buildings. Trees were blown down throughout this section.

The storm lifted the big two-story barn of John B. Hanten and left it turned upside down on the roof of F. P. Gould's barn, which was wholly wrecked, one horse being killed. It will be some time before a complete list of the wrecks can be prepared.

An incoming Rock Island passenger train was caught in the storm and all the windows blown out of the coaches. The only passenger injured, however, was Jack Ryan, who left the train and took refuge in a ditch by the side of the track. He was cut about the head by flying objects.

MINERS' FIGHT LEAVES ALL EARMARKS OF WAR ON BUTTE

tempt failed and Moyer and others fled through the rear door.

Although the miners, who had been at outs since the seceders broke up a union parade on June 13 and wrecked the inside of Union hall had been quiet for a week, President Moyer feared trouble last night. He had been in Butte for several days, trying to induce the revolters to return. His endeavors had failed and the insurgents had organized an independent organization.

Asked for Guards.

Mutterings against officers of the Western Federation of Miners had been heard and President Moyer asked Sheriff Driscoll to have guards at the hall to prevent any interruption of the meeting which was to outline new overtures of peace.

Many of the 2,000 men who had left the old union declaring that they would no longer adhere to its officers and endure what they termed unfair treatment, announced that any efforts to entice back any of the seceders would be met with active interference.

SELLWOOD WILL CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

the terms were, but will say that they were satisfactory to Mrs. Leithhead."

Richard M. Sellwood, who was opposing the contest instituted by his sister, Mrs. Leithhead, when asked concerning the settlement this morning stated that he did not desire to make any statement.

The Contested Will.

The contested will was executed by Capt. Sellwood on Jan. 21, 114, a month and three days before his death. Under it, his son, Richard M. Sellwood and daughter, La Rue S. Merson, were to each receive one half of the residuary estate, while his other daughter, Mrs. Ophella S. Leithhead was to receive nothing. The will also provided that the widow was to receive the income from $100,000 for the rest of her life, providing she did not remarry. This provision was made in accordance with an ante-nuptial agreement.

When the will was offered for probate, Mrs. Leithhead filed an objection to the allowance of the will on the ground that her brother and sister had used undue influence on their father and prevailed upon him to disregard the ties of blood between himself and her and execute a will which provided for a "grossly unfair, unnatural and unjust distribution of his property." The widow also filed a contest on the grounds that the ante-nuptial agreement which was mentioned in the will, was void and would affect her dower and statutory rights.

Mrs. Leithhead stated this morning that the settlement which she had reached with her brother and sister was satisfactory to her in every particular and gave that as the reason for withdrawing the contest. She declined to give out any figures or to state whether it has been decided that she should take under the former will or would receive a substantial sum from her brother and sister in lieu thereof.

Widow's Contest.

It was announced by attorneys for Mrs. Martha M. Sellwood several days ago that the widow's contest would be withdrawn. No intimation has been received as to what the terms of settlement were and it is probable that they will not be given out. It is understood however that the contest was withdrawn after the widow had been assured of a more liberal annual income. Under the will she was to receive $6,000 a year income during the remainder of her life, provided she remained unmarried.

Mrs. Leithhead not only withdrew her contest against the will but she also petitioned the probate court today for permission to withdraw her petition for the admission to probate of a former will executed by her father on Feb. 13, 1913, under the terms of which she was to share equally with her brother and sister.

Will Admitted.

After the contests had been withdrawn, Judge Gilpin this morning entered an order formally admitting the instrument to probate and appointing R. M. Sellwood, Mrs. Mershon and Ron McLeod as executors in accordance with the provisions of the will. The executors are required to furnish a $50,000 bond to the court. The affairs of the estate, which are now in the hands of A. M. Chisholm, special administrator, will now be turned over to the executors.

The hearing on the will contest was started in April, but was continued until June 9 owing to the illness of Mrs. Mershon. After the contestanti had finished with the cross-examination of Richard M. Sellwood and Mrs. Mershon, the case was postponed daily. Attorneys for both sides were in frequent conference and the settlement was effected out of court.

The hearing on the claims against the estate has been set for Dec. 29. After this, a date will be set for a hearing on the question of how much the estate is liable for an inheritance tax. In view of the large ante-mortem gifts which were given by the late Capt. Sellwood to his children, it is believed that a fight will be waged on this question at that time. William J. Stephenson, assistant attorney general in charge of inheritance tax matters, has been keeping in close touch with the case as the estate is one of the largest which has been brought into probate court for some time. It has been variously estimated at from $700,000 to $4,000,000.

MAN 82 YEARS OLD DRUBS ONE AGED 59

Policeman Stops Fight Over Right to Sleep in Sleigh.

New York, June 24.—Gerald Post Doty, who is 82 years old and for the last few years has made his home in an abandoned sleigh at Appleton avenue and Middletown road, the Bronx, became engaged in a fist fight last night with George Daly, 59, over which was entitled to sleep for the night in the sleigh. Doty was getting the better of the fight when Policeman Penn of the Westchester station arrested both men on a charge of disorderly conduct.

At the station house Doty became indignant over what he termed "the ingratitude of a youngster like Daly in trying to oust him from his home."

He said he had always looked upon Daly as a son and had helped to bring him up. Doty claims descent from noted Revolutionary ancestors.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD

MORE PROFIT; LESS WORK

Contractor Dahl Would Cut Cost of Paving, Says Engineer.

Wilson Replies to Letter From Contractor to the Council.

That Contractor E. A. Dahl wants to do less work and get more profits on his contract for paving Vernon street from Grand Forks avenue to the west line of Bryant's addition, is the substance of City Engineer John Wilson's answer to Dahl's claim that he is being called upon to fulfill unreasonable requirements.

In a letter addressed to Mayor Prince and the city council, Dahl asserts that the city engineer has directed him to backfill trenches dug for service connections with the same material as that taken from the excavations. This would have to be tamped. Dahl wants to backfill with gravel or a mixture of sand and gravel, which would require little tamping.

City Engineer Wilson said this morning that Dahl's proposition to him was to be allowed to use gravel for the backfill, Dahl to be paid the cost of the gravel and the hauling and 10 per cent additional. He declared that this would bring the cost of the improvement to an excessive amount. Estimating it roughly he said that the cost under present arrangements will run about $3 per square yard, whereas if Dahl were permitted to have his way about $4.50 would be added, bringing the cost to the property owners up to approximately $7.50 a yard. He asserted that to allow the contractor to work in such extras would be extremely unfair to the property owners, who would have to foot the bill, which would be much more than doubled.

The engineer pointed out that Dahl knew, or should have known the specifications when he submitted his bid and that if he will follow the specifications the property owners will get a first class pavement at a reasonable cost. He said that Dahl doesn't want to tamp the backfills, which takes time and labor, but wishes to use gravel, which would make it easier as well as more profitable for him—not the property owners. He pointed out that a heavy concrete base goes over the entire street, covering the trenches, and that if the contractor will properly backfill them with the material excavated from them, there is no danger of the paving settling. He added that the specifications call for a base which would not allow the paving to settle even if the trenches did go down some. The paving which has settled because of trenches settling has not been laid on a proper concrete base.

Dahl's letter says in part:

"The city engineer has ordered us to put in about forty connections in Vernon street and to backfill the trenches with the same clay or gumbo which we removed, except where water and gas pipes are laid in the same trench where sewer is laid. These he has finally ordered to be filled with sand and gravel up to the height where the water and gas pipes are to be laid, which is about seven feet below grade.

"This will materially change out contract. The trenches run from about 7 to 12 feet in depth, and to backfill these and all other trenches with clay taken from them cannot result in packing it tightly enough to prevent it settling for several years."

TWO COUNTIES MISSING YET

Work of the State Canvassing Board Not Yet Completed.

Many Errors in St. Louis County on Second Choice Votes.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the counties Beltrami and Cook missing, a net lead of 993 for J. A. O. Preus, Republican candidate for state auditor, was reported by the state canvassing board today. Mr. Preus claims a lead of better than 1,000, but the returns to date do not bear out his figures.

Returns on the Democratic contest for governor give Congressman Hammond a lead of 890. Mr. Hammond's vote is 20,887.

The vote on the Republican nomination for governor to date is. Eberhart, 85,113; Lee, 101,778; Raab, 5,987. With the two counties named missing, the official first choice vote on state auditor is: Preus, 64,297; Rines, 63,874.

St. Louis County Errors.

The official count in St. Louis county shows many errors and if a recount is demanded by the different candidates for state auditor, that particular county will, in all probability, be made the basis of their protest. Second choice votes in St. Louis county are far from satisfactory. Many of the precincts failed to report any second choice ballots whatever, and in a number of precincts where reports were made no credit was given to the candidates to whom the same were voted for.

The following are the results on congressmen in districts where the official vote is complete:

First District.

Republican—
Sydney Anderson 17,792
O. M. Levany 4,341

Second District.

Republican—
E. Frank Ellsworth 8,686
J. E. Haycraft 7,535

Fifth District.

Republican—
George R. Smith 11,208
Ernest Lundeen 9,242

Democratic—
John H. Long 1,818
M. C. Bowler 1,509

Ninth District.

Republican—
Halvor Steenerson 16,295
Luther Osborn 4,388

Tenth District.

Republican—
L. E. Jepson 7,753
J. Adam Bede 6,338
Victor L. Johnson 5,818

Democratic—
H. S. Swenson 1,221
A. D. Dodwall 1,128

As Jepson did not have a majority in the three-cornered race in the new Tenth it was necessary to eliminate the low man, Johnson, and add his second choice votes to Bede and Jepson. This gave Bede a total of 6,716 and Jepson 8,326.

CITY PLAYING LOSING GAME

Damage Suits Accumulate With No Funds for Improvements.

Murchison Cites Cases Where Repair Work Is Necessary.

The city is accumulating damage suits and the city itself is sustaining losses because no funds are available to make the necessary improvements, according to Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division.

The commissioner illustrated by citing Twenty-third avenue west between Seventh and Eighth streets. This avenue was paved last summer. This spring the heavy rains washed out a large part of the surfacing. This was due to the absence of a storm sewer, and repetitions cannot be avoided until the storm sewer is built.

Other streets have suffered in the same way and the city has to foot the bill for repairs. Where private property is injured a damage suit results against the city. In some the city is liable and in others there is small liability, if any. At Fond du Lac, Mission creek overflowed this spring and the same happened a year ago. Many damage suits have been filed against the city, but in this instance the city seriously questions its liability. But however that may be the commissioner says the conditions should be remedied and the cost charged to whoever it is properly chargeable.

Damages have been sustained in West Duluth, in the West end, in the downtown section, in the East end and Lakeside because of inadequate facilities for carrying away storm water. Commissioner Murchison feels that the conditions should be remedied but adds that without money it is impossible to do anything.

The question will be brought up for serious consideration when the commission meets this fall to fix the budget for 1915. At that time some provision may be made for caring for this work, or the most pressing of it.

EFFECT OF RATE RULING

Various Opinions Concerning Intermountain Decision By U. S. Court.

G. Roy Hall Says Duluth Might Suffer Under Certain Conditions.

The decision of the United States supreme court in the intermountain rate case, just handed down by the highest tribunal in the nation, is one on which traffic men have various opinions, as to its effect. Some believe that such cities as Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis will be vastly benefited by it, while others believe that the result may be very decidedly detrimental to such places. The decision gives the interstate commerce commission complete power over interstate rates; and hereafter what the interstate commerce commission says about such matters goes.

G. Roy Hall of Duluth is one of those who is doubtful as to what the effect will be. A number of traffic men in Minneapolis and St. Paul say they believe that the decision will result in untold good to the three cities of Minnesota. Vice President W. L. Martin of the Soo said yesterday that it should be favorable for Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis. Vice President J. G. Woolworth, head of the traffic department of the Northern Pacific, spoke much in the same tone but added:

"On the other hand, the relative importance of the traffic at intermediate points is increasing every year with the settlement and development of the country and unless it shall be possible in the future, as it has been in the past, for the railroads to meet the Pacific coast competition without involving rates to intermediate territory, it would seem that the source of supply for Eastern manufactured goods used on the Pacific coast will be gradually transferred from the Middle West to the Atlantic seaboard states."

Too Early to Tell.

Mr. Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, said today that it is too early to speculate as to what effect the decision will have. Said he:

"Until the interstate commerce commission takes action in making rates it is impossible to predict what will happen. If the commodity rates that are evidently in mind are applied, it will raise the very dickens with us and with the Twin Cities. But in view of the fact that the decision makes the interstate commerce commission supreme in such matters, they may take other things into consideration. But nobody can tell what will be done.

"Under the commodity rates of which I speak, there would be no use of the Eastern houses recognizing the Middle Western jobbers, for they could ship their goods from the East much cheaper. For instance, the rate from Chicago to St. Paul is 20 cents, while that from Chicago to Spokane would only be 7 cents more than from the Twin Cities; therefore Chicago, by shipping to Spokane direct, would have 13 cents the best of St. Paul. You see what it would do. It would pretty nearly wipe Duluth and the Twin Cities off the map as wholesale centers."

UNITE CENSUS AND SURVEY

Committee on Schools Decides Upon Co-operative Work Plan.

When the school board takes the school census required by law it will co-operate with the committee in charge of the social survey of the city.

Four secretaries will be hired to make the school census and the social survey committee can have as many volunteers as desired work with them. The volunteers will have access to all the school records and will be assisted in any other manner possible in securing the information desired.

This was the decision reached by the committee on schools, to which the social survey question, as it pertains to the schools, was referred. The school census will start July 1.

Superior

Fire in Box Cars.

Fire destroyed three box cars in the South Shore yards yesterday afternoon and fire was also discovered in two other cars during the day by police of Superior. The fires are believed to be the work of "hoboes" who have been gathering in the city for some time past. The first three cars were almost completely destroyed because firemen were unable to get to them.

Strikers Still Out.

No settlement has yet been reached in the controversy between the Structural Iron Workers' union and Contractor Hartmann in charge of the construction of the Superior normal. An offer to pay the regular scale of wages to some of the members of the union, and not to a few who recently joined, was submitted, but the union is said to have refused to sanction it. All iron work on the building has been suspended on account of the strike.

STEAMER GOTHLAND MAY BE TOTAL LOSS.

Scilly, England, June 24.—The Belgian steamer Gothland, from Montreal for Rotterdam, laden with grain, which struck Grim rocks, near Bishop lighthouse, off Scilly islands, in a fog yesterday, is seriously damaged.

All the passengers, numbering 130 emigrants and eighty-six of the crew were safely transferred to the Lyonesse and landed at Hughtown, St. Mary's island, the capital of the group. Several of them were injured.

It is feared the Gothland will prove a total wreck. The captain, officers and some of the crew remain on board, and a St. Mary's lifeboat is standing by. The Gothland belongs to the Red Star line, but is under charter to the Canadian line. She left Montreal June 12.

JONES FILES A CONTEST

Defeated Socialist Candidate for Senate Charges Judges With Neglect.

Claims He Should Be Senatorial Nominee Instead of Capt. Randall.

Richard Jones, who lost the nomination for state senator in the Fifty-eighth legislative district to John R. Randall by three votes at the June primaries, this afternoon instituted election contest proceedings in the district court.

After reading an affidavit presented by Mr. Jones, Judge W. A. Cant of the district court signed an order requiring Mr. Randall, the contestee, and County Odin Halden to appear in court Saturday morning and show cause why the name of Jones should not be substituted on the ballot instead of that of Randall. The contest papers were served on Mr. Randall and the county auditor this afternoon.

The official report of the board of canvassers gave T. M. Pugh 1,190 votes, John R. Randall 757 and Richard Jones 754. The contestant makes the general allegation that he received more votes than did Mr. Randall.

One of the irregularities charged against election judges is as follows:

"That the affiant is a party Socialist and was known as the Socialist candidate for said nomination and had been advertised as such in the daily newspapers and in literature which had been distributed prior to said election. That there was in fact no Socialist ticket furnished for said primary election and that the non-partisan ticket on which candidates of all parties are placed for the nomination for state senator has never before been used in Minnesota. That it was the duty of the judges of election in the various precincts in said district to give to each voter who presented himself at the polling place for the purpose of voting at said election a non-partisan ballot in addition to the party ticket called for.

"That in several precincts and more particularly in the Fourteenth, Twenty-second, Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth election districts of Duluth many voters who were party Socialists asked for a Socialist ticket and were told by said judge that there was no Socialist ticket and that all of the Socialist candidates for office would be nominated without a vote at this election, and unlawfully failed to offer to said voters the non-partisan ballot upon which your affiant's name appeared as a candidate and that these persons, relying upon the misleading statements of said judges, did not cast their votes at said election, and that had the said judges of election fully performed their duty, the said voters would have taken the non-partisan ballot and would have marked their ballots and cast their votes for your affiant as a candidate for the nomination for senator."

A. G. McKnight and E. M. Morgan appear in the contest as attorneys for Jones.

UNCLE SAM PROBING LORIMER BANK, TOO

State Examiner Is Quizzed Before Grand Jury in Chicago.

Chicago, June 24.—Grand jury investigation of the affairs of the La Salle Street Trust company began after State Bank Examiner Harkin had been ordered by Judge Bretano to turn the report of his investigation over to State's Attorney Hoyne.

Harkin remained before the grand jury for nearly an hour. At the same time it became known that James H. Wilkerson, United States district attorney, has been investigating the conduct of the bank officials during the time the bank was a national bank, immediately after its organization.

Mr. Wilkerson said if reports showed any violations of law during the period the bank was under government supervision, he would take action against the officials.

YANKTON RAISES ITS $50,000 FUND.

Yankton, S. D., June 24.—After a whirlwind campaign of ten days, the citizens of Yankton at midnight Tuesday had secured the sum of $50,000 for the Yankton college endowment fund. Victory was announced by the bells and whistles of the city.

This sum was Yankton's apportionment toward $200,000 to be raised to secure James Hill's offer of $50,000 more.

GERMANS LIKE THE "GOO-GOO" PICTURES

OSCAR AND FIANCEE.

The Germans like to be photographed a la Coney Island and the royal family is not above the common herd in manifesting this taste. That is why all Germany is now flooded with this "goo-goo" picture of Prince Oscar of Prussia and his fiancee. She is the Countess Ina von Bassowitz and in marrying her Oscar gives up all claim on the throne.

WESTINGHOUSE MEN GIVEN LAST WORD.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 24.—The action of E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in notifying a committe representing the 12,000 Westinghouse strikers that the officials would deal with the men when they returned to work; that the companies would operate open shops, and that the companies would continue to pay the men according to their efficiency and productiveness, is believed to mark the end of the strike conferences for the present.

That the strike may spread was indicated when employes of the Westinghouse Foundry company at Trafford City and the R. D. Nuttall company, a subsidiary of the electric company, decided to hold mass meetings to organize and vote on a sympathetic strike.

MULES STILL NEEDED.

New York Sun: The mule always will be a necessity in the army despite improvements in motor trucks, according to army quartermasters, who are having their troubles in an effort to find a sufficient number of suitable horses for the military establishment.

The quartermasters say that the automobile has finally had its influence on the horse, and there is a distinct falling off in production. If a sudden emergency should arise it would be impossible to supply the army up to war strength with high grade mounts. A more liberal appropriation by congress would enable army quartermasters to purchase enough animals to supply the military at peace strength.

The motor truck also is affecting the supply of draught animals, but that has to do mostly with the mules, so far as the army is concerned. However, the mule always will be a necessity for service with troops in the field. Army motor trucks will be useful for supplying the column in the rear.

GIRLS CAN LIVE AS CHEAPLY HERE AS IN THE TWIN CITIES

Weekly Wage of $6.75 Needed for Board, Room and Clothing.

Other Expenses Will Increase Necessary Wage By $1.81 a Week.

Following a complete and thorough investigation of the cost of living for working girls in Duluth, a sub-committee of the Advisory Committee of Duluth on the Minimum Wage reported today that the lowest cost at which a girl in Duluth can live respectably, is between $8 and $9 a week. The committee on board, room and clothing found that the cost of these necessities was $6.75 to $7. Another committee covering other details of expenditure will report an additional $1.81 to this total, making $8.56 to $8.81.

An interesting finding of the investigators was that the cost of living for girls in Duluth is no greater than it is in the Twin Cities.

A meeting will be called in two weeks in Duluth and a minimum wage for girls be recommended.

The report in full follows:

"W. J. McCabe, chairman, advisory committee Duluth minimum wage, Duluth, Minnesota.

"Dear Sir:

"Your committee on board, room and clothing, begs to submit the following report on its investigations and deductions:

"Recognizing the impossibility of ascertaining the cost of living of the group of girls who live at home, on account of the great variation in home conditions and responsibilities, the committee has taken as a standard a working girl who is self-supporting. What percentage the 'adrift' group forms of the whole store and factory group should, of course, be ascertained by a special committee.

"The sources on which the report is based are:

"I—Returns from schedules submitted to the secretary of the state commission by employes in Duluth mercantile and manufacturing establishments. These schedules were classified as follows:

Number reporting room rent separately 81
Number reporting expense for food. 79
Number reporting room and board as combination expense..... 80
Number reporting on expenditure for clothing 81

"II—Budgets on cost of clothing compiled by:

1. Investigators.
2. Members of advisory committee in St. Paul.
3. Members of advisory committee in Duluth.

"III—A detailed investigation and survey of 112 boarding and rooming places in Duluth, made by Miss Evans, Miss Ritchie and Mrs. Hau, acting as special investigators from the Twin Cities.

"IV. Returns from schedules submitted to the secretary of the state commission by employes in mercantile and manufacturing establishments in the Twin Cities.

Room Rent.

"The returns from the schedules on room rent brought out the following facts:

"Girls in Duluth live in rooms which cost from less than $3.50 a month to more than $10 a month. The arithmetical average for rent is $6.54 per month, or $1.63 per week. The distribution of expenditure shows that 44.4 per cent pay over $7 a month, 53 per cent under $7 a month. Comparison with Twin Cities' schedules shows that there 50.1 per cent pay under $7 a month and 49.4 per cent pay over $7 a month.

Food.

"The returns from the schedules on cost of food brought out the following facts:

"Girls in Duluth pay from less than $2 to more than $4.50 per week. The average expense was $3.32. The distribution of expenditure shows that 26.4 per cent pay less than $3; 40.4 per cent pay between $3 and $4, and 34.2 per cent pay $4 and over.

In the Twin Cities comparable schedules show that 24.5 per cent pay less than $3; 50.8 per cent pay between $3 and $4, and 24.2 per cent pay $4 and over.

Room and Board.

"The returns from the schedules which reported room and board as a combination expense showed:

"Girls in Duluth pay from one case under $3 a week to one case above $7. The average expense is $4.88 a week. The distribution of the expense is as follows: 48.4 per cent less than $5 and 51.6 pay $5 and over.

"In St. Paul and Minneapolis comparable schedules show that 57.9 per cent pay less than $5 and 42.5 per cent pay $5 and over.

Clothing.

"The returns from the schedules on clothing seemed to be so probably unreliable that very little weight was given to the results. The most reliable average yearly cost shows the expense to be $95.24 a year. The budgets compiled in St. Paul and in Duluth varied from $104 to $121 (allowing a 10 per cent discount on cost of clothing in retail stores.) The committee decided that $104 a year or $2 a week was a conservative estimate, and yet one which would allow a girl enough to clothe herself correctly.

Totals.

"The total weekly cost of room, board and clothing, which the committee finds on summing up its averages for these schedules and budgets, is as follows:

Rent (separate)	$1.63
Food (separate)	3.32
Clothing	2.00
Total	$6.95
Room and board (together)	$4.88
Clothing	2.00
Total	$6.88

Conclusions.

"The committee desires to bring some very striking facts to the attention of the advisory board.

"1. The comparison between the employes' schedules in Duluth and the employes' schedules in the Twin Cities shows no appreciable difference in cost of living for women workers in the two localities. Girls can and do board here as cheaply as in the Twin Cities and can and do buy food here as cheaply as in the Twin Cities. Comparable tables as regards the board and room surveys in the three cities are not yet available, but the returns from the employes' schedules are a reliable basis for the above conclusion.

"2. The similarity between the results of the schedules in the two places shows that the percentage of error is likely to be small.

"3. The very slight difference in cost of living, where a girl rooms in one place and eats in another and where she boards and rooms in the same place, shows that there is no greater economy in doing one thing or the other under average local conditions.

"4. In Duluth 25.4 per cent of seventy-nine girls report that they are paying less than $3 a week for food. If these girls are doing light housekeeping, they may be able to keep well nourished. On the other hand, if they are eating at restaurants, cafeterias or boarding houses, they are, by all accepted standards, underfed.

Room and Board Survey.

"1. One hundred twelve (112) places were investigated.

"2. Facts investigated were as follows: Price, meals, light, daylight and air, heat, cooking allowed, parlor, bath, toilet, laundry privileges, environment.

"The rooms vary from those of the most wretched type, with bad sanitary conditions and unwholesome environments, to modern flats with good equipment.

"The majority of the places are in the middle part of the city. Thirty-two of those investigated were east of Lake avenue, most of them on Second street and above. Only four places were reported for West Duluth, and all other places are west of Lake avenue and east of Thirty-second avenue west.

"The greatest economy seems to be effected by two girls rooming together. There was one case in which two rooms were rented for light housekeeping for two people at $8 a month, with stove heat. Whether or not fuel was supplied is not stated.

"In thirteen cases room for two girls could be obtained for $10 a month, or $1.25 a week for each girl. In eleven cases the cost was $12 a month for two girls, or $1.50 a week for each girl. In all other cases the cost ranged from $1.75 to as high as $3.

"As the average expenditure by the schedules of the employes for room rent was $1.63 a week, it did not seem necessary to duplicate the room rent expenditure of those who ranged above this average.

"It is significant that, although 50.1 per cent of the girls reporting a separate expenditure for room rent said that they paid less than $7 a month, or less than $1.75 a week, for room rent, the investigation shows that unless two girls live together it would be hard to find places where one could pay less than $1.75. Only 25 places were found in all where a girl, by rooming with someone else, could pay less than $1.75 a month, and some of those were in bad sanitary and environmental conditions. There were only four places found where a girl could live in a room by herself for $1.50 a week, and in only one of these places were the living conditions reported as at all satisfactory.

Average Cost.

"The average cost of a separate room in Duluth is $2 a week. The majority of cases show that the average cost of room and board together is between $4.75 and $5 a week in Duluth. It is possible to get board and room in a few places for less than that amount, but the cases are so few that they would not affect any general conclusions.

"The survey of boarding and rooming conditions in Duluth is full of interesting facts, but those given above seemed all that were necessary for the purposes of this committee. This report has been made as brief as possible. All the sources of its statements are accessible, if further information is desired.

"The conclusion of the committee is that the schedules of the employes show and the investigation of board and room corroborates the fact that an independent, wage-earning woman in Duluth needs between $6.75 and $7 for board, room and clothing per week. Respectfully submitted,

"MARGARET CULKIN,
"I. FREIMUTH,
"MISS RYAN,
"MISS CHESKA,
"MRS. STENSBY,
"GEORGE PETERSON."

RULER WILL LET SON TRY BEING KING

KING PETER OF SERVIA.

PRINCE ALEXANDER.

Belgrade, Servia, June 24.—King Peter I of Servia was reported today to have abdicated the throne in favor of his second son, Prince Alexander. Prince George, the eldest son, renounced his right of succession in 1909.

The king left Belgrade in the afternoon for the baths at Vranya in the southern part of Servia, and a note issued by the official agency, in announcing the king's departure, did not say he had abdicated, but confined itself to the statement that his majesty had signed a ukase entrusting the government of Servia during his absence from the capital to Crown Prince Alexander.

King Peter is the son of Alexander Karageorgevitch. The founder of the dynasty was Kara-George (Black George) Petrovitch who in 1804 was declared commander-in-chief in Servia. He was murdered in 1817. One of his sons was murdered. He has been much troubled on the throne because he was placed there by the men who murdered his predecessor, and dared not punish them, and the great powers, therefore, have given him scant recognition.

He said that he had been greatly impressed with their usefulness and that they undoubtedly add greatly to the efficiency of fire departments. The commissioner is planning to purchase a similar machine for the Duluth department. The cost will be from $10,000 to $12,000. He also obtained some good ideas relative to fire hall construction and interior arrangement.

The finding was reached last night by the jury and the sealed verdict was opened when court convened this morning. Creamus sued for $10,000 for personal injuries received Sept. 18, 1913, while working as a section hand two miles from Hibbing. In moving a handcar from the track to escape a collision with a freight train, he sustained a hernia, he alleged.

Mr. Moore states that he found a much more hopeful feeling in business circles in the East, and that it was largely due to the wonderful crop prospects.

ON THE IRON RANGES

PASSING OF LUMBERJACK TO CLOSE THIS HOSPITAL

ST. BENEDICT'S HOSPITAL.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The passing of the lumberjack from this section of Minnesota to be succeeded by farmers and others of a more domestic temperament, has wrought more than one change in this section. One change that will be noted here will be the closing of St. Benedict's hospital, which for a quarter of a century during the height of the logging season was liberally patronized by the big lumber concerns who sent their unfortunate employes there. The building, a frame, was condemned for hospital purposes, and as the patronage has steadily fallen off, it has been decided to close the institution July 15.

The building was erected in 1891 and had many managers during the first years of its existence until the Benedictine Sisters acquired it in 1898. This will leave Grand Rapids without a hospital.

While the sisters will close the hospital about the middle of next month, it is learned today that a movement is on foot that may result in a hospital being maintained here in other quarters. The present hospital was condemned and had to be closed, but the sisters would probably continue an institution here if given quarters, so citizens hope to raise money enough to build a new hospital, and if this is done the village will not be without hospital facilities.

THREE VIRGINIANS HELD TO GRAND JURY

Trio Alleged to Have Robbed Boarding House Man of $400.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Carey in municipal court today held Matt Allen, Taivo Eastmen and Matt Mainen to the grand jury on grand larceny charges, it being claimed they robbed Felix Situla, a local boarding house-keeper, of $400, June 17. The robbery was kept quiet until the police could run down and arrest the accused, which was done last night. One of the accused is said to have confessed because he claimed the others were trying to swindle him out of the loot.

Money Is Cached.

According to the informant's story, the money taken from Situla was hidden immediately after the robbery behind a stone near the entrance to the Madrid mine, the three agreeing to return later and divide the spoils. When he returned he says his companions had been there ahead of him and taken his share of the booty.

Several watches and a revolver were found in Allen's possession.

The accused were taken to the county jail in Duluth today.

EDUCATORS' OUTING.

Several University Professors Staying Near Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. D. A. Grusendorf, superintendent of the city schools at Montgomery, Wis., has joined the colony of educators who make their summer home on Pokegama lake, Mr. Grusendorf having a fine farm in the vicinity of the farm of Prof. W. M. West, formerly of the history department of the University of Minnesota. Among the other educators making their summer homes in the same colony are Prof. W. A. McIntyre, superintendent of the International Falls schools, who with his family moved here last week; Prof. A. B. Jardine of Montgomery, who is staying in a cottage on the Grusendorf farm George B. Alton, former state inspector of high schools, who resigned to come here to live on his farm in the same neighborhood; O. J. Niles, who was formerly in educational work; Supt. A. J. McGuire of the state farm, who has a fine cottage on the lake; Prof. A. B. Storm of the university extension department, and numerous of his coworkers are securing land and lake frontage with a view of making their summer home on Pokegama lake.

Mrs. Bert Weeks returned the first of the week from Superior, and is at the Hotel Ogema, where she is winding up her connection with that hostelry, having transferred the lease to Mike Brown, who will hereafter have charge of the hotel. Her sister, Mrs. Frank Mahan, of Superior came up with her.

A very pleasant dancing party was given at the dairy hall of the state farm Monday evening by a number of the neighbors and townspeople.

PETITION LANE TO HALT ACTION

Hibbing People Want a Chance to Be Heard on "Dry" Treaty.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The decision of the supreme court in regard to the sale of liquor in former Indian reservation territory has aroused a good deal of speculation here as to its application to this section of the range and as to whether it includes Hibbing. The following letter to the secretary of the interior has been largely signed and a similar letter has been forwarded to Senators Nelson and Clapp:

"We would respectfully request that no immediate action be taken prohibiting the introduction of intoxicating liquors within the territory in Minnesota covered by the treaty of 1855 until a hearing may be had, in order that the department may be advised in respect to the particular localities wherein it may be deemed necessary, as a matter of policy, to prohibit the introduction of such liquors for the purpose of protecting the Indians residing therein. Our reasons for this request are as follows:

Country Then Wilderness.

"The treaty was made when the territory was a wilderness; since that time it has been populated by 400,000 whites, and there reside therein less than 8,000 Indians, confined to a few localities; therefore, to enforce the treaty through the entire country at this time will, in addition to preventing the introduction of liquors for medicinal and sacramental purposes, work a hardship not only to the individual rights of the white people, but deteriorate and destroy both real and personal property to the amount of many hundreds of thousands of dollars, and seriously interfere with the further settlement and development of the country."

COUPLE BOUND OVER.

Eloping Virginia Pair Charged With Grand Larceny.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Amos St. John, 21 and 17 years old, respectively, charged with the theft of a $400 ring from the H. J. Nathanson home, were given a hearing before Municipal Judge James P. Carey. They waived examination and were bound over to the next term of the district court on a charge of larceny and held to $500 bail, which they were unable to furnish. They were therefore committed to the county jail. Mrs. St. John, formerly Miss Elizabeth Rootnow, was employed until last week as nurse girl at the Nathanson home. She and St. John eloped Friday. They went to Duluth that evening and were arrested there on advices from here. They returned to this city Saturday. The mother of the bride is prostrated.

To Drain Bennett Park.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. Wolf of the park board has arranged for a comprehensive system of drainage in Bennett park which on the west side of Third avenue will carry all the rainfall to the lowest spot in the south end of the park, and a small lily pond some thirty-five feet in diameter will be created there. From this will run a tiny brooklet over which will be a rustic bridge. The brooklet will discharge into a second lily pond.

All Garden Plots Taken.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Every garden plot in the municipal gardens at Bennett park has been taken. Many of those who have taken the plots have put a great amount of work on them, and a visit to the gardens shows a most inviting prospect. The demand for garden plots was greatly in excess of the supply and a large number of additional plots will be provided next year.

FIRE MENACES CHANDLER MINE

Ely Firemen Make Quick Run and Prevent Serious Blaze.

Ely, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire spreading from the burning of a brush pile in the Chandler location last night menaced the famous Chandler mine workings and the whole location where the mine employes live. A quick run by the local firemen and prompt work soon extinguished the flames and averted a big loss.

The alarm was turned in at 8:30 p. m., while the firemen were at practice for the coming tournament and homecoming meet, made one of the quickest runs in the history in charge of their chief, Cox. The run of eight blocks being made in less than three minutes.

Prompt work by the department saved property valued at thousands of dollars.

Wind Also Starts Up.

Soon after the alarm was sent in a heavy wind came up and made matters worse; it keeping up for some time thus hindering the work of the boys. Luckily no damage resulted and the crowds of people who naturally came out on account of the wind, went home feeling happy that nothing serious resulted.

OLD AT TWENTY.

Return of Youth With Proper Food.

Many persons who eat plenty never seem to be properly nourished.

That's because the food is not digested and absorbed. Much that is eaten is never taken up by the system as real food, and so the tissues simply starve and the individual may, as in a recent case, look and feel old in what should be the bloom of life, youth.

"At twenty I was prematurely old. The health and vigor and brightness of youth had been, as it seemed, stolen from me. I went to work in the morning with slow steps and a dull head.

"My work through the day was unsatisfactory for my breakfast lay in my stomach like a hard lump. I was peevish and the gas in my stomach was very annoying. After supper I usually went to bed to toss half the night from sheer nervousness.

"This was all from indigestion—caused by wrong eating.

"Finally I tried Grape-Nuts and I cannot describe the full benefits received from the food. It gave me back my health. It has completely restored good digestion and my ailments have disappeared. I steadily improved and am now strong and in perfect health."

HIBBING COUNCIL.

Several Minor Routine Matters Are Disposed of.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—Special to The Herald.)—The village council held a short session last evening following the protracted session of the water, light, power and building commission at which various liquor licenses were considered, a report from the clerk of the municipal court was received, requests for building permits from Keller Bros., D. C. Rood and H. Wuupio were referred to the fire committee, and a resolution providing for the running of water mains on First avenue under the D., M. & N. railway tracks was passed.

Upon the recommendation of the board of charities, the salary of Mrs. McCauley, humane agent for the board, was raised from $35 to $60 per month.

Trustee Geiselman presided in the absence of President Power.

HIBBING PLAYS CLOQUET SUNDAY.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing baseball club will play its next game at Cloquet on Sunday, so that there will be no game in Hibbing until July 4. This gives time for the workmen to finish with the new ball park. The roof of the grandstand is going up today. The iron poles which will support the wire netting for the protection of the spectators are in place and the netting will be installed this week. Work on the quarter mile running track was also begun today.

CIVIL ACTION MAY RESULT FROM DEATH

Reported Eveleth Friends of Dead Woman Will Bring Suit.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mary Salo, the young woman killed by an automobile belonging to the Broadway livery of Gilbert, at Ely lake last Sunday, during the midsummer picnic, was held this afternoon. Although the coroner's jury yesterday exonerated the driver of the machine that struck and killed the woman, it is reported today that some of her Finnish friends will not let the matter drop, but are contemplating instituting a civil action against the livery concern. In whose name the action will be brought cannot be learned, as, so far as known, the deceased has no relatives in this section.

SUPPLIES COMING.

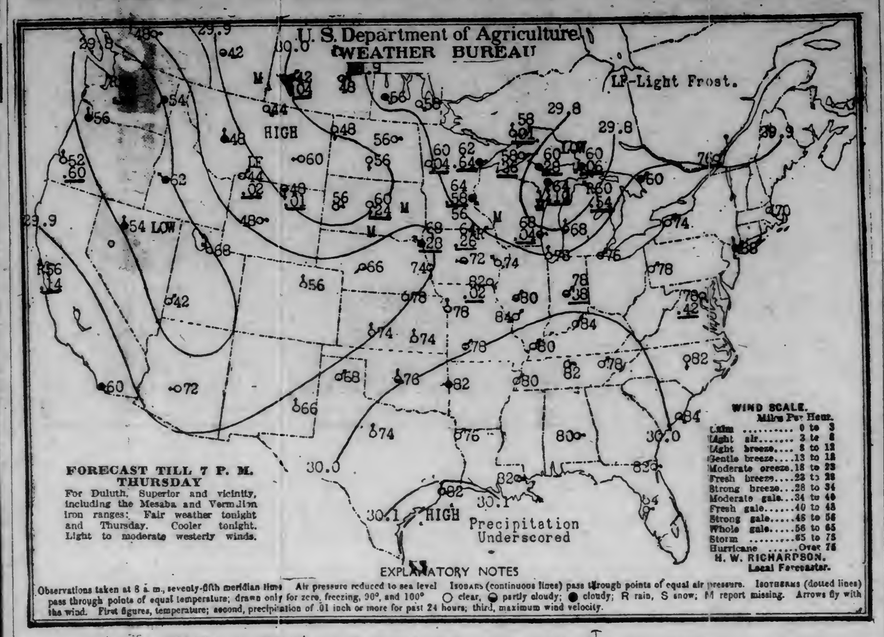

Material Reaches Hibbing for Proposed White Way.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—White way poles are now being shipped to the village by the contractor at the rate of sixty per week. One car load has been received, one is en route, one was shipped yesterday and a fourth will come forward June 29. Thus far, however, the village has received no cross arms, so that the installation of light and globes is impossible on the posts already received.

The water, light, power and building commission will build a small garage to accommodate the truck used by the commission for village work. The garage will be built at the power house of material now on hand.

The report of the municipal court for the week ending June 20 shows a net amount of $160.35 from fines received and turned over to the village treasurer.

VIRGINIA GAS PLANT.

Council Votes to Build One, Three Members Opposing.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council voted last night to build and operate a gas plant here to cost about $75,000. Some opposition to the plan developed, Alderman McGhee opposing the idea on the ground the city could not afford such an expenditure. The matter carried, however, by a vote of 6 to 3; Aldermen McGhee, Coffee and Harvey opposing. Mayor Boylan strongly urged building of the plant. It is proposed the city will not charge over $1.25 per cubic foot for gas.

VIRGINIA ELKS PLAN CARNIVAL.

Virginia Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Elks at their meeting tonight will outline plans for the big carnival to be held here during the week of July 6. The committees will be appointed and various preliminaries considered. Equalizing Ely Valuations.

Ely, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of equalization met yesterday. While nothing much has been done yet as to equalize, they got a good start. Several complaints as to a raise as to property were made, but no serious cases of trouble have been reported so far. Mayor Harris and the aldermen, also city clerk, compose the board.

The foundation for the $175,000 school house is complete and the brick work will commence at once. The building will be one of the finest on the Vermilion Range.

TWO HARBORS WILL HAVE CELEBRATION

First Fourth of July Affair in Years Being Arranged.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements for a big celebration of the Fourth are well underway and those in charge are confident that it will be a big success, providing the weather is favorable. A large list of sports will be the chief attraction of the day. The Two Harbors Marine band has been booked to furnish the music for the day and will play for two dances, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. The program will commence about 9 o'clock a. m. and continue until late in the evening. A parade will be one of the features. It will be led by the band and the officials of the city. There will be several very fine floats. A committee has been soliciting funds for the occasion from the business men this week and reports that they are meeting with big success. This will be the first real Fourth of July celebration held in this city for years, and it will be practically a test to find out whether or not the people of the city appreciate a big sane celebration.

TIME CARD CHANGE.

Canadian Northern to Make Some Alterations in Schedule Soon.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Canadian Northern railroad has some changes in its passenger schedule under consideration that will be effective July 12.

The exact time of the leaving and departing of the trains over this route has not yet been positively decided upon, as the tables have to be carefully compared at the head office of the company in Winnipeg so that connections from all points on the road will be the most convenient for all travelers.

The principal change to be made to effect this city will be in trains Nos. 3 and 4, which will arrive earlier and depart later. It will be possible, when the change is made, for a party to come from Duluth and go to Fort Frances, Can., and return the same day, making it much more desirable for travelers. These trains will not be run Sunday the same as on other days, but will be run at hours so that the trip will be a pleasant one for fishing or berrying parties to make to the north, as they will be able to spend a day's outing with convenient train connections.

DULUTHIANS TO HAVE BUNGALOW.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry and Al. He was in the last stages of consumption and was anxious to reach his former home in Sandusky, Ohio. For some time he had been a telegrapher at Helena, Mont. He was accompanied by his wife who will take the body on to Ohio.

HEADACHE AND DIZZINESS

Headache is never a disease. It is always a symptom. Applications, powders and tablets that drug the headache into quietude are treating the symptoms, not the disease, always a useless proceeding and often harmful.

When headache is associated with some dizziness it is usually the result of nervous exhaustion and will continue as long as the person who is overworked allows the debility to continue. It rapidly disappears when rest and the proper tonic is taken.

Nervous exhaustion, the cause of such headaches and dizziness, results from a strain on the nerves with which the rebuilding work of the blood is unable to keep pace. The best tonic for such a condition is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. With this treatment, unless the overwork, worry, or whatever has caused the nervous breakdown, is persisted in, the headaches, dizziness, nervousness and irritability that characterize neurasthenia rapidly disappear.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., will send free on request a helpful little book on the home treatment of nervous disorders. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are obtainable at any drug store.

HEAVY VOTE IS EXPECTED

North Dakotans Favored With Good Primary Weather.

Four Candidates Seek to Head Republican Ticket.

Fargo, N. D., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ideal weather conditions prevail in this section of the state for the primary election today, and the indications favor a heavy vote.

Four for Governor.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four candidates seek the Republican nomination for United States senator at North Dakota's state-wide primary election today, at which congressional and state officers also are to be nominated.

Aside from the Republican senatorial contest, in which Senator Asle J. Gronna seeks renomination, interest centers chiefly in the Republican and Democratic gubernatorial races and the senatorial contest in the latter party. The Progressive and Socialist candidates are unopposed.

Andrew Miller, present attorney general, and J. H. Worst, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, who, together with H. N. Midtbo, from Gronna's opposition, conducted strenuous campaigns.

Congressional Candidates.

In two of the three congressional districts the Republican nomination is contested, Congressman G. M. Young being opposed by W. P. Tuttle in the Second district and Congressman P. D. Norton by Leslie Simpson in the Third. H. T. Helgeson is unopposed by renomination in the First district.

W. B. Purcell and G. P. Jones are opponents for the Democratic nomination to the United States senate. The gubernatorial race in this party is between Oliver Knudson and Frank Hellstrom.

U. L. Burdick, the choice of the Progressive Republican league, contests Governor L. B. Hanna's candidacy for renomination on the Republican ticket. Governor Hanna is absent in Norway during the closing weeks of the campaign. John Wishek, who conducted his campaign to an appeal for the German vote, also seeks the nomination.

SAYS WISCONSIN HAS IGNORED LAW

Justice Winslow Shows Arbitration Provision in Constitution.

Green Bay, Wis., June 24.—An unused section of the State Constitution was revealed as to its possible usefulness by Chief Justice J. B. Winslow of the supreme court today, speaking at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Bar association.

The clause provides that the legislature shall pass laws for the regulation of tribunals of conciliation, defining their powers and duties. Some tribunals may be established in and for any township, and shall have the power to render judgments, to be obligatory on the parties, when they shall voluntarily submit their matter in difference to arbitration and agree to abide the judgment or assent thereto in writing.

Language Is Mandatory.

"Notwithstanding its language is the language of command, no tribunals of conciliation have been established nor has there ever been any serious effort to establish them so far as I have been able to discover."

Judge Winslow traced the possibilities of the system, but said that his paper "is suggestive rather than controversial," to provoke thought and investigation rather than to attempt to convince.

"Out of about 225,000 cases brought before the courts of conciliation in Denmark in the five-year period from 1885 to 1890 (both inclusive), about two-thirds were settled or abandoned, and about one-third came before the court," he pointed out.

The justice commended the use of arbitration for any disputes, attributing its infrequent employment to the fact that it is practically impossible to get men of the necessary caliber to act.

It is not only delicious. It is good for you to eat three times a day and every day.

Physicians everywhere are recommending ROMAN MEAL BREAD as a conditioner and for digestive troubles.

WHEAT FIRM AT THE CLOSE

Market Turns Strong on Short Covering After Early Weakness.

Flaxseed Again Bulges With Continued Good Buying By Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 24.—The market was firm at the close. July wheat closed ½c off; September ½c up, and December ¼c off. July durum closed ½c off and September unchanged.

Oats closed ⅝c off at 37c for on the track. Rye closed 1c off at 59c for on the track, or at 58c for to arrive. Barley closed unchanged at 46@54c.

At Winnipeg July oats closed at 39¼c bid and October at 36¼c.

Puts on Minneapolis September wheat closed at 79½c bid, and calls at 80¾c.

Wheat resumed its downward course on all the American markets at the opening this morning. The July option was under the heaviest selling pressure, and a decline of 1c was recorded in it during the first two hours' business. A rally was then brought about with the appearance of some taking of profits by shorts, a recovery of ⅝c being recorded up to the final hour.

July wheat opened unchanged at 88¾c, from which it sold off 1c, reacting ⅝c up to the closing hour. September opened unchanged at 81¾c, and after weakening ½c, it recovered half the loss. The December option was not traded in to any extent. It opened ⅛c off at 81⅝c asked and gained ¾c.

Durum was weak with fair offerings and light inquiry. The July option opened ¼c off at 87½c and weakened ½c more. September was offered down ½c at 82¾c.

Winnipeg was strong in contrast with the other boards. Quotations there opened ¼c up and ranged ⅛@⅜c above yesterday's close throughout the morning. Strength there was attributed to short covering inspired by reuted to short covering inspired by reports of dry weather in Southern Alberta.

Liverpool again closed substantially lower as a result of selling pressure from America and liberal first hand offerings.

The movement of grain to the Head of the Lakes is being well maintained for the season. For that the good export trade marked at this point during the past two weeks has been responsible. As considerable grain has been bought to arrive, receipts are expected to be liberal for some days yet. Stocks of all grades of wheat in the houses here now stand at 2,053,000 bu. From that is to be deducted over 400,000 bu loaded out in the last couple of days, but not yet reported out of store. Only 191,000 bu of durum remains in the houses.

Business on the board was badly affected today through the dislocation of the telegraph service owing to the wires from Minneapolis east having been blown down during last night's storm.

Flaxseed Again Bulges.

Crushers were in the market for flaxseed today, and with firmer views on the part of holders, the trend of quotations was upward throughout the session. The decreased acreage under the seed throughout the Northwest, and advices of dry weather in sections of the Canadian West, were bullish factors. Final prices showed gains of ¾@1¼c.

July flax opened unchanged at $1.59 and closed ⅝c up at $1.59¾ asked; September opened unchanged at $1.61 and closed 1½c up at $1.62½ bid; October opened unchanged at $1.61 and closed 1½c up at 1.62¼ bid and the November option opened unchanged at $1.61 and closed 1¼c up at 1.62¼.

At Winnipeg, July flax closed at $1.39¾ and October at $1.43½ bid.

The list is as follows: Dimmick, for 245,000 bu spring wheat; Brown, for 70,000 bu spring wheat and 70,000 bu of bonded wheat and 140,000 bu bonded oats; Allegheny, for 25,000 bu barley, 50,000 bu rye, 25,000 bu corn and 25,000 bu spring wheat.

Some export business in patent flour was reported by the Duluth-Superior Milling company as a result of the break in wheat prices. Fair Eastern inquiry for old wheat flour is also being met with by the local company.

Wheat stocks at Minneapolis have decreased 650,000 bu in the last four days.

At Minneapolis the cash market was steady with a fair demand for top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 1¾@2½c over July, and velvet chaff at 1½@1¾c over July. There were moderate scattered flour sales. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 85⅛@87⅛c and No. 2 northern at from 83⅛@85⅛c.

Parker Paine received the following market comment from Chicago: July wheat was the special target for sellers early today. It was sold by cash and elevator people at the opening. There was considerable order selling by scattered holders, who failed to get the bull turn in that month they were expecting. The early break in the July started a renewal of bear operations in the later months, and it was a sinking market all day, with last prices only a fraction better than the low point. That the bearish turn in this trade did not come earlier in the session was due to the firmer tone of early cables. St. Louis reported weather too wet for the harvest, but these conditions did not prevent a sharp break in prices in those markets. The report from the Southwest that Coburn of Kansas City believes that the present rate of harvest yield in that state will give a crop of 180,000,000 bu was perhaps the most bearish item for the day. Elevators and receivers report liberal country offerings on bids, and the sales of cash wheat, both milling and export, for the day were disappointing.

J. Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration at Winnipeg, thinks that the crop prospects in the three Canadian Western provinces are brighter now than in years. In the course of an interview at Winnipeg he said:

"I went through Southern Saskatchewan and Alberta, and find that with the more than copious rains during the latter part of last week there is every reason to believe the crop prospects today are better than they were at this season last year, or even for many years. Wheat is looking unusually well, roots are strong and healthy, and the plant growing up with amazing rapidity. The general impression of the crop situation in the West is very gratifying."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Undergo an Additional Smash.

Chicago, June 24.—Notwithstanding that the wheat market had already undergone a virtually straight-away break of 10c a bushel, prices today suffered an additional smash. Weakness of cables, combined with a further realization of the probable magnitude of the United States winter crop was responsible. Trading during the fresh decline showed activity and considerable excitement. Opening prices, which were a shade to 1⅛c lower, were followed by a moderate rally.

Ideal harvest conditions in Nebraska where 40 per cent of the crop will be ready by next Monday, tended to keep the market depressed. The close was steady, ¾c lower to ⅛c up compared with last night.

Corn rose on account of the absence of selling pressure. Shorts were free buyers. After starting unchanged to ⅛c higher the market continued to ascend.

Reports of low-priced sales of Argentine corn at New York led afterward to a reaction. The close was steady at a shade to ⅜c net decline.

Oats hardened with corn. Offerings proved to be quite limited.

Higher prices for hogs made provisions firm. Trade, however, was small.

STOCKS ARE ON DECLINE

"Panhandle" Has Loss of Six Points at Opening.

Western Union Registers Further Decline of More Than Point.

New York, June 24.—Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis common, better known as "Panhandle" fell six points at the opening of today's stock market in anticipation of the passig of the dividend at today's meeting of directors in Philadelphia. Western Union registered a further decline of more than a point on announcement of the dissolution of the syndicate organized some months ago to take over the holdings of the American Telephone & Telegraph company. Selling pressure, however, soon resulted in a pronounced reactionary movement.

Trading on the exchange today was characterized by greater activity and price reductions than at any time in the recent past. The closing was distinctly weak.

H. B. CLAFLIN COMPANY IS GIVEN RECEIVERS IN TWO SUITS IN EQUITY

Big Dry Goods Firm's Liabilities $35,000,000; Assets $40,000,000.

Both Friendly and Unfriendly Proceedings Are Brought.

Associated Enterprises Are Declared Not Affected.

New York, June 25.—The great dry goods house of H. B. Claflin company failed today with liabilities of $35,000,000. The assets are estimated at $40,000,000.

Two proceedings—friendly and unfriendly—threw the firm into bankruptcy, and two receivers were named under bonds of $500,000 each.

It was announced that nearly thirty retail stores throughout the country would be closed pending an adjustment of the parent company's tangled affairs.

The Claflin company controls or is affiliated with some thirty retail stores throughout the United States, and it was the indorsement of their paper, held by more than 3,000 banks here and in interior cities, that caused the crash.

The United Drygoods companies and the Associated Merchants' company, though affiliated with the Claflin company through stock control, were in no way involved in the failure. Their chain of stores, it was stated in the financial district, would remain intact. Hope was expressed also that the Claflin retail enterprises would be saved.

Plan Reorganization.

Unless blocked by creditors, a reorganization of the failed firm is contemplated according to a statement issued by John Claflin, the president. The following statement was given out at the office of the H. B. Claflin company:

"The unprecedented shifting of trade centers in New York has caused great loss to many interests. In the case of the H. B. Claflin company the uptown movement of business has seriously curtailed our wholesale profits and has compelled us to rely mainly on the profits from financing retail stores throughout the country. Their rapidly expanding business has occasioned large capital requirements, which we have not been able to meet. A receivership has therefore become necessary pending a readjustment of the affairs of the company. A plan of reorganization of the H. B. Claflin company will soon be presented, which we hope will prove acceptable both to creditors and to stockholders.

"The Associated Merchants company and the United Drygoods companies are not themselves borrowers of money. They are in exceedingly strong financial position, and the success of their retail stores is assured."

Noteholders' Committee.

A noteholders' protective committee has been formed to look after the interests of the creditors. Most of the banks concerned will be represented on this committee, of which J. S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce, will be chairman.

New York banks are said to have made large advances to the Claflin company recently, with the hope of averting financial embarrassment.

New York banking interests, it is understood, have agreed to offer such assistance as may be necessary to some of the independent retail stores affected.

Interested merchants were closeted with J. P. Morgan and other prominent bankers day and night for the last week in an attempt to avert the failure. It is understood that $30,000,000 was necessary.

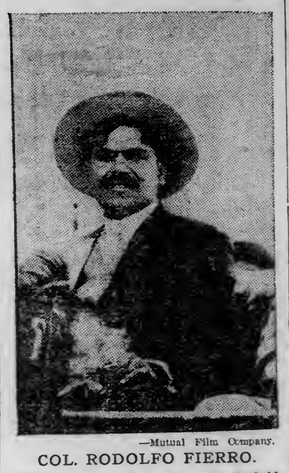

Morgan "Most Generous."

"Mr. Morgan and others were most generous," said one who participated in the conferences, "but it was a question of raising the whole amount or none at all.

Joseph B. Martindale, president of the Chemical National bank, and Frederick A. Juilliard, a wholesale dry

GRONNA AND HANNA WIN

Named By North Dakota G. O. P. for Senator and Governor.

Hellstrom Apparently Is Chosen to Head Democratic Ticket.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator A. J. Gronna and Governor L. B. Hanna were renominated on the Republican ticket by safe pluralities, according to incomplete returns today from yesterday's state-wide primary election.

Gronna may have about 10,000 plurality. Hanna's lead appears to be 2,000 to 3,500.

J. H. Wishek, resubmission candidate, has polled 15,000 votes.

There were no contests in the Progressive and Socialist parties.

Returns on the Democratic vote are more meager, but indicate Hellstrom named for governor over Knudson and Purcell for senator over Jones. Cogin is leading Bartholomew for the congressional nomination in the First district and there was no contest in the other two districts.

For Republican congressional nominations Helgesen won unopposed in the First. The race in the Second is close with odds favoring the nomination of Young by 1,200. Norton seems to have been defeated in the Third by Simpson.

EDITORS ARE TO VISIT BAUDETTE

Governor and Other State Officials Expected for Press Outing.

Baudette, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Eberhart, State Auditor Iverson, Immigration Commissioner Sherman and other prominent men are expected at Baudette and Spooner next month at the annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, according to a letter received this week from Secretary Rutledge. The visitors will arrive at International Falls July 17, and after viewing the big paper mill will leave for Baudette and Spooner on a special train at 3:30, arriving in time for supper. The following morning they will board the steamer Kenora for a trip to the Lake of the Woods. They will return some time on Sunday and leave on their special in the afternoon. The visitors from the West will come on the regular trains.

CAILLAUX TRIAL AT MAMERS IS ON.

Mamers, France, June 25.—The trial of charges of corruption during recent elections made against Josepn Caillaux, the mayor, and seventeen councillors of La Ferte Bernard by three supporters of M. Caillaux's opponent, Fernand D'Ailleres, began in the correctional court here yestrday.

M. Caillaux was protected by parliamentary immunity and the suit against him was dismissed until the permission of the chamber of deputies to prosecute him was obtained.

The court then accepted a cross-suit on the same charges made by M. Caillaux against M. D'Ailleres. The latter's counsel refused to plead on the ground that if M. Caillaux could not be prosecuted, he ought not be prmitted to prosecute.

The court will give judgment in the case of the mayor and councillors on July 8.

WILL GIVE OUT ALL THE CORRESPONDENCE

Uncle Sam and Japan Will Publish It Simultaneously.

Washington, June 25.—By mutual arrangement between Secretary Bryan and Ambassador Chinda, the correspondence between the United States and Japan over the California anti-alien land law is to be published in both countries simultaneously tomorrow morning.

The correspondence begins with the Japanese protest of May, 1913, in advance of the enactment of the Webb law, and winds up with the last American note, of yesterday's date, making answer to a communication from the Japanese government received ten months ago.

Is Voluminous.

The correspondence is necessarily voluminous for the reason that it is largely argumentative; the Japanese government endeavoring to show that the California law is a violation of the existing treaty, while the American side of the case lays great stress upon certain language of the treaty which apparently almost in terms excludes Japanese from the right to hold agricultural lands.

Taken in connection with the declaration of the Webb act, that it is not intended to invalidate existing treaties, the American contention seeks to justify the president for declining to attack the constitutionality of the California law.

Last Note an Afterthought.

The last American note was an afterthought. State department officials had concluded that the Japanese note of last August brought the negotiations to a close; that each side had reached a radical disagreement as to the scope of the treaty and the California law. They felt that the only way to clear away the difference would be through a legal test of the constitutionality of the California legislation, and they inclined to the belief that it remained for the Japanese government to make this test through a suit instituted by a Japanese resident of California.

POLITICS THE FIRST CARE OF ROOSEVELT ON HIS RETURN HOME

Colonel Plunges Into Affairs—Takes Up the Whitman Case.

Declares He Never Felt Better, But Admits Throat Trouble.

Wilson's Mexican and Colombian Policies Draw Broadsides.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 25.—Col. Roosevelt plunged today into what he expects to be the hardest political campaign he has ever undertaken.

Nine hours after he stepped on shore at Oyster Bay, following his midnight trip from New York harbor, he was back in his library at Sagamore Hill, starting the machinery. His secretary came from New York last night to be on hand early in the day, and at 10 o'clock Col. Roosevelt was dictating letters and telegrams at full speed.

The question whether Col. Roosevelt is in fit condition physically for a hard speech-making campaign, which recently, has caused so much concern to Progressive leaders, gave the colonel no worry at all.

"Never Felt Better.

"I never felt better in my life," he said.

He added, however, that his throat had been giving him some trouble, and here lies the chief danger of being incapacitated for the campaign. He intends to make fewer speeches in each state than in former years, but to adhere to his plan of covering the country from coast to coast.

There is a marked change in Col. Roosevelt's appearance from the time he set sail for Europe on May 30. He gained in weight during his absence, and his face is rounder and more ruddy, but he still is far from possessing the strength and vigor to which he was accustomed in former years. He finds that long hours of hard work tire him.

He felt confident today that during the month of July and August, most of which he expects to spend at home, he will be able to recover com-

EGYPTIAN AFFINITY YIELDED TO TANGO

St. Louis, Mo., June 25.—Ralph Chessley Ott, formerly an artist at $10,000 a year for the E. G. Lewis Publishing company, was granted a divorce from Jane Schaufert Ott and given custody of their two little daughters.

Ott's allegation was desertion. He testified that his wife is with the Vernon Castle troupe, exponents of the tango, and has a Brazilian as a dancing partner. She appeared in St. Louis in May.

Ott met Miss Schaufert when she posed as a model for him. They gave out interviews after their marriage saying they had been affinities since the days of ancient Egypt. Ott was a poor artisan in love with her in those ancient Egyptian days, when she was the Princess Amneris, they announced.

SUFFRAGETTES FIRE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Sexton Saves Ballylessen Structure From Destruction.

Belfast, Ireland, June 25.—An "arson squad" of suffragettes caused extensive damage to the Episcopal church at Ballylessen, near here, early today. The destruction of the entire church was averted only by the timely arrival of the sexton, who succeeded in extinguishing the blaze. He found quantities of burning petroleum, fire lighters, grease and cotton and wool littered around. The woodwork of the building had been thoroughly drenched with petroleum.

TEACHER, AGED 35, IS BRIDE OF MAN OF 83.

Pawtucket, R. I., June 25.—Miss Luna M. Thomas, 35 years old, graduate of Pembroke, Brown university, class of 1901, now a teacher of Germanic languages in the Chicago high schools, became the bride of Otis M. Smith, a wealthy farmer of Cumberland, who is 83 years old.

The bride is the daughter of Albert C. and Emma E. Thomas of Attleboro, Mass. Graduating from Attleboro high school, she entered the Woman's college at Brown university. Before going to Chicago about eight years ago she taught in Medway, Mass. She spent her summers at the Smith farm.

Aitkin, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Enberg, a clerk in the Tucker-McGregor store here, was horribly burned this morning. While he was mixing his glue with naptha the vessel exploded, throwing the burning fluid over the young man, who rushed through the building with his clothing in flames before he could be reached by others in the store at the time. He was removed to his home and lies in a critical condition. He was married only a few weeks ago to Miss Olander of Aitkin.

BJORNSON BIG CHIEF IN G. O. P.

Minneota Man Chairman of State Central Committee.

Martin O'Brien Refuses to Remain as Democratic Chairman.

St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. B. Bjornson, Minneota, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

Clarence W. Halbert, St. Paul, chairman of the Progressive state central committee.

T. E. Latimer, Minneapolis, chairman of the Socialist state central committee.

The above is the net result of the deliberations of the nominees of political parties who met at the state capital at noon today as required under the state primary law. The parties represented were Republican, Democratic, Socialist and Progressive. The Prohibition nominees did not gather.

No Action by Democrats.

No action was taken by the Democratic nominees, because of the refusal of Martin O'Brien to accept the chairmanship. Shortly before the Democratic nominees gathered, he mailed W. S. Hammond, the gubernatorial candidate, a letter in which he said that for business reasons he could not accept the chairmanship.

James Larson, assistant secretary of state, called the Democratic nominees together promptly at noon. D. M. Andrist of Minneapolis was named president of the gathering, and Carlos Avery of Hutchinson, secretary.

The refusal of Martin O'Brien to accept the chairmanship put the gathering in a quandary, and after organizing an adjournment was taken to decide on a man. At a late hour no decision had been reached.

Suggestion By Scott.

W. S. Scott, in a brief talk proposed a state central committee composed of five members from Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties, one from each of the other counties, and one from each of the congressional districts. This was agreed to.

The Republican nominees early disposed of their organization by permitting W. E. Lee, the nominee, to name the officers and practically all of the executive committee. This courtesy was granted on motion of I. A. Caswell, clerk of the supreme court.

Mr. Lee accordingly named G. B. Bjornson as chairman, W. O. Clure as secretary and G. H. Selover as treasurer.

On the executive committee he named T. H. Salmon of Minneapolis; Fred Carpenter, also of Minneapolis, and Lewis Drill and F. D. Sherman of St. Paul. These four members, together with the chairman, the secretary and the treasurer, constitute the executive committee.

The committee-at-large was named by agreement between Mr. Lee and the other nominees.

It is as follows: E. T. Young, St. Paul; G. Halverson, Thief River Falls;

Mediators Are Happy Over Prospects of Successful Issue.

Have Been Assured Agents of Rival Chiefs Will Meet.

Zacatecas, Mex., June 24.—(Delayed in transmission over Military Wires)—The fiercest fighting on both sides, and an unusually high loss of life to both Federals and Constitutionalists, ended last night in the capture of Zacatecas by Gen. Villa's forces.

It required four days of battle to take the Federal stronghold of Central Mexico. The Federals, under Gen. Medina Barron, defended their positions stubbornly, but they finally were overcome by the forces of Gen. Villa and Gen. Natera.

The Constitutionalist soldiers scaled hill after hill and mountain after mountain, killing and wounding thousands of Federals and sustaining heavy losses themselves. So far it has been impossible to secure an accurate estimate of losses on both sides.

Gen. Rodriguez Killed.

The heaps of dead on the mountainsides and in the city bore mute testimony of the ferocity of the fighting. Gen. Villa was in the van of the attacking party. Four members of his staff accompanying him were wounded. The number of Constitutionalist officers killed or wounded was unusually great. Gen. Trinidad Rodriguez, one of the best of Villa's brigade commanders, was shot through the throat and died.

The Constitutionalists in many cases had to advance on hands and knees, as those below on the steep inclines passed the rifles from hand to hand. These feats were accomplished under heavy machine gun fire. Nothing seemed to lessen the determination of Villa's troops, though the Federals had thrown up trenches and redoubts on all sides. Hillsides afforded no cover for the attacking troops.

Villa's Own Account.

Gen. Villa himself gave the following account of the battle:

"After four days' hard attacks, today was the decisive one. The enemy, numbering 14,000, commanded by Medina Barron and five other generals, was defeated completly by my forces, which were aided effectively by Gen. Natera's men. Up to this moment we have 6,000 prisoners, 12 cannon, 9 trains, 2 carloads of rifle ammunition and cannon shells and nearly 6,000 Mauser rifles and a large quantity of provisions and other munitions of war.

"The enemy who escaped went in the direction of Aguas Calientes after dynamiting the postoffice, the state treasurer's office and the stamp revnue office buildings. The explosions killed many of our men and destroyed part of the city. The dead of the enemy number about 4,000 and 2,000 wounded.

Thinks He Lost 500.

"On our part we cannot tell the losses of the battle, which lasted for five consecutive days, but I think there are not more than 500 dead and 800 wounded. Among the latter are Gens. Herrera and Rodriguez, who were severely wounded. Our artillery operated splendidly. The shots destroyed every fort, the last being El Grillo."

BECKER IS WRITING BOOK IN DEATH CELL

Ossining, N. Y., June 25.—Charles Becker, the convicted murderer of Herman Rosenthal, has moved his belongings from the top tier of cells to the main floor of the death house at Sing Sing prison, and today began writing a book on his experiences as a New York policeman. The execution of Peter Rebaco on Monday left vacant the second largest cell in the death house, and Becker was permitted to occupy it. The cell he occupied during his previous stay in Sing Sing, known as the "lucky cell," may not be vacated for several months.

BREEDERS IN CONVENTION

Minnesota Livestock Association Opens Sessions at Commercial Club.

Noted Authorities Taking Part in Program—Prof. Boss Enthusiastic.

The second annual agricultural festival at Duluth of the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders' association and the Guernsey Breeders' Association of Northern Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota opened for a two-day session at the Commercial club this morning. Delegates from all parts of the Northwest were present.

There were many noted agricultural experts present, both from St. Louis county and from outside points. Among the outside authorities were: Hugh J. Hughes of The Farm, Stock and Home; Prof. H. R. Smith of the college of agriculture, University of Minnesota; John R. Irwin of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders' association; Prof. Andrew Boss, head of the agronomy and farm management department University farm, St. Paul; C. W. Glotfelter, Waterville, Minn., president of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association. Others present were from as far south as Southern Wisconsin and as far north as Canada.

The morning program opened shortly after 9 o'clock this morning with an address of welcome by C. P. Craig. Mr. Craig was most happy in his remarks and was given a very hearty round of applause from his audience, the members of which he placed completely at their ease. The reply of John B. Irwin of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders' association, was fully up to the standard of Mr. Craig's speech, and the exchange of felicitations created an atmosphere which greatly aided the rest of the morning program.

Aged Expert Absent.

Much regret was felt that Henry Wallace of Des Moines, Iowa, editor of Wallace's Farmer, who was to have been the first speaker, could not come. Mr. Wallace, who is an authority on farm matters and cattle raising, was to have spoken on "Land and Live stock," but, owing to the fact that he is of advanced age, and has just returned to his home, tired out after a trip across the continent, he had to notify Mr. Craig that he could not attend. His son, D. A. Wallace of The Farmer, St. Paul, was also unable to be present. The subject "Land and Livestock" was ably handled by Prof. H. R. Smith, secretary of the association. Following this was a most interesting talk on "Seeding and Pasturing Cut-over Land" by C. W. Glotfelter of Waterville, Minn., president of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association. Much discussion followed this address.

One of the most interesting speeches of the day was that by Prof. Andrew Boss, head of the division of agronomy and farm management of the university farm, St. Paul. His subject was "The Making of a Farm" and he took for illustration the development of the state's experimental farm just outside of Duluth. He told of the clearing of the land and the methods used, and of what can be grown on it. He said that on three five-acre tracts of land different methods of removing the stumps is being used to determine which method is the cheapest. On one tract the stumps are being blown out with heavy charges of dynamite, so that they are blown to atoms; on another tract just enough dynamite is being used to crack the stump and make it easier for the stump-puller; on the third tract the stump-puller alone is used. On a fourth tract of five acres, nothing will be done for five years and on that it will be ascertained what the cost of stump removing will be at the expiration of that length of time. As to what can be grown in this part of the state, Prof. Boss said:

Anything Can Be Grown.

"Anything can be grown here. Stuff can be grown in this part of the state that could not be grown in the southern part where the ground seems to be prepared for the settler, and this land can grow anything that that land can. The stumpage and the draining of this land are the two things which the settler must combat. I believe that the two things which the settler here must possess for success are patience and the dairy cow."

Prof. Boss said that the settler must provide himself with cattle, pigs and hens; that in a country of this kind, they are the natural things that give the quickest and most effective profit and a living income. He spoke about the pasturing which this country affords and illustrated it by the condition which exists at the state farm. There are ten horses and twelve to fifteen cows, which have been fed on hay raised on the farm all winter. Prof. Boss said that even with that drag in sight, Mark Thompson told him this morning that he would have to sell some of the hay or buy more stock.

Prof. Boss was quite enthusiastic about this part of the country as a farming and dairy section, but laid particular emphasis on the latter, saying that grain should be grown only for fodder for the stock, because the dairying would pay so much better and that this section is a naturally wonderful dairy country.

At 6:15 this evening a dinner and reception will be given the visitors at the club, and it is expected that it will be largely attended by Duluth business men. At this gathering some of the most noted speakers in the country on agricultural and cattle subjects will speak. Tomorrow the convention of the Guernsey Breeders' Association of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin will take place at the Jean du Luth farm, and those who are attending the livestock breeders' convention will remain over for that of tomorrow.

The program for this afternoon, the session opening at 1:30 o'clock, began with C. A. Nelson of Waverly, Iowa, who spoke on "The Dairy Cow and Agricultural Devlopment," and other addresses were made by A. J. Glover, Fort Atkinson, Wis., editor of Hoard's Dairyman, who spoke on "Uniformity in Dairy Types,' and by Joseph E. Wing, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, who is a special writer for The Breeders' Gazette. His topic was "Sheep Raising."

Superior

CONTRACTOR ON "UNFAIR" LIST

Union Members Refuse to Work on Normal School.

Contractor R. B. Hartmann, in charge of the construction of the Superior normal, and the normal school regents were placed on the "unfair" list by a resolution adopted by the Superior Building Trades' union held at Labor hall at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A resolution declaring them unfair to organized labor and recommending that no union men work on normal school buildings or for the contractor, was adopted.

Pursuant to this resolution all the union carpenters, stone masons and others who were employed on the building refused to go to work this morning. Steam fitters and plumbers who were to have gone to work this morning also refused to begin.

The construction work of the normal school building is now almost entirely tied up. No employes except unskilled laborers are working on the job. Superior people are of the opinion that unless some radical action is taken at once, the building will not be completed this year. Business men and residents intend asking the board of regents to take some step at once to settle the difficulties between the contractor and the men.

Fire in Elevator.

Fire was discovered at the Globe elevator No. 1 shortly after 6:30 o'clock last evening and only the quick work on the part of the department in responding to the call saved it from destruction. The loss is estimated at $2,000. The sprinkling system held the flames in check until the arrival of the department. The fire is believed to have been caused by friction caused by the machinery.

Not Permitted to Secede.

Allouez and the Tenth ward will be unable to seecde from Superior, according to an opinion given the citizens' committee by prominent attorneys who have been looking up the subject. The consent to secede will have to be given by the city commissioners, according to the charter. Residents intend to ask the state legislature to grant this power to the district.

Must Pay for Pavement.

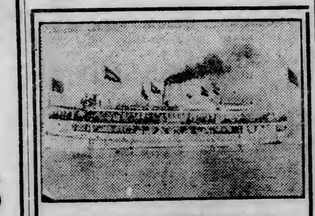

Judge Frank Ross of the superior court yesterday afternoon handed down a decision in the contest of property owners on Belknap street in which they contested the assessment for the paving of the street. The decision was to the effect that the assessment was valid. The property owners contested the payment on the grounds that the paving was not up to specifications. The paving was laid by P. McDonnell three years ago.

Burglar Gets Clothing.

The home of W. W. Sims, 1625 Weeks avenue, was entered yesterday by a sneak thief and a quantity of clothing and other articles taken. The police are said to be in possession of a good description of the man and hope to catch him before night.

FORTY-ACRE FARM ENOUGH

That Is Ideal Unit Here, Says Hugh J. Hughes.

Minnesota Is Excellent Cattle Country, Says H. R. Smith.

Hugh J. Hughes, editor of the Farm, Stock and Home, a Minneapolis publication devoted to the interests of agriculture, is a firm beliver in the agricultural future of this part of the state. Mr. Hughes is here attending the meeting of the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders' association.

"In the course of time," said Mr. Hughes, "this part of the state will be agriculturally more properous and will produce more per acre than the farms of the southern part of Minnesota. The small farm is the ideal method of farming this part of the state.

"Let's get away from the idea that large farms are needed, or, in fact are practical. A farm is worth no more than it can make. One man can take care of about twelve cows. Let this be the unit of his labor. A farm of forty acres is the manufacturing plant needed to produce for these animals. If the man has more animals and cannot produce enough for them, he is either compelled to neglect his live stock or ship food in, and that is not an economically wise plan.

"For instance, if a man has 160 acres and has but forty under cultivation, he has 120 acres lying idle and he is, moreover, keeping perhaps one or two of three settlers out of the community. He regards those 120 acres as an asset; where as a matter of economical fact they are liabilities. He perhaps figures that he is holding them for his boys. But by carrying the burden of these untilled acres and neglecting his tilled farm as a consequence, he is rearing conditions that are in the end going to send his sons from his farm.

Rich Soil Here.

"You have rich soil here. You have all the roughage for stock raising. It is not necessary to have large farms in this section of Minnesota. If forty acres will show a profit, then the forty-acre farm is the ideal farm for this section of the state. In some states, where the production per acre is very low, I would want a 200-acre farm to make a living. Here the conditions are different; the small farm is the great solution of the agricultural future.

"Farmers coming from worse conditions to the farming conditions of this section of the state are going to solve the agricultural problem. That is one of the reasons why the Finns are making excellent farmers. Some of the farmers from Iowa and Illinois are not finding the farming here so much to their liking.

"The future is going to bring you more farms and more farmers in proportion to the area of this section of the state than are to be found in the southern section of Minnesota. In the end this will be a more prosperous farming community. There are a few sections of the state not adapted to farming. These will be taken care of in the evolution of business. Because of the keen interest and rare intelligence displayed by your agricultural committee of the Duluth Commercial club, and men like L. B. Arnold, settlers are not being sent to sections of Northeastern Minnesota that are not fitted for farming. That is one of the reasons why the work of the Commercial club and of some of your leading men cannot possibly be computed in dollars and cents."

Good Cattle Country.

H. R. Smith, professor of animal husbandry of the Minnesota State Agricultural college, today stated that Northeastern Minnesota was not only ideally fitted for the raising of dairy cattle and the carrying on of the dairying industry, but that also it was well suited to the raising of sheep and beef cattle.

"The grass grows here so plentifully that you can turn the cattle and sheep out among the stumps and rocks," said Professor Smith. "Stumps and rocks will not interfere in the least with the grazing of cattle. It is my idea that instead of trying to remove all of the stumps from the cut-over lands, that the cattle and sheep be turned onto the land and the stumps be allowed to rot.

"There is a great profit in the raising of beef cattle right now. There is a scarcity of beef products and the price is high. This is caused by the decrease in the raising of cattle and the increase in the population of the country. Beef raising here would prove exceedingly profitable.

"This section of the state, from what I have seen of it, has a great agricultural future and is about the ideal district for stock raising."

POLICEMEN HOLD REVOLVER PRACTICE

The police are today holding their first revolver shoot of the year at the foot of Third avenue east.

This morning the night officers competed, each man being allowed ten shots, with a possible perfect score of 50. The best record this morning was made by Lieut. Barber, who scored a total of 46, while Patrolmen Peterson and Nyberg each got 43 points.

The record made by each officer follows:

Lieut. Barber	46
Peterson	43
Nyberg	43
P. Barber	42
Stahl	38
D. Olson	38
Monahan	37
Harling	33
Connors	33
Krenger	31
Sergeant Butchart	27
A. Johnson	27
J. Woods	24
Lieut. Wilcox	21
Boland	16

The last regular target practice was held in October. These shoots are held every Thursday morning and afternoon for the purpose of making the officers skillful in the use of the revolver.

Stops Stomach Pains
In Two Minutes.

The recent discovery by a leading specialist that pure bisurated magnesia will almost instantly relieve pains in the stomach resulting from indigestion, dyspepsia or acidity, is of the greatest importance to thousands of people suffering from various forms of stomach trouble. As is well known, nine-tenths of all the stomach disorders are directly traceable to stomach acidity. One to two teaspoonfuls taken in a little water after meals not only neutralizes the acid and stops the pain but quickly overcomes the cause of the trouble, soothes the inflamed lining of the stomach and in a short time will correct the cause. Be sure to ask your druggist to supply you with bisurated magnesia.—Advertisement.

UNION MEN WILL GATHER

Fully 500 Delegates Expected to Attend State Convention.

Gompers Invited—Report on Convict Labor Will Be Submitted.

Fully 500 delegates are expected in Duluth July 20-22 to attend the annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Labor. Local labor men have practically completed the program and 300 delegates have already been assured. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation, has been invited to give an address, and the presidents of the Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and North Dakota federations will attend.

One of the most important matters coming before the meeting will be the report of the committee on convict labor. At last year's meeting the convention appointed a committee of ten members with Gust Elmquist of St. Paul, chairman, and George W. Lawson of the same city, secretary, to draw up a report setting forth the views of organized labor on this question.

William E. McEwen of this city, who has attended some of the sessions of the committee, says that the contract system will be condemned and an effort will be made to have convicts put to work on the highways and in clearing state lands. For those who are unable to do this work it will be urged that they be employed in manufacturing work.

Organized labor, says Mr. McEwen, is opposed to having convicts employed in making twine for the reason that such experience is of no value to the worker as most of the outside twine plants have been closed due to prison competition. The committee will recommend that convicts be employed at such work that the experience obtained will be of practical value after the prisoner has been released.

Legislative Program.

Another important matter will be the formulation of a legislative program in which the workman's compensation act will be the central topic of consideration. The following recommendations for changes in the law will be made: To change the methods of administration wherever they have been found deficient; increasing the amounts of compensation wherever it has been found too small, the rates paid under the New York law being used as a model; to raise the compensation for death liability from $3,000 to $4,500; to increase the liability for permanent disability from $4,000 to $6,000.

An organization will also be effected to make an educational campaign among voters in behalf of the amendments for referendum and recall. An effort will be made to secure as large a vote as possible on these proposed amendments.

More Supreme Judges.

It is also planned to work in behalf of a larger supreme court, raising the numebr of judges from five to seven, and to make a five-sevenths vote necessary to declare a law unconstitutional.

An advertising campaign is now being pushed to make the Duluth convention the biggest ever held in the state by the federation. Huge posters are being prepared and will be posted all over the state announcing the features of the program.

The program is almost complete. During the forenoon of the opening session the meeting will be organized, and during the afternoon the delegates will be taken for river and harbor trips. In the evening reports and speeches will be heard.

On Tuesday there will be sessions from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Following the afternoon session there will be a drive over the boulevard and a banquet will be held in the evening.

CORNELL PICKED AS THE FAVORITE

Columbia Is Second Choice for the Poughkeepsie Regatta.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 25.—The hundred and twenty bronzed backed oarsmen, representing Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Washington and Wisconsin rested today ready for tomorrow's annual intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson, the Blue ribbon event of American college rowing. From every one of the six training camps along the west shore came word today that the crews are fit.

The last of the hard practice was completed at sundown yesterday and only enough work to keep the men in condition will be done between now and the time the crews are put on the line tomorrow afternoon.

Experts who have been watching the crews in training pick Cornell as the favorite and Columbia as second. Columbia has an excellent varsity, but it does not go along with that smoothness and rhythm that characterizes the Cornell oarsmen. There is also considerable doubt as to the ability of the Columbia eight to go the four miles. It is a fast three-mile crew, after which it lags. Not so with the Cornell senior crew. This was demonstrated the other night when Courtney's varsity crew rowed a hard four miles and clocked off the last half mile in 2:14.

All five freshmen crews have been doing good work, and the four junior crews have shown considerable speed, but again the Ithacans are in favor in these events.

The Syracuse and Pennsylvania freshman and junior eights have exhibited great speed and excellent watermanship. The Wisconsin freshmen also are a factor that must be reckoned with and in this crew Coach Vail has great confidence.

JOHNSON BELIEVES HE WILL WIN BY KNOCKOUT

Paris, June 25.—Jack Johnson, the colored American pugilist, firmly believes his fight on Saturday with Frank Moran of Pittsburg will not last longer than twelve rounds and that at the end of the bout he will still be champion. Johnson said this today while he was doing his last day's real training for the encounter. His work tomorrow will be light and on Saturday he intends to rest.

Moran rose early today and with several companions took a long brisk walk, varied by sprints, on the banks of the Olee near his headquarters at Meziel. In the afternoon he boxed with several sparring partners including Tom Kennedy, in whom he finds a sturdy opponent. A number of Americans who intend to be present at the fight called at the Moran quarters today.

CONTESTED CLAIMS WILL BE HEARD

Hearings on a number of contested claims under the workmen's compensation law which have been pending for several weeks will be conducted in the district court tomorrow.

One of the contest claims to be heard will be that of Joe Tuden against the Colvin Robb Lumber company. Tuden claims that he froze one side of his face and head last January while working on the company's ice roads near Fairbanks. As a result, he lost the sight of one of his eyes, he says. The company denies any liability in the matter. Tuden is seeking about $1,800 compensation.

Another claim which will be heard will be that of Charles De Cook against the Duluth Brewing & Malting company. De Cook also lost the sight of one eye while working in the plant of the company at Twenty-ninth avenue west and Helm street last November. De Cook was trying to fashion some device out of a copper cartridge which he supposed had been discharged. It exploded and destroyed his eyesight.

THREATEN TO KILL MOYER

Butte Men Say He Must Not Return There.

First Shots in Fight Fired From His Hiding Place.

Butte, Mont., June 25.—The announcement in Helena last night of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners that he intended to return to Butte caused a sensation here today when citizens read the interview. Men connected with proposed vigilantes openly said that if Moyer should return to Butte without protection his life would be in danger.

They said if Moyer appeared here or attempted to assert the jurisdiction of the Western Federation of Miners, certain men connected with the insurgents of the old union would again resort to armed resistance.

The viligantes as contemplated will protect their homes and property and will take measures to have the city administration resign.

State Aid Rejected.

Governor Stewart offered state aid in bringing about peace here in a telegram last night to President McDonald of the new miners' union. The message follows:

"The state administration stands ready to assist in bringing about peace and harmony between the different factions of the miners in the Butte district. Can we aid in preparing plans for arbitration or in any other manner? We will be glad to confer with you or your representatives and will cheerfully assist you in any solution of the difficulties, if it is within our power."

President McDonald replied as follows:

"Thanks. We need no assistance. Disturbing element gone from here. Whole thing caused by Moyer and men who shot from hall. Will keep you posted."

Who Started Shooting?

The peace committee of the insurgent miners issued a statement last night exonerating the sheriff and his deputies from firing shots in Tuesday night's battle in front of the Union hall. Newspaper men on the scene agreed with the peace committee that the first shot came from the hall, and no deputy sheriff was in the building.

Here Is a Quick Way to Get Rid of Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Electric treatments are not longer necessary to banish hairy growths, for a paste made by mixing a little powdered delatone with water and spread on the hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rubbed off, takes with it every trace of hair. After this treatment the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. This is entirely harmless and is unfailing, but to avoid disappointment, be sure that it is delatone you get.—Advertisement.

HEIRS WILL GET $1,352.

Final Settlement in Sporcic Case Is Ordered.

R. C. Pickering, administrator of the estate of Mike Sporcic, who was killed in an accident in the Fort Henry mine at Virginia on Dec. 6, 1912, was this morning discharged by Federal Judge Page Morris in an order for distribution issued by the court.

In a suit for damages filed by Mr. Pickering against the Fort Henry Mining company for the death of Sporcic, the plaintiff obtained $2,000 as a settlement. Of this amount the funeral expenses and the fees for attorneys were paid and an itemized statement was prepared for the court by Mr. Pickering.

Judge Morris in his order declares that the disbursements have all been paid and the balance of $1,352.30 be sent to the heirs of Sporcic, consisting of a widow and one daughter, the former to receive one-third and the latter, two-thirds of the estate.

CHINESE CITY OF 60,000 IS SACKED.

London, June 25.—An Exchange Telegraph company's dispatch from Shanghai says that Kaigan, 125 miles northwest of Pekin, was sacked last night. The dispatch adds that the foreigners in the city were not harmed, but gives no details.

Kalgan is an important commercial city of more than 60,000 inhabitants situated on the caravan route to Siberia and near the Great Wall.

LUMBER CARGO SLIPS INTO HARBOR

Schooner Norris Loses Deckload of Timber While Getting Into Tow.

The schooner Alice B. Norris, while swinging into tow behind the steamer J. P. Curtis of the Hines' Lumber company's fleet, lost a deckload of timber in the harbor last night.

Both vessels had cleared the Virginia & Rainy Lake company's dock for the trip down the lake with lumber cargoes. Three tugs secured the lumber and towed it back to the dock.

More than 500,000 bushels of grain cleared the elevators during the day, and another small cargo went out this morning. The steamer J. K. Dimmick took on 245,000 bushels of spring wheat and the J. J. H. Brown was loaded with 70,000 bushels of bonded wheat and 140,000 bushels of bonded oats.

The steamer Allegheny was loading 25,000 bushels of barley, 50,000 bushels of rye, 25,000 bushels of corn, and 25,000 bushels of spring wheat. Stocks of wheat, despite fairly heavy receipts, now aggregate but about 1,750,000 bushels, according to reports from the different houses.

CALDERA MASTER LOSES LICENSE

Collision Also Costs First Mate Thirty Days' Suspension.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 25.—Revocation of the license of Capt. George H. Burnham, Toledo, master of the steamer Caldera, and suspension for thirty days of the license of William A. Henry, first mate of the same steamer, are the penalties imposed by the United States local inspectors of steam vessels at Port Huron, following their investigation of the sinking of the steel steamer W. H. Gilbert, after collision with the Caldera in a fog, shortly after 6 a. m. the morning of May 22, about fifteen miles southeast of Thunder Bay island, Lake Huron.

In reporting their action to Capt. C. H. Westcott, United States supervising inspector of the Eighth district, Capt. H. C. McCallum and Frank Van Llew, Port Huron inspectors, state Capt. Burnham was found guilty of violation of Nos. II and XIV of the pilot rules. Revocation of his license as master and first class pilot is effective from June 18.

CHANNEL BUOYS TO MARK CUT-OFF.

Major E. D. Peek, chief of the U. S. engineering corps at the Head of the Lakes, announces that the cut-off leading from the main channel off the Carnegie coal dock No. 2, to which it joins the river to the south of Big Island has been marked by channel buoys. These are placed in not less than seven feet of water. A flag buoy has been placed at the turn at the west end of the market channel on the west bank in seven and one-half feet of water. The cut-off will save one and one-quarter miles in distance in making the river trip.

WILL COMPLETE CANAL IN 1916.

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—The completion of the new canal and locks to supplant the present Welland canal is set for the summer of 1916, according to information received here. Work has begun on all sections except two and it has not yet been necessary for the Dominion to let the contracts on them.

The locks will be the largest ever built to connect inland waters, according to Canadian engineers, and they will be rushed to completion with all possible dispatch. The engineers predict that before the canal is completed or soon after it will be deepened from 30 to 35 feet to comply with the lake to ocean waterway plan now under advisement.

The bottom of the canal is to be so constructed that it can readily be deepened.

DETROIT WATER SUPPLY POLLUTED

Lake Carriers' Head Issues Drastic Order to Affect Vesselmen.

Orders have just been issued by W. Livingstone, president of the Lake Carriers' association, to members of that association because of the report that the water supply of Detroit had been polluted by refuse being thrown into the water from vessels. Following is the president's order:

"The Detroit water board has presented the subject of the pollution of the drinking water of the city of Detroit to the consideration of the Lake Carriers' association and after several conferences has made a request which is believed to be eminently within its rights, and that is that no refuse shall be thrown overboard from vessels and that all toilets shall be closed within a reasonable distance of the intake of the city's water supply.

"The area which is bounded by a line drawn east and west four miles north of the present location of the Grosse Point lightship and a line drawn east and west from opposite the head of Belle Isle is regarded as reasonable; or, to define the area in another way, from the head of the Belle Isle to Lake St. Clair gas and bell buoy 20-A, which marks the former location of the Grosse Point lightship. While the vessels of the Association are within this area it is expected that all toilets will be closed and no refuse thrown overboard.

"It is understood that the passenger lines have given the Detroit water board assurance that they will respect the area defined above and therefore it is expected that no vessel enrolled in the association will pollute it.

"Masters should be instructed to observe this request."

NEW $2,000,000 COAL DOCK IS OPENED.

Toledo, Ohio, June 25.—Officials of the Hocking Valley railroad, including M. S. Conners, general manager, and John S. Welch, trainmaster, attended the formal opening of the company's big new coal docks on the Maumee river opposite the Pennsylvania docks. The new plant is said to have cost $2,000,000. The agreement between the Hocking Valley and the Pennsylvania as to dock privileges will expire on July 1. For a number of years the Hocking Valley has used the Pennsylvania docks and coal loading machinery.

Wharf Completed.

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—The Dominion government has completed the new 655-foot wharf at Windsor, at a cost of approximately $60,000, and has begun the erection of a reinforced cement warehouse on it at a cost of $10,000. The wharf is to be used both as a government pier and also for a municipal docking point. Windsor has had practically no public dock.

STOCK REGULATION BILL ORDERED OUT

Owen Measure Is Called Up to Surprise of Senators.

Washington, June 25.—Senator Owen's bill for Federal regulation of stock exchanges was ordered favorably reported today by the banking committee.

Senator Owen reported the bill to the senate without comment. Members of the committee not at the meeting were surprised at today's action.

There was a general impression the meeting had been called to take up nominations for the Federal reserve board. They were only incidentally discussed.

GET THROUGH RATES.

Duluth Shippers May Enter New Territory in the Southwest.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, has received notice that through freight rates have been granted from Duluth to all points on the Santa Fe road. This is the result of many months of agitation and labor on the part of Mr. Hall. Formerly the best that could be obtained from this point to Southern and Southwestern points was the combination of local rates, which made a total rate that was not only exorbitant but prohibitive. In view of the fact that Duluth is stretching out after business in the Southwest and that a good deal of stuff from that part of the country in the way of fruits is brought here, the through rate is important. The new schedule makes it possible for Duluth houses to compete in that territory.

ANOTHER WARSHIP IS SENT TO HAITI.

Washington, June 25.—The armored cruiser Washington late yesterday steamed from Vera Cruz for Port Au Prince to guard American interests and observe the battling between government and revolutionist forces in the troubled Haitien republic. Secretary Daniels said the cruiser had no orders to interfere with Haitien armies or custom houses, and that the action of the department in sending a vessel to the scene was not connected in any way with the reported demands of France and Germany upon the little republic for the payment of debts.

There are now four American warships, including the battleship South Carolina, around the coast of the Dominican republic, where conditions still are turbulent.

FORTUNE AWAITS MISSING MAN

A. Orsolini, Former Duluthian, Wanted By Relative in Italy.

Adriano Orsolini, who lived in Duluth in 1887, is wanted by his relatives in Italy, to whom a large fortune was recently left by a wealthy uncle residing in France.

The present whereabouts of Orsolini are unknown and he was last heard from by a brother in Italy on Aug. 21, 1887, when the missing man was at that time living in Duluth. His address was 211 West Superior street. In a letter to the police, Jerome Pastene, an attorney at Boston, who is representing the estate, asks for assistance in his efforts to locate Orsolini, who was named as one of the heirs of the fortune.

Local Italians who have resided here for about 30 years or so do not remember Orsolini, according to Capt. Fiskett, who made an investigation this morning.

YOUNG WOMAN DISAPPEARS

Margaret McGovern Last Seen Boarding Car for Chester Park.

Fails to Keep Appointment With Sister, Who Seeks Police Aid.

Last seen when she boarded a street car at Third avenue west last Tuesday noon for Chester Park, Miss Marie McGovern, a nurse at the Nopeming sanitarium, is missing and both Duluth and Superior are being searched in an effort to find some trace of the young woman.

The police are beginning to fear foul play.

The young woman is 25 years old. She had been ill the last winter and was still weak from the effects of her sickness.

Miss McGovern met her sister, Miss Margaret McGovern, a student at a local business college, at Third avenue west and Superior street, Tuesday noon. The former boarded an East Fourth car for Chester park, where the two girls were planning to spend the afternoon. Margaret returned to her boarding house for an umbrella. It was decided then that they would later meet at the park.

Margaret arrived at the park about an hour later, but she failed to locate her sister. She searched every corner of the park and late that night returned to her home. She thought that Marie had been taken ill and that she returned to the sanitarium. Yesterday morning Margaret went to school and in the afternoon decided to call up the sanitarium and learn if her sister was in good health. It was then that she discovered that Marie had not returned and that she was still missing. She reported the matter to the police and a search of both cities was made last evening.

Marie was still missing at noon today and her sister is becoming frantic. She is unable to account for Marie's continued absence and she again appealed to the police this morning. The two girls came to Duluth last winter from Detroit, Mich.

Margaret can be reached at the Y. W. C. A., she told the police this morning, in case any news of her missing sister is received.

POLITICS THE FIRST CARE OF ROOSEVELT ON HIS RETURN HOME

pletely from the enervating effects of the jungle fever, and that by the time he is ready to begin his long campaign trips he will have the strength for them.

Will He Back Whitman?

The first campaign problem taken up by Col. Roosevelt was the tangled New York situation. Last night he heard both sides of the question of indorsing District Attorney Charles S. Whitman as candidate for governor of New York, and refused to commit himself.

George W. Perkins, chairman of the Progressive national executive committee, Theodore Douglas Robinson, New York, state chairman, and most of the other New York leaders already are on record as in opposition to Mr. Whitman. Charles H. Duell, Jr., of New York, organizer of the non-partisan Whitman league, told the colonel that the situation was such that to refuse to indorse Mr. Whitman would be a calamitous mistake. Col. Roosevelt acted at once to settle the matter, by summoning to Sagamore Hill for a conference later today a group of New York state leaders.

No Longer Scientist.

Politics will be Mr. Roosevelt's chief pursuit for the next four months, according to his own statement made just before he retired early today after reaching his home at Sagamore Hill.

"My career as geographer ended tonight," he declared. "For the next four months I suppose I shall be a politician."

Col. Roosevelt appears to be in much better health than before he sailed for Europe. He said that he had never felt better, despite the fact that on the return voyage he suffered two severe chills.

Perkins Most Useful.

The colonel, following his arrival in New York harbor last night, in conversation and in a carefully prepared statement, touched on subjects of large interest in both national and Progressive politics. In his talk he spoke of the attempt to read George W. Perkins out of the Progressive party.

"Mr. Perkins has been, on the whole," he said, "the most useful member of the Progressive party."

After enumerating some of the things Mr. Perkins has done, the colonel said:

"As for reading him out of the party, when that is done they will have to read me out too."

Denounced Wilson Policies.

His prepared statement denounced the Colombian treaty with its proposed payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia because of the Panama canal as "the belated payment of blackmail, with an apology to the blackmailers," and said that the handling of our foreign affairs by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, "has been such as to make the United States a figure of fun in the international world."

Col. Roosevelt gave out a letter from Dr. Hamilton Rice, the explorer, in which he said he was mistaken when he questioned the discovery of the river of doubt.

If the proposed Colombia treaty is right, said the colonel, the presence of the United States in Panama is wrong and Panama should, therefore, be restored to Colombia, and the United States should abandon the zone.

The colonel then declared the United States "was in duty bound" to build the canal itself because it could not permit an Old World power to gain such a foothold in America, and would not allow the usefulness of the canal to be arrested because of the greed of private capital.

Betraying Honor.

Col. Roosevelt said that until the present treaty negotiations were entered into, he did not believe it possible that "an American administration would thus betray the honor and interest of the America people by submitting to blackmail." The colonel had made it plain, he said, that the Colombian government was in error, "when it indulged in such a supposition about my administration."

Col. Roosevelt says he has no quarrel with the people of Colombia, and does not question their "fine private qualities." "But, unfortunately, international affairs of the nation must be judged by the government that speaks for it."

Here Col. Roosevelt, in mentioning the proposal of the Colombian government to confiscate the property of the French government in Panama for which the United States had offered to pay $40,000,000, said it was "simply a scheme on the part of Colombia to get $40,000,000 from us."

As to the $40,000,000.

"Incidentally," he continued in his statement, "I would call the attention of the president and Secretary Bryan to the fact that this $40,000,000 represents the exact sum which Colombia lost when the United States government of that day refused to submit to blackmail. They now only propose to pay $25,000,000 blackmail. They had better make the job thorough while they are about it, and give the whole $40,000,000. Otherwise, they still will leave an opening for action by some future administration of similar attitude who have a chance to wrong us. There is no earthly reason why we should not throw in the extra $15,000,000 if we propose to pay the $25,000,000. Colombia has exactly as much right to one sum as the other.

Hypothetical Case.

"As president I declined to allow Uncle Sam to be blackmailed. President Wilson now desires the blackmail to be paid. His attitude can be illustrated by a hypothetical case. The present administration has, with regard to Mexico, pursued a course wavering between peace and war, exquisitely designed to combine the disadvantages of both, and feebly tending first toward one and then toward the other. Usually it has permitted the free ingress of arms into Mexico, both from this country and from others. Occasionally, however, it has undergone spasms of understanding that these arms might ultimately be used against our own troops.

"It has then prohibited the landing of arms, sometimes wabbling back again to its original position, as when it took Vera Cruz to prevent the landing of weapons and munitions of war, and shortly afterward permitted the very same arms and munitions to be landed.

"Well, if some future administration of similar views on international relations should offer Mexico $25,000,000 as an atonement for intermittently refusing to allow the landing of arms that might be used against our own people, it would be behaving precisely and exactly as President Wilson's administration is behaving about Colombia.

Defends Panama Policy.

"The conduct of the United States government throughout the entire proceedings which resulted in the acquisition of the canal was absolutely open and straightforward, absolutely in accordance with the principles of the highest international morality. Only by acting precisely as we did could we have secured the right to build the Panama canal. It is hypocrisy to claim credit for the canal and at the same time to attempt to discredit the course which alone rendered the canal possible. It will be a grave wrong to the republic, a reflection upon the honor of this nation in the past and a menace to its interests in the future, if this treaty for the belated payment of blackmail is ratified at Washington."

ZACATECAS CAPTURED

the entire northern part of Mexico, and much more than half of the republic's territory, in the hands of the Constitutionalists. It makes another stage in the race of three rival Constitutionalist leaders to Mexico City.

Gen. Villa, from Zacatecas, probably will move against Aguas Callentes, almost directly to the south, and where the remnants of the Zacatecas garrison retreated.

Gen. Pablo Gonzales, the eastern divisional commander who took Tampico, has been ordered to take San Luis Potosi, now weakened by an almost complete evacuation.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, commander of the army of the west, is about to attack Guadalajara. If successful, his troops would have even a clearer road to the national capital than those of Villa or Gonzales. Guadalajara, far to the south and next to Mexico City the largest city in Mexico, affords a roadway to the national capital through a rich country which easily could sustain a large army.

Outlook Best Yet.

Washington, June 25.—After a conference with Secretary Bryan, President Wilson authorized the statement today that the outlook in the Mexican situation was more promising than it had ever been before.

It was intimated by officials close to the president that his feeling was based on the signing of protocols at Niagara Falls last night and on the expectation that the internal affairs of Mexico would be satisfactorily adjusted between representatives of the Constitutionalists and the Huerta delegates.

A report was current today that Herbert J. Brown of Washington had been sent to Mexico by President Wilson to confer with Carranza, but there was no official confirmation.

Final Step for Mexicans.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 25.—Peace between the United States and Mexico rests today on a single condition—the establishment of a new provisional government along lines which will justify the world in according it recognition, a Mexican factions have given guaranty that they will exert every efforts to earn this reward.

Five weeks of the mediation conducted by Argentina, Brazil and Chile resulted in the completion last night of protocols agreeing that the diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico shall be restored and all the international difficulties considered settled when a new provisional government succeeds the Huerta administration.

Mediation Not Finished.

Upon the representatives of the two warring factions—the Constitutionalists and Huerta government—devolves the task now of selecting a provisional president and his cabinet to serve in the interim, while the country is being pacified and made ready for a general presidential election.

Mediation does not adjourn. The diplomats and the American delegates will lend their counsel and advice wherever possible to the delegates of the two factions as they meet in formal conference. They probably will hold their conferences here.

Definite assurance that the meeting will be held has been given the mediators by Constitutionalist representatives in Washington and the Huerta delegates.

When the two parties to Mexico's civil strife shall have adjusted the internal problem of their country, the mediation board will formally reconvenue and protocalize the result. A date will be fixed for formal recognition of the new government, and a period set within which the United States will withdraw its troops and ships from Vera Cruz. The mediation conference has discreetly left to the Mexican factions themselves the work of settling the internal problem of their country.

Seemed Near Collapse.

The situation was brought to its present status only after mediation many times had seemed ready to collapse. The exclusion of Constitutionalists from a voice in proceedings had alienated their interest, when later the American government announced that it would be useless to make any agreement on the internal problem of Mexico—its provisional president—unless the Constitutionalists approved.

President Wilson laid the situation before Minister Naon in Washington last Friday. The president, in effect, said that the Constitutionalists must have a share in the political destinies of the nation, as they had demonstrated their capabilities in their military successes and there could be no pacification without them. Accordingly there was devised a plan which was put into effect in just five days. The Huerta delegates and the American commissioners agreed upon all planks in the peace program but those relating to the personnel and organization of the new provisional government, and the time when American forces would be withdrawn from Vera Cruz and late last night the signatures of the two sets of delegates and the mediating plenipotentiaries were affixed to the protocols.

Some Breakers Ahead.

The mediators and delegates were happy today. They felt that a long stride toward internal peace in Mexico had been taken through the practical settlement of the international difference. While there are breakers ahead for the two Mexican delegations when they begin to discuss names for provisional president, there is confidence that the two sets of Mexicans will be influenced by the great responsibility which will be placed upon them. The success or failure of the entire peace program, international as well as internal, depends on the results of the meeting.

Should an agreement be reached between the two Mexican factions, it is believed an armistice will be declared immediately and details of the transition arranged without further bloodshed. That the Constitutionalist chief will assent is believed likely here, as Gen. Villa is understood to be in thorough sympathy with the conference.

Luis Cabrera, Jose Vasconcelos and Rafael Zubaran, now in Washington, are expected to arrive here within a few days to represent the Constitutionalists. The personnel of the delegation, however, may be changed when Fernando Iglesias Calderon and his party reach Washington from Saltillo.

H. B. CLAFLIN COMPANY IS GIVEN RECEIVERS IN TWO SUITS IN EQUITY

goods merchant, were the receivers appointed. They were named in the friendly proceedings—two suits in equity, one brought by John C. Eames, vice president of the H. B. Claflin company, the other by William P. Odell.

There were also involuntary proceedings which sought the appointment of different receivers and alleged that the company was insolvent. These proceedings were instituted by small creditors.

Insolvency Not Alleged.

"The petition in the Eames suit," said J. T. McGovern, attorney for these creditors, "alleges present inability to pay debts, but does not allege absolute insolvency. The answer of the company admits this present inability.

"Our petition, however, alleges absolute insolvency. In their answer they will probably deny that they are insolvent, but we will seek to have different receivers appointed to protect our clients, unless in the reorganization proceedings a satisfactory adjustment is made of their claims."

Receivers Martindale and Juilliard said that the failure was of such tremendous proportion that it would be several weeks before it would be possible to know where they stand.

Though the failure is perhaps the most important in the history of the dry goods trade in this country, New York bankers predict that the chief and perhaps the only patent general effect will be temporary demoralization in the dry goods trade.

In the Stock Market.

Announcement of the failure caused a general decline in the opening of the stock market, but losses were not heavy, and succeeding transactions caused a reaction to some extent. Influential banking interests said that in their opinion the retail houses in the Claflin control were financially sound. All were inclined to describe the crash, however, as the biggest mercantile disaster the country has ever known.

John Claflin has been associated with the dry goods business for more than forty years. He is regarded as the A. T. Stewart of his time. At the age of 20 he entered the employ of his father's firm, then known as H. B. Claflin & Co. Three years later he became a member of the firm, and in 1890 formed the corporation which went under today. He is a trustee of many charitable organizations.

The H. B. Claflin company (Inc.), of which John Claflin is president, was organized in 1890 to conduct a wholesale dry goods business. It is controlled by the Associated Merchants' company, which is in turn controlled by the United States Dry Goods companies.

Consolidated Interests.

The United Drygoods companies was incorporated under the laws of Delaware, May 21, 1909, to consolidate the drygoods interests of John Claflin in New York and other cities. The company acquired in exchange for $9,813,000 of its common stock, a like amount of the capital stock of the Associated Merchants company, giving it a majority, the latter already holding control of the following companies: The H. B. Claflin company, the James McCreery company, O'Neill Adams company, C. G. Gunther Sons, all of New York; J. N. Adams company of Buffalo, and Stewart & Co. of Baltimore.

The companies also bought outright from John Claflin the entire business of Hahne & Co. of Newark; Powers Mercantile company of Minneapolis; Hengerer company of Buffalo and the Stewart Drygoods company of Louisville, Ky. In June, 1910, control of Lord & Taylor of New York was acquired.

Officers of Concern.

The officers are: John Claflin, president; Louis Stewart, vice president and treasurer; J. C. Eames, second vice-president, and directors, Lewis Stewart, Howlands Davis, George F. Crane, Ernest Stauffen, Jr., John A. Stewart, W. M. Barrett, John Claflin and Thomas F. Bayard.

The total net income for 1913 was $2,083,781, dividends on preferred stock being $754,883 and on common $1,154,200, a final surplus of $174,698. The percentage earned on preferred stock was 19.28 per cent and on common 9.21 per cent. The assets included 98,131 shares capital stock of the Associated Merchants company, the combined net tangible assets of Hahne & Co., the William Hengerer company, the Powers Mercantile company, and the Stewart Drygoods company, the cash of the combined companies, the securities of Lord & Taylor, and cash available for further investment.

Petition in Bankruptcy.

Almost simultaneously with the filing of the suit in equity, John Muller, William Worth and Albert F. Bergner, all of this city, filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the firm. The company owes Muller, according to this petition, $731; Worth is a creditor for $3,131, while Bergner's claims are placed at $28,370.

The receivership caused a flurry in the financial district, although rumors that something was impending were rife all day yesterday. It was asserted in banking circles that the many retail subsidiaries affiliated with the interests would be taken care of.

The appointment of receivers is ascribed to an over-extension of credits.

Defender Company Sued.

A suit of equity for $5,200 also was filed against the Defender Manufacturing company, said to be a subsidiary of the H. B. Claflin company. The complainant is William P. Odell. The same receivers were appointed, with a bond, in this action, of $50,000 each.

None of the proceedings, it was said, would affect the United Dry Goods companies, which controls the Associated Merchants' company, holding the majority of the stock of H. B. Claflin company.

A noteholders' committee has been formed, with J. S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce, as chairman, which will endeavor to formulate some plan for readjusting the Claflin companies' financial affairs.

Charge Transfer of Property.

Muller and others who instituted the involuntary proceedings allege that the Claflin concern committed an act of bankruptcy in consenting to the receivership in the equity proceedings. They allege further that the concern has transferred certain property to preferred creditors. The equity proceedings are friendly, the first being instituted by John C. Eames, who is a vice president of the company.

It is said that the company did not borrow heavily on its own paper, but indorsed notes made by interior merchants for goods sold.

The inability of these interior houses and the inability of the H. B. Claflin company to pay off the matured portion of these notes is ascribed to general dull business conditions, to decreased sales and to slow collections.

Receiver in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., June 25.—Alexander New, legal representative here of H. B. Claflin company of New York, was apointed receiver today of the Jones Store company of this city, the stock of which is owned by the Claflins.

BAR MORMONS FROM SUNDAY SCHOOL LIST

International Association Also Excludes Christian Scientists.

Chicago, July 25.—The Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints is not eligible to membership in the International Sunday School association, according to a committee report adopted at today's session of the fourteenth annual convention here. The Christian Scientist and certain other churches also were barred.

A special committee appointed Tuesday to consider the advisability of the Mormon church, together with other religious organizations which heretofore have been kept outside of the ban of the association, made its report to the executive committee and final action was taken on the convention floor. A former committee, headed by Shaler Mathews, dean of the divinity school of the University of Chicago, had recommended the Mormon church as ineligible in that it places the Book of Mormon on a par with the Bible.

Thirty-one million persons have been visited in their homes by representatives of the home visitation department since its establishment six years ago, according to the report of J. Shreve Durham, superintendent of the department.

New York was chosen for the next convention, in 1917, and a campaign was launched to take it to Calgary, Canada, in 1920.

The association elected H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn., president, and E. K. Warren of Three Oaks, Mich., vice-president. Other officers will be filled by the executive committee.

GREAT CROWD AT FESTIVAL

Estimated That 15,000 See Midsummer Day Events at Park.

Mayor Prince and Others Speak; Hundreds Are on Program.

Probably the largest crowd that ever gathered in Lincoln park on one day attended the annual Midsummer Day festival of the Swedish-American National league at the park yesterday. It is estimate that fully 15,000 people visited the park during the celebration.

The day was ideal for the entertainment and picnic. Not a cloud obscured the sky from early morning until late at night. The temperature was just right to enjoy the day. Under no better conditions has a similar affair ever been held in this city.

Speeches band music, song, sports and dancing were provided for the entertainment of the crowds. The program began on scheduled time at 2:30 o'clock. Following the address of welcome given by C. E. Johnson, Mayor W. I. Prince and Rev. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis gave the principal speeches. The mayor praised the Swedish-Americans for their patriotic demonstrations and congratulated them on their progressive spirit.

Songs in Swedish and English were rendered by the Svea Glee club under the directorship of Charles Helmer. The chorus received many encores. Band selections given by the Zenith band, which alternately played American and Swedish national airs, were also well received.

The sporting program probably attracted the greatest crowds. Hundreds of young people took part in the various events and many of them had to be run two or three times in order to decide the winners. Tugs-of-war between different organizations, were features of this part of the program.

Probably the most attractive spot for the young people was the dancing pavilion. It is safe to say that never before has such a crowd atempted to enter the large dance hall. During the height of the dancing during the evening it was estimated that about 800 couples tried to dance on the floor at one time. The dancing was held during three hours of the afternoon and from 8 o'clock to midnight in the evening.

Young Swedish people dressed in the Swedish national costume attracted a great deal of attention. Girls dressed in this manner had charge of booths, lemonade stands, and other places where souvenirs of the occasion were sold.

Committee men were kept busy all afternoon and evening keeping the crowd enjoying the features of the day. No disorders of any kind were reported during the day and evening and the consensus of opinion of those who attended was that the affair was the most successful of its kind ever held in the city.

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF PLOTS TO MURDER

Washington Physician Is Held in $3,000 Bail.

Upper Marlborough, Md., June 25.—Dr. J. D. Eggleston of Takoma Park, Md., a suburb of Washington, has been held for the grand jury under $3,000 bail on the charge of conspiring to kill and rob Gilbert W. Cave of Washington. Thomas Gant, alias William Cary, and Richard King were held as witnesses.

Cave alleges that he was lured to a lonely shack near Chesapeake Beach last Monday and that, fearing for his life, he escaped in his automobile.

Gant and King testified at the preliminary hearing that the alleged plot to murder Cave was only a part of a conspiracy. King declared that a letter had been addressed to a man named Muckett, in Washington, who owns a motorboat, to meet the gang at Harmony station, on the Patuxent river, last night. This man, according to King, had been selected as a victim, and it was proposed to secure his boat and money when he arrived. No such name as Muckett appears in the Washington directory.

Dr. Eggleston is well known in Washington and bears a high reputation. He stoutly denies the charge.

"STAND ON YOUR HEAD," SAYS DOCTOR

Advice for Prevention and Cure of Many Bodily Ills.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 25.—"Stand on your head or, if you can't, then stand as nearly on your head as possible," was the advice offered for both the prevention and cure of many bodily ills by Dr. Charles A. L. Reed, the Cincinnati surgeon, in an address today before the abdominal section of the American Medical association. Dr. Reed was discussing a new method of cure for displacements of the stomach, intestines and other bodily organs.

"These displacements and the ills they cause," he said, "are penalties that we pay for standing on two legs." There is a tendency on the part of organs within the human abdomen to sag downward in obedience to the law of gravitation. Sometimes the supports are not strong enough to resist this tendency and the organs fall. Constipation, headaches, dyspepsia, rheumatism, gout, nervousness and insanity are a few among the many consequences.

To prevent and to relieve, but not to cure these calamities, the speaker advised that weak persons spend ten or fifteen minutes, two or three times every day, in the Trendelenburg position; that is, on the back, with the head down and the heels up. Any incline plane will do. The bed may be elevated a couple of feet at the foot. A better way is to place one end of the ironing board on the side of the bed and the other end on the floor. Then get on it, heels up, back down, so that the end of the board reaches the nape of the neck. While in this position, manipulate the abdomen with deep pressure, drawing the contents down toward the thorax. Maintain the recumbent position for a half hour after getting off the inclined plane. It may therefore be done with advantage before retiring for the night. The speaker said that the practice was an excellent cure for brain fag, and even more serious exhaustions. It was claimed that the nutrition of the brain was in this way greatly increased, thus forcing rapid recovery.

DEVELOPMENT PLAN SAID TO BE FRAUD

Two Officers of Tennessee Concern Put Under Arrest.

Philadelphia, June 25.—Charged with using the mails to defraud, "Colonel" George Wilkinson, president of the Central Tennessee Development company, and Mahlon Van Buskirk, counsel for the concern, were arrested yesterday and held in $2,500 bail by a United States commissioner.

It is alleged that the company exploited Spring City, Tenn., using the mails to induce purchase of land owned by the development company and the bonds and other securities it issued.

KELLEY "SOLDIERS" ARE PUT OFF TRAIN.

Lewisburg, W. Va., June 25.—The remnants of "General" Kelley's army of the unemployed were yesterday tramping the dusty roads near here on their way to Washington after a stirring battle with railroad men at Renick, fourteen miles east of here. The "army" camped at Renick Tuesday night and early yesterday boarded a freight train. They resisted the efforts of the crew to put them off, but after a lively scrimmage, the train pulled out with only a few on board. These were afterward thrown off. The scattered 62 men were gathered together by their leaders and the march proceeded.

GOVERNOR'S WIFE AIDS THE INJURED.

Cambridge, Md., June 25.—Harvey H. Buker was killed, Mrs. Roy Smith received injuries which may prove fatal, and Mr. Buker's wife and Miss Lillian Jones were severely hurt when their automobile was struck by a passenger train on the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic railway, near Preston, Md., yesterday. All the victims are from Cambridge.

The other members, all representatives in congress, are Rainey and Barsfield of Pennsylvania; Bartlett of Georgia, Fairchild and Underhill of New York; McCoy, Tuttle and Townsend of New Jersey; Port of Ohio, Madden of Illinois; Montague of Virginia, Slayden and Stephens of Texas; Baker of California and Steenerson of Minnesota.

SAYS EMPRESS HAD HER RUDDER FIXED.

Quebec, June 25.—Suggestions made during the inquiry into the wreck of the Empress of Ireland that the steering gear of the Empress had been the subject of complaint by her navigators, were denied on the stand by Percy Hillhouse of the Fairfield Shipbuilding company, which constructed the vessel. Mr. Hillhouse explained, however, that after an accident to the Empress in 1908 one foot was added to her rudder area to improve her steering qualities.

Capt. Kendall took the stand again to answer questions relating to the time his ship traveled on the two courses taken after leaving Father Point and before the accident, in connection with the attempt being made to get reliable data upon which to gauge the exact position of the liner when she was struck. The captain's statement of the time he dropped his pilot did not agree with that of Capt. Belanger of the Eureka, who picked up Pilot Bernier.

PRIMARY LAW PUZZLE.

Death of Candidate Brown of Chisholm Raises Question.

St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—The death of William Brown of Chisholm, candidate for state senator in the Sixtieth district, has raised a question as to the interpretation of the clause in the primary law prohibiting filing by petition for a non-partisan office except in case of a vacancy.

Brown and John Healy of Hibbing were the candidates. Brown died just before the primaries, leaving Healy without an opponent. Had Brown died after the primaries it is generally held that a vacancy would have been created which could have been filled by petition.

The question has not been put up to the attorney general, but it is believed that candidates can file by petition for non-partisan offices only where one of the nominees dies or resigns after the primaries.

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty Seekers

K. C. F. says: "My skin becomes so greasy every summer, and this so attracts dust and dirt, I have an awful time keeping my face clean looking. Can you suggest anything?" The method mentioned in reply to Eloise will overcome this condition.

D. N. A. writes: "How can I get rid of crowsfeet and wrinkles about the mouth corners?" Use a wash lotion prepared by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This tightens the skin, dispersing the wrinkles, and its tonic effect is more than temporary.

Eloise says: "My freckles are worse than ever this year, made doubly conspicuous by a pallid complexion. Is there any cure?" Ask your druggist for an ounce of mercolized wax, apply nightly like cold cream, removing in the morning with warm water. As the wax gradually, harmlessly absorbs the affected cuticle, not only will the freckles vanish, but the new and younger skin which appears will have a healthy color.—Woman's Realm.

HICKEN AND VOSS DIFFER

Latter Would Check Storm Damage Before Buying Aerial Truck.

Lively Debate Ensues; Victoria Street Paving Is Ordered.

The city commission had a real council meeting this morning.

The "real" meeting was what the commissioners term a conference, and it followed a regular or official meeting at which the usual routine business was transacted.

At 11 o'clock this morning the commissioners met officially to pass a resolution ordering Victoria street from Woodland avenue to the Hartley road paved with concrete to a width of sixteen feet. At the same time another resolution was passed cancelling the contract for the asphalt paving, ordered last year, conditional upon the payment to the city of $600 by the National Surety company. The asphalt contract was awarded to P. McDonnell and the work was taken over by the Surety company and the $600 is to be paid for the release of the job. The money will be applied to the cost of the concrete paving.

When the official session was adjourned a conference was called. It was held in the reception room of the mayor and the safety commissioner, where the official meeting took place, and without question it was one of the liveliest seances in which the commission has engaged.

Bone of Contention.

The bone of contention was the proposed purchase of an aerial truck for the fire department. As soon as the subject was introduced Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss declared that he objected to the methods of Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken. "I want all important purchases placed upon an open, competitive basis and I want definite information relative to them before I will approve them," he said. "I didn't think that Commissioner Hicken expected to contract for this truck before October. I was surprised when I heard that he had gone to Winnipeg and St. Paul to look over trucks in those cities. I don't think that the city should obligate itself for such an expenditure at this time. The city is being annually compelled to spend money for storm damages in all parts of the city in the same places. I feel that we should take steps to prevent any further repetitions of this expense before any money is spent for an aerial truck. I realize that the truck will decrease the expenses of the fire department and increase its efficiency but I think that the saving in that direction will be less than what can be effected by preventing further storm damages. We are limited by the charter to a levy of 13 mills for all general purposes and the more we spend on the fire department the less we will have available next year for the other funds, including the permanent improvement fund, which will have to bear most of the burden of making improvements to prevent further storm damages."

Hicken Replies.

Commissioner Hicken declared that he resented the statement that the transactions relative to the purchase of the fire truck or any other apparatus or material which had been purchased by the safety division had not been open and above board. He stated that the searchlight of publicity could be turned upon any transaction and that it would be shown that every deal had been in the interests of the city.

Commissioner Voss said that he didn't for an instant question the honesty or integrity of the safety commissioner but that he objected to voting for expenditures upon which he was not fully informed and that he did not believe that a fire truck should be bought if a greater saving could be made by first taking care of other public needs, as he believed to be the case at this time.

Commissioners Merritt and Murchison said that the various divisions could not go according to the bids but must rely upon the advice of men in whom they had confidence in purchasing machinery or apparatus. Commissioner Merritt declared that he could listen to the "chin" of every agent of every machine and know less about it when they were through than before they began. To illustrate his point he said that when the water and light department wanted a centrifugal pump they listened to agents for three days and that after all stories had been told he and the manager acted upon the engineer's recommendation. He asked Commissioner Voss if he thought that the time of the council should have been taken up in that way. Commissioner Voss answered that if the council should pass upon the expenditure it should hear the claims relative to the various pumps, as the members of the council ought to know the merits of the various questions or propositions upon which they voted. "That's what we're here for," said the finance commissioner. "The combined judgment of five men is better than the judgment of one man and we should act as a body upon all important expenditures."

No Decision Reached.

The commissioners reached no decision relative to the purchase of the aerial truck. Commissioner Hicken pointed out that he had taken the matter up at an earlier conference and that the commissioners had agreed that it would be for the best interests of the city to buy the aerial truck. But he said that if the commission could not agree upon it and good reason exists for postponing it, he would not attempt to insist upon it. The conference adjourned with the understanding that the question would be taken up at another meeting, which would be called at an early date.

At the regular meeting the council received the letter of Contractor Dahl objecting to the orders of City Engineer Wilson that he fulfill the specifications for paving Vernon street by backfilling the trenches for service connection trenches with material excavated from the trenches. The contractor states in his letter that he wants to use gravel or a mixture of sand and gravel. The city engineer states that he wants this change to save labor and increase his profits. The ordinance providing for the sale of the property at 1928 West Michigan street to Leander Sinnott for $4,000 and trading the West Duluth fire hall for two lots across the street were passed. O. H. Miller filed a claim of $700 for damage alleged to have been done his property by the overflowing of Mission creek at Fond du Lac on May 28.

SUPERIOR'S CLAIMS CAUSE AMUSEMENT

The Superior Telegram, the evening publication across the bay, had under a double column head last evening an article on the pulpwood case which is causing a good deal of amusement among the members of the Duluth Commercial club's traffic commission.

The article in question decides that because in the matter of pulpwood rates there is a difference in freight rates between Duluth and Superior and Wisconsin points the latter has the better of it and will therefore control. As a matter of fact, the traffic men point out, there is a switching charge which will put the total cost on an equal basis, as the pulpwood mostly originates north of Duluth.

In connection with the supposition that Duluth is ousted as a pulpwood center, the Telegram dreams as follows as a prelude to a lengthy speculation concerning Superior's bright future:

"If higher rates from Duluth can be charged on pulpwood shipments there is no reason why a higher rate should not be charged for shipments of other commodities."

Which, were it the case that Superior had the best of it in the pulpwood matter, observed one member of the traffic commission, would be perfectly reasonable. But it isn't.

PROUD OF HIS WINNING NAG

R. J. Mackenzie Owner of Winner of Brooklyn Handicap in City.

R. J. Mackenzie, son of Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railroad, reached here today at 1 o'clock in a special car attached to the regular Chicago train of the Omaha. Mr. Mackenzie left almost immediately for Winnipeg in a special train over the Canadian Northern.

More than anything else, Mr. Mackenzie seemed interested in hearing of the particulars of the Brooklyn handicap. His horse won this race.

"My horse is an American bred one and is some horse," said young Mackenzie. "The horse," said young Mackenzie. "The horse has been prepared long and carefully for the Brooklyn handicap. It pleases me a great deal to own the winner of one of the greatest classics of the American turf. My horse would have won the Canadian derby had it not been that he was fouled."

In switching slightly from the subject of his horse to that of immigration, Mr. Mackenzie conveyed the information that while immigration to Canada is not as heavy as usual this season, settlers are pouring into the Peace River country and that the crop of the Dominion has never been better.

A state central committee of 137 members was decided upon by the Republican nominee, and the remaining members will be fixed at a later date. The gathering of the Republicans was decidedly harmonious.

The Democratic Meeting.

Most interest was taken in the Democratic gathering. Besides the nominees, many of the faithful were in attendance and the proceedings were closely watched. The failure of Martin O'Brien to accept the chairmanship changed the plans made and it was said that adjournment might be taken until a later date. W. S. Hammond, the nominee, showed a decided reluctance to make a selection until he had been informed as to other possibilities.

For the present at least the old executive officers of the Democratic state central committee will remain in office. This was agreed upon at 2 p. m., following the refusal of Martin O'Brien to continue longer as state chairman.

Lawler Opposed Him.

While Mr. O'Brien gave business reasons for his retirement it developed this afternoon that opposition of D. W. Lawler was responsible. It was said that Mr. Lawler had served notice on W. S. Hammond, the nominee, that he would refuse to support him if any of the O'Briens, or other persons who had antagonized his candidacy during the recent campaign, was placed on the state committee. The list of names given by Mr. Lawler included nearly a score of men prominent in Democratic councils.

During the morning hours Hammond and Lawler conferred at the latter's office. At the close Lawler announced he was for Hammond with the reservation named.

MAY BREATHE FREELY AGAIN

Twenty-Nine Saloon Keepers Will Be Granted License Renewals.

The twenty-nine saloon keepers whose licenses were held up at the last two meetings of the city council can ease themselves from the judgment chair on which they have been sitting and once more draw their breaths naturally.

Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken said this morning that he had received reports on all of them and that he would recommend the granting of their licenses at the regular meeting of the city council next Monday afternoon.

The licenses in question were held up because the reports on some of them had not been received. The fate of several of them was in jeopardy because of rumors relative to the conduct of their places. A thorough investigation was made of them and the results satisfied Commissioner Hicken that the allegations were without good foundation.

The only license now in doubt is that of Henry Casmir, proprietor of the saloon at 505 West Michigan street. He is cited to appear before the council next Monday toshow cause why his license should not be revoked. His bartender was recently convicted of selling liquor to a minor and under the ordinance the keeper of a saloon is responsible for the acts of his agents or employes.

IRON WORKERS BID GOOD-BYE TO MATES

Kansas City, Mo., June 25.—Every Iron Worker in both Kansas Cities quit work at noon today and assembled at a local hote lto bid good-bye to the union heads convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases. The men gathered here on their way to the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., where they will begin serving their sentences late today.

In the faces of the convicted men there was no suggestion of the prison terms facing them. They talked and laughed joyously with each other, as though they were just climbing down from their work on the iron skeleton of a skyscraper.

All There But Clancy.

Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers, Chicago, one of the men here, said all the convicted men except Eugene A. Clancy of San Francisco would be here when the party is ready to start for Leavenworth late today.

It was announced that the convicted labor leaders, members of the local iron workers' union and representatives of the various unions, headed by a brass band would parade through the streets of the city to the end of the Intercity viaduct, where motor cars would be provided by the local unions to take the men to Leavenworth. It was expected there would be more than 300 men in line.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

CITIES are beginning to realize that every business proposition should pay a tax. Many cities have decided that a sign or billboard is doing business. It is advertising the concern whose announcement is on it, and is a source of revenue for the concern who owns the sign. As the amount of revenue is increased by the number of signs, so is the business of the concern owning the signs increased. Ordinances have been passed requiring the owner of the signs to pay a tax according to the size of the billboard. Boston is the first large city to put this into effect. The charges vary anywhere from 25 cents for the smallest to $1 a year on the largest sign. If any signs or billboards are placed on city property or houses, a permit from the city must be secured. This enables the city to regulate the billboard situation, which is being aggravated in a good many cities.

Billposters are required by city ordinance to take out a license to operate in Duluth. The fee is $100 per year. But one company is engaged in that line of business in Duluth, so that the revenue derived from billposters is only $100 a year. There has been considerable sentiment expressed that billboards should be taxed in the ratio of their board surface. No tax is placed on other signs in the city.

Duluth Attorney Wilts in East—Appreciates Local Ozone Brand.

"This is the climate. You have to go away to appreciate it, though."

DON'T MAKE THE MISTAKE

of Jumping to the Wrong Conclusion, and Regretting It Afterwards.

Because you WILL regret it, and for that reason it will pay you to know the following facts, and all of them. It will pay to read carefully therefore.

It is not true that all the best buys in Waverly Park are gone.

When the committee of five of the real estate exchange from leading real estate firms in the city placed the prices on all the lots, they aimed to fix the prices so that, in their judgment, the man who bought the last lot would make as large a percentage of profit on the price paid as the one who bought the first lot, and had all to select from.

They did this for two reasons—First, to make it as easy to sell the last lot as the first. Second, because the real estate men themselves are to purchase any lots remaining, and they naturally wanted to be sure to make a profit in reselling these lots. Therefore, if there is any difference, those lots appearing the least desirable have been priced relatively lower than others, and the percentage of advance in value may be even larger on these lots than on the higher priced ones.

Every one examining all Waverly Park lots will agree that every lot is a fine lot, each having some particularly good point over the other lots.

For instance, there are some lots priced from $400 to $550 that at present have not sewer in front of them, and it is estimated that it will cost not to exceed $75 per lot to put in such sewers. This sewer would increase cost of lots up to $475 to $625 for 50-foot lots, many having a most beautiful view of the lake and only three blocks from the car line. To resell these lots at 50% advance, above original cost and estimated sewer cost, they would only have to bring $702 to $937 per lot. Such prices will look very cheap as soon as Waverly Park has some of the handsome houses built, that a number of purchasers are now planning to erect.

Then there are still a few beautifully lying lots with good views, fine trees, in Greenwood street, having a sewer in front of them, a block and a half from car line, for sale at $700 and $750 for 50-foot lots.

On Lawrie street, 2½ blocks from car line, with sewer in street, some very fine lots for $675.

On Lakeview Drive are three beautiful lots for $675, $700 and $725 each.

You can see from these figures, if you know the value of lots in Duluth, that the prices are 25% to 33% lower than you can buy equally good lots anywhere in the city by paying one-third to one-half cash, while Waverly Park lots can be bought for $25 down and $8 to $15 monthly. By making small payments, you get all the advance.

It is safe to say that during the next year there will be hundreds of people who will happen to pass by, or through Waverly Park, and be surprised at the beautiful lots there and who will then buy, at a very material advance in price, some of the lots mentioned above, and they will always regret that they did not investigate Waverly Park during the sale and get a lot at original prices.

Will it not pay you to go out there now before it is too late? Investigate for yourself. Consult with any member of the

The maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Olcott, was gowned in pale green chiffon over white and carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies. The bridesmaids, Miss Eleanor Bourne and Miss Dorothy Kreps of Cleveland, Miss Mary Devereux of New York and Miss Judith Hartley, wore gowns of white lace with pink girdles and carried pink sweet peas. Little Betty Jane Kennedy, sister of the bride, carried the ring in a basket of pink roses. She wore a white frock. After her came the matron of honor, Mrs. Stacy Hill, another sister of the bride, and the maid of honor, Miss Lois Trott. Mrs. Hill wore her wedding gown of embroidered white cloth and carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses. Miss Trott wore yellow taffeta and net and carried a shepherd's crook tied with a cluster of American Beauties. The bridesmaids, Miss Laurel Squires of Minneapolis and Miss Eleanor Reichert, wore pink taffeta gowns trimmed with shadow lace and carried colonial bouquets of old-fashioned flowers. Robert Miller of Superior was the best man and Clifford Ford and Stacy Hill were the ushers.

The bride, who was given away by her father wore a white taffeta gown made with a Russian tunic of pleated net, and a coat and cap of duchess lace. Her veil was caught with lilies of the valley and her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids.

A string orchestra played the Lohengrin wedding march and suitable music during the ceremony.

RAISING STANDARD.

Music Teachers Doing Much to Improve Profession.

The Minnesota Music Teachers' association now meeting in Minneapolis has considered plans by which the standing of the music teaching fraternity of the state may be raised. Leopold Bruenner of St. Paul, president of the association, gave it as his opinion that the association has done much in the last few years toward raising the standard by offering examinations for music teachers, but he considered the success only partial and the desired goal far off. He said:

"To reach this goal, it seems to me, we must follow one of two paths—state legislation to license all music instructors and punitive measures to prevent unlicensed persons from teaching music, or submission to the association's examinations by all its members and exclusion from the association of all music teachers who will not submit to these examinations.

"State legislation appears to be unfeasible, and yet why should it be? The state prosecutes the quack doctor who pretends to minister to the wants of the body. It will not entrust the elemetary education of its children to untrained and unprepared teachers. Why, then, should it not take the same precautions with the music teacher, to whom is entrusted the drawing out of the individuals' best gifts—the gifts of heart and mind and soul—thereby giving the state a superior manhood and womanhood?"

Mr. Bruenner urged the members of the association to take the examinations and to encourage others to take them as the best and easiest way to raise the music in the state to the standard set by the Minnesota Music Teachers' association.

An interesting violin round table was held under the direction of Gustav Flaaten at which ideas were exchanged and discussed by William MacPhail, Heinrich Hoevel, Otto Meyer, T. P. Giddings and others.

At the voice round table there was a spirited discussion as to which is the more desirable quality, voice or the power of interpretation. It was agreed that both are necessary to a perfect singer, but the relative value of the two qualities furnished material for much amusement. Blanche Marchesi and Ludwig Wullner were given as examples of singers who are lacking in voice and Caruso and Titta Ruffo as examples of those whose accomplishments are physical rather than mental.

The public school music section discussed the balance that should be maintained between the esthetic and mechanics of music in the schools. It was concluded that one day a week should be devoted to the so-called "soul" of music and the other days to its technical features.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Broadway Jones."
EMPRESS—"The Pink Widow."
ECHO—"Oh, You September Morn."

Amusement Notes.

"Broadway Jones," George M. Cohan's greatest play, as presented by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum this week has proven to be the biggest success of their most successful season. Crowded houses are witnessing this remarkably clever production, and the advance sale for the rest of the week is large. A matinee of "Broadway Jones" will be given Saturday.

Commencing Sunday matinee, the Baldwin Players will present the play of the hour, "The Rosary."

The theme of the play concerns a man and a woman happily married and surrounded with every luxury that money and culture can secure. But the husband is an unbeliever and atheist, without faith of any kind.

There is a jarring note in the household harmony, a personality at war with the peace and love of its members. No one notices this until a friend of the husband comes, Father Kelly, a priest of the modern world with a deep insight into human nature and a divine love for his fellowmen. And when stress and trouble come, when the home is wrecked and husband and wife are brought down to the depths of suffering agony, it is the priest's calm courage and faith that saves them, drives away the clouds of suspicion, doubt, mistrust, and brings them both into the sunlight of hope and love.

"The Pink Widow," the opera comique which will be seen at the Empress today and the remainder of the week, is a departure from the ordinary run of musical comedies. It is on a little higher plane both as to book and score than most of the lighter forms of entertainment, it is claimed.

While many classical or semi-classical numbers are introduced in the opera, there are several popular songs now being sung with much success on Broadway. It is in the singing departure that "The Pink Widow" excels her sister graces.

There is the startling boat race number, in which the chorus beauties appear in athletic suits that are said to be quite bizarre.

The fun element has not been neglected in "The Pink Widow." A story of a nifty American girl who is mistaken for a Filipino beauty furnishes the thread upon which the story is hung. The principal comedy role is in the hands of Arthur Clamage, the king of German comedians.

Manager Mistachkin of the Echo theater announces a complete change of program for today.

His musical stock company will present "Oh, You September Morn," a tabloid with an illuminating title and featuring in the title role Miss Marie Russell. The play is based upon ideas suggested by the picture of that name which drew an edict from the Chicago authorities a year and a half ago. Following the wide advertising the picture received, numerous theatrical features were built around the title, and the "September Morn" joke on the stage has become very familiar.

In addition to Miss Russell, there will be the usual number of other principals and a beauty chorus of about twenty-five, besides some of the latest motion pictures.

AGED WOMAN'S LAST REQUEST IS GRANTED

Mrs. Mary Burmingham Saved From the Potter's Field By Humane Agent.

The dying wish of Mrs. Mary Burmingham, an aged widow, who died a pauper in her little shack at Twenty-first street and Minnesota avenue, Park Point, Tuesday, was fulfilled yesterday when her body was lowered in a plot of ground at Calvary cemetery, after a short service at the Sacred Heart Cathedral church.

Had it not been for R. D. McKercher, agent for the Duluth Humane society, it is probable that the woman would have been buried among the pauper dead in the potter's field at the county poor farm, as she had been a county charge for several years. Agent McKercher, however who looked after her welfare during her declining years made other arrangements.

During the last three years the humane agent and the poor authorities attempted many times to induce the woman to enter the almshouse at the poor farm. The aged widow—she was 85—entertained a horror at the thought and was allowed to live alone in her little shack. Groceries and fuel were provided her.

During her last illness, instead of removing her to a hospital against her wishes, the humane society provided a nurse for the woman who remained with her constantly until the last. Just before she died, Mrs. Burmingham pleaded with the humane agent to see that she was not buried at the poor farm.

Agent McKercher promised and was true to the trust. Mrs. Burmingham left no known relatives. Before she died, she stated, that she had one son, but that she had not heard anything from him for more than forty years and that she supposed he was dead now.

GERMANS OPEN BIG MEETING OF SINGERS.

Louisville, Ky., June 25.—Members of German singing societies and their accompanying delegations attending the thirty-fourth saengerfest of the North American Saengerbund in this city, planned to devote part of today to entertainment features. Several reunions, or "kommers" were arranged by various visiting societies for the day.

This afternoon the first matinee concert will be given in the First Regiment armory, in which the Milwaukee Maennerchor will have an individual number and Mme. Marie Rappold will sing opera selections. The Chicago Symphony orchestra also has a prominent place on the program.

The first festival concert to be given tonight will be participated in by a mass chorus of 3,000 voices under direction of Prof. Louis Ehrgott of Cincinnati, and noted soloists.

MOONEY WAS TRUE TO TRUST

Had Left to Begin Sentence When President's Pardon Came.

Report of the pardon by President Woodrow Wilson of Fred J. Mooney, Duluth union structural iron worker, did not reach the Duluth man in time to save him a trip to the Fort Leavenworth prison. True to his trust, Mooney started for Fort Leavenworth Tuesday ready to begin his sentence today. His wife got the report of the pardon yesterday and wired her husband to return home.

Mooney was employed at the Clarkson docks as structural iron worker when he laid down his tools to go to prison. He will probably go to work at once when he returns. His friends say that he has always been a hard working man and despite the sentence hanging over his head, he has kept steadily at work all summer.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Trifles Annoy Men the Same as Women.

I am often moved to observe that men have manners no less exasprating than women. I saw such a man today, indeed I am always seeing them.

This man rushed into his office and said he was in a great hurry. He certainly looked in a hurry, with perspiration streaming down his face and linen limp. He had any nervous, fussy woman that fancy can paint outclassed when it comes to fussiness.

He had considerable difficulty finding his phone number and more when he came to ask for the connection. The line was busy and we who had to wait his pleasure were compelled to listen to a long tirade directed against the telephone operators.

Presently he made another attempt to get his number, and, after unnecessary conversation with the operator as to her responsibility for the delay, talked with the party wanted. Here again he reminded me of the type of woman exploited by the funny man in his column—the woman supposed to be the embodiment of all feminine faults and foibles. He couldn't state his business in man fashion, but rambled on and on. He confused himself and his party, and then, unluckily, he was cut off.

The operator, already yelled at by this man, received a volley of abuse. This abuse wasn't exactly like a woman's but he didn't get down to business as he should have done to deserve a man's reputation for ignoring trifles, which is said to be a man's virtue. Instead he continued to bellow and demand the reason he was interrupted in the midst of an important conversation.

The girl induced him to repeat the number, but not until he had vented all his anger upon her. My, how he talked to the operator because he happened to be disconnected. He couldn't seem to get over it and her request for the number but added fuel to the flames of his wrath.

This man proved to me that men and women are very nearly alike—that men are not any more capable than women of ignoring the trifling annoyances that make up life. They are just as fidgety, just as rattle-brained and just as inconsiderate in the same identical ways.

I couldn't help remarking as he left the office, still panting and perspiring, still very much in a hurry: "It's strange how many men you see who act just like women at times.

The Home Beauty Parlor

by Betty Dean

Bessie: Economy is no excuse when, for a small sum, you can make at home a full pint of the very best scalp and hair tonic as follows: Put 1 ounce quinzoin (from your druggist's) into ½ pint alcohol, then add ½ pint water. Rub a little at a time well into the scalp and dandruff and excess oil will quickly disappear. Continued use of the quinzoin tonic will restore the soft fluff and beautiful gloss to brittle, faded hair. The timely use of this tonic will always keep your scalp healthy and your hair beautiful. This tonic is very soothing to tender, itching scalps.

Brown Eyes: For a harmless eye tonic dissolve 1 ounce crystos in 1 pint clear water and you will have as good an eye tonic as money can buy. This is excellent for tired, inflamed or aching eyes and quickly relieves granulated lids. Only 2 or 3 drops are required in the eye at a time and its use frequently overcomes the need for glasses.

Cora B.: To stop gaining weight make up this simple, harmless formula at home and take a tablespoonful three times a day and you will soon be rid of that trouble. In 1½ pints hot water dissolve 4 ounces parnotis (which all good druggists have in stock). This treatment does not call for dieting and is gentle, yet positive, in reducing fat. When your weight is sufficiently reduced stop the treatment and your flesh will be solid and the skin free from wrinkles.

Teacher: You ask for a good wrinkle-eraser. I use plain almozoin creamjelly, the most effective thing I know for eradicating wrinkles and fine lines. It is made as follows: At home dissolve 1 ounce almozoin in ½ pint cold water, then add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. After it is thoroughly dissolved, apply genrously to skin and massage lightly the long way of the wrinkle. This treatment energizes the stunted tissues under the crease and they gradually assume their correct proportions. When this is done the wrinkle will have vanished. The almozoin massage is very effective in cleansing the skin of pimples, blackheads and other blemishes.

Grace M.: Pains in the back and legs and the usual "spring fever" are frequently caused by bad kidneys, and the trouble should receive prompt attention. I make at home a body-builder and tonic of real value by pouring 1 ounce kardene (from your druggist's) into ½ pint alcohol (do not use whiskey) and adding ½ cupful sugar, then hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before each meal is the dose. This gently rids the blood of poisons and puts the liver, kidneys and stomach in a healthy condition, and its timely use prevents much sickness.

Florence: I find the best treatment for faded, "string" hair or dandruff is to shampoo regularly with a tablespoonful of canthox dissolved in a cup of hot water which will restore its color, fluff and sheen and so invigorate the hair-roots that the hair will come in thick and long. This makes plenty of thick, cleansing lather that loosens and dissolves all dust, dandruff and excess oil. Rinsing leaves scalp and hair wonderfully sweet, clean and healthy.

Athlete: Try using this simple lotion, which will insure you against freckles and protect your skin from spring winds: Dissolve 4 ounces spurmax from any drug store) in either ½ pint hot water or witch hazel and add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply sparingly to face, neck and arms and rub lightly until it vanishes. The spurmax lotion is superior to powder because one application lasts an entire day. Shiny skins, oiliness, pimples and other complexion upsets disappear quickly, and its use is a benefit to the finest complexion.

NORTH DAKOTA CROP CONDITIONS GREAT

Barring Trifling Damage From Moisture, Grain Is O. K.

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota crop conditions are more uniformly satisfactory than for many years. It seems to be almost the unanimous opinion that barring a few low places in the Red river valley, where some damage was done by excessive rainfall, that it would be practically impossible to find a fault with the state-wide situation.

Rain Came When Needed.

This year the state has received what is always deemed an essential, a requisite amount of rain in June. With the heavy rainfall in this state, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, there is no fear of the hot rains that sometimes menace the crops in this state.

Some fodder corn and late potatoes are still being planted, but all that work has been completed on most farms for some time. Haying is in progress and the crop is unusually heavy because of the favorable growing conditions.

TOO MANY OLD FORMS.

Ontario Judge Tells Wisconsin Lawyers of Weaknesses of English Law.

Green Bay, Wis., June 25.—"The law of English speaking countries is cluttered up with survivals of old forms and safeguards which serve no purpose at present but to thwart justice," declared William Renwick Riddell, justice of the supreme court of Ontario, Can., in an address here yesterday to the Wisconsin Bar association.

"No English race has yet devised any methods of giving every man his due without forcing him to come to court himself and fight for it," said Justice Riddell. "Anatomists tell us that in our bodies are many remains of organs which were beneficial in the earlier stages through which our race has come but are now not only useless but actually dangerous. There are many such survivals in our laws."

Maintaining two houses of parliament or two houses of congress "to correct each other's errors," Justice Riddell asserted to be a prominent example of a useless complication of government.

Five troublesome and useless traditions hampered the administration of justice in America, he said. Grand juries should be abolished. Indictments should be stripped of verbiage. The prisoner should be questioned. Husbands and wives should testify in matters concerning each other. Ten jurors should be enough to convict.

Most of these reforms were in satisfactory operation in the province of Ontario, said Justice Riddell.

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live.

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above — they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger — it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JUNE 28.

Review of the Quarter; the Seeking Savior.

FOREWORD.

The lessons for this quarter cover only a few months of the Master's life, perhaps six months, and most of that time He was over in Perea, east of the Jordan, where the people were less hostile to Him and He could have the disciples more to Himself. Each lesson will have a special teaching showing how He seeks to save. Notice the different types of people He seeks.

LESSONS.

1. Seeking the Self-Seeking. Table Talk. Luke xiv, 7-24.

At the table that day He saw mostly desire for pre-eminence, as all made a rush for the most important places at the feast, and He would save them from humiliation as well as wrong views by having them start in at the bottom with the idea that they might advance. He also wanted them to have the pleasure of doing something entirely unselfish by inviting those who could not pay them back in kind. He would also have them know that He is seeking those who are considered unworthy, while those who decline His invitations with hypocrisy are to be left out—nothing else to do with them.

2. Seeking the Discouraged. The Journey to Emmaus. Luke xxiv, 13-35.

He does not abandon those whose faith has undergone temporary eclipse, as in the case of the two who lost all hope when He was crucified and went back home. He joined them on the way and won them back by a disclosure of Himself. We must notice that they still loved and trusted Him, that they continued to cherish the teachings He had given them, that they were talking about Him. They were in a good condition for His approach. We notice how wisely He won them—first by concealing His identity till the right moment, next by establishing a scriptural basis for the disclosure, then by leaving them so that they could talk it over and go back to the city to tell the others.

3. Seeking the Half-Hearted. The Cost of Discipleship. Luke xiv, 25-35.

Here were some who put other things before Him and He tells them their devotion to Him must surpass their devotion to their parents and all other persons and all their possessions, so much so that it will be like hating them in comparison with the way they love Him. He uses the familiar rhetorical device of exaggeration in order to express it emphatically. He also says that love to Him is to be unscalculating, never thinking of the cost. In putting up a building they should count the cost or a king going to war has to know what his resources are but they don't act on that principle where He is involved. He will take care of the cost. It's a matter of life and death with them.

4. Seeking the Lost. The Lost Sheep and the Lost Coin. Luke xv, 1-10.

He is addressing a situation. His enemies complain that He seeks those abandoned sinners whom everybody looked down on, and He tells them it is perfectly natural to do that, just as a man who owns a hundred sheep will take risks in leaving them while he goes out into all sorts of hardships in order to find one-lost one, and will show all sorts of joy in finding it. The reason is that the sheep belongs to him and has no right to be lost—property is lost, affection is wounded, relationship is perverted. So it is natural for Him to seek these poor lost wretches, and the angels of heaven set up a shout of gladness when one is found, for he has no right to be lost, love is violated, relationships disturbed.

5. Seeking the Wayward. The Prodigal Son. Luke xv, 11-32.

This is about another lost object, a lost boy. When a boy is wayward, every member of the family feels it and is glad to have him back, and there is something wrong with the member of the family who is not sorrowful over his departure and glad over his return. He is unnatural. Those Pharisees didn't want Him to have anything to do with those sinners, outcasts, and were ugly when He went with them. Jesus took them at their own valuation of themselves. They had not gone into those kinds of sin, but they were as far from God as these outcasts themselves. He draws their picture in the case of the elder brother who refused to rejoice when his brother came home. Granting that the boy didn't deserve the welcome he got, it would have been unnatural to have sent him away, and the older brother did the unnatural thing. The Pharisees saw their picture drawn to the life.

6. Seeking the Avaricious. The Unjust Steward. Luke xvi, 1-13.

It is really an effort to have people use their wealth so as to promote their spiritual wealth and comfort. He makes up the story of the man who wasted the goods of his master and was in a critical condition but he put two other servants of that master under obligation to him so that when he should lose his position they would feel under obligation enough to take him into their homes till he could get something else. And he did it by showing his fellow-servants how they could cheat their master. Jesus draws the lesson from the fellow's foresight that we can so use our money as to benefit those about us and when they precede us to the home above they will be there to welcome us. That is a worthy ambition.

7. Seeking the Self-Indulgent. The Rich Man and Lazarus. Luke xvi, 16-31.

Here He draws the picture of the man who had plenty of money and refused to use it so as to relieve distress and send on friends who would welcome him into the everlasting habitations. It was not wrong for him to have the money, provided he got it honestly; nor to live well, provided he did something more. But he thought only of himself, though he was able to help others and one needy man was right there at his door and the need was extreme. When he died Lazarus was not there to greet him and he couldn't get near Lazarus. He lived for the present and therefore there was no future. We create our future.

8. Seeking the Unforgiving and the Unfaithful. The Unprofitable Servant. Luke xvii, 1-10.

Three kinds of persons call out his remarks. One is the unforgiving and there are always plenty of them. One of the blighting sins is to cause others to sin. Better be dead than do that. Not to forgive is to try to doom the other to continued sin. Forgiveness must be unconditional and absolute, however often the offender sin against you. Faith is vital and can do the impossible. To plant a tree in the sea is against nature yet it is a figure of speech to show that faith can do wonders. Another thing He teaches—that if one does one's whole duty to God it is only what was due God and therefore there is no margin of profit at all.

9. Seeking the Ungrateful. The Grateful Samaritan. Luke xvii, 11-19.

He does desire to make men grateful and when He healed ten men and only one stopped long enough to thank Him He felt grieved at the nine, though pleased with the one. The nine were blameworthy and selfish, all the more so because they were Jews and had been taught better. Possibly they had some appreciation in their hearts, but were remiss in not expressing it. Jesus is not only interested in our having gratitude but expressing it. Those who deserve the gratitude have a right to hear it expressed and those who express it cultivate it in the very act of expressing it.

10. Seeking the Unspiritual. The Coming of the Kingdom. Luke xvii, 20-37.

They thought only of the outer show and not of the inner power and peace. He teaches them that God's kingdom or reign is among them in His person and within them in the spirit. Deceivers will tell them they know when Christ will come. The fullness of the kingdom will be when He shall return. That return will be sudden, swift, overpowering. Their peril will be that they shall be absorbed in other things, as when the flood came and as in the days of Lot. That kingdom will be discriminating, final, inexorable.

11. Seeking the Outcasts. The Friend of Sinners. Luke xviii, 9-14.

He shows His attitude toward the pariahs of society in the parable of the man who had done all kinds of wrong and was penitent and the man who had kept all the external regulations and more, too, but was conceited, cruel, impudent to God, a moral stench that smelt to heaven. His teaching in this parable was itself illustrated in His treatment of Zaccheus, a publican. Jesus saw the unrest, the desire for goodness, the hunger, the need, the capacity of his soul and voluntarily gave him what he needed. The man gave proof that he was genuinely converted by one thing. He offered to make restitution four times over, also by giving away half of his goods to the needy. It was a great achievement, the saving of Zaccheus.

12. Seeking the Attractive. The Great Refusal. Mark x, 17-31.

The young man who asked what other one thing was needed in addition to keeping the commandments from his youth up was told just where he had failed in keeping the commandments. He didn't love his neighbor as himself and Jesus showed him that he didn't. There is always one test that finds what we are. There is always one deepest love that asserts itself. Christ always finds it.

TELLS THE DEMANDS CARRANZA REJECTED

F. I. Calderon Gives Out Interview at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., June 25.—What purported to be details of the demands made by the United States upon Gen. Venustiano Carranza, through which Carranza's representatives would be admitted to the mediation conference at Niagara Falls, were given out here by Fernando Iglesias Calderon, chief of the Liberal party in Mexico. He is en route to Washington in connection with the Mexican problem.

Aside from the armistice feature, which Carranza refused to consider, Calderon said it was the demands concerning disposal of religious questions and the time when elections should take place which greatly interested the Constitutionalists.

As to Church Property.

According to the statement of the Liberal party leader, the United States demanded that all property of the Catsolic church confiscated by the Constitutionalists should be returned to the church; that buildings destroyed should be paid for; that priests should be protected, and that priests driven from the country should be allowed to return.

To this Carranza replied, according to Calderon's statement, that the Constitutionalists' laws of reform provided that all church property should go to the state when needed, and also that the priests must go.

Calderon also stated that Carranza refused to accede to the demand for elections as soon as the revolution ended. He replied, according to the statement, that elections could not take place until banditry had ceased. Therefore he would not agree to holding an election until several leaders now classed as bandits had been crushed.

Huerta Must Die.

Another demand, according to the statement, was that Huerta should be protected, to which Carranza is reported to have replied that, according to the Aztec law, Huerta must die; and the Constitutionalist chief refused to acquiesce in the demands.

That Carranza also had refused to obligate the Constitutionalists to pay debts incurred by the Huerta government was another assertion included in the Iglesias Calderon statement.

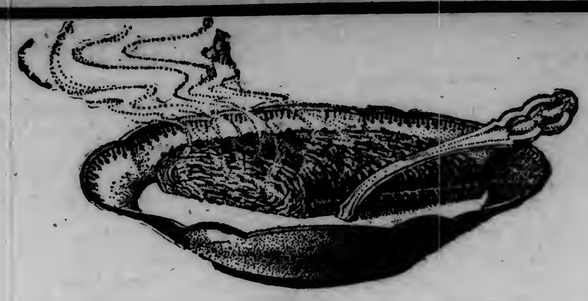

Denied at Washington.

Washington, June 25.—Washington officials flatly deny the report from New Orleans attributed to Mr. Calderon purporting to give demands made by the United States upon Gen. Carranza through which Constitutionalist representatives would be admitted to the mediation conferences at Niagara Falls. It was emphatically stated that the United States never made any conditions(and it was held here that stipulations attributed to Mr. Calderon included demands that might properly have come from the Huerta delegates to the mediation conference. As such, it further was suggested, they might have been transmitted by the mediators to Gen. Carranza during the earlier stages of the conference. It was pointed out that the United States, in view of the positive position it has taken throughout the mediation proceedings, would not have made demands on the Constitutionalists which it was impossible for them to accept.

As soon as the report was received here and had been officially denied, representatives of the Constitutionalists, who also denied any knowledge of such demands, telegraphed to Mr. Calderon at New Orleans asking for a clarification of the dispatches.

DENY FIRING AT AMERICAN TROOPS.

Vera Cruz, June 25.—It is stated at army headquarters that there has been no firing at or by the American outposts at Vera Cruz since they were established.

Sixty-Six Per Cent.

According to the last report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics the retail prices of the "principal articles of food" in forty industrial cities advanced sixty-six per cent. in fourteen years. The price of in all that time has remained the same, and it is just as satisfying, strengthening and sustaining as it was fourteen years ago —a complete, perfect food, supplying more real, body-building nutriment than meat or eggs, costing much less and much more easily digested. Your grocer sells it.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

AMERICANS AND MEXICANS SIGN THE PEACE PROTOCOL

Fix Terms for the Resumption of Diplomatic Relations.

Final Settlement of Mexico's Troubles Up to Her People.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 25.—Terms for composing all international differences between the United States and Mexico have been concluded. The conditions under which diplomatic relations will be resumed are embodied in a protocol which was signed by the Ambassador from Brazil, the ministers of Chile and Argentina and the American and Huerta delegates.

The character of the settlement is not expected to arouse opposition from the Constitutionalists, who will participate in and to a large degree would mould the adjustment of all internal disputes.

When a new provisional government is established to succeed that headed by Gen. Huerta, the result of mediation—recognized as a triumph for Pan-American diplomacy—will become effective.

Rest Up to Mexicans.

Coincidently with the action taken last night, it was announced that the actual selection of a provisional president and the organization of the new government, which is considered a purely internal problem, will be left to an informal conference of representaties of the Constitutionalists---Luis Cabrera, Rafael Zubaran and Jose Vasconcelos—and the delegates sent by Gen. Huerta to the mediation conference.

No formal adjournment of the mediation will be taken, but there will be no sessions while the representatives of the two warring factions in Mexico endeavor to arrive at an agreement on the personnel of the new government, the agrarian and educational reforms and other internal problems.

Prepared the Way.

Last night's formal session of mediators and delegates prepared the way for the complete settlement of the difficulties between the United States and Mexico growing out of the failure of a Huerta officer at Tampico to salute the Stars and Stripes, which was demanded as reparation for the arrest of American bluejackets.

The single outstanding provision in the protocol is that the international problem shall be declared adjusted on the establishment of the new provisional government. The protocol sets forth:

That the United States and Argentina, Brazil and Chile—the mediating countries—shall recognize the new provisional government, and that thenceforth diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico shall be resumed.

No Indemnity.

That the United States demands no indemnity and does not further exact satisfaction for any of the incidents connected with the patrol of Mexican waters and invasion of the country.

That a commission shall be appointed to adjust private claims growing out of the revolution, and international incidents.

The protocol phraseology telegraphed to Washington for approval at 9 o'clock last night, word came from President Wilson and Secretary Bryan authorizing the American delegates to sign it. The Mexican delegation had not expected so prompt a response. Dr. Naon, the minister from Argentina, also had failed to notify them that there would be a full conference. Louis Elguero, one of the Huerta delegates, was several miles away at dinner when the conference was called. He made a hurried trip in an automobile, and upon his arrival the conference began.

The results of the mediators' work places the issue now squarely before the representatives of the two warring factions. On them will rest the responsibility for failure of success of the peace plans as a whole.

Statement by Da Gama.

At the close of the conference Ambassador Da Gama gave out a statement embracing the protocols. He announced that three articles of the peace plan had been arranged and that there remained only the internal side of the problem.

"We deemed it advisable," he said, "to invite the Constitutionalist party to send delegates to discuss with the Mexican delegates the internal aspects of the problem."

The protocol signed are as follows:

Article 1—The provisional government referred to in the protocol No. 3 shall be constituted by agreement of the delegates representing the parties between which the internal struggle is taking place.

Article 2 (A)—Upon the constitution of the provisional government in the City of Mexico, the government of the United States will recognize it immediately and thereupon diplomatic relations between the two countries will be restored.

No War Indemnity.

(B)—The government of the United States will not in any form whatever claim a war indemnity or other international satisfaction.

(C)—The provisional government will proclaim an absolute amnesty to all foreigners for any and all political offenses committed during the period of civil war in Mexico.

(D)—The provisional government will negotiate for the constitution of international commissions for the settlement of the claims of foreigners on account of damages sustained during the period of civil war as a consequence of military acts or the acts of national authorities.

Article 3—The mediating governments agree to recognize the provisional government organized as provided by Section 1 of this protocol.

Protocol No. 3, referred to in the above was signed two weeks ago and set forth merely that a provisional government, to be constituted as later provided, shall be recognized on a certain date, to be agreed upon subsequently, and from that time forward shall exercise governmental powers until the inauguration of a constitutional president.

SAN LUIS POTOSI NEARLY UNGUARDED

Federals Have Left Only Small Garrison in That Place.

Saltillo, Mex., June 23.—Via Laredo, Tex., June 25.—Federal troops, which have been stationed at San Luis Potosi, already have evacuated that town with the exception of a small garrison, according to a report by courier received at the headquarters of Gen. Carranza. The report says most of the Federal troops under Gen. Joaquin Maas have been sent to reinforce Aguas Calientes and to garrison Queretario. The report indicated that Federals in the vicinity of San Luis Potosi would make strenuous efforts to check the advance of the Constitutionalists, who have reached a point on the railroad fifty kilometers from that place. The Constitutionalists are repairing the railroad as rapidly as possible.

Gen. Gonzales arrived last night with 2,000 men from Monterey. He was joined this morning by Gen. Luis Caballero, governor of the state of Tamaulipas, and Gen. Comacho, who is operating in the state of Puebla. These generals, with the Cabrera force leaders in the state of Hidalgo, conferred today regarding the affairs of the Constitutionalists. The brigade of Gen. Caesario Castro also is preparing to entrain for the south.

Gen. Carranza, it is expected, will leave in a day or two for Monterey for a long promised visit.

Mr. McLeod will return Monday morning. All the activities of the boys' department will be operated during the next four days under the direction of Clinton Oblinger of the Y. M. C. A. and Mr. Kofed, assistant at the boys' building.

Otter Tail Hard Hit.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 25.—A drenching rain, accompanied by hail in many places, visited this county Tuesday evening. In this city there was a rainfall of 2.06 inches in little more than an hour. The hail did little damage here, but at Deer Creek garden crops and corn are flat on the ground. Persons there say the rainfall was seven inches. Many houses were flooded and the Northern Pacific track washed out.

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

Why Vivisection Is Necessary

ASIDE from the exaggerated and hysterical charges frequently made by out-and-out anti-vivisectionists, there are doubts which sometimes arise in the mind of the purely disinterested individual—the father of children, let us say, for example.

Couldn't the lower animals be spared the pain of experiment? Couldn't doctors get along as well without subjecting living animals to experimental operations and drug tests?

There Are Only Three Courses.

There are three possible courses the medical profession might follow. First, to refuse to try any new remedy or operative procedure or diagnostic test on man, because it would be "experimenting" and as such unjustifiable. Second, to test new ideas, suggestions and methods at once on helpless or defenseless human beings—the poor in public institutions, for instance, or prisoners in penal institutions. Or, third, to make preliminary tests of new ideas on lower animals, and if the results seem promising, or the procedure proves comparatively safe, then apply the remedy to actual cases in practice.

If the first course were followed, all progress in medicine and surgery would obviously come to a permanent standstill. We should never advance beyond our present ability to heal. There would be no possible hope of cures for diseases at present incurable.

If the second course were followed, the medical profession would indeed become brutalized and cruel. Despite the slurs cast upon regular medicine by those interested in various fads and freak cults of healing, there are mighty few doctors who would have the courage to try an unknown remdy or operation for the first time on an unwilling human being. A dog or a cat or a guinea-pig or a rat is different from a human being, even in the estimation of a vivisector.

The third course, that which medicine follows at present, is the only one logically open to the profession. It has made medicine what it is today. It enables us to save lives with serums, antitoxins, vaccines and newly discovered drugs. If you could decide which course the medical profession must pursue in future, which would it be? Remember, you must have children of your own, or a love for children, in order to qualify as a judge.

Questions and Answers.

A. B. C. asks: Will you tell me the cause of one's nails being covered with white spots and getting fibrous and thick?

Answer—Atrophy of the nails, lichen, pityriasis and psoriasis might cause the condition.

J. E. K. writes: My wife is very weak and nervous. Can you tell me what will build her up. She is 51 years old.

Answer—Yes. Try your family doctor's advice for her. If he can't help her after a personal examination and investigation of her trouble, how could I or any other doctor pretend to diagnose or prescribe for her by mail? That would be quackery, pure and simple, and I know from the character of your letter that you are too intelligent to be buncoed by the long distance "specialist" sharper.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

A PROGRAM.

1. If the amazing debate on canal tolls exemption could be prolonged unduly, consideration of trust regulation measures could be delayed until summer. That has happened; and nobody need look further than this for an explanation of the astonishing length of the senate debate on this question.

2. If action on the trust regulation measures could be put over to the regular session in December on the ground that nothing would be lost by a slight delay, it would be possible by a filibuster in the senate to let them die with the end of the session March 4. That has not yet happened, but efforts to make it happen have been obtrusively evident.

3. If a Republican house can be elected in November, further action to regulate Big Business would be made impossible by a deadlock between a Democratic senate and a Republican house of representatives. Though, on the other hand, if the trust bills are passed this summer, that very condition would prevent their repeal.

The program, then, was and is:

(A) To prolong the tolls debate unconscionably, hoping that congress would do nothing during the hot months.

(B) To bring about postponement of the trust regulation bills till the regular session, if possible, by scaring congress and the president with the bugaboo of hard times.

(C) To elect a Republican house and divide congress so it cannot act.

(D) To filibuster the bills to defeat at the short session from December to March.

Fortunately, however, there is a MAN in the White House, and a great people behind him.

Representative Smith of New York wants congress to declare that an American discovered the North Pole. We dare congress to go any further into particulars than that.

THE COCKSURE.

There is one thing about a certain type of editors, publicists and statesmen that has always kept us in a state of awe and wonder, if not envy.

This is the miraculous powers of divination they seem to have, powers which enable them to see, as by magic, into the minds not only of individuals but masses, and to declare with cocksure certainty just what the popular thought is on a given subject, even when that subject is one that comparatively few have given thought to.

Those of this class, if they favor high tariff, are constantly declaring that the people are unanimously for high tariffs.

If they favor low tariffs, they are as constantly declaring that the popular conviction is overwhelmingly for low tariffs.

Whatever these editors and publicists and statesmen profess to believe in, apparently, they have no hesitation whatever in declaring to be the all but unanimous judgment of "the people." They do not stop to find out—some of them have utterly no way of finding out, and are by the nature of their lives completely beyond touch with public sentiment—but declare to be so what they wish to be so.

For instance, we hear repeatedly that the American people are unanimously against "apologizing" to Colombia. Maybe they are, but nobody is apologizing. It is the act of a gentleman to be sorry for anything that has disturbed friendly relations, and that's absolutely all this country expresses in the pending Colombia treaty.

Yet here are a few phrases from a typical editorial in the Chicago Tribune condemning this treaty: "The facts THE NATION THINKS OF are that Mr. Bryan is asking us to make a solemn, formal apology for acts of which we are not and ought not to be ashamed."

Mr. Roosevelt "took" Panama. Though several administrations have admitted that we did wrong, no redress has ever been made. Is it true that nobody in this country is ashamed of "taking" Panama? If it had been Germany or Great Britain instead of Colombia, would Mr. Roosevelt have still "taken" Panama? And if we did to little Colombia what we should not have done to big Germany, ought we not to feel shame?

The Tribune also pictures Mr. Bryan as trying to force the American people to "reverse their approval" of Mr. Roosevelt's act. How does the Tribune know the American people approved his act? Where and when did they vote this approval? When did the Tribune canvass public sentiment on the question? The Tribune also says that despite Mr. Bryan's attempt, "the judgment of the American people will remain with Roosevelt." More cocksureness; how does the Tribune know—how can it know?—that the judgment of the American people is with Roosevelt in this matter?

Moreover, says the Tribune, "the American people * * do not and will not sympathize with the intemperate altruism which Mr. Bryan's treaty expresses." Obviously, the Tribune knows every nook and cranny of the American mind, and is instantly aware of its every thought.

The American people are square. If Colombia has nothing coming, we believe the American people want Colombia to get nothing. If Colombia HAS something coming, we believe the American people want it paid. Professing to know quite as intimately as the Tribune the thought of the nation, we have no hesitation in saying that when the American people have studied the history of our relations with Colombia, they will be emphatically in favor of the proposed treaty.

Of course it's just possible that Julius Block has heaved a sledge hammer into the Republican machine.

POLITICAL PLATFORMS.

The Democratic national platform adopted at Baltimore in 1912 contained a plank favoring the exemption of American coastwise vessels from the payment of canal tolls.

Yet the Democratic president urged the repeal of the exemption provision that had been enacted by a Republican congress, and the Democratic congress repealed it.

Where, then, does that leave party platforms?

About where they always stood. The only astonishing thing about the present discussion of this subject is that anybody should be astonished that a political platform should prove to be a trivial thing.

The same platform that the Democraic president and the Democratic congress had to ignore also contained a strong plank against ship subsidies.

Yet the proposal to exempt American vessels from the payment of canal tolls meant making a present of nine to twelve thousand dollars to the average American vessel every time it passed through the canal—and of course, in the end, that nine or twelve thousand dollars would come out of the treasury—out of the pockets of the people.

How to account for such an anomalous declaration? It was slipped in and slipped over. The convention was tired and busy when the platform was presented, and it rubber-stamped its "O. K." That's what happens nine out of ten times in a convention, national or state.

A platform was long ago described as "a thing to get in on." That contemptuous fling is accurate—too accurate.

That's why platforms cut little figure in campaigns any more. A thing that has no respect can have no influence.

Maybe the lesson of this incident will make platform-makers and conventions more careful in the future—for awhile.

An exchange has the temerity to make some suggestions about Christmas shopping. And with all those weeds unpulled, too.

The Lovers.

Sally Salter, she was a young teacher who taught,
And her friend, Charley Church, was a preacher who praught,
Though his enemies called him a screecher who scraught.

His heart, when he saw her, kept sinking and sunk,
And his eye, meeting hers, began winking, and wunk;
While she, in her turn, kept thinking, and thunk.

He hastened to woo her and sweetly he wooed,
For his love grew until a mountain it grewed,
And what he was longing to do then he doed.

In secret he wanted to speak, and he spoke.
To seek with his lips what his heart long had soke;
So he managed to let the truth leak, and it loke.

He asked her to ride to the church, and they rode;
They so sweetly did glide that they both thought they glode,
And they came to the place to be tied, and were toed.

Then homeward, he said, let us drive, and they drove,
And as soon as they wished to arrive, they arrove,
For whatever he couldn't contrive, she controve.

The kiss he was dying to steal, then he stole;
At the feet where he wanted to kneel then he knole;
And he said: "I feel better than ever I fole."

So they to each other kept clinging, and clung,
While Time his swift circuit was winging, and wung;
And this was the thing he was bringing, and brung.

The man Sally wanted to catch, and had caught;
That she wanted from others to snatch, and had snaught,
Was the one that she now liked to scratch, and she scraught.

And Charley's warm love began freezing, and froze,
While he took to tensing and toze
The girl he had wished to be squeezing, and squoze.

"Wretch!" he cried, when she threatened to leave him, and left.
"How could you deceive me, as you have deceft?"
And she answered, "I promised to cleave, and I've cleft."

DULUTH'S WEATHER—A GREAT ASSET.

The Duluth Commercial club has issued in pamphlet form an article on Duluth's weather written by Dr. H. W. Richardson, the local weather bureau man.

The booklet is a classic, and its publication in attractive form by the Commercial club is as fine a stroke of enterprise as it has ever done—and that's a large and good company.

Duluth's weather is a great asset, and one that, perhaps because of too great familiarity with it, Duluth has used for advertising purposes much less than it should.

Here is a climate in which human energy is at its highest point of efficiency for the full twelve months, the full fifty-two weeks, the full three hundred and sixty-five days of the year. There is no hot period when men, if they can work at all, work only at half or three-quarters their usual pace. There is no unduly cold period when work indoors or out is stopped. Every worker with hand or brain is at his best and most efficient the full year around. This is an argument for the location of industries in Duluth that can't be beaten in any other community in the country.

Here is a climate, too, that lends itself eagerly to agricultural and dairying enterprises. There is ample moisture, equably distributed through the season; there is ample sunshine, lasting enough longer each day during the growing season to more than make up for the shorter season; here are conditions of soil and climate that make this a region practically devoid of the climatic vicissitudes that render agriculture a gamble in most sections.

Here is a climate that is good to grow crops in, good to work in, good to live in—a climate that is of the highest value economically and of the most wholesome and health-giving character.

All this Mr. Richardson has set forth in this booklet, without departing from the cool and balanced tone of the official utterance.

The very cold, dry figures form a glowing panegyric.

The formal tables form a tempting picture of an ideal place of residence, and an ideal place for agricultural, commercial and industrial enterprise to locate in.

We hope every citizen of Duluth will get a copy of this book and read it and digest it and commit it to memory, and then send it along to his scoffing friend in the heat-stricken East or the tornado-plagued and blizzard-ravaged West.

No man or woman can read this booklet—and it is written, thanks to Mr. Richardson, so it is easy to read—without becoming a convert to Duluth as the best place on earth to work in, to live in, to prosper in and to be happy and good and useful in.

The Flag's Word to its Makers

Washington Correspondence of the New York Evening Post.

Secretary Franklin K. Lane, of the interior department, made a Flag day speech here to the clerks of his department which, because of the novelty of its form as well as because of its substance, has been widely commented upon. It was not reported fully in the newspapers, but since a knowledge of it got abroad there have been a great many demands for copies of it. Mr. Lane's speech was addressed "To the Makers of the Flag." It is printed here in full:

This morning, as I passed into the land office, the flag dropped me a most cordial salutation, and from its rippling folds I heard it say: "Good morning, Mr. Flag Maker."

"I beg your pardon, Old Glory," I said, "you are mistaken. I am not the president of the United States, nor the vice president nor a member of congress, nor even a general in the army. I am only a government clerk."

"I greet you again, Mr. Flag Maker," replied the gay voice. "I know you well. You are the man who worked in the swelter of yesterday straightening out the tangle of that farmer's homestead in Idaho."

"No, I am not," I was forced to confess.

"Well, perhaps you are the one who discovered the mistake in that Indian contract in Oklahoma."

"No, wrong again," I said.

"Well, you helped to clear that patent for the hopeful inventor in New York, or pushed the opening of that new ditch in Colorado, or made that mine in Illinois more safe, or brought relief to the old soldier in Wyoming. No matter, whichever one of these beneficent individuals you may happen to be, I give you greeting, Mr. Flag Maker."

I was about to pass on feeling that I was being mocked, when the flag stopped me with these words:

"You know, the world knows, that yesterday the president spoke a word that made happier the future of 10,000,000 peons in Mexico, but that act looms no larger on the flag than the struggle which the boy in Georgia is making to win the corn club prize this summer. Yesterday the congress spoke a word which will open the door of Alaska, but a mother in Michigan worked from sunrise until far into the night to give her boy an education. She, too, is making the flag. Yesterday we made a new law to prevent financial panics; yesterday, no doubt, a school teacher in Ohio taught his first letters to a boy who will write a song that will give cheer to the millions of our race. We are all making the flag."

"But," I said, impatiently, "these people were only working."

Then came a great shout from the flag.

"Let me tell you who I am. The work that we do is the making of the the real flag. I am not the flag, not at all. I am but its shadow. I am whatever you make me, nothing more. I am your belief in yourself, your dream of what a people may become. I live a changing life, a life of moods and passions, of heart breaks and tired muscles. Sometimes I am strong with pride, when men do an honest work, fitting the rails together truly. Sometimes I droop, for then purpose has gone from me, and cynically I play the coward. Sometimes I am loud, garish and full of that ego that blasts judgment. But always I am all that you hope to be and have the courage to try for. I am song and fear, struggle and panic and ennobling hope. I am the day's work of the weakest man, and the largest dream of the most daring. I am the Constitution and the courts, statutes and statute makers, soldier and dreadnought, drayman and street sweep, cook, counsellor and clerk. I am the battle of yesterday and the mistake of tomorrow. I am the mystery of the men who do without knowing why. I am the clutch of an idea, and the reasoned purpose of resolution. I am no more than what you believe me to be, and I am all that you believe I can be. I am what you make me, nothing more. I swing before your eyes as a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself, the pictured suggestion of that big thing which makes this nation. My stars and stripes are your dreams and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because you have made them so out of your hearts, for you are the makers of the flag, and it is well that you glory in the making."

"I Told You So!"

Walt Mason in Judge: This world is full of tiresome folks, who should be placed upon the shelves; some bore us with their ancient jokes, and some with jokes they made themselves. Some slam away at men of straw, and some explain the nation's shame, and some expound the tariff law, when we'd discuss the baseball game. Of all the dismal, dreary chaps who roam around this world of woe, the most unbearable, perhaps, is he who says, "I told you so!" When dire Misfortune, stern and grim, gives you a solar plexus blow, you'll get no sympathy from him; he merely says, "I told you so!"

He snooped around when I was young, just as he snoops around today and jarred me with his deadly tongue and took all pleasure from my play. I skated where the ice was thin—for I could skate in forty styles; I found an airhole and went in and sank about a thousand miles. They fished me out, three-quarters drowned, and laid me on the ice and snow; and then the Bore came straddling round and groaned and said, "I told you so!"

I went to rob the honey bees of honey that they did not need; they had it stored away in trees, and I was worried by their greed. "I'll give those bees a stern rebuke," I said, "because they act like pigs." Alas! my effort was a fluke; they stung me with their thing-me-jigs. They stung me on the neck and head, they stung where'er a chance was found; they filled me full of melted lead and left me howling on the ground. And as I lay there, springing shrieks that bent the welkin like a bow, along there came the chief of freaks, who sighed and said, "I told you so!"

And when I grew to be a man, the Bore was always in my way; and if I botched some dazzling plan or worked a scheme that didn't pay, he at my elbow would appear and let his briny teardrops flow, and say to me, in accents drear, the same old wheeze, "I told you so!"

If I fall down a flight of stairs while hunting something in the dark, or hit my shins against the chairs and from those organs knock the bark, or if I'm caught out in the rain without a tent to shed the fall, or if I run to catch a train and miss the blamed thing after all—oh, when my fondest hopes are canned, and I am burdened with my woe, the Bore is sure to be on hand, to sadly say, "I told you so!"

And when the judgment day is here, and we line up to hear our doom, the Bore will be a-loafing near, to add new darkness to the gloom. When I arise in my white shroud, all ready with the goats to go, I'll see him sitting on a cloud and murmuring, "I told you so!"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—For a great many years Edward Keating, now a member of congress from Colorado, was a confirmed bachelor—one of those blatant bachelors who go about offensively boasting about the joys and advantages of their state. He was editor of a newspaper in Denver in those days, and every time one of his young employes got married Keating would drop around with a dubious expression on his face and make some disparaging comment, such as:

"You think two can live as cheap as one, hey?" Or—

"Do you expect to keep a wife on the money you're making here?"

Then he would walk away shaking his head.

One night there was a big wedding in Denver, and along about 10:30 o'clock the society editor came into Keating's office to make inquiry about something. She paused to tell him, with much enthusiasm, about the wedding she had just attended. The bride was extremely beautiful, it seemed, with a complexion like the peaches one sees under pink netting. Somehow or other the account of the marriage of so lovely a creature caught Keating's interest, and he asked the society editor for more details. Realizing that it was perhaps the first time that the managing editor had ever taken even the slightest interest in a wedding account, the society editor talked animately of the apparent joy and happiness in store for the young people.

While listening to the recital, Keating stared into the face of the society editor and noted something that he had entirely overlooked prior to that moment, viz.: that the society editor was herself an attractive young person and that she was not like other women at all. He looked at her again and their eyes met in a funny little exchange of glances. Instantly something in Keating's mental make-up that had been out of place dropped into its proper slot and he was a changed man.

"It might be a splendid idea for you and me to get married," gravely remarked Keating, when the young woman had finished her account of the wedding.

Coming from a man who had devoted many years to lambasting marriage, it was a startling suggestion. Not so much because she desired to marry Keating as because she thought it would be a rich joke on him, the young woman promptly said that she thought his idea was a good one.

For an hour after that, Keating, who had so recently been a cynical bachelor, sat mushily talking about flats and furniture and how awful it must be to go through life without having some one to care for.

A week later they were married, and both Keating and Mrs. Keating have been more than reconciled to the step ever since.

When Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois was made city attorney at Macomb, Ill., he discovered one day an old poll tax law that was hanging on a nail, as one might say, like a discarded vest, back in the legislative wardrobe. There was not a rip or a break or a soup stain on the poll tax law, and yet it was stuck away and not doing anybody a bit of good. Sherman thought it would be a fine idea to get it out and put it to some use.

So he announced one balmy spring morning that every able-bodied man would be expected to do a given amount of work on the streets, or pay $2 to the sinking fund, or else be cast into prison.

For many days after that announcement Sherman was only a wee trifle more popular in the community than if he had been an escaped wildcat.

Nearly everybody declared that they would see Sherman in a certain well-known populous center, which they mentioned, rather than submit to the poll tax. But Sherman was insistent and finally everybody submitted except two men. It was a matter of principle with them, it seemed, and they would not work out or pay any poll tax for anybody. One of them moved his family to another town, where the law was less rigidly enforced, and the other went to jail.

"One of the great troubles with this life," remarked Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado in a philosophical mood one day, "is that a great many of the things most desired come too late to give the maximum degree of pleasure. You have often known some young man who fell madly in love with a girl and desired to marry her beyond anything else in the world. If he could have married her just when he first wished to he might have felt a sense of joy clear beyond anything he ever dreamed of. But maybe he didn't succeed in winning her consent for some time, or the marriage was delayed, and finally when he did marry her he had grown so accustomed to her that he took it all as a matter of course. It was that way with my coming to the senate. I can remember when a seat in the senate would have given me a real thrill—a thrill such as I would have known if I could have ridden in a circus parade when I was a small boy. But when I finally got to the senate, the idea had been in my head too long. The big thrill failed to spark."

Party Truce Proclaims Itself.

Minneapolis Tribune: The political parties that have just emerged from the primary election campaign do not need the suggestion of The Duluth Herald and other newspapers that a truce be called on party activity until the first of September or October.

A truce of that sort will naturally take care of itself.

Candidates who have fought through the primary campaign and lost will be content to drop politics to give their attention to neglected private business, and even later in the year they may have spent enough time and money to let them out of active participation in the campaign for the general election.

Successful candidates know better than to waste money and energy before the general public is tuned up for politics. Nothing is harder than to try to fan political sentiment into flame when the wood is wet—and the wood will be wet enough for the next two months. Besides, if the flame were started now there is danger that the enthusiasm might burn out too soon. It is vastly harder to rekindle the charred and soggy chunks than to start the fire betimes and keep it roaring merrily until election day.

There need be no apprehension that any candidate will allow his zeal to get the better of his common sense or his pocketbook. There is too much at stake.

Candor.

Milwaukee Free Press: Candor is telling the other fellow something about himself that makes him sore at you.

Hammond for Governor

Views of State Press on the Democratic Nominee.

Minnesota's Biggest Man.

St. Cloud Times: It is a matter of sincere congratulation to the Democratic party, and for that matter to every citizen who has the best interests of the state of Minnesota at heart, that Congressman Hammond won the Democratic nomination for governor. Of all the aspirants for governor, Congressman Hammond is the most capable man for the position. By training and ability he will bring to the position that high quality of leadership and executive ability that is essential in the qualification of one seeking so important an office. He is the biggest man in Minnesota available for the job, and Minnesota deserves to have a big man on the job. Mr. Hammond's nomination will inspire the Democrats to make an aggressive campaign for him, which will not be confined to the Democratic party, for Congressman Hammond will do in the state at large what he has done for many years in his own congressional district—he will appeal to all independent voters regardless of their political affiliations. Minnesota has often given evidence of its independent voting and independent thinking, and Mr. Hammond's personality and ability is strong enough to appeal to all citizens who are more concerned with what is best for the the state than what is of advantage to a political machine. We reiterate that Mr. Hammond is the biggest man that has ever been proposed for the job of being governor of the state of Minnesota. As such he ought to and doubtless will be elected.

Lee's Hard Task.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: Whatever anticipations of an easy triumph Col. Lee may have entertained when the returns from the recent primary indicated the nomination of Mr. Lawler on the Democratic ticket are dispelled by the latest figures. Col. Lee faces a contest with an opponent not only of high personal character, fair attainments and a record of respectable service in congress, but one with a reputation as a vote-getter, Mr. Hammond having in four campaigns carried a district normally and heavily Republican. Furthermore, Mr. Hammond has had no part in the dissensions which heretofore have rent the Minnesota Democracy; and despite the close contest with Mr. Lawler, may expect the fairly united support of his party. An indication of this is to be seen in the announcement that Mr. Lawler will take the stump in behalf of Mr. Hammond.

But a Democratic candidate in Minnesota must have more than the support of his united party to be elected. It remains to be seen whether the Lee-Eberhart fight, and the fact that Lee did not support Mr. Eberhart two years ago, has left in its wake enough bitterness to make possible a repetition of the Dunn-Collins encounter of 1904.

A Compliment to Hammond.

St. Cloud Journal-Press (Republican): Congressman Hamnond should have a warm spot in his heart for Blue Earth county. It gave him 1,181 votes to 180 for Lawler, and has probably given him the Democratic nomination for governor. Outside that county Lawler has a lead of some 200 votes. Blue Earth is in his congressional district, and before Hammond entered the practice of law, he was a teacher and was principal of the schools of Mankato, and the wonderful vote he received was in the nature of a personal compliment to him.

All the Worse for Lee.

Minneapolis Tribune (Republican): It will be all the worse for Lee that Hammond is to oppose him. Hammond has proved his vote-getting abilities in four congressional campaigns. His district is Republican. In normal times a Democrat never could have been elected. McCleary, long congressman from that district, had been didactic, however; he had not kept in touch with the trend of sentiment in his district. The people resented it, and as political revolution was in the air, McCleary was turned out and Hammond, a Democrat, was put in. He has had to fight hard to retain his seat, but the fact that he is now on his fourth term proves that as a fighter he can give a good account of himself.

Eight years in the national capital should give as bright a man as Hammond a true perspective of state affairs in the broader aspect, and his training as a member of the state normal school board and as a county attorney and practicing lawyer should make him familiar with general state affairs.

Shaw Writes of Children

You didn't know Shaw knew anything about children? Judge for yourself. Here is the evidence, some of the epigrams from his newest essay, "Parents and Children," from the latest volume of plays published by Brentano's:

The most excusable parents are those who try to correct their own faults in their offspring.

The parent who says to his child, "I am one of the successes of the Almighty; therefore imitate me in every particular, or I will have the skin off your back" (a quite common attitude), is a much more absurd figure than the man who, with a pipe in his mouth, thrashes his boy for smoking.

If you must hold yourself up to your children as an object lesson (which is not at all necessary), hold yourself up as a warning, not as an example.

Every child has a right to its own bent. It has a right to be a Plymouth brother though its parents be convinced atheists.

It has a right to dislike its mother or father or sister or brother or uncle or aunt if they are antipathetic to it.

It has a right to privacy as to its own doings and its own affairs, as much as if it were its own father.

The child has no defense in any case except the kindness and conscience of the adult, and the adult had better not forget this, for it involves a heavy responsibility.

There is, on the whole, nothing on earth intended for innocent people so horrible as a school.

It is in some respects more cruel than a prison.

In a prison, for instance, you are not forced to read books written by the warders and the governors (who, of course, would not be warders and governors if they could write readable books), and beaten or otherwise tormented if you cannot remember their utterly unmemorable contents.

A perpetual holiday is a good working definition of hell.

Those who have been taught most know least.

A Bit of Gaelic Wit.

The Argonaut: A foreman on one of the largest lines of railway has a keen Gaelic wit. One warm afternoon, while walking along the line, he found one of his men placidly sleeping on the embankment. The "boss" looked disgustedly at the delinquent for a full minute and then remarked: "Slape on, ye lazy spalpeen, slape on, fur as long as you slape you've got a job, but whin you wake up you ain't got none."

Former Victim of Bridge Says Game Dwarfs Mind.

Owen Hatteras in the Smart Set: I can never in this world get back the things that bridge has cost me. Money? Not that, so much. But time, and opportunity, and intellectual refinements and pleasures, and the good society of worthwhile people, and a thousand other good things. Bridge has a way of dulling sensibilities. This must be so. How else would men and women, quick to take offense and slow to be appeased in social and business life, calmly submit to bullyragging and polite scourging during a game of bridge?

There is a bigger aspect of the cost of bridge than the merely financial one. The most vicious assault that bridge made upon me was the smallness of mind that was gradually forced upon me. It shows itself in a limited outlook, a puerile and fading discourse and a volume of cheap talk and reminiscences. Those reminiscences! The Lord forgive us! There may be merit and human interest in such reminiscences as Napoleon's of Austerlitz, and Lee's of the Wilderness battles; but what possible virtue can be found in a bridge fiend's ten-minute recitation on how he played that last hand in the game when so-and-so was his partner, when it was game-all, and he held six spades, etc.? Is there anything in the universe more piffling than this sort of air-jamming? And yet is it not what you are hearing, you accomplished bridger, about six or seven days in the week!

Certainly Some Music.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick of Georgia smiled the other evening when reference at a social affair was made to unnecessary noises. He said he was reminded of a thought exploded by a party named Jones.

Jones went down to the fish market one day to lay in a fodder layout, and while glancing over the supply his face took on a reflective expression.

"Smith," he remarked to an acquaintance close by, "do you know that fishes lay millions and millions of eggs every year?"

"I've frequently heard so," was the rather indifferent rejoinder of Smith. "What of it?"

"What of it!" exclaimed Jones. "Why, just suppose they cackled like a chicken every time they laid one."

THANK YOU, SIR!

To the Editor of The Herald:

I respectfully tender you the poem requested in Open Court, "'Ostler Joe."

Yours, ED. McKEEVER, JR.

Duluth, Minn., June 23.

"I stood at eve as the sun went down,
by a grave where a woman lies,
Who lured men's souls to the shores of sin with the light o' her wanton eyes;
Who sang the song that the siren sang on the treacherous Lurley height,
Whose face was as fair as a summer day, and whose heart was as black as night.

"Yet a blossom I fain would pluck today from the garden above her dust—
Not the languorous lily of soulless sin,
nor the blood-red rose of lust.
But a sweet white blossom of holy love that grew in the one green spot
In the arid desert of Phryne's life where all was parched and hot.

"In the summer, when the meadows were aglow with blue and red,
Joe, the 'ostler of the Magpie, and fair
Annie Smith were wed.
Plump was Annie, plump and pretty,
with a cheek as white as snow;
He was anything but handsome, was the Maggie's 'Ostler Joe.

"But he won the winsome lassie.
They'd a cottage and a cow,
And her matronhood sat lightly on the village beauty's brow,
Sped the months and came a baby—
such a blue-eyed baby boy!
Joe was working in the stables when they told him of his joy.

"He was rubbing down the horses, and he gave them then and there
All a special feed of clover, just in honor of the heir.
It had been his great ambition, and he told the horses so,
That the Fates would send a baby who might bear the name of Joe.

"Little Joe the child was christened, and, like babies, grew apace;
He'd his mother's eyes of azure, and his father's honest face.
Swift the happy years went over, years of blue and cloudless sky,
Love was lord of that small cottage, and the tempest passed them by.

"Passed them by for years, then swiftly burst in fury o'er their home.
Down the lane by Annie's cottage chanced a gentleman to roam;
Thrice he came and saw her sitting by the window with her child,
And he nodded to the baby, and the baby laughed and smiled.

"So at last it grew to know him—
little Joe was nearly four;
He would call the 'pretty gemplin' as he passed the open door;
And one day he ran and caught him,
and in child's play pulled him in;
And the baby Joe had prayed for brought about the mother's sin.

"'Twas the same old wretched story that for ages bards have sung.
'Twas a woman weak and wanton and a villain's tempting tongue;
'Twas a picture deftly painted for a silly creature's eyes
Of the Babylonian wonders and the joy that in them lies.

"Annie listened and was tempted; she was tempted and she fell,
As the angels fell from heaven to the blackest depth of hell;
She was promised wealth and splendor
and a life of guilty sloth,
Yellow gold for child and husband, and the woman left them both.

"Home one eve came Joe the 'Ostler with a cheery cry of 'Wife!'—
Finding that which blurred forever all the story of his life.
She had left a silly letter—through the cruel scrawl he spelt;
Then he sought the lonely bedroom,
joined his hands and knelt.

"'Now, O Lord, O God, forgive her, for she ain't to blame,' he cried;
'For I owt t' a seen her trouble, and 'a gone away and died.
Why, a wench like her—God Bless her!
—'twasn't likely as her'd rest
With her bonny head forever on a 'ostler's ragged vest.

"'It was kind o' her to bear me all this long and happy time;
So, for my sake please to bless her,
though you count her deed a crime.
If so be I don't pray proper, Lord, forgive me; for you see,
I can talk all right to 'osses, but I'm nervous like with Thee.'

"Never a line came to the cottage from the woman who had flown.
Joe, the baby, died that winter, and the man was left alone.
Ne'er a bitter word he uttered, but in silence kissed the rod,
Saving what he told the horses, saving what he told his God.

"Far away in mighty London rose the woman into fame,
For her beauty won men's homage, and she prospered in her shame;
Quick from lord to lord she flitted, higher still each prize she won,
And her rival paled beside her as the stars beside the sun.

"Next she made the stage her market, and she dragged Art's temple down
To the level of a show-place for the outcasts of the town.
And the kisses she had given to poor
'Ostler Joe for nought
With their gold and costly jewels rich and titled lovers bought.

"Went the years with flying footsteps
while the star was at its height;
Then the darkness came on swiftly, and the gloaming turned to night.
Shattered strength and faded beauty
tore the laurels from her brow;
Of the thousands who had worshiped never one came near her now.

"Broken down in health and fortune, men forgot her very name,
'Till the news that she was dying
woke the echoes of her fame;
And the papers in their gossip mentioned how an "actress" lay
Sick to death in humble lodgings, growing weaker every day.

"One there was who read the story in a far-off country place,
And that night the dying woman woke and looked upon his face;
Once again the strong arms clasped her that had clasped her long ago,
And the weary head lay pillowed on the breast of 'Ostler Joe.

"All the rest had he forgotten, all the sorrow and the shame,
He had found her sick and lonely, and his wife he now could claim.
Since the grand folks who had known her, one and all had slunk away,
He could clasp his long lost darling, and no man could say him nay.

"In his arms death found her lying, in his arms her spirit fled;
And his tears came down in torrents,
as he knelt beside her, dead.
Never once his love had faltered through her base, unhallowed life,
And the stone above her ashes bears the honored name of wife.

"That's the blossom I fain would pluck today, from the garden above her
dust,
Not the languorous lily of soulless sin
or the blood red rose of lust;
But a sweet, white blossom of holy love that grew in one green spot,
In the arid desert of Phryne's life,
when all was parched and hot."

WOOL AND THE TARIFF

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, June 25. — (Special to The Herald.)—The Hon. Mondell is a member of the national house of representatives from the state of Wyoming, sometimes known as the Hon. Warren's sheep ranch. Mr. Mondell is a garrulous and a voiceful statesman, now one of the most conspicuous calamity-howlers on the national stage. He and his leader Warren made some awful predictions as to the dire things that were to overtake mankind when the corrupt coalition between the weavers and the shepherds was dissolved by putting wool on the free list. My recollection is that the Hon. Warren said that the wool grown in his neck of the woods would not fetch enough to pay the freight on it to the London market.

Well, wool has been on the free list since last October and the price of wool to the shepherd is higher than it has been since 1897 when it was taken from the free list and a tariff tax put on it. The other day the National Wool Growers' association had a powwow in this town. I think I read all the newspapers contained of the proceedings, and I do not recall that they asked a reimposition of the tariff. The burden of their demands was that they be protected from dogs and wild varmints that prey on sheep.

Wool is the only article of commerce that is cheapened in price by a tariff duty. I one day listened to the late Frank Hurd on this subject. One of the Morrison tariff bills was pending and Hurd's constituents in Ohio petitioned him to vote for a duty on wool. He declared he would not heed if every man, woman and child in Ohio asked him to vote to tax wool. As an orator he had no superior in congress, even as congress was then constituted, and few rivals. When he rose to speak every Republican gripped the arms of his chair, for he knew his party would get a terrible jolt before Hurd sat down.

Frank Hurd seemed perfectly indifferent to applause. He was careless regarding such things, and this speech, one of the greatest forensic efforts congress ever heard, he did not print in the Record. He was a very busy man with a large law practice, and while in congress many hours of his leisure he devoted to conference with that other great lawyer and accomplished gentleman, J. Proctor Knott. It was my lucky fortune to be present one afternoon when they met, both in capital feather, and ere they parted they scattered enough gems of intellect to make the fortunes of a score of common congressmen.

Here was the argument Hurd made on the wool tax. A woolen mill has so much capital. Part of it is set aside for the plant, part for the wages of labor and part for the purchase of raw material. As to wool nature is a rank free trader. To get best results the wools of various countries must be mixed and consequently if the mill has to pay 11 cents a pound tariff duty on foreign wool the lower will be the wage of its labor and the cheaper the price it pays for the domestic wool. Take that 11 cents a pound off imported wool and the factory can afford to increase wages and advance the price of American wool and the history of wool has vindicated that philosophy in every clime under the sun.

It was ridiculous to hear the henchmen of monopoly in the two houses of congress plead for the wool tax in the name of the farmer. They said he could not raise wool on American high-priced lands in competition with the low-priced lands of Australia. Well, England has been doing it on lands worth $300 an acre on the Scottish border and on her south coast. Today there are 30,000,000 sheep on the 88,000 square miles of England and Scotland, just a little bigger than Minnesota and not near as big as Wyoming. But your English shepherd gives constant attention to his flock. Your American farmer turns his sheep adrift to shift for themselves. When the American farmer comes to think more of a valuable sheep than he does of a worthless cur dog the industry in this country will prosper and soon we will have 300,000,000 sheep on our boundless pastures.

It was amusing to hear Flockmaster Warren speak of the wool duty as a protection to the farmer. If in Kentucky a farmer raised 20 hogs—and 100 pounds of wool, the Hon. Warren called him a wool-grower, when the tariff on wool cost him two or three times as much as all his wool would fetch in the market. He only kept a flock of a dozen or so sheep so as to have lamb for dinner when the preacher came, or other high-toned company.

Now a sheep would be a valuable animal if it yielded no more fleece than a pig, that is if the farmer had gumption enough to give the same care to the sheep that he does to a mule colt. It is possible that weeds tax the American soil as much as the corn crop. Sheep will clear a farm of many of its weeds and at the same time constantly add to the fertility of the soil. The natural annual increase of a flock properly managed is at least 60 per cent, and the fleece will pay for the care and provender for the animal, and then they have the barefaced impudence, or the hopeless stupidity, to say that such an animal must be "protected" by a tariff on wool.

Let me tell you. If the Republican party should regain power in both branches of congress as a result of the election of 1916 and a Republican is inaugurated president in 1917, they will not dare reimpose a tariff duty on wool.

Jonathan P. Dolliver is dead, but Republicans have come to feel that his spirit is marching on.

NEW BOOKLET ON "CANOE COUNTRY"

Famous Vermilion Route Being Widely Advertised By Railroad.

"The lakes and streams of Northern Minnesota" is the title of a handsome booklet just issued by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. It is profusely illustrated from cover to cover with scenes along the "Vermilion route," and is calculated to arouse the interest of tourists in the pleasure and profit to be derived in spending their summer vacations among the lakes in that sportsman's paradise.

The fishing, hunting, canoeing and camping possibilities offering along the route extending from Duluth to Vermilion lake together with a number of available side trips are all interestingly described. Under that category are to be mentioned numerous camping scenes on beautiful Lake Vermilion, together with information as to the hotel and summer cottages and accommodations afforded there; then on through the Vermilion river, the lake regions adjacent to Ely, the Elbow lake region, the trip from Winton to Hunter's island with the scenes of primitive Indian life afforded en route, and the celebrated canoe trip from Ely to Tower, the route of which is outlined on a separate map accompanying the folder.

Taken all in all the booklet may be described as one of the most complete and entertaining ever issued by any railroad passenger department catering to the tourist trade. It reflects great credit upon H. Johnson, general passenger agent of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad by whom it was compiled.

It is being distributed by the thousands in the leading hotels of the Eastern and Southern cities and cannot but prove an effective medium in bringing about a migration of tourists this way from those heated centers.

OLD WRITINGS LAY MAN'S FALL TO NOAH

Tablets Written Before Abraham's Time Have Been Deciphered.

Philadelphia, June 25. — Reports cabled from London describing a new version of the flood and the fall of man, deciphered from an ancient Sumerian tablet by Dr. Stephen Langdon, professor of Assyrology in Jesus college, Oxford, are confirmed by officials of the University of Pennsylvania museum. The tablet is part of the collection unearthed by the university's expedition to Nippur, and the inscription on it was copied by Dr. Langdon when he visited this city last fall.

Written Before Abraham.

On comparing the tablet which Dr. Langdon has just translated with a similar fragment translated by Dr. Procbel, the university authorities found that the two tablets had evidently been written by the same person about 2,500 B. C., or about 400 years before the time of Abraham. It is believed the two tablets are parts of other tablets which formed a treatise or hymn of praise containing an account of the beginning of the world. Dr. Procbel estimated that there were ten tablets in the complete work.

Noah, Not Adam.

The fragment translated by Dr. Langdon tells of the flood and uses the Sumerian equivalent for Nuhu, or Noah, as the man who saved man from destruction. It differs from the biblical account of creation in reciting that it was Noah who sinned by eating of the fruit of the tree of knowledge, and thus brought about his fall. From this time on, according to this account, Noah had to work, and man's days were shortened to their present length. It was Enki, the water god, who tempted him, in this account.

JOBBERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Volume of Orders From West Is Showing Marked Expansion.

Bright Crop Prospects Exert Cheering Influence in All Quarters.

With a continuation of favorable crop developments over the Northwest, the volume of trade booked during the present week by local wholesale and manufacturing establishments is reported to have shown a substantial increase in the aggregate.

Some of the jobbers have sent out queries to customers located at various points asking for reports regarding the present crop prospects in their districts. Replies received thus far have been uniformly satisfactory. In some sections of North Dakota, Western Minnesota and Montana the outlook is said to be the best in the last fifteen or twenty years. That condition is specially applicable to Northwestern North Dakota and Montana, in districts where the harvests had been disappointing during the last three years.

Grocery Trade Increases.

A heavy increase in sales in general grocery staples over the territory was reported by the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior. The firmer situation in sugars, coffees and other lines is said to be inducing retailers to stock up more freely. Sugars were advanced ten points more yesterday, making a bulge of forty points within the last three weeks. The buying of sugars by retailers has shown a remarkable increase of late, and consumption is gaining as the height of the preserving season approaches.

The trade in coffees is marking time at present, and in the meantime list figures are being firmly held. The future course of the market is conceded to depend upon the outturn of the growing crop.

The new pack of canned vegetables is expected to make its appearance on the market in about two weeks in some lines. As the yield of most green stuffs is likely to be large, the price tendency is weak.

In dried fruits, prunes are scarce in some sizes, and their market is firm. Canned strawberries are up 20@25 cents a dozen, owing to the comparative failure of the crop in some sections of the country.

Strong Market in Woolens.

Current orders in dry goods are showing substantial expansion, both in size and volume, according to F. A. Patrick & Co. There has been a rush of mail orders in haberdashery and women's dress accessories during the last few days, and the number of small shipments going out by express and parcel post is increasing.

A development commented upon is the higher range quotations in raw wool in the fleece. The market is up approximately 3 cents over last season's figures, with 20 cents a pound and over being paid sheep raisers in this district. An advance in general manufactured woolen lines is predicted on that account.

Harness Orders Expand.

The current month's business in harness, saddlery and leather findings is said by the Schulze Brothers company to be the best in the history of the house, an increase being shown over last year ranging at between 30 and 35 per cent. Re-orders in summer goods such as netting, harness covers, etc., are considered remarkably good, leading to the expectation that very little stock will be carried over this season. Reports from salesmen are cheerful. An additional traveler was put on by the house this week to cover Eastern South Dakota and Northern Nebraska.

Though preparations for fall shipments are not usually begun before July 15, the company's factory continues to work full time.

Similar activity in the leather trade was reported by the Northwestern Leather company. Substantial orders in shoemakers' findings are being received.

Furniture Dealers Optimistic.

As an evidence of the bright crop prospects, it was mentioned by the DeWitt-Seitz company that furniture orders are coming to-hand from points in Northern North Dakota that had not been heard from in several months. The house's trade from over all sections of the country is bulking up in heavier volume than a year ago. Business from over Northern Michigan is showing the best relative improvement, as with miners now under steady employment by the copper companies, retailers at the points affected are beginning to fill up their stocks, that had become badly depleted during the long strike.

Hardware Prices Firm.

While there are no special features, business was reported good all round by the two Duluth hardware jobbing establishments, the Kelley-How-Thomson company, and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company. Quotations in steel products are firmer, with advances in some lines forecasted in the near future. Harvesting supplies and leather belting are prominent in current shipments over the west.

STEEL OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTENING

Steel and iron manufacturers report a further brightening up in the trade outlook during the last few days.

It is intimated that railroad managements feel satisfied that a rush of equipment orders will follow the interstate commerce commission's decision in the rate case and that some of them are quietly placing a part of their orders in advance.

Consumers are said to feel so satisfied that the bottom in quotations has been reached that they are endeavoring in many quarters to place orders for third and fourth quarter delivery on the basis of the present lists, but the mills are generally turning down these offers. Manufacturers think they will get substantially higher prices for fourth quarter shipment.

Orders are estimated to show a considerable gain over last month. Wire and nail mills and the tin plate plants are operating on a higher basis than the other plants, and it is thought that the buying movement should lift up operations in other lines before the end of the month. It is figured in trade circles that the volume of unfilled orders will show an increase in June 30 statements.

THREE SHOT AND FOUR ARE SLASHED.

San Antonio, Texas, June 25.—Two men were killed by a sheriff's posse, another injured and the sheriff and four deputies slashed with knives yesterday in McMullen county, near here, when Sheriff W. T. Holt tried to arrest E. A. Mauricio, wanted on a minor charge. Mauricio and his son, G. A. Mauricio, were reported dead, and another son, Joseph, wounded.

THIRD TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Terrific Wind Storm Descends Upon Camp at Lake City.

Tents Blown Down and Contents Drenched By the Rain.

Camp Lakeview, Lake City, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Third regiment was taken by surprise Tuesday night, not by the enemy, but by a terrific wind storm that broke over the camp grounds just after 10 o'clock, followed by a heavier shower. As the evening was very warm, most of the tents were rolled up, and the brilliant lightning flashes during the storm, which came on suddenly, assisted the men, who came running from all directions, in fastening down tent ropes and closing the tent flaps. However, some of them were at remote places from camp, and the result was that they found their tents blown down when arriving at their quarters. The wind came down the valley from the north, and the worst part of it passed over the lake, although enough of it struck the camp grounds to make things interesting. Drum Major Simpson, who occupies the tent on the east end of the band street, reported that the wind hit the north mess house and "ricochet" to his tent, but as he had prepared for the storm it passed over and picked up the first sergeant's tent of Company B, Anoka, as though it was a paper doll house. The first sergeant of Company G, Princeton, was around Wednesday morning picking up his pay roll blanks and reports in the adjoining company street.

Swept Out to Water's Edge.

Capt. Lee R. Dunbar, regular army officer, inspector of the sanitary troops, was not in his tent when the storm hit camp, and as he is located on the north end of the regimental street, near the lake shore, his cot and equipment were swept out, as though they were straws, down to the water's edge, and his tent followed. O course, everything was drenched with water, as the rain followed the wind before there was time to re-pitch the tents that were blown down.

Wednesday morning the Third battalion finished its work on the target range, and some good scores were made, as the weather was ideal for shooting. The First battalion took up its work on the drill grounds in company close order movements 30 minutes, company extended order 60 minutes, and establishing battalion in field attack 90 minutes. The Second battalion was also on the drill grounds, and took up the work of intrenchments by company which continued for two hours, and withdrawal from action, which took up one hour's time.

Regimental Team Match.

In the afternoon the regimental team match was held on the rifle range. The men making the highest scores in this competitive shoot will be sent to camp in September to take part in the shoot with the teams from the first and second regiment. The twelve men scoring the highest in this match will be sent to Camp Perry Ohio, to enter in the national rifle shoot which includes teams from all the states. This is an annual event.

The officers and non-commissioned officers' schools were held as usual Wednesday afternoon. In going over the daily routine, it will be seen that everybody is busy during the day, although the men have a great deal of time to rest and enjoy themselves while at camp.

The regimental canteen, which is in charge of Lieut. Neville P. Mowatt, and assisted by Albert Hockey, William Keenan and William Gullings of Duluth has been a very busy department, and the men in charge report that the boys of the regiment are well taken care of, and that no disordrs of any nature took place. Taking it altogether this has been one of the most successful and beneficial encampments of the Third regiment that has ever taken place, and Col. F. E. Resche, who is in command, is well pleased with the results obtained.

Good Machine Gun Score.

The machine gun company of Rochester were firing on the 250-yard rifle range Wednesday afternoon. One particularly good score was made by Private M. P. Pendergast, who hit the bulls eye twenty times on a string of thirty shots rapid firing. It must be remembered that these guns shoot 600 shots per minute when running at full speed.

The additional visitors in camp during the past two days are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sheridan and Misses Grace and Jessie Sheridan of Duluth, who came down from Minneapolis in their automobile where they have also been visiting. While in camp Lieut. Clarence W. Taylor of Duluth, who is attached to the hospital corps, has been explaining to them all the various routine orders. Lieut. Taylor is able to distinguish all the bugle calls, and the one he can interpret the quickest is "Mess call." Former Adjt.-Gen. E. B. Libby was a visitor at camp this week.

Visit From Capt. Miser.

Capt. W. M. Miser, who was formerly in command and also organized Company E of Duluth, renewed old acquaintances at camp Wednesday. Capt. Miser, who is now located at Jacksonville, Ill., is general manager of the Jacksonville Light & Power company, which furnishes light and gas for the city, and also an interurban trolley line which has thirty-four miles of track.

The officers held another dancing party in the north mess hall Wednesday evening. This was given in compliment to some friends of the officers, who entertained them at Lake City Tuesday evening. Maj. Kelley of St. Paul had charge of the program.

The ceremonies for Wednesday evening consisted of regiment in line for Gen. F. B. Wood, and parade in line of masses. Maj. Pratt of the First battalion was in command of the regiment. Company L of Red Wing was detailed for guard duty, with Capt. John N. Love as officer of the day.

This is governor's day in camp. Governor Eberhart will arrive at the camp grounds in the afternoon with his staff, and will review the regiment.

Breaking Camp Orders.

Orders for breaking camp have been issued. The first section will leave camp at 6:30 o'clock Friday morning. This section will include the field officers, staff and Third regiment band of Duluth, Companies A, C and E of Duluth, Company M of Hibbing, and Company F of Eveleth. This will be a special train and no stop over will be made at St. Paul, as the train will go right through and will arrive at Duluth at 3 p. m., so that the companies from the range towns will be able to leave the same afternoon for their respective stations.

The balance of the regiment will leave camp at 8:30 a. m., and the cars of the various companies will be turned over to the connecting railroads along the line.

STATISTICAL GAME IS WON BY VIRGINIA TEAM

Dooks Lose the First Contest in Thirteen By 13 to 4 Score.

Some Amazing Figures Are Compiled With Aid of Adding Machine.

BY BRUCE.

(And the Adding Machine.)

Yesterday our side was defeated by the Virginia nine, an aggregation from the northern part of the state, by the score of 13 to 4. Working with feverish energy till the early hours of the morning we were able to compile some statistics concerning this amazing game.

Borrowing an adding machine from the business department of the great and well-known family newspaper and also securing the services of an expert accountant an amazing array of figures was marshaled.

Following will be found some of the figures:

Mileage department—It was computed that the outfielders of the Duluth team covered 134 miles during the afternoon, in addition to the swim of 30 yards by Henry Brackett in the pool in center field.

Disbursement department—It is estimated that $23.75 was lost during the afternoon in balks that went over the fence and general wear and tear on the nerves of Harry Blume and Joe, the ground keeper. Both of these men are expert accountants in the matter of baseballs and one lost causes a mental strain that we have decided to figure in the lost column. This meets with the business office expert accountant's idea of business.

Pass department—With the assistance of the business expert and dilligent use of the adding machine it was discovered that 87 free passes were issued during the day. Had the game been played in Superior this would have come under the direct jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission and someone would have had to answer for the flagrant violation of its rules and regulations.

Speed department—After carefully checking up the figures of this department it is found that 67 bases were stolen or nearly stolen during the afternoon. During the afternoon it is computed that the men on the paths ran, to and fro, back and forth, 187 miles, which would require 12 hours and 47 minutes to cover by a high-grade automobile on the roads between here and Minneapolis—if the driver was an expert and lucky.

Bonehead department—We wish to report to the chairman of the holocaust investigation that it was with the utmost difficutly that the figures in this department were compiled. There were rows and rows of them. The sum total was amazing. Our report is incomplete as yet, but we have discovered and uncovered 197 bonehead plays and have several witnesses under subpoena who are expected to tell of others. The committee on bonehead plays will hold another meeting later in the week.

The Tedious Details.

The hit department—This department wishes to report for your consideration and possible approval the diligent labor of the members of the committee appointed to investigate the hits. Its members started to work immediately after the completion of the game. In shirt sleeves and without shirts the committee members labored on through the still watches of the night. Grape juice and lemonade were brought in at midnight. Later some other drinks were brought in. The members of the committee needed stimulant and refreshment. We sweated and toiled until 6 o'clock this morning. We found that during the game twenty hits were made, sixty-five were nearly made, and that fifty-eight men were prevented from making hits or attempting to make hits because the ball was not thrown in the vicinity of the plate.

The pitching committee's report—Before submitting this report, Mr. Chairman, our chairman wished to state a few facts for your consideration. One of the members of this committee became violently insane during our investigation. Another fainted away. One man got writer's cramp and another member of the committee got into a heated argument with the operator of the adding machine, claiming that the figures were not possible. It was with the utmost difficulty that our task was completed. We found that 3,687 balls were delivered during the course of the aftrenoon. Of these six were over the plate. Two hit the grandstand. One pitcher was used during the afternoon and three substitutes.

Recapitulation.

The game was started at 3 o'clock—it was finished shortly after the first inning to all intents and purposes. Mr. Wright pitched for Virginia. He was born in Ohio, near the Waumee river. He is no relation to the Wright Brothers and seldom goes up in the air.

Mr. Blancke started to pitch for us. He started. Mr. Schenck also started. He also started. Mr. Sharin also started. He also finished, but under protest.

Mr. Collins has a lame foot. After reaching first it was decided to let Darby O'Brien run for him. But why Darby O'Brien? Yes, but Collins was slowed up with a lame foot. Yes, but why O'Brien; he's slowed up also.

The contest was the first game lost in the last thirteen. It is believed superstition did it. A posse was searching for superstition during most of the night.

Virginia, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The town was all het up last evening. Red fire was burned in the streets and some of the buffets. A parade was held and several speeches made. The score is to be engraved on a tablet and set up in the public library. If the police will permit it, a photograph of Kid Taylor will be framed and placed in the high school. The citizens are planning to buy Fred Greisch a house and lot—they are planning.

The Last Word.

P. S.—The members of the team left last evening for Fort William. Harry Blume left with them. Didn't he dare remain in the city? The real cause of his going is not known. An investigation of his affairs is being made today.

Richard Leahy left the team, as was told in the great family paper yesterday. We have it straight that Dick held a talk with a clairvoyant the day before yesterday, and secured definite information as to the happenings of yesterday.

Dr. J. A. McCuen could not be found last night or early today. O. F. Collier's phone does not answer. George Lucore is ill. John Meining has been called out of the city.

The team will return July 6, and by that time much will be forgotten.

WINONA WINS FINAL GAME FROM PEGGERS.

Winnipeg, Man., June 25.—Winona secured an even break in the series by winning the final game last evening by the score of 6 to 5. The Pirates secured five runs in the second inning and after that the Maroons made a staunch fight to win out, just missing tieing up the score. Joe Fautch got a home run and this hit settled the game. Old Lefty Davis showed a flash of the form that made him famous in big league annals when he went back and robbed Swalm of a home run hit with two on the basecks. It was one of the greatest catches ever seen here. Score:

Hawkins was on the mound for the home team and he whiffed ten men and held the visitors to six widely scattered hits. The great Fred Glass was twice the whiff route victim of the local southpaw. After a conference with President John Burmeister it has been decided that Manager Lizzette will have full charge of the team and Owner Conrad will fade away in the precincts of the business office.

Maranville walked, Gowdy singled and Deal tripled, scoring three runs.

Stock's double, Meyers' single, bases on balls by Perdue to Bescher and Burns, and a single by Fletcher in the fifth inning of the second contest, resulted in three runs for New York. Another score was added in the ninth when Merkle doubled, stole third and crossed the plate on a sacrifice fly by Stock. Marquard kept Boston's four hits widely scattered. Score:

Phillies Score Two.

Philadelphia, June 25.—Philadelphia won both games of a double-header from Brooklyn here yesterday, the scores being 2 to 0 and 6 to 1. Both Philadelphia's runs in the opening contest were started by passes given by Ragan. In the second the home team bunched hits on Brown and Allen and won easily. Mayer and Alexander, who twirled for Philadelphia kept their opponents' hits scattered. Only one error, a muff of a throw by Luderus, was made during the two games, and this resulted in the only tally secured by Brooklyn.

Umpire Orth slipped going through a passageway to Philadelphia's bench before the first game and ruptured the ligaments of his right knee and sprained his elbow. He was taken to a hospital where it was said it would be several weeks before he can again umpire. Scores:

Two for Browns.

St. Louis, Mo., June 25.—St. Louis was victor in both games of a long drawn-out double-header yesterday afternoon, defeating Cleveland 5 to 4 and 3 to 1. St. Louis won the first game, a loosely played affair, on Agnew's double and successive singles by Wellman and Shotten. In the second game three bases on balls coupled with a single and a sacrifice fly gave St. Louis a lead Cleveland could not overcome. In the sixth inning, a double by Leary, an error and Miller's bunt for a perfect squeeze counted one more. Cleveland scored its run on a base on balls and Carisch's triple. Scores:

Break Even.

New York, June 25.—New York and Boston broke even on their double-header here yesterday, the visitors winning the first game, 3 to 0, while the New Yorks turned the tables on the second game, 3 to 2. Boston won the first game by bunching three of its five hits in the fifth inning. Janvrin doubled and took third on Nunamaker's wild throw to catch him off second. He scored on Gardner's infield single. Yerkes then hit a home run into the left field bleachers, scoring Gardner ahead of him. Leonard pitched brilliantly for Boston, twenty of the Yankees going out on files. A sensational one-handed catch by Lewis on Holden featured this game. The second game was a nip-and-tuck affair, which Hartzell won by driving Bedient's first pitch into the upper tier of the right field grandstand for a home run in the ninth inning. Foster injured his leg fielding a grounder in this game and had to be assisted off the field. Scores:

White Sox Beat Tigers.

Chicago, June 25.—Chicago broke Covaleskie's record of runless innings yesterday and incidentally defeated Detroit by 5 to 2 in the first game of the series here.

Covaleskie had pitched 32 2-3 innings for Detroit without a run being charged against him, but after one out in Chicago's third inning, his opponent on the mound, Eddie Cicotte, scored the first run, thereby stopping Covaleskie at his thirty-fifth inning. The visiting twirler was hit hard and this attack, coupled with the loose fielding of Purtell, gave the locals the game.

Kavanaugh was ordered off the field by Umpire Connolly for arguing a third strike decision. The batting of Blackburn and Breton was a feature. Ty Cobb did not accompany the Detroit team to Chicago. Score: R. H. E.

Lewis and McLarry, who engaged in a fist fight during Tuesday's game, were notified shortly before the game that they were under suspension pending an investigation into their row by President Chivington. JOHNSON WILL DEFEND CHAMPIONSHIP CROWN

JACK JOHNSON.

At the Velodrome d'Hiver, Paris, on Saturday Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion boxer of the world, will defend his title against Frank Moran of Pittsburg. While Moran may surprise the world of boxing by the defeat of the ebony ring warrior, he is generally considered in the light of a pugilistic upstart by the followers of the glove game. Moran beat Al Palzer when the big Iowan was an ill man. Outside of this feat he has accomplished little. If Johnson is half the pugilist he was the July afternoon he vanquished James J. Jeffries, he will win in a frolic. Johnson may be gone inside, and herein lies the chance of the former iron worker.

TEN EYCK SENDS CREW ON FIRST TIME TRIAL

Bantams, Juniors and Seniors Row Over Mile and Half Course Under Watchful Waiting of Stop Watch.

Jim Ten Eyck gave his rowing students the first time trial of the season at the early and somewhat unearthly hour of 6 this morning.

The trial was all that Prof. Ten Eyck could hope for. Its result showed that some more speed will have to be packed on by all of the crews before July 24 and 25 roll round.

Starting the bantam four off on the limit of the handicap, the junior eight followed with a good lead over the senior eight, which was placed on scratch. The bantams finished ahead and the junior eight second. During the final half mile of the mile and a half race the juniors rowed nearly as fast as the seniors. The senior eight nearly caught the juniors at the car barn and from this point in the race was a hummer.

Juniors Are Game.

According to the statement of Jimmy Ten Eyck, the juniors showed gameness all the way through the race. Rowing the final half mile of a race is the hardest part of it. From the car barn on the junior oarsmen gave the best they had and held their own, or almost held their own, with the older men.

As yet the bantams and juniors show lack of finish. This is to be expected. The juniors are green and light. Both the oarsmen of the junior and bantam boats are very rough in spots. The period to date has been spent in the rudiments of rowing—and the rudiments are legion. It has required time and effort to remove the mark of the beginners and from this time on the boys are expected to begin to take on finish.

Remember Syracuse.

All of the members of the Ten Eyck squad yesterday sent wires to Ten Eyck Pere and some of the members of the Syracuse boats.

Walter Glass, the Duluth boy, is the stroke of the Syracuse varsity eight and Art Osman is the stroke of the junior varsity eight, an eight that is just above the freshmen.

As these boys are Duluthians, and as the elder Ten Eyck is the pater of our James and has always manifested an interest in the Duluth crews, it is but natural that the boys in the Duluth Boat club squad should show a large amount of interest in the outcome of the races that will be held on the Hudson, over the famous Poughkeepsie course, tomorrow.

DINGE AND MORAN AWAIT THE GONG

Johnson and Moran Both Confident of Victory—Kid Williams Matched.

Paris, June 25.—Jack Johnson and Frank Moran, the American heavyweights who are to fight for the championship here on Saturday, appear to be equally confident of victory as their training draws to a close. Johnson is so certain he will win that he has $5,000 to place on his chances, but so far found no takers. Moran, at his training quarters, a few miles outside of Paris, asserted yesterday he was

IT'S a glad day for a tobacco chewer when he finds the Real Tobacco Chew. "Right-Cut" is made of rich, mellow, full-bodied tobacco. Seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Knowing how much it means to his comfort a man takes pleasure in telling his friends about it, too.

You don't have to grind it away. The taste lasts.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

If your dealer does not sell it, send us 10c. in stamps for a pouch of "Right-Cut" Chewing Tobacco.

DEFENDER CANDIDATES AGAIN SHOWING PACE.

Glen Cove, Long Island, June 25.—The three American cup yachts, Resolute, Vanitie and Defiance, were brought over to the Glen Cove course this morning to try out their paces in feathery airs and smooth waters.

It was the sixty-seventh annual regatta of the New York Yacht club today, and besides the big cup sloops, the "thirties," "fifties" and two classes of schooners were sent to the starting line. The course was triangular.

Southampton, England, June 25.—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV, challenger for the America's cup, is being sloop-rigged again, but retains the longer bowsprit and will have a bigger single head-sail than before. Whether this change will be permanent, depends upon the result of further tests of the challenger with the older Shamrock.

WHITNEY PUTS OVER A "K. O."

Earl Henderson Is Put to Sleep By Southern Boy.

Hal Clark Arrives and Is Ready for Kid Billings.

BY BRUCE.

There may be a sort of tumult and wailing and gnashing of teeth in the Pal Brown camp today. The cause is quite sufficient; the result may be discomforting.

Last evening at Rock Island, Ill., Frankie Whitney knocked out Earl Henderson, a welterweight, in the third round of a scheduled ten round bout. This kayo is the why and possible wherefore of the dismal thoughts in the Chisholm training camp of Brown.

Whitney was substituted for the original opponent of Henderson at the eleventh hour. For a lightweight to face a welterweight without preparation is accounted some ring task as ring tasks go. Whitney went in against his heavier opponent and won the battle by a clean knockout, according to the dispatches received here, in the forepart of the third round.

The short shift that Whitney made of Welterweight Henderson will no doubt cause some of the neutral followers of boxing to believe that Pal Brown is due for a knockout on the evening of the Fourth of July.

This Whitney is one tough customer. He wants to be the card at the Head of the Lakes, as he sees emolument and lots of work ahead in the event of his winning decisively from Brown. Whitney has confided to the promoters that he is going to beat Brown, not only that, but stop the range lad before the time for the completion of the final round is tolled off.

The ring record of Whitney is liberally dotted with K. O.'s, and as the recent performances of the southern boy indicates that he is there with the sleep wallop, he may use it against Brown.

The Billings Chance.

Hal Clark of Milwaukee reached Superior early today. Kid Blanche is also in that city. Today Clark will come over to Duluth and meet some of the ardent followers of the boxing game.

Clark gives the rising Kid Billings his first chance to break into the pugulistic limelight. The bout of tomorrow evening will be the first star bout for the kid and it will give him his first real chance to prove his ring worth.

The Milwaukee welterweight is rated as one real tough kid. It is said that he packs a punch. Friends of the Billings park lad are wondering whether he is not being sent along to fast. They asked that same question when he met Buck Seidel. A win for the Billings park kid will mean that he is ready for some of the large time bouts.

Billings has really showed more real promise than any boxer brought out in these parts for some time. He is a two-handed fighter, cool and crafty and very fast. When it is considered that this boy has been boxing professionally for the space of but four or five months, his progress is really remarkable.

Billings and Clark, if Clark is as good as some of the reports indicate, should be a corking contest, for Billings has everything to gain in the winning of the contest of tomorrow evening.

CREWS READY FOR BIG REGATTA RACES.

Pougkeepsie, N. Y., June 25.—The fifteen crews representing Cornell, Syracuse, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wisconsin have completed their hard work and are virtually ready for the contest on the Hudson Friday afternoon. All the crews were on the water yesterday afternoon and evening, but the work was confined to easy rowing and a few practices at starts. It was the hottest day the oarsmen have experienced, and even short rows and easy paddling made the work strenuous because of the excessive humidity.

Henley, England, June 25.—The crew of the Union Boat club of Boston, which is to compete in the Henley regatta, arrived here last evening from Liverpool, where they landed yesterday. The men were all in good condition. The crew went out on the water for a brief spin, paddling downstream, and made a very favorable impression on the numerous oarsmen who watched them. The Americans will commence serious practice today.

FAMOUS PITCHER TAKES A BRIDE

Walter Johnson and Nevada Congressman's Daughter Are Married.

Washington, June 25.—Walter Johnson, famous pitcher of the Washington American league baseball team, and Miss Hazel Lee Roberts, daughter of Representative E. E. Roberts of Nevada were married here last night at the home of the bride's parents. Only members of the Roberts family witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. Prettiman, chaplain of the senate.

The pitcher and his bride will not have their honeymoon until after the close of the baseball season.

Miss Roberts and her mother saw Johnson pitch his way to victory against the world's champions, the Athletics, yesterday afternoon.

The bride came to Washington three years ago when her father was elected to the sixty-second congress. Johnson, though a veteran in the baseball world, is only 26 years old. His home is in Coffeyville, Kan., and he owns a ranch near by.

TAKES POLO HONORS.

Kansas City Team Defeats Denver in Fast Game.

Kansas City, Mo., June 25.—With the thermometer above the 90 deg. mark and a glaring sun dancing over the field, the Blues of the Kansas City Country club defeated the Denver Country club four in the second match of the tournament of the Western circuit of the National Polo association here yesterday, 10¾ to 5¾.

The match, played on Swope park field, was fast and replete with spectacular plays. Huston, perhaps, was the backbone of the Denver team. He never appeared to have difficulty in hooking the ball out of the scrimmage.

WILL RAISE PENNANT.

Milwaukee Team, Association Champions, Will Celebrate Honor.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—An added feature to the St. Paul-Milwaukee baseball game this afternoon will be the unfurling and raising of the pennant won by the Milwaukee American association team last season. President Timme of the Milwaukee team has arranged a series of athletic contests between the visiting and home club players, prior to the game.

Mayor G. A. Bading, it is expected, will make an address when the champions bring the pennant to the grandstand.

ELECT THEIR CAPTAINS.

Pennsylvania and Michigan Universities' Ball Teams Choose Leaders.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 25.—R. H. Wallace of Philadelphia, a junior in the Wharton school, yesterday was elected captain of the Pennsylvania baseball team for next year. Wallace has played first base on the Quaker team for two years.

Immediately after its victory over Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon, the Michigan team elected Edmond P. McQueen of Lowell, Mich., as its captain. McQueen, a senior engineer, has played second base two seasons for the Wolverines.

LODGE ENDS ITS SEASON'S WORK

Several Well Known Speakers Address Royal Arch Masons.

T. W. Hugo, Jerome E. Cooley, John H. La Vaque and Dr. William F. Hovis, pastor of the Endion Baptist church, were speakers last evening at an informal dinner which was held in the banquet hall of the Masonic temple under the auspices of Keystone Chapter No. 20, Royal Arch Masons. Charles G. Mead, high priest of Keystone chapter, presided as toastmaster.

The occasion was the winding up of the season's work for Keystone chapter. Before and after the banquet the ceremonial of the Royal Arch degree was conferred on three classes of candidates. The next meeting of the chapter will probably be in September, when the annual election will take place. It is planned to dispense with all convocations during the summer months.

GRAECO-TURKISH WAR IS RECEDING

Sale of Battleships By U. S. Helps Keep Peace.

London, June 25.—Fear of war between Greece and Turkey is receding. Greece yesterday communicated a new note to the powers accepting the Porte's proposals that the property of Turkish refugees shall be exchanged for the property of Greek refugees, and that a Graeco-Turkish commission be appointed to make a valuation of the properties. Greece invites the powers to designate a neutral chairman of the commission.

An Athens dispatch to the Daily Telegram says that the United States congress, by authorizing the sale of warships to Greece, has averted an immediate declaration of war, and that the prospects for peace have been greatly improved.

Fighting continues in Albania, and the Mussulman insurgents, according to late advices, have captured Berat, thirty miles northeast of Avlona and one other small town.

CHINESE WOMAN IS GUILTY OF KILLING.

St. Louis Mo., June 25.—Mrs. Jeu Hon Yee, the Christianized Chinese who hacked her husband to death with a hatchet on April 1, was found guilty of second degre murder by a jury here last night, and was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. The woman had pleaded self defense.

"NATIONAL HERO SERIES" NO. 4

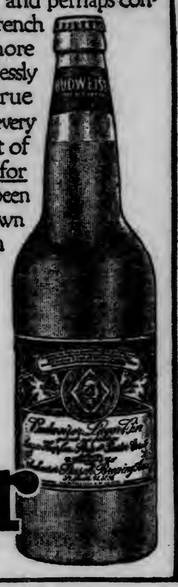

Lord Nelson—Old England's Great Naval Hero

WITHOUT Horatio Nelson, England would have been invaded and perhaps conquered by Napoleon. At Trafalgar he smashed forever the French Emperor's hope of creating a naval power. Never was man more idolized and beloved—not only by all of England's people who breathlessly awaited news of his telling victories, but by every man of his fleet. A true Anglo-Saxon, he detested tyrannous powers and legislative usurpations of every kind. He was particularly opposed to prohibitive enactments governing the diet of his men, who, like him, enjoyed Barley-Malt brews, even as their fathers did for countless generations before. Good beer, according to Lord Nelson, has ever been good food. Budweiser Beer for 57 years has been the product of an institution holding the highest ideals known to the ancient art of brewing. The output, due to Quality and Purity, has increased every year until 7,500 men are daily required to keep pace with the public demand. Budweiser sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

SAYS THE JEW IS A DREAMER

Judge Philip Bregstone Denies That His Race Is Materialistic.

Lauds Jewish Authors and Artists; Says Language Is Unwieldy.

Paying tribute to the writers of Jewish literature and to the fame of Jews in the world of art, Judge Philip P. Bregstone of Chicago, in an address on "The Rise and Development of Jewish Literature" given at the Moses Montefiore school auditorium last evening, denounced those who charge the Jew with being materialistic and declared that the Israelite is and always was a most pronounced dreamer.

Is Zionist Advocate.

Judge Bregstone spoke under the auspices of the Kodivrim society, an organization composed of a large number of Jewish young men and women of Duluth and Superior. The meeting was open to the public and a large gathering greeted Judge Bregstone, who is well known in Duluth for his several addresses made here on Zionism. He is a prominent jurist of Illinois.

In his talk on "The Rise and Development of Jewish Literature" Judge Bregstone traced the development of the literature from its inception to the present day. Modern works, delineating nature's beauties, he said, are much preferable to those of earlier years, when poets were wont to deal with dirges and lamentations.

Modern Literature Cheerful.

"The Yiddish tongue," said the speaker, "is an unwieldy one for the writing of either prose or poetry and too great tribute cannot be paid these authors. They rose from absolute obscurity regardless of this fact and we need but to read their works to know their nature. In no race can we find such an idealistic body of men and women and those who charge the Jew with being materialistic are either ignorant or malicious. The descendant of Abraham and Moses is and always was a most pronounced dreamer."

Judge Bregstone came to Duluth at the request of Ohave Zion gate and he spoke to the members of that organization last Sunday evening. He is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Goldberg at the Holland hotel during his stay in the city. He will leave next week for North Dakota, where he will make several addresses on Zionism before returning to Chicago.

CLAYTON BILL HAS GAINED NO HEADWAY

Senate Committee No Nearer Report Than at Start.

Washington, June 25.—After ten days' consideration of the Clayton anti-trust bill passed by the house, the senate judiciary committee apparently is no nearer a conclusion as to what it shall report to the senate than it was the day it took its first look at the measure.

The members of the committee have found little common ground for prohibition of interlocking directorates and holding companies, and they have not finally agreed on how to prevent price fixing. The so-called labor sections, designed to relieve labor from the Sherman law and to govern the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes, have led to endless argument. The prospect for an early agreement, some members of the committee say, is not rosy and the sentiment against reporting any such measure at this time is growing.

Cummins Adds to Mixup.

A new complication came last night when Senator Cummins offered five propositions which he asked the judiciary committee to approve and report as amendments to the Federal trade commission bill now before the senate. These amendments would make interlocking directorates and holding companies among railroads or other corporations unlawful where they restrained commerce, and would give the trade commission or the interstate commerce commission power to determine when they did restrain commerce. Democrats on the committee were inclined to believe these amendments would not be accepted, but Senator Cummins may decide to press them on the senate floor.

There was talk again about an effort to have the president agree to limit the amount of anti-trust legislation at this session, but no concerted action had been taken by Democrats on the committee to this end.

CAPT. MERRIAM TO AGAIN ASK DIVORCE.

San Francisco, Cal., June 25.—Capt. Henry Merriam, U. S. A., who was denied a divorce from Mrs. Bessie Merriam in the superior court last fall, will make a new atempt to get a legal sepration, it was learned through a preliminary notice filed in the court by his attorney.

Merriam's attorney said the new effort for a divorce will be based on the ground that sufficient evidence was produced to warrant a decree.

In his suit Capt. Merriam charged his wife with unbecoming conduct in the Jefferson barracks, New Orleans. Names of other army officers were mentioned in the charges. Capt. Merriam is now stationed on the Mexican border. His wife and daughter are here.

DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Gertrude Hanson, 34 years old, wife of A. Alex Hanson, chief clerk of the Standard Oil company, died at 6:30 o'clock last evening at her home, 1927 East Fifth street, after an illness of nearly three years. She had been suffering from heart trouble and for the last month had been confined to her bed.

Mrs. Hanson came to Duluth with her husband about thirteen years ago and was very well known in the city. Besides her husband she is survived by one daughter, Gertrude, 7 years old; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jacobson of Eau Claire, Wis., and four sisters and two brothers. The latter are: Misses Phena, Carol and Emma Jacobson, Eau Claire; Mrs. F. Buffington, Colfax, Wis., and Sam and Bert Jacobson, Eau Claire.

The body was this afternoon taken to Eau Claire, and burial will take place there tomorrow afternoon.

U. S. ATTORNEY IS INDICTED AGAIN.

Honolulu, June 25.—Following an indictment returned by the territorial grand jury here, the Federal grand jury yesterday indicted Jeff McCarn, United States attorney for the territory of Honolulu, who is charged with assault on Claudius McBride, an attorney, with a dangerous weapon. The indictment was found after thirty witnesses had been examined by Alexander Lindsey, appointed by Attorney General McReynolds to conduct the case.

McCarn and McBride, at the head of the stairs of the Federal building, had a dispute over the legal aspects of a case under consideration in the Federal courts.

IS FOUND DEAD NEAR POISON BOTTLE.

Denver, Colo., June 25.—The body of George A. Simonton, aged 51, past grand master of Colorado Masons, was found in a clump of bushes in City park here yesterday. An empty bottle which, according to physicians, had contained poison, was found by his side. Relatives and friends know no reason why he should have ended his own life.

ON THE IRON RANGES

BUHL SELLS ITS BONDS

Edward Cooper & Co. of Duluth Take Whole Issue of $125,000.

St. Paul Firm Given Contract for Several Blocks of Paving.

Buhl, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council last evening opened bids for the sale of $125,000 worth of refunding bonds, sold the bonds, and let the contract for paving some 20,000 yards of the streets of the village with bitulithic.

There was but one bidder for the bonds, Edward R. Cooper & Co., of Duluth, to whom they were sold at par with accrued interest.

There were two bidders for the paving, the General Contracting Company of St. Paul and the Home Electric and Construction Company of Hibbing. The former bid $1.81 per yard and the latter $1.80. Owing to the fact that the Hibbing concern had never laid any bitulithic paving and the General Construction company was experienced in the work, the council deemed it wise to accept the bid of the General Contracting company.

Home Labor Favored.

President Doyle made the point that it is the desire of the council to use home labor as much as possible in all municipal work and to that end the council desires that rock crushed at Buhl shall be used in the paving. The representatives of the General Contracting company and of Warren brothers, owners of the bitulithic process, who were present at the meeting said that this could undoubtedly be done.

The pavement will cover three blocks on State street, three on Forest and Culver avenue from State to a point opposite the new school house.

HAD PREMONITION OF BEING DROWNED

Eveleth Man Left $1,100 Before Starting on Empress of Ireland.

Virginia, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Before Anton Vagni, an Eveleth Italian, left the Mesaba range a few weeks ago to go to Canada and sail for home on the ill-fated Empress of Ireland on which he perished along with over 900 others, he had a sort of a premonition or "hunch" that something would happen. This became known here today when it was announced the First National bank had $1,100 belonging to Vagni that the latter left with the bank the day he started on the fatal journey. He also left with the bank a letter that in case anything happened to him the bank should forward the money to his sister, Lucia Vagni, living in the province of Ancona, Italy. The bank will follosh his wishes after the matter has been referred to the judge of probate.

VIRGINIA CANVASS NOW BEING TAKEN

Virginia, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to ascertain who among local residents will use gas for cooking, lighting or other purposes in case a gas plant is installed and to gather data upon which to base the size of the municipal plant the water and light board today began taking a census of the city.

Supt. Harding of the water and light plant, who will have supervision of the construction of the $75,000 gas plant, began today to prepare his plans for the plant.

COUNTY BUILDINGS WILL BE FIXED UP

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county will fix up the county poor farm buildings in conformity with orders from the state board of control, which recently condemned the structures as insanitary. Commissioners O'Brien and Shellman, with Architect John Beach of Duluth, visited the poor farm yesterday afternoon, and after inspecting the property, decided to conform with the state board's orders.

Mr. Beach will draft plans to fix up the buildings so as to meet the requirements of the state board of control. Photographs of the buildings have been taken to be sent along with the plans, and it is hoped and expected that the commissioners will be authorized to make the improvements without the necessity of putting up a new building.

Commissioners' Views.

"With the extensive road-building program which we have mapped out," said Commissioner Shellman, "we don't want to lay out any more money than we absolutely have to in new buildings, when a small percentage of the cost of a new building expended on the old buildings would fill the bill. This for such improvements as the state board of control requires, will be adequate for a long time. No more room is required, as we are getting rid of inmates every little while."

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist. It is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally over the abdominal muscles. It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the finenetwork of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. This in part accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of nausea, morning sickness and other distresses, such as laceration of the epidermis so often the case when this gentle form of lubrication is neglected.

"Mother's Friend" has been highly recommended by a host of women who know from experience and by men who know from observation. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

TWO ELY WOMEN GONE TO REWARD

Mrs. Hakkala Dies Near Duluth and Mrs. Seine at Ely.

Ely, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two well-known women residents of Ely have just died. The body of Mrs. Herman Hakkala, who died near Duluth on Tuesday, was brought here today. Mrs. Hakkala had been ill for some time with lung trouble and was sent to the county sanitarium near Duluth. She leaves besides her husband a son about 2 years old and many friends. The funeral will probably be held on Sunday from the Finnish Lutheran church. Rev. Herrvi will officiate.

Pioneer Location Woman Dies.

Mrs. Frank Sune of the Pioneer location died at the Shipman hospital at 2 a. m. yesterday, death being due to nephritis and childbirth. The funeral will be held from the Catholic church on Friday, Rev. Father Buh officiating. Mrs. Sune was taken to the hospital about a week ago but the best efforts of the doctors did no good. Besides her husband she leaves one daughter 3 years old and a son only 16 months old. A daughter was born some weeks ago and died only a week ago.

WOULD CONDEMN CHURCH PROPERTY

Virginia, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education decided last night to ask Attorney General Smith for an opinion as to whether the board could successfully maintain in the courts proceedings to acquire by condemnation property lying between the Polish Catholic and the Lady of Lourdes, Roman Catholic churches for playgrounds for the adjoining Central school. The property belongs to the churches and a question has arisen as to whether church property can be condemned for school purposes. The board did not effect a settlement with Miss Ida Henry of her claim of $394 for wages and further court proceedings are expected. The board offered her $175 which she declined.

MOUNTAIN IRON NOTES.

Brass Band of Range Village Making Fine Progress.

Mountain Iron, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mountain Iron Commercial band of about thirty pieces is making splendid progress. This band was organized about four months ago. Some of those taking part in it have had more or less practice in other bands, but several had had no previous experience. The village council gave the matter a good start in buying most of the instruments. Then a very competent instructor was engaged, and the practice has been regular and faithful. The band has already been engaged to furnish music on the Fourth of July, and the money paid them for that service will be used in the purchase af new suits. A very important addition has just been made to the band in the person of an Austrian, just over from the old country. He plays a clarionet and has had twenty-five years experience in band music.

A band of old-time gypsies, in four or five wagons, passed through town on Monday and camped for the night a mile to the east. They had a great many children and some very good horses.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

After a nice stretch of good weather, the prediction now is for showers tonight and tomorrow. Of course, the probability is that the cause is that there are two conventions in the city. A convention without rain would be stranger than fiction. Cool weather prevailed a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 4:13 and will set this evening at 8:07, giving fifteen hours and fifty-four minutes of sunshine.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Hot weather continues in central and southern states. Temperatures of 100 deg. were recorded Wednesday over portions of the Ohio valley. Showers fell during Wednesday or last night over the extreme Northwest, from Nebraska eastward to Northern Ohio, and over portions of Eastern Canada and Atlantic states. Heavy rains fell over Iowa."

SCOTS HOLD CELEBRATION

Observe Six Hundredth Anniversary of Battle of Bannockburn.

Scottish Fourth of July Remembered By Clan Stewart.

Bruce and the Spider.

King Bruce of Scotland flung himself down in a lonely mood to think;
'Tis true he was monarch, and wore a crown, but his heart was beginning to sink;
For he had been trying to do a great deed to make his people glad;
He had tried and tried, but couldn't succeed, and so he became quite sad.
He flung himself down in low despair, as grieved as man could be;
And, after a while, as he pondered there, "I'll give it all up," said he.
Now just at that moment a spider dropped, with its silken cobweb clew;
And the king, in the midst of his thinking, stopped—to see what the spider would do.
'Twas a long way up to the ceiling dome; and it hung by a rope so fine,
That now it would get to its cobweb home, King Bruce could not divine.
It soon began to cling and crawl straight up with strong endeavor;
But down it came, with a slipping sprawl, as near to the ground as ever.
Again the spider swung below, but again it quickly mounted;
Till up and down, now fast, now slow, nine brave attempts were counted.
"Sure," cried the king, "that foolish thing will strive no more to climb,
When it toils so hard to reach and cling, and tumbles every time."
Up again it went, inch by inch, higher and higher he got;
Till a bold little run, at the very last pinch, put him into his native spot.
"Bravo, bravo," the king cried out, "all honor to those who try;
The spider up there defied despair; he conquered, and why should not I?"
Again King Robert roused his soul; and history tells the tale,
That he tried once more—'Twas at Bannockburn—and that time he did not fail!

The story of Bruce and the spider, by Eliza Cook, when recited last night to 300 members of Clan Stewart, by Clansman Alex G. McKnight, brought a cheer from his audience, for it told of the revival of the characteristic determination of the great Scottish king, which resulted in victory against the oppressing English at Bannockburn, and in the independence of Scotland.

Last night was the "Scottish Fourth of July," for it was the 600th anniversary of the battle of Bannockburn, famous for all time as one of the epoch-making events in history. Clan Stewart celebrated it in true Scottish style; and, perhaps, the clan has never held so enthusiastic a meeting. Every reference to Bruce and to the battle was greeted with cheers, and the program as a whole was most heartily received. It was one of the best programs the clan has ever had; and the impromptu one which followed the refreshments was fully as good as the formal one.

The meeting opened with an initiation of thirty-four candidates, which marked the end of the campaign for new members. However the clansmen propose to still gather in Scotsmen who are not members, for it is the ambition of the members and of Chief A. G. Macaulay to get the membership over the 500-mark, for in that case the clan will be entitled to two delegates to the royal clan, whereas clans numbering under 500 are entitled to only one. Clan Stewart has now 450 members, and has grown remarkably since Chief Macaulay took office. The clan is the third largest in the United States, the two larger being in New England.

Following the initiation, welcome was extended the new members by Simon Clark, past royal chief, in a neatly worded address. Then followed Mr. McKnight's recitation, which was loudly applauded. Dr. J. G. Adams made a hit with his auditors by his singing of "Where Has Scotland Found Her Fame?" A paper by David Finlayson on the battle of Bannockburn was read by John G. Ross. It was a very clear description of the famous fight, and, being accompanied by a map of the field of battle, the description was all the more vivid.

P. G. Brown sang "Scots Wha Hae," the poetical rendition of Bruce's address to his troops before the battle;

A STOMACH TONIC

There is a form of indigestion called "atonic" dyspepsia. Atonic means "lack of tone." It is probably the most common form of indigestion but not much is heard about it because people are inclined to group all forms of dyspepsia as "stomach trouble" and the doctors let it go at that.

Lack of tone in the digestive organs means that the stomach is no longer able to do its work as nature intended. The nerves that control it are weak, the glands that supply the digestive fluids are not working properly. Gas on the stomach, sour risings in the throat and constipation result. The cause of the trouble is thin blood. Stomach, nerves and glands are all dependent on the blood and when it gets thin and watery they are at once weakened. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and the first response from the stomach is better appetite, freedom from distress after eating and an increase in ambition and energy generally. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a stomach tonic and see how your general health improves.

A diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Every druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

and Robert Drummond stirred his hearers by his singing of "Scotland Yet."

Refreshments and an impromptu musical program followed.

FAIL TO MAKE PEACE IN OHIO COAL ROW.

Columbus, Ohio, June 25.—Having failed to agree on a new wage scale for 45,000 striking miners in Ohio, the joint conference of the joint scale committee of operators and miners adjourned sine die here. The meeting was the third of its kind that has been held since the strike and was called more than two months ago.

Before adjournment was taken, the miners' representative sent an invitation to operators to meet them in the various coal districts of the state with a view to fixing wage rates by sub-districts. Through these meetings, the leaders of both factions hope to bring an end to the strike in many sections of the state.

MARKET FIRM AT THE CLOSE

After Weakness at Start, Wheat Finishes Strong on Short Covering.

Flaxseed Prices About Unchanged After Showing Recessions Early.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 25.—The market was strong at the close. July wheat closed unchanged; September unchanged to ¼c off, and December ⅛c off. July durum closed ¼c off and September ¾c off.

Oats closed ¼c off at 6⅜c for on the track. Rye closed unchanged at 59c for on the track or 58c for to arrive, and barley closed 2c off at from 44c to 59c.

At Winnipeg, July oats closed at [illegible]c bid, and October at 36⅛c.

Puts on Minneapolis September wheat closed at 79⅝c asked and calls at 80¾@80½c bid.

After opening weak and selling off fractionally at the track, the market in wheat took on a moderate rally today on a wave of buying attributed mainly to short covering. Some call from Eastern millers was also met with on this market, and the workings of some further export trade in old wheat was reported.

Apart from the efforts of the shorts at Chicago to get under cover the general news of the day was bearish. General rains were advised in the three Canadian Northwest provinces, just where moisture was most required and light rains were noted in sections of Kansas and Missouri, but not in sufficient volume to interfere with harvesting, which is said to be making good progress. Three cars of new wheat were received at St. Louis today, and they graded up well. Further optimistic news came to hand regarding threshing returns in the Northwest. They are said to be running uniformly well above the government crop figures.

Under the favorable weather conditions through the Northwest the wheat plant is growing rapidly, leading experts to revise their estimates of the ultimate yield for the season upwards.

Liverpool closed lower under the influence of the American crop prospects and expected selling pressure from this country later. Russian crop news was also favorable. Harvesting has started in Southwest Russia.

Armour was reported to have inaugurated the buying movement in wheat at Chicago today, and his example was followed by other operators there.

July wheat opened ⅛c off at 87⅝c and after selling off another fraction it showed a rally of ⅜c at the final hour. September opened ⅛c off at 81¼c, and gained the same amount later. The December option opened unchanged at 82⅝c and weakened ⅛c. July durum opened unchanged at 87⅛c and sold off ¼c and September opened ⅛c off at 83c and weakened ¼c more. Selling pressure materialized in durum and the demand was light for the time being.

Flax Closes Strong.

Flaxseed became weak after the opening under pressure of selling inspired by reports of rains through the Canadian Northwest, and a disposition on the part of crushers to wait for recessions. After the execution of some selling orders at the start the market became dull. Under good buying at the close final prices showed fractional gains.

Buenos Aires closed ⅛c up; Antwerp ⅝c off and London ⅜c off.

July flax opened unchanged at $1.59¾ and closed unchanged. September opened unchanged at $1.62⅛ and closed ⅛c up at $1.62¼ asked. October opened unchanged at $1.62⅛ and closed ⅛c up at $1.61¼ bid, and the November option opened unchanged at $1.62¼ and closed at that figure.

At Winnipeg, July flax closed at $1.39⅜ bid and October at $1.43⅜ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Argentine wheat shipments this week are estimated at 1,200,000 bu and corn at 3,825,000 bu.

Baker received the following from Lewis at Minneapolis:

"It is apparent now that the buying yesterday was due entirely to shorts covering. The dry weather talk in Canada will be relieved temporarily by a few showers in the west, and generally cloudy weather which might bring further precipitation. The Chicago market still remains weak, due to heavy hedging sales, and unless something of a serious nature happens to the spring wheat crop, rallies will be shortlived. The bull has only one chance now, and that is to get black rust or bad climatic conditions in the spring wheat territory or Canada, but it is doubtful if even this would bring about a sustained higher level of values."

Parker Paine had the following from Chicago:

"In a liquidating market of this character one's judgment becomes valueless. Everybody is imbued with the idea that prices are too high. Leading bears take advantage of every weak spot to press the market, which brings out further liquidation and as a result lower prices. We believe corn is now in a stronger position than ever. The Eastern demand is good and country sales practically nothing. Stocks will show very light in the near future, and we predict some anxiety on the part of the shorts in the new July before the close of this option."

At Minneapolis cash wheat was steady, with the demand good for top grades. One northern blue stem sold at from 1⅜@1½c over July, and velvet chaff at 1½@1¾c over July. There were fair scattered flour sales, buyers coming in better on the break.

Cash one Northern wheat sold there at from 85⅞to 87⅞ and No. 2 Northern at from 83to 85⅞c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Some pressure was in evidence at the opening which was reflected in a decline of ⅛@½d and this was due to larger offers of winters and freer Indian offers, a decline in Buenos Aires and favorable Argentine crop prospects. During the morning there was an additional decline of ½d. Cargoes were more freely offered and the continued favorable weather for American harvesting is influencing sentiment. Toward midday there was some reaction in values with shorts covering in apprehension here that American farmers will not sell freely at present prices. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady, unchanged to ¼d lower.

"Corn opened ⅜@½d lower with favorable weather reports from Argentina, talk of larger Argentine shipments this week and free Danubian offers. At 1:30 p. m. it was ⅜@½d lower."

Broomhall's Roumania agent estimates the wheat crop at 80,000,000 bu and he also states that the corn is making satisfactory progress. The wheat crop there last year was officially placed at 80,000,000 bu and the present estimate is much under early expectations. The yield of corn last year was 119,000,000 bu.

Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Enormous covering of wheat was on yesterday. Traders said after the close that should there be heavy acceptances of overnight offerings like those of yesterday, and the same volume of hedging, they look for lower prices. While sentiment was mainly bearish, it was less so than of late. That said the future of values depends upon whether farmers will continue to sell freely."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Another Low Level Is Reached in Wheat Pit.

Chicago, June 25.—Wheat plunged downward again today, breaking through yesterday's low level, which was under any previous record in eight years. Speculators and receiving houses were on the selling side and there seemed to be no general demand except at a decline. Cables were weak and harvest reports superb. The opening, which ranged from ¼c off to ⅛@¾c up, was followed by a sharp broad all around.

Later a decided rally took place, owing to the country to some extent having stopped selling. It was said also that the saturation point had been reached in the spring crop states. The close was firm, ⅛c to ¼@⅜c above last night.

Corn suffered on account of the weakness of wheat. There were reports showing the bread cereal was being used extensively as feed and was curtailing the demand for the coarser grain. After opening a shade to ⅛c to ⅜c lower, the market continued to recede.

Lowest offers from Argentina this season increased the heaviness of the market and so also did St. Louis reports of rain breaking the drouth. Closing prices were steady, ¼@⅜c to ⅞@1c net lower.

Storm damage reports made oats relatively steady. Nevertheless, prices displayed some sympathy with the decline in other grain.

Provisions sagged, influenced by the depression in the neighboring pits. A little firmness early due to scantiness of hog receipts was only of a temporary character.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Market Has a Reactionary Tendency Due to Claflin Failure.

New York, June 25.—Announcement of the Claflin receivership, of which the financial district received an inkling after the close of business yesterday, resulted in a weak opening of the stock market today. A conspicuous feature was the sale of 500 shares of United Dry Goods preferred, one of the Claflin corporations, at 70, a loss of 12 points and a total decline of 26½ points in two days. Later a small lot sold at 69. Active issues, including United States Steel, Reading and Amalgamated, fell a full point with heaviness in other speculative leaders. Trading was in large volume, the movement being accelerated by the short interest.

The business of the first hour was probably the largest for any similar period this year. It was believed that considerable stock was thrown over by discouraged holders. Some significance was attached to sales at material concessions of such stocks as May department stores and American Woolens. Before noon United Drygoods preferred fell to 68⅛. Various obscure issues fell 1 to 2 points, but higher grade stocks inclined to steadiness.

Bonds were heavy, the feature being the sale of $401,000 par value of New Orleans, Mobile & Chicago railroad 5's at 39½ against 44 yesterday.

All the excitement of the morning session wore off later, when trading became very dull. In the meantime Standard stocks had made up most of the early losses, while the inactive issues showed little or no change.

On unusually heavy trading today's market evinced a more pronounced reactionary tendency, due primarily to developments connected with the Claflin failure. The closing was weak.

MINING STOCKS OFF ON LIQUIDATION

Moderate liquidation developed in mining stocks at Boston today, and quotations in some of the leading issues closed substantially lower. An unsettling influence came in a further break on Wall Street.

Butte & Superior was steady, closing unchanged at $36; Greene-Cananea turned weak closing off $1 at $30. Granby closed $1.50 off at $79; North Butte 50 cents off at $24.75; Shattuck unchanged at $23.75; Alaska Gold a shade up at $26.38; and Amalgamated Copper $1.62 off at $67.88.

Keating was the feature in the Duluth curb list. It sold at $1.94, and $2 bid for it at the close. Calumet & Corbin sold at 18 cents and Alex Scott at $5.13. South Lake was firm in the Boston curb list at $3.75 bid.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following from New York relative to the market situation: "The weakness of stocks grew stronger yesterday as the day advanced and the net declines throughout the list were of a pretty wide range. The passing and reduction of common and preferred dividends respectively of an important Western railroad, with the rate decision given last Monday received their due consideration, but a shadow was thrown over the forthcoming decision on the Eastern rate case, causing an impression that the roads affected will not fare so well after all."

BUT HE REMEMBERED.

Youth's Companion: One day a well-dressed elderly man called at the shop of a jeweler in a small Scottish town and asked:

"Is my watch ready?"

As the watchmaker had at the moment no remembrance of the man, he asked in turn:

"When did you leave your watch?"

"Oh," replied the man, "I didn't have it in this shop. Ye were ower by Nelson street when ye got it."

"Nelson street?" replied the jeweler. "We left Nelson street seventeen years ago."

"But I left it with ye, for a' that."

"Can you tell me the name and the number of the watch?"

They were promptly given, as well as a description of the watch, and it was found. Exactly twenty-two years had passed since it was left for repairs, yet, at the end of that time, its owner had called for it as naturally as if he had left it only the preceding week.

"Why have you not got your property before?" asked the jeweler.

"Weel," responded the man, "I went ower to America shortly after. I kent the watch would be safe with ye till I cam back, but I stayed a wee thocht langer than I intended."

SAY CROOKED UNION OFFICIALS EXTORT CASH BY BLACKMAIL

Chicago Contractors Complain and Get Grand Jury Hearing.

United States District Attorney Takes Up the Case.

Unions Are Defrauded By Unscrupulous Men, Is Charge.

Chicago, June 26.—Representatives of the building contractors of Chicago were directed by the United States district attorney to appear before the Federal grand jury today with whatever evidence they have that the contractors had been systematically blackmailed by agents of the labor unions. John J. McLaughlin, state representative, was expected to be the principal witness on behalf of the contractors.

Without accusing the labor unions, which they say have been defrauded and used as tools by dishonest business agents, the contractors declare that extortion in sums from $500 to $100,000 has played a part in every large construction job in this city in recent years.

Contractor Shot Agent.

The demand for Federal aid was precipitated by the shooting Wednesday of George Hammond, union business agent, by Patrick Dignan, a contractor. Dignan surrendered yesterday. He told the police that he had been hounded by Hammond and had killed him in a rage.

Hammond had called a strike in McLaughlin's yards only a few hours before he met his death. McLaughlin charged the strike was called because he had refused to submit to further demands of the labor agent for cash.

Labor leaders today declared that the charges brought by McLaughlin and others were fraudulent. It was a practice of certain contractors, they said, to attempt to bribe union agents to tie up other contractors in strikes. In the cross fire of frauds and bribery, the labor men declared, the contractors were active and profited more than did dishonest union agents.

U. S. Attorney on Case.

James H. Wilkerson, United States district attorney, says that the state representative has a good case if he can support his charges by evidence.

"It is the first time the government has found anyone willing to go before the grand jury and swear to complaints of this nature," said the district attorney. "During the brick strike several men saw me regarding complaints which they made, but they would not go before the grand jury."

ROOSEVELT SILENT AS TO GOVERNORSHIP

"I Have Already Stated My Position," He Says.

Oyster Bay, June 26.—Col. Roosevelt made it clear today that he had not been able to convince the New York Progressive leaders that he would not run for governor despite his repeated assertions to that effect.

"I have already stated my position," he said. "There is nothing more for me to say at this time."

It was apparent, however, that he expected to have to fight it all over more than once again. The former president took his first horseback ride since his return from Europe. As he cantered down the hill he gave every appearance of being physically fit.

Col. Roosevelt will leave Tuesday for Pittsburg where he will speak that night.

GOOD COLLECTOR OF ART, BUT POOR BUYER

Daniel Murphy of Chicago Is Arrested as Thief.

Chicago, June 26.—Daniel Murphy, known to friends and business associates as a prosperous broker, was arrested in his home yesterday and property valued at more than $6,000, alleged by the police to have been stolen, was recovered.

Most of the articles were tapestries and objects of art, and included a seventeenth century prayer rug, a Sicilian vial of the eighteenth century and much Venetian lace.

Murphy was known to the department stores as an expert in many lines of art, and was considered a valuable customer. It was only when it was noticed that his visits to the art departments usually were followed by the loss of some especially valuable article, that suspicion turned to him.

FRENCH STORK IS GETTING LAZY AGAIN

Paris, June 26.—In France 5,112 fewer babies were born in 1913 than in 1912, according to official figures. This is the lowest birth rate ever recorded in the country except in 1911.

Births exceeded deaths in 1913 by 41,901, or an average of ten births in excess of deaths for every 10,000 inhabitants. This compares with an excess of births over deaths in Germany of 127 for every 10,000, in Austria of 107, in Italy of 140 and in Hungary of 130.

There were 298,760 marriages in France in 1913, or 13,169 fewer than in 1912. At the same time divorces increased from 14,509 in 1912 to 15,076 in 1913.

The Temps remarks that the population of Germany increased by 800,000 in 1913, or about twenty times as much as that of France, which was augmented by only 41,901.

NEW UNITED STATES MINISTER TO PERSIA

J. L. CALDWELL.

Washington, June 26.—J. L. Caldwell is the new minister to Persia appointed by President Wilson. He succeeds Charles W. Russell.

BUTTE'S ROWS NOT YET OVER

Governor Stewart Asks That U. S. Troops Be Kept Handy.

Moyer Was Pursued to Helena By Gunmen, It Is Said.

Washington, June 26.—Governor Stewart of Montana today asked that Federal troops be transferred from Fort Vancouver to Fort Missoula in order to be in readiness in case of further trouble between miners at Butte.

Senator Myers called at the White House and stated that conditions in Butte were very unsettled, and that further outbreaks were likely to occur at any time. There are no Federal troops in Montana, he said, and in case of serious rioting it would take too long to bring them from Fort Vancouver to be of any service.

President Wilson took the request under advisement and later took it up at the cabinet meeting.

Gunmen After Moyer.

Helena, Mont., June 26.—Police and sheriff's officials are convinced that gunmen from Butte are in Helena for the purpose of assassinating Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who fled from Butte during the rioting in that city Tuesday night. Three suspects were arrested here and locked up in the county jail, and the police and sheriff's force are endeavoring to locate a fourth.

Moyer is being closely guarded by sheriff's deputies and by members of the refugee colony of Butte miners, who accompanied him to Helena.

The federation president says he does not intend to return to Butte at present.

Quiet in Butte.

Butte, Mont., June 26.—The city, after two days of riots spread more than a week apart and caused by internal strife in the local union of the Western Federation of Miners, shows no remarkable change. All mines are working and the saloons, which had been ordered closed after the riots of Tuesday, are on a twenty-four-hour basis once more.

MANY KILLED IN SUMATRAN DISASTER

Violent Earthquake Causes Damage in South of Island.

Batavia, Java, June 26.—Many were killed or injured today in a violent earthquake which caused widespread damage in southern Sumatra.

The offices of the Dutch resident and many other buildings collapsed at Benkoelen, the capital, and telegraph and cable communication were interrupted.

CUSSED PRESIDENT FOR GOLF INCIDENT.

Washington, June 26.—The story of how President Wilson, golfing on a local green, sent a ball a-whizzing near another golfer's head, and how the other fellow roundly "cussed" the president of the United States, and then, in confusion and chagrin, made profuse apologies, had a sequel when President Wilson and another golfer exchanged letters, one an abject apology and the other an acknowledgment, coupled with a firm declaration from the president that he was within his rights under the rules of the game.

CO-OPERATION PLANS ARE LAID TO PREVENT BIG CLAFLIN LOSSES

Payment of Dollar for Dollar May Be Made.

Changes of Trade Are Ascribed as Cause of Failure.

Bankruptcy Petition Filed Against Defender Company, a Subsidiary.

New York, June 26.—With assurances of cooperation from the leading drygoods firms, jobbing and commission houses, and the organization of merchandise creditors and the holders of the firm's papers, John Claflin today began the task of reorganization of the H. B. Claflin company, which went into the hands of receivers yesterday. In a statement giving his reasons for the receivership, Mr. Claflin said regarding possible reorganization that "a plan will soon be presented which we hope will prove acceptable to both creditors and to stockholders."

Representatives of houses in the retail, jobbing and commission business have expressed sympathy over the Claflin receivership, and all united in a promise to cooperate with the company to the fullest possible extent in regaining a firm financial standing.

Will Pay in Full.

The impression prevails today in financial circles that the firm will eventually pay 100 cents on the dollar if creditors allow sufficient time for the company to realize on its assets.

The liabilities of the company are placed at $34,000,000, principally in the form of commercial paper. The

MILITANTS WILL NOT STOP CAMPAIGN

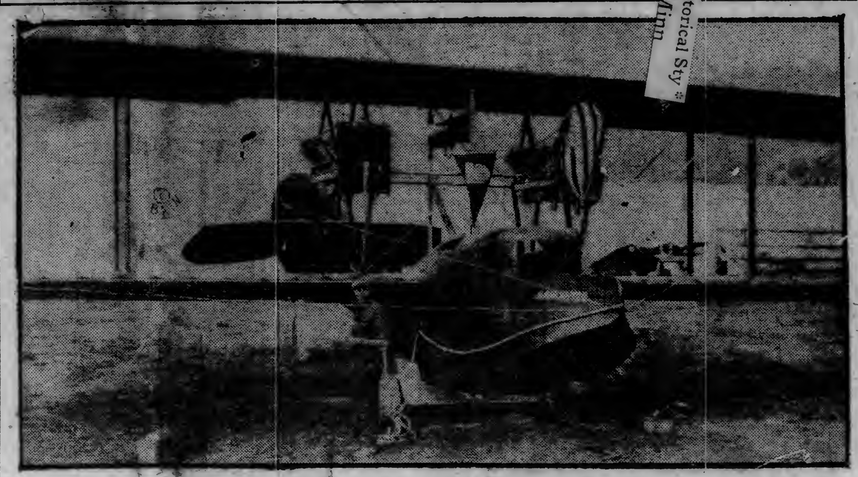

Woman Arrested When King Came Is Found Well Armed.

London, June 26.—The militant suffragettes are determined not to relax their campaign. Mrs. Annie Besant, president of the Theosophical society, author and lecturer on religious subjects, in a recent lecture in London on the suffrage question, made an eloquent appeal to the militants to consent to a truce with the government on condition that the ministers promise to introduce a bill in the next parliament.

Miss Wylie, presiding at a meeting of the Women's Social and Political union, yesterday declared that the militants would not dream of a truce. Mrs. Besant, she said, had not fought, dared and suffered as the militants had, and she had no right to call a truce.

The trial of Miss Irene Casey, who was arrested at the time of the king's recent visit to Nottingham, revealed that she was carrying in her dressing bag a regular arsenal, including four quarter-pound boxes of a high explosive, detonators, twenty feet of fuse, a bottle of benzine, chisel, pliers and glass cutter.

SACKING OF CHINESE CITY IS CONFIRMED.

London, June 26.—The Times' Pekin correspondent confirms the report of the looting of Kalgan. He adds that all Europeans are believed to be safe and that 100 Chinese were slain.

The correspondent also reports that the city of Pao Tow Chen, in Inner Mongolia, has been sacked by soldiers from Talyuanfu.

A dispatch from Shanghai says the Chinese garrison of Kalgan, composed of 600 soldiers, mutinied and then looted and burned the city, killing all who resisted them. The women among the inhabitants were attacked and many of them carried off.

The circle of the mutinous troops lasted until daybreak, when they evacuated the city and fled toward the Mongolian border.

INSULTS AND BLOWS IN ITALIAN CHAMBER.

Rome, June 26.—The chamber of deputies, with the object of defeating Socialist obstruction of the financial program, held a stormy twelve hours' session. Frequent insults and even blows were exchanged. As a protest against Socialist obstruction, all the newspapers decided to publish only the briefest reports of the sessions, merely mentioning the names of the speakers.

CARRANZA'S MOVE NEXT

Rebel Chief's Reply to Peace Proposal Awaited at Washington.

New Parleys Unlikely to Be Held at Niagara Falls.

Washington, June 26.—Final word was expected to reach here today from Carranza, Constitutionalist chief, specifically outlining his attitude toward a proposed conference with his enemy's envoys on the establishment of a provisional government in Mexico. He had telegraphed his representatives in Washington that he would send them instructions upon reaching Monterey, where he was to arrive late yesterday. Barring delays in transmission, the telegram should be received here late today.

Hope for Agreement.

Confidence was expressed that Carranza would consent to the conference. Villa's victory at Zacatecas, placing more than half the republic's territory under Constitutionalist control, gave the revolutionary leader a vantage point, it was suggested, from which he could dictate major terms for reorganization of government in the war-worn country. If an agreement were reached at the proposed meeting, it would bring the mediation proceedings at Niagara to a successful conclusion, both the Huerta and American delegation having reached terms for settlement of international difficulties.

Mediators Scatter.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 26.—As it will be several days before the mediators are called upon to take any further action in relation to the Mexican problem, Ambassador Da Gama of Brazil left here last night to join Mrs. Da Gama at Long Branch, N. J., for a few days. Minister Suarez of Chile will depart today or Saturday. Minister Naon of Argentina will remain here to welcome Constitutionalist representatives.

No word was received yesterday from the Constitutionalists. It is not known when the members will reach here.

It is considered practically certain that the new parleys will not take place here. Ottawa or some resort on Lake Ontario may be chosen.

Take State of Jalisco.

Nogales, Ariz., June 26.—The Constitutionalists formally took possession of the state of Jalisco Wednesday, with Manuel Aguirre as governor, Gen. Manuel Dieguez as commander of the military forces and Aguirre Berlanger as secretary of state, according to a message from Etzatlan, Jalisco.

IRON WORKERS BACK IN FEDERAL PRISON.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 26.—The twelve iron workers convicted in the "dynamite conspiracy" cases, who arrived here late last night to begin serving their sentences, were put through the routine processes of "dressing in" at the United States penitentiary today.

With the arrival of Eugene A. Clancy of San Francisco and Frank J. Higgins of Boston the men will take up their old places on the work of constructing the cell houses.

Historic Buildings and Museums Escape Being Destroyed.

Explosion in Leather Plant Supposed Cause of Fire.

Salem, Mass., June 26.—Relief for the thousands of sufferers from the great fire which wiped out a large section of the city last night, poured in today in unstinted measure.

While the ruins of half of the city were still smoldering, actual want had been met and steps taken for business-like management of the situation.

The greatest loss has fallen on the factory employes, chiefly French Canadians and Poles. They comprise a majority of the 10,000 who are homeless, and they have lost not only their homes and personal belongings, but their employment.

The loss to the mill companies, commercial houses, city institutions and churches is protected to a large extent by insurance. The assessors estimate the total money loss at $10,000,000.

Three Known Dead.

The loss of life so far as known was restricted to three persons:

MRS. JENNIE CUNNINGHAM, whose body was recovered from her tenement home on Lafayette street.

SAMUEL P. WITHEY, burned to death in his home on Prescott street, to which he had returned to save some personal belongings after he had once escaped.

UNIDENTIFIED body found in the mill district, so badly burned that it was impossible to determine the sex.

The city government met this morning and adopted a relief plan. This provided for the establishment of three relief stations and the transfer for sanitary reasons of the homeless ones from public halls and churches to the

JAPANESE WOUNDED BY U. S. CAVALRYMEN

Soldiers Think Shots Meant for Rancher Aimed at Them.

Yuma, Ariz., June 26.—Thinking that a Japanese in a house in the Yuma valley was firing at them, a passing detachment of United States negro cavalry yesterday fired several shots into the house. They were unaware that the Japanese was engaged in a rifle duel with an American rancher who had ordered the Japanese off his ranch after a quarrel.

Investigation proved that the Japanese was seriously wounded. He asserted he was shot by soldiers, and not by the rancher.

The rancher declared the attentions of the Japanese to American women on the ranch was offensive.

SETTLEMENT INADEQUATE

Supreme Court Upholds Judge Cant in Personal Injury Decision.

Miner Driven Insane By Terrible Experience Recovered Only $100.

Judge Cant of the district court did not overstep his judicial bounds when he set aside a settlement which had been approved by the municipal court in a personal injury case pending between Novo Dasich, an injured miner, acting through a guardian, and the La Rue Mining company. The state supreme court so held in a decision handed down today in which the order was affirmed upon appeal.

Dasich, it is claimed, was driven insane by a harrowing experience through which he passed in the La Rue mine in March 1911. While he was at work in the mine, he was caught in a sudden cave-in which flooded the chamber with water, sand and gravel. He stood to his neck in the seething mass momentarily expecting death for some time until he was rescued. The shock and the injuries caused by rocks striking him on the head, face and shoulders, brought on insanity, it is charged.

V. D. Nickolich was the original guardian of Dasich through his attorney. Suit was brought in the municipal court for $500 damages. The case was settled and compromised for $100, the court's approval being obtained as to the terms of the settlement. Shortly afterwards Nickolich was discovered to have become heavily involved in a number of probate court matters and was arrested for embezzlement. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve a term at Stillwater. He was recently released from the penitentiary under a parole.

After Nickolich had been removed as guardian from the case, the appointment of William Getty, as guardian in his stead was secured and after some investigation, the new guardian came to the conclusion that the settlement was inadequate and asked the court to set it aside. The municipal court refused and then the district court was appealed to. After considering the case, Judge Cant ordered the settlement vacated.

The supreme court, in an opinion written by Chief Justice Brown, holds that the facts disclosed justify an order vacating the settlement. The higher court further states that, "an improvident and fraudulent settlement by a guardian of his ward's cause of action, through approval by the court in which the action is pending, may be vacated and set aside upon a showing of facts, even though the defendant in the action be not affirmatively shown to have participated in the fraud."

Getty, as guardian for the insane miner, is now prosecuting a suit for $35,000 damages. Dasich, the injured man, was committed to the state hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls in July 1911 by Judge Gilpin. He is said to be constantly laboring under the delusion that someone is forever persecuting him.

DULUTH PLEASES DETROIT VISITORS

Secretary of Board of Commerce Writes Informal Letter of Appreciation—Formal Thanks Later.

The Commercial club has received a letter from Byres H. Gitchell, secretary of the Detroit board of commerce, in which, informally, Mr. Gitchell expresses the appreciation of the members of the party of 557 members of that organization who visited Duluth last Saturday. Mr. Gitchell wrote to find out who wrote the now famous interview with Nelson O'Shaughnessy, which appeared in The Herald that day and to ask for several copies of the paper. He added:

"A day or so later you will hear from this organization in a more formal way in reference to the splendid time which we all had in Duluth, but I want to take this opportunity of thanking you and telling you that this, from all standpoints, was the finest cruise the board of commerce has ever had and I think you people in Duluth and your beautiful city were very largely responsible for this. Nobody could ask for more courteous treatment or a more hospitable reception than was accorded us. You have made every one of the 557 men who were on board the boat your friends and the friends of Duluth for life."

Miss Nellie Doig this morning went into first place in the "Shrine lady" contest and is holding the position held by Mrs. Frank Hamm since the contest began over a week ago. Miss Doig made a gain of 600 votes and she is now twenty-seven votes ahead of her nearest rival.

The standings to date follow:

Miss Nellie Doig	6,609

Miss Florence B. Lusk	5,550
Miss Esther Gomberg	3,118

Miss Catherine Sherwood	1,968
Miss Mildred Bondy	1,064

The "Shrine lady" contest is one of the features of the Shriners' midsummer carnival to be held at Harrison park, Thirtieth avenue west and Third street, all of next week, beginning Monday afternoon.

"BACKWOODS EDITOR" COMES TO CITY FOR VISIT

G. F. Peterson, the "backwoods editor" is in Duluth today.

Mr. Peterson runs a country newspaper in Bear River, probably the smallest settlement in the United States that can boast of a weekly paper. Bear River has but five or six families in the village, but the Bear River Journal boasts of 400 subscribers, among the farmers in the adjoining country, and in nearby settlements.

"I don't plan to make any money as an editor," said Mr. Peterson today. "The paper just about makes expenses, but I am running it to occupy my spare time while proving up my homestead there, and to help boost that district, which is becoming a fine farming country."

Bear River is about thirty miles north of Hibbing.

The young people eloped while taking a trolley ride in Wilmington in June, 1909. They have a child of 4 whose custody is in dispute. Mrs. Rogers charges her husband with a statutory offense, and he is quoted as saying that if she disputes his possession of the child he will make like charges against her.

WOULD FIGHT DURING TALK

Constitutionalists May Enter Negotiations, Says Breceda.

Will Insist on Going Ahead With Military Program.

Washington, June 26.—The Constitutionalists of Mexico are determined to carry their military campaign to a conclusion regardless of participation in informal mediation conference desired by the United States. Their plan was indicated here today upon the arrival of Alfredo Breceda, private secretary of Gen. Carranza, who came to confer with Washington agents of Carranza.

Confirmatory of the military plans of the revolutionists, it was learned that Gen. Villa plans to attack San Luis Potosi next week, and expects later to fight the Federals in their last stand at Queretaro.

All Join With Carranza.

Soon after the arrival of Mr. Breceda he received a telegram from Gen. Carranza announcing that the first chief had received assurances of co-operation and support from all the leading generals of the revolution, including Villa, and he wished the people of the United States to know that the cause of the revolutionary movement was progressing without dissension.

As to the prospect of participation by the Constitutionalists in the informal conference over Mexico's internal affairs, Mr. Breceda frankly said he had no definite knowledge, but he asserted that he had come to confer with his chief's representatives here and through them with the Washington administration, to present Gen. Carranza's ideas.

Cabrera Optimistic.

Mr. Breceda conferred with Luis Cabrera, one of Gen. Carranza's confidential agents here who is urging participation in the mediation and later with Rafael Zubaran, chief Washington agent of the Constitutionalists. Later the three conferred again, and Gen. Carranza at Monterey was in touch with them by telegraph.

Mr. Cabrera, after his morning conference with Mr. Breceda, was in an optimistic mood; but when asked directly about the mediation plan, said: "I know nothing yet. We must confer later today with Gen. Carranza."

BIG RAILROAD PICNIC.

About 5,000 Canadian Northern Employes Visit Warroad.

Warroad, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—About 5,000 Winnipeg people came to Warroad to make merry at the Canadian Northern picnic Saturday. The trains left Winnipeg in the morning in three sections, the first starting at 7:30, the second at 8, and the last at 8:30. They returned in the same order twelve hours later. The trains and coaches were gaily decorated and when the committee in charge of the affair arrived on the first train they were welcomed at the depot by Mayor A. E. McDonald, who presented B. Nicholson, chairman of the committee, with the keys to the city. There was plenty of amusements and sports of all kinds provided. A football game between the depot team and Canadian Northern shops, the score being 2 to 1, in favor of the latter. A baseball game between a Canadian Northern team and Warroad was won by the former, 11 to 6. There were races for men, women and children and last but not least a dancing contest and a baby show. Considering that it was the thirteenth annual picnic it was a very successful affair.

Henry A. Meals, of York Springs, Pa., has a pair of brass trimmed spectacles that have been handed down through four generations. They served his great-grandfather until his death at the age of 90, his grandfather until he was 92,, his father until he was 80, and at present, at the age of 75, Mr. Meals is still using them.

FIVE-SIXTHS VERDICT O. K.

New State Law Is Upheld By State Supreme Court.

Elapsed Time Counts for Twelve Hours, Is Decision.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—How twelve men pass their time while in the jury room is not a fit subject for judicial review, according to the state supreme court. In an application handed down this morning in the case of the estate of R. R. Hurlbut on appeal of W. F. Hurlbut, the court holds a five-sixths jury verdict to be constitutional and not subject to review.

Hurlbut attacked the findings of the jury on the ground that the verdict was invalid because less than twelve hours had been consumed in arriving at a conclusion. Though the jury went out at 5:25 p. m. and did not return until 11:47 a. m. he contended that less than twelve hours had been consumed in deliberating the matter under controversy. His point was that much of the jury's time had been given over to meals and to slumber.

Under the new jury law, which covers civil actions only, a five-sixths verdict is permitted if the jury, after twelve hours of deliberation, fails to reach a unanimous verdict.

IS FIGHTING TO STAY HERE

Chinese Appeals to Courts From Decision of the Secretary.

Came to America as Merchant and Is Working as Laborer.

Whether Sin Tax Sam of Hibbing can rightfully remain in the United States, or whether he must return to China as has been ordered by the secretary of labor, will be decided by Federal Judge Page Morris, who heard a habeas corpus proceeding in his chambers this morning. The court will announce his decision within a day or two.

Has No Precedent Here.

The case in question is the first of its kind ever heard in the Minnesota courts. Such cases are not uncommon on the coast, but this is the first time that a Chinaman has attacked the decision of the department of labor and appealed for his freedom through the courts of this state.

Sim was ordered deported several weeks ago by the secretary of labor, because it was charged he had gained entrance into America by fraudulent means, but his attorney, John H. Norton, immediately filed a writ of habeas corpus and the hearing was at that time set for this morning. If Judge Morris denies the writ, Sam will have to return to China, but if the court declares that the Chinaman did not have a fair hearing before the local immigration officials or that the evidence against him is not sufficient, he will have his liberty. In either event, it is expected that the case will be appealed, as the Chinaman is fighting deportation, while the government will undoubtedly continue in its effort to send Sam back to China.

Was Ordered Deported.

At the hearing this morning Brown McDonald, local immigrant inspector, presented the government's side of the case. He showed the court a record of the hearing conducted by the immigration officials following the arrest of Sin Tax Sam on April 4 and the order of Secretary of Labor Wilson. The Chinaman is accused of having entred into this country fraudulently.

On Sept. 30, 1912, Sin Tax Sam landed at Seattle from China, according to the evidence produced at the hearing by the immigration officials, and gained entrance in the United States by claiming that he was a merchant. This exempts him from the labor exclusion act and consequently he came to Hibbing to live. Last April it was learned that he was laboring in Hibbing and his arrest followed.

Would Start in Business.

Sam contends that he has been unable to open a place of business and that he is still looking for a favorable location somewhere in the northern part of the state. It is for this reason alone, he claims, that he has been working as a laborer.

THE OLD BARREL.

Washington Star: Anyone who is handy at home carpentering can devise many ways of using empty barrels. A fine magazine rack may be built from well-selected barrel heads, held together by a broad cleat nailed on the under side of each head, which forms a shelf. These are supported by four upright pieces with grooves sawed in the edges at different levels. Brackets strengthen the frame and secure the shelves properly. This rack may be stained to match the furniture.

A very useful stand and receptacle may be made of a barrel sawed in half lengthwise, and resting upon a framework of plain boards with a shelf below. This may be filled with earth for a winter window garden, or may have a cover hinged on and used for a sewing basket.

Another stand may be made of two ends of a barrel, each end being sawed off just at the second hoop. Through four holes bored in the lower one run the supports of the frame, and let the top part rest upon their ends. Some small brackets under each barrel head will strengthen the whole. Painted outside and lined inside this makes a very convenient work basket, or decorated in rustic fashion a very pretty plant stand.

COMPLIMENTS THE ASSESSOR

J. G. Armson of State Tax Commission Reviews Scott's Work.

"Kicks" on Personal Property Assessments Are Not Numerous.

J. G. Armson, a member of the state tax commission, sat for a time with the city board of review during its morning session at the city hall.

Mr. Armson's special purpose in visiting Duluth at this time was to review the figures of the real estate assessment which have been prepared under the direction of City Assessor J. Allyn Scott. He paid the assessor a high compliment, saying that after examining the valuations he would recommend that no material changes be made in them.

The morning meeting of the board was quiet and during the interims when no one was asking that his or her assessment be reduced, Mr. Armson chatted with Mayor Prince, City Clerk Palmer and the assessor, who compose the city board of equalization. Their discussion centered principally upon the recent primaries and the governorship campaign between Congressman Hammond and Mr. Lee. While Mr. Armson was unrestrained in his talk with the city officials he said that he would prefer not to make any remarks relative to the political situation for publication.

The city board is now taking up objections on the real estate assessments. They had expected to spend all of the present week on the personal property assessments, but the "kicks" have been so few that it was decided that an effort would be made to wind up the hearings this week. The first part of the week will be devoted to considering those cases which have been taken under advisement.

TO DARN SILK.

Baltimore American: Silk dresses that are apt to get three-cornered tears are best mended with their own ravelings, as thread is differently twisted. Carefully ravel out threads long enough to sew with. Draw the tear together, then darn neatly, lay a paper over and press with a heavy iron not too hot. This is almost invisible.

TAKES HIM AT HIS WORD

City Engineer Willing to Let Contractor Dahl Backfill at Own Price.

Latter's Protest to Council Analyzed—Wilson Not Peeved.

Relative to the controversy between City Engineer John Wilson and Contractor E. A. Dahl on the backfilling of the trenches on the Vernon street improvement, the city engineer said this morning that the city will be more than willing to pay the contractor $500 for backfilling the trenches with gravel.

In a statement issued last evening Dahl asserts that the cost will be $500 and not $25,000, as he assumes would be the extra cost from the engineer's statement. City Engineer Wilson says that he will be perfectly willing to take him at his word and agree to pay him $500 extra for doing the backfilling with gravel. All that the contractor has to do is to sign an agreement to that effect.

The engineer said that he knows Dahl bid $2.26 a yard for laying a brick pavement on a concrete base but, explained that when he said that the cost would be $3 a yard he included the other work, all of which enters into the cost of the improvement and will be assessed against the property benefited.

Dahl sent a letter to the council objecting to backfilling the trenches with the material taken from the excavations. He claimed that gravel or a mixture of sand and gravel should be used. The city engineer answered that Dahl knew what the specifications required, or should know, and that he wanted to use the gravel as it would save him work and increase his profits. He pointed out that in his reply Dahl said in one place that there are no specifications relative to the trenches and later states that the specifications allow two men to shovel in the ditch to one man ramming.

Dahl's second statement is as follows:

Contractor's Statement.

"The water and gas service connections on Vernon street, which the engineer ordered us to put in, are extra work and we have no plans nor specifications for them. We called at the city hall three different times asking for plans showing where the house connections are to go in, but we failed to get any.

"When Mr. Wilson declares the cost under present arrangements will run about $8 per square yard, and that if Mr. Dahl were permitted to have his way, about $4.50 would be added, bringing the cost to the property owners to approximately $7.50 per square yard, he is very misleading. We do not believe that Mr. Wilson will gain anything by making such a statement. He knows it is not true. Our contract price for paving with brick on a concrete base on Vernon street is $2.26 per square yard.

"I said, if I had my way of improving streets in Duluth, I would have all sewer, water and gas connections put in and the street graded one or two years before laying the paving. Thus we would be able to build pavements and sidewalks that would not settle.

"To fill trenches with sand and gravel instead of clay would cost about $500, not $25,000, as it will sum up according to Mr. Wilson's statement.

"The specifications allow two men to shovel in the ditch to one man ramming. We have only one man shoveling to one man ramming, and we flush all ditches with water, which is not required when the dirt is rammed. We put about twice the amount of work on backfilling than is called for. This will set aside Mr. Wilson's statement that we want more profit and less work. We believe in doing good work. It is the cheapest in the end."

DECIDES TO TRY MARRIAGE AGAIN

Disappointed in her first matrimonial venture which terminated in a divorce court just six months ago, Esther Shapiro will again become a bride, this time as the wife of Joseph H. Boznu. A marriage license was taken out yesterday afternoon.

Miss Shapiro, who is the daughter of J. Shapiro of this city, was married Dec. 6, 1910, to Abraham Rocklin, who was then also a resident of Duluth. Two days after their wedding they moved to Chicago.

In the divorce court last December, Mrs. Rocklin related how her husband had pawned her engagement ring and their wedding presents and of how she had been obliged to work long hours in a Chicago department store to scrape up enough money to get the ring out of pawn. Judge Cant granted her a decree on the grounds of cruelty.

Six months having elapsed since the entry of judgment on the divorce decree, no legal impediment now exists to the second marriage.

DARE-DEVILS TO START SHIVERS

Peerless Trio Will Do Death-Defying Feats at Shriners' Carnival.

The lovers of hair-raising sensations will find entertainment in the feats to be performed by the Peerless trio—Jack Armstrong, H. Dumke and Lee Dailey in the nearest perpendicular motordrome that has ever been erected.

Jack Armstrong, making his dip of death, is said to perform the most hazardous feat ever attempted by a circus or carnival performer, as the slightest error in judgment would send the rider to instantaneous death.

Prof. Dumke, known as the speed demon, holds the spectators spellbound as he dashes madly around the track at a pace that makes the terrific speed of the fleetest express look like the plodding progress of a local freight train.

Norman Lee Dailey is a graceful and daring fancy rider. He performs the most difficult feats while riding around the almost perpendicular track, at a rate of speed that seems incredible. His most wonderful feat is that of riding sixteen times around the track at a speed of sixty miles an hour, without touching the handle bars.

These kings of the motordrome can be seen only at the Shriners' Midsummer carnival, which will be shown all next week at Thirtieth avenue west and Third street.

KINKS IN THE KITCHEN.

Christian Science Monitor: Except for French or raw fried potatoes, the skins can be removed just as well after they are slightly cooked as before, and oh, it is so much easier! Rinse them off, drop them into boiling water and let them cook five minutes. This is just sufficient to loosen the skins. By holding them with a fork you can slip your knife under the skins and speedily remove them. The potatoes will then be ready to put back on the fire to prepare for boiling, mashing or any of the ways in which you intend to cook them.

The gas stove may be quickly brought back to its greaseless best if rubbed with a newspaper immediately after the gas is turned off. The housewife who takes the trouble to line her garbage pail with a clean paper each day will be regarded as a model tenant by her janitor; half the ordinary scrubbing of kitcheen tables can be avoided by laying down a paper or two before preparing vegetables or cleaning fish or the family silver, and furthermore, ice bills are appreciably reduced by laying a few thicknesses of paper onto the ice when it is received in the morning.

ORE MOVEMENT BUT 60 PER CENT

Estimates for 1914 Show Big Dropping Off on Great Lakes.

Estimates of the 1914 ore movement are being centered between 30,000,000 and 35,000,000 tons. This is about 60 per cent of the capacity of the fleet when coal shipments are reasonably heavy.

By July 1 ore shipments will total in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 tons to be taken down on the basis of 32,000,000 tons, which seems to be the prevailing opinion. Unless there is a decided change in shipments, the boats will have little ore to move in November and an average of less than 6,000,000 tons a month during the next four months. And those who are very close to the ore traffic are of the opinion there will be no change during the next two months.

The effect of closing down many mines and working others only part of the time is being felt in the coal trade. Grain alone is reasonably sure to improve the business, but shipments of grain will not materially increase until the northwestern crop comes in late September and early October.

COAL TRAFFIC GETS HARD BLOW

Ohio Miners and Operators Fail to Get Together.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 26.—The relief that was expected in the lake coal traffic by the resumption of mining operations in Ohio, which was confidently expected by the last of this month, is not likely to come for some time, according to developments at Columbus.

Ohio operators and miners failed to arrive at a working basis for a settlement and adjourned sine die. Governor James M. Cox was instrumental in bringing about the series of conferences that ended abruptly. Ohio coal mines ship close to 20 per cent of the bituminous coal going up the lakes.

As a result of this delay in moving coal from Ohio there is reason to believe there will be a good traffic in coal late in the season. Coal from other districts is not being shipped to replace Ohio coal, and when the situation reaches a point that upper lake docks must protect themselves with other coal or Ohio coal begins to move shipments will have to be large to make up for the time already lost.

SHIPPERS OFFER GRAIN AT SEVEN-EIGHTS OF CENT.

Grain shippers are offering cargoes out of Chicago for Buffalo at ⅞ cents. It was estimated yesterday 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 bushels of fall capacity has been chartered. Some negotiating was being done yesterday for September and October cargoes at the prevailing rate of 1⅛ and 1¾ cents respectively.

The elevator workers at Port Colborne have been on strike for two days and yesterday were reported to be about to arrange a working agreement. Overtime is the principal contention.

Ship on Maiden Trip.

Detroit, June 26.—The steamer South American of the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit company, on her first trip of the season stopped here on her way to Buffalo from Chicago with a party of Knights of Columbus. The craft, an exclusive passenger boat, was filled to capacity, only stateroom capacity being carried. She remained in port only long enough to take on papers and put off laundry.

READY FOR BIG VARSITY RACES

All Crews at Poughkeepsie Awaiting Starter's Gun Crack.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26.—The six rowing colonies of Cornell, Columbia, Wisconsin, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Washington were astir early this morning with their one hundred and twenty oarsmen keyed up to high tension for the day's rowing contests on the Hudson. There were no changes in the betting over night and Cornell continued the favorite in all three races, several bets at even money being reported on Cornell against the field. There were many bets of even money on Washington against Pennsylvania and some wagers that Syracuse would not be third or better in the 'varsity race.

The first race, between the junior eights, was set for 4:15 o'clock; the second race for freshmen eights at 4:45 and the 'varsity race at 6.15. Local river men stated that the two first races would be rowed against the last of the flood tide giving the inside crews, Cornell and Columbia the advantage. For the 'varsity race a strong ebb tide was indicated.

The officials were as follows: Referee, John E. Eustis, Wesleyan; time keeper, Hugh Cabot, Harvard; assistant time keepers, Harry A. Fisher, Columbia; Frederick D. Colson, Cornell; John W. Townsend, Jr., Pennsylvania; Edmund L. French, Syracuse; Frank J. Petura, Wisconsin; Ralph A. Horr, Washington; judge at finish, Fred R. Fortmeyer, New York Athletic club; flag judge, Clement B. Wood, Harvard.

Indications at the noon hour pointed to fair conditions for the events. A breeze was blowing from the southwest but was not strong enough to make the water very rough. The inside crews, however, would have the advantage.

CARPENTIER WILL REFEREE FIGHT

Johnson and Moran Ready for the Bout Saturday.

Paris, June 26.—Both Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion of the world, and Frank Moran of Pittsburg, challenger for the title, finished their training today, and each of them declared himself in the best possible condition for their contest tomorrow night.

"I shall win sure," was the cablegram Johnson sent to his mother in Chicago today, while a friend of Moran who visited him at his training quarters at Meriel on the Oise, said the challenger was no less confident.

The advance sale of seats indicates there will be a great crowd at the Velodrome d'Hiver when the fight starts at half-past 10 tomorrow night. It is understood that among those who have purchased tickets are many women.

The poor of Paris will realize a good sum as a result of the contest, as it is calculated that the receipts will reach at least $100,000. Under the law 10 per cent is added to the price of each ticket for the benefit of the poor.

No better date could have been selected for the fight, as it takes place on the eve of the Grand Prix, the principal sporting event of the year and in the height of the tourist season, when many Americans and other foreigners are in Paris.

The selection of George Carpentier, the French champion, as referee is also considered likely to draw a large following, as he is an idol among the Parisians.

GOLFERS ARE OFF FOR HOUGHTON

About fifteen members of the Northland Country club will leave today for Houghton, where the members of the Portage Lake club will be played for the Cole cup. This cup was won by the Portage Lake players last year. A later game will be played in Duluth in the fall.

The following players are expected to make the trip: T. F. Cole, Walter Croze, John Mullin, Robert Raley, Fred White, M. O'Brien, George Wells, W. W. Walker, Dr. J. A. Winter, George Crosby, C. R. Rust, Howard Abbott, Sidney McPhail and M. B. Cullum.

DENIES COBB STORIES.

President of Detroit Club Says That Peppery Player Is Sorry.

Detroit, Mich., June 26.—"All this talk about Ty Cobb going over to the Federal league is piffle," said Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit American league baseball club today, with reference to reports that Cobb is dissatisfied with local conditions.

"He is more anxious than anyone else to prove that the unfortunate affair Saturday was a mistake of the head and not of the heart. When he gets back in the game he will do everything he can to make up for lost ground. To prove his loyalty to me this year, he signed a two-year contract when he could have merely signed for one year and watched developments in the Federal league."

FARGO PACER ENTERED.

Dave Dinnie's 3-Year-Old to Race at Frisco.

Fargo, N. D., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Don Densmore, the great little pacer, is not the only one of Dave Dinnie's horses that is starring on the local race track under Al Russell. There is a little 3-year-old pacer that is stepping some lively miles and while he has never been in a race his showing is so good that Dinnie has entered him in the San Francisco races for 1915. Don Densmore is rounding to in fine shape and reeling off some fast miles.

Wind Streaky for Race.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 26.—A streaky wind that came out of the Northwest with little promise of freshening, was blowing this morning when the cup yachts Resolute, Vanitie and Defiance made for the Black Spar buoy off Lloyd's Neck to start on the first race of the single stickers held under the auspices of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht club.

The regatta committee ordered the sloops twice around a course of 15¼ miles.

NONCOMMITTAL.

New York World: A lecturer went to Yonkers with a letter to a Yonkers citizen from a man in New Rochelle and succeded in getting an engagement. His three-hour lecture proved dull, dry and uninteresting. Next day Mr. Yonkers met Mr. New Rochelle.

"What did you mean," asked Yonkers, "by recommending that lemon lecturer?"

"I didn't recommend him."

"Well, I just guess you did. I've got your letter right here in my pocket."

"Better read it over again—carefully."

Mr. Yonkers did. It was purposely noncommittal:

"I have heard Mr. B.'s lecture. It is as interesting as it is instructive."

"And it wasn't either," said Yonkers.

"Then the comparison holds," said New Rochelle.

To Improve Expression As Well As Complexion

No face is really beautiful that lacks expression. Do you realize that continual use of powders and creams tends to spoil pliancy of skin and elasticity of expression? Why not quit cosmetics, use something better, which won't clog the pores or make the skin dry, pasty or oily? Ordinary mercolized wax acts quite differently from any cosmetic. It wonderfully improves any complexion, giving it life and expression. By gradually, harmlessly peeling off the thin veil of surface skin, it brings to view a pure, soft, spotless complexion, delicately beautiful and youthful. Every druggist has this wax; it is seldom more than an ounce is needed. It is spread on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. In a week or two the transformation is complete.

Wrinkles do not of course enhance the expression. Neither do the pasty things many use to eradicate them. A treatment free from all objection is made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel; use as a wash lotion. This soon removes even the most obstinate wrinkles. (Advertisement.)

COKE SEEN IN LINEUP

Sixty Per Cent of the Criminals Are Dope Fiends.

Are Quite Likely to Kill When They Become Irritated.

New York, June 26.—The daily lineup of criminals and suspected criminals at police headquarters is a measure of the grip of the drug habit on the underworld. The indicator stands now at 60 per cent. Those who watch this indicator with the gravest foreboding are the veteran detectives of the New York police department.

To the ordinary student of the drug habit each person who for the first time experiments with cocaine or heroin is a person almost certain to become a criminal, or at any rate a drag on the rest of mankind. But to the trained detective the news that a petty thief, a clothesline robber, a pickpocket, or a purse snatcher has begun sniffing means that a comparatively harmless nuisance is on the way to become a reckless, brutal criminal, a menace to the life of every policeman.

Dreaded by Police.

There is a list of officers killed by drug users startlingly long at headquarters, which grimly confirms the police dread of the spreading of the habit. This dread is an active stimulus to the efforts of individual detectives to suppress the traffic. They are acting in self-protection as well as for the good of the community.

Since Commissioner Woods ordered the re-establishment of the lineup he and Deputy Commissioner Rubin, Inspector Faurot and Captains Dunn and Jones, who acted as exhibitors of the day's collection of prisoners to the assembled masked detectives, have been astonished at the extent of the use of cocaine among the sort of persons who come into the daily dragnet. Nearly every colored prisoner who is arrested by central office detectives shows the effect of it and more than one-half of the white prisoners.

Make Assassins.

Just as cocaine and heroin make a decent man into a loafer and a thief, they make the cowardly thief and hoodlum into a gunman and an assassin, who fears neither God nor man, and who attempts crimes which in his normal state of mind he would never dream about. Broad daylight and street crowds do not make him cautious. With his common sense dulled and his worst passions inflamed, the cocaine fiend runs amuck oblivious even to the pain inflicted upon him by the fists or heavier weapons of the policeman.

It is a horrible sight, that lineup, in these days of cocaine. It was bad enough in the old days, when a line of men and women, with rough and evil faces, defiant and sullen or hopeless and frightened, were ranged along the platform. But at least there was something rugged in some of the faces. The miserable wrecks who stand along the screen of varnished board at the back of the exhibition platform today can inspire nothing but contempt and disgust.

The older men who remember the fairly stalwart average prisoner of ten years ago mutter with disgust. The most hardened of them are shaken by the evidence of the wicked work cocaine and heroin have done since the daily lineup was abolished by Commissioner Waldo about three years ago. They see the results of the three years' drug progress without having gradually become accustomed to its growth.

Do Not Know What They Are Doing.

"It gets me," said a veteran, coming out of the gymnasium after the lineup. "We used to fight criminals—bad men. Now we are fighting a drug that walks around in the shells of men. The shells do not know what they are doing half the time except that they are trying to get the money to get more of the drug. The fiends of hell only know what the drug will do when it gets a man. We cannot tell where it will break out. But looking at those faces, those hollow-eyed, pop-eyed, jumpers and jerkers, some of them half awake and others grinning like idiots, day after day, is getting on my nerves. And everyone of them is likely to be the murderer of a policeman. The drugged crook, remember, does not kill to escape or for revenge. He kills when he is irritated, just as you or I would slap a fly."

STEEL PLANT SUBURBS

WOULD PROMOTE SERGT. M'DERMOTT

New Duluth Club Would Like to See Him a Lieutenant.

Members of the New Duluth Commercial club will ask the city to place the New Duluth station into the class calling for a lieutenant in charge. The club also proposed to request that Sergt. Robert McDermott, now in charge of the station, be elevated to this rank.

It is claimed by members of the club that Sergt. McDermott has now all of the duties that fall upon a lieutenant, that he has passed the necessary examination and that he should be given the promotion.

"It is the opinion of club members," Secretary L. R. Taylor of the club said this morning, "that the importance of the station requires a lieutenant. The police here must cover a territory nearly seven miles in length, from Smithville to Fond du Lac, including Morgan Park. This section of the city is expanding as rapidly as any in Duluth.

"Citizens recommend Sergt. Robert McDermott for the position. He has charge of the station at the present time. Since McDermott came here law enforcement has been improved wonderfully. He passed the required civil service examinations in March and I dare say his record as a member of the force is as good as that of any man in the department."

The sergeant has been a member of the police force since 1907. He was promoted to sergeancy on March 12, 1912, and since that time has had charge of the New Duluth station.

ROAD TO SUBURB IS IMPASSABLE

Traffic to New Duluth is at a standstill. For nearly a week the roads have been in an impassable condition, say the residents and all heavy rigs have been unable to make the trip between the suburbs and the city.

In some places along Commonwealth avenue north of House street the mud is said to be ten inches deep. Residents cite this condition as an instance of why the street requires an immediate improvement with a paving of substantial material.

Big Crops Will Test Their Facilities, Says Pennington.

Good Crop Is Assured; Bumper Crop Is Likely.

Edmund Pennington, president of the Soo line, is of the opinion that on the present outlook, the railroads of the northwest are going to have all they can do to handle the crop movement this fall.

"With June nearly over, we are now past many of the danger points," he said in the course of a recent interview. "It begins to look definite now, for no matter what happens in the way of later adverse developments, we are going to get a good crop. It will be a record-breaker, and a record tonnage-maker for our line, if present conditions are reasonably well maintained until cutting time."

Going into the general question of railroad prospects in 1914, an eastern financial expert figures out that if the present promise of 5,000,000,000 bushels yield of the principal grains is maintained, it assures a handsome business for the transportation lines.

On a 12-cent average freight rate for grain and cereals, he places the railroad revenue to be earned in moving the crop at $200,000,000. In arriving at these figures, corn and oats are estimated, on a basis of relative weights, and the fact that around 87½ per cent of each is fed on the farm, is taken into consideration.

The figures are compiled as follows:

	Crops, bushels	Railroad revenue
Wheat crop 1914 (current estimates) and carry-over from 1913	1,000,000,000	$120,000,000
Estimated yield of corn	3,000,000,000	50,000,000
Estimated yield of oats	1,200,000,000	30,000,000
Total	5,200,000,000	$200,000,000

It is pointed out that big crops mean more cattle, hogs and other farm animals and products of the farm and that when these are abundant, general business booms. Furthermore when the crops are heavy, manufacturing and merchandising in all lines thrives, bringing with it prosperity for the railroads in unison with other branches of business.

Orders for railroad equipment during the last few days in preparation for the expected fall activity are said to have mounted up into substantial figures. The Illinois Central railroad has just ordered 2,000 more cars, making a total of 5,000 cars bought by that road this month. The Wabash railroad has placed an order for sixty locomotives and the Seaboard Air line one for thirty. These are the best contracts made in a long time.

SIX LAWYERS SUE SIX GUGGENHEIMS

Claim Pay for Work to Vacate Divorce Decree.

New York, June 26.—Stephen S. Gregory, Conrad S. Poppenhusen, Joseph L. McNabe, Edward R. Johnson and Tappen Gregory, Chicago lawyers, have brought suit in the Federal district court against William, Daniel, Isaac, Murry, Simon and Solomon R. Guggenheim of this city for $20,272.87 alleged to be due for services rendered. The lawyers claim this sum for prosecuting in the courts of Cook county, Illinois, to vacate a decree of divorce granted to Grace Guggenheim against William Guggenheim, one of the defendants, and other matters. The plaintiffs assert the services rendered were worth $25,000 and that the disbursements amounted to $518.02. Of this amount they have received only $5,245.15, they say, and the remainder, which has been demanded, is unpaid.

STEAMER ACCIDENT FRIGHTENS PARTY

Cylinder Head of Favorite Blows Off With Picnickers Aboard.

Timid folk attending the picnic and excursion of the Sunday school of the Swedish Mission church held yesterday at Fond du Lac for a short time, had vision of being blown up and finding a watery grave on their return trip last evening. A cylinder head blew off on the steamer Favorite, making it necessary for the boat to stop for repairs and delaying the arrival home about two hours.

The accident occurred on the river opposite Morgan park. When the sudden blowing off of the cylinder head took place and the steam escaped, those on the lower decks thought the boilers had burst. It took several minutes for members of the crew and others of the party to quiet the passengers.

About 500 children accompanied by their parents attended the picnic. A good program of sports and games was provided for the children. The party was under the charge of Rev. J. J. Daniels and teachers of the school.

SUMMER SCHOOL MONDAY.

Six-Week Term to Begin at Swedish Mission Church.

Summer school will be held for a period of six weeks at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The session will begin Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Rev. John J. Daniels, pastor of the church, will have charge of the classes. An enrollment of forty children has already been made, and it is probable that this number will be doubled before the school begins.

Ellswick Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Ellswick, 66 years old, 1801 West Superior street, who died Tuesday, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Interment was made in Forest Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Ellswick was a member of Garfield Circle Ladies of the G. A. R. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Eva Telford, Mrs. A. Lessard of Duluth, and Mrs. A. Fuller of Seattle, and one son, Albert Ellswick of this city.

Pastor on Vacation.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, and Mrs. Silloway left this afternoon for a month's vacation. They will spend a few days visiting Mr. Silloway's relatives in the Twin Cities and part of their time at Lake Alexandria, visiting Mrs. Silloway's relatives. During the pastor's absence the pulpit will be supplied by local pastors.

Olson-Carlson.

A pretty wedding took place at 8 o'clock last evening at the Pentecostal mission, 1320 West Superior street, when Miss Carrie Olson of 1211 West First street, became the bride of Albert Carlson. The wedding ceremony was read by Rev. C. M. Neve.

The bride was attended by Miss Signe Olson, her sister, and Louis Fallgren was groomsman. The bride wore a gown of shadow lace and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas.

A wedding supper was served by women of the mission. The couple were presented with a number of handsome presents, among which was a handsome leather rocker, a present from the pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson will make their home at 1112½ West First street.

MRS. HOLMAN GIVEN VERDICT OF $4,000

Wins Suit Over Confinement in Insane Asylum.

Hartford, Conn., June 26.—A jury in the Federal court last night awarded a verdict of $4,000 to Mrs. Elizabeth Curtis Holman in her suit for $50,000 damages against her former husband, Prof. Cranston Brenton, and Dr. Paul Waterman of this city, on an allegation of conspiracy of placing her, against her will, in an insane retreat. Suit was also brought against Dr. O. C. Smith of this city as a party in the allegation, but the jury exonerated him. The jury deliberated seven hours. Counsel for Prof. Brenton and Dr. Waterman filed notices of appeal.

ROOSEVELT DECLINES TO DENY CANDIDACY

Will Not Support Whitman for Governor of New York.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 26.—Theodore Roosevelt and his leading associates finally have settled questions which, it is felt, will decide the fate of the Progressive party in New York state this fall. After it was all over, Col. Roosevelt made a statement setting forth their decision. Here are the main points:

There will be no fusion in New York state. A straight Progressive ticket will be put in the field.

District Attorney Charles H. Whitman of New York, who has been talked of as a possible nominee of both the Republican and Progressive parties, was repudiated by Col. Roosevelt.

Col. Roosevelt's nomination for the governorship is being urged upon him by virtually all the Progressive leaders in spite of his repeated statements that he would not run. The leaders said they still had hopes. The colonel yesterday declined to deny again that he would run.

STINE CONVICTED OF ROBBING POLICE.

Chicago, June 26.—William F. Stine, former head of the disbanded United Police, was found guilty yesterday of embezzling part of a fund of $60,000 raised by the organization for a lobby by which they hoped to get through the city council an ordinance increasing their salaries. Stine was convicted on two charges—embezzlement and conspiracy. He was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the penitentiary.

The testimony showed that policemen were asked to contribute $20 each to the fund. Stine was one of the collectors, and the money was placed in a deposit box to which he and two other policemen had access.

Policemen testified that those who refused to contribute to the fund were disciplined by transfers to lonely districts. Stine was accused of having failed to return any of the money to the contributors when the United Police disbanded and the plan failed.

Stine's punishment was fixed at five years in the penitentiary on the conspiracy charge and from one to ten years on the embezzlement charge. The amount of the embezzlement was fixed at $480 by the jury. Hearing on a motion for a new trial was set for July 4.

To Cure Salt Rheum and Scaly Skin

A Most Effective Treatment Quick in Results

It is simply great to use S. S. S. for the blood and get a fine, new, healthy skin, no more salt rheum, itching, scales, eczema, tetter nor any other skin affliction. What a world of satisfaction! Perhaps you have greased and painted for years with mere temporary relief.

The trouble is in your blood and merely appears on the surface because the skin is a natural outlet. In time the tiny nerve threads in the skin lose their energy, the tissue cells break down and nature must have help. Now, the skin is but a network of tiny blood vessels, nerves and a modified form of mucous membrane in which blood impurities are prepared for elimination.

And it is only by supplying skin texture with new and purified blood that the constant outpouring of impurities is checked.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist. Use this splendid, purely vegetable blood cleanser and get rid of all skin troubles.

Avoid substitutes. Don't accept them. Write The Swift Specific Co., 109 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. for their wonderful book on skin diseases.

Makes Life Worth Living

This is the car that made the greatest record of all in the past season. The thousands of Detroiters, in hardest service, averaged, from January, 1913, to January, 1914, just $3.81 apiece for repair parts. No other car, of any type, or at any price, can touch this record.

Detroiter

With its long stroke, (1 4-10 to 1 of bore) ball bearing motor, the Detroiter climbs a 15% grade at 28 miles per hour "on high." On second and first speeds it climbs anywhere its wheels can find traction.

$925 Completely Equipped

Because of its ball bearings, correct power ratio and light weight, the Detroiter uses at least 22% less fuel than is demanded by over-powered cars of its class: 20 to 25 miles per gallon is its everyday record.

It has the smooth gait of the platform spring. The actual amount of added comfort is 33%.

The Detroiter has the greatest proportion of braking surface of any car made—one square inch per 9 5-10 pounds.

The long stroke motor and sensible gear ratio (4 to 1), make for slow depreciation; the rear axle cannot give way—its margin for safety is 2,000 pounds overload; the ball bearings, of finest grade, do not wear out and never need adjustment as do other types, neither can they bind when the car is distorted by rough roads or accident; and ruinous road shock has no terrors for the platform spring. Such a car lasts.

AGAIN IN TOILS OF LAW

Herbert Paulson Held at Virginia on Charge of Forgery.

Postal Authorities End Long Search After Noted Criminal.

Wanted in Waukesha, Wis., on a charge of forgery, Herbert Paulson, 30 years old, for whom a search was being made in Duluth, was this morning arrested in Virginia by the authorities of the range city and the prisoner is now being held for the Waukesha police.

Paulson was having his mail come to Duluth through the general delivery and a careful watch was kept of the window here for the last few weeks. The other day a woman came to the window and asked that mail for J. E. Shipley, an alleged alias of the fugitive, be sent to Virginia. The local police were informed and word to this effect was then sent to the range city authorities. It was in this way that Paulson was arrested.

The prisoner, who is wanted for having forged some checks in Waukesha, has served time in many of the larger prisons of the country and is well known for his criminal record. On Dec. 13, 1911, he was convicted of bigamy in Chicago, but instead of being sentenced, was turned over to the Cleveland authorities, who sent him to the Ohio penitentiary for a term of two years for stealing horses. He obtained a parole, but was later sent to Blackwell's island in New York on a charge of grand larceny, and no sooner was he out, than he was arrested and convicted on a charge of larceny at Elmira, N. Y. He served a short term at Boston and then was not heard from again until his present arrest.

LAZINESS IS A DISEASE.

Literary Digest: When the wide prevalence of hookworm was first announced, a number of years ago, the humorists of our daily press heralded what they termed the discovery of "the microbe of laziness"—extreme indolence being a well known symptom of the malady. But the disease due to hookworm is not the only one that causes laziness. Indolence is a symptom of a very large number of disturbances, both physical and mental, and when a person, whether child or man, seems obsessed by it the first thing that should be done is to have that person examined medically. Many a worker many a child, has been blamed for indolence, when she was actually in need of medical treatment. Says a writer in the Revue Scientifique, Paris:

"Besides the kind of laziness that may be classed as physiologic, which is due to fatigue and which is instinctive, there is a laziness clearly that of disease, the result of disturbances of the physical organism or of functional troubles of various kinds.

"Certain subjects are lazy because they are suffering from symptomatic asthenia, from infection or intoxication, from tuberculosis or diabetes, from failure of the viscera or glands to function properly. To this last named class belong notably the so-called Addison's disease and indolence of thyroid origin, so well known to the clinicians.

"Pathologic laziness is met in nervous and mental affections; it may be temporary, as with certain epileptics * * * who showed alternation of periods of excitement accompanied by mental instability, with periods of melancholic depression. This laziness is almost habitual in certain cases of cerebral tumor, and in the neurotic, abnormal, unbalanced, unstable and hypochrondriac; or following injury to the skull.

"G. Haury has even shown that among those who have been injured in the course of their employment there exists by the side of failure of strength, due to wounds, a special mental state resulting from autosuggestion. This state, which aggravates the indolent condition, is known under the name of sinistrose.

"Among mental diseases properly so-called, the psychoses of melancholic or asthenic form, states of mental weakness of paralytic or alcoholic origin, furnish the explanation of the inertia, apathy and indifference observed in certain subjects ordinarily called 'lazy.'

"The notion of pathologic laziness is extremely important, particularly for those who have charge of groups of persons; it is thus that to officers of the law it may explain the morbid origin of certain infractions of discipline and to educators it may show how necessary it is to consider a large number of lazy children as simply diseased."

STAND ERECT FOR YOUR HEALTH.

Journal of the American Medical association: The way the human body is used is of the utmost importance if the person is to have the best of health of which the person is capable. With a person it is much the same as with the automobile. One represents a 50-horse power engine, another a 40, another a 30, still another 20, and if the body is used rightly this full amount of energy can be developed without harm.

If the body is used wrongly, as is true with the machine, it may be ruined in developing half the amount of the designed horse power. When rightly used, the parts are all in balance, there is no undue strain to any part, the chest is carried high, so that the breathing is easy, and there is the full amount of "wind power." The abdominal organs are properly supported and work with the least difficulty, the digestion and nutrition are good. If the body is drooped or buckles in the middle, the whole body suffers and many times disease conditions start in this way.

In such drooped position the chest is flattened, so that the lungs cannot work rightly and become weak, the abdomen is telescoped and the stomach, bowels and other organs are crowded together and work badly, so that indigestion and constipation result. Health, or the best possible efficiency, the full horse power of the person, cannot result under such conditions any more than an engine can develop its rated horsepower if the cylinders are full of carbon, or that the fuel in the furnace can be consumed properly if the drafts are not properly open or the ashes are not removed.

The position most favorable for health and in which the load or burden of life can be carried most easily is with the body, both when sitting and when standing, as it would be if a person were trying to sit or stand as tall as possible. This gives the high chest, the flat abdomen, the erect head, square shoulders, straight knees, and the springs of the whole body are set in the best way. This is the position recognized by the athletic trainers, by the singing teachers and by all those who are expected to train individuals for great effort. The same position is best for everyone, whether the effort be great or small, or whether the work be with the head or muscle.

HE KNEW.

Chicago Record-Herald: "If I were you," his wife said, "I'd go to that man and tell him exactly what I thought of him. He lied to you and you ought to tell him that you know it. If I were you I'd let him know just how I despised him. I'd have the satisfaction of making him feel ashamed of himself."

"No, my dear," he replied, "you wouldn't do anything of the kind. If you were me you'd do just as I'm doing. This fellow weighs fifty pounds more than I do and they tell me he's one of the best boxers in this town."

MISSING YOUNG WOMAN IS BELIEVED TO BE DEMENTED

Reported to Be Wandering in Woods Near Chester Park.

Slept on Bed of Grass—Hides When Boys See Her.

Apparently demented a young woman has been seen, wandering about the woods in Chester park and from descriptions given to the police this morning, she is believed to be Marie McGovern, nurse at the Nopeming sanitarium, who has been missing since Tuesday noon. She had not been reported found up to 2 o'clock this afternoon.

This morning the police received several reports to the effect that the young woman has been seen in the park and near the boulevard. The informers say that she dashes behind rocks or trees upon seeing anyone and that she appears to be demented.

A searching party of twelve Duluthians, consisting of Deputy Sheriff Evans, four police officers, three firemen and four citizens, was organized this morning to scour Chester park in an effort to find the missing young woman. The men started on their search at 9 o'clock this morning and are assisted by the county bloodhound in their efforts to find the young woman, who has so mysteriously disappeared.

Detective Brooley is heading the police officers, consisting of Sergeant Butchart and Patrolmen Wanvick and Callahan, while Capt. Kenneth Macdonald is in charge of the firemen, of whom there are Wallace West and William Johannson. The searching party was organized at police headquarters and the men left shortly after 9 o'clock on an East Ninth street car for Chester park, where the missing young woman was last seen, according to several clews already obtained by the police.

Slept on Grass.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. Fiskett received word that a family occupying the Duluth Ski club house saw a young woman answering the description of Miss McGovern walking in the woods. They say that she made an improvised bed of grass near the ski jump and that she spent Tuesday night there. The following morning, a member of the family said yesterday afternoon, she came to the house and asked for the direction of Kenwood road.

Several teamsters for a local contractor, who is operating near the boulevard, reported shortly before noon that they saw a young woman wandering about the park about 8 o'clock last evening. The description they give tallies with the one the police have of the missing nurse and the authorities are inclined to believe that she is still in the woods and alive. The searchers will make every effort to locate her this afternoon, although they are afraid that she may be hiding from them.

Several small boys reported this morning that they saw a young woman running around in the woods near Ninth street and that she hid in the bushes when they came upon her. Her hair was disheveled they said.

It is now believed that the young woman has become demented. She was very ill last winter and the opinion is advanced that she might be suffering a relapse at this time and that it has affected her brain.

Last Seen Tuesday.

She was last seen by her sister, Margaret McGovern, on Tuesday noon, when the young woman boarded an East Fourth street car at Third avenue west for Chester park. She had planned to meet her sister there, but when Margaret arrived later, Marie was not to be found.

Capt. Fiskett said this morning that more searching parties are needed and that citizens should organize and aid in the efforts being made by the police to find the young woman. Searchers are urged to go to the end of the East Ninth car line and to search the woods in that vicinity very carefully.

Nurse at Sanitarium.

Marie is 25 years old and was employed as a nurse at Nopeming sanitarium. Her sister is a student at a local business college, the two girls having come to Duluth last fall from Detroit, Mich. When last seen Marie wore a blue suit, with a white waist and a dark ribbon for abelt. She carried a black purse.

CO-OPERATION PLANS ARE LAID TO PREVENT BIG CLAFLIN LOSSES

assets are placed at $44,000,000, and in addition John Claflin, it is stated, has pledged his personal fortune of $10,000,000. The outstanding paper is held by thousands of banks throughout the United States, and so widely scattered as to prevent a financial strain in any one section which would result in forcing the company to a hasty settlement and probably prevent reorganization.

A meeting of the creditors, to be held in about ten days, will determine whether the receivership shall be continued, and if so, on what terms they shall be allowed to borrow to continue the business. At this meeting a committee of creditors may be selected to co-operate with the receivers.

Causes Are Given.

Causes for the failure as given by Mr. Claflin appear today to coincide with the views expressed by leading dry goods merchants, jobbers and commission men. Changes of the trade of the city due to specialization in lines and the growing tendency of manufacturers to sell direct to retailers injured the Claflin company, which did a general jobbing business. These conditions, Mr. Claflin explained, caused his company to look for profits through the ownership of or control of retail stores, resulting in the necessity for extensive financing. So extensive had this financing become that it reached a point where maturities amounted to about $6,000,000 each week. Recently, it is said, country banks began restricting their purchases of Claflin and other commercial paper, and the company found difficulty in taking care of these maturities.

John Claflin became a partner in the H. B. Claflin company soon after reaching his majority, and began to assume responsibility about the time of the panic of 1873. At that time, and again in 1907, the firm was in financial difficulties, but managed to weather them, as it did during the Civil war.

The integrity of the firm during these times, when dollar for dollar was paid, was recounted today by dry goods merchants and others as evidence which led them to believe a reorganization would be effected, if cooperation were extended.

Subsidiary Is Attacked.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed here today against the Defender Manufacturing company, of this city, makers of underwear, a subsidiary of the H. B. Claflin company, which failed yesterday. Receivers in equity proceedings were appointed at the time of the Claflin failure, but it was contended that the company was solvent. Creditors now seek to have it adjudged bankrupt. Counsel for the Claflin interests, it is understood, will oppose the petition.

Members of the noteholders' protective committee appointed yesterday to safeguard the interests of banks having some $30,000,000 of Claflin paper, went into session today at the National Bank of Commerce, whose president, J. S. Alexander, is chairman of the committee.

Merchandise Claims $2,000,000.

A. C. Drew, secretary of the Merchandise Creditors' committee, estimated today that merchandise creditors have claims of about $2,000,000.

"It is our earnest hope," he said, "that merchandise creditors will deposit claims with our committee at the earliest moment. Immediate co-operation is essential to produce satisfactory results. In view of the public importance of this meeting this committee had consented to represent creditors without cost to them."

During the early trading in the stock market there were four sales of United Drygoods preferred each amounting to 100 shares. The first was at 64¾, the second at 64, the third at 63 and the fourth at 62. At the close of the market yesterday the stock was quoted at 65.

The United Drygoods companies have stock control of the H. B. Claflin company.

undoubtedly reach the state capitol by Sunday at the latest.

The figures given above are first choice. Second choice was exercised in the case of governor, the state auditor and railroad commissioner, but when counted, it is said, they will make little change in the leads enjoyed by Lee, Preus and Jacobson.

Block at Capitol.

Julius Block, former state treasurer, who with an expenditure of less than $60 gathered in nearly 45,000 votes in the contest for the Republican nomination for state auditor, was a caller at the state capitol today. Mr. Block said his visit was primarily for the purpose of seeing how the count on auditor was progressing.

In the early part of the week Mr. Block filed a protest with the canvassing board against his name being dropped because of a lack of sufficient first choice votes. His point was that sufficient voters had used the second choice in his behalf to put him over the line.

"My protest as filed with the state board is all I can do at the present time," said Mr. Block today. "If there is to be a recount, I have five days after the board has made its official returns in which to start such. I am positive that the second choice votes were more than enough to elect me, but whether I will institute a contest remains. I am undecided in the matter."

Mr. Block claims that the second choice votes which, under the law as a candidate eliminated, are not counted for him, are his by constitutional right. He contends that those who made him second choice are entitled to have their votes counted, and that he as the recipient is likewise entitled to have them counted for him. Mr. Block said that nothing would be done in the matter of a recount until next week.

SALEM FIRE LEAVES 10,000 HOMELESS

tents erected in the baseball park and the common.

Help From Washington.

There will be a tent colony of 5,000 people in the baseball park. A telegram received by Mayor Hurley from Secretary of War Garrison at Washington said all necessary tents and equipment would be furnished by the national government.

A resolution was considered by the city government which would appropriate $100,000 for relief work.

It was learned this afternon that a committee at the state house had raised the biggest part of a proposed fund of $100,000. Another committee has undertaken to raise another fund of $100,000, among whom are wealthy residents of the north shore. A check for $25,000 was received today from H. C. Frick of Pittsburg.

Ernest Bicknell, national director of the Red Cross, is expected here from Washington this evening.

The burned district followed the lines of a rough semi-circle, three miles in length and varying in width from half a mile to a mile and a half.

Before the fires had been fairly checked, relief measures and plans for rebuilding were under way. Governor Walsh, Lieut.-Gov. Barry and Secretary of State Donahue spent the night here. The governor announced that 5,000 tents and 10,000 rations would be shipped to the city at once. He also issued a call for a public meeting at the state house in Boston to take further action.

Noted Building Spared.

In the midst of the gloom caused by the staggering blow to the city, residents found cause for thanksgiving in the fact that the more noted buildings and the museums, with their priceless collections of antiquities, were spared. The birthplace of Nathaniel Hawthorne, the "house of seven gables," and the old custom house were threatened for a time, all the flames approached dangerously close to the Peabody museum and the Essex institute, but none of these structures were damaged.

The companies of militia summoned to assist in maintaining order patrolled the streets today. Martial law was not declared, but no one was permitted to approach the fireswept area without a pass. Only one attempt at looting was discovered.

Burned Ten Hours.

From 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when a terrific explosion occurred in the factory of the Korn Leather company at Proctor and Boston streets, the flames raged practically unchecked until midnight. The explosion is thought to have occurred among highly inflammable chemicals used in the manufacture of patent leather.

A high wind carried the fire through the manufacturing district and thence southeastward to the heart of the city, and across a thickly populated tenement district to the water front. A shift in the wind sent the fire northward along La Fayette street, where scores of the city's finest residences were burned. The fire spread out to another manufacturing center on the shore of the harbor and destroyed large factories.

In the intervening area scores of business houses were swept away. The Salem hospital was among the buildings burned, but all the patients were safely removed.

Dynamited Buildings.

Great quantities of apparatus from neighboring cities assisted in fighting the flames, and finally succeeded in checking their passage southward. To the eastward they burned themselves out at the water's edge. The final stand was made near the Boston & Maine railroad station. Here several buildings were dynamited and the firemen at last gained the upper hand, saving the northeastern part of the city.

A separate fire, which the police say was of incendiary origin, destroyed thirteen dwellings in North Salem and threatened the plant of the Salem Oil company.

Red Cross Will Help.

Washington, June 26.—Ernest P. Bicknell, national director of the Red Cross, left today for Salem to direct relief work. The Red Cross has sent $5,000 and is prepared to raise a large fund if necessary.

Mabel T. Boardman, chairman of the National Relief board of the Red Cross, also will go to Salem.

Secretary of War Garrison said the army would cooperate in the relief work if the Massachusetts authorities found their resources inadequate.

KAISER IN COMMAND OF BRITISH FLEET

His Flag as Admiral Hoisted on the King George V.

Kiel, Germany, June 26.—The German emperor yesterday visited the British flagship of the second battle squadron, King George V, on which has flag as admiral of the fleet was hoisted. Vice Admiral Sir George Warrender, commanding the squadron, who was outranked by the emperor in the latter's capacity as a British admiral, transferred his own flag to the Centurion.

The emperor remained an hour on board the flagship, during which time he was nominally in supreme command of the British fleet. On leaving he was saluted with an admiral's twenty-one bells, instead of a ruler's twenty-three.

WILL ENJOY INJURY AWARD IN ITALY

Frank Sposito Will Receive $3,795 From Oliver Company.

Frank Sposito, 32, who was permanently disabled in an accident at the Graham mine near Mesaba on May 2 last, will return to his native land, Italy, with money which he has received in settlement of his claim against his employers, the Oliver Mining company.

Under the terms of the settlement, which was approved in district court yesterday afternoon, Sposito will be paid $1,000 cash at this time and will find a balance of $2,795.66 awaiting him in a bank in Italy when he reaches his destination.

The injury sustained by Sposito consists of dislocated vertebra, which has produced a partial paralysis of the lower part of his body. The settlement was made in accordance with the terms of the workmen's compensation law.

The court has also approved a settlement which has been effected between the Cloquet Lumber company and Charles Peterson, who was injured in one of the company's camps at Shiel, Minn., Dec. 29, 1913. It was found necessary to amputate one of his feet and for this Peterson has received $764.

ATTRACTED BY "MOVIES"

Biggest Producers Enterin Motion Picture Field, Says Furniss.

New Alignment Means Better Pictures and Systematic Booking.

Thomas Furniss of Duluth, theater owner, declares upon his return from a trip to New York and Chicago that some of the biggest theatrical forces in the country are turning the greater part of their attention to the moving picture game.

"For instance," said Mr. Furniss today. "Lee Shubert is in Europe in search of new moving picture features. William A. Brady is also in Europe on the same mission. The Frohmans are in the game and the same is true of Jesse Lasky. Mr. Lasky has abandoned all of his vaudeville features and is in the moving picture field with all the energy at his command. There is harmony in the moving picture field and some of the greatest features that can possibly be imagined will be the result of the new combinations.

"Not only are the Shuberts, the Frohmans, the Bradys and others of the great theatrical magnates of this country in the film game, but Jack London, Eleanor Gates, Upton Sinclair and others of equal fame have turned their attention and their talent to the production field.

"As I say, some great features have resulted from the development of the manufacturers and the co-operation and enterprise of the producers. We thought 'Quo Vadis' and 'The Last Days of Pompeii' were great film productions, and so they were; but some of the big film features that are being produced now obscure these earlier efforts by their sumptuousness and elaborate detail."

Mr. Furniss was present at the banquet of International Motion Picture association, held in New York city. Men of international reputation in the legitimate field of dramatic production were present and aired thir views. The majority of the speakers declared that the future held undreamed of possibilities in the motion picture field.

Will Not Hurt Drama.

"I for one," continued Mr. Furniss, "do not believe that the growth and development of the motion picture is going to hurt the legitimate drama. Some of the most prominent dramatic producers are of the same opinion. Some of the largest theaters in the country are today given over to the motion picture plays, and yet the legitimate producers in New York informed me that some of the best plays in years were produced in the metropolis during the past season.

"The manufacturer, the producer and the exhibitor of moving pictures have reached a thorough understanding. I believe there will in the future be a national board of trade in the moving picture field. There will be representatives from the manufacturing side, the producing side and from the exhibitors. In this manner the interests of all will be served in a fair and equitable manner.

"This new alignment of the various moving picture interests throughout the country means harmony and more complete bookings. It means also that the exhibitor can secure bigger and better features. I am of the opinion that there will be classes of pictures, for instance something on the order of the way baseball leagues are graded. Class A for instance, and then lower classifications. This will give the exhibitor the kind of pictures best fitted for his house and will generally simplify booking for different houses. As an example of the progressiveness upon the part of the various interests in the motion picture field, it is only necessary to state that this season will witness the production of some of the biggest features in the history of moving picture production."

Mr. Furniss declared that the entering into the moving picture field of the largest producers in the legitimate dramatic field would result in eliminating whatever friction may have existed between the motion picture producers and the legitimate producers and would eventually serve to benefit both the quality of the dramatic production and the picture production, and also to eliminate pictures from the legitimate house.

WORLD OPIUM MEETING ENDS.

The Hague, June 26.—The international opium conference which has been holding sessions for the last ten days adjourned yesterday. The conference adopted a resolution requesting Dr. J. Loudon, minister of foreign affairs of The Netherlands, to obtain as soon as possible the ratifications from the adhering powers necessary to put the convention looking to the suppression of the opium traffic into force. This convention was drafted by the conference in 1912.

SAYS OVEREATING IS CAUSE OF CANCER

Dr. Bulkley of New York Talks at Medical Meeting.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26.—Overeating, especially of meats, and the excessive use of alcohol and coffee, cause many cancers and the only hope for their extinction lies in absolute subsistence on vegetables, with the exclusion of coffee and alcohol, in conjunction with proper medicinal measures.

This, in substance, was the statement made by Dr. L. Duncan Bulkley of New York in an address before the American Medical association.

At least ninety per cent of fibroid tumors can be cured or relieved by the use of radium, according to Dr. Howard A. Kelly of Johns Hopkins university. "Operations are unnecessary," he said.

With the election of officers for the house of delegates the controlling body of the association, the meeting practically came to an end. Officers other than Dr. William L. Redman, who was chosen president, included Dr. Alexander Craig of Chicago, secretary, and Dr. William A. Pusey of Chicago as treasurer.

The largest diamond in the world is in London; it is the Jagersfontein Excelsior. It is almost perfect and of a blue-white color, and weighs 971 carats. It was found in 1893 in South Africa.

PROFESSOR IN POLITICS

Stands Good Chance of Being Governor of South Carolina.

He Has Made a Backwoods Canvass to Considerable Purpose.

Spartansburg, S. C., June 26.—A novice in politics and the antithesis of Cole G. Blease, Dr. John G. Clinkscales, professor of mathematics at Wofford college, stands a good chance of being elected governor of South Carolina to succeed Blease. The primary election will be held in August.

Dr. Clinkscales has been a school teacher since 1876. Education, he says, is the first remedy needed for the ills of the commonwealth. He has given much study to the problems of South Carolina; the lack of respect for law and order, as illustrated in the lynchings and the pardoning of more than 1,200 convicts by Governor Blease, the illiteracy and the poverty. And he came to the conclusion that the best way to improve conditions was to compel every boy and girl in the state to go to school.

For Compulsory Education.

More than a year ago Dr. Clinkscales had a talk with the editor of a daily newspaper here, and expressed the hope that, in the next gubernatorial campaign, one of the candidates would declare for compulsory education. Dr. Clinkscales said he was tempted to run himself on a compulsory education platform, if nobody else would, and to preach the saving grace of compulsory education from the mountains to the sea. The newspaper printed Dr. Clinkscales's challenge; but none of the expectant candidates offered to champion the cause of compulsory education, which has long been assailed by Blease "as an outrageous infringement on the rights of parents over their children." Dr. Clinkscales then announced he would run for governor himself.

Most persons smiled at the idea of the old college professor in politics, some sneered. His candidacy was taken seriously at first by only a few visionaries and his own pupils at Wofford college, with whom Old Clinck, as he is called, is the most popular man on the faculty.

Knows Rural Folk.

Dr. Clinkscales at once began his campaign in a quiet way. On Saturdays, Sundays and holidays—whenever, in fact, he could get away from his classroom without neglecting his work—he slipped off somewhere and made a speech. He went principally to little villages and backwoods settlements—sometimes far from a railroad. Himself born and raised in the country, he knows rural folk, their ways and their feelings.

He talked to them in their own language; he proved himself a capital story and joke teller, and when he had engaged the interest and sympathy of his audience he preachd compulsory education.

Dr. Clinkscales has been doing this for a year. He has been all over the state, sometimes delivering two or three speeches on a Saturday. The newspapers have not reported his speeches, but his fame has been spread by word of mouth.

Changed His Ideas.

When Dr. Clinkscales first began his campaign Blease said he probably would receive between 5,000 and 10,000 votes in the entire state.

When the Democratic state convention met in Columbia last month to adopt rules for the election and the delegates informally discussed among themselves the chances of the various candidates, Clinkscale's name was on every man's lips. Of thirteen announced candidates for governor, among whom are the oldest and most skilful politicians in South Carolina, Dr. Clinkscales was conceded by delegates of every shade of fractionalism to be among the two or three most formidable.

Amend French Marriage Law.

Paris, June 26.—The French senate adopted without debate a bill allowing brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law to marry.

DULUTHIANS ARE AMONG TEACHERS

Will Help Instruct at Aitkin's Summer School, Starting Monday.

Aitkin, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The summer school will open here next Monday and continue until July 24. J. B. Hagen of Alexandria will be the superintendent, with Miss Ella L. Morris of Minneapolis; Miss Ella Prodst, of Duluth, and R. L. Mason of Aitkin as instructors. Miss Maggie Mansur of Duluth will give a week's special instruction in home economics, and an agricultural expert will be engaged for one week.

Good Roads Day.

Good Roads Day in Aitkin was a success, there being fifty-seven men and seventeen teams at work and $80 paid in cash by those not working. The Cedar Lake road was the principal one repaired, Fred Jenkins contributing from his gravel pit all the gravel needed to put the road in fine shape. Another day will be set aside later.

OPPOSE MERGER OF EASTERN RAILWAYS.

Albany, N. Y., June 26.—The consolidation of various railroad lines under one corporation, to be known as the New York Central Railroad company, would be a violation of the Sherman law, Attorney J. Aspinwall Hodge declared at a hearing before the public service commission yesterday. Mr. Hodge and George W. Wickersham appeared in behalf of certain minority stockholders of the Lake Shore to protest against the proposed consolidation.

WELLS-FARGO DIVIDEND CUT.

New York, June 26.—Wells-Fargo & Co. declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, a reduction of 2 per cent from the previous rate. Since 1906 the company had been paying annually dividends of 10 per cent.

AITKIN WEDDINGS.

Several Celebrated There and at Other Points.

Aitkin, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Clara Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nelson, of Pickerel Lake, and Felix A. Graton of Franklin county, New York, were married Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. A. L. Richardson officiating, in the presence of 100 guests. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Myrtle Peterson of Minneapolis, and Edward E. Graton, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

A fine wedding dinner was served, followed by a ball in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Graton will make their home in New York.

L. W. Thomas of Cuyuna and Miss Lizzie Browning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Browning, were married June 17 at Staples and will make their home on a farm near Pine River.

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Oliver M. Reidman and Miss Lelah M. Spalding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Spalding of Aitkin, which took place June 1 in Westminster church, Edmondton, Alta., Can.

Elwin W. Nichols of Aitkin, and Miss Edith Kathka were married Thursday at the home of the bride in Traer, Kansas.

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

The Unwieldy Board of Health

A DOCTOR in private life or a group of doctors will be given the entire control over the patient's welfare. If it is decided the patient requires an operation, or a visit to some health resort, or a rest from work, or a change of bad habits, the doctor's word is law; his decision is final in the matter.

Not so when the health of a community is at stake. In that case the doctor is not quite competent to decide what is good and what is bad for the public health. He has to have a board of lay advisers to keep him from making mistakes.

If an epidemic develops in the community the people demand expert sanitary advice; they do not act upon the advice of a non-medical board of health. Yet the expert sanitarian—the health officer—cannot proceed with his work of fighting the epidemic without the sanction of his board of shoe clerks, undertakers, merchants or whatever they may be.

Origin of the Board of Health.

In ancient times when the principal duty of the health department was the disposal of "nuisances"—that is, things which had an unpleasant odor—laymen knew about as much as doctors did regarding public health. Hence the board of health had an excuse for its existence. Today the average lay member of a village or city board of health is about as ignorant of modern sanitation as a man can be, yet he presumes to pass upon the work of the health officer. The air of dignity assumed by a member of the board of health is in keeping with the purpose of the board—to keep the doctor from making mistakes. The board meets at stated intervals, hears the health officer's report, and O. K.'s or vetoes his propositions as it sees fit. Nothing must be done that will hurt a member's business or worry his friends. A health board is like a millstone round the health officer's neck. It keeps him from putting in practice the modern, scientific principles that have made sanitation the wonderful prophylactic it is today. The board, in short, forces the health officer to be an old-fashioned stand-patter, even if he would naturally prefer to be a progressive.

Worse yet, the health board is a political board every time, and nothing is so dangerous to public health as local politics.

Questions and Answers.

A. J. H. asks: Kindly state how long typhoid prophylaxis protects one. I was "inoculated," August, 1912. When should I have it done again, in order to be on the safe side?

Ans.—It is as yet too early to say how long the typhoid-bacterin protects against typhoid fever. It will probably vary in diferent individuals, just as cowpox vaccination against smallpox does. Three years, however, may be considered a minimum time.

D. M. C. writes: Please advise me the best you can about my case. I have water-brash, sour stomach, distressed feeling, sick headaches, pains in the back of neck. I am 44 years old and feel the worst when I first get up in the morning. I sleep out all the time and drive a great deal. Have something in my throat all the time that I can't swallow. When I stoop over I have to cough.

Ans.—Some morning soon, when you get up feeling pretty bad, drive to the nearest reliable physician and tell him you were referred to him for advice by another physician who couldn't do a thing for you by mail.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

MEETING AT STOCK FARM

Guernsey Breeders' Association Looking Over Pioneer Dairy Farm.

Minnesota Livestock Men May Make Duluth Annual Meeting Place.

The annual midsummer meeting of the Minnesota Live Stock Breeders' association, which was held yesterday at the Commercial club, ended yesterday afternoon, and today the breeders who are visiting in the city are the guests of the Guernsey Breeders' Association of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin.

Yesterday's meeting ended with a dinner, served at the Commercial club at 6:15, and which was attended by many local business men. Some excellent speeches were made and in all the guests found that Duluthians are enthusiastic over the agricultural and dairy prospects of the surrounding country.

This morning a host of business men gathered at the Commercial club and accompanied the visitors to the Jean du Luth farm. Thomas Owens, superintendent of the Duluth & Iron Range road, himself a dairy enthusiast, sent an auto from Two Harbors to help out in making the transportation supply sufficient. Joining with the Duluth entertainers, about twenty-five people from Cloquet, Carlton and Barnum arrived and were taken to the Jean du Luth farms, where they are helping entertain the guests from other points. Also five autos, whose owners took local men out to the farms to help see that the guests are not neglected, left points other than the club building. The autos that left the Commercial club, other than that of the the club itself, were supplied by the following: C. P. Craig, John G. Williams, J. L. Washburn, George C. Stone, L. B. Arnold, Capt. James Sullivan, W. J. Wallace, Will Yale, George Buck, John Millen, Cameron Rust, John A. Stephenson, Van Burgess, Ebert Walker, John Considine, K. A. Van Wagenen, Fred Ward, G. H. Gamble and Fitzsimmons-Palmer.

At Jean du Luth Farm.

After the arrival at the farm this morning, the time between then and 11 o'clock was occupied by inspecting the farm and its blooded stock. The Jean du Luth farms, by the way, possess what is said to be the finest herd of Red Poll cattle in the world. It also has a herd of Guernseys which is accepted as a standard group of dairy cattle. The farm, which consists of 440 acres, is one of the most complete dairy farms in the country, and the visitors are viewing it with the keenest interest today. The Jean du Luth company, which owns the farm, owns also 7,000 acres adjoining but which is not yet under cultivation. Recently one of the leading dairy journals of the country sent a special writer here to write up the Jean du Luth farm. Like many others, he thought he was coming to a wilderness, or maybe a bright spot in a wilderness. To his surprise, he admits in his write-up, he found a most remarkable farm, in a most remarkable country. He was unstinting in his praise of C. P. Craig, John G. Williams and Prof. G. P. Grout, the men who form the company, for their pioneer work in developing the dairy business in Northern Minnesota and blazing the way for others to follow.

At 11 o'clock the Farmers' clubs of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin held a meeting, which lasted for about an hour, and following that a picnic luncheon was served. It had been planned to hold this meal in the open but owing to the weather conditions that idea had to be abandoned and the dinner was held in one of the farm buildings. At 1 o'clock this afternoon President C. P. Craig of the Guernsey Breeders' association called the association to order. Addresses were made by several of the visitors, but the chief speaker was William H. Caldwell of Peterboro, N. H., general secretary of the American Guernsey Cattle club. Dairy stock judging and a demonstration by Prof. Grout and others followed. Late this afternoon the visitors returned, and tonight will scatter for their homes.

Visit Demonstration Farm.

On the way out, this morning, the visitors stopped for a brief inspection of the Northeastern Minnesota demonstration farm, and for a time were the guests of the superintendent, Mark Thompson, and of Prof. Boss of the university farm, St. Paul, under whose supervision the Duluth farm is.

Last night the dinner given by the Duluth Commercial club to the visiting dairy and cattle authorities was largely attended. It developed into one of the biggest boosting meetings for this part of the country that has yet occurred. About 125 people sat at the tables. John G. Williams was toastmaster. By no means the least hit was that of Joseph E. Wing, editor of the Breeders' Gazette, one of the leading authorities of the country in its line, when he said that now that he has seen the possibilities and value of this country, he is going back home to give his consent to his son to come up here and buy a farm in this vicinity. He said that his son has been attracted to this part of the country for some time, and now that he, himself, has seen it, he considered that the boy had a "good hunch." Mr. Wing also was liberal in his praise of the harbor, which he saw day before yesterday for the first time, and also he was more than pleased with the boulevard drive which the visitors were given yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Secretary H. R. Smith of the Live-stock Breeders' association is so pleased with the reception given the organization in Duluth that last night he declared that he would do what he can to have the midsummer meetings held in Duluth exclusively.

Hugh J. Hughes, editor of Farm, Stock and Home, declared that he believes that most farmers are attempting to cultivate too much land and advocated that less land and better farming be the fashion.

Other speakers at the dinner last night were Bishop McGolrick, C. S. Mitchell, Julius H. Barnes, A. J. Glover of Fort Atkinson, Wis., editor of Governor Hoard's Dairyman, Roy Beebe of Ashland, C. A. Nelson of Waverly, Iowa, and others.

SAWYER COUNTY CROPS ARE FINE.

Couderay, Wis., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The outlook for a bumper crop of hay, grain, corn and potatoes in Sawyer county this year never were brighter. The heavy rain gave all crops a good start in the early spring and conditions have been ideal ever since. Farmers and business men are greatly pleased over the crop outlook. Some dry weather will be needed from now on to allow corn and potato cultivating and also for haying, which will start in about one week.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 26.—The election of the Association of American Railway Accounting Officers here resulted as follows:

UNION PACIFIC WINS ITS APPEAL.

Omaha, Neb., June 26.—The United States Federal court, W. H. Munger and T. C. Munger sitting, last night granted the appeal of the Union Pacific Railroad company from the decision divorcing the St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad from the Union Pacific, and left the Union Pacific in operating control of the subsidiary lines. The Union Pacific company filed a supersedeas bond of $100,000. The case will come up before the court of appeals in St. Louis during the fall term.

The court denied the motion of the minority stockholders, who originally brought the suit, to take the St. Joseph & Grand Island road out of the hands of the Union Pacific road, pending the appeal, which results in leaving the operating relations of the two roads unchanged. The injunction against the Union Pacific holding its majority stock, however, remains in force.

Tentative plans for the entertainment of about 500 delegates and visitors to the annual state conclave of the Royal League to be held in Duluth on July 24, 25 and 26, were made at a meeting of a joint committee representing the four Duluth lodges held last night at the K. An outing on the river to Fond du Lac will be arranged for Sunday. Ladies of the Ruth council intend on entertaining delegates and visitors at an "open air banquet" at Chambers' grove Sunday afternoon, July 26. Another meeting of the committee was set for 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the city clerk's office.

Harper's: The Sunday school teacher asked his class to give him the definition of a "pilgrim."

One little fellow said: "Please, sir, I think a pilgrim is a man who travels a great deal."

This did not exactly suit the teacher, so he said: "Well, I travel about quite a little, but I'm not a pilgrim."

"Oh, sir, but I mean a good man," eagerly replied the little one."

PSYCHOLOGICAL TEST FOR COPS

Device to Determine the Bravery of Policemen Invented.

Altoona, P., June 26.—A device to determine the bravery of policemen is being perfected by Dr. Oscar V. Frey, a local psychologist, who recently perfected a machine that has been adopted by the Pennsylvania railroad for determining the qualifications of men applying for positions in the train service.

Dr. Frey has announced that, when his machine is completed, he will be able to tell exactly what a policeman will do when faced with some grave emergency. The latest principles of psychology have been employed in the making of the machine, which is an extremely simple device.

The coppers will receive numerous simple tests, of which records exact to the thousandths of seconds will be taken, and from these records Dr. Frey declares he will be able to pick out the policemen who are possessed of yellow streaks.

The announcement that the machine is being perfected has not caused any undue elation from the members of the Altoona force, who probably will be the first to receive the tests.

BUTTER IS GOING EAST

Refrigerator Service on Boats Leads to Large Shipments From Here.

Prices of Fruits and Vegetables Are Now Much Cheaper.

Shipments aggregating seven cars of eggs, two cars of poultry and one car of butter by package freight boats to Eastern points were reported by the Victor Produce company this week. The further pleasing feature is that all these supplies originated from Minnesota districts and the consignees are new customers of the local house who have become interested as a result of the installing of refrigerator facilities on three of the package freight steamers plying between Duluth and Buffalo.

The extent of the traffic in butter and eggs being developed in this territory was further evidenced in the fact that the Bridgeman-Russell company was compelled to hold over five cars of butter and eggs it had to offer for shipment this week on one of the steamers, the entire refrigerator space for the trip having been taken up. With the traffic showing the expansion it has in the initial month of its inauguration Duluth produce dealers are becoming more optimistic than ever regarding its ultimate possibilities. They say that there is an active Eastern demand for all the butter, eggs and poultry that can be raised in this territory, and that it has already become a question of securing sufficient supplies to fill the Eastern orders coming to hand.

Quotations in butter are unchanged today, the best grade of creamery product being quoted at 27@28 cents a pound. The market is firm, but an advance beyond the present price basis is not expected by the trade as dealers are aiming to secure their winter supplies on a basis at which they are likely to be in a position to compete successfully with the imported product. The make in this district is said to have increased substantially this season in consequence of settlers taking up dairying on a more extensive scale.

Egg Prices Unchanged.

Eggs also remain on the same basis as a week ago at 20@21 cents a dozen. Receipts are said to be good for the season and to be well in excess of current consumption, admitting of liberal shipments to the Eastern markets.

Marketings of live and fresh dressed poultry are still light with broilers especially so, but an improvement on that respect is expected within the next three weeks. Quotations are being stiffly held at just where they stood a week ago.

Fruits Are Cheaper.

Supplies and the variety of fruits and vegetables offering are liberal, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Culbertson Bros. company. Appreciable reductions in prices have come about through the list, placing the cost to consumers much below where they were a year ago.

Such California fruits as canteloupes, peaches and plums are now available. The first car of raspberries from Washington was received here yesterday, and considering the distance it came the fruit is offering on a reasonable price basis. Strawberries are now arriving from the Bayfield district, Wisconsin, and they are of a choice quality as regards flavor and size. Their market is stiff and is expected to remain about where it is as the season will be over in about another ten days. Valencia oranges are fairly cheap, and a good sale is reported in them. The first car of California pears is expected on the Duluth market next week.

Good Variety in Vegetables.

As a general proposition, vegetables are much cheaper than a week ago, and a further lowering in prices will come about when Minnesota greenstuffs become available in greater variety. Their maturing in this district has been seriously hampered by the excessive rains of the last three weeks. Tennessee and Missouri tomatoes are much cheaper today, and their quality shows improvement. Minnesota potatoes are up 10 cents to $1 per bushel, with supplies being rapidly cleaned up. A demand for old potatoes is also coming from Southern points, several cars having been shipped down that way from here this week. The market in new Missouri and Kansas tubers is high.

In meats, pork and provisions are easier as a result of better receipts of hogs at the principal packing points. Quotations in beef, veal, lamb and mutton are unchanged.

DOG HAS PASSION FOR TROLLEY CARS

No Conductor Ever Asks Him to Pay His Fare.

Great Barrington, Mass., June 26.—Druggist John Harvey's beagle hound, Gyp, 5 years old, has a passion for trolley car riding. All the regular conductors on the Berkshire line, running between Great Barrington and Canaan, Ct., are his friends.

Hardly a day goes by that Gyp does not enjoy a trolley ride. At the hour when he knows a car is due he takes position on Main street near one of the white posts where stops are made, and when a car stops he looks up to see if it is the conductor he knows, and if it is he boards the car. After the round trip he leaves the car, barking his thanks to the conductor for his ride.

One day after boarding a car he noticed that it was in charge of a strange conductor. When the new man demanded ticket of a passenger in front of whom Gyp was standing, Gyp remarked "Bow-wow!" which was his usual way of saluting his friend, the regular conductor.

"Hello! who pays your fare?" asked the conductor.

The conductor was on the point of putting him off the car when the motorman interposed:

"He's all right; his collar is chalked and he has a life pass on this road. Let him off at the corner of Church and Main in Great Barrington; there's where he belongs." And Gyp got his ride.

Quite often Gyp goes hunting alone. Does he walk to the hunting grounds? Not a bit of it. He boards a trolley car and rides out several miles into the country to his favorite piece of swale, where the rabbits are thickest. There he leaves the car and enters the swale to spend most of the day hunting.

Nearby is a farmhouse where he has made friends, and there he goes when tired of the hunt, knocks on the door until admitted and a bowl of milk is set out for him. After lapping it up he plays for awhile with the children and then hustles down to the trolley track and waits for the next car.

Gyp is an aristocrat among dogs and is one of the best known and liked in this section of the country.

IMMENSITY OF GULF STREAM

Grandest and Most Mighty of Any Terrestrial Phenomenon.

Its Great Influence on Fortunes of the New World.

Washington, June 26.—Ninety billion tons of water are carried hourly through the straits of Florida by the gulf stream, according to Admiral John E. Pillsbury, U. S. N., in a communication to the National Geographic society. This stream, he says, is probably the grandest and most mighty of any terrestrial phenomenon.

"If this one single hour's flow of water could be evaporated, the remaining salts would require many times more than all the ships in the world to carry it," says Admiral Pillsbury. "It is difficult for the mind to grasp the immensity of the great ocean river. When one is on board a vessel, floating upon its waters, one is not as much impressed at the power and grandeur of this wonder of nature as he is when he stands before a towering mountain, an immense iceberg or a fall of water such as Niagara, but when one remembers that the mighty torrent, speeding on hour by hour and day by day in a volume equal to all the largest rivers of the world combined, carrying its beneficent heat to temper the climate of continents, one begins to realize that of all the forces of the physical world none can equal this one river of the ocean.

Influence of the Stream.

"It is interesting to note in the history of the gulf stream how great its influence has been on the fortunes of the new world. Before the discovery of America, strange woods and fruits were frequently found on the shores of Europe. Some of these were seen by Columbus and to him were convincing evidence that strange lands were to the westward. These woods were carried by the gulf stream and by the prevailing winds from America, so that in part, the stream is responsible for the discovery of the new world. Ponce de Leon, while searching for the fountain of youth, discovered this stream. He sailed southward along the coast of Florida, thus stemming the current. He says they found a current that, though the wind was good, they could not stem. It seemed that their vessels were going fast through the water, but they were being driven back in spite of the strong and favorable wind. One ship was soon carried away by the current and lost from sight, although it was a clear sky.'

Ocean Current Theories.

"The theories as to the cause of ocean currents have been many. In recent times the course of currents has been laid to rivers and the gulf stream chiefly to the Mississippi. In actual fact about 2,000 such rivers would be required. In the tropical regions there is a steady movement of the air from east to west known as the trade winds. Winds blowing over the surface of the water induce a current in the latter due to friction. At first it is only the merest skim that moves, but gradually the motion is communicated from layer to layer until at last, if the wind is long continued as in the trade wind region, the movement extends to lower depths, 300 or 400 feet, or perhaps more. These trade wind currents continue across the Caribbean until they reach the obstruction of the Honduras and Yucatan coasts, from which they escape into the Gulf of Mexico.

Wave Caused by the Wind.

"Another source of the gulf stream is the wave caused by the wind. Every ripple carries a certain amount of water in the direction toward which it is flowing, irrespective of the current caused by its friction, and when the waves become large, tons of water are hurled from the crest into the trough every time the wave breaks. In a large area like the Caribbean, having a comparatively constant wind blowing over its whole surface, this action is practically a simultaneous movement of the surface waters to the westward.

"There is every evidence that the gulf stream is governed absolutely by law in all its variations; its course through the ocean is without doubt fixed; its fluctuations are by days, months, seasons or by years, but they do not vary materially one year from the other. So we may conclude that of all the physical forces on this earth that are subject to any variations at all the great ocean currents are most immutable."

SAYS GOD TOLD HIM NOT TO DO ANY WORK.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 25.—C. S. Tyson, 49 years old, of Linglestown, known among the indigent of Dauphin county as king or his majesty, has been told by S. F. Barber, steward at the county almshouse, that he must either join his comrades and do some work around the institution or leave. A stay was granted him in order that he might well consider matters before making a decision.

His majesty does not work. He sits around and reads papers and magazines, and in reply to orders of his superiors to go to work he makes but one reply, "God told me not to bend my back in toil."

The task he was told to perform included whitewashing, carrying iron pipe from the home, which is being removed to make room for the new heating system; chop wood and work in the field.

Tyson wants to be the boarding boss. He always manages to keep himself tidy, wears a white collar and tie and patent leather shoes. He had been physically indisposed for a few days.

"No. I'll never go to work again," he said.

SAYS SOCIETY IS DUE TO MISSIONS.

Chicago, June 26.—Society owes its existence to foreign missionary enterprise, Dr. William A. Brown, former missionary to the Philippines, declared last night in an address to delegates to the convention of the International Sunday School association.

"We commonly think missions are good for the heathen, but not intended for Americans," said the speaker, "on the ground that missions are meant primarily for the heathen alone. But on that assumption the most needy field is America, where there are fewer religious people than in India. A child born in India is surer to be brought up in harmony with their peculiar religious belief than in richly favored America."

Rev. H. Kawasumi, secretary of the national Sunday School association of Japan, and Rev. Ukai, a director of that association, read greetings from Count Okuma, prime minister of Japan, Baron Sakatani, mayor of Tokio, and K. Natano, president of the chamber of commerce of Tokio. The next world's Sunday school convention will be held in Tokio in 1916 and the Japanese are here to get pointers.

WORKERS AND TRUSTS.

If a corporation is convicted of violating the anti-trust law it is dissolved.

Suppose labor unions and farmers' co-operative associations were left subject to the anti-trust laws, and one of them were convicted of violating these statutes.

Should it be dissolved?

Those who are so stoutly against putting labor unions and agricultural co-operative associations in a class by themselves undoubtedly believe they should be—believe especially that labor unions ought to be dissolved on general principles.

But while a labor union should be punished for acts in themselves criminal, none but enemies of organized labor will contend that labor unions should be dissolved because they are organized to fix wages and working conditions.

The best argument we have seen yet in favor of considering labor organizations on a different basis was made on a proposal to exempt labor unions from the Sherman act, and it is as follows:

> Now it seems to me there is a very broad distinction which, if borne in mind, will warrant not only this exception to the general provision of the bill, but a great deal of other legislation which we enact, or attempt to enact, relating to labor.
> When you are speaking of providing to regulate the transactions of men who are making corners in wheat, or in iron, or in woolen or cotton goods, speculating in them or lawfully dealing in them without speculation, you are aiming at a mere commercial transaction, the beginning and end of which is the making of money for the parties and nothing else. That is the only relation that transaction has to the state. It is the creation or diffusion or change of ownership of the wealth of the country.
> But when a laborer is trying to raise his wages or is endeavoring to shorten the hours of his labor, he is dealing with something that touches closely, more closely than anything else, the government and the character of the state itself.
> I hold, therefore, that as legislators we may constitutionally, properly and wisely allow laborers to make associations, combinations, contracts, agreements, for the sake of maintaining and advancing their wages in regard to which, as a rule, their contracts are to be made with large corporations which are themselves but an association or combination or aggregation of capital on the other side. When we are permitting and even encouraging that, we are permitting and encouraging what is not only lawful, wise and profitable, BUT ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL TO THE EXISTENCE OF THE COMMONWEALTH ITSELF.

A trust is a scheme to take from the common store a surplus to enrich egregiously a few.

A labor union is a plan to insure human living conditions to those upon whose labors the whole structure of society rests.

Those who would put the two in the same category of crime are shallow thinkers or blindly prejudiced.

The author of the above argument was right.

That author was the late Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, who ranked as a conservative statesman. He made it March 27, 1890, when the Sherman law was being debated in the senate. And it is as true today as it was then.

The Armageddonites are listening for more instructions from the non-boss.

SETTING A LIMIT TO ARMAMENT.

The first step toward disarmament should be—will be—limitation of armament.

The world cannot much longer endure the appalling rivalry in armaments which is draining its substance and impoverishing all.

Why not a limit on the number of ships, the size and costliness of war vessels, the number of soldiers and sailors, the cost and deadliness of fire arms?

"It can't be done," say the jingoes—vocal for the arms manufacturers who are modestly inarticulate.

Why not?

For more than a century Great Britain and the United States have lived side by side along a boundary that girdles a continent. They have lived in peace, and—will Col. Roosevelt please take notice?—no vast armaments have been necessary to maintain that peace.

Something seems to be wrong with the Colonel's theory that only huge armaments can maintain peace.

Moreover, more than a thousand miles of this international boundary is water—water deep enough to carry war vessels.

But no war vessels have been necessary to keep peace there; though anybody who swallowed the Colonel's theory that peace can be preserved only by costly armaments would surely expect to find the Great Lakes bristling with warships.

How was this? Simply that Great Britain and the United States agreed, a century ago, to put a limit to armaments on the Great Lakes—and a very modest limitation it was. Here is the agreement that grew out of the peace of Ghent, which followed the brilliant naval engagements of the war of 1812 on the Great Lakes:

> The naval force to be maintained upon the American lakes by his majesty and the government of the United States shall henceforth be confined to the following vessels on each side, that is—
>
> On Lake Ontario to one vessel, not exceeding one hundred tons burden, and armed with one eighteen-pound cannon;
>
> On the upper lakes to two vessels, not exceeding like burden and armed with like force;
>
> On the waters of Lake Champlain, to one vessel, not exceeding like burden, and armed with like force;
>
> All other armed vessels of those lakes shall be forthwith dismantled, and no other vessels of war shall be there built or armed.
> If either party should be hereafter desirous of annulling this stipulation, and should give notice to that effect to the other party, it shall cease to be binding after the expiration of six months from the date of such notice.
>
> The naval force so to be limited shall be restricted to such service as will in no respect interfere with the proper duties of the armed vessels of the other party.

Can't limit armament? Why, the two greatest nations in the world have been doing it for a century without a break!

What they can do on the Great Lakes they could do on the high seas.

And what they can do other nations—all nations—could do and should do.

Oshkosh had a storm the other day. Trust Oshkosh to get into print somehow in time not to be forgotten.

SO MUCH FOR THE PINCHOTS!

While the Colonel was away the Pinchot brothers—Amos and Gifford—broke down the corral in which he had stowed away the Bull Moose followers, and left the reservation with a great beating of tom-toms and flourishing of tomahawks.

They were bent upon getting the scalp of George W. Perkins, the angel of the Progressive party, and upon "reading him out of the party" because he is rich and has affiliations with great trusts.

Why association with wealth and the trusts should militate against his usefulness to a party personally conducted by Theodore Roosevelt, who has never shied at a trust—if it was "good"—in all his career, and who has proclaimed himself and certain rich men to be "practical men" with much in common, does not appear.

Anyway, the Colonel is back, and he says: "Mr. Perkins has been, on the whole, the most useful member of the Progressive party. As for reading him out of the party, when that is done they will have to read me out, too."

Bravely said, Colonel! The spirit is admirable. It shows that you have gratitude and loyalty, and that you are highly practical. The Pinchots are visionary dreamers who richly deserve the slap on the wrist thus bestowed. Perkins forever!

Packers say people are eating less meat than they used to. Which offers a beautiful opening for a very pretty argument between the vegetarians and Old Man H. C. L.

A BUSINESS DISCUSSION.

Commissioners Hicken and Voss had an interesting joint debate at yesterday's council meeting.

Commissioner Hicken has been very much impressed with a new aerial motor truck, which he wishes to buy for the fire department.

Commissioner Voss, admitting that this implement would increase the efficiency of the fire department,—also its expense,—pointed out that an inadequate system of storm sewers is exposing the city to frequent damage bills that in the course of a short time may amount to the cost of installing an adequate storm sewer system, and thought this more important than the new truck.

Clearly, a proper storm sewer system is vitally needed. Moreover, sooner or later the city will be compelled to change its sanitary sewer system so as to filter the sewage before dumping it into the lake; and this is more likely to be sooner than later.

Clearly, too, the efficiency of the fire department would be increased considerably by the purchase of the aerial motor truck on which Commissioner Hicken has set his heart. That it is a necessity, like a proper storm sewer system, has not been made so clear by any means.

If the city can have both, well and good. If it can have only one at a time, Commissioner Voss's idea that the storm sewer system should come first seems sensible and practical.

The debate also has interest because it shows that the commission realizes that while each commissioner is responsible for his own department, the commission as a whole is responsible for the workings of the city government as a whole. It shows that the commission is getting away from the mistaken idea that each commissioner's duties are completed when he does the best he can with his own department. There is a joint responsibility as well as individual responsibility; otherwise there can be no united and co-operating system of city government.

It is getting to be increasingly difficult for those newspapers that would like to stay on the fence between Wilson and Rooosevelt.

A Kansas Pig That Cost $5,000.

Kansas City Star: A spotted pig, worth $10.75, cost $5,000 and spent most of its life in court. Justice Clark A. Smith of the Kansas supreme bench heard the close of the case in Osborne county; he declares the wrangle over the pig was one of the hottest legal battles in his knowledge, and financially ruined two men.

An Osborne county farmer, who had lost a pig spied a new pig in his neighbor's pen. He swore by his side whiskers that he would keep an eye on this porker, stroked his whiskers and bided his time. The year passed and the pig grew. It was marked, weighed and sold to a hog dealer. The farmer sought the dealer, announced the pig was stolen property and belonged to him. Farmer No. 2 asserted he would back the dealer, signed the dealer's bond and hired the stubbornest attorney in the district.

Fifty witnesses were subpoenaed by the first farmer to identify the hog's spots and testify to its original ownership. Fifty witnesses were summoned by the second farmer to swear the hog was born in the second farmer's pen.

Three juries hung in the justice's court. Two juries in the district court were unable to reach a decision. The pig attended each rehearing, traveling behind wooden bars in a portable pen. During the last appeal the attorney for the second farmer heard the witnesses for the prosecution identify the pig. "Please the court," quoth he, "the hog under dispute has been sold and another animal substituted. Move to strike out the evidence."

His weary opponent, who had not received his fees, neglected to use the trick to his own advantage, and dismissed the case.

The enmity over, the two farmers linked arms and jogged home, where they sold their farms to pay for the litigation.

When Is the Prime of Life.

Living Church: A Chicago man, a leader in the commercial life of that city, is quoted as saying: "Among the men I hire, nine out of ten are better workers at 45 years of age than are the men of 25 or 30." This man firmly believes that the man of 45 or thereabouts is at the prime of life, physically and mentally. He also holds that men of mature years are more reliable and less apt to become restless after a year or two in a position and to seek new fields. The average young man, he says, is seeking a "soft snap" and is not the sort of employe who will stick by his employer through thick and thin until his services become highly valuable and, in many cases, indispensable. We often hear young men complain of their inability to get settled. That is largely because they do not settle, do not seek to adjust themselves to their work and make the most of their opportunity. Opportunity seldom knocks at our doors. We must knock at the door of opportunity and be prepared to push the door a little if necessary.

Why Worry About Insomnia?

Frederick Peterson in the Atlantic: A favorite dictum of the physiologists, emphasized in their latest works, relates to the dangers of sleeplessness. "Sleep is more important to life than nutrition, and insomnia kills sooner than starvation," to quote the exact words of one. This has been a kind of tradition in medicine, and is reiterated again and again in these books, without any real evidence, so far as I know, to support it. Taught to every medical man of older generations and to every medical fledgling of today, it finds its way to general public acceptance, begetting in the lay mind terrors of insanity and death which haunt every unfortunate victim of insomnia. The fear of not sleeping is one of the commonest causes of insomnia. Yet I do not know of any medical evidence anywhere of disastrous results from insomnia, and have myself never seen any harm arise from sleeplessness, apart from the harm done by the fears and worries associated with the condition.

Prison Looked Good to Him.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The prison reformer looked at No. 411 and shook her head in a disappointed fashion.

"You say you are satisfied with the quality of the food?"

"Yes'm."

"And the rules and regulations?"

"Yes'm."

"You have no fault to find with the ventilation, nor the sanitation, nor the management?"

"No, ma'am."

"That's very strange. Perhaps you would prefer to remain in prison rather than go free?"

"I sure would, lady."

The reformer drew back.

"What was the crime that placed you here?"

"Polygamy, ma'am. I've got five wives out there waiting for me!"

Must Be Used.

Philadelphia Ledger: In a hotel the other day the manager was instructing a new arrival, who hailed from Erin's Isle, in his duties.

"Now you see that sign, 'Gentlemen must use the spittoon.' If you notice any of the guests violating that rule report the matter to me."

"Oi will, sor," said Pat, and he kept a sharp lookout. After watching a gentleman for half an hour he went to him and said:

"D'ye moind the sign over yonder, sor?"

"Yes," said the gentleman.

"Why don't you observe it, thin?"

"I'm not expectorating on the carpet," said the gentleman, astonished.

"Oi know ye're not," said Pat, "an' yer not usin' the spettune, nayther. Spit, ye thafe, or Oi'll report yez."

Rally to the Standard!

Editorial in Louisville Post (Ind.)

The standards of the Democratic party are in the hands of President Wilson.

On them are now inscribed these great achievements:

A tariff revision downward;
An income tax;
A revision of our whole currency system;
Abrogation of dollar diplomacy;
Peace, honor and prosperity in Mexico;
A trade regulation commission;
Equal rights of organization for farmer, laborer and capitalist.

For these things, promised by all parties and secured by President Wilson and a Democratic congress, the president and the party are violently assailed, and the Democrats of forty-five states must rally to the standards.

They must name for the senate and for the house men whose whole lives have been devoted to the maintenance of these principles.

Dollar diplomacy brought about the entangled situation in Mexico.

Dollar diplomacy is organized greed, exploiting or plundering foreign countries and calling for aid on the American army and navy.

Dollar diplomacy, driven from its high places in Washington, is making a great outcry in the market place against President Wilson and the Democratic party.

Rally to the standards.

The counterpart in domestic policy to dollar diplomacy is found in subsidy, pensions, protection and privileges.

These have been shackled. Many raids on the treasury have been checked. Many grafts have been eradicated. To take from one man to enrich another is no less robbery because done under the authority of law, says the supreme court, but the beneficiaries of 100 per cent duty on woolens and 100 per cent duty on gloves, and 30 and 40 and 60 per cent duty on steel and steel products will not acquiesce in any settlement of the tariff that destroys their privileges.

The men who pay the income tax will demand as compensation an enlargement of predatory privileges under some form of subsidy.

These great things accomplished under Wilson make for permanent industrial peace, but they are violently assailed and every Republican candidate for congress or the senate will demand that he be sent to Washington to vote against these Democratic policies, under which the country hopes to recover from the effects of the panic of 1907, which may be either a Morgan panic, a Roosevelt panic, a Republican panic or a Progressive panic, but certainly was not a Democratic panic.

Rally to the president.

This is true progressive politics, progressive democracy, progressive and permanent prosperity.

A Republican house would be helpless; a Roosevelt house is impossible.

An opposition house could not alter the tariff. It would only unsettle the settlement, and make uncertain every tariff schedule until 1917.

Do men of business want such a period of uncertainty. Do working men want to continue prevailing uncertainty?

Let all men wanting peace, stability, justice, equality and abounding prosperity vote to uphold the hands of Wilson.

We Are Seven.

A simple child,
That lightly draws its breath,
And feels its life in every limb,
What should it know of death?

I met a little cottage girl;
She was 8 years old, she said;
Her hair was thick with many a curl
That clustered round her head.

She had a rustic, woodland air,
And she was wildly clad;
Her eyes were fair, and very fair—
Her beauty made me glad.

"Sisters and brothers, little maid,
How many may you be?"
"How many? Seven in all," she said,
And wondering looked at me.

"And where are they? I pray you tell."
She answered, "Seven are we;
And two of us at Conway dwell,
And two are gone to sea;

"Two of us in the churchyard lie,
My sister and my brother;
And, in the churchyard cottage, I
Dwell near them with my mother."

"You say that two at Conway dwell,
And two are gone to sea,
Yet ye are seven! I pray you tell,
Sweet maid, how may this be?"

Then did the little maid reply,
"Seven boys and girls are we;
Two of us in the churchyard lie
Beneath the churchyard tree."

"You run about, my little maid;
Your limbs they are alive;
If you are in the churchyard laid
Then ye are only five."

"Their graves are green, they may be seen,"
The little maid replied;
"Twelve steps or more from my mother's door
And they are side by side.

My stockings there I often knit,
My kerchief there I hem;
And there upon the ground I sit
And sing a song to them.

"And often after sunset, sir,
When it is light and fair,
I take my little porringer,
And eat my supper there.

"The first that died was Sister Jane;
In bed she moaning lay,
Till God released her pain;
And then she went away.

"So in the churchyard she was laid;
And, when the grass was dry,
Together round her grave we played,
My brother John and I.

"And when the ground was white with snow,
And I could run and slide,
My brother John was forced to go,
And he lies by her side."

"How many are you, then," said I,
If they two are in Heaven?"
Quick was the little maid's reply:
"O Master! we are seven."

"But they are dead; those two are dead!
Their spirits are in Heaven?"
'Twas throwing words away; for still
The little maid would have her will,
And said, "Nay, we are seven."

An Irishman in India.

Cardiff Western Mail: "India," said an Irishman welcoming a Welshman to Calcutta, "is just the finest climate under the sun; but a lot of fellows come out here, and they drink and they eat, and they drink and they die, and then they write home to their friends a pack of lies and say it's the climate as has killed them!"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A member of President Wilson's family had occasion to buy a trunk not long ago, and when it was sent up to the White House with the initials stenciled on one end some one was reminded of the story of another piece of baggage that was sent to the White House in another Democratic administration.

The hero of this trunk story was and is Clarence L. Cullen, who is best known today as a delightful writer of short stories and who has had about as many "experiences" of one kind and another as any man alive. Cullen first broke into fame as the author of a book called "Tales of the Ex-Tanks," a collection of hard luck stories, and most of the adventures in the book had befallen him personally, 'tis said. He probably holds the world's record for being broke in more places in this country and all other countries than anybody, and he also is the undisputed champion for having held more boy jobs and more different kinds of boy jobs—jobs with the emoluments ranging from $2 to $2.50 a week—than any human now sentient and breathing.

One of these boy jobs that Cullen held was in a Washington trunk store. He was 10 years old when he "accepted the position," and was anxious to make good. His employer was a kind and patient man up to the point at which an employer must stop being that way, and he spent three days teaching young Cullen how to stencil initials or names on the sides of trunks and suitcases.

On the morning of the fourth day a president of the United States entered the story and bought himself a handsome and expensive Gladstone bag. The president of the United States directed that the initials "G. C." should be stenciled on the bag, after which it was to be delivered to the White House. This job of stencilling fell to Cullen.

Now little Cullen approved of that president. He liked him. In fact, he felt affectionate toward him. He thought that president was just about all right. And the more he revolved the thing in his mind the more he became convinced that those mere initials "G. C." stenciled on the traveling bag of so distinguished and estimable a chief magistrate would have a cold and unfeeling look. It would seem curt and formal. What was needed, Cullen believed, was something that would indicate tastily and at a glance the real warmth of the feeling of that trunk establishment toward the distinguished purchaser.

So with painstaking care he stenciled "GROVER" on the bag—just that and nothing more, giving much the same jaunty effect as the name "Elsie" painted on the bow of a canoe. The bag was sent right up to the White House without the proprietor of the trunk store having a chance to look at the stenciling.

Obviously the bag came back. Accompanying it were some written remarks—caustic remarks—signed Daniel Lamont, who at that time was the president's secretary. There then occurred a really remarkable synchronization between the return of the bag from the White House and Cullen's departure from the trunk shop. The proprietor looked rather confused and chagrined when he saw the name on the bag. But this confusion did not cause any muscular paralysis on his part, as young Cullen rapidly found out.

Thus are good intentions misconstrued.

Two men were riding in the observation car of a train between New York and Philadelphia a while ago and chanced to fall into conversation. They discussed the state of the vegetation along the railroad's right-of-way and other topics and finally became friendly enough to inquire each other's names. One said his name was Woodruff and that he hailed from Michigan. The other's name was Donovan, and his home was in Connecticut.

"What's your line?" asked Donovan.

"Oh, I'm a member of congress," replied Woodruff. "And you—?"

"I'm a member of congress, too," said Donovan.

Then each looked at the other for a moment as if he thought he was looking into the face of a good offhand liar.

But each had told the truth. Both are in congress, but each had been so busy with his duties that he had not taken time to study the faces of his mates.

"Well, I'm glad to have met you," said Donovan, when they separated. "If you ever get over on my side of the house look me up."

Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin was 85 years old on June 18. On the morning of that day he picked up a list of food supplies that the cooks at his big lumber company's camps may draw on. The list included: Evaporated apples, spices, baking powder, fresh beef, corned beef, beets, crackers, cabbage and carrots in season, corn meal, herring, jelly, marmalade, mince meat, molasses, oatmeal, onions, pickles, preserved figs, raisins, pumpkin, bologna, tea, coffee, cocoa, tomatoes, etc.

For some moments the senator stared at the list intently and then exclaimed:

"People are all mollycoddles nowadays! Think of having all that stuff to eat in a lumber camp!"

Then he went on to talk of his own early days in the Wisconsin woods, laying great stress on the fact that he frequently got along day after day on nothing but pork and beans.

"And often," says the senator, "I took the pork raw."

Although he is greatly addicted to the use of food, Ollie James of Kentucky, the largest senator, eats rather sparingly at the noon hour. A ham sandwich, a cup of coffee and two doughnuts—those comprise his midday rations almost invariably.

1,350,000 in a Labor Union.

New York World: In a great trade-union combination of 1,350,000 members, comprising the miners, railway men and transport workers, England will face a force, political and industrial, that it will have to reckon with. If the three organizations, under the proposed agreement, were to work together in support of the Labor party in parliament, they would represent a formidable alliance, with the responsibility some day of seizing the balance of power between the Liberals and the Unionists. On the other hand, as a national trade-union organization upholding in common the demands of one section or all, this great body of workers might in ordinary circumstances prove irresistible.

Has Them Wondering.

Washington Star: Various Progressives and Republicans are wondering whether any man can succeed in being bigger than two parties at once.

Press Comments on Current Events.

Goodnuss Sakes, Frank Eddy, Wazza Masser?

Sank Center Herald: This nightmare of a primary campaign is over and we are glad of it. God wot, we hope that we will never have another of the same kind.

Our primary election is worse than confounded and we are about ready to pledge our support to any candidate who will promise to favor a law under which a man can vote without going to an attorney and getting a brief of procedure.

For freak voting, fantastic platform declarations, virulent abuse, gross misrepresentation, political degeneration and indescribable confusion this primary beat anything in the political annals of the state.

There were 587 candidates for legislative positions and there were 587 different platforms submitted to the people ranging from law regulation of everything from a man's religious belief down to the number of spanks a mother might administer to her disobedient offspring when she placed him across her knee to chastise him for misbehavior; to the widest non-regulation of every line of human conduct, murder and treason only excepted. Ten years ago if a man had gathered all these nondescript candidateful declarations into one volume and offered it to the world his friends would have consigned him to an insane asylum. Ten years from now if anyone should attempt a similar action he will be conveyed to a hospital for the mentally afflicted.

If men had abused their fellows in social or business life in the same indecent virulence that the opposing candidates have manifested towards each other in this primary campaign, the doctors would have more than they could do digging bullets out of different anatomies and the roads and streets would be lined with men ornamented with black eyes, broken noses and contused lips.

If men in business had misrepresented their wares and merchandise for profit in the same brazen way that candidates have misrepresented their politics and political affiliations to obtain votes, the penitentiaries would be as full as a young father the night his first born son came into the world.

If business institutions were managed by the same incoherent methods that political parties have managed their campaigns the wrecks of factories, banks, stores and all profit creating institutions would strew the land as thickly as forest leaves strew the sward after the first hoar frost falls.

If the same confusion existed in life's daily affairs as exists in matters political, bedlam itself would be as orderly as a Sunday service in an Episcopal church compared to a celebration on a college campus after a football victory.

Princeton Union: Amos Pinchot, one of the leaders in the Progressive party, has denounced George W. Perkins in no uncertain terms. The party now has clear sailing toward salt creek and if Perkins and a few of the other boodlers who are financing the "reform" movement are read out of the party, its collapse will be immediate.

St. Cloud Times: Governor Eberhart attributes his failure to the abnormally large taxes in Minnesota. Well, he was governor when they were created. The fact is, however, that it looks more like a case of the jug going to the well once too often.

Wahoo Sam

Grantland Rice in Collier's Weekly: Ty Cobb, on a steady average, is the most dangerous batsman in baseball. This isn't a matter of opinion—but of record, based upon a nine-year batting mark of .371—twenty points above his closest rival, Napoleon Lajoie.

But when the pinch arrives with runners on base and Tyrus at bat, did you ever hear of the palpitating pitcher walking him? Not very often, and for a very excellent and abiding reason—the reason being that to walk Cobb brings up Sam Crawford, which is said to be the origin of "out of the frying pan into the fiery furnace."

No, heady pitchers esteem it no great bliss to push the pill in Cobb's reach with runners on base. But passing Cobb to bring up Crawford is another matter, and those who try it once are quite content next time to take a chance with Ty.

You hear quite a bit about the durability of Wagner, Lajoie, Mathewson, Plank, etc., but little of the span established by Wahoo Sam.

This is his seventeenth season in baseball—his fifteenth season in the Big Show—and out of the seventeen years he has served to date he has established a mark above .300 on no less than twelve occasions. And when the Tigers started their early drive to the front in budding May, Crawford was the main factor in the uplift with a mark above .420, leading his circuit a dozen leagues in extra base wallops.

Not forgetting to mention that Crawford crashes into a baseball harder than any rival in the game—not barring Frank Baker, Joe Jackson, Hans Wagner, Cactus Cravath, Sherwood Magee, Ty Cobb or Tris Speaker.

On top of all this we reserve for the last the most eminent boost of all in these latter days of fragile talent—in the last ten years Crawford has stood to the guns in 1,500 battles—an average of 150 games a season—or less than half a week's absence from April to October. Which, after all, is the crowning test of value to a club.

Industrial Democracy.

Edward T. Devine in the Survey: Business mitigated by philanthropy is better than business unalloyed, but it is no adequate safeguard for human interests. A deeper change than any that has yet been made voluntarily by business itself is essential. Industrial democracy in the spirit of philanthropy is essential; by which we mean that actual participation—not by sufferance but by established custom—the sustained and effective participation of industrial workers in determining the conditions of their work.

The "Garden City Idea."

Randolph S. Bourne in the Atlantic: If the English city presents in its congestion, its ugliness, its discomforts, a horrible warning to American life, experiments like that at Hampstead present a hope and an inspiration, and a way of avoiding the urban evils which followed in England the mad deluge of the industrial revolution. For the chief value of building beauty into the collective life of a city is that thus the ideas and principles which animate that beauty are, given the most effective and dramatic form. Every one can feel the charm of open spaces, of effective vistas and the harmonious grouping of buildings; a village like Hampstead attracts immediate and widespread attention, and becomes the leaven which leavens a broad lump. Though it is the external forms and not the inner spirit and motive which are being copied, already in the country side about the village are to be seen the inspiration of the model; new building estates are being developed in the frankest imitation of the Hampstead principles, while pioneer rows of unregenerate brick villas stand tenantless, unable to compete with the new ideas. And if a village composed on these principles can permeate its own vicinity so quickly and so completely, it almost guarantees itself as a model and inspiration for the builders of the cities which men of the twentieth century will find fit to live in.

"Couldn't make out what he said!" returned Myrtle Marie, wonderingly. "What do you mean?"

"As near as I could understand," explained papa, "he said he wanted to marry me; that you had enough money to support him, and that we had always loved each other, so I told him to go home and write it out in plain English."

NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you allow question and comment on an editorial enntitled "Voting on National Prohibition," which appeared in The Herald of June 18? It shows amusing perplexity to which I would like to add.

If, in the present situation, a congressman doesn't know which would be the more popular way to vote, then only may he do what he thinks he ought?

The writer of the editorial is clear on one point: "There can be no question of the right of every self-governing unity to pass upon the saloon question for itself." Even those financially interested in the liquor business are said to agree to this.

Why has a village the right to vote on this question and the county or state no such right?

If a man's personal liberty ought not to be infringed, why allow any vote at all? (The liquor people are consistent here; they prevent any such vote whenever they can.) If, however, the good of society demands that such infringement be authorized, why make the unit a small one? The larger the unit the more effective the law. Why not make it large enough to accomplish the purpose? These little scattered lids, leaking around the edges under pressure of the breweries, do not protect from the evils of the liquor traffic so well as a whole dry state, which could deal with manufacture as well as sale. What difference in principle between a little town and a state?

What difference in principle between a state and a nation?

The United States cannot have national prohibition by constitutional amendment without ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures. A legislature that would ratify such an amendment might be expected to submit a similar one to the people of the state, or pass a statute in accordance with national law, and the two co-operating could make thorough work. By use of the internal revenue department the United States could soon stop the manufacture of poisonous drinks and a state commission, created for the purpose of law enforcement, could take care of the retail sale. When details of enforcement are settled between state and nation, what better conclusion of this irrepressible conflict can be had than national prohibition?

MARY J. JAQUES.

Duluth, June 25.

P. S.—How do temperance people like to be ignored when the congressman, in making up his popularity estimate, counts as favoring national prohibition only those who belong to the Prohibition party. That is the right way to reckon, I admit, but I should think a temperance man would see that he ought to put his vote where it would be counted.

GREATEST BUSINESS BOOM IN U. S. HISTORY NEAR, SAYS WILSON

President Gives Emphatic Answer to Trust Law Opponents.

Points to Decade of Uncertainty and Says It Must End.

Washington, June 26.—Under a "new Constitution of freedom" for business given by anti-trust legislation soon to be passed by congress, President Wilson yesterday promised the country the greatest business boom in its history.

This was the president's final answer to the opponents of trust legislation at this session of congress, and to prophets of evil times, delivered with determined expression and every word emphasized with a clenched fist.

"We know what we are doing," said Mr. Wilson; "we purpose to do it under the advice—for we have been fortunate enough to obtain the advice—of men hwo understand the business of the country; and we know that the effect is going to be exactly what the effect of the currency reform was—a sense of relief and security."

The president spoke to a group of Virginia editors in the East room of the White House, but his assurances were intended for the country. A military aide in full dress uniform stood beside him, and there was every indication that the speech was meant to be one of the most important of the administration. News of the failure of H. B. Claflin company in New York had reached the White House earlier in the day, but the president did not mention the incident.

Speech in Full.

The speech follows:

"I think it is appropriate, in receiving you, to say just a word or two in assistance of your judgment about the existing conditions. You are largely responsible for the state of public opinion. You furnish the public with information and in your editorials you furnish it with the interpretation of that information.

"We are in the presence of a business situation which is variously interpreted. Here in Washington, through the bureau of commerce and other instrumentalities that are at our disposal, we are in a position to judge of the actual condition of business better than those can judge who are at any other single point in the country; and I want to say to you that as a matter of fact, the signs of a very strong business revival are becoming more and more evident from day to day.

Made Suggestions.

"I want to suggest this to you: Business has been in a feverish and apprehensive condition in this country for more than ten years; I will not stop to point out the time at which it began to be apprehensive, but during more than ten years business has been the object of sharp criticism in the United States, a criticism growing in volume and growing in particularity, and as a natural consequence, as the volume of criticism has increased, business has been growing more and more anxious. Business men have acted as some men do who fear they will have to undergo an operation, and who are not sure that when they get on the table the operation will not be a capital operation.

"As a matter of fact, as the diagnosis has progressed it has become more and more evident that no capital operation was necessary; that at the most a minor operation was necessary to remove admitted distempers and evils. The treatment is to be constitutional rather than surgical, affecting habits of life and action which have been hurtful.

When Business Guesses.

"There is nothing more fatal to business than to be kept guessing from month to month and from year to year whether something serious is going to happen to it or not, and what in particular is going to happen to it if anything does. It is impossible to forecast the prospects of any line of business unless you know what the year is going to bring forth. Nothing is more unfair, nothing has been declared by business men to be more harmful than to keep them guessing.

"The guessing went on, the air was full of interrogation points for ten years and more. Then came an administration for the first time that had a definite program of constructive correction of admitted evil—a very clear program, disclosed so far as possible in a general program in its particulars as well as in its general features, and the administration proceeded to carry out this program.

First There Was the Tariff.

"First, there was the tariff and business shivered. 'We don't like to go in, the water looks cold;' but when the tariff had been passed, it was found found that the readjustment was possible without any serious disturbance whatever.

"Then came the currency reform. You remember with what resistance, with what criticism, with what systematic holding back, a large body of bankers in this country met the proposals of that reform, and you know how, immediately after its passage, they recognized its benefit and its beneficence, and how since the passage of that reform bankers throughout the United States have been congratulating themselves that it was possible to carry out this great reform upon sensible and solid lines.

The Trust Program.

"Then we advanced to the trust program, and again the same dread, the the same hesitation, the same urgency that the thing should be postponed. It will not be postponed; and it will not be postponed because we are the friends of business. We know what we are doing; we purpose to do it under the advice—for we have been fortunate enough to obtain the advice—of men who understand the business of the country; and we know that the effect is going to be exactly what the effect of the currency reform was—a sense of relief and of security.

"Because, when the program is finished, it is finished; the interrogation points are rubbed off the slate; business is given its constitution of freedom and is bidden go forward under that constitution. And just so soon as it gets that leave and freedom, there will be a boom of business in this country such as we have never witnessed in the United States.

Friend of Business.

"I, as a friend of business and a servant of the country, would not dare stop in this program and bring on another long period of agitation. Agitation longer continued would be fatal to the business of this country, and if this program is delayed there will come agitation, with every letter in the word a capital letter. The choice is a sober and sensible program now completed, or months upon months of additional conjecture and danger.

I, for one, could not ask this country to excuse a policy which subjected business to longer continued agitation and uncertainty; and therefore, I am sure it is beginning to be evident to the whole press of this country, and by the same token to the people, that a constructive program is not only to be proposed, but completed; and that when it is completed, business can get, and will get, what it can get in no other way—rest, recuperation and successful adjustment.

Large Public Policy.

"It is a matter of conscience as well as a matter of large public policy to do what this congress, I am now certain, is going to do—finish the program. And I do not think that it is going to take a very long time. I believe that the temper of those engaged in this great thing is admirable, that the various elements sometimes in antogonism in the congress of the United States are drawing together, and that we shall witness an early, statesmanlike result for which we shall all have abundant reason to be thankful."

During the day the president had received a letter signed by Champ Clark of the house and all the Democratic representatives from Missouri, pledging him their support in his campaign for anti-trust legislation, and promising they would remain in Washington until the program was finished. He replied expressing thanks and appreciation.

OLD GLORY TO BE FIRST IN THE CANAL

Garrison Suggests to Congress to Put French Flag Behind.

Washington, June 26.—On the recommendation of Secretary Garrison, the house commerce committee eliminated the portion of Senator Root's bill which proposed that the French-built steam launch Louise, flying the French flag, head the procession through the Panama canal at the official opening ceremonies. It retained, however, the provisions for repairing the Louise and presenting her to the French people as an appreciation of their part in cleaning the isthmus. The launch was built in France in 1385, and was used by the French canal company and later by the American builders.

Secretary Garrison wrote that the proposal in the senate bill to put the Louise in the place of honor had been called to his attention.

"I feel that the honor of being the first vessel through the canal should be accorded to a United States vessel flying the United States flag," wrote Secretary Garrison, "and that the honor of giving the first place to the Louise would not meet with general approval. I feel that the United States is entitled to any honor that may attach to the first passage of the canal, in view of the fact that the United States has spent millions of dollars in connection with this work and has finally completed the undertaking."

J. H. Chubb Urges Use of Cement and Concrete.

In an address on "Cement and the Construction of Concrete and City Pavements," J. H. Chubb of Minneapolis, an expert on concrete construction, told the members of the Duluth Builders' exchange last evening that "automobiles with their rubber tires are harder on city pavements than the old-style horse-drawn vehicles."

According to Mr. Chubb, macadam roads go to pieces quicker under automobile traffic than under that of heavy, horse-drawn trucks. "As a result of this," he said, "the automobile has caused the introduction of cement and concrete in paving work until it is now used more than any other material." The talk was illustrated with stereopticon views.

The lecture was the first of a series which has been arranged for the benefit of contractors, architects and builders under the auspices of the Duluth Builders' exchange.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

SOME cities are having difficulty about getting appropriations for playgrounds. If these cities will write to Prof. Simon Patton of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa., he will send them some data about the importance of outdoor recreation necessary to create a normal child. He says:

"Every child who is killed or dies from any cause; every child who grows up undeveloped or abnormal, whether physically, mentally or morally, is an economic loss to the city.

"This is the economic justification for the the expenditure of a large proportion of the taxpayers' money for medical inspection in the public schools; for the free examination and treatment of public school children's eyes, ears, etc.; for meat and milk inspectors, and for the public baths, playgrounds and recreation centers.

"For a long time in this and other countries governmental agencies gave far more time and money to jails and hospitals than to the other objects above mentioned, with the possible exception of the public schools. The time finally came when it was generally realized that playgrounds are better than hospitals and cheaper than jails.

"In other words, when this most important element in the economic resources of the community is developed normally and rendered capable of yielding its full value to the community, the money expended to this end yields a far greater return than if an abnormal or incomplete development is permitted.

"Moreover, the neglect of these resources means that the community is compelled to tax itself heavily in order to apply corrective measures to evil conditions which should never have been allowed to exist. It is common knowledge today that pure food and water, good air, plenty of sunlight, physical exercise properly adapted to the individual need, cleanliness, both of person and surroundings, all bear a vital relation to the health and development of human beings."

Playgrounds have room for much development in Duluth, but the city administration realizes their value and is encouraging them as much as the funds permit. The playground movement has grown considerably in Duluth in recent years. Two playgrounds are now being supervised during the summer months. During the winter the city assists in the maintenance of about a dozen outdoor skating rinks, many of which are located on the same lots as the playgrounds.

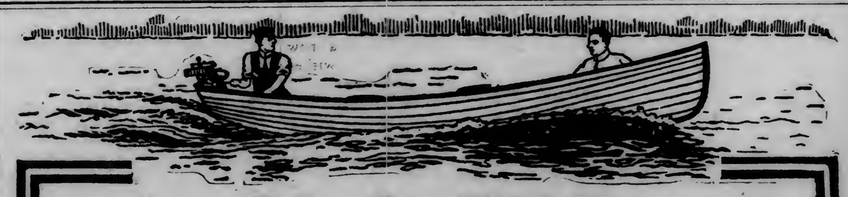

5,634,000 FLIES IN JUNE CAPTURE.

St. Louis, Mo., June 26.—Fifty-seven gallons of flies have been captured this month by the St. Louis health department in twenty-four traps set in different parts of the city. A "pint" of flies was counted, and using this as a basis, it was figured that 5,634,000 flies were captured.

"This catch shows how easy it will be to kill every fly in St. Louis if every citizen put a fly trap in his garbage can," said Acting Health Commissioner Jordan. "The flies captured include the small green species which carries infantile paralysis germs from 'limberneck' chickens, and the species that carries tuberculosis and typhoid germs."

Carries Like a Satchel

Woman's Realm

At the meeting of the Duluth center of the Drama League of America, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Hartman, 2400 East Superior street, Mrs. F. A. Patrick gave a report of the national convention held in Philadelphia recently to which she was a delegate from the local center and Mrs. S. R. Holden gave an account of the pageant and masque by which St. Louisans celebrated the 150th anniversary of the founding of their city.

"There are more persons interested in things theatrical than we realize," Mrs. Patrick said. "In Philadelphia many men were interested. They would rush into meetings, read reports and reports that were worth something too, and then rush away to other business. They were not men who were there because they had nothing else to do."

Mrs. Patrick told of the convention discussions on league bulletins. Some of the delegates were of the opinion that the bulletins should be better than they have been as they ought to be preserved, the really good plays running season after season. It was suggested that members of the league be notified of plays by postcards instead of by bulletins at the beginning of a season, but the general opinion of the delegates was that postcard notices should be reserved for emergencies, as for instance, when a play is in danger of dying for lack of support. In such a case the notice would rally league members to the support of the production.

Cannot Interest All.

Mrs. Patrick quoted Winthrop Ames of the Little theater as saying: "In this country the playwright has to do what he cannot do—appeal to the masses and to the cultured mind." As it is impossible to produce a play that will interest all classes, Johnstone, who toured this country with the Irish Players, thinks the Drama league of America should bulletin and stand back of all that are best of their kind, whether they are dramas, musical comedies, melodramas or any other division of stage amusements. Prof. Baker of Harvard and Percy MacKaye, to mention only two of the great workers of the movement, insist that as the idea of the movement is good drama for the masses, the people should have a part in it. This means that democracy is one of the foundation stones of the Drama League of America.

In refutation of the opinion held by some delegates to the convention that fewer plays should be bulletined and that as the league is national the same productions should be supported throughout the country, Mrs. Patrick said: "Sections of the country have individuality and individuality should not be killed. A play that would take well in New York might not take at all in Chicago, and one that would be a success in Chicago might be a failure in New York."

Mrs. Patrick was impressed by the way the delegates to the convention aired their opinions. The opinions of the various representatives of the drama centers was one of the interesting features of the sessions.

Mrs. Holden's Talk.

In addition to a description of the beautiful and poetic elements of the St. Louis pageant and masque, Mrs. Holden told of the business side of the great production that St. Louisans say has done more for their city than their fair did. Anyone in St. Louis could see the pageant and masque from the viewpoint of a member of the vast audience, but Mrs. Holden had an opportunity to watch the presentation from behind the scenes, a position of great importance to one whose city is contemplating such a production.

To Miss Charlotte Rumbold of St. Louis, who has acquired national fame in her work for playgrounds, belongs the honor for conceiving the idea of a production on Art hill in Forest park to celebrate the founding of St. Louis, though even her dreams did not approach the magnificence of the celebration that finally came to pass. The first call was from the mayor, putting the undertaking on a civic basis. The persons called to this meeting interested other persons, who in turn interested others, widening the circle until the whole city was taken in. Talks on the history of the city and the proposed pageant and masque were made before all the schools and organizations of the city, and various committees were appointed for the work attendant upon so large an undertaking. The result of all the people taking an interest and giving help was a finished production, without friction and the cementing together of fellow citizens into a great brotherhood. There was an executive committee, a large advisory committee and committees on arrangements, decorations, visitors, finance, costumes, dancing, lighting, music, publicity, music, public safety, transportation and many other phases.

Duluth's Opportunity.

Percy MacKaye, who did so much to make the celebration of the founding of St. Louis one of the most wonderful productions that has ever been given, thinks Duluth is particularly suited as the scene of a pageant in regard to location, people and history. And he thinks this even after a winter ride on the boulevard when he had to get out and help get the auto out of the snow.

Mrs. Holden pointed out that the history of Duluth is much like the history of St. Louis, with the occupation of the French settlers, the representation of whom gave so much beauty of color to the production in the great city of the Mississippi.

Mrs. J. E. Rockwell, secretary, and Mrs. M. B. Cullum, treasurer, read reports of the Duluth center.

After the meeting Mrs. Hartman was the hostess at a social half hour.

FIVE ORPHANS COME ACROSS SEA TO MEET FOSTER PARENTS

From big to little these children are Xela Winkler, 13; Winnie Winkler, 10; Helena Trench, 8; Alice Dunbar, 6, and Phyllis Dunbar, 4. They came across the ocean in charge of the chief stewardess of the "Olympic" on her last voyage. All are orphans. Phyllis and Alice Dunbar are on their way to Omaha where they will meet their foster parents, who adopted them recently abroad. Helena Trench has been adopted by a couple in Oklahoma City. Xela and Winnie Winkler have stage ambitions. They have come here to be trained for the drama. The passengers on the "Olympic" were all very much interested in this little group of homeless tots and made their voyage very happy.

BOAT CLUB.

Unique Nautical Dinner Is Followed By a Dance.

The first of a series of dinner dances modeled after the functions of the South Shore Country club of Chicago, was given last evening at the main house of the boat club. The members of the sailing division, who had charge of the arrangements, came in for many compliments for the success of their undertaking, as did also Ray W. Higgins, the president of the club. On the dinner tables there were small boats on lakes so quiet that not a single case of seasickness resulted. The nautical idea was carried out by the menu that consisted of:

Bowsprit Bouillon.
Port Light Radishes. Starboard Light Olives.
Roast Beef-en-Main-Sheet.
Roast Spring Chicken a la Cock Pit.
Spinnaker Boom Mashed Potatoes.
Jib Boom Steamed Potatoes.
Marlin Spike Carrots a la Sea Foam.
Masthead Lettuce.
French Spar Varnish Dressing.
Nor'easter Ice Cream Cake Ballast.
Peak-Halyard Apple Pie.
Throat Halyard Cherry Pie.
Resolute Coffee. Defiance Milk.
Vani Tea.

Roger Jannus made a flight at 8:15 o'clock, circling over the bay.

At 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Helen Shores Savage and John Donald Hurdon demonstrated the one-step and the maxixe. Although the half-and-half was not on the program, there was such a request for it that Mrs. Savage and Mr. Hurdon gave it later in the evening.

Mrs. Savage wore a costume of white messaline and black velvet with black and white cap to match. Mr. Hurdon was in evening attire. Mrs. Savage danced with much spirit and grace. Mr. Hurdon, whose technique is excellent, is a graceful leader in all the new dances. After instructions by Mrs. Savage there was social dancing.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Children Should Watch Streets Carefully.

How to protect children from the dangers of the streets is a question that has been distracting parents, educators and other interested parties for a long time.

Each year the toll of accidents makes it of graver consideration. The maiming and down right killing of children and also older folks is part of the price we pay for progress in many directions.

Another element that plays a conspicuous part is the American's love of hustle, of taking a chance to get there five minutes sooner than he might if he took all the precautions that safety for him, and often some one else, involves. The air is fairly impregnated with this germ or principle of "getting there" even though you do chance the loss of an arm or of your life in so doing.

There is a nation-wide movement on foot to bring about a greater degree of safety for all of us, including the humble toiler and, very emphatically, the child, who is of the greatest importance to the next and, consequently, future generations. Boston's chamber of commerce, co-operating with this movement, has just sent out oved 100,000 letters to the parents of school children, urging them to instruct their children in safety methods for the streets.

These instructions comprise things that are of every day knowledge to those old enough to comprehend danger in any form. They are nothing but what the ordinary type of parents din into the ears of their children—and disregard themselves most of the time. It is important that these parents and all adults, set children an example of carefulness at all times under all conditions.

There is another side, however, that example and instruction will not effect. Boys will be boys and they will take a dare and themselves lead the way into all sorts of dangers. Many a boy has lost a leg, but not because of ignorance. Bravado, defiance of the law and a love of danger and adventure are each in part responsible.

It has often seemed to me that the best method of dealing with this form of peril to the lives and limbs of our boys lay in making sorry examples of them whenever they were caught. First make it an offense punisable by law for them to endanger their lives as they do on our city streets, and then enforce the law.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Broadway Jones."
EMPRESS—"The Pink Widow."
ECHO—"Oh, You September Morn."

Amusement Notes.

The Baldwin Players are breaking all records this week at the Lyceum, where they are presenting George M. Cohan's greatest play, "Broadway Jones." Big and delighted audiences are greeting every performance.

"Broadway Jones" will continue the remainder of the week, with the usual Saturday matinee.

Next week, commencing Sunday matinee, the Baldwin Players will present "The Rosary," the play which is the talk of the country. This successful play of Edward E. Rose's, which is founded upon an emblem of purity, is a tale of every-day life in which the good is exalted over the evil, showing as the principal character a Catholic priest as the modern day finds him. It is through the priest that a misunderstanding in the Wilson family is correctly adjusted and the misery and estrangement cleared up. An abundance of comedy, which the average theatergoer doesn't expect to witness, owing to the title of the play, is intermingled.

"The Pink Widow," a riot of mirth, a sunburst of beauties, and a whole company of siren-voiced melodists lured three large audiences to the Empress theater yesterday to see the opening of Arthur Clamage's musical comedy for the last half of the week and Sunday. This is undoubtedly the best company, both in appearance and entertaining ability that has been seen at the Empress in many a moon.

The spotlight is used most of the time, and it always reveals a clever entertainer. The chorus is unusually attractive and special features are so numerous that the spectator is kept busy guessing what will come next. Every time the pretty choristers appear they have on new suits.

Like most musical comedies "The Pink Widow" is hung on a thread of a plot, but the thread holds together many jokes and a lot of bright, tuneful songs.

Arthur Clamage, the comedian with a Falstaffian stomach, is king of Dutch comedians. With him it is not so much what he says as the way he says it. Don Clark, too, is a good laugh-getter as well as Al Zimmerman.

Miss Grace Fields as the "Pink Widow" sings sweetly and as for looks—she needn't worry—the spotlight will not reveal any shortcomings of nature. She appeared in numerous song specialties making a big hit every time.

Miss Trixie Ayers, a nymph-like soubrette with about five feet of grace and charm, pleases with song, dance and patter. She appeared at her best in a Scotch medley with a background of pretty choristers.

"The Pink Widow" will be at the Empress all this week and Sunday, together with some first-class motion pictures.

Miss Marie Russell as "September Morn" in the musical comedy of that name with "Oh, You" before it, delighted the patrons of the Echo theater yesterday in a number of poses. She appeared in a white silk costume almost close-fitting enough to be called "tights" and impersonated the model used by the artist who painted the picture of that name.

While the poses were of chief interest to at least half of the audience, there was some comedy sandwiched in by the comedians, Hubb and Hoyt, and a lot of lively dancing by the large chorus. Some reels of good pictures were shown for the children. Miss Eva Kensington, a pretty member of the chorus, introduced a clever song specialty. Numbers by the chorus are always pleasing to the Echo audiences and Miss Kensington was called back repeatedly.

"Oh You, September Morn" will be continued for the remainder of the week and Sunday.

LAWSON'S AWFUL WISH.

Washington Star: Apropos of a railroad's recent omission of the usual dividend, Thomas W. Lawson said at a luncheon in Boston:

"Watered stock is at the base of all our financial troubles. Our ideal of a financier in the past seemed to be a good stock waterer."

Mr. Lawson brought his fist down on the table vehemently.

"I wish," he said, "that retributive justice would overtake some of these fellows. I wish they'd be attacked with hydrocephalus."

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

St. Louis County.

J. De La Motte, appellant, vs. N. W. Clearance company, et al, respondent—

Plaintiff and Defendant Kreidler, with other persons were jointly associated together for the purpose of promoting and organizing a corporation; plaintiff and Kreidler secretly agreed to divide equally between themselves whatever stock they could induce the corporation, when organized, to issue to Kreidler as a promoter; the corporation was subsequently organized and the promoters, including plaintiff and Kreidler, were made members of the board of directors; at their first meeting plaintiff moved that one-third of the stock of the corporation be issued to Kreidler, and the motion was entered in the minutes, with some amendments, as carried; plaintiff voted for and procured the adoption of the motion; no mention was made of the secret agreement between plaintiff and Kreidler to divide the stock so ordered issued; no claim by Kreidler for compensation as a promoter was presented or acted upon, and the other directors were unaware of the fact that plaintiff was to share in the stock so to be issued.

It is held:

1. That the secret agreement between plaintiff and Kreidler to induce the issuance of this stock, subsequently to be divided between them, was fraudulent, illegal and void, a violation of the duty they owed to their associate promoters and the corporation, and unenforceable either against Kreidler or the corporation.

2. That there was no subsequent ratification by the corporation after knowledge of the facts.

Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

St. Louis County.

Novo Dasich, insane, by V. D. Nickolich, guardian (Wm. Getty, substituted), respondent, vs. La Rue Mining company, appellant—

1. An improvident and fraudulent settlement by a guardian of his ward's cause of action, though approved by the court in which the action is pending, may be vacated and set aside upon a showing of the facts, even though the defendant in the action be not affirmatively shown to have participated in the fraud. Picciano vs. Railway company, 102 Minn., 21, followed and applied.

2. Facts disclosed, and stated in the opinion, held to justify an order vacating the settlement.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Hennepin County.

Leo J. Bork, by Bernard Bork, guardian, respondent, vs. The Keller Manufacturing company, appellant—

In this, a personal injury action, the defendant was not entitled to a directed verdict, nor to judgment notwithstanding the verdict, either on the ground that the evidence failed to establish that plaintiff was injured within the scope of his employment, or upon the ground that contributory negligence conclusively appeared.

No errors are assigned which warrant a reversal of the order denying a new trial.

Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

Hennepin County.

Gulledge Brothers Lumber company, vs. Wenatchee Land company, respondent—

Trial court held not to have abused its discretion in requiring plaintiff, in an action involving breach of contract, to elect to proceed either for rescission or to recover damages.

A written contract whereby the equitable owner of timber lands under contract of sale undertook to sell the timber, held to constitute a sale of the timber, which was not reduced to a mere license or right to cut by a restriction, contained in the land contract, against alienation of less then the whole of the contract or the land or without the vendor's approval; and hence the estate and rights of the timber vendee, its contract being of record, were not affected by subsequent attachment and lis pendens against the interest of the timber vendor, nor by the latter's subsequent assignment of its land contract and conveyances of the land, such, therefore, not constituting breaches of the timber sale contract.

Order affirmed. PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Hennepin County.

Gustave A. Gunderson, appellant, vs. Minneapolis Street Railway company, respondent; Augusta Gunderson, appellant, vs. Minneapolis Street Railway company, respondent; Carroll Gunderson, by his father and natural guardian, appellant, vs. Minneapolis Street Railway company, respondent; Ione Gunderson, by her father and natural guardian, appellant, vs. Minneapolis Street Railway company, respondent; Myrtha Gunderson, appellant, vs. Minneapolis Street Railway company, respondent—

1. The decision of the trial court that an unauthorized view by a juror of the locus in quo did not influence the verdict is sustained.

2. Certain remarks of counsel in opening to the jury and certain conduct of his during trial considered and held not sufficient to warrant a reversal.

3. The verdicts are sustained by the evidence.

Order affirmed. BUNN, J.

Hennepin County.

In re estate of Roswell R. Hurlbut, deceased; appeal of William Frank Hurlbut—

1. The testimony of a juror cannot be received to impeach the verdict unless it appears that the matters to which he testifies took place outside of court.

2. While the jurors are kept together in the custody of the officer for the purpose of deliberating upon their verdict, they are not outside of court, but remain within the control of the court, and the verdict cannot be impeached by the testimony of a juror as to what transpired during the period they were so kept together.

3. It is essential to the efficiency of the jury system that the jury consult together in secret free from any outside influence; and, to afford them complete freedom while so doing, the court will make no inquiry into the nature or extent of their deliberations.

4. It is the province of the trial court to determine when a jury has given sufficient consideration to a case to justify receiving a verdict not unanimous, and such determination will not be reversed unless it appears that the trial court abused its discretion, or that the requirements of the law were not complied with.

5. The length of time devoted to meals and sleep while the jury are deliberating upon their verdict cannot be shown for the purpose of proving that they did not deliberate for the prescribed length of time.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Ramsey County.

Hanley Falls Creamery company, appellant, vs. Milton Dairy company, respondent—

Provision in a lease of certain premises "for creamery purposes," that if the lessee should cease to use them for such purposes, the lease "shall be canceled and annulled at once by said lessor," held not a special limitation upon the term, but a condition subsequent vesting in the lessor a waivable option to terminate the lease upon the happening of the specified contingency.

Order reversed. PHILIP E. BROWN, JR.

Ramsey County.

National Security company, appellant, vs. G. N. Berggren, et al, defendants, Frank Adsit, respondent—

Plaintiff was surety on a bond executed by B. as principal to the state, conditioned that B. should pay as they became due all claims for labor and material furnished in the execution of a contract by which B. was to install an electric switchboard in a state building. B. did not pay a claim for material furnished, and plaintiff was compelled to and did pay such claim. Under the contract betwcen the state and B. the state retained one-half the contract price until after completion of the work. After the bond was given and the work begun, B. borrowed money of a bank and gave the bank an order on the state for the money due under the contract. The state deposited the money in court. It is held:

1. Plaintiff, having on compulsion paid the claim of the creditor of B. ...nuitable subrogation to the rights of such creditor in the fund retained by the state. Such rights are superior to those of the bank or its assignee.

That plaintiff was a corporation engaged in the business of executing bonds as surety for a consideration or premium does not defeat its right to subrogation.

Order reversed with directions. BUNN, J.

Ramsey County.

Charles W. Cousins, respondent, vs. Illinois Central Railroad company, appellant—

Defendant is a common carrier by railroad engaged in interstate commerce. Plaintiff, an employe, was injured by the negligence of his fellow-servants while engaged in wheeling a barrow of coal to heat the shop in which other employes were engaged in making repairs to cars that had been and were to be used in carrying interstate commerce. It is held:

Plaintiff, at the time of his injury, was engaged in and employed by defendant in interstate commerce, and entitled to the benefits of the Federal employer's liability act.

Judgment affirmed. BUNN, J.

Nobles County.

Northwestern Thresher company, a corporation, appellant, vs. Oney Harding, respondent—

1. An application to vacate a judgment taken by default through mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect of defendant is addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court. In this case an affidavit showing that judgment was entered without knowledge of the defendant, notwithstanding the claim was discharged in bankruptcy after suit brought but before judgment, contains a sufficient showing of surprise or excusable neglect.

2. The defense of a discharge in bankruptcy is an honest and meritorious defense and stands on a par with other legal defenses. A default judgment may be vacated in order to permit the interposition of this defense, if the default is properly excused.

3. Under the conflicting affidavit presented, the court was warranted in finding that defendant had no knowledge of the entry of this judgment until forty-two days before the application to vacate the judgment was brought on for hearing. A delay for this length of time was not, under the circumstances of this case, such as to require the court to deny the relief asked.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

Houston County.

County of Houston, appellant vs. Edward Burns, respondent—

Shortly after acquiring a forty acre tract for a poor farm, the plaintiff's board of county commissioners caused the county surveyor to survey the same, and the board agreed with an adjoining owner to build a partition or division fence on the line so surveyed, which fence has been so maintained on such line by both owners for upwards of ten years. It is held that the owners are now concluded by the boundary so established and maintained.

County commissioners, having the power to acquire land for a certain purpose, have also the right to ascertain and agree with adjoining owners as to boundaries and for the erection and maintenance of division or partition fences.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.

Koochiching County.

Patrick Culligan, et al, appellants-respondents vs. Cosmopolitan company, respondent-appellant—

1. Where a new county is formed out of territory of an existing county, notice of expiration of redemption from a tax sale of lands in such territory must be issued by the auditor of the original county, delivered for service to the sheriff of the new county, and published therein, if publication be necessary, provided that taxes for which the said was had were levied before the petition for the formation of the new county was filed.

2. A notice of the expiration of the time to redeem from a tax sale, made under the tax law of 1902, is ineffectual which fails to recite that the tax sale certificate was presented to the auditor by the holder thereof, and which includes a great number of tracts sold separately, situated in many different townships, and whereon the sheriff's return shows fees for service of over $300 without any apportionment of the same among the different tracts, so that from the notice and return it is impossible to determine the amount required to redeem any one tract.

3. In an action to determine adverse claim where defendant answers claiming title absolute the court properly allowed costs to plaintiffs although under authority of Sect. 2168 G. S. 1913 a lien was decreed defendant as holder of a tax certificate.

4. Under said section the court is authorized to adjudge a lien to the holder of the tax certificate, issued upon a sale subsequent to the taking effect of the tax laws of 1902, even though the sale and certificate be valid and there is time and opportunity to serve a notice of the expiration of the time of redemption.

In such case the lien may include taxes paid subsequent to the giving of a defective notice of redemption, whether such taxes be paid before or after they became delinquent.

Orders affirmed. HOLT, J.

Wasecа County.

E. W. Heffernan, respondent vs. F. C. Whittlsey et al, appellants—

The declarations of an alleged agent are ordinarily incompetent as evidence to prove the fact of agency. Under this rule it was error to admit in evidence in this case the testimony of witnesses that the alleged agent stated that he was employed by defendant company.

It was error to admit in evidence the testimony of plaintiff to the effect that defendant's superintendent, after the transaction, told him that the alleged agent was a company employe.

The evidence properly received is insufficient to sustain the finding of the jury that the alleged agent was employed by defendant company, or to sustain a finding that such defendant acted maliciously in investigating charges against plaintiff or in discharging him from its service.

The evidence is sufficient to sustain a finding that the individual defendant maliciously made false charges against plaintiff for the purpose of procuring his discharge from the service of defendant company.

There were no errors that were prejudical as to such individual defendant.

Reversed on appeal of defendant company.

Affirmed on appeal of defendant Whittlsey. BUNN, J.

Wright County.

State ex rel School District No. 44 of Wright county, Minn., respondent, vs. County Board of Wright county et al, defendants, School District No. 139 of Wright county, Minn., appellant—

1. Section 2696 G. S. 1913, providing that whenever a school district is divided and a part of the territory thereof set off and formed into a new district, the funds in the treasury thereof shall be divided equitably between the old and new districts, held to vest in the new district a legal right to a proportionate share of such funds, and that the action of the county commissioners in making the division may be reviewed on certiorari.

2. The statute is construed and held to apply to all money in the treasury at the time of the organization of the new district, including a building fund raised by the sale of bonds for the construction of a new school house in the old district.

3. The division of the fund is the act of the legislature, and not that of the officers charged with the duty of making it, and there is no unlawful diversion of the fund from the purposes for which it was raised.

4. The legislature has the power to direct the distribution of such a fund in a situation of this kind.

Judgment reversed. BROWN, C. J.

Lincoln County.

In re application of John S. Tucker to register title to lands in Lincoln county. John S. Tucker, appellant, vs. Nils Sigurd Kruse, et al., defendants. C P. Mortenson, respondent—

1. An owner of land abutting ppon a non-navigable lake owns to the middle of the lake. This title to the bed of the lake passes by a deed of the shore land unless a contrary intention appears.

2. A meander line will not ordinarily be considered the boundary of land bordering on such a lake, but the grantee of the shore land will take to the middle of the lake, even though the grant is describe by metes and bounds with the meander line as one of the calls. The evidence in this case sustains the findings of the trial court that West Lake, on which respondent's land abuts, was still a lake when defendant received his deed.

3. The fact that the owners of land abutting on an irregular lake exchange deeds, fixing their respective rights in the lake bed, is not conclusive of an intention to separate the lake bed from the shore land.

4. The use of part of the bed of the lake by a grantor after conveyance of the shore land is not conclusive of an intent that he should reserve the lake bed.

5. The evidence sustains the trial court in refusal to find that defendant was estopped by representations as to his line to claim the portion of the lake bed adjacent to his land.

Judgment affirmed. HALLAM, J.

FLIES ACROSS MOUNT WHITNEY.

Independence, Cal., June 26.—Silas Christofferson, aviator, in a biplane, yesterday flew over the peak of Mount Whitney, 14,898 feet high. He attained an altitude of 15,728 feet and established, it is contended, a new American altitude record.

It was Christofferson's second attempt at the peak yesterday. The first was made shortly after dawn from Lone Pine, and failed because of the intense cold the aviator encountered at an elevation of 13,000 feet.

Christofferson, upon landing after his second flight, said his barograph showed he had reached an altitude of 15,728 feet.

FRENCHMAN WOULD TAX ALIEN LABOR.

Paris, June 26.—Declaring that foreigners were overrunning the country and taking the places of young men of France while the citizens were serving in the army, Paul Pugliese-Conti, a nationalist Republican, made a motion in the chamber of deputies inviting the French government to place a tax on the 600,000 foreign workmen now in this country.

Abel Ferry, under-secretary for foreign affairs, speaking on the motion, said that such a tax would bring France into conflict with the governments of Germany, Switzerland, Sweden and Spain.

M. Conti replied that the United States limited the importation of foreign labor and that Prussia taxed certain classifications of foreign workmen.

Rene Viviani, premier, said the cabinet could not accept the proposal, which, at his suggestion, was referred to the committee on labor.

SAYS ROOSEVELT DISCOVERED RIVER.

New York, June 26.—In a cable message made public here, Algot Lange, an explorer, after announcing that he had completed Amazon explorations for which he went into the Brazilian jungles in 1912, added that he found the discovery of a river by Col. Theodore Roosevelt to be authentic. Lange also announced in his message that he was en route to New York.

Read What These Housewives Say About OVENGOLD

As we believe that the praise of OVENGOLD from those who are using it, is sure to be a truthful description of OVENGOLD'S quality, we asked the ladies who wrote us these letters to allow us to publish them. Read them.

Now Makes Cake Often

"After using OVENGOLD several times I find it just as you say. My family did not know OVENGOLD cake was not my own home-made cake until I told them.

"But I like OVENGOLD cake better because it bakes so quickly and uniformly. It is always so light and tender. I now make cake oftener than I used to, for in less time than one of my own cakes would be mixed, an OVENGOLD cake is baked.

"OVENGOLD saves using so many dishes, which is another advantage in the kitchen. I shall always use OVENGOLD." Signed—Mrs. D. Sundstrom, 1240 Barry Ave., Chicago.

Cake-Making a Pleasure

"I have used OVENGOLD with excellent results. It is so simple to mix and the results are so sure that cake-making has become a pleasure.

"It is so easy to use that even the novice in cake-making need have no fear in making an OVENGOLD cake for her guests." Signed—Mrs. A. Wunderlich, 1222 N. Hoyne Ave., Chicago.

Lightens Her Work

"OVENGOLD is surely going to save us housekeepers much work and time. And it is hard to conceive of a cake better than that made by my first trial of OVENGOLD. Most remarkable is its simplicity, which lessens its share of my kitchen work. No housekeeper should keep house without OVENGOLD." Signed—Mrs. W. A. Fraser, 5926 Union Ave., Chicago.

Fills a Need

"I am very proud of my reputation for making fine cake and my cook knows that her cake must always be made with extra care if it is to please me. So it was with considerable doubt that I first used OVENGOLD.

"And while I will not admit that OVENGOLD is the equal of my own best cake, I will say that I was agreeably surprised when I saw how very light and good tasting a cake OVENGOLD makes. There was not a single slice of my first OVENGOLD cake left after the dinner.

"I have now used OVENGOLD three times, and I intend always to keep a package in the house, because with OVENGOLD I can make and serve a cake in a very few minutes for an afternoon tea or when evening guests come in unexpectedly. OVENGOLD is truly good, and fills a need that every housewife has experienced." Signed—Mrs. H. Eckstein, Lombard, Ill.

DEADLOCKED WITH JAPAN

Washington Gives Out Alien Land Law Correspondence.

Proposal to Frame New Treaty Has Been Rejected.

Washington, June 26.—Diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Japan over the California anti-alien land law, extending over a period of more than a year, was published today simultaneously in Washington and Tokio by agreement of the two governments.

It disclosed that a new treaty was discussed as one way of meeting Japan's protest against what her diplomatic correspondence characterized throughout as a course "essentially unfair and invidiously discriminatory"—"inconsistent with the sentiment of good neighborhood," "inconsistent with the treaty in force," "abridgment of vested rights," and against provisions of the California law, "mortifying to the government and the people of Japan."

Rejected Treaty Plan.

But as late as June 10, the Japanese ambassador, Viscount Chinda, left with Secretary Bryan instructions from the Tokio foreign office that the projected treaty would tend to create new difficulties. The Japanese government, therefore, the note said, was "disinclined to continue the negotiations looking to the conclusion of a convention on the lines of the project which has been under discussion, but they prefer to recur to the correspondences which were interrupted, and they will now look for an answer to the note handed Mr. Bryan on the 26th of August last, hoping that, in a renewal of the study of the case, a fundamental solution of the question at issue may be found."

The Japanese note of Aug. 26 last, which Mr. Bryan was now asked to answer, concluded as follows:

"The imperial government claims for them (its subjects), fair and equal treatment, and are unable either to acquiesce in the unjust and obnoxious discrimination complained of, or regard the question as closed so long as the existing state of things is permitted to continue."

Bryan's Answer Withheld.

Two days ago Secretary Bryan replied to that communication, but publication of the note was withheld today because it could not be included in the correspondence made public at Tokio. It will be published on a date to be agreed upon later.

It was agreed that Secretary Bryan reply directly to the Japanese government's desire to take up the negotiations anew where they were suspended, and reaffirmed the position of the United States, leaving the subject open for further diplomatic exchanges.

So there the controversy stands, apparently at a deadlock. There are intimations in diplomatic circles that it is being worked around to a stage for arbitration at The Hague. A standard arbitration treaty with Japan now is in force, having only recently been renewed.

The proposed treaty, which was halted by Japan's latest attitude, it is understood proposed to touch upon the naturalization of those Japanese aliens owning land already.

The correspondence in full makes about 30,000 words.

EBERHART SAYS HE WILL SUPPORT LEE

Overlooks Lee's Failure to Support Him Two Years Ago.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—Governor Eberhart said, in effect, in a formal statement issued yesterday, that he is willing to let such bygones as Mr. Lee's failure to support him, when he had defeated Mr. Lee for the nomination two years ago, be bygones, and will prove himself a good Republican and a good loser by supporting the ticket, with Mr. Lee at its head. The governor and Mr. Lee had lunch today at the capitol restaurant.

The governor returned in time to meet the candidates and friends of candidates who were seen about the capitol. The executive has not yielded his friendly smile to defeat, and shows no signs of considering his political star as set.

State Treasurer Walter J. Smith named Victor Power of Hibbing as his representative on the Republican state committee.

George F. Wells of St. Paul was chosen chairman of the Prohibition party state committee at a meeting of the candidates at the capitol last night. Members of the executive committee include Bert N. Wheeler of Duluth.

ASKS COURT TO STRAIGHTEN TANGLE

A. B. Jackson Asks That Note Be Canceled and Deed Set Aside.

Claiming that when he executed a warranty deed to a tract of timber land in favor of B. H. Gabriel, it was not intended that the land should be conveyed, but was merely to simplify the sale of timber from the property and pay a promissory note for $600 which he had previously executed in Gabriel's favor, Andrew B. Jackson yesterday started an action in district court to compel Gabriel to cancel the note, to account to him for the timber sold and to have the deed of conveyance set aside.

Jackson executed a mortgage and note for $600 in Gabriel's favor Oct. 10, 1906. Jackson desired to sell the timber on the land to pay off the indebtedness, but says that he was advised by Gabriel that it could not be sold as long as a mortgage was outstanding. Jackson alleges that the understanding he had with Gabriel was that a warranty deed was to be executed to him, and that he (Gabriel) was to sell the timber, deduct the $600 indebtedness and turn over the remainder of the money collected as well as the title to the land.

Jackson claims that Gabriel sold approximately $2,500 worth of timber, still retains the note and holds the title to the land. He asks the court to straighten out the tangle.

MINNESOTAN HEADS PATRIOTIC VOTERS.

Chicago, June 26.—San Francisco was chosen as the meeting place in June, 1915, and D. J. Reynolds of Minneapolis was named president of the American Federation of Patriotic Voters at the close of their first annual meeting yesterday. Rev. Otis L. Spurgeon of Des Moines was chosen vice president, and C. W. Bibb of Minneapolis was elected secretary-treasurer. The Federation adopted a resolution charging the Catholic church with instigating riots and labor troubles in the United States.

MILK YIELDS BREAK RECORDS

Herd at Island Farm Sets Pace for State to Follow.

That the northern part of Minnesota is unexcelled as a dairy producing district is shown by the report just issued by the Island farm at Island, Minn., forty miles west of Duluth, which gives the annual production of the herd at that farm.

The herd is composed of pure-blood and grade Guernseys for the most part, although there are sixteen pure-bred Holstein-Friesian cattle included. These are all housed in a 200-foot stable in which stand 152 head in steel and concrete stalls.

Following are the averages in milk production, stated in pounds, about one pint to the pound:

Pure bred Guernseys (all records official) ..... 8919.25 lbs.
Grade Guernseys ..... 7354.59 lbs.
Grand average entire pure bred and grade Guernsey herd ..... 8018.38 lbs.
Pure bred Holstein-Friesians ..... 10418.22 lbs.
Grand average entire milking herd ..... 8486.64 lbs.

It was only a few years ago that a 5,000-pound cow was a reasonably high mark to pull for in this section, but the Island farm now shows a grand herd average 3386.64 pounds above that mark.

During the last year only two animals in the herd have made less than 6,000 pounds of milk, the records of these two being, respectively, 5,756.2 and 5,007.3 pounds.

A grade Guernsey at the farm, Lady Jane, made last year more than seven tons of milk. The exact amount was 14,269.1 pounds, testing 4.32 per cent butter fat, making a total of 616.43 pounds of butter fat. This is equivalent to 744.71 pounds of marketable butter, or more than two pounds a day for every day in the year.

The great productivity of the herd has been obtained only by the most careful selection of stock and the greatest care in breeding. Bull calves raised from this herd are being sold throughout the northern part of the state and are gradually raising the standard of dairies.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Makes It Dull, Brittle, Lifeless and Causes it to Fall Out.

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

USES VACCINE WITH KNIFE FOR CANCER

Treatment Is Described to Surgeons By Dr. Vaughn.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26.—Many cases of cancer formerly thought hopeless can be cured and others greatly relieved by the use of a vaccine and a serum he has recently discovered, according to a report made before the surgical section of the American Medical association by Dr. J. Walter Vaughn of Detroit. He reported the experiments made on 100 cases, in seventy-three of which cures had been effected.

The treatment described by Dr. Vaughn is not intended to supplant the use of the knife, but is used in connection with operative cases. The best results it was stated, have followed the injection of the vaccine or serum twenty-four hours before the cancerous growth was removed with a knife, the vaccine or serum destroying the cancer cells which the knife did not reach.

Resolutions adopted by the house of delegates indorsed the Palmer-Owen labor bill now pending in congress; called upon states to adopt child labor laws and eight-hour working days; demanded a standardization of milk, and asked congress to establish a national leprosarium.

Dr. W. L. Rodman of Philadelphia was elected president of the house of delegates.

San Francisco defeated Chicago in the race for next year's convention, 33 to 28.

NORTH DAKOTA PRIMARY VOTE

Col. Fraine Apparently Gets G. O. P. Republican Nomination.

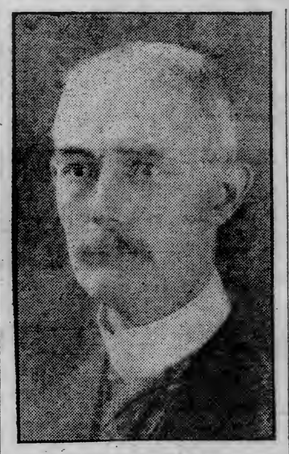

Gronna's Vote for Senator Said to Have Surprised Friends.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 26.—Col. J. H. Fraine is safe apparently for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor on the face of the returns received. Fraine was given a strong indorsement in his home county, and in the adjoining counties, overing the plurality that the present lieutenant governor, A. T. Kraabel, piled up in his home county.

For commissioner of agriculture and labor, R. F. Flint, the present state dairy commissioner, polled an exceptionally heavy vote in the Missouri slope district and was nominated. W. B. Holbein and A. E. Hutchinson are running close for second place with the indications that Hutchinson will be the runner up.

Thomas Tharalson, for state treasurer, having an easy victory over three opposing candidates. S. N. Putnam, the candidate of the Burdick forces, probably will be third in the race. Tharalson is present deputy state treasurer, and he had the support of Gunder Olson in his campaign.

For commissioner of railroads, James Collins of Grand Forks is threatening to displace one of the present members of the board. If he is successful in obtaining a place on the board, he probably will displace W. H. Stutsman. O. P. N. Anderson and W. H. Mann appear safe for renomination.

COL. J. H. FRAINE, Probable Nominee for Lieutenant Governor.

Named Attorney General.

Henry J. Linde was an easy victor for attorney general. He swept through the western districts with very heavy pluralities, and there are indications that his vote will be as great as the combined vote of his two opponents, Alfred Zuger and F. C. Heffron.

Senator A. J. Gronna's renomination has been brought about by a plurality that will not fall short of 15,000 when the final returns are available. The indications are that his vote will exceed the combined vote of Andy Miller and J. H. Worst, the opposing candidates.

Gronna's strength in the western districts was exceptionally heavy, exceeding the expectations of even his own most ardent supporters.

For the Democratic honors, W. E. Purcell seems certain of being nominated for the United States senatorship, while Frank Hellstrom will be the party's candidate for governor.

Hellstrom was given a hot fight in several counties by Knudson, but he appears safe by a margin of approximately 2,000.

Returns on the legislative contests will become available today. Among the notable results of the primary is that in Bottineau county, where Senator Garden was defeated.

SANITARIUM FOR THREE COUNTIES

Koochiching, Beltrami and Hubbard May Build Joint Concern.

Bemidji, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Resolutions favoring a sanitarium for Hubbard, Koochiching and Beltrami counties, and suggesting that the county boards of commissioners in each county levy a tax of 1 mill to pay for its erection and maintenance, were passed by the county commissioners. Robinson Bosworth, executive secretary of the Minnesota state sanitarium commission, and William Durrin of Koochiching county, attended the meeting. It has been agreed to hold another conference at International Falls on June 30.

Praises Beltrami County.

William L. Mercer, county superintendent of schools in Olmsted county, visited the courthouse this week, en route to his home at Rochester. He has bought a quarter section of land north of the upper Red lake, and declares that Beltrami conditions are ideal. He says that while looking for land he met three families from Illinois and Indiana, who said they would rather live in Beltrami county than in any older country.

GIRL, AGED ONLY 12, BAKES FOR ELEVEN.

Bemidji, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nettie Batdorf, a girl 12 years old, is baking the bread for a family of eleven at Turtle River. The little girl's mother is dead and she and older sisters do the housework. She won the first prize in the Turtle River school bread contest this spring and is entered in the state and county bread contest. The bread contest and the acre yield corn contest are attracting considerable attention in Beltrami county, according to the records at the office of the county superintendent.

PUPOSKY CHURCH IS BEING BUILT.

Bemidji, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work started Wednesday on the erection of a Roman Catholic church at Puposky, to be known as St. Patrick's. It is expected that the erection of the church, which is frame, will take more than a month. Until it is completed, Father Dumoulin of Akeley will hold services at Puposky. In order to help pay for the construction of the building, Catholic women of Puposky are planning a picnic on July 4.

CLAPP IS TO SPEAK.

Federal Senator to Address Minnesota Rural Letter Carriers.

Mankato, Minn., June 26.—The Minnesota Rural Letter Carriers' association will hold its twelfth annual convention here, July 10 and 11. State President R. H. McKay of Rush City will preside. Mayor A. G. Meyer of this city will give an address of welcime, and F. H. Hines of Cannon Falls will respond. At the afternoon session an address by Congressman W. S. Hammond, Democratic nominees for governor, is scheduled, provided he can leave Washington at that time.

J. H. Drew of Red Wing will present a report of the national convention and F. E. Watts of Mankato will speak on "The Living Wage." An automobile ride will be given and in the evening a banquet will be served.

Unionists Are Drilling.

"Nightly drills are being held by the Unionist troops and there are 100,000 well-drilled men who have the latest guns and an unlimited amount of ammunition. The British regular troops are on the most intimate terms with the Unionists and thousands of them will lay down their arms rather than fire on the Unionists, should they be commanded to. The situation is extremely critical."

WORKED TO THE END.

ALMOST every housewife owns some very fine laces, linens, draperies, etc., which she uses only on "state" occasions.

But no matter how carefully they are handled and put away, they generally need freshening up when they are taken from the attic trunk and almost always before they are returned to it. Yet one hesitates to wash such exquisite articles.

Use Ivory Soap and you need have no fear of washing any of them as often as necessary. It is so pure and mild that it will injure nothing that water itself will not harm. Its quality is in keeping with the choicest fabrics. That is why it washes them so safely and so beautifully.

Just Between You and Me

By BRUCE

SOME boxers are different from others—so are some frogs different from other frogs, but that has nothing to do with the present case. The boxer we will start this article with is none other than Mike Gibbons, the welterweight champion of the world and also the greatest middleweight boxer of them all. Eddie Reddy please copy.

The other evening at Superior Mike Gibbons was in the corner of brother Tommy. Thomas and "Young" Mahoney, the rising young 42-year-old plumber of Racine, were fighting. Tom hit Mahoney and on purpose.

"He is the last guy in the world that I would hit," quoth Michael. "It's a shame to hit an old guy like that If I was in the ring with him I would just tease. That's the hard part of fighting—seeing a game guy like that take 'em when they are hurting."

That's why we say and reiterate the statement that some boxers are different from others. Some boxers, if they were able, would delight in knocking the venerable onion off the venerable shoulders of "Young" Mahoney. But Mike Gibbons, a prize fighter by profession and the champion of the world, actually felt sorry for the man who was taking some cracks.

This is a funny world, according to Charles Dickens and some of the other people scattered around.

For statistics in brutality see New Haven case. Bring on your Mike Gibbons. We are for him.

The Bogus Record Guys.

SOME of the ringmen delight perniciously in flooding their records with rivers of ring doubt. When Eddie McGoorty invaded Australia he took along a record that was compiled by his manager.

This record has the names of some guys who had beaten Edward—but in the expurgated edition the manager, who possibly believed that a manager is hired to labor, had McGoorty winning over all of his opponents by the knockout route. The record came back to this country by one of the mail steamers and caused some indignation and several laughs.

In the record of John Tecumseth Tillman he is credited with a knockout over Johnny Salvatore. The pure and untainted truth of that battle is that Salvatore had Tillman on the floor for the count of nine and nearly out.

Dr. Ned McNulty of this man's bailiwick was the referee of the quarrel and he gave the contest to Tillman on a foul. At the end the German Salvatore was fresh and strong and laboriously boring in. Yet in the parlor edition ring record of Tillman the battle is down as a kayo for John. Mike McNulty please copy.

The Coming Fracas.

SOME of the industrious dopesters are industriously doping that Frankie Whitney is going to land the k. o. on Pal Brown in the coming Fourth of Glorious Independence day battle. For one—just one in the crowd—we hope that there will be some tall and exceedingly rare slugging in the approaching battle.

Whitney says he is going to beat Brown in decisive fashion by handing the range man the first knockout he has ever had. In the many battles Brown has had, there is but one time that the writer recalls that the Chisholm boy was on the edge or near edge of the sleep land.

The glorious evening that Chuck Larson fought Brown in this city, Pal came back to his corner after a bad round and his knees shook under him. Larson was a demon at getting in close and shooting short ones over. In the very next round the range boy went forth and handed out a punch that made Larson so weak that the battle was stopped.

Brown is not a boxer and we for one are convinced of the fact that he will never be one. You can't imagine French pastry at a poker party—not unless you draw funny pictures for a living. After seeing Pal Brown in some of his fights you can't reconcile him and hoxing. The poles are not the only things in the earth that are widely separated.

The Chisholm chap is a fighter and one tough youth. Once he informed us that he did not pretend to be clever. "But none of them have ever hurt me," he replied, "and I have hurt some of the rest of them."

Whitney is a slugger, if the advance notices of his ability are correct. He is coming with the professed intention of putting Brown out of the running for all time. As a matter of fact Whitney has made arrangements to remain at the Head of the Lakes and fight the best in the land. This would show that he has full and implicit confidence in his ability to beat the range fighter.

On the other hand Brown must show this time if he wants to remain a card—so that the battle should be one of the torrid ones, and one that will fill the hearts of the followers of the mitt game with unalloyed joy.

DOUGAN HURLS NO HIT GAME AGAINST FARGO.

Winnipeg, Man., June 26.—Winnipeg defeated the Fargo team last evening by the score of 6 to 0, and in accomplishing the defeat Dougan of the local team held the visitors hitless and allowed but one man to reach first base. The only runner of the visitors to reach first base and thus mar what would have been a perfect record for Dugan, reached the first sack through an error of Dougan himself. Widdell lined one to center in the first round and Calhoun made a low running catch on it. This came nearest to being a hit secured by the visitors. His double, however, in the fifth inning after two men were out, following Mayer's single and Breton's double, enabled the locals to count 2. Demmitt's catch and throw home in the ninth inning held Kavanaugh on third base and prevented the visitors scoring. Score: S. H. E.

MAY SELL ORIOLES TO RICHMOND, VA.

Baltimore, Md., June 26.—If Jack Dunn, manager of the local International league club, adheres to his previously announced intention, the offer of Richmond Va., bidders for his club may be considered next Monday. Dunn told the National baseball commission last Saturday that unless the draft was removed within ten days he would sell his club and get out of organized baseball.

A local paper last evening printed the following from Chairman Herrmann of the national commission in reply to a telegram asking what difference it would make:

"The national commission will consider the draft matters Class A clubs at its next meeting to be held in three or four weeks."

Dunn's only comment was he would take no action until Monday.

Hal Chase Enjoined.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 26.—Hal Chase was enjoined from playing ball in any Federal league city in the state yesterday. The injunction was served on the former White Sox first baseball man as he was returning to the players' bench at the end of the second inning of the game between Buffalo and Pittsburg.

Chase at once retired from the field.

SPIKE SHANNON GOES TO FEDERAL LEAGUE STAFF

Northern League Umpire, According to Burmeister, Has Signed Contract.

Rumor Says New Players Will Come to This Circuit Soon.

BY BRUCE.

When the sky is lividly lit with lightning and the elements are roaring the natural assumption of certain timid persons is that the lightning will strike home. In the matter of the Federal fuss some of us have wondered if the lightning of the Feds would strike here or hereabouts. Yesterday it did. Umpire Spike Shannon has been signed by the Feds and left last night for Chicago to join the umpiring staff of the Gilmore league, according to the report of John Burmeister.

John Burmeister was in our municipal midst yesterday. John and Spike and Harry Blume took lunch together. John and Spike were the guests of the management. The honorable Mr. Spike Shannon informed the honorable John Burmeister of the offer of the Federals. The money paid Spike in this league was in the nature of a stipend compared with the salary offered him in the third major, as some people are disposed to term the Federal circuit. While it is true that the cocktail follows the flag, it is also equally true that stalwart veterans follow the trail of the money. There was no argument that could be successfully made against the salary offering of the Federal league—and there you are—yes, and there Shannon is, or will be some time today.

The Entente Cordiale.

Back in the great and glorious days of St. Paul, Spike Shannon and Big Bill Brennan used to play football together on the same team. So did we, but that is neither here nor there. Football either makes bosom friends or deadly enemies. But Bill and Spike were on the same team. They had to live or die together. Bill Brennan, the former National league umpire—see Philadelphia decision—is now the chief of staff of the Federal league umpire list. What is more natural than he should think of his old pal, Spike, and in thinking of him devise ways and means of having Spike in the same league? We reiterate in interrogation, what could be more natural?

Tom Taylor, the former White Sox, was offered a place on the Burmeister indicator holding force and gave no definite answer. Someone would become foolish and sign to umpire. The world is a large place and many men are looking for work.

Something Going to Drop.

Yesterday a rumor escaped from its cage and howled around the baseball circles of the city. It came in a friendly manner to our door and unburdened itself—and therefore we are in duty bound to keep its confidence for a time.

In the event of the rumor coming true there will be some bolstering of the teams of the Northern league. Not that many of the teams of the Northern league need blostering, understand, but a good baseball player can always find work. Let us walk along the shaking gang plank of chatter just a foot farther and state that there may be some players on the market in the somewhat near future.

John Burmeister was in our midst yesterday, as we stated previously. He is back from a swing around the circuit. There is some pithy rumor traveling around to the effect that the interests of Brother Conrad of the Fort William club may be purchased by some of the Canadian stockholders in that organization.

Conrad's bed has not been one of roses in the new club. It is said he is not in any too good with some of those interested. Burmeister patched up some trouble on his recent trip to Fort William—but in the end the Canadian stockholders may decide to purchase the holdings of Conrad and this may separate Conrad and Northern league baseball.

League in Good Shape.

Burmeister reiterated his statement concerning the financial condition of the Northern league. The attendance over the circuit is ahead of that of last year. There is no idle or perfidious talk concerning the demise of the Northern. That chatter was canned with the reorganization of the league a year ago. It was thought that the acquisition of St. Paul and Minneapolis would strengthen the league. The coming of the Twin Cities gave the Northern prestige, and this year, despite certain predictions to the contrary, the attendance has been even better than a year ago.

Superior has several new players coming and from the statements let drop by President Burmeister yesterday, it is certain that there will be strengthening at Fort William. The race from this point on promises to be a hummer.

Should Superior and Fort William chuck up a bit, old boy, the race will be a daisy during the next two months, and it will be difficult to predict a winner.

BLUME AFTER NEW PITCHER

Before leaving yesterday afternoon for Fort William, President Harry A. Blume of the Duluth Baseball association came forth with the information that the local club officials had made a definite and lucrative offer for the services of Fred Boardman, a crack southpaw pitcher, now with the St. Paul team of the American association.

The price asked for Boardman is very high. Blume stated that he was willing to pay the ante for the remainder of the season. The Sox need a pitcher very badly just now. Blancke is the only veteran of the staff. Cunningham is a youngster and Grina is unsteady at times. Shenck is not ready for this company and Sharin is a very doubtful quality at the best. One more man is needed. The directors of the club are willing to pay for a pitcher, and if Boardman can be secured money will not block the action.

An agent of the team has been authorized to act and he is negotiating today for the release of Boardman to the White Sox. Should the Apostle be secured—and he is rated as a comer—it is possible or probable that he will join the Sox on the trip.

President Blume declared before he left for Fort William that he believed the Dooks had a chance for the flag. The securing of an additional pitcher will greatly enhance this chance.

ADMIRE INVADERS.

Henley, Eng., June 26.—The crew of the Union Boat club of Boston, which is entered for the grand challenge cup in the Henley regatta, July 1-4, rowed over the full course last evening.

The rhythmic precison of body and blade, together with particularly neat wrist work, was admired by the critics who, however, are so wedded to the English style, that they were greatly surprised when the half-way mark was reached in three minutes, thirty-one seconds. The Boston oarsmen did not particularly exert themselves.

CLARK IS A TOUGH BOXER

Tonight at Charley Koester's Arena club, Hal Clark of Milwaukee, and Kid Billings of Billings Park, will clash for the premier welterweight honors of the Northwest. It will be the first star bout of the suburban park ring entry and the result will mean much to his future ring rating.

Clark comes with the reputation of being a tough and also a hard hitter. Some hold the opinion that the Milwaukee lad is too tough game for Billings. However the kid has beaten all of the boys he has met, including bear cats of immediate neighborhood fame, Siedel and Johnny Salvatore, and he is confident of beating Clark.

The Milwaukee mauler reached the Head of the Lakes yesterday and took a light workout. Clark is some fighter as will be shown when it is stated that he gave Frankie Snyder a bad beating and also beat Len Rowlands, the chap who shaded Johnny Tillman in the fight in Milwaukee. Clark is fast and can hit, and unless Billings shows all the goods in the store and then some, he is liable to get licked.

Mike McNulty of St. Paul, the manager of Johnny Salvatore, is here today to challenge the winner for his boy. McNulty declares that Clark is one of the best welters in the West, and that if Billings wins, the victory will be a great feather in his plumage of pugilistic accomplishments.

In addition to the main card of this evening, Promoter Koester has arranged an excellent card. Young Artle of St. Paul, one of the cleverest little boxers ever seen at the Head of the Lakes, and Kid Blanche are down for ten rounds, and the mill should be a dandy. The preliminaries also give promise of bringing out some slam bang boxing. The card is one that should provide plenty of entertainment.

Hibbing, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter Brovlak, found guilty June 9 in district court of stealing $407.35 from John Knobbs at Eveleth, was sentenced by Judge Hughes yesterday afternoon to an indeterminate term in the state penitentiary at Stillwater. Brovlak met Knobbs on the street, struck up an acquaintance and the two men went to a hotel and took a room. When Knobbs woke up next morning his money and Broviak were both gone.

Judge Hughes will hear cases in chambers for a few days when the work of the Hibbing term will be finished.

SEARCHERS DISCOVER MISSING MAN'S BODY

One of Shafer Brothers Who Disappeared Near Rapids Is Dead.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mystery surrounding the strange disappearance June 14 of the two Shafer brothers from their claim north of here was partially cleared yesterday when possemen searching for them came across the body of one in the Mississippi river. No trace has been found of the other brother and it is thought that he also has met his death in the river. How the accident happened cannot be surmised, but it is thought most likely that the men attempted to cross the river on a floating log which became unmanageable in the rapids.

RAPIDS SUMMER SCHOOL.

It Will Open at High School Next Monday, June 29.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state training school for teachers will open in the high school next Monday, June 29.

The school will run four weeks and will be essentially an industrial summer school, intended to prepare the rural teachers of the county to teach all phases of industrial work. This form of summer school has been made necessary by a reason of the association of nearly all the rural schools of Itasca county under the special act of the legislature providing special industrial aid to all central schools associating rural schools for the purpose of providing industrial training in them. Districts No. 1 and 6 contemplate the association of all their rural schools and to the end that the highest degree of efficiency may result from such association the state superintendent of education has designated this summer school for Itasca county.

The following instructors have been appointed to have charge of the work: Supt. E. A. Freeman, conductor; A. M. Foker, Alexandria, manual training instructor; W. J. Corwin, Grand Rapids, agricultural instructor; Grace Norton, Grand Rapids, instructor of cooking and sewing; Gertrude Sutton of Hibbing, instructor of primary methods and reading.

Number of Virginia School Pupils Doubles in Four Years.

Virginia, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The remarkable growth of this city is reflected in the increase in the number of pupils in the local public schools, according to figures furnished by Supt. P. P. Colgrove.

In 1909 the enrollment was 1,849, while during the last term 3,485 students attended the public and night schools. Seven hundred and nineteen students attended the night school. The average monthly salary of the male teachers was $140, and that of the women instructors $82.27.

The normal training department, which was established this year, will be continued. One thousand dollars for the department will be received from the state. The manual training and domestic science departments were popular and more room is needed for the classes.

BETTER MINING DAYS PROMISED

Many Idle Mesaba Properties Expected Soon to Be Working.

Virginia, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Optimism is more apparent in Mesaba range mining circles than in weeks as the result of information coming from the East, where the headquarters of the big mining companies are located, that many of the properties that have been idle some time will resume soon and that many more ore carriers soon will be steaming down the lakes.

This prophesy is partially realized by the announcement made here that today the Hudson mine of the Pickands-Mather company at Aurora, an open pit proposition, will resume mining at once starting one shovel immediately and perhaps others soon. The Meadows mine, also at Aurora, which has about 50,000 tons in stockpile will begin olading and shipping from the stockpile Monday.

News of Shipments.

A local mining man who has just met a well known Duluth mining man, back from the east, was told that the United States Steel corporation and other big companies will soon be shipping full blast despite reports to the contrary and before the season closes the shipments of ore down the lake will be heavy.

CHISHOLM CASE IS PARTIALLY DECIDED

Village Recorder Culver Must Give Austin Access to Books.

Virginia, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Recorder Bert Culver of Chisholm must immediately grant Village Accountant Frank L. Austin, former deputy village recorder of Chisholm, access to all the books and records in the recorder's office. Judge Hughes so ordered in papers filed in the district court here today in granting the temporary writ of mandamus sought by Village Attorney Freeman of Chisholm, acting in the capacity of a taxpayer, mention of which proceedings was made in Thursday's Herald.

Judge Hughes heard the motion of Mr. Freeman at Hibbing yesterday afternoon and had his order filed here today. This partially settles the long-drawn-out row between Culver and Austin. Next Tuesday in court at Hibbing the proceedings will come before Judge Hughes on their merits.

Must Tell Combination.

The court orders Recorder Culver not only to give Austin access to all the village books, but to give him the combination to the office safe as well as keys to the office.

The allegations set forth in the petition filed by Mr. Freeman asking for the writ of mandamus are quite sensational, alleging, among other things, that Recorder Culver is not competent to hold the position to which he was elected and that the affairs of the office are in a very deplorable condition, calling for considerable work to straighten them out.

Culver and Austin have been at war ever since Culver succeeded the other recorder and this ruling is expected to bring things somewhere near an adjustment.

TWO HARBORS LOSES TWO OLD RESIDENTS

Mrs. George Spurbeck and John Anderson Hear Final Call.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Death invaded two homes here yesterday and in each instance called an old and well known citizen. Mrs. George Spurbeck, an old and esteemed resident, died at her home last night at 9:10 o'clock following an illness of nearly two years, aged 56. Death was due to heart failure, and although she had been sick for a long period, death was not expected so soon. She sank rapidly during the day and it was evident that the end was not far. Her two sons and one children, Dr. Roy Spurbeck, who was at Proctor, and Dr. Lee Spurbeck of Biwabik were summoned home and were at her bedside when the end came. A brother, Cowan Orman of Knife River, was also present.

Mrs. Spurbeck was a beloved and respected resident of this city, having lived here for twenty-three years with her husband, a contractor, and family. She was an active member of the First Methodist church. She was also a member of the Lady Maccabees and the Eastern Star. The funeral will be held at 3:15 p. m. Saturday from the M. E. church and the body will be taken on the Iron Range train leaving at 4:35 p. m. to Mantorville, the former home, for interment.

Victim of Cancer.

John W. Anderson, an old resident of the city, died yesterday at his home after a long lingering illness. He was 51 years of age. He was born in Sweden and came to America early in life and settled in Marquette, Mich. He came to Two Harbors nearly twenty years ago and made this city his home ever since. The cause of his death was cancer of the stomach. Mr. Anderson was taken ill in November, 1912, following a fall off a scaffold while he was at work as a carpenter on a school house at Section Thirty, Minn. He was quite seriously injured, but had not stomach trouble set in he would have recovered long ago. Mr. Anderson leaves a wife and six children. The children are: Hildur, LaVerna, William, Esther, Nellie and Albert. Deceased also leaves a sister, who lives in Milwaukee and an aged mother who resides in Sweden.

Mr. Anderson had been in the employ of the Iron Range road here for eighteen years. He resigned his work with the company two years ago and entered the employ of various contractors. He was an active member of the Swedish Lutheran church at which place the funeral will be held Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Nelenius will officiate and interment will be made in the Two Harbors' cemetery.

This is the second death in the Anderson home in two weeks. Two weeks ago the aged mother of Mrs. Anderson died.

PUT SULPHUR ON AN ITCHING SKIN AND END ECZEMA

Says This Old-Time Eczema Remedy Is Applied Like Cold Cream.

Any irritation or breaking out on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching, or when the skin is dry and feverish, can be readily overcome by applying a little bold-sulphur cream, says a noted dermatologist.

He states that bold-sulphur instantly allays the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the Eczema right up,leaving the skin clear and smooth. Bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its parasite-destroying property. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in treating the irritable and inflammatory skin affections. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to subdue the itching irritation and drive the Eczema away and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain at any pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cold cream.

FIGHTING DISEASE GERMS

There is a popular idea that most sickness is caused by a germ of the disease finding entrance to our bodies through the food we eat, the water or milk we drink or the air we breathe. This is true as far as it goes but it is also true that disease germs are entering our bodies every day without causing disease.

The reason for this is that there are forces within the body that are constantly fighting these disease germs and it is only when this defence is weakened that the germs get the upper hand and we become ill. One of the most powerful of these forces that work for health is rich, red blood. Good, healthy blood increases the resistance of the body to the diseases that are always threatening. It is easier to keep up this resistance by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, eating proper food, avoiding articles of food that do not agree with us and getting plenty of fresh air day and night, than it is to cure disease after it gets a foothold. Keep up the resistance of your body to disease by these tonic pills, which you can get at any drug store, and you will avoid much sickness.

Two booklets, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

COFFEE CONSUMED IN 1913

Would Fill Seven-inch Cylinder Higher Than the Moon.

During the year 1913 the United States imported 852,529,498 pounds of coffee, having an entry value of nearly $105,000,000. To the average reader this may not appear very startling, but a little calculation will bring to mind the significance of these figures. One pound of finely ground coffee will make no less than three gallons of a reasonably strong beverage. Our 1913 imports therefore made at least 2,557,500,000 gallons. A standard gallon contains 231 cubic inches, or, putting it a little differently, would fill a cylindrical coffee pot 7 inches in diameter and 6 inches high. The coffee imported in 1913 would therefore fill a cylinder 7 inches in diameter and 242,188 miles high. Could such a cylinder be erected it would be necessary to take care not to build it in the direction of the moon's orbit around the earth, for that satellite's average distance from our planet being but 238,850 miles, it might knock off from the top of our extended coffee pot some 3,338 miles. Were the cylinder flexible and the base well anchored however, it might topple over and wrap itself nearly ten times around the earth at the equator. All of which is mentioned merely to show that we drink some coffee in this country.

Over two-thirds of the coffee consumed in the United States comes from Brazil. Our imports from that country in 1913 amounted to something over 625,000,000 pounds, having a valte at the ports of entry of $73,650,430. It is no doubt owing to this fact that the Pan American Union, Washington, D. C., publishes in its latest descriptive pamphlet on Brazil an interesting sketch of coffee and its cultivation. In this account it is stated that coffee derives its name from the city of Kaffa in Abyssinia, in which country it is believed that the coffee tree originated. Its botanical name is Coffea Arabica, because it was first cultivated in Arabia and exploited in its present-day use. A natural coffee plant grows into a tree 14 to 18 feet high, having a long and slender trunk without limbs on the lower part. The plant has numerous thin roots growing deep into the earth, and one central or tap root going straight down and almost as long as the tree is high. When cultivated, however, the plant is generally not allowed to grow beyond 6 feet in poor and 8 feet in rich soil, in order to facilitate its cultivation and the gathering of the crop.

Healthy coffee trees produce in the axilla of each leaf from 12 to 16 buds, which in flowering have an exquisite perfume. These flowers become dark and wither and fall off in two or three days, leaving groups of seeds on the small stems. These in turn grow into the coffee berries which closely resemble dark red cherries. Each berry contains two seeds, growing face to face, and these are the coffee beans of commerce.

The plant flourishes best in well-watered regions, in a sub-tropical climate at an elevation of 1,500 to 5,000 feet, and in a rich soil. All these elements are found to perfection in Brazil, especially in the four states of Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Espirito Santo, and Minas Geraes, whose combined areas cover about one-eighth of the vast domain of the republic. This section produces about four-fifths of the world's supply of coffee.

The practice of coffee drinking encountered for a long time the opposition of sovereigns and strait-laced society, partly on political, partly on religious grounds, but in spite of that it made its way slowly across the Old World from Arabia, through Asia Minor, Northern Africa, and Turkey. The first coffee house was opened in London in 1652, and about the same time Paris took up the habit. The first coffee grown in Europe was the result of experiments by French and Dutch botanists. The Dutch introduced it into Java, while the French brought it into the West Indies. A Portuguese, Joao Alberto Castello Branco, is said to have planted the first coffee tree in Rio de Janeiro in 1760, and from this small beginning has developed the greatest industry of the country—for Brazil, thanks to climate, soil, and similar factors, has become the greatest coffee producer of the world.

JUST A CALENDAR.

Chicago News: Mrs. Brown from Boston has a colored cook—from Georgia. The other day Mrs. Brown went into the kitchen, and Liza put in a request:

"Yas'm, I does. But I mean a calendar what you presses things through. Dat's de kind ob calendar I wants."

Mrs. Brown had a glimmer.

"Oh, Liza, you mean a colander!" she exclaimed.

"Well, it's de same thing,' said Liza, patiently. "You uses de broad 'a,' but I doesn't. I just says plain calendar."

THE DULUTH REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

FIGHT FOR LOWER RATES

Local Firms Appear Against Railroads Before I. C. C. Examiner.

Would Put Duluth on Footing With Other Large Cities.

For a second time this week the interstate commerce commission is today conducting hearings in Federal court instituted by local concerns asking for reductions in freight rates and for reparation as a result of overcharges made by the carriers.

E. B. Henderson of Washington, examiner for the commission, is conducting the hearing today and he will leave this evening for the national capital to present the evidence to the commissioners early next week.

The first case heard this morning was that of the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company of Duluth against the following railroads: Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, St. Joseph & Central Illinois, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Great Northern, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie. The local concern asks for a reduction on freight rates for the shipment of apples from Kansas and Missouri to Duluth and Ashland. The rates now in force, the complainant alleges, are unreasonable when compared with the rates charged to St. Paul and Chicago.

The Bradley Timber company of this city asks for a reparation of $3.98 from the Minnesota & International, Northern Pacific and Chicago-Great Western railroads for an alleged overcharge on a shipment of lumber from Gemmell, Minn., to Bedford, Ohio. A reduction of 1 cent per 100 pounds in the rate is also asked.

The Duplex Manufacturing company of Superior asks the commission for a reduction of rates on the shipment of windmills and towers and cites an alleged overcharge made by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in taking a load of towers from Superior to Washington, Iowa, in June, 1913. The local concern claims an alleged overcharge of 5 cents per 100 pounds and also asks the commission for indemnity.

PROPER CARVING SAVES MONEY IN THE HOME.

A Piece of Meat Will Last a Day Longer If the Carver Understands All the Niceties of His Art.

London Answers: Many people can cut pieces off a joint. Few can really carve. Yet a skillful carver in an ordinary household of five or six persons will save $25 a year, if not more!

Are you skeptical? Then work it out. He will save quite three ounces a day—allowing but one main "meat" meal—or one pound five ounces in the week.

Joints which should last four days, in this sequence—hot, cold—or rewarmed—cold, hashed—or minced—are done for in three, when a "cutter" has mauled them.

A carver will leave a joint perfectly presentable to the end. That's the art of carving. A mere cutter makes a joint unpresentable long before the end.

An Economy of the Home.

Every housewife knows that if the "hash" stage of a joint is reached, or forced, a day earlier than it should be, there is a loss exactly equal to the value of what the family will eat from a new joint. And hashes and stews are not really economical at all. They are concessions either to the appetite, being more tasty than cold meat, or to the mutilated and unpresentable joint, which will only yield pieces, not slices.

For economy, the hash stage in a joint's life should be postponed as late as possible. A really good carver will cut to the very bone of the cold joint, and there will be no hash, which is the truest economy.

Here are some hints which will help, although skill in the actual wielding of the carving knife can only come from practice, watching an expert, or taking lessons.

You must possess a good knife, and you must know how to sharpen it.

The dish should always be much larger than the joint, and you should get it as near you as possible.

The Way to Handle Mutton.

A leg of mutton should be cut across the center—cutting the meat in slices of medium thickness, served from the knuckle side, this being the part which is generally well done. If the joint is to be rewarmed the thick and underdone portion is thus left, which is what "rewarming" requires.

A shoulder of mutton is best turned with the under or "oyster" side uppermost, and slices carved right across. This leaves the upper part untouched for the first "cold" appearance.

If this is not desired, then place the point of the shoulder towards you, cut right through to the bone, and carve, remembering to serve the fat with the lean.

A sirloin of beef, with undercut, is placed on the dish with the latter underneath. Cut thin slices from the upper part nearest you—beef is cut thinner than mutton, and pork thicker than either—then turn the joint over, and carve the undercut across the grain, serving a portion of each.

Some carvers now cut the upper part crossways, too. It is easier carving. To keep this joint "as new" for its return to table "cold," the undercut alone should be cut at first.

Lines in the Loin.

A round of beef is first trimmed straight and then in thin slices right across, being careful not to let your knife "dip."

Loins, of all sorts, should be well jointed before cooking, and then all that is required is the separation of the chops by following the line of the bone. Search for the joints with the point of your knife and don't get flurried.

The methods of carving other joints are well known, and need no description. The essential points are: Carve so that nothing is wasted. Be even handed in your distribution of the good cuts and the bad, the fat and the lean.

Use up a joint as you go along. Don't be tempted—as in a shoulder of mutton—to "pass it along." Carve clean to the bone, and leave it bare. Keep the joint presentable for subsequent appearances.

Exercise carving strategy so that right to the end there are slices to carve, and not unappetizing "pieces" to cut off.

COULDN'T WAIT.

Judge: Little Jasper Senter learned from the minister's sermon one Sunday that man was made of clay, so after returning from church he resolved to make him a man after his own fashion. The work proceeded in the clay bank back of the garden until his mother called Jasper to luncheon. He had completed all of the man save one leg.

That afternoon Jasper and his mother, while walking along the street, met a man with one leg, walking with crutches. Jasper accosted him and grabbed his coat.

"See here!" he said. "I thought I told you to stay there in the yard till I put that other leg on you."

BAD RECORD GIVEN BANK

Lorimer Institution Declared Shaky Three Years Ago.

Interest Due Chicago Has Vanished—Irregularities Charged.

Chicago, June 26.—The La Salle Street National bank, predecessor of the recently defunct La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank, controlled by William Lorimer and C. B. Munday, was in a shaky condition three years ago, according to a report today made public by James H. Wilkerson, United States district attorney.

The report was that of a committee appointed by the Chicago Clearing House association in February, 1911, acting on an application of the bank for admission to the association. The application was refused because of many alleged dangerous practices and alleged unethical banking.

Reforms Recommended.

The committee requested the directors of the bank to replace huge sums in doubtful collateral with quick assets, and to cease the practice of loaning money to Lorimer and Munday and enterprises in which they were interested, as preliminaries to another application to become a member of the clearing house association.

Mr. Wilkerson said the directors took no such action, and a year later surrendered their national charter, and under a state charter became the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank.

The committee asked the bank to cease purchasing securities at a discount and listing them at par on its books, and to stop listing as assets such items as furniture and fixtures properly belonging to expense.

Judge Landis today appointed the Central Trust company ancillary receiver for the Lorimer & Gallagher company of East St. Louis, Ill.

Interest Has Vanished.

Efforts to trace the interest paid on city deposits of more than a million dollars in the bank thus far have failed. The receiver, William C. Niblack, discovered that while the bank paid 3 per cent interest on these deposits, checks were made separately, one for 2¼ per cent and the other for ¾ of 1 per cent.

State and county authorities are investigating allegations that "inside" depositors were warned to withdraw their deposits before the failure of the state bank; that favored friends of Lorimer and Munday were favored with important loans on their personal notes and L. O. U.'s, and that deposits were received after officers of the bank knew it to be insolvent.

The Illinois State bank, which closed yesterday, sued the La Salle bank for $118,000 deposits.

Special Grand Jury.

A special grand jury will be called to investigate the affairs of the La Salle Street bank, according to an announcement by Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney after a long conference with Mrs. Marie Kuhns. Mrs. Kuhns has a suit pending charging State Auditor Brady with breach of promise in failing to remarry her in Illinois after the expiration of a year from her divorce.

"Mrs. Kuhns has made serious charges concerning the methods and actions of several employes of the bank as well as certain public officials," said Mr. Hoyne.

The state's attorney also declared Mrs. Kuhns had told him of padded pay rolls and abuses in the offices of state auditor.

Alleged Irregularity.

Mrs. Kuhns told the state's attorney that Frederick Porter, former chief clerk in the ofice of the state auditor, had resigned when his chief insisted that he issue a certificate of incorporation to the Ashland-Twelfth Street bank when the clerk had reported the securities insufficient. The bank was one of the Lorimer-Munday chain, and was closed by the bank examiner later.

Warned City Treasurer.

Mayor Harrison declared that he had been notified by James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank, three weeks before the La Salle Street bank closed, that it was in an extremely hazardous condition, and that he had warned the city treasurer. At the time of closing the city's deposit in the La Salle Street bank was near the limit allowed by law to be deposited in any bank.

PHILADELPHIANS KILLED BY HEAT

Eight Succumb There and Three in St. Louis, Mo.

Philadelphia, June 26.—Eight persons, including an electric light lineman who was overcome while working on a pole fifty feet in the air, met their death from the oppressive heat here yesterday. One woman died while worshipping in a synagogue. The maximum temperature was 94, while the percentage of humidity ranged from 51 to 75 per cent.

Deaths in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., June 26.—Three deaths caused by the heat were reported to the police here yesterday, and one man was injured seriously in the explosion of an oil tank said to have been caused by the intense rays of the sun. The maximum official temperature here was 98.

Atlanta Record Broken.

Atlanta, Ga., June 26.—All high temperature records were broken here late yesterday when the government thermometer registered 100.1 deg.

Since the sixteenth century 376 comets have been discovered, of which 106 were periodic, nineteen have been seen at more than one return, fifty-six have been visible to the naked eye, and seven have been visible in full daylight.

CLUB ASKS EARLY SUBWAY ACTION

Will Hold Meeting and Urge City to Push the Work.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club, at its meeting tonight, will urge a movement to have the city do something at once relative to pushing construction of subways under some of the West Duluth railroad tracks. These subways are the one at Smithville under the Northern Pacific railroad, under the Duluth, Missabe & Northern at Highland street, and under the Canadian Northern at Sixtieth avenue. The latter is for the purpose of putting a sidewalk under the railroad.

It is said that if the Northern Pacific does not begin building the proposed subway at Smithville that the paving of the thoroughfare to New Duluth may be indefinitely postponed and that it may be more than a year before the street railway line could be extended. The subway is said to be necessary in order to provide a safe crossing for the highway.

The Highland street subway crossing is urged also. The county will, within a short time, have completed its road into the city, and the only remaining link to complete the entire roadway is that of the needed subway. The bridge over Keene's creek is now being built under a contract let by the county commissioners.

The subway on Sixtieth avenue west, under the Canadian Northern railroad, is said to be a necessity owing to the large number of children who use this crossing in going to and from the Longfellow school. Members of the club say that it should be completed before the opening of school this fall.

WANT MEMBER OF SCHOOL BOARD

Efforts May Be Made to Have Dr. Seashore Serve Again.

An indorsement of a West Duluth resident for member of the school board will undoubtedly be given this evening at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. The matter will be taken up as a special order of business of the club.

The term of Dr. D. E. Seashore, who was appointed to the board last fall will expire. It is probable that the club will indorse him for a full three-year term on the board. The club will probably also indorse the selection of Dr. L. Q. Greeley, whose candidacy the West end business men recently indorsed.

Residents of the western end of the city hope to elect two of the four members to be chosen this year. Three of the four members will be elected for a term of three years and one member will be elected for one year. At present the western end of the city has only two members on the board one of these being Dr. Seashore, whose term expires.

"Birthday" Social.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, is planning to entertain at a "birthday" social in the church parlors on July 10. The proceeds will be used for the building fund.

An extensive improvement in the shape of a basement to the church is being built. The cost of the work will amount to about $1,800. The basement will be used for club rooms for various societies, Sunday school rooms, etc. The rapid growth of the Sunday school during the last year has made it necessary to make this improvement.

CHILDREN ARE STEALING FLOWERS.

The love of flowers is apt to get some children "in bad" with the police. During the last two days the police have received a number of complaints from residents on Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth avenues, stating that children are stealing flowers from their gardens and asking the assistance of the police in checking the thefts.

At the home of William Towner, 414 North Fifty-ninth avenue, two beds of peonies were entirely stripped of the flowers. Other residents have made similar complaints.

"WATERING" WAS ILLEGAL

Secret Agreement on Promoter's Stock Cannot Be Enforced.

Judge Cant's Decision in Piano Contract Company Case Upheld.

A secret agreement which Joseph De La Motte, an attorney, and Frank M. Kreidler, as promoter of the Northwestern Clearance company, an organization formed for dealing in piano contracts and other accounts, entered into for the purpose of inducing the directors to issue certain stock, subsequently to be divided between them, was fradulent, illegal and void and so far as De La Motte is concerned is unenforceable either against Kreidler or the corporation, according to a decision handed down by the Minnesota supreme court today.

In considering an appeal from the entry of judgment against De La Motte in the district court, the higher tribunal ordered that the judgment be affirmed. The suit was one which De La Motte brought against the company and Kreidler to enforce the transfer to himself of certain stock which he claimed was due him under an agreement with Kreidler, a fellow director in the company.

The company was organized in 1911 with a capital stock of $50,000 divided into 500 shares at $100 each. The directors were Frank M. Kreidler, J. De La Motte, V. V. Willey, W. W. Huntley and M. E. Penrod.

Shortly before October, 1911, the month in which the directors held a meeting, Kreidler and De La Motte, without apprising the other directors, entered into an agreement whereby De La Motte was to help Kreidler secure a donation from the company of eighty-four shares of stock in consideration of his (Kreidler's) services as promoter. Under the agreement, De La Motte was to get half later.

Testimony at the trial of the case showed that De La Motte had appeared at the meeting and spoke in favor of the donation. The proposition was voted through. Only thirty-five of the eighty-four shares were turned over at the time. The secret arrangement between Kreidler and De La Motte leaked out and the corporation refused to transfer the remainder of the stock, forty-nine shares.

Judge Cant of the trial court held that De La Motte not only had no right to any part of the forty-nine shares, but that he should be required to turn back to the company fifteen shares which he had already secured from Kreidler. Judge Cant held that it was the duty of De La Motte as legal advisor of the company to protect the interests of the corporation and keep the donation of the stock at a low point. The higher court held that the secret agreement was a "violation of the duty they owed to their associate promoters and the corporation."

TEACH SEX HYGIENE IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Plan Is Approved in Report at Chicago Convention.

Chicago, June 26.—The teaching of sex hygiene in Sunday schools was approved today in the report to the convention of the International Sunday school association by E. K. Mohr, superintendent of the Purity department.

"We recognize that the home is the ideal place for purity teaching," said Mr. Mohr, "but to entrust our youth under present conditions to an uncultured parental instinct is to invite ruin. There is much to be done that the home can not do."

The convention today adopted a recommendations of the executive committee making its meetings quadriennial instead of triennial, so that the next meeting will be held in New York in 1918.

CONCRETE PAVING STANDS ALL TESTS

Endurance and Low Cost Makes It Ideal, Says Expert.

J. H. Chubb, concrete expert, who delivered a lecture before the Duluth Builders' Exchange last evening, declared today that cities which have laid concrete pavements are coming to regard them as the best all around material for street improvements.

He said that their wearing qualities, combined with their low cost, make concrete pavements the ideal material for general city use. He asserted that with good ingredients and proper inspection there is no reason why citizens should not get a big return for the money spent. He held that concrete pavements rightly laid will stand up under constant heavy traffic and will not deteriorate as rapidly as the others.

Mr. Chubb complimented the city upon the job which it is doing on Lake avenue, which is being paved with concrete from the canal to Twelfth street. The work is being done by day labor under the direction of Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division. He said that the job is being done as it should be and that there is no question but what it will prove highly satisfactory.

He mentioned that Sioux City, Ia., has already laid twenty-one miles of concrete pavement and that the city is putting down ten more miles of it this year. He said that other cities have experimented with it and have found it better suited to their purposes than any other paving.

THE PASSING OF BLUEPRINTS.

Engineering and Mining Journal: The photostat is a new apparatus for reproduction drawings, documents, etc. At the Alaska-Treadwell mines this instrument is used for a great variety of purposes. All progress maps, new work, etc., are laid out either in pencil or in ink and photostat copies are given to the underground foremen and shift bosses. The same thing is done with regard to stope maps, position of pillars, etc. The use of blueprints in the machine shop, foundry and other construction departments has practically been discontinued, photostat copies having been substituted, with the exception of where large scale drawings are required. In the office, all deeds, leases, etc., are copied as soon as they arrive and the photostat copy is sent to the San Francisco office for filing. This has the advantage of giving an exact copy of the original, with all changes, mistakes, etc., faithfully reproduced.

ONE CAPTURED THREE.

Youth's Companion: An Irish soldier who had, single handed, captured two of the enemy, explained his feat by saying, "Begorra, I surrounded them." The explanation would almost describe an exploit of a young Confederate soldier in one of the Virginia campaigns.

He was on picket duty between the lines of the two armies and was told to keep concealed among the bushes, and if possible determine the position of some rifle pits from which sharpshooters were firing upon the Confederate outposts. Keeping himself hidden as well as he could, he cautiously advanced toward the spot where he supposed the pits to be. He then threw himself on the ground and began to watch.

After a vigil of ten minutes, he saw the head and shoulders of a Union soldier rise up, apparently out of the ground, not more than thirty yards in front of his position. The man gazed about for a few moments, and then disappeared into the pit.

Alarmed at the nearness of the enemy, but desirous of procuring all the information he could before returning to camp, the Confederate soldier lay perfectly still and watched. Three times he saw the Federal soldier rise, look toward the Conferate army and then disappear. At last he made up his mind to charge the pit and capture the lone occupant. So he seized his rifle and silently crossed the intervening space. One look into the pit so unnerved him that he was on the point of dropping his gun and making a run for the nearest cover. Instead of one sentry, he found that he had charged a pit that contained three men, each armed with a rifle. The Federal soldiers, however, were equally astonished.

The Confederate suddenly saw that he had the advantage, for he had his gun actually presented, while the guns of the others wre lying on the ground beside them. So he exclaimed, "Throw up your hands at once, or I will kill the last one of you!" Without stopping to argue the impossibility of his accomplishing such a result with a single shot the Federal soldiers promptly put up their hands. The captor then ordered one of the prisoners to toss the guns out of the pit. At the same time he called out, "Come on boys! I've got three of them in here!"

Thinking that they were beset by overwhelming numbers, the Federals sullenly passed out the guns and were then ordered to come out of the pit and fall in line, single file. Fifteen minutes later a Confederate captain was saluted by a private of his company, who reported that he had captured three of the enemy in a rifle pit between the lines of the two armies and requested that a detail of soldiers be sent to bring in three rifles that would be found lying on the ground beside the pit.

WHAT THEY ALL FINALLY SAY.

Popular Magazine: Lieut. John H. Towers of the United States navy is the man who miraculously escaped death last summer when he fell 1,000 feet with an aeroplane into the waters of Chesapeake bay. He is also the man who played the part of ardent young lover in the moving pictures produced by the navy department some time ago—pictures for which $20,000 worth of powder was used and seven warships employed in a great battle scene.

In the picture the young hero, the naval officer, comes upon the scene to bid a tragic farewell to his lovely sweetheart. His lips move slowly and with effort. The girl looks up at him in sadness. It is easy to imagine what tender words fall from his lips.

According to those who saw the pictures made, what he actually did say at this juncture was:

"Let's hurry and get this over, and go out for something to eat. I'm starved."

CARELESS WITH MONEY

John McAlpine Would Owe His Bank $60,000 at Times.

Borrowed Big Sums But Carried Small Balance, Says Banker.

John McAlpine, whose death by shooting ten months ago caused a profound sensation in this part of the state, was not a careful man in his business affairs, according to Charles N. Gillett, vice-president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who made a deposition in Chicago last Monday to be used at the trial of actions which Sarah McAlpine, widow of the well known lumberman, has against three accident insurance companies. The deposition has been filed with the clerk of the district court.

[illegible] was taken before a notary public and will be used at the trial of the actions against the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York, the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company of Los Angeles, and the London Guaranty & Accident company Ltd. The New York company is being sued on a $50,000 policy, the Los Angeles company on one for $15,000, and the London company on a $24,000 policy.

A. E. McManus, attorney for Mrs. McAlpine, appeared for the plaintiff and Theodore Hollister of this city represented the insurance companies.

Mr. Gillett's testimony will be used by the attorneys for the insurance company as a part of the defense.

Had Several Loans.

In his deposition, Mr. Gillett stated among other things that he had had dealings with John McAlpine for a number of years and that the latter had secured various loans and different times from his bank. The largest loan, he stated, was made to McAlpine in 1906 and was for $65,000 or $70,000. At the time of his death, he owed the bank $30,625.

Mr. Gillett testified that at no times were the loans secured by collateral and that he simply accepted Mr. McAlpine's personal note. He stated, however, that Mr. McAlpine presented him with credit statements on two occasions.

The last credit statement submitted to the Chicago bank according to Mr. Gillett was dated Jan. 1, 1910. It showed his assets as being $1,545,000 and liabilities $268,744. The assets, mostly all in timber lands, were itemized as follows:

California	$890,000
Idaho	50,000
Washington and Oregon	75,000
British Columbia	150,000
Minnesota	345,000

"You always supposed his property was clear from encumbrance?" Attorney Hollister asked the witness.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"And you were never advised as to the contrary?"

"No sir."

When Attorney McManus cross-examined Mr. Gillett, he asked him if there was ever anything unpleasant in the relationship between the bank and Mr. McAlpine in a business way."

Was Careless.

"Nothing except in a general way," testified the witness. "He was a careless man in handling his affairs. We discovered that as we went along in business with him. We would write him letters which he would not answer for a week or two, and he would have a note due that he would let go past due for a week or two; things of that kind which are annoying in a bank."

"Bankers do not like that?"

"We don't like that, and there are many other things; he kept a very small balance. He was simply careless with his account in the bank; he would have $100 on the books and owe us $60,000, and that looks very bad. We have written him along that line, asking him to improve his balances, but nothing perturbed or excited the man, that I know of."

Attorney Hollister then inquired:

"If the man was really bankrupt, and the fact was likely to be discovered at any time, what would you say as to whether it would be liable to excite him more or less, any man?"

"I presume it would, naturally."

The witness stated in his deposition that at the time of his death, Mr. McAlpine had a balance in the Chicago bank of $67.40.

It is expected that the case will be brought on for trial in the district court at this term of court.

NORTON WINNER IN NORTH DAKOTA VOTE

Steen Beats Tharalson for State Treasurer Nomination.

Dickinson, N. D., June 26.—P. D. Norton has been nominated as Republican candidate for congress from the Third district to succeed himself by over 2,000 majority over Leslie Simpson, on complete returns received today. Simpson carried only three counties in the district, though the count in many was close.

Congressman George Young has 4,000 majority over W. P. Tuttle in the Second district.

Governor L. B. Hanna's majority over U. L. Burdick, the next candidate, will be 5,000 and United States Senator Gronna's majority will be at least 15,000.

Today's additional returns put Thomas Tharalson off the Republican ticket as a candidate for state treasurer, John Steen being nominated instead.

WHY HE CHUCKLED

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The elderly stout man in the fourth row was attentively following the pastor's sermon.

"Let us then," said the exhorter, "break the bonds of custom and throw off the schackles of self, and acknowledge our debt to life's fundamental lessons. Let us deduct from one year's balance sheet those obligations which are morally bound to assume."

At this point the stout man suddenly chuckled and slapped his leg with considerable force.

After the sermon he was overtaken by the pastor.

"You seemed greatly pleased with one section of the sermon," he said.

"Yes," replied the stout man. "What you said reminded me of a ripping new scheme for beating the income tax."

RAISED THE LIMIT.

Lippincott's: He was a stranger in the town, ad arrived on a late train. The cigar stand in the little hotel was locked for the night, so he went out on the street, where he found an idler leaning against a post.

"Can you tell me," asked the stranger, "where I can get a cigar in this town at this time of night?"

"Why, sure!" exclaimed the citizen, straightening up. "I know where you can get two cigars!"

Liverpool street cars last year carried 144,085,927 passengers.

THIS WOMAN WOULD HAVE ALL FAMILIES EAT IN RESTAURANTS

Miss Susannah Usher, who last year conducted a widely noted course in marketing at the New York Teachers' college, has some radical ideas on wholesale housekeeping. One of her theories is that cooking can be done successfully, attractively and economically by wholesale, and that meals for the home should be prepared outside just as one send the wash to a laundry. She recently outlined her plans for this method of providing food for the home for Edward Marshall of the New York Times.

"A thousand times, and probably one thousand years ago, it has been demonstrated that food can be as well or better prepared in large as in small quantities, but the prejudice in favor of 'home cooking' persists, ruling this and other lands with a despotism often characterized by dyspeptic details and always marked by waste—of money, of food values, and, worst of all, of women's time—so great that it has been and is a handicap upon the race.

"Those who have principally objected to the prospect of the coming order have based their most serious objections upon the dire results which they declare are certain to be felt by family life—by the 'family unit'—as the result of the removal of cooking from the home.

Doesn't Injure the Family.

"Just why this should thus affect new families who may take it up in future under the best conditions, when it has never so affected the many thousands of families who have taken it up in recent decades under imperfect conditions, is difficult to understand.

"The pessimistic view has little effect behind it, I am certain. If there has been any threat against the family unit it has come rather from the impossibility of adapting the old plan to modern conditions of city life than from the substitution for it of a new, intelligent plan.

"Agencies are working, with really great rapidity, toward this very much-to-be-desired end of wholesale housekeeping, which will be economical, comfortable and efficient, although some of them are indirect.

"There has been a notable difference between the work which I have carried on in the course of my investigations and the work which has been credited to economists. The economist works forward from the producer. It has seemed better form, in my investigations, to work back from the consumer. That is why I really begin with wholesale housekeeping.

Washing Is Done By Wholesale.

"What a bugaboo the world has made of it. To me it does not seem a prime necessity to the preservation of the family unit, to the welfare of the nation, that washing should be done at home, making the housewife querulous and weary, if she be not prosperous and have laundresses at her command; making the household querulous and nervous through her influence upon it, making the house itself uncomfortable to live in because of penetrating steams and odors.

"Imagine the terrifically disintegrating influence which has come out of the habit, already general, at least in the city, of having family washing done at a public laundry! I cannot believe that it has taken many cases of divorce courts or wrecked the upbringing of many children.

"Yet I readily imagine that it must have kept a case or two out of the courts which might have gone there had the housewife been obliged to overstrain, either herself at the tubs, or in searching for, managing and enduring washwoman in her own kitchen.

"And if the laundry cleansed, starched and ironed dress, shirt or stocking has not wrecked the sacred integrity of the American home, why should we be so fearful that the restaurant cooked chop or steak or cabbage head will destroy it?

"What is home, anyhow? Is it a mansion or a cottage? Is it a club or a flat? Is it a hotel or a hovel? All of these may be the residences of human beings, each comfortable after its own kind and in its own degree, and still not be a home; while any of them may be a home.

Cook Stoves Will Be Unnecessary.

"Isn't home the place where one finds greatest comfort and most congenial companionship? If the washboiler has proved unnecessary to these great desiderata, is it not reasonable to believe that the cook stove also may be looked upon as nonessential?

"It can imagine that the presence of the frying onion in the kitchen may have driven men from home to the clubs. I cannot imagine that its absence ever wrecked domestic happiness.

"The revolution which will wipe out the old home of the onion and the wash boiler, the old home of the overworked woman, exhausted by the inefficiency of her surroundings, her training and her traditions, and replace it with the new home, for which things which may be done wholesale by wholesaler doers, economically, perfectly, promptly, will not be destructive of anything worth having.

"In the old days a good cook was a county wonder. Her fame spread far and wide. Her productions were the envy of the women and the men's heart-breakers at the fairs. She was a personage.

"Was that because in those days of individual home cooking, which is so loudly lauded, there were many fine home cooks? Is it not a certainty that it rather was because there were so few?

"And the best of them could not approach in her best moments with her best material the best which is turned out today by wholesale cookery—turned out with never a failure due to imperfections of materials, bad chimneys, ill-temper or even ill-health of the individual.

"No; the individual cook cannot compete with wholesale cookery, and society in general acknowledges it. And for this there are at least three reasons. Palatable and attractive dishes are usually digestible.

There Will Be Less Waste.

"This has been proved scientifically by both American and foreign psychologists and physiologists—both palatability and eye attractiveness in food assist the flow of gastric juices in the human being who sits down at table. That will be one advantage of the new housekeeping.

"The second will be that with scientific cooking there is sure to be less waste—far less. Public institutions feed one group of twenty with the materials which would be required in four private families to feed four groups of three, or twelve in all.

"This statement is not speculation, it is fact. And the food the group of twenty gets is almost certain to be better than the food the various family groups get, because it is prepared with more or less science.

"Are the family groups, with their inferior food, getting, through the fact that it is cooked in their own kitchens (and is smelling up their dining rooms), some subtle influence which will steadfastly preserve their social entity, which will protect them against the inroads of wastefulness and dyspepsia's assaults?

"Why, the waste in many individual kitchens would buy season tickets to the opera for all the members of the family who care for music and leave something over for the others.

"Extraordinary work is being done in Boston by a string of restaurants established upon purely scientific lines and catering especially to family trade. They are tempting families to eat in restaurants, but is that breaking up the families?

"Not so definitely, I ween, as soggy biscuits and burned steak might break them up.

Guardian of Garbage Pail.

"And, note this fact: One of the highest paid assistants in this string of restaurants is the guardian of the garbage pail. There is very little waste. How often is there any one who guards the family garbage pail? A full garbage pail has often meant the ruin of a pocketbook, while the ruin of a pocketbook has often meant home wreck.

"There are a thousand reasons why cookery by wholesale is the better and the cheaper cookery. It develops experts and the expert is intelligent or his job or hers is lost. Intelligence in all the processes means an accurate conception of the co-relations of the phases."

GATES LIKED TO GAMBLE.

American Magazine: "The class of professionals are scarcely more interesting than the habitual players. There are 'fiends' who gamble at certain games with their own money. The late John W. Gates was one of them. Gates gambled at every opportunity, on anything and on everything. I have seen him at the traps at a shooting match, betting on every shot and matching dollars between shots merely to keep up interest. He cared nothing for the money, but loved the excitement. They tell an excellent story of Gates down at Memphis. Memphis is a great poker town, and probably no place in America has so many standard-gauge poker players as the Chickasaw Guards club boasts. They love poker. Gates was in Memphis and a crowd of good players desired to entertain him, so they made up a roll of money and went to invite him to play. He protested that he would be delighted to play except for the fact that he was compelled to catch a train in an hour.

"'We'll make it an object, Mr. Gates,' suggested one of the entertainment committee. 'We have about $35,000 you can win by staying over tonight.'

"'I'm sorry, gentlemen,' said Mr. Gates, 'I can't stay; but I'll tell you what I'll do, I'll match you heads or tails for it.'

"Everything in life was a gamble with Gates. He lived on the excitement of it."

SEVEN MYSTERIOUS PLATES.

Tallequah, Okla., Democrat: When the Creek or Muskogee Indians adopted into their tribe the remnants of other tribes which were nearly extinct, many superstitions were found among them. One of these tribes was the Tuckabatches. The legends of the Creeks state that the Tuckabatches brought with them seven plates, the origin and object of which have puzzled scientific men for centuries. The Tuckabatchees claim that these plates were given them by their ancestors. They were not to be handled by all persons, only by particular men, and those chosen by the chief or micco of the tribe. Five of the plates were of copper and two of brass. The copper plates were about eighteen inches long and seven inches wide; the brass ones being round and eighteen inches in diameter, having two characters on them similar to the letters A and E connected. The plates were kept buried under the house of the chief and are believed to be still in existence.

A REMARKABLE ARKANSAS COW.

Danville, Ark., Democrat: Eli Meadows, who has gone to Booneville for a while, writes us of a peculiar experience he had recently. Eli said he had bought him a cow since going to Booneville, that the other night he went out to his cow stall to feed and by mistake mixed up a nice mash in a box full of sawdust instead of bran. The cow merely supposing that hard times had come and that they were all going to economize, meekly ate her supper and Eli never discovered his mistake until the next morning, when he milked the cow and she let down a gallon of turpentine, a quart of shoe pegs and a bundle of laths.

TOUCHING.

Delineator: A teacher trying to impress on her children the rightness of kindness toward all animals, took them for a walk, to bring the lesson home to them.

Hearing a scream from little Johnny, she asked: "What's the matter, Johnny?"

"I've been sitting on a hornet," was the tearful response, "and I'm afraid I've hurt the poor thing."

DOES NOT EVEN KNOW HER "RUMORED" FIANCE

MISS MIMI SCOTT.

Miss Mimi Scott of Newport has arrived from Europe and when she landed she denied the report from London that she would marry William Willetts, an English stockbroker. She says she does not even know him. Miss Scott is a daughter of George Isham Scott, well known in New York and Newport society.

MARKET HAS BIG DECLINE

Wheat Slumps on Heavy Selling to New Low Price Levels.

Flax Sells Down on Lack of Support From Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 26.—The market weakened still further at the close. July wheat closed 1¼c off; September 1⅝c off, and December, ⅞c off.

July durum closed 1¼c off and September 1⅛c off.

Oats closed ¾c off at 36c for on the track. Rye closed unchanged at 59c for on the track or 58c for to arrive, and barley closed 3c off at from 41c to 50c.

At Winnipeg, July oats closed at 39½c asked and October at 35½c bid. Puts on Minneapolis September wheat closed at 78⅜c asked, and calls at 79⅜c asked.

There was no evidence of support from any quarter in wheat today, and the slump was more accentuated than ever on all the American markets. Operators attribute the attrition that has come about in the wheat market during the past week to the pressure of new corp offerings, and the generally favorable harvest outlook over the country. Some traders are of the opinion that it is a case of prices seeking lower levels in line with present crop conditions. Predictions are made that the September option will work down to around 75c on the Duluth market before it is all over. As they are now, quotations are lower than at any time during the last eight years.

Breaks of 1¼@1½c were recorded locally during the first three hours' trading. July wheat opened unchanged at 87¾c, and broke to 86½c at the noon hour. September opened ⅛c off at 81¼c, and weakened 1⅝c more. The December option was neglected, but it sold off ⅞c from yesterday's close at 81⅜c. Durum also shared in the weakness of spring wheat. After opening unchanged at 87c, the July option sold off 1¼c, and September broke ⅞c to 82c.

All the foreign markets were lower. Advices from Liverpool were to the effect that weakness was precipitated by free first hand offers, and that as buyers are filled up at present, there is only a limited demand.

At Chicago it was reported that Armour, and some of the other big traders, were selling July and buying December wheat. Extensive liquidation also appeared there in corn and oats as a result of general rains over the southwest.

The reduction of grain stocks at Duluth is proceeding in a more orderly fashion. The decrease in spring wheat supplies for the week is estimated at 100,000 bu., with an increase of 75,000 bu. showing in durum and a decrease of 50,000 bu. in bonded wheat, leaving a net decrease of 75,000 bu. At Minneapolis wheat stores were reduced to the extent of 1,000,000 bu. during the week.

Flax Breaks at Close.

Flaxseed shared in the weakness of the wheat situation today, but not to the same extent. News of good rains over the Canadian west led to some selling orders coming in at the opening, and though these were comparatively limited, they could only be executed in sections. It was conceded that the forcing on the market of any fair sized lots of seed would have led to sharp decline. Final prices showed losses of 1⅛@1¼c, with the close at the bottom.

The foreign markets were weak. Buenos Aires closing 1¾ off; Antwerp ⅝c off and London unchanged.

July flax opened unchanged at $1.59¾, and closed 1¼c off at $1.58½ asked; September opened unchanged at $1.62¼, and closed 1½c off at $1.61⅛; October opened unchanged at $1.62¼, and closed 1¼c off at $1.61 bid and the November option closed 1½c off at $1.61⅝.

At Winnipeg, July flax closed at $1.38⅝ bid and October at $1.42¼ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The steamer Muncy has completed loading 25,000 bu barley, 5,000 bu rye and 35,000 bu corn at the Itasca elevator and 25,000 bu spring wheat at the Consolidated elevator. The Cornelius loaded 83,000 bu spring wheat at elevator S today.

* * *

A wire from Winnipeg said that crops through the Canadian Northwest are looking well in practically all sections.

* * *

World's wheat shipments for the week, exclusive of North America, are placed at 8,800,000 bu.

* * *

The Minneapolis cash market was firmer with a good demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 2@3½c over July and velvet chaff at 1½@2c over July. Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 84½c to 86⅝c and No. 2 northern at from 82½c to 84½c.

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Steadier American cables yesterday prompted support at the opening and values were unchanged. Later liquidation developed and prices broke sharply, declining ½@⅞d with weakness in July on predictions of larger Russian shipments as shown by private advices, pressure of both hard and soft new winter, weakness in spot here and a quieter demand for cargoes which are freely offered. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was weak, ½@⅞d lower."

* * *

"Corn opened ¼@⅜d lower on favorable weather in Argentina, larger Plate shipments this week, increasing stocks there and better grading of Plate arrivals. Demand was generally poor. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ½d to ⅝d lower."

* * *

A wire received by Baker from Grand Forks, N. D., said:

"Grain man was in the office who had just returned from a trip through Northwestern North Dakota. He was in Towner, Maxbass, Rugby, Devils Lake, Churches Ferry, Bisbee and many other stations, and says he heard no complaints of too much rain, in fact, many localities could stand more now although not in need of it. He says he came to North Dakota thirty-two years ago and never saw a better general outlook."

Russian and Danubian wheat shipments this week are forecasted at 4,250,000 bu. Argentine wheat shipments were 1,088,000 bu. against 736,000 bu last week and 1,226,000 bu last year. Corn, 4,469,000 bu, against 2,917,000 bu last week and 8,669,000 bu last year.

* * *

Parker Paine had the following comment from Chicago: "It looks to us as if the drastic decline and continuous pouring of long wheat into the market is shaking the faith of holders of corn. Consequently, tired holders are eliminating their lines rapidly. The same process is going on now that occurred in April, only on a smaller scale, the difference being that this scare on the part of holders is reduced primarily by an outside influence, namely, the demoralization in the wheat market, while in April it was due to the fact there was more cash corn in Chicago than the trade could handle at prices prevailing prior to the April break. The influence at work now does not look nearly as bearish to us as the situation prevailing at that time, and it will be remembered that after the April liquidation was consummated the enormous stocks of corn disappeared rapidly and the May future closed at 74 cents."

* * *

The Modern Miller says: "Harvest conditions through the entire winter wheat belt have been favorable this week, and rapid progress was made. Practically all of the Kansas crop is in shock except in the western part of the state. Threshing has progressed in Oklahoma and some mills are grinding new wheat. In Texas the yields have been below expectation, except in the Panhandle. Threshing has begun in Central Illinois and yields show considerable variation. In the spring wheat states there has been too much rain and dry weather is needed to mature the crop."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bears Force Wheat Prices to Still Lower Mark.

Chicago, June 26.—Bears today recaptured control of wheat. In a general rush selling prices went still lower than on any occasion since the recent sensational declines began. Ideal weather in the harvest region had much to do with the fresh setback and so also did a sharp break in values at Liverpool. The opening, which was ⅝c to 1c under last night, was followed by an additional sag.

Reports of wonderful threshing returns in Kansas and Oklahoma and assertions that the Dakotas and Minnesota taken as a whole have been helped rather than harmed by recent rains were influential against the bulls. The close was steady at 1⅛c to 1⅜c net lower.

Corn dropped with wheat and as a result of predicted showers where needed. There were reports also that Argentine shipments were improving in grade and were proving larger than expected. After opening unchanged to ½c lower the market continued to descend.

Lack of shipping call tended to keep the market depressed. The close was unsettled, ¼c to ⅝c under last night.

Oats had no substantial support. Most of the commission houses were on the selling side.

Packers unloaded provisions. First transactions ranged from 2½c to 10c down and there was further weakness later on.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following market comment from New York: "It has figured that London bought 10,000 to 12,000 shares today. This had much to do in checking further decline. A little better feeling exists but many good people still feel unwise to go far from shore on long side until interstate commerce commission rate decision is known."

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Save for Brief Interval, Market Shows a Firm Undertone.

Highest Level of the Day Reached in Final Hour.

New York, June 26.—Wall Street seemed to have recovered in a measure from the alarm created by the Claflin failure.

Stocks were strong in today's early dealings, advances extending to a point or more in the Harrimans, New York Central, Reading, Canadian Pacific, United States Steel and Amalgamated, while May Department Stores rose 1⅝. Elsewhere gains, while fractional, were more or less general. London was helpful in the rises.

The early rise was met by some liquidation which speedily resulted in material shading of prices. Lehigh Valley was weakest of the high-priced shares, losing almost 2 points in connection with rumors of another government inquiry into its affairs. United Drygoods fell 4 points to 61., and Wells-Fargo, whose dividend was cut yesterday fell 6 points. Kayser & Co. lost 4. Commission houses reported a moderate demand from investors. Despite a further decline in exchange another gold engagement for Europe was reported.

Bonds were steady.

Prices hardened after midday, the Harrimans returning to their best, but the list soon sagged on renewed offerings and vague rumors of trouble. Steel and Amalgamated led the reaction and Dry Goods preferred made a further decline to 54½.

Following the uncertain tone of the early afternoon the market gradually swung around to the highest level of the day in the final hour. Leading stocks were between 1 and 2 points above yesterday's close.

The market today showed a tendency to break away from the depressing influences engendered by the Claflin failure, and save for a brief interval, showed a firm undertone. The closing was strong.

FIERCE GALE SWEEPS UPPER LAKE---MATAAFA HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Steamer Strikes Pier at Superior Entry, But Reaches Harbor.

Life Savers Find an Abandoned Launch in the Lake.

Violent Wind Does Damage to Shade Trees in City.

In one of the fiercest storms that has ever swept the Head of the Lakes, the steamer Mataafa was dashed against the piers at the entry of the Superior harbor and narrowly escaped being sunk with her whole crew, early this morning.

According to Capt. W. E. Hoy of the tug America, which helped bring the Mataafa in, the anchor of the big freighter got away as the steamer was entering the harbor. The ship's stern was swung around against the concrete piers and she became unmanageable. The machinery for landing the anchor was wrecked in the accident and the crew could do nothing to relieve the situation. In this perilous position the Mataafa's whistles shrieked for help, and quick and daring work by the tugs America and Goulder saved the steamer from destruction and the crew from probable death.

The tugs had to tow the Mataafa inside the harbor with her anchor dragging. She is now stationed near the Great Northern ore docks with the Goulder standing by. It is not known how badly the big freighter is damaged and no reliable estimate can be made until the steamer goes in the drydock.

The Mataafa grounded in the big storm of the fall of 1905 just out side the Duluth entry to the local harbor. Fourteen of the steamer's crew were lost at that time within plain view of thousands of watchers on shore. The ship was afterwards raised and rebuilt at the Superior shipyard.

Marine men describe the rescue today as nothing short of miraculous. The lake water was rushing in monster waves through the ship canal where the Mataafa was beating against the concrete piers. The tugmen who saved the vessel risked their lives and their ships several times in maneuvering to release the big freighter.

Heard Signal.

Charles Lederle, keeper of lights at the Duluth entry, heard a distress signal shortly after midnight, but could not determine from what vessel it came or where the boat was situated. It is believed that the signal came from the Mataafa.

The Mataafa was light for ore and was coming up lake. She is one of the freighters of the Pittsburg Steamship company. She has a gross tonnage capacity of 4,840 tons and is 430 feet long and has a 50-foot beam.

HIGH HOPES FOR CLAFLIN

Confidence That Big Concern Will Weather Storm Is Growing.

Exact Financial Status May Not Be Known for Weeks.

New York, June 27.—With the noteholders' committee acting as a funnel for claims pouring in from banks all over the country, there were today increasing hopes of regeneration for the H. B. Claflin company and its string of dry goods stores.

Confidence in the ultimate success of some reorganization plan which would put the crippled company on its feet was manifested in the attitude of Gregan and McGovern, counsel who filed involtuntary petitions in bankruptcy for some of the creditors at the same time the suits in equity brought about the receivership on Thursday.

Will Not Interfere.

The lawyers have expressed no intention of interfering with Joseph B. Martindale and Frederick A. Juillard, the receivers named in the equity proceedings, so long as they are convinced their clients are being protected. The involuntary petition is pending in the courts.

A statement was issued today in behalf of the merchandise creditors, urging that the assets of the retail stores be guarded wherever possible.

It may be several weeks before the exact financial status of the Claflin company and the smaller mercantile concerns can be established, according to one of the receivers. A firm of public accountants has been engaged to go over the books of the company as quickly as possible.

Receiver's Statement.

"We have to get an inventory of the stock of the H. B. Claflin company and then ascertain the amounts of bills receivable," said M. Martindale. "After getting the facts relative to that company, it will be necessary to ascertain the amount of stock and the financial condition of the outside stores. As these stores are widely scattered, it will require some weeks to get the information.

"We believe," he continued, "that it will be possible to get a condensed statement regarding the affairs of the H. B. Claflin company much sooner, but even this task will require many days of work. Every facility is being given the accountants by the officials of the company, but pending the compilation of the accountant's report, there will be no statement."

WOULD SUCCEED HUERTA IF DICTATOR RESIGNED

ROBERTO ESTEVA RUIZ.

Washington, June 27. — Roberto Esteva Ruiz is the new foreign minister of Mexico. If anything should happen to Huerta while Ruiz holds that office, he would become president. This very possibility makes the office one of sudden and frequent changes. There is always the possibility in the present political conditions that a president may be deposed or decide to resign; and it is natural that the president should want someone in line of succession who represented his views.

BOTH READY FOR BATTLE

Moran and Johnson Both Get Good Night's Rest.

White Pugilist Says It Will Be Short, Tough Fight.

Paris, June 27.—It was said this morning that Frank Morgan would enter the ring tonight weighing just under 195 pounds, while Jack Johnson would weigh 210. The articles contained no stipulations as to the weight of the contestants.

Johnson slept eleven hours last night. After being massaged this morning he ate four soft boiled eggs sirred up in a bowl of breakfast food and finished his meal with a dish of iced strawberries. For lunch he had a plain pound cake. He lives usually on a virtually vegetable diet.

His bill of fare for dinner consisted of roast chicken and fresh vegetables, which he planned to eat at 5 o'clock or a little more than five hours before entering the ring. He said he expected to pass the greater part of the day leisurely. About noon he drove from Asnieres into Paris to meet his wife.

Moran Slept Soundly.

Moran slept soundly for ten hours in his training quarters. His breakfast was two boiled eggs and rolls, after which he took a leisurely morning walk.

The check for $30,000 made out in February, when the contract for the fight was signed, and then photographed and deposited in the vaults of the Credit Lionnais, to be handed to Mrs. Johnson at noon today, did not figure in today's transactions of the colored fighter as far as could be ascertained. When questioned about the check Johnson said:

"All I will say, is that I am to receive $30,000, win, lose or draw."

This sum is in addition to the $5,000 paid to Johnson for his training expenses at the time articles were signed.

What Will Moran Get?

Dan McKettrick, manager of Moran, and Theo Vienne, the French promoter of the match, evaded all inquiries today as to what Moran's percentage was to be in case he won, but it was generally understood that Moran had received a guarantee of $5,000 win, lose or draw.

Before the big fight tonight there are to be several minor bouts, among them being a Belgian "white hope" named Tyncke, a sparring partner of George Carpentier, and Avaullee, a French boxer.

Moran said today: "It will be a tough fight while it lasts, but I do not think it will last long. I cannot figure that it is going to last twenty rounds. I am in the best condition of my career, and naturally do not expect to be the loser."

The Pittsburg fighter added that whether he won or lost, he expected to be battered. He said he intended to return to his training quarters at Meriel on the Oise for a quiet rest after the fight. Should he be the winner, he will pay a visit to Rome.

Like Opera for Parisians.

Much interest is displayed in Moran's style in the ring, which is not so well known as that of Johnson. The white fighter declared he believed that the longer he could draw out the fight, the better his chances would be for getting in decisive blows. Moran asserted he felt the responsibility rested on him of representing the white race.

The crowd at the arena tonight will be in full dress, as Parisians regard the match in the same way as they would an important night at the opera. The reservations made today included a great many for women.

STORM HITS THREE STATES

Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa Points Suffer Damage.

La Crosse and Other Places Are Flooded By Downpour.

La Crosse, Wis., June 27.—The third violent storm of the week today devasted large sections of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa.

Though less severe on electrical companies than the tornado of Wednesday morning today's storm did far more damage generally. Water ran from three to four feet deep in the streets of La Crosse.

The Burlington, St. Paul, Northwestern & Southeastern railroads all experienced severe washouts. In places 500 to 1,000 feet of track was taken out. Train service is crippled in all directions.

At Freeburg, Minn., the tracks are today under four feet of water.

At and around New Albin and Lansing, Iowa, the rivers overflowed their banks and neighboring fields for miles were deeply buried under sand and mud. Not only are crops destroyed, but the land is seriously damaged permanently by the light sand being cast upon it.

Gullies Through Fields.

In Houston and Winona counties, Minnesota, Allamake county, Iowa, and La Crosse and Vernon counties, Wisconsin, deep gullies are torn through the fields, while in the valleys many a hay crop was ruined.

At Viroqua the big Lavoid tobacco factory was blown down. The parsonage of Rev. Mr. Hoffman was struck by lightning and partly consumed. Barns went down in many cases, stock was killed by lightning or drowned and roads are left impassable.

The steamer Sidney, with 1,000 excursionists aboard, was out on the Mississippi when the storm broke. Capt. Streckfuss made a dash for port and succeeded in landing his cargo of human freight, but with a great deal of difficulty. The river at the time was a sea of whitecaps.

Streets Filled With Mud.

All over La Crosse basements are flooded, with large losses to stocks of goods. The streets and sidewalks are piled high with mud. The city had just finished decorating for homecoming week next week, and it was found necessary today to replace the decorations of bunting and the flower beds.

Unlike the storm of Wednesday morning, today's storm did not interfere greatly with telephonic and telegraphic service, and reports, shut off altogether on the previous occasions, came in rapidly.

CLOUDBURST SENDS FLOOD ON MANDAN, N. D.

Mandan, N. D., June 27.—Although the water which rushed down upon this city as a result of a cloudburst in the hills ten miles away had somewhat receded today, many residents, fearing a greater rush of water, moved to places of safety.

The business district was covered today with a sheet of water, in many places three feet deep.

The condition of Hart river, swollen by recent rains, placed the town, which is located on what once was the channel of the Missouri river, in danger of a greater flood.

Damage to crops and farm buildings is believed to be heavy, but there is no telephonic communication with the rural district.

The damage here and at Bismarck is estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000.

SECOND DAY'S SEARCH FOR NURSE FUTILE

Police and Citizens Still Seeking Young Woman Lost in Park.

May Have Found Shelter in Farm House Near City.

Possibility That She Was Drowned in Chester Creek.

Three dozen citizens continued the search this morning for Marie McGovern, nurse at Nopeming sanitarium, who disappeared mysteriously last Tuesday noon. Up to 2 o'clock the men were unsuccessful and they are still in Chester park and the surrounding woods in their efforts to find the young woman, dead or alive.

Unless the young woman is being cared for at some farm northeast of Kenwood road, where her absence from the city is unknown, the three dozen searchers, who scoured that country all day yesterday and this morning, are all of the opinion that she was taken suddenly ill and crawled into a clump of bushes, where she later died from exposure, or that she was drowned in Chester creek. She is not alive in the woods, they believe, for the search the last thirty-six hours was thorough.

In Three Groups.

This morning three dozen citizens, divided in three groups, and headed by Detective Bradley of the police department, started out for the second day's hunt through the woods in the search for the missing nurse. The heavy rains of last night will make travel very difficult, but the men plan to go over the ground covered yesterday, and in addition, visit the farmhouses northeast of Kenwood road. Several pike poles were taken along this morning and the men will search for the body in the deep pools along Chester creek.

In addition to Detective Bradley, the police depuartment detailed Sergeant Butchart and Patrolmen Callahan and Wanvick to join the searching party this morning, while Firemen S. J. Palmer, Wallace West and Ernest McIvor are representing the fire department. About eighteen men and boys reported to Capt. Fisher at police

SEEK TO KEEP SALEM FREE FROM DISEASE

Three Official Camps for the Homeless Are Prepared.

Salem, Mass., June 27.—To insure sanitary conditions in the camps established for the homeless was the most pressing problem which confronted those in charge of the relief work in the fire-stricken city today. Two official camps were in operation, and preparations were made for the establishment of a third into which could be brought many persons at present scattered in various open places in the city. In some cases nine or ten persons occupied a single tent.

The militia found no difficulty in maintaining order throughout the night.

REFUSES TO OBEY DOCTOR

Roosevelt Says He Ordered Four Months' Complete Rest.

Declares He Will Campaign Despite Danger to Body and Mind.

Oyster Bay, June 27.—Four months of absolute rest has been prescribed for Col. Roosevelt by his physicians, who informed him that he was suffering from an enlargement of the spleen and a loss of vitality as a result of the malarial fever he contracted in the South American jungles.

"But in four months the campaign will be over," the colonel said today. Consequently, he added, he considered it an impossibility for him to follow his physicians' advice.

Col. Roosevelt has abandoned his campaign trip across the continent, which had been arranged tentatively for September. He also telegraphed to Pittsburg that he would make only one speech there on Tuesday night. Two had been arranged.

Has Special Examination.

The change in the ex-president's plans came after an examination made last night by Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York. Dr. Lambert came to Oyster Bay and spent more than an hour in inspecting his patient. Then he told him that he must rest four months. He urged the colonel to give up his trip to Pittsburg, to make no speeches during the campaign, and as far as possible to give up everything that would tax his strength.

He explained, the colonel said, that it would require a long period to shake off the effects of the malaria, and that if this were not accomplished, the disease might becom so securely fastened upon him that he would never recover his full strength. It might even impair his mental vigor, the physician said.

Col. Roosevelt declined to heed the warning. He said it would be an impossibility for him to give up his campaign work.

SAVES TRAIN FROM 13 TONS OF STEEL

Pennsylvania Engineer Prevents a Disaster.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 27.—Stopping a fast passenger train in time to save it from 13 tons of solid steel, falling from a height of 125 feet, was the feat of E. C. Ripley, a Pennsylvania railroad engineman, on which he was congratulated today.

Ripley was bringing his train into the city under a bridge being built high above the railroad tracks. As he rounded a curve he saw a car loaded with steel beams get beyond control and dash down a grade to the uncompleted end, directly over the track on which his train was running. Ripley applied the emergency brakes, and stopped his engine just as the heavy beam and car hit the track ten feet in front of him. Passengers were shaken, but no one was hurt.

UNVEIL ILLINOIS CIVIL WAR SHAFT.

Atlanta, Ga., June 27.—Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois, and members of his staff, today at Marietta, near here attended the unveiling of a monument erected by the state of Illinois to its soldiers who took part in the Civil war in the battle of Kenesaw mountain.

PAPER BEARING ON LORIMER BANK HAVE STRANGELY VANISHED

First Report to Auditor Showing Bad Condition Is Gone.

Federal Grand Jury Will Begin Inquiry on July 13.

Ex-Senator Paynter Explains Presence of His Notes.

Chicago, June 27.—Disappearance from the office of James J. Brady, state auditor, of documentary evidence bearing on the failure of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank, was reported today.

One of the documents missing is the report of J. H. Rife, a state bank examiner, who made the first report that the bank was in a shaky condition. This report he submitted to L. L. Bacchus, then chief clerk in the state auditor's office. The late James S. McCullough was then state auditor.

Rife resigned his political position to become secretary of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank and vice president of the Broadway State bank, another of the Lorimer-Munday string. Bacchus became a vice president of the La Salle Street bank.

Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney, and James H. Wilkerson, United States district attorney, both of whom are investigating the business life of the defunct banks, are anxious to get the missing papers for use before grand juries.

Begin Probe July 13.

The Federal grand jury inquiry into the conduct of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank while it was a national institution was set today for July 13, it was announced at the office of the United States district attorney.

Depositors of the four small state banks in this city which were affiliated with the La Salle Street bank and which closed at the same time as the main Lorimer-Munday institution, will all be paid in full, it was made known today by Daniel V. Harkin, state bank examiner.

The vault of the La Salle Street bank was scheduled to be opened today by the receiver. It has been closed since it was sealed by Harkin when he ordered the bank to suspend. In the vault are about $40,000 in currency, it is said, and about the same sum in memoranda of cash withdrawn by Lorimer and Munday on their personal marker slips.

Loans to Political Friends.

A preliminayr report of government accountants has revealed that between $600,000 and $860,000 was loaned to companies in which officers of the bank were interested, to officers of the bank themselves, and to political friends.

Since the closing of the bank, Federal Judge Landis has ordered that banks receiving bankruptcy funds must give bonds equal to the amount they have for deposit. Formerly a nominal bond was required.

State's Attorney Hoyne has verified the information that State Auditor Brady obtained a loan of $5,000 from the La Salle Street Trust & Savings bank to meet two notes aggregating $2,000 held by the Fort Dearborn Na-

CLARK MEETS SUFFRAGISTS

Says Votes for Women Is Sure as Tomorrow's Sunrise.

Speaker and Vice President Are Handed Petitions.

Washington, June 27.—Speaker Clark today told a delegation of women from the National American Woman's Suffrage association that "woman suffrage is as inevitable as the rising of tomorrow's sun."

"For 6,000 years," said the speaker, "men have been trying to run the world, and some think they have made a bad mess of it. I hope that when you women run it you'll improve on it. I think woman suffrage is inevitable. The only question you folks have to consider is how to most expeditiously get what you are after. You can get it quicker by the states then by congress."

Petitions Presented.

The speaker was addressing a group of women from thirty-eight states who had presented 300 petitions for woman suffrage, in the form of resolutions adopted by suffrage organizations and mass meetings at the time of the nation-wide demonstration on May 2. There were also present congressmen—Democrats, Republicans and Progressives—to whom petitions also were addressed.

Vice President Marshall also received the suffragists, and later petitions to senators were left at the vice president's office.

The woman suffrage leaders in the delegation included Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Miss Jane Addams and Mrs. Antoinette Funk of Chicago, Mrs. Helena Gardener, Mrs. Glenna Smith Tinnin and Mrs. Raymond B. Morgan of Washington.

Indorse No Measure.

The suffragists requested that all petitions be laid before congress before July 8. The petitions, which the committee explained were strictly nonpartisan, asked congress for legislation which will "insure to women equal political rights with men," but did not advocate adoption of any particular pending measure. The suffrage association officers particularly emphasized that point, and said they wished it clearly understood that they were opposed to militant methods, were not fighting any party, but are seeking aid for the suffrage cause from individuals of every political faith.

AFRAID OF BANKS; ROBBED OF SAVINGS

Chicagoan Draws Out $800 and Then Is Robbed.

Chicago, June 27.—Johnson Barkman, aged owner of a West side rooming house, last night was robbed of $800 which he recently withdrew from a bank because of apprehension created by failure of the Lorimer-Munday institutions.

WOMEN BOMBARD KING AND QUEEN

Bundle of Papers Knocks British Ruler's Hat Sideways.

London, June 27.—Militant suffragettes circumvented the police today and bombarded King George and Queen Mary with leaflets at the entrance to Hyde Park. A bundle of the papers struck the king's hat and knocked it sideways, while the queen's parasol caught another shower of pamphlets.

Two women were seized by the police and carried away, struggling violently.

WASHINGTON SURE OF MEXICAN MEETING

Expects Constitutionalists and Huertistas to Confer.

Washington, June 27.—The administration fully expects the Constitutionalists to confer with the Huerta delegates. That was made plain today by officials close to President Wilson after receipt of a long message from the American delegates at Niagara Falls, which reported the results of a conference between the American delegates and Minister Naon.

While details of the message were not disclosed here and information was withheld of the basis of the administration's optimism, it was made clear that the president would be greatly surprised if the Constitutionalists did not meet the Huerta delegates.

STEAMER IS DRIVEN ASHORE IN QUAKE

Batavia, Java, June 27.—The British steamer Kintuck of the China Mutual Steam Navigation company, reported overdue yesterday after a violent earthquake in Sumatra, was found today by a steamer sent out to search for her. She had been driven ashore in the straits of Sunda between Java and Sumatra by heavy seas caused by a submarine disturbance. The Kintuck was crowded with native emigrants.

STATE WILL MAKE CHECK

Examiner Andrew Fritz Will Audit the City's Books.

Examination Is Now Being Made By Public Accountant.

State Examiner Andrew Fritz will check all the city accounts.

The state examiner was a visitor at the city hall this morning and had a talk with Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss. When he learned that the city books are now being audited and checked by James S. Matteson of the firm of Matteson and MacGregor, public accountants, he said that he would wait until that had been finished before bringing his men here. He stated that his office is busy and will be glad to wait until August or September before coming to Duluth.

The audit now being made will be used as a working basis and as a complete check is being made it is not likely that the state examiner will take long to finish his work here. Next year the city will probably have all the work done by the state examiner's office, as to have it done by both a private individual and the state necessitates extra expense, according to the finance commissioner. Mr. Matteson undertook the contract for $..00 and under the law the state can charge the city $7 per day for not to exceed 100 days, and the expenses of the men who do the work.

SECOND DAY'S SEARCH FOR NURSE FUTILE

headquarters this morning and the entire party left for Chester park shortly after 9 o'clock.

Cruiser on Job.

About 10 o'clock Frank Keating, a pioneer cruiser and woodsman of this city, came to police headquarters with six men and he was sent out by Capt. Fiskett to aid in the search. He is of the belief that Miss McGovern is dead in some clump of bushes and he will make his search with the hope of finding the body.

Shortly after Mr. Keating and his party left, J. G. Luxon, assistant humane agent, and five men reported to police headquarters to join the other searchers in the woods above Chester park.

Will Divide Party.

Detective Bradley said before leaving that the party of twenty-four will be divided and that the park will be covered from one end to the other, after which another search will be made in the bushes along Kenwood road and up to the Villa Scholastica and then northeast of Kenwood road, where there are a number of farmhouses. In the event that the missing nurse was picked up by some farmer and taken to his home, where she may be on the road to recovery, the searchers hope to locate her today.

With the information obtained yesterday by Detective Bradley and the searchers from the family living in the Duluth Ski clubhouse, who saw Miss McGovern on Tuesday evening and again Wednesday morning, it is believed that the young woman started out on Kenwood road.

Detective Bradley said this morning that he learned that she slept in the small ticket office just at the edge of the Ski club grounds on Tuesday night and that the handkerchief found outside of the small building Thursday has been identified as belonging to the missing young woman. There is the initial "M" in the corner and the handkerchief was yesterday recognized by Margaret McGovern, sister of the missing girl.

Seen on Wednesday.

On Wednesday morning Miss McGovern came to the family at the Ski club and asked for the direction of Kenwood road. She appeared somewhat excited, the searchers were told yesterday, and when last seen, she was walking towards the roadway.

It is now four days since the young woman was last seen and it is hardly considered likely that she is still in the woods. With the heavy rains of last night and Tuesday, the young woman's life was placed in great danger, if she was exposed to the elements, to say nothing of the fact that she had nothing to eat.

Mayor's Appeal.

Late last evening Mayor Prince made an appeal to Duluth citizens to join the searching party and aid in the efforts to find the missing young woman. His appeal follows:

"I would urge as many men and boys as can conveniently do so, to report to Capt. Fiskett at police headquarters Saturday morning and join in the search for Miss McGovern. I am afraid the young woman may have become demented, and that she will not be able to find her way out of the woods, where she may be wandering. Undoubtedly there are many who can find the time to aid in the search. It would be well if a number would volunteer the use of their automobiles to carry members of the searching party out."

Bloodhound Used.

The county bloodhound used by the searchers yesterday is again being used today. The animal was able to trace the missing girl from the Ski club grounds to Kenwood road, where the scent was lost.

The young woman's sister is on the verge of a breakdown. She saw Marie for the last time Tuesday noon, when the latter boarded an East Fourth street car for Chester park, where the two girls had planned to spend the day. Margaret had to return to the Y. W. C. A., where she is rooming to change her dress and obtain an umbrella and it was agreed that they would meet at the park a little later. Margaret arrived shortly after 1 o'clock, but was unable to find any trace of Marie.

When last seen Marie was wearing a blue suit and a middy blouse. She is 25 years old, dark complexioned and weighs about 105 pounds. She is about five feet four inches tall.

tional bank, and another note for $2,000 held by a national bank in Springfield, Ill. He first learned of this loan from Mary Quilan Kuhns, who married State Auditor Brady in Michigan, a month after her divorce. This marriage was declared illegal in Illinois, and when Brady refused to go through another ceremony in this state after a year, she sued for breach of promise.

Paynter Explains.

Frankfort, Ky., June 27.—Former United States Senator Thomas H. Paynter of Kentucky has issued a statement explaining how his notes aggregating $40,000 found their way into the La Salle Street bank of Chicago, controlled by William Lorimer and C. B. Munday, and which item, it was reported, is being investigated by Federal authorities in connection with their inquiry into that institution.

Mr. Paynter, as senator, was a member of the first senatorial committee that investigated Lorimer's election to the senate and he voted in favor of Lorimer's retaining his seat.

He Needed $40,000.

"After my connection with the Lorimer committee had ceased," said Mr. Paynter, "I needed $40,000 to complete a business transaction as I supposed for a few days. C. B. Munday told me he could take my four notes for $10,000 each and use them in Illinois banks—banks in which Lorimer had no interest.

"Mr. Lorimer knew nothing whatever about this transaction. My deal was postponed and I was unable to take care of the demand notes and it seems that Mr. Munday took care of them through the La Salle Street bank. However, every dollar of the notes has been paid excepting $2,676.46, which will be paid on demand."

FIERCE GALE SWEEPS UPPER LAKE—MATAAFA HAS NARROW ESCAPE

five to sixty miles an hour last night and early this morning it is believed that no other vessels were seriously distressed. The Hamonic arrived safely this morning and the D. R. Hanna cleared safely.

Find Launch.

A wrecked gasoline launch was discovered floating in Lake Superior early this morning, and it was at first believed that a serious accident had occurred. Life savers were sent to the rescue and found that the boat was an old abandoned craft without an engine. No persons are believed to have been aboard.

Hamonic Delayed.

The passenger steamer Hamonic, due this forenoon, was delayed more than an hour in making the Duluth entry. She was unable to dock and was finally run along south of the tug office and securely fastened. Four large cables were snapped as the violent high seas dashed against her sides.

The steamer S. R. Kirby, which was bringing in the lumber barge Hartnell, was unable to bring her to port and left her anchored about two miles from the entry.

The steamer D. R. Hanna cleared at 10 o'clock this forenoon, but the seas were so violent that no other vessels attempted to leave port. A large number of boats are tied up at Duluth and Allouez. Those at Duluth are the Harvester, America, Bartow, and Van Vleck. The Maritana, Magna and several other large boats are at Allouez. It is thought no other vessels will leave here until the storm abates.

The steamer L. C. Smith and John Weston both came in safely late in the forenoon.

Much Damage Done.

The storm was very destructive both in the city of Duluth and the surrounding country.

While no lives were lost, it is estimated that the damage which resulted to property will reach into the thousands. The wind proved particularly hard on huge trees and in many instances fine maples and other trees of large dimensions were split and blown down. In some cases they have been uprooted and felled across streets. Windows were smashed in houses and business places, screen doors blown from their hinges, and other damage done to property in all parts of the city.

The storm was from the northeast and was forecasted yesterday by the weather bureau, which displayed northeast storm warnings at all points from here to Marquette. Weather Forecaster Richardson says that the storm was at its worst about 2 o'clock this morning. Between midnight and 3 o'clock this morning it maintained a velocity of from 50 to 60 miles an hour, and at several times was blowing a 60-mile gale. Ordinarily when high winds come, they maintain so extreme a velocity for only a few minutes. The duration of high velocity in this storm is most unusual.

The high winds, Mr. Richardson says, were confined almost wholly to the western end of Lake Superior, few other points getting them. The heavy rainfall that accompanied the wind, was, however, very widespread.

In Duluth the rainfall measured 1.05 inches during the night. Other places got it much worse, Bismarck, N. D., getting 3.74, Devils Lake getting 2.26 and other places, showing the spread of the rain getting the following amounts: Moorhead, 1.88; Williston, 1.36; Miles City, Mont., 1.08; Davenport, 1.2; Green Bay, Wis. 1.20, and Milwaukee, 1.08.

Mr. Richardson says that the northeast storm will last during today, and will likely maintain a velocity of 36 to 48 miles an hour; but the wind will probably shift to the northwest by tonight.

CATTLE BREEDERS END THEIR CONVENTION WITH AN INSPECTION OF NEARBY FARMS

CATTLE BREEDERS' PICNIC AT JEAN DU LUTH FARM.

The cattle experts who have been attending the summer meeting of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association and the annual gathering of the Guernsey Breeders' Association of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin are spending today sightseeing in this vicinity. Many of them, accompanied by Duluth business men, took a special train this morning over the Duluth & Iron Range road to Meadowlands to see the road's demonstration farm there. They will go from there to Hall Junction to see the peat and swamp lands, then to Alborn to see the McKay farm, and will then go to view the work being done near Morell and Wallace. They will return to Duluth this evening.

Yesterday's meeting of the Guernsey Breeders' association, held in the open air at the Jean du Luth farm, was well attended and proved a most enthusiastic one. The organization now has 103 members, and yesterday they elected as officers George C. Stone, president; Mrs. M. E. Barnard of Carlton, vice president, and Heber L. Hartley, secretary-treasurer.

W. H. Caldwell, who came all the way from Peterboro, N. H., to attend this meeting, was chief speaker. He has been for years the leading breeder of Guernsey cattle in America, and is general secretary of the American Guernsey Cattle club. He spoke yesterday about the value of the Guernsey cow, declaring them the greatest producers of butter-fat in the world, and the most profitable dairy cow. He gave a most interesting history of the Guernsey breed.

A. J. Glover of Fort Atkinson, Wis., editor of Hoard's Dairyman, also spoke. He praised the co-operation of Duluth business men in the promotion of dairying hereabouts, and said that it indicates a wisdom on their part that is most commendable. Joseph E. Wing of Mechanicsbury, Ohio, editor of the Breeders' Gazette, and Prof. T. L. Haecker of the state university also spoke.

FIFTY THOUSAND TO MARCH IN CHICAGO

Men and Boys Will Take Part in Sunday School Parade.

Chicago, June 27.—Fifty thousand men and boys assembled here today to march in the parade of the International Sunday School association in convention here. Fifty altars were prepared to be carried on the shoulders of marching men, one at the head of each division. Behind each altar was to be borne an open Bible.

The problem of interesting and instructing boys and girls approaching maturity and delivering them safely to the church as full fledged active members was set for discussion in two conferences in different churches.

CLANCY BACK IN FEDERAL PRISON.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 27.—Eugene Clancy of San Francisco, one of the labor leaders convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases, arrived at the Federal prison here late last night. Clancy, the thirteenth to arrive at the prison in two days, walked to the prison gates alone and asked to enter. He would make no statement.

Hail Breaks Window.

Clinton, Ill., June 27.—Hailstones as large as hickory nuts yesterday broke a number of windows in this city. A miniature cyclone uprooted several trees and blew down telephone wires. Considerable damage was done over a small territory. A half inch of rain fell. Crops were helped by the rain more than they were damaged by the wind.

ORIGIN OF IRISH LACE.

Indianapolis News: Irish lace originated from the failure of the potato crop that caused the famine of 1846. The abbess of a convent in County Cork, looking about for some lucrative employment to help the half-starved children who attended her schools, unraveled thread by thread a scrap of point de Milan, and finally mastered the complicated details. She then selected the girls who were quickest of needlework, and taught them what she had painfully learned. The new industry prospered, and one of the pupils, in a pardonable "bull," declared that "if it had not been for the famine we would all have been starved."

APPRAISERS ARE NAMED

Will Condemn Land Needed for North Shore Boulevard.

More Than 150 Property Owners Are Named as Defendants.

E. D. Field, J. L. Cromwell and Jerome E. Cooley were appointed by Judge Bert Fesler of the district court this morning as appraisers to fix the damages to be awarded property owners whose land is taken by condemnation proceedings for the proposed north shore boulevard. The appraisers will make their report to the court before Aug. 3, which was set as a date for a hearing on the question of damages.

When the condemnation proceedings came on for a hearing this morning, several attorneys appeared representing a large number of property owners who are interested in the matter. City Attorney Harvey Clapp appeared for the city, which is seeking to acquire easements over the property to be traversed by the road.

The petition for the appointment of a board of appraisers on which the court acted this morning describes fifty-three parcels of land which the city is seeking to acquire. It is accompanied by a blue print twelve feet long showing the course to be followed by the road.

That portion of the boulevard from Duluth to the Lake county line will be nearly twenty miles long. London road will be incorporated and from its eastern terminus, the boulevard will extend east to Lake county following the contour of the north shore line over the easiest grades. It will pass through Lakewood and over the French river. From this point it will parallel the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company's tracks crossing the Big and Little Sucker rivers before reaching the county line.

More than 150 property owners are named as defendants in the proceedings. The acquiring of the boulevard by condemnation proceedings was authorized by the city council June 22, 1913. Similar proceedings have been started in Lake county to acquire from the county line to Two Harbors, which will eventually provide an excellent boulevard drive from Duluth to Two Harbors.

ROBBING POPPIES OF THEIR OPIUM.

Christian Herald: Round about Shiraz, as far as Ispahan, southward to the country of the date palm, a great deal of opium is grown and several thousand chests are shipped from Shiraz to China and various other large centers of the trade every season. The collecting of the opium juice begins in June, when, the flowers having faded and the leaves fallen, the poppy-heads are ready to be bled. When the sun stands low on the western horizon the men with their tools start their work, making one or two incisions in the fleshy green skin of the heads on the side toward the setting sun. During the cool night hours the brown, strong-smelling viscous juice oozes out and collects in pearl-like drops on the surface of the seed vessel.

Before the rising sun gains sufficient power to dry or crystalize the sticky substance the gathering is in full swing. Stepping carefully from plant to plant, the men gather the opium on the broad blades of their crescent-shaped collecting knives, which have an up-turned blade about an inch high to prevent the juice from dropping off. As soon as a knife is full it is handed to the owner of the field or his foreman, who stands among the collectors to see that none of the precious drops are hidden away by the workers to increase their daily wages. As soon as the morning work is over the fields are deserted until the afternoon, when new incisions have to be made. Each plant is tapped twice, and a large poppy-head gives from twenty to thirty grains of opium.

SAVING THE PEN.

Indianapolis News: Governor Dunne's four pens used in signing the suffrage bill suggest an unusual form of pen used when the treaty of Paris was signed in 1856. On March 23 of that year Henry Greville notes in his diary. "I heard that the Empress Eugenie, having expressed a wish to possess the pen with which the plenipotentiaries are to sign peace, the emperor ordered that the finest eagle in the Jardin des Plantes should be plucked of its best feather, which, being tailles en plume, is to be used on this occasion and then handed over to her majesty." A week later Greville records: "Cavour told us that the eagle's feather had been used for the signature of one or two copies, mais qu' on s'est revolte against employing it for all, as in that case they would never have got to the end of their labors."

FOLLOWED TEE STYLE.

Cincinnati Enquirer: A rather fussy diplomatist called upon an admiral of the fleet and left his card, in the corner of which the letters E. P. were inscribed. Meeting the officer a few days later the official inquired whether he had got the card.

"Oh, yes," replied the seaman, "I got it all right. But what was the meaning of the E. P.?"

"Why, 'en personne,' of course. Perhaps you did not know that I left it myself."

In due time the diplomatist received the admiral's return card, with the letters S. B. N. in the corner. Having handed it around to all the members of his staff, none of whom could give any idea of its meaning, he applied to the sender.

"'Sent by nigger,'" was the reply.

THE PAY ENVELOPE "GHOST."

Indianapolis News: Years ago a theatrical manager of the bogus type had in his company an actor whose strong point was the ghost in "Hamlet." If his salary was not forthcoming on Saturday, this actor would exclaim: "Then the ghost won't walk tonight," a phrase which is still used by actors on pay day, and which provides a striking illustraton of how a casual remark becomes a common saying.

QUEER FREAK OF NATURE.

Indianapolis News: While cutting up an ash tree at a sawmill at Embleton, Cumberland, England, the sawyers observed a dark object in the center of the trunk. It was found to be a sparrow's nest containing the feathers and skeleton of a dead bird and four eggs. The egg shells were exceedingly well preserved, but in the attempt to extricate them some were broken, and it was found that their contents had been entirely absorbed. It is assumed that the bird built its nest in a hollow of the tree, and died while sitting on the eggs, the whole becoming sealed up as the tree grew. The nest had probably been built a century ago, the tree being more than 100 years old.

VICTORY WAS WITH THE BULL.

Belton Mo., Herald: James W. Maxwell was able to come to town Saturday in his motor car, and Mrs. Maxwell and Herschel and the baby came, too, as steering committee. The family concern for him arises from the fact that he got into trouble with a Jersey bull some weeks ago when none of the family was nigh to lend him succor, Jeems had had no experience to speak of as a toreador, and the wonder is that the savage beast didn't kill him outright. After the bull left him bruised all over he crawled to a place of safety, and as soon as he was able to ride he got Joe Wyatt to help him, and on horseback, with pitchforks, they drove Taurus to the canning factory.

"EATING HUMBLE PIE."

Indianapolis News: "Eating humble pie" is a phrase which really arose from the corruption of the word "umbles" or "numbles," the coarser parts of a deer killed in hunting, which, when made into a pie, were formerly reserved for the lower hunt servants; while "cooking his goose" is a phrase which originated when the king of Sweden, on approaching a hostile town, excited the contempt of the inhabitants by the smallness of his army. To express this they hung out a goose for him to shoot at, whereupon the king set fire to the town to "cook their goose."

AN ENGLISH WOOL TOWN.

Indianapolis News: Rochdale, England, laid the foundation of its prosperity in the reign of Edward III. when a body of Flemish immigrants took up their abode there and introduced their craft as clothiers. Rochdale, in the time of Queen Elizabeth, had become so famous for its woolen manufactures that the "aulnager," the official appointed by the queen to measure all woolen cloth made for sale, had to appoint a special deputy there to keep pace with its manufacture and see that the crown was not robbed of its duties.

SHOPMEN USE ROLLER SKATES.

Electric Railway Journal: One of the latest and most complete carhouses in New England has recently been placed in service by the Union Street Railway company of New Bedford, Mass., to accommodate the demands of a rapidly increasing traffic.

The novel expedient of equipping the storeroom attendants with roller skates in order to accelerate their movements has been tried. When any of these men receives a request for material at one of the various delivery windows of the storeroom, he skates to the section of the storeroom containing the required article and promptly returns with it to the delivery window.

The use of the skates does not hamper the storeroom employes in mounting ladders for the purpose of reaching elevated bins in which material may be stored, as experience has shown that they are able to mount ladders to reach such places without removing their skates.

FORFEITED HER RESPECT

Wife Says She Is Weary of Being Husband's Slave.

Alleges He Is Insanely Jealous—Wants Maiden Name Back.

When Mary Adeline McLean, 30, left the home and fireside of her husband, John Lorne McLean, 34, at Portland, Or., in January, 1913, she also left behind all the love and respect she had ever had for him, according to her story of the parting as related in divorce proceedings instituted against him in district court today.

Mrs. McLean declares that she is tired of "having to be his slave" and "having to endure disgrace and abuse" at his hands. Besides being of a drunken and profane temperament, she claims that he is insanely jealous of her and on numerous occasions has charged her with infidelity. On Jan. 15, 1913, while they were living in Portland, things became unbearable and she left him, she says.

They were married in this city June 3, 1902. There are no children. Mrs. McLean asks the court to restore her maiden name, that of Mary Adeline Mahan.

Lulu Hanson, 25, alleging desertion and non-support, filed suit for divorce in district court this morning against Roy Hanson, 23, to whom she was married at York, N. D., Sept. 11, 1912. She claims that at no time since their marriage has he contributed towards her support and that he deserted her the following April. She asks the court permission to again resume her maiden name, that of Mitchell. Hanson is now residing at Ladysmith, Wis.

SALOONS MAY REMAIN OPEN

Need Not Close Their Doors for School Election.

Saloons may remain open on school election days.

An opinion to this effect has been received by Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, from the state attorney general's office. The attorney general holds that school elections are not to be classed with special, primary or general elections. The law specifies that saloons shall be closed on those days and makes no mention of school elections.

The question arose here some months ago and at that time was referred to the attorney general's office for an opinion. Most of the saloons were open on the day in question but no action was taken against them by the safety division.

SAY CITY SCALE SHOULD BE MOVED

Heavy Traffic Makes the Change Necessary, Say Officials.

The city scale at Garfield avenue and Superior street will probably be moved to Seventeenth or Eighteenth avenue, immediately above Superior street, because of the heavy traffic at that point.

It is felt that the shift will cause no inconvenience and will improve conditions. The water trough may also be moved to some less congested corner, but this is uncertain. Many people feel that it should be left in its present position, as it gives more service there than it would elsewhere. Mayor Prince and Commissioners Merritt and Murchison have looked over the situation at the corner. They believed that the scale should be transferred, but reached no definite conclusion as to the watering trough.

SEALED VERDICT IN INJURY CASE

Jury's Finding Will Be Announced When Court Convenes Monday.

A sealed verdict, which was reached late yesterday afternoon in Judge Dancer's division of the district court in the $40,000 personal injury case brought by Dan Melichovich against the North Butte Mining company, will be opened when court convenes Monday morning.

Melichovich was working at the Spectacular mine in Silver Bow county, Mont., Nov. 21, 1910, when he fell 120 feet from a ladder to the bottom of the manway in which he was working. He was unconscious for three weeks.

The case was tried once in the Federal court at Butte, and a verdict returned for the defendants, but a new trial was granted. On a change of venue, the cause of action was brought to the Minnesota courts.

UNDECIDED ABOUT ROAD

Murchison Wants Petition for Pavement to Steel Plant Suburbs.

Council Will Hold Conference Before Taking Any Action.

Whether or not any action will be taken by the city council at its meeting Monday afternoon relative to concreting the New Duluth road from Eighty-first avenue west to House street, a distance of about eight miles, is uncertain.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division, said this morning that he does not know if he will introduce a resolution ordering the work done. This is allowed under the charter but the resolution must lay over sixty days before it becomes effective. During the interim the property owners may file a remonstrance against the improvement. The petition must be signed by 25 per cent of the property owners, owning 25 per cent of the property affected.

The works commissioner said this morning that if the property owners will secure a petition asking for the work it will greatly facilitate matters and eliminate the possibility of a remonstrance being presented. He said that some of the property owners are now busy on a petition. He explained that the petition would be far the most satisfactory method and would probably result in the improvement being made considerably sooner than would be possible otherwise, as a resolution could not be effective before September.

It is probable that the council will hold a conference on the subject before any action is taken. A meeting was scheduled for this morning but it was postponed as the mayor was obliged to be in the district court on proceedings relative to the condemnation of the right of way for the Congdon boulevard.

Henry Casmir, proprietor of the saloon at 505 West Michigan street, will appear before the council Monday afternoon to show cause why his license should not be revoked. His bartender was recently convicted of selling liquor to a minor.

Safety Commissioner Hicken will recommend the granting of the twenty-nine saloon licenses which have been held up for the last two weeks. He states that he has reports on all of them and that they were satisfactory.

The amendment to the traffic ordinance, requiring automobiles and other vehicles to stop ten feet away from street cars standing on street corners and prohibiting any one from hanging on any vehicle, will probable be passed. The ordinance appropriating $565 for the purchase of an automobile for the West Duluth police will be given a third reading and passed.

An ordinance designating the parts of blocks 95, 96, 97 and 98, Duluth proper, Third division, lying within 133 feet north of Roger's boulevard and the parts of blocks 72, 73 and 74 lying within 133 feet south of the boulevard as a residence district will be given its first reading.

DISCLOSING NOTHING NEW

Attorney Says Facts in McAlpine Depositions Are All Admitted.

Thinks Effort Is Being Made to Create Belief in Suicide Theory.

That insurance companies which are contesting the claims of Mrs. Sarah McAlpine amounting to about $90,000 on policies insuring her husband, John McAlpine against death by accident, are attempting to create public sentiment by taking depositions from witnesses which leave the impression that Mr. McAlpine was heavily involved and perhaps committed suicide, is the claim of A. E. McManus, her attorney.

Mr. McManus stated today that depositions from witnesses which have been taken to be used at the trial of the actions against the accident insurance companies, in his opinion, were for the purpose of creating an opinion that McAlpine was a suicide. "There is nothing disclosed in the depositions that cannot be found on file in the records of the estate in the probate court," he said "Everything contained in them about Mr. McAlpine's indebtedness is admitted and is on the probate court records. Mr. McAlpine had big debts like every man who does big business."

Mr. McManus also said that Mrs. McAlpine has insisted and will insist upon being paid the full amounts of the policies, and no compromise would be accepted.

With refernce to the solvency of the McAlpine estate, Mr. McManus stated that it was true that the estate owed large sums, but he also stated that it had large assets. "I am creditably informed," he said, "that the estate will pay all debts and leave a big margin for the widow," Mrs. McAlpine, he said, had holdings of her own which would make her independently wealthy without receiving anything from the estate.

All life insurance policies have been paid. The only policies held up are those in the accident insurance companies.

FAVORS CLOAK COMPANY.

Oreck & Sons Must Pay $1,587.15 to Cleveland Firm.

A jury in Judge Cant's division of the district court yesterday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the Greenhut Cloak company of Cleveland and against G. A. Oreck & Sons of this city for $1,587.15. The Cleveland company sued the local concern for goods delivered and not paid for. The action hinged on the interpretation of a contract which had been entered into between the two firms.

HARMONY BUT "SKIN DEEP"

State Republicans Are Not Suited—Some Will Not Work.

Eberhart Followers Are Hedging on Supporting Lee.

St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though harmony seemingly attended the selection of a state central committee at the meeting of the Republican nominees on the state ticket last Thursday, it was said today that several resignations on the part of those named might be filed next week. Some of the members named, it is claimed, were put on the committee without their permission.

Several of the Republican candidates, including Attorney General Smith and O. P. S. Jacobson of the railroad and warehouse commission, say they were not consulted in the matter of the makeup of the state central committee. Men antagonistic to their particular aspirations, they say, were put on the committee without their consent.

Drill Recalcitrant?

One of these is Lewis Drill, St. Paul manager for James Manahan. Drill, it is charged, has been particularly severe in his campaign against the present attorney general.

W. E. Lee, the Republican nominee, held a long conference with Insurance Commissioner Preus the day before the meeting of the candidates to name a state central committee. He, it is understood, gave way completely to the gubernatorial nominee, and authorized the selection of a number of men calculated to bring to Mr. Lee's support the Eberhart following.

Not Active for Lee.

While the Eberhart following announces that it is going to vote for Mr. Lee, many of its members, it is said, refused to accept positions that will call for open activity on their part. Among these are P. P. Quist of Minneapolis and Commissioner Swendsen of the state board of control. The latter says he was appointed without being consulted. He does not think his position will permit of political activity in behalf of Mr. Lee or any other candidate.

FORGER IS BOUND OVER

Memphis Man Says He Was Out of Money, and Desperate.

Entering offices in Superior last Wednesday evening, when he stole several bank checks and papers belonging to M. S. Bartlett and Carl M. Wilson, Albert H. Stewart, 25 years old, self-confessed robber and forger, yesterday afternoon was arrested while attempting to pass one of the forged checks at the Oak Hall Clothing store in this city. He waived examination when arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of forgery and he was bound over to await the action of the September grand jury.

Stewart passed one check for $10 at the City National bank of Duluth early yesterday afternoon and it was while he was attempting to pass one for $40 at the Oak Hall store that the arrest was made. He was taken into custody by Detective Irvine, who answered the call of the clothing store management, they having suspected Stewart.

In his cell at police headquarters last night Stewart confessed to having stolen the bank checks from the offices of Bartlett and Wilson and that he forged their names to the checks, several of which were found on his person following his arrest. He told the court this morning that he was out of funds and that he committed robbery and forgery because he was desperate. He claims to be married and a traveling salesman. He says his home is in Memphis.

The checks were made payable to R. M. Glynn and George H. Allen and Stewart countersigned these names in his efforts to have them cashed. The check that caused his arrest was signed by M. S. Bartlett, while the one passed on the bank was signed by Carl M. Wilson.

IMMIGRANTS THROUGH THE CANAL.

The Survey: With the opening of the Panama canal the far Western states expect a stream of immigrants from Europe and Asia. That social and economic problems will present themselves simultaneously with this alien colonization is inevitable. The West, however, profiting by Eastern experience, began definite plans for a program of distribution and oversight long before the isthmus was cut.

California, particularly, has been preparing for her future citizens. First the legislature passed the "anti-alien land bill," directed especially against Japanese immigrants and intended to protect the native American farmer from foreign competition.

So much controversy was excited by this law that a second important measure dealing with immigration in California has been somewhat overlooked. This was the creation of a commission of immigration and housing.

The bill authorizing the commission was so framed as to include an infinite number of powers and duties. It ranges in scope from so specific a matter as "investigating the relation existing between immigrant nd steamship and railway ticket agents, hotel runners, cabmen, baggage men and pawnbrokers," to "considering and devising means to promote the wefare of the state."

Roughly speaking, however, the functions of the commission may be grouped under four heads:

To provide better industrial opportunities for arriving immigrants;

To extend educational opportunities to both adult and minor aliens;

To secure legal protection for immigrants; and

To obtain better housing accommodations for foreigners in the city and in country labor camps.

THE "BLACK MEN" OF ENGLAND.

London Answers: Practically every Englishman is Anglo-Saxon by blood, but there still are, according to scientists, one or two corners in England where there are colonies directly descended from the ancient Britons, the blue-painted men who, according to the history books, inhabited England before the Anglo-Saxons killed them off.

If you come across them you would at once notice something curious about them. They do not look like Englishmen at all. They are short, as swarthy as Spaniards, with very narrow heads, and with curiously cut profiles.

There are whole villagefuls of these modern ancient Britons, though the villages are very few and very out of the way. It is this out-of-the-wayness that has kept them so distinct from the country people around them.

Some of these villages have not even had road communication with the rest of the world till comparatively recent times.

One of these curious colonies is at Dunsfold, in Surrey. Bedfordshire, too, has some villages of "black men."

THE COLD THROW-DOWN.

Washington Herald: She had entered a Third avenue jewelry store with a typical Bowery gait and walking up to a clerk, she handed out a ring and brusquely queries:

"What is it worth?"

"Very little," he answered after a brief glance.

"Do you call it a diamond?"

"No; it's not a diamond."

"Didn't cost $500, did it?"

"Oh, no."

"About 75 cents, eh?"

"That would be nearer its value, I think. I hope you didn't buy that for a diamond ring?"

"No, I didn't. My feller gave it to me for an engagement ring."

"I see," said the clerk, as he turned his head away to smile.

"Said it was a $500 proof of his love."

"Yes."

"I've been a little suspicious all along, but didn't want to raise a row.

"Only glass, eh? Seventy-five cents buys 'em anywhere? Well, the engagement is off, the feller has got the cold throw-down, and I'm ready for the next! See?"

Will Your Boy Go to College?

It is natural that parents desire to give the boy or girl the benefits of a college education. The item of expense in many instances, precludes the wish.

We know of one father, who in order to fulfill his ambition for a good education for his son, has laid aside each year since the boy was ten, one hundred dollars in a savings account.

In this manner he will have provided the necessary expense money by the time the son is twenty.

A savings account can be put to any number of good uses.

Dr. Manning will deliver his fourth lecture in Duluth at Sloan hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. His subject will be "The Transition of a Soul."

The speaker classes this lecture as a heart talk, in distinction to his former addresses, which he calls head talks, as they were addressed to the reasoning faculties, giving food for thought, while the address on Sunday will apply to the beautiful soul side of spiritualism.

In the evening at 8 o'clock he will speak at the Odd Fellows' temple, in Superior, in the large hall, Twelfth and Ogden.

HIP BROKEN IN FALL.

L. Anderson Slides From Barn Roof, Dropping Twenty Feet.

Lewis Anderson, 62 years old, was seriously injured in a fall from the roof of his barn at his home on the Maple Grove road yesterday afternoon. He sustained a broken hip and other injuries. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital. Physicians believe he will recover.

Mr. Anderson was shingling the barn. A cleat used for a foothold on the roof gave away and he slid off the roof, falling about twenty feet. He was immediately rushed to the hospital.

P. A. Nelson, state secretary for the Independent Order of Good Templars, will head the party. Among the local people who will be in the party will be Mr. Nelson's brother, August Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Strand and family, Mrs. A. Jensen and son, Harold Jensen, Thomas Olson, Miss Hilma Williamson and Miss E. Ostenson.

Mr. Nelson will represent the Minnesota Good Templars at the world's convention of Good Templars to be held in Christiania, Norway, beginning July 16. Following this convention which will last for two weeks, Mr. Nelson will visit various parts of the Scandinavian peninsula. The party will return to Duluth the latter part of September.

PASSENGERS WERE NOT IN ANY DANGER.

The breaking of a bolt in the cylinder of one of the engines of the Steamer Favorite, instead of the blowing off of the cylinder head, is what caused a few of the picnickers on the Swedish Mission Sunday school picnic to become frightened Thursday evening.

H. D. Clow of the Clow & Nicholson line, owners of the boat, said that if it had been the cylinder head that blew off, the steamer would have been badly damaged.

The accident to the engine caused the boat to be about an hour late in arriving at Twenty-first avenue. The trip from the vicinity of Morgan park had to be made with but one of the twin screw engines, as the other was shut off to prevent the escaping of steam.

Some of the more timid passengers on the boat spread the report that the cylinder head had blown off.

"There was no danger at any time for the passengers," said Mr. Clow. "There was no reason for any of them to be frightened. The boat is a new vessel and in the best of condition."

SAM WINS IN FIRST ROUND

Chinese Given Freedom Under Habeas Corpus By Judge Morris.

Department of Justice May Renew Fight to Deport Him.

Siu Tak Sam, Chinaman, yesterday afternoon won the first skirmish in his fight to reside in the United States, when he was given a favorable decision by Federal Judge Page Morris in a habeas corpus proceeding instituted by Attorney John H. Norton, in an effort to have declared invalid the order of Secretary of Labor Wilson barring Siu Tak Sam from residing in the United States.

The Chinaman was ordered discharged by Judge Morris and the Oriental now has his liberty, although this does not mean that he has established his right to residence in this country. The decision rendered by the court holds that the habeas corpus writ brought by Mr. Norton is allowed on the grounds that the action of the immigration officials was brought under the wrong act.

The action of the court follows the first case of the kind ever heard in Minnesota. As Sam was arrested and ordered deported by the department of labor under the immigration laws pertaining to Chinamen, and the writ of habeas corpus entered to establish the authority of this department in the matter, the decision of Judge Morris means that the matter can only be taken up by the department of justice. There is a Chinese exclusion act for laborers and the question will probably come up before the local United States commissioner.

Brief Liberty.

Sam will have his liberty for a short time, as the local immigration officials who caused his arrest in the spring on a charge of being a laborer and an unlawful resident of the United States, will now take the matter up with the department of justice and the Chinese labor exclusion law will be applied. Sam came into this country in 1912 under the merchant certificate plan, but he never became a merchant during his year and one-half residence here and as he was a laborer, the local immigration officials caused his arrest last April.

Sam claims that he is anxious to become a merchant, but that he has been unable to find a suitable location during his residence in this country. He admits having been a laborer all this time, but declares it is his intention to become a merchant.

COOK COUNTY ORE LANDS ARE SOLD

Chicago Syndicate Takes Over Holdings of Johnson-Nickel Company.

A Chicago syndicate is reported to have purchased 6,500 acres of mineral lands in Cook county from the Johnson Nickel company. The consideration involved in the deal is said to have been $1,500,000.

The Johnson Nickel company is controlled mainly by Minneapolis interests and it has not been active for some years. It is said, however, to have proven up 20,000,000 tons of iron ore located forty miles north of Two Harbors. It was said nickel was found in some of the mineral deposits and that the ore located is especially suited for armor plate.

Hopes are entertained that the new interests who have taken over the control of the property will undertake its development and inaugurate a period of activity in the Cook county iron area which has been dormant up to the present.

GOOD TRADE REPORTS OUTNUMBER THE BAD

New York, June 27.—Dun's Review says today: Reports from the principal trade centers continue irregular, but favorable advices outnumber those of opposite character, especially in agricultural sections, the prospect of another year of bountiful harvests stimulating retail sales in the West and Southwest.

The large drygoods suspension and the disastrous fire in New England were naturally disturbing features late in the week.

High temperatures again facilitated the distribution of seasonable merchandise.

This month has witnessed an expansion in demand for iron and steel, yet price concessions are still a feature. The transporting companies are still buying in a conservative manner. There was a decrease of 5.7 per cent in the gross earnings of railroads reporting for two weeks of June.

Failures this week were 336 against 269 last year; in Canada 33 against 27.

M'REYNOLDS DENIES NORRIS STATEMENT

Writes Letter to Senator Regarding New Haven Affairs.

Washington, June 27.—Attorney General McReynolds' determination not to announce at present his purpose as to possible criminal prosecutions in connection with the affairs of the New Haven railroad system was emphasized in a letter read by Senator Norris before the senate.

Senator Norris had declared in discussing the matter: "The attorney general did not have in contemplation any criminal action, and nobody has been given immunity in that case," and referred to a "statement from the attorney general's office to the effect that there never was in contemplation any criminal action; that there was no violation of any Federal statute in all the proceedings that were had in the New Haven affair."

"Out of Harmony With Facts."

In his reply, the attorney general said:

"The language which you unfortunately employed is out of harmony with the real facts, and if accepted as accurate, would cast a false light about the situation.

"The assertion that 'the attorney general did not have in contemplation any criminal action and nobody has been given immunity in that case' was unwarranted and misleading. Speaking in your presence, I had expressly declined to declare my plans or purposes, and this has been my uninterrupted attitude. It was therefore impossible for you to know what they were, and yet you undertook to make announcement in respect of them.

"As is well known, Mellen, a conspicuous figure, was then and is now under indictment in the Federal court because of certain transactions connected with New Haven affairs. How far his examination by the interstate commerce commission gave immunity need not be discussed here."

PLAN AUXILIARY BODY OF THE U. C. T.

Supreme Council Rejects Plan to Admit Boys.

Columbus, Ohio, June 27.—The supreme council of the United Commercial Travelers yesterday rejected a proposed amendment to the constitution providing for admission of traveling salesmen under the age of 21, and postponed for a year action on the question of whether men under 21 may become probation members and take out insurance.

A proposition to reduce the representation in the supreme council from one for every 500 members to one for every 750 members, was defeated. Another proposed amendment voted down provided for the election of a general business manager for the national order.

It is expected a plan of organization for a national women's auxiliary will be submitted to the supreme council before it adjourns.

DECIDES TO MARRY AND QUIT POLITICS.

Riverside, Cal., June 27.—Miss Allie B. Simmons, Prohibitionist candidate for the assembly, announces that she has withdrawn from the race and will be married within two weeks. Previously the secretary of state had been besought by agitated party leaders to know whether a woman who was married between nomination and election could be elected on the name she had before her marriage. On an opinion from the attorney general, the secretary ruled that, inasmuch as the identity of the person married is not changed, she could be elected. The case was the first of its kind.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL TO BE FOUGHT.

Washington, June 27. — Another stumbling block in the path of early passage of the appropriation bills appeared when Senator Borah announced yesterday that he expected to conduct a fight against the river and harbor bill, the so-called "pork barrel" measure. The bill as reported to the senate carries about $53,000,000, an increase over the house bill of about $10,000,000.

Senator Burton, another Republican, already has criticized the measure in a minority report, and it was understood that other Republican senators may join these two. Senator Simmons, in charge of the bill, probably will be able to muster more than enough votes to put the measure through, but a determined handful of opponents can give trouble and cause delay.

THREE DIE FROM HEAT IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Mo., June 27.—Members of the Mothers' congress of St. Louis have indorsed a movement to allow children of the congested districts to sleep in the public parks during the hot months. They decided to appeal to business men for speedy aid in getting funds with which to buy equipment to carry out the plan.

Twenty-one prostrations, three of them fatal, resulted from the heat here yesterday.

GETS DAMAGES FOR POOL ROOM CHARGE.

Atlanta, Ga., June 27.—Gen. J. N. Bateman of Atlanta was awarded damages amounting to $5,000 against Frank Rothleutner, a Nebraskan, who sought to obtain a verdict for $20,000 against Bateman for an alleged fake pool room operation.

Rothleutner charged that Bateman was the head of a chain of fake pool rooms in Atlanta, Miami, Palm Beach and other cities and claimed he lost $20,000 on a fake bet in one of the alleged pool rooms.

On Sept. 24, 1913, charges against Bateman were dismissed, and he then entered suit against Rothleutner for $25,000 for the "humiliation, expense and loss of reputation occasioned by the baseless and malicious accusations."

EARLY PROHIBITION VOTE IS ABANDONED.

Washington, June 27.—Plans for a decisive vote in the house rules committee on July 1 on the Hobson constitutional amendment for nation-wide prohibition have been abandoned. Chairman Henry, in the midst of a campaign in Texas, has suggested a postponement until Aug. 1, and the Democratic members have concurred. There were many predictions in the house that there would be no action this session.

SUBSIDIARY OF CLAFLIN SUSPENDS.

Bridgeport, Pa., June 27.—The Sterling Mills, manufacturers of ladies' dress goods here, has suspended operations following the failure of the H. B. Claflin company, New York, which is said to own 51 per cent of the local company's stock. Employes in the mills were informed yesterday, the regular pay day, that they will have to wait several days for their wages. The pay roll aggregated $2,000.

Seattle Man Receiver.

Spokane, Wash., June 27.—R. B. Gage of Seattle, who was appointed receiver for the Claflin stores at Tacoma and Seattle, was appointed late yesterday receiver for the White House store in Spokane, another Claflin store. It was stated that the action was a protective measure taken to insure continued operation of the White House store.

Home From Vera Cruz.

Philadelphia, June 27.—The United States battleship Michigan arrived at the Philadelphia navy yard yesterday from Vera Cruz and will be placed in drydock for overhauling. One-third of the crew and officers will be given a thirty-day furlough while the remainder will be employed in assisting in the repairs to the vessel.

German Aviator Killed.

Metz, Germany, June 27.—The army aviator Musketeer Grunow yesterday fell with his aeroplane from a height of forty yards and died shortly afterward from injuries sustained.

NOTHING ILLEGAL IN BIG U. P. MELON.

Carson City, Nev., June 27.—Governor Spry has advised the Commercial club traffic bureau that he found no law had been violated by the declaration of the Union Pacific special dividend of $60,000,000, and that the state therefore would take no action in the matter.

WANTS FUND DIVIDED.

Guardian Asks Court to Determine the Rights of His Ward.

M. M. Hanna, guardian of Eva Barcomb, yesterday afternoon petitioned the district court for the distribution of a fund of $4,200 which Catherine Barcomb accepted from the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company on a claim for the death of her husband, Paul Barcomb. Barcomb was crushed to death between two cars at Two Harbors, Feb. 4. The widow lives at Corvallis, Mont. As she has not obtained an order of distribution from the court, Hanna asks that the rights of the respective heirs be determined, especially those of his ward, who is a daughter of the dead man.

FORESTERS ANSWER.

Outline Defense in $10,000 Damage Suit Brought By Expelled Member.

In an answer filed in district court yesterday to the $10,000 damage suit brought by Frances Hallock against the United Order of Foresters, Court North Star, and Margaret Jamieson, the organization declares that its high standing committee acted within its right and powers when it expelled Mrs. Hallock from the order for two years.

The committee is comprised of John McMurchy, Jessie A. Butchart and I. W. Gilleland. The trouble in the beginning started over the fact that Mrs. Hallock preferred charges against Margaret Jamieson at a meeting of the order. Mrs. Hallock was held to account for her utterances but was exonerated by the North Star court. An appeal was then taken to the high standing committee of the high court superior. The committee reversed the action of the lower court and deprived Mrs. Hallock of her rights in the order, except insurance benefits, for a period of two years.

ILLEGAL VOTES IN STRIKE BALLOTING.

Charleston, June 27.—Part of the vote of the miners of the Kanawha district as to whether they will accept the second proposition in the strike settlement agreement profferred by the Federal mediators, was thrown out by the officers of District 17, United Mine Workers of America, and was sent back to the local unions for correction. The officials claim they found irregularities in the votes of eighteen of the fifty locals. The action of the officials postpones settlement of the strike.

MILITIA MEN RETURN HOME

Three Companies of National Guard End Ten Days' Outing.

Duluth's three militia companies, A, C and E, Minnesota National Guard, reached the city last evening after the annual ten days' camp at Lake City. They broke camp yesterday morning in the midst of a heavy downpour which made the work of entraining more difficult. But when they detrained at the Union station and marched through the city to the Armory they were as cheerful as they were tired and muddy.

The camp was one of the most successful which has ever been held. Although the continual bad weather was disagreeable the work was lightened by the fact that the number of men was considerably greater than for several years.

Col. F. E. Resche, who was in command at Lake City, expressed himself as highly pleased with the manner in which the men had conducted themselves. He said that not a single case of rowdyism had come to his attention or been reported to him.

Gov. Eberhart visited the camp Thursday evening. After reviewing the regiment and complimenting the boys upon their splendid condition and appearance, he presented Lieut-Col. H. V. Eva of Duluth and Maj. Pratt of Anoka with medals for finishing twenty-five years' service.

WEST DULUTH CHILDREN HAVE WELL EQUIPPED PLAYGROUNDS AT FIFTY-SECOND AVENUE WEST

SPENDING THE VACATION IN HEALTHY PLAY AT FIFTY-SECOND AVENUE.

Children of all ages are receiving the benefit of Duluth's first playgrounds under organized supervision at West Duluth and the West end. The playground at Fifty-second avenue west is now being visited by hundreds of children daily.

Miss Margaret Culkin, assisted by Miss Margaret Jeffrey, has organized several classes in outdoor athletics since the opening of the grounds on June 15.

Classes of small girls playing soccer ball, basket ball and volley ball, have been organized. For the smaller children a playhouse has been provided where they are taught old-fashioned games and for others a large sand box has been provided where they can roll around in the sand and play.

The girls are given the exclusive use of the grounds during the forenoon hours. In the afternoons the grounds are turned over to the boys. These are organized into classes under the direction of Axel McKenzie. The boys have been organized into two groups, one under 12 years and the other over that. An athletic field meet between the boys of the Fifty-second avenue playgrounds and those of the Thirtieth avenue playgrounds is being planned to take place early next month. These meets are to be held once each month during the summer.

Later in the summer it is expected to organize an older girls' athletic club which will hold its practices on the grounds during the early hours of the evening. Volley ball and other games are being planned to be held between these organizations and those of the boys. The picture reproduced herewith was taken Thursday and shows the children enjoying the games at the Fifty-second avenue grounds. It also shows considerable of the apparatus installed at the place by the city.

SUNDEAN REPLIES TO TUSKEN STATEMENT

Says He Carried His Point and Buried the Hatchet.

J. L. Sundean of Minneapolis, state consul of the M. W. of A., and a delegate to the head camp held at Toledo last week, has replied to the interview of W. E. Tusken, published in the Herald on June 23.

In a communication to the Herald Mr. Sundean states that the assembly insurgents of Minnesota are and always were more opposed to the federation faction which stands for current cost and advocates skipping assessments, and is the faction which has made the most bitter fight against Mr. Sundean and his followers in Minnesota.

Mr. Sundean says that under no circumstances could he and his friends support the federation men at the Toledo head camp, but that before they would support the administration men the Minnesota delegates had a conference with the head consul, in which the administration agreed to oppose the objectionable provisions of section 23a of the Mobile bill.

Mr. Sundean, who started the insurgent movement, claims to have based his fight solely in section 23a of the Mobile bill, and Head Consul Talbot placed Mr. Sundean on the resolutions committee so that he was able to draw the resolution adopted at Toledo against section 23a of the Mobile bill. Mr. Sundean says the administration voted against the Mobile bill while the federationists voted for the Mobile bill, and that at the present time the administration stands where the insurgents stood at Chicago, while the so-called federation stands where the administration stood at Chicago.

He said: The Minnesota delegates were unanimous in their judgment that it would be fatal to the best interests of the society to let the federation element secure the offices, for at no time during the sessions of the head camp did they show themselves to be reasonable and businesslike.

"The view of the Minnesota delegates is that the fight must end or the society will be ruined, and as long as the administration has accepted the views of the Minnesota insurgents, and is working for those views, there was nothing left for the Minnesota delegates to do but to bury the hatchet as a matter of consistency and for the good of the order."

G-E Radiant Toaster

I just LOVE toast when it isn't tough an'old an' all burned. There used to be a time when Mother lifted the lid off the stove an' had to stan' there and blister her fingers holdin' a piece of bread, with a fork, over the coals.

Wasn't hot when I got it either, 'cause she made up a whole lot at oncet.

I've learn'd to make my own toast before I go to school in the mornin'. It's FUN, that's what it is, and say, fellers, its S-O-M-E Toast.

You just ought to get your dad to look at one of those toasters, he'll buy it all right!

SUBURB IS HIT HARD BY STORM

Wind and Rain Play Havoc With Spirit Lake Ice Houses.

The storm last night done considerable damage to property in the western end of the city and the suburbs. The damage was principally to trees, telephone wires and electric wires. New Duluth and Gary were put in darkness during the night owing to the feed cable breaking at Smithville.

During the height of the storm the northwest corner of the Duluth Ice company's house at Spirit lake was blown down. The side blew against some box cars standing on the side tracks. The accident failed to stop traffic on the railroad to the suburb and trains were able to go through.

Several trees in the suburbs were blown down during the storm but as far as could be ascertained no other damage was sustained. The road to the western end of the city is impassable for traffic of any kind.

SEASHORE FOR SCHOOL BOARD

West Duluth Physician Indorsed for Re-Election By Commercial Club.

Dr. D. E. Seashore, present member of the school board was unanimously indorsed for re-election at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last night. Members of the club started a petition to have his name placed on the ballot. They will work for his re-election.

The name of P. H. Martin was also mentioned, but Mr. Martin who is president of the club, said that it would be impossible for him at this time to consider the subject. He advocated the re-election of Dr. Seashore to the board.

Owing to the storm only a few members of the club were present, and the discussion of subways was postponed until the next meeting.

HELD TO GRAND JURY.

West Duluth Men Face Charge of Stealing Wheat.

Floyd Mathews and Louis Kozach, who were arrested early in the week on a charge of larceny in the second degree, were bound over to the grand jury, following a hearing held before Judge H. W. Lanners yesterday afternoon. The men are charged with having stolen about 100 bushels of wheat from a box car in the Canadian Northern railroad. The police claim to have evidence to show that the prisoners had sold a considerable quantity of the wheat to people residing near the railroad yards.

Mathews was able to furnish bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance before the grand jury, but Kozach was remanded to the county jail while awaiting its action.

WEST DULUTH BOY SENT TO RED WING.

Judge Ensign of the juvenile court this morning committed a 13-year-old West Duluth boy to the state training school for boys at Red Wing because he had been implicated in a theft from a box car. It was the youngster's fourth appearance in court and it was deemed advisable to commit him to the boy's reformatory. Another boy of the same age was also committed for the same offense. His sentence, however, was suspended and he was placed on his good behavior.

NEW YORK IS REAL AMUSING

Living in the Metropolis Is Like Reading Mark Twain.

Vance Thompson in the New York Sun: Living in New York is mildly amusing—like reading Mark Twain.

And indeed the average New Yorker might have stepped out of any one of those old-fashioned, humorous pages. He is always doing the most startlingly irrational things with an air of austere gravity.

The other day, for instance, he got a new chief of police. The way he got him of course was by electing someone else to an entirely different office, a procedure which to the New Yorker seemed quite logical. At all events, he got his new police commissioner.

Now it happened that a murder was committed. East side gunmen, in their criminal way of business, killed a casual citizen. Ordinarily it would not have caused excited comment. The New Yorker takes murder lightly. He is a simple minded person. There is indeed a childishness about him that is singularly winsome. He has a boyish liking for crude comic pictures and brass bands and chewing gum. A crime delights him. He will talk for hours about his gang men ("And aren't they worse than the Apaches of Paris!") and his Black Handers and firebugs and white slavers and murderers; all kinds of crime delights him. And day and night crime splutters and sparkles (like damp fireworks) in the streets and dark alleys of his town. It interests him. He likes to think that he is living in a wicked and turbulent world as the small boy likes to dream there are bandits in the coal cellar.

A Wholesome Cracking of Heads.

The particular murder to which I have referred was not particularly exciting. It was a murder like any other; like that of the week before and the month before that. Only it happened to be New Year's day for going up in the air. A sort of muttering hysteria swept over the city. You could hear it in the street cars and in the shops and in the clubs. Large round men (slightly flattened at either pole) stood in barrooms and denounced the police. Angry citizens invectived the new head of the police. That windfall of a man gravely announced that he would "take decisive action."

And what did he do?

Not in seven guesses, not in twenty-one, a mystic number, could you hit upon the action he did so decisively take. I might as well tell you what it was.

This: He sent out his policemen, armed with night sticks, to raid the unfashionable quarters of town and club those citizens who had an air of indigence and civic unworthiness. Impossible, you say; but I assure you that is exactly what he did. And it was wild work. His flat-footed cops swept the slums, diving into doorways, peering into cellars and when they saw a sallow head they cracked it.

What do you think of it?

Naturally you assume that this theatrical clubbing excursion, this vehement outburst of official lawlessness was followed by a storm of public indignation. That is not the way things are ordered in New York. A delighted public (crime delights 'em, even official crime) cheered the new police head. They called him a man of energy. They praised his decisive action. Erubscent drunkards hiccoughed approbation in the cafes. Clergymen preached applausively in the churches.

And Then He Calls Them the Finest.

Killing old men in the streets is a lawless thing, but it is equally lawless to crack the sallow heads of the indigent. There are courts to try such men, and when convicted dire but legal penalties may be laid upon their sallow heads. But you can't make the New Yorker see it that way. When it comes to crime he is constitutionally beyond the reach of logic. It is when his policemen take the streets like vigilantes or white riders or a gang of lynchers that he likes them best. And he calls them "the finest" proudly.

This is a perfectly fair example of the police way of doing things. When it can't arrest a murderer it goes out clubs a dirty boy—and every one (except the sallow, dirty boy) is happy, including the murderer.

And the point is the New York police department is about the most reckless, confused, headless and brainless organization that was ever set to guard a great city. It is merely a haphazard development of the simple system by which a small village safeguards its virtues—with seven old constables, wearing tin shields, and a hog warden.

How the head of the department is chosen you know. One man is made mayor of the city. He may be a naughty politician or, again, he may be a statesman with an aureole; but he, and no other, picks the head of the police. And the man he picks is just about as free and independent as though his honor wore him on his watch chain or kept him in his trousers pocket with the rest of his loose change. By way of result the police department has impermanent amateurs on top, and beneath them more or less regular policemen tied up in political ribbons. Even that bad method of getting a chief might be put up with, for occasionally a man of brains and honesty gets the place. If the police force were organized on modern lines of efficiency and specialization.

Have No Real Detectives.

The main defect of the system is that there is no properly organized secret police. The detective force is a mere helter skelter agglomeration. One day a man may be walking the street in buttons, and the next day serving as a detective. Nine times out of ten he is as well known to the criminals as is the patrolman on the beat. I asked a headquarters man how he did his work. He explained that he had his own "stool-pigeons." In other words he had organized, in a haphazard way, a secret police of his own. He had his own spies and informers; and he meted out justice to them without concerning himself with the courts or with his superiors. He sacrificed a little thief (a minnow of petty larceny) to catch his burglar. It was the only way he could get his work done.

He has virtually set up a little clearing house of crime on his own account. When the balance is in his favor he pays over the excess criminals to headquarters. And the detective, if he is frank, will tell you that although he has a few saloon keepers and dive-keepers among his spies, yet most of his allies are criminals upon whom he has a hold. He lets them run because they are useful to him. This power—which belongs to judge and jury—is entirely in his own hands. Each detective is, in his lawless way, the head of a secret police recruited among the men of crime.

In every great city a secret police is necessary. That of Paris is perhaps the best. It has its spies and informers in every class of society. Your upper housemaid may be drawing pay from the surate—or the second man, who buttons up your boots of a morning before the butler comes to tell you the motor car is at the door. But the secret police is officered and disciplined like an army; authority mounts degree by degree; there is none of this amazing heedlessness that marks the New York equivalent.

Don't Rely on the Police.

Haphazard as the police is, it does its work?

It does not.

And the startling thing is that the New Yorker does not expect it to do its work. He does not expect it to guard his house or shop, to take care of him in a railway station or to protect his children or his horses, or to fence him off from the attacks of the painted woman. That is one of the most disconcerting things in New York. When the New Yorker's cashier absconds—or his wife elopes, or his Japanese butler goes away with the Pekinese spaniel and the plated silver spoons—he calls up Mr. Burns or Mr. Pinkerton.

(Only the degenerate Latin races would tolerate a secret police—it is so un-American!)

At this moment 124 private detective agencies are advertising their "expert secret service" and their "women operatives" and their "secret investigators."

That is secret service with a vengeance. The average New Yorker never knows when, glancing up, he will see the nose of Mr. Pinkerton or the nose of Mr. Burns sticking through the transom over his bathroom door.

Of course, the police are wholly incompetent to attend to the detective work of the city. Their secret service—mingled with roguery and a dirty kind of tyranny. So the 124 private agencies are necessary. (One hundred and twenty-four are advertised this morning; a sleepless eye peering through a triangle might discern scores of others).

Hires His Own Detectives.

What the police do not do for him the New Yorker cheerily does for himself. He has a private watchman to guard his shop, another to walk up and down in front of his house. Self-constituted societies protect him from vice. There is even a society for the "prevention of vice." Another society looks after his children. There is a private society to see that his horses are not ill-treated, and that nobody kicks his pet dog around, and another to censor his books and pictures. The railway station is guarded by railway police. The hotels have their own policemen and so have the department stores, the jewelry shops, the theaters and moving picture halls.

THE GOAT.

Farm and Fireside: In Persia there is a legend regarding the goat, which tells us that the goat, without fault of her own, excited the prejudice of mankind until her life was unbearable. The powers then made it possible for her to find sustenance on inaccessible mountain tops where man could not molest her, and she was given the power to find by instinct the leaf of healing, so that she would never become ill. And after centuries of isolation she was to return and again live among the haunts of men, to be a "blessed" animal and to be indispensable to his needs, alone having power to save him from many troubles.

THE SERVANT PROBLEM.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer quotes this telephone conversation:

"Is this Mrs. Blithering Brown?"

"Yes. Who's talking?"

"Mrs. Benjamin Green. Is Mary Jane Blooker cooking for you now?"

"She is. Cooked for you, didn't she?"

"Yes, and you took her away from me."

"Oh, no, I didn't."

"You say you didn't. Then who did?"

"Why, I was told it was the humane society. Good-by, dear."

A violent clash of receivers. Quick calls for the repair department.

BETTER THAN EXPECTED.

"My fiance is such a noble man!" sighed the plain Miss Elder-Roxe.

"He must be," murmured her dear friend sympathetically, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"He is disinterested, so generous," went on the engaged-at-last one, not noticing the sarcasm. "I am sure he loves me for myself alone. The other evening I confessed to him that I wore a switch and some false curls. I held my breath when I had told him my secret, but he did not wince. He kissed me fondly and seemed delighted at my confidence."

"Yes, he should be delighted. He probably thought you wore a wig."

NURSES AND WHITE SLAVES.

Indianapolis News: Proprietors of London shops that sell nurses' outfits are complaining that the sale of nurses' outdoor uniforms has fallen heavily. This slump is a curious result of the recent agitation against the white slave traffic. There is a widespread belief that much of the kidnaping of young girls has been carried on by women who disarm suspicion by donning nurses' uniforms, and this fact has led thousands of nurses to discard the outdoor uniform altogether, appearing in public only in mufti.

POOR LITTLE KITTEN.

San Francisco Star: Mrs. Flint came for a visit to her sister's house, and her little niece, Charlotte, was delighted to see her.

"What became of the black kitten you had when I was here before?"

"Why, don't you know?" asked Charlotte, much surprised.

"I haven't heard a word," replied the aunt; "was he poisoned?"

"No, ma'am," said Charlotte.

"Drowned?"

"Oh, no."

"Stolen?"

"No, indeed."

"Hurt in any way?"

"No, ma'am."

"Well," said Mrs. Flint, "I can't guess, dear. What became of him?"

"He growed into a cat," said Charlotte.

RELATIVE VALUES.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Recently a certain young man was greatly in love with the charming daughter of an old professor and, finally getting the sweet one's consent, he went to speak to papa.

"Professor," said the young man, "your daughter has honored me by promising to be my wife, and I have come to ask your consent to her marriage."

"You may have her, my boy," said the professor to the delight of the youth, "and I want to say that in giving her to you I am entrusting to your care the greatest treasure of my life."

Shortly afterward the young man arose to go home, but on reaching the door he stopped with much suddenness.

"Gee whiz!" he exclaimed, "look how it's raining and I haven't an umbrella! May I borrow yours, professor?"

"You may not, young man," was the prompt reply of the professor. "That umbrella was presented to me by some fellow scientists and I wouldn't trust it with any man on earth."

WHY PRAYER WAS UNANSWERED.

London Spectator: McCarthy got into an argument with Casey about the efficacy of prayer.

"Oi can't see that there's anything in it," asserted Casey. "Oi never got anything out of it."

"Well," said McCarthy, "don't you know when there's a war it's always the people that pray that win the fights?"

"How about the Chinese?" asked Casey. "They're great people to pray, and yet they got licked, and licked bad."

"Oh, well," explained McCarthy, "no wan could understand them whin they prayed."

JOHN BULL ABROAD.

Los Angeles Times: The Paris Liberte has discovered the most "nervy" of English tourists—always a self-confident race. This man entered a well-known restaurant, accompanied by two little girls, ordered a bottle of mineral water and three plates and began to eat sandwiches which he had brought with him in his pockets.

The manager, overcome by this outrage, approached him, and said: "I should like to inform you that this is not a—"

"Who are you?" interrupted the Englishman.

"I am the manager," was the reply.

"Oh, you are the manager, are you? That is good. I was just going to send for you. Why isn't the band playing?"

PARIS POLICE PAY.

New York Sun: The Paris police, some of whose members have fallen into disgrace, are poorly paid. The maximum salary attainable by a "sergent de ville" is $360 a year. In view of the high cost of living in Paris this amount is inadequate to maintain a family in any degree of comfort, and the married members of the force have frequently to supplement their incomes as best they can. Some of them earn a few francs working as market porters during their time off duty. Others do boat repairing and there is one who does odd tailoring jobs.

Still, in spite of these hardships, there are always plenty of men eager to join the force, about ten candidates available for every vacancy that occurs.

Nicolas Pouissin, the great painter of religious subjects, is known as the French Raphael. He was born in Normandy in 1594 and died in Rome in 1665. Among his most celebrated works are the "Seven Sacraments" and "Capture of Jerusalem." He also was a painter of landscapes.

WILL SEEK MODIFICATION

Meeting Held Here to Consider Indian Territory Liquor Ruling.

Business Men Would Have Discretion Used in Prohibiting Liquor.

A meeting of business men of the cities and towns affected by the Federal supreme court's recent decision in connection with the Indian treaty of 1855 is being held at the Duluth Commercial club today to have an organized effort made to have the department of Indian affairs modify the enforcement of the anti-liquor ruling to the extent that communities that are not frequented by Indians may not be forbidden to sell liquor.

Those who are taking part in the meeting include nobody from Duluth for this territory is not affected. Those who are at present at the meeting are:

Mayor Victor Power of Hibbing; Attorney H. A. Brown of Crosby; H. Carrier, a real estate dealer at Cohasset; Joseph Austin, a Chisholm attorney; Rowe McCannus, a newspaper man of Brookston; E. C. Kiley, owner of the Grand Rapids Herald-Review and postmaster of Grand Rapids; William King, a lumberman of Keewatin; Frank Provinsky, a merchant of Bovey; H. Hogan, a newspaper man of Nashwauk; W. L. O. Bartlett, a cigar manufacturer of Coleraine; Dr. M. N. Triplett of Bloodwood; A. E. Peiler, a merchant of Marble; Crotie, a grocer of Calumet; Robert Laux, a general merchant and postmaster of Taconite, and Abe Palon, a lumberman of Swan River.

Third Meeting.

The movement was started recently in Brainerd and later a similar meeting was held in Bemidji. This is the third meeting held by men who live in the restricted territory. Officers have been elected in each of the three divisions of the territory involved and these officers will co-operate with each other in their work to get the department of Indian affairs at Washington to use their discretion. Victor Power of Hibbing was, this morning, elected president of the Eastern division and H. A. Brown of Crosby was elected secretary.

"The fact that the supreme court has given until Oct. 12 for a rehearing of the case," said one of the men attending the meeting, "gives us time to take the matter up with the department of Indian affairs. We believe that the department can be shown that it would be using good judgment to do as we ask. We all know that the department will not prohibit the introduction of wines for sacramental and medicinal purposes; and if it uses its discretion in the matter to that extent, there is no reason why it should restrict the introduction and sale of liquor in cities and towns that seldom, if ever, see an Indian. Simply because these towns have since sprung up on what was formerly occupied by Indians, is a very poor reason why this restriction should be applied to them."

The meeting continued this afternoon and may be continued this evening taken in it, and the fact that nobody connected with the brewing or liquor interests is in the organization, although, of course, interested in what it will result in, makes the movement all the more emphatic, it is believed.

"The only reason that we are anxious to have this restriction itself restricted," said one of the men attending, "is because we believe that if our towns are so held down, while neighboring towns are not, it will be of untold injury to our business in all lines, for that matter; and with the foolish aspect of the affair confronting us, it seems that something should be done in the way of discretionary action by the department that injustice may not be done."

UNCLE SAM BEATEN OUT OF $57,000

Use of Lodge's Frank By Beet Sugar Men Is Condemned.

Washington, June 27.—Chairman Overman of the senate lobby committee had before him today a special report of postoffice inspectors, alleging that the government was deprived of 357,600 in postal revenue when certain so-called beet sugar lobby literature was circulated free under the frank of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts.

Whether steps will be taken to compel the sugar interests concerned to pay that sum has not been decided, but Mr. Overman declared today the investigation would be the basis of legislation to regulate the use of the franking privilege.

TARIFF INCOME IS WAY OVER ESTIMATE

Will Be $292,000,000 and the Income Tax $85,000,000.

Washington, June 27.—Democratic Leader Underwood told the house today the new tariff law would produce $292,000,000 for the year, $22,000,000 more than the estimates. The income tax this year, he said, would produce $85,000,000, $10,000,000 less than estimated, because incomes were not taxed for the full year. He urged that the treasury's million dollar fund for collecting the tax be increased to $1,500,000.

WISCONSIN C. E. IN SESSION AT MADISON

Meeting Is Largest Society Has Ever Held in the State.

Madison, Wis., June 27.—The Wisconsin Christian Endeavor union, in session here, is the largest state meeting yet held.

The program provides speakers of national and international reputation and is of unusual strength. The greatest problem of the day is the elimination of the liquor evil and houses of vice, according to Assistant City Attorney Walter H. Bender of Milwaukee, in a stirring talk on "Good Citizenship." Mr. Bender discussed the Milwaukee situation. He pointed to the defeat of nearly all the aldermen who had voted to violate the Baker law.

"Houses of vice could not exist today if they did not sell intoxicating liquor and if the police did not wink at them," said Mr. Bender.

State Treasurer Stanley Howard of Milwaukee presided at the afternoon session.

ITALIAN RUNS WILD; FINALLY IS KILLED

Murders One Man and Wounds Others With Hatchet.

Uniontown, Pa., June 27.—An unidentified Italian was shot dead at Smithfield, near here, today, after he had killed one of his countrymen, perhaps fatally wounded Martin Hope and less seriously injured a number of other persons. Armed with a hatchet, the man suddenly appeared at the house of an Italian coke worker and killed him before he could make an outcry. Dashing down the street, he attacked a number of pedestrians, who managed to escape.

Martin Hape was standing in the doorway at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Omer Sutton, when the man struck him down and then attacked Mrs. Sutton. L. V. Morgan, from his house across the street, saw the attack and killed the Italian.

He was a stranger in Smithfield.

THE WEDDING RING.

Indianapolis News: The wedding ring as a symbol dates to far back times, probably having its origin in the days of Tubal Cain. It was at one time customary for marriage rings to be worn by both sexes, and this custom is largely followed on the continent today. Our ancestors put the ring on the left hand, because they found it more convenient, and they chose the fourth finger because it is less used than the rest, and more capable of preserving a ring from damage.

PROGRAM IS PREPARED

An interesting and varied program is being arranged for the seventh annual convention of the National Building Owners' and Managers' association to be held in this city during five days commencing July 14 next. It is expected that fully 500 delegates from the principal cities of the country will be in attendance.

Randall will deliver the president's address in reply and John H. Hall of Cincinnati will read a paper on the "Building Managers' Contribution to Downtown Development."

In the afternoon an address on the "Rental Area Basis" will be read by A. L. Hawley, and a paper on the "Significance of Fire Waste" will be read by Frank N. Wentworth, secretary of the National Fire association.

On Wednesday morning Donald Lawler will read a paper on "Putting Your Building on the Map." A paper on "Building at a Profit" will be read by H. F. Martin of Atlanta, and Allen D. Albert of the Minneapolis Tribune will follow with an address on the "Building of American Cities."

In the afternoon a paper on "Office Building Bonds" will be read by Simon Straus of New York, and one on the subject of "Workmen's Compensation," by R. Robertson Jones, secretary of the Workmen's Publicity bureau of New York. W. W. Howard Peyton will make the report of the fire insurance committee.

On Thursday morning a paper on "The Appraisal of Land Values" will be read by E. W. Doty, member of the public utilities commission of Ohio, and Frederick K. Boomhower of Chicago will speak on "Economies in Power Plant."

On Thursday afternoon a discussion will take place on the subject of space and alterations for tenants, led by William Miller McKnight, general superintendent of the Aldis company.

The program for Friday morning will consist of a report of the conference of local officials, and reports of committee on membership, income tax, plumbing, government buildings, official organ, on advancement of local organizations and on standardization of forms; also a report from delegates to the National Fire Protection association. The next convention city will be selected and appointment of committees will take place. In the afternoon a trip will be taken over the boulevard.

DOUBT STORY OF WILLIAMS

Washington Is Incredulous Over Quotations From Diplomat.

Denunciation of Albanian Affairs Credited to Minister.

Washington, June 27.—Administration officials, particularly those in the state department, are interested, mildly amazed and in some doubt over reports from abroad that George Fred Williams of Boston, minister to Greece, has officially condemned, in emphatic terms, the present government in Albania. No such report has reached the department.

Inasmuch as some time ago the department investigated a published report that Mr. Williams had offered his services on behalf of the United States as a mediator in the Albanian crisis, and found it was repudiated, they are inclined to await the result of an inquiry on the latest story.

Report As Quoted.

The report attributed to Mr. Williams denounces as a "horrible crime" what the powers are doing in Albania. It does not even spare the prince of Weid, saying of him:

"I found a prince, calling himself a king, with no powers, no territory and no subjects except his wife and children."

Elsewhere in the report Mr. Williams is quoted as saying:

"I uncovered at Durazzo an epochal scandal of anarchy, incompetence, hypocrisy and murder. My first effort was to find the Albanian government. I found none, except six warships, and they were silent.

"I took opinions on the London agreement, and everyone agreed, from its plain reading, that it created no government except one of armed force from abroad, for which all the authorities were clamoring.

"Five Ostensible Governments."

"Five ostensible governments were in sight: First the six great powers with all the power; second, the commission with control of the civil administration and finance; third, the Dutch gendarmerie with control of the military; fourth, the prince, with any powers remaining; fifth, the ministry, with no powers.

"Each of these governments was fighting with every other, save the first, which apparently is so discordant within itself, that it had abandoned all the rest to their fate."

The report as published highly praises the Dutch officers as the only sincere men in the whole of Durazzo, accuses the Albanian government of having plunged Albania into the throes of evil and religious war, and appeals to Europe to remove the prince of Weid and the international commission and substitute a system of Cantonal government.

The statement has created an immense sensation abroad, it is said.

ULTIMATUM TO THE WESTINGHOUSE MEN

All Not Returning By June 30 Will Be Dropped From List.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 27.—The most important move in the Westinghouse strike since 12,000 men and women left the shops three weeks ago, was made today when notices were posted at the electric and machine plants announcing that all employes who do not report for duty by June 30 will be considered as having left the employ of the company. President Herr of the electric company explained that by setting a date when the employes must return, the management will withdraw after that date the promise to take back all of the strikers.

JURY TO TRY PETRAS HAS BEEN SECURED

Taking of Testimony Will Begin on Monday.

Geneva, Ill., June 27.—A jury to try Anthony Petras for the murder of Theresa Hollander in the St. Nicholas cemetery last winter was obtained today. Court adjourned until Monday, when the taking of testimony will begin.

PARTY SPENDS NIGHT IN RED LAKE STORM

Twenty-One People Buffeted About By Storm, All Being Saved.

Bemidji, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of "Seeing Minnesota First" people, twenty-one in all from the University of Minnesota, spent a perilous night on Red lake last night being buffeted about by the storm and came near perishing. They started out yesterday at 6 a. m. on the steamer Mud Hen, Capt. Cook, were caught in the storm and blown about the lake all night. Great anxiety for their safety was felt and this morning the government boat Chippewa started to search for them. They were found on the north shore about 1 o'clock this afternoon all safe, but suffering from exposure and the lack of food.

Washington, June 27.—Authority to sell the battleships Idaho and Mississippi was finally conferred on President today by the adoption of the completed conference report on the naval appropriation bill in the senate. Arrangements have been practically completed for the sale of the two battleships to Greece.

SCHEMES TO MAKE EASY MONEY

Englishman, Who Advertised for Investment, Is Told How He Can Make 22,000,000 Per Cent Profit.

Chicago Tribune: Four thousand dollars converted into three and a half million in ninety days! Sounds like the "lead" to the prospectus of a mining proposition. It is in reality, however, one of the most remarkable of the numerous replies received to the following advertisement, recently inserted in a Chicago newspaper:

"Young English gentleman has $25,000 to invest; speculative business preferred. Full particulars to X 179."

Crooks, cranks, quacks, sharks responded to the bait temptingly set for their benefit. One hundred and fifty letters were received telling the "young English gentleman with $25,000 how he might soon have the wealth of a Rockefeller, commencing with the capital named in the advertisement.

Allowing for the fact that speculative business was sought, the replies would have staggered a Whitaker Wright. The least extravagant of the propositions offered a return of 10 per cent, while with little calculation it can be seen that the proposition referred to above offers no less a return than 22,000,000 per cent. Shades of Croesus!

Analysis of the letters received showed that less than 8 per cent of the writers actually stated their proposition as required to do so. Personal interviews in which the young Englishmen could quickly be convinced of the advisability of parting quickly with his cash, and vague talks of the marvelous quantity of money to be earned, were the features of the replies. In a word, the financial underworld were out for that $25,000.

Many of the replies came "as from one Englishman to another." One of these latter, written from a downtown hotel, suggested that the $25,000 be appropriated for those Englishmen who were out of work in the city.

A most remarkable letter was received from a crank inventor residing on the West side. "In view of the number of railway accidents," he wrote, "I have invented a wonderful preventive of further collisions. This invention of mine will bring in hundreds per cent to the man who is lucky enough to finance it."

Explanation of this wonderful invention showed it to be an idea for constructing all trains in future of rubber. Thus when these rubber trains collided the shock would be absorbed to a minimum. All that would happen would be a tremendous rebound "Twenty thousand dollars would be sufficient to finance this rubber train proposition of mine," continued the inventor. "I suggest that the remainder of your $25,000 be used to bribe the railway directors, in order that the big railway systems of America may look favorably upon its adoption."

It was in connection with railways that the enormous profit of 22,000,000 per cent was offered. The ingenious inventor of this get-rich-quick scheme claimed to have invented an imperishable tie. "Should the railways in America adopt this tie, and should we be allowed 1 cent for every tie, we should easily turn $4,000 into $3,500,000 in ninety days," wrote the correspondent, who further stated he must have funds to go to Washington to personally supervise the patenting of his device. Once the gentleman had arrived at Washington it would be questionable whether it would be seen again.

This letter speaks for itself. It runs: "For the enlargement of our plant near ——we will need some money; however, not near the amount you intend to invest. It is a regular up-to-date gold mine, from which the ore runs very high. It is located on the same ledge as the —— Gold Mining company. The corporation (?) is on a sound basis, with by far the larger part of its stock still in the treasury. The amount now needed would not exceed $8,000, value of the property not less than $4,000. A good chance to become one of the officials and to double the investment within a short time. Kindly inform me as to where we could meet."

Now if anybody wants a nice little gold-mining investment, which promises to return about 500 per cent, the writer of this story, without any commission, will be pleased to divulge the address of the man who wrote the above letter.

The next letter opened was a staggerer. Romance filled its pages. It might have been copied, and probably was, from the work of an author of boys' stories. "You are just the man I have been looking for," ran the reply. "When I was in Mexico two years ago I came across a very curious thing. I happened to render assistance to a dying Indian, and, to cut a long story short, he gave me a tattered paper with the location of a diamond mine, from which great wealth had once been taken, but had not been used for several years. I have been waiting for some one to put up the capital to help me locate this mine, and when located to run it. This is a splendid chance to make a fortune."

Splendid. A diamond mine in Mexico must be a curious thing, and the ingenious concocter of that fairy tale will probably have to wait a long time for some one to put up the necessary capital for the trip to Mexico.

How would you like to invest a little spare capital in a "summer sausage," in contradistinction to the winter delicacy? There is a gentleman in Chicago at this moment who will assure you that there is a fortune in the article, and it only wants such a little capital, too. Not nearly as much as $25,000. Now, then who's for the summer sausage?

The advertisement even proved attractive to the gentler sex. "Dear sir," came an answer, written on perfumed paper and in a delicate feminine hand, "do you not think that, as a young Englishman, you require some one to look after you and that $25,000? I am only 21 years old and considered good-looking by my friends. I am employed in a downtown office as stenographer, but I am tired of the daily routine of my work, and would like to meet a nice boy with a view to matrimony. I should like to have a personal interview, when he could go further into detail."

Another of these financial gentlemen indited an epistle as follows: "Dear Sir: In reply to your ad will say that I have a speculative proposition which I would be pleased to have you investigate thoroughly, where the risk is reduced to the minimum of a sound per-cent investment. A proposition which is cash on demand, conducted through your own bankers and brokers (with a capital B in each case), where all investments and plans of investments by myself before executed, are subject to your judgment, approval and authority, thereby eliminating all possible chance of fraud or misrepresentation. A proposition where you can master all the details in a few days, where the field for little and big are limited (notice the are), where little profits can be turned rapidly daily, and these profits into larger daily, and in the course of a few months Hundreds (with a capital H) of profits, making profits upon profits, until practically there was no risk whatever, An (with a capital A) investment of $5,000 will easily clear $250,000 the first year, and any amount within reason thereafter, speculation history reads of a man with $10,000 which is soon all gone. (At last a full stop.) My proposition reverses this method, and starts with little profits and builds up Hundreds of others (another capital H)."

That financier with the reversing method had better use his profits upon profits to take a few lessons in grammar.

Now for the last letter, which shows there is still a little sympathy in the world. "Dear sir," wrote a man under the signature of P. J. Johnson, but who gave no address, "I noticed your ad in the paper this morning. I presume, though you will pardon the presumption if I am wrong, that you are fresh to the United States. Don't you think you are a little foolish in speculating with your money like that? I have no wish that you should think me interfering, but I suggest that you put your money into a safe 5-per-cent bond. There are a lot of sharks in Chicago who will quickly separate you and your $25,000."

And here's the funny thing about this story. Not one of the 150 respondents considered for one moment that it might be a trap.

STRABISMUS.

The Wash: The judge had the misfortune of being cross-eyed, and the result at times was rather amusing. One day he had three prisoners before him.

"What's your name?" he inquired of the one to the left.

"James Peterson," promptly replied the man on the right.

The man on the bench turned around quickly. "I was not addressing you, sir!" he snapped.

At this the one in the center quaking and trembling with fear, stammered:

"I—I—I never opened my mouth, sir!"

UNRENEWABLE PATENT.

National Monthly: A lawyer who makes a specialty of patent cases was once engaged in a case before a country justice.

"Who are you, anyway?" demanded the justice.

"Well," replied the lawyer, "I'm an attorney."

"Praps you are, but I never heard one talk like you do. What kind of a one are you?"

"I'm a patent attorney."

The magistrate rubbed his chin in thought. "Well, all I've got to say is," he said slowly, "that when the patent expires, I don't believe you can ever get it renewed again."

LEARNING FAST.

London Answers: When Willie's mother opened the door to the vicar her face beamed with joy and welcome, in spite of the fact that it was washing day.

"This is a real pleasure, sir," she began. "I've been waiting to thank you for the good you've done our Willie by your evening classes. Home's as different again since he attended the plumbing and gas-fitting class!"

"This is, indeed, gratifying—very!" said the vicar. "Now, what improvement have you noticed especially in little Willie of late?"

"Well, he's arranged our penny-in-the-slot gas meter so that we get our gas for nothing. You see, he's moved it from the scullery to outside the front door, sir."

"But you still have to put your pennies in the slot, my good woman!"

"Ah, but you see, sir, before he put the meter in the road our Willie wrote 'Chocolates' over the slot."

WILLIE WANTED TO KNOW.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The talk topic turned to the inquisitiveness of the youngsters, the other night, when Congressman Edward Platt of New York was reminded of an incident that recently happened in a big metropolitan city.

Among the natives of the aforesaid city, he said, was an esteemed citizen who was a member of the stock exchange. One evening when the broker returned to his happy home he was approached by his little son.

"Pop," said the youngster, who was more or less precocious, "are you a bull or a bear?"

"What do you want to know that for, my boy" answered pop, wonderingly. "How can it possibly interest you?"

"Because I have heard you called both," answered little Willie, "and I just wanted to know whether I am a cub or a calf."

PROBABLE QUICK RETURN.

Pathfinder: Two Irishmen employed on a man-o'-war, finding things a bit slow one morning, decided to liven them up a little. So Dennis, instructed by Mike, placed himself astride one of the big guns and held a deckpail over the muzzle.

"Now," said Dennis, "let 'er go!"

Whereupon Mike touched her off and she went, sure enough—likewise Dennis and the pail. When the officer in charge came running up, he said: "Michael, what has become of your friend?"

"Oh," said Mike, "he just wint afther a pail of water."

"I see, but when is he coming back?"

"Well," answered Mike, "I'm sure I can't tell exactly, but if he comes back as quick as he wint, he'll be back yisterday."

THE GOVERNORSHIP AND THE LEGISLATURE.

It is of great importance that the people of Minnesota choose wisely in electing a governor; but the importance of this issue often obscures the equally important issue of the legislature.

The governor can recommend and sign or veto bills; he can, if he has the prestige and the personal power, largely influence the legislature to do its duty; but any governor, however great and strong, can do little without a properly representative and constructively progressive legislature.

In the campaign to come—which will not, we trust, be projected upon the state before October is in sight—the tendency will be, as always, to let the governorship absorb nearly all of the public interest while the legislative contests go almost by default.

And that, of course, is wrong.

A state can manage to get along with a respectable figurehead as governor; it cannot go ahead without a progressive and constructive legislature, and the state which is not going ahead is going back. There is no such thing as a stand-still in the life of a state.

The next legislature will have before it big business problems, calling for the best intelligence and public spirit the state can supply.

The tendency toward ever-increasing tax rates and appallingly mounting expenditures must be checked.

The state government must be coordinated in a business-like system with wastes and leaks and sinecures and temptations to corruption eliminated.

A more progressive and more business-like state land policy must be adopted, one that will develop Northern Minnesota and profit the whole state, instead of letting the state's great landed possessions stand as a stumbling block to development.

These three duties confront the next legislature, and they are too big and too important to be entrusted to a legislature of nonentities.

Every district in the state should choose its best for both senate and house. The public's choice has been reduced by the primaries to two men for each place, but let's hope that the people chose the best two in the field for every legislative position, so that in November they can in every instance choose the better of the two remaining.

Men of business experience and capacity are needed in the legislature as never before—men of level heads and cool brains—men who can balance business problems and weigh them wisely—men who can fit theories and facts and not lose time twisting facts to theories—men, in short, who can handle the business of the state as business men handle their own business.

The governorship is important, and the voters should make no mistake in filling it. But neither should they make the mistake of under-estimating the importance of electing the best kind of a legislature available.

And perhaps some of the Colonel's recent uppishness is due to the fact that up in Canada they have a cigar named after him.

PRIZES FOR PEACE ESSAYS.

The church of Christ can do no higher deed for humanity, no deed more in accord with the sublime spirit of the Prince of Peace, than to lend its strength to the cause of lifting from the bent shoulders of the world's burden-bearers the curse and burden of war and preparedness for war.

Therefore it is good to know that a Church Peace Union has been organized, and that it is exerting itself to interest church people in the cause of world peace.

This organization is offering a series of prizes for essays on peace. The Herald has received a circular announcing these prizes, and because it is work of the highest importance, and because the cause of peace can be well served by interesting church members in its propaganda, we are glad to give publicity to the announcement.

The prizes and conditions are as follows:

1. A prize of a thousand dollars for the best monograph of between fifteen and twenty-five thousand words on any phase of international peace by any pastor of any church in the United States.
2. Three prizes of five hundred dollars, three hundred dollars and two hundred dollars for the three best essays on international peace by students of the theological seminaries of the United States.
3. Ten prizes of a hundred dollars each for peace essays, open to any church member between twenty and thirty years of age.
4. Twenty prizes of fifty dollars each to Sunday school pupils between fifteen and twenty years of age.
5. Fifty prizes of twenty dollars each to Sunday school pupils between ten and fifteen years of age.

All essays must be submitted by January 1, 1915. It is suggested that there should be one essay in each class from each church, a local competition being conducted to secure the best in each case. Pastors are urged to make the conditions known to their people and to urge them to participate. Further information may be had by addressing the secretary, the Rev. Frederick Lynch, 70 Fifth avenue, New York.

As The Herald understands it, and as it certainly should be, this competition is not limited by any sectarian boundaries, but is open to all churches alike, Catholic or Protestant.

The pastors of Duluth and Northern Minnesota, Northern Michigan, Northern Wisconsin and North Dakota should by all means bring this contest to the attention of their charges. It will increase the number of positive advocates of peace and disarmament, and that will be a tremendous gain for the church, for humanity and for God.

Secretary Daniels says he is going to strengthen the Pacific fleet. Now what will the big Bull Moose say to that?

THE ONE-GROOVE MAN.

"Many a man of fifty," said President Hadley in his baccalaureate address to the seniors of Yale, "whom the world counts successful is in his heart soured and disappointed—unnecessarily soured and disappointed—because at the age of thirty he shut his eyes to the other kinds of success which life had to offer besides personal distinction."

President Hadley gave no better advice to the Yale seniors than he implied by that statement—that overtrue and pathetic statement of success soured by the loss of the well-rounded and complete life.

Any man of ordinary ability who applies himself to a given aim in life will, if with his ordinary ability he has persistence and application and concentration, gain that aim.

Whether it be money or fame or position or professional success, it is within his grasp. It is his if he wants it enough to go after it.

But many a man has so centered his existence on a single aim that he has crowded out of his life things many and glorious that, while they had no direct bearing on his purpose, left his life barren and stole the savor from victory.

Man cannot live by bread alone; and no one-grooved existence can be a happy one in the end. There is a certain kind of happiness, and one not by any means to be despised, in successful application to a strongly defined purpose. But when that purpose is achieved—when in the evening of life there is no longer joy in work and success has lost its flavor—what then? What then with the man who has banned books and music and pictures and real friendships and kinship with the great world out of doors? What shall be his resource, what shall fill his life, when work no longer fills it? Unless he has brought with him some outside interest, some hobby, the fruits of his success are as Dead Sea apples that turn to ashes.

The moral of President Hadley's lesson is HAVE A HOBBY. Divide yourself between the real aim of your life and some aim that, while financially unprofitable, is profitable mentally, physically and spiritually.

It makes much less difference what that hobby is than that you have one that will absorb your interest and keep it.

Whether it is birds, butterflies or blossoms, collecting postage stamps or amateur photography; whether it is studying some science or mastering some game: a hobby is as essential to human happiness as bread and meat.

James Ford Rhodes was a successful banker with a hobby. At fifty, or thereabouts, with money enough to keep him, he quit banking and applied himself to his hobby, which was American history. Whereupon he wrote and published a history of the Civil war period from the Missouri compromise to the end of the second Grant administration that for fairness, accuracy and interest has never been excelled and is unlikely to be excelled.

Great is the virtue of a hobby.

An official of one of the great railroads retired at seventy after a busy life. "He'll die now," his friends said. Instead, he developed his lifelong hobby of studying wild flowers, and now he is busy and happy. He is about to put out a monograph on the willows in the United States.

A North Carolina man, with but little money and few friends and no health, was told by his doctors that he had less than a year to live. To while away the few months left to him, and also to help out on expenses, he took to the study of edible mushrooms. At the end of a year in the open, he told his doctor he was too busy to fulfill the prediction of death, and he is still busy with mushrooms. In ten happy years he has discovered, tested and classified nearly two hundred kinds of mushrooms, and his book on the subject is one of the standard authorities.

Great is the virtue of a hobby, especially an outdoor hobby. It is an insurance policy against the fate which, as President Hadley showed, befalls many a "successful" man of fifty.

Wisconsin, hopelessly outclassed in the big race on the Hudson, nevertheless rowed the four miles in about a minute less time than Yale or Harvard did in their race. Apparently Wisconsin belongs on the Thames.

THE MAN WITH THE SORE THUMB

See the man who is wailing and railing and gnashing his teeth and making a spectacle of himself generally?

He is a man with a sore thumb. Not literally; not a boil or a felon or a bee sting; but figuratively. Figuratively, the man with a sore thumb is a man with a grudge.

A long time ago, somebody did him ill, or he thought somebody did, which is the same thing.

He resented it, and fell to brooding over it. It lay in his mind like an undigested meal in the stomach of a dyspeptic. It decayed there, and spread poison through his system. Instead of passing away in time, as such things usually do, the thing fastened itself on his system and grew. Presently it became as big as himself, or even bigger. It consumed him, pervaded him, filled his thoughts night and day, colored every view like a pair of blue glasses, tainted his motives and directed his acts.

He thinks, poor fellow, that nobody realizes what is back of his acts and opinions. But—again, poor fellow!—he is mistaken, for EVERYBODY realizes it.

He goes about assailing the motives and criticizing the acts of those whom he believes to be his enemies—though they may be better friends of his than HE is—and of course he presents his views as the unbiased and uncolored opinions of a disinterested man. And of course everybody knows them for what they really are, and judges them accordingly.

The poor man is to be pitied, not blamed. He is sick—mentally sick—as sick as any man with a disorganized liver. The obsession of his grudge has colored all his thoughts and all his motives, and he has become that most pitiable of spectacles, a living, moving, perambulating grouch.

The pathos of it lies in the fact that though he believes his counsel is taken at its face value, it is not so taken because everybody sees the mental jaundice that makes it valueless.

Sometimes the patient recovers, and becomes human again; and then all his friends are glad and he is received in good company once more.

Sort o' has an appearance as if June might take a notion to go out like a lion.

THE WOMAN DELEGATE'S EXPENSE ACCOUNT.

We note speculation about the money-spending habits of the women who attended the recent convention of club women in Chicago.

Before the convention met Chicago, anticipating its gains, no doubt, had it figured out very closely—it thought. There were to be thirty-five thousand delegates, and on the average each was to spend for car fares, hotels, meals, amusements, shopping, etc., two hundred dollars, or twenty dollars a day. This meant unloading seven million dollars in Chicago in a little more than a week.

Manifestly, those estimates were based more on knowledge of what men delegates spend when away from home than on what women delegates will get rid of.

The estimate is none too liberal for a convention of the Ancient and United Order of Oasis Seekers, or for a gathering of the Eminent and Animated Amalgamation of Caribou. Most delegates to one of these conventions would have no trouble at all in exceeding these estimates.

But did the women who met at Chicago exceed them, or even come up to them? Nobody knows. The statistics go no further than the preconvention estimates, which of course are not worth much.

And besides, whose business is it, anyway?

Isn't it rather impudent to be poking around trying to find out what the women who gathered in Chicago spent? That's their business exclusively. Husbands may claim some interest in it, but we are not disposed to grant even them the right to analyze the wife's expense account on a trip combining business and pleasure.

Unless—there still is a chance for Mr. Husband—he has always carefully and accurately accounted to Friend Wife for every cent he spent when he donned his regimentals and went to a national convention. If he has done that, maybe he has some right to audit his wife's expense account. But not otherwise.

And one thing we'd be willing to bet on: however much or little the women delegates spent, they got more for their money—more real, tangible value and less headache and dark brown taste—than the men delegates ever get.

If it still holds true that a cat may look at a king, it might be a good stunt for the suffragettes to train a cat to talk and then present their case.

FASHIONS AND MORALS.

Miss Grace Hutchins, costume designer at Columbia university, says that "the morals of a woman are read in her gowns."

A costume designer is not a member of the faculty, probably; but if she were a member of the faculty she could hardly go further in spinning theory without the support of fact.

At least we hope so.

If women's dress were a true index to women's morals, this would be an age to shock the sensibilities of a Messalina or a Phryne.

But, thank fortune, it is not so.

The average woman may be silly about style-following, but that's all.

Her fashions, to a large extent, are created in Paris. They are created there not for the kind of woman who wears them in this country, but for the cocotte of that capital of the half-world. The idea of displaying feminine charms that used to be covered was her idea—not that of the American woman; and the American woman follows her fashion blindly as she has followed many a more wholesome folly of fashion before.

If the fashion seems ridiculous, the average woman is willing to appear ridiculous. Being ridiculous fashionably is much preferable to being ridiculous by failing to be in fashion.

And if the fashion is immodest, the average woman in all innocence becomes immodest in appearance—but only in appearance.

If dress were an index to morals, this nation would be as bad as the half-world of Paris. But it is, luckily, no such index. Columbia's costume-designer has sat too close to the atmosphere of theory that always tends to hedge about an institution of learning.

Greece says she wants the warships for pacific purposes, but it's odds on they'll be used principally in the Mediterranean.

WHAT FEMINISM IS AND IS NOT.

If there is a more abused word in the new lexicon of a vaguely unrestful society we don't know it. But then mostly it is a new thing, and all new things must undergo misuse and misunderstanding.

Feminism doesn't mean the dominance of the female. That is a peril too vast to believe in and still believe in a kind Creator. Feminism doesn't mean that women are to crowd men out of their places of power and use and send them to the nursery and the scrubbing-board. It does not mean that the policeman is to be yanked from his beat and his parade ground turned over to a woman. It does not mean that the soldier is to turn his cap over to a rugged female who will kill a song-bird and put a feather in it before she puts it on.

And yet, while the disturbed balance still is rocking, it may look for a time as though these things, or things like them, are to happen. It is this that now handicaps feminism.

What, then, IS feminism? Just humanism—just a fair human equality between the sexes—just a side-by-side, shoulder-to-shoulder partnership between man and woman.

Woman is no longer to trail at the rear, a burden-carrying squaw. She is to take her place by man's side and share his burdens, his hopes, his aspirations, his glories and his sorrows.

But first woman must cease making man trail at the rear, a burden-carrying slave submitting to toil and grubbing without pleasure while woman leads the way into high-priced cafes, high-priced clothing shops, high-priced automobiles, high-priced palace trains and high-priced ocean steamers.

There is more to be regulated in this new adjustment of the human balance than woman wots of.

But this is all feminism is—a new adjustment of the human balance. It is misleading to call it feminism—misleading to man and woman alike.

It is misleading to man because it makes him fear hobgoblins of female supremacy with all the tyranny and brutal cruelty that would entail.

It is misleading to woman because it makes her dream of a supremacy of the female in which she will have all the power and glory and splendor and man will be a mere tail to her soaring kite.

It is misleading to man because it makes him unduly boastful of the soiled and sordid record of male supremacy.

It is misleading to woman because it makes her forget the sacrifices she must make if the new balance ever is to become livable and just.

Call it humanism, to indicate the exact balance of human justice without privilege or sacrifice of sex to which we are tending by troublous ways, and we shall gain a fairer view of it.

Jamaica merchants are said to be much put out because American business firms seldom put enough postage on letters sent there. What queer people these Jamaicans must be!

THE AMERICAN GARDEN.

The experiment station of the University of Illinois is asking the farmers of that state to vote "I Will" on a series of propositions relating to the adornment of the farm home grounds.

And the proposals are so sound that farmers everywhere should adopt them; and the city and suburban home owner who is farming on a few thousand square feet may well adopt them also, for they fit his need as well as the farmer's. They are as follows:

Plant bushes and vines against the foundations of the house.

Make a good, permanent lawn, not a cheap weed patch, and keep the center open, not scatter plants over it.

Have shrubbery instead of artificial hedges, or temporary flower beds in the middle of the lawn.

Plant chiefly long-lived native material, not short-lived "quick-growers," or foreign and artificial varieties.

Make a practical flower garden; that is, a cut-flower, bird, children's, wild, winter or tree garden, instead of copying something Eastern, English or Italian.

Restore and preserve the local color, instead of destroying every shrub within a mile.

The advice contained in these proposals is sound and good. To adopt it generally is to make city and country fair and sightly and beautiful to look upon after a native fashion, not a servile imitation of a fashion native to another clime.

Little Boy With a Busy Dad.

His Pa is always busy getting rich,
He's always tired when he gets home at night.
With no one who can tell which is which,
It's not his fault he mixes wrong with right.
He never takes his youngster on his knee
And tells him what is good and what is bad.
I'm sorry for the little chap, for he
Is one of those who have a busy dad.

His Pa is in his office every day,
He's thinking of his business all the time,
He's putting many dollar bills away.
As though not being wealthy is a crime.
But somehow in the little fellow's face
There is a look that's solemn-like and sad,
And if I were to diagnose his case,
It's just because he's got a busy dad.

He'd just like to have his father by his side,
He'd like to walk along and hold his hand
Upon his shoulders broad he'd like to ride,
And ask him things he doesn't understand.
If he could tell, as all his playmates do,
His troubles to his father, he'd be glad.
How pitiful his case is, through and through,
The little boy with such a busy dad.

The Waist Line.

Kansas City Star: This essay on "The Waist Line" is attributed to the K. S. A. C. students in Manhattan:

"The waist line is an imaginary ring around Rosie. For many years it lay in a dormant state. So quiet and demure it was that Rosie herself hardly knew of its existence. Of late, however, the waist line has deported itself in a reckless and shocking manner. It has twisted itself into curious shapes, it has soared to Rosie's shoulders and swooped to her feet; it has coyly hidden in folds of bouffant drapery, suddenly to reappear and spread itself all over creation. We predict that such frivolous conduct on the part of the waist line, this self-appointed architect, can bring only sorrow and degradation. In fact, we shall be not one bit surprised if it is forced to spend its old age in the bread line."

Cause of Death.

Pittsburg Dispatch: "You say your automobile did not touch this man and yet he was dead when you picked him up?" shouted the prosecuting attorney.

"That's my claim," coolly retorted the prisoner. "My machine didn't touch him."

"And you saw this man start to cross the street?"

"Yes."

"Did you blow your horn?"

"I did."

"What sort of a horn is it?"

"One of those new-fangled clatter-boxes that create a sound that is a cross between a shriek and a dying wail."

"That explains it. You simply scared the man to death."

The Growth of an Idea

Editorial in Farm, Stock and Home.

Elsewhere in this issue Farm, Stock and Home discusses a community settlement made possible by the clearing of land, the building of roads, and the digging of ditches prior to the coming of the settler. Meadowlands is an accomplished social fact, substantiating every claim made by Farm, Stock and Home for the community settlement idea as opposed to the present method of opening up the cut-over country.

The physical problem of settling a timbered country is a tremendous one. In the past it usually has taken three generations to turn the standing timber land into farm homes provided with comfort. The cost, both to the individual and to society, has been too high. The settler has approached the the problem without means, without help from others, and with the handicap of insufficient markets. Necessarily, progress has been slow. After ten or a dozen years the neighborhood is still straggling, the cleared acres few, the local market poor and rapacious, and too often the evils that associate themselves with poverty are in full play. The ambitious young the younger generation leave, the weaker ones become shiftless hangers on, and progress often ceases until new blood comes in to buy the farms and put money into extensive clearing, or until another generation has painfully toiled its way toward better things.

None who know the conditions can deny that this is a true picture of what has been the accepted way of settling our new lands. Those who speculate in human life and hope have thrived, while the settler and society alike have been impoverished. Community settlement, where the burden of doing the hardest of the work is taken by the seller of the lands, and the cost is taken by the settler, is the essence of the Meadowlands plan.

Farm, Stock and Home recognized in this plan the way to better things for the settler. It saw that this plan would make him a man with a home, with an income, with hope, with neighbors, schools, church privileges—in other words, a well-situated and contented American citizen. It saw further in this plan the saving of two generations of human life, and it said: "Here's a plan good enough to be made the basis for our future state development." So, Farm, Stock and Home went to work.

The largest land speculator in Minnesota is Minnesota itself. Its swamp lands have been and are being sold to men who do not till them, at a price and on terms that enable them to hold these lands until the man who wants to make a home comes along. The past and present policy of the state does practically nothing for the real settler. Farm, Stock and Home said, four years ago: "Find out what these lands we own are, get a soil survey, then drain them, build roads to them, clear a few acres for every settler, charge all this cost to the selling price of the lands, and we will get real farmers onto our state lands, and at a profit to the state."

That sounds and is reasonable. A few men, some of them, in all fairness let it be said, appreciating even earlier than Farm, Stock and Home the social importance of this reform in land-clearing methods, rallied around this journal, and the fight for better things was on.

The state still sells its lands to the speculator. The state still refuses to make a legitimate profit by the clearing of its own lands. But the state is going to moderize its business methods and its social policy. Meanwhile private interests are taking up the idea. Men everywhere through the cut-over country are talking the good business sense of doing for the settler at a fair cost to him what he cannot do for himself except at an unfair cost to society. The idea that to waste men is to waste money and delay progress has at last gripped the public mind. And when things have progressed that far the real battle is already won. Wherefore Farm, Stock and Home takes heart, and has courage to still go forward to the solution of the problems that remain.

The Lawler Ultimatum

St. Paul Pioneer Press: Since he cannot lead the band, Mr. Lawler evidently proposes to perform loudly upon the bull fiddle. His ultimatum, served yesterday on Candidate Hammond, indicates that, at least so far as he is concerned, the reports of thick Democratic harmony were a little premature. It is doubtful, however, if the rank and file of his party will pay overmuch attention to Mr. Lawler now. He has had his chance, he made a good run and was fairly beaten. His dire threat to "stay away from headquarters" unless men politically obnoxious to him were left off the committee will strike most people as a rather arrogant attitude for him to assume under the circumstances. We fear the good man is suffering from a touch of megalomania.

Oh, No; She Hadn't Read It.

Houston Chronicle: They were talking on the curiosity of servants the other night when Congressman Edward E. Browne of Wisconsin said that the twist in the conversation reminded him of an incident that happened in a suburban home.

Some time ago, he said, Mrs. Smith summoned her negro maid to her room and asked her if the postman had left any mail. Belinda replied that there was nothing except a postal card. "A postal card!" exclaimed Mrs. Smith, wonderingly. "Who is it from?"

"Doan' know, ma'am," was the innocent rejoinder of Belinda. "I didn't read it."

"Well, it's just this," emphatically declared Mrs. Smith. "Anybody who sends me a message on a postal card is either very stupid or very thoughtless."

"'Scuse me, ma'am," quickly interposed Belinda, with a hurt expression, "but does yo' think dat's de right way to talk 'bout yo' own mother?"

Favored the Bishop.

Cincinnati Enquirer: "The late Bishop Bowman," said a Philadelphia minister, "once rebuked my too soft and conciliatory leanings by telling me a story about a little girl.

"This little girl, it seems, had written with great pains a composition on the cow. The composition ran as follows:

"'The cow is a very useful animal.'

"That evening the bishop dined at the little girl's house, and her mother, since she was a very little girl, indeed, was proud of the composition, and requested its author to read it aloud.

"The little girl got her manuscript, but instead of reading it as it stood she amended it on the bishop's behalf, so that it ran:

"'The cow is the most useful animal there is except religion.'"

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

God's Good Man.

The Bible makes mention of the ultimate reward coming to "him that is good before God." The Scripture writer is speaking not of those who are good in their own estimation, nor in that of their fellow men, but good in the eyes of God. Reference is to profession and to practice that can stand examination by the supreme Judge. The test is a very searching one. Well may the psalmist exclaim, "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord and who shall stand in His holy place?"

To be good before God is to be first of all, sincere. It is comparatively easy to gain a reputation for goodness that is unsupported by the facts. We cannot peer deeply into the life of another. The estimate we place on character is often far astray. How can it be otherwise, with our limited facilities for knowledge? "Man looketh on the outward appearance." He has to take things as they seem to be. The man good before God is at heart what he seems to be in outward appearance.

There is no shoddy in the life good before God. Honest workmanship is the rule.

In the elder days of Art
Builders wrought with greatest care
Each minute and unseen part
For the gods see everywhere.

Michael Angelo put as fine a finish on the side of the statue that was to face the cathedral wall as that seen by men. He held it true as the seer reminded King Asa, that the "eyes of Jehovah run to and fro throughout the whole earth." He would not fail in the eyes of God.

Motive plays a large part in conduct that is really good. If the motive be impure, if the good deed be of the hand only and not of the heart, it may lack any divine essence whatever. Service is not worthy that is inspired by ambition or based on hope of reward. It loses its finest flavor, no matter how altruistic in form, if it be egotistic in spirit. A young college man became connected with an excellent charitable institution and seemed to have entered a genuine field for service. But the halo fell from his head with a dull thud when he confided to a friend: "I thought this might do for a while, to bring me into touch with some influential people."

One's endeavors may, of course, be useful even while not disinterested. But self-seekers, even in philanthropy, cannot claim for their work the high title of good. Good service is neither a sort of refined selfishness, nor a faddish adoption of some movement or attack upon some problem. Good service is inspired by love for our fellow men and by desire to make some contribution to this world of brothers.

Sir Launfal gave the leper naught but half his single crust and a cup of water from an icy stream, yet, beholding in the poor man "an image of Him who died upon the tree," heard the voice say:

"Not what we give but what we share,
For the gifts without the giver is bare
Who gives himself with his alms feeds three Himself, his hungering neighbor, and Me."

Real goodness springs from the heart out of which are the issues of life. It differs from the spurious kind as the glow of sunrise on snow-clad Alpine peaks excels a spluttering tallow dip. THE PARSON.

Identifying Himself.

Ladies' Home Journal: One of the guests at a wedding, seeing a dismal-looking young man who appeared to be on terms of familiarity with the principals, asked:

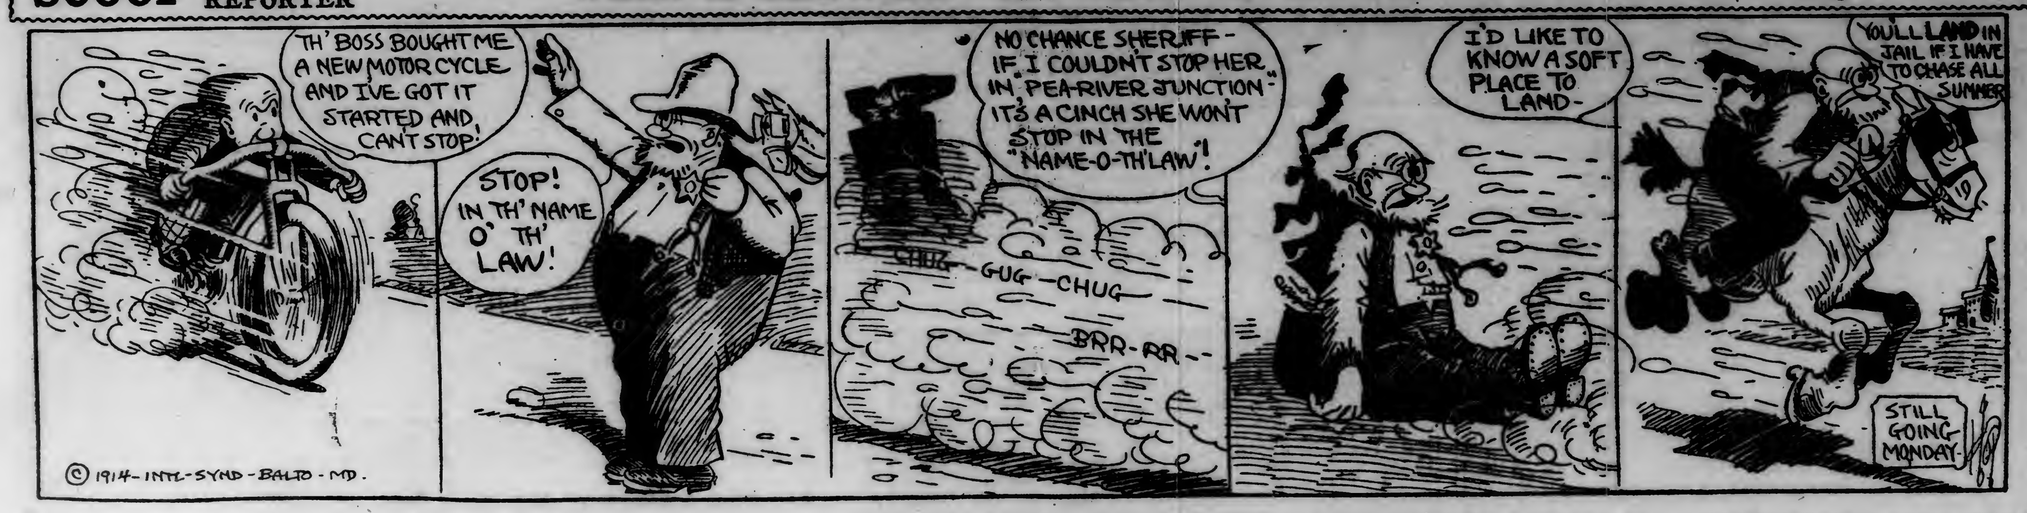

"Are you related to the bride or to the bridegroom-elect?"

"No," was the gloomy reply.

"Then," said the guest, "what interest have you in the ceremony?"

"Well," replied the young man, "I'm the defeated candidate."

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — Where Is This Place "Th'--Name--O'--Th'--Law"? — By "HOP" SUBSIDY THROTTLED

By SAVOYARD

Washington, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second battle of Baltimore has been fought, and again Champ Clark, Oscar Underwood and the others are overthrown by Woodrow Wilson. The ship subsidy is repealed and the Democratic party can stand up and look an honest world full in the face. If Germany and not England had been the other party to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, the bill to repeal the subsidy would have been passed within a week after it was reported and not a dozen votes would have been cast against it in either house of congress. Of the thirty-five votes the opposition polled in the senate, at least twenty-five were more against England than they were for the subsidy. They would not have dared vote against Germany.

For months the Washington Post sought to bully senators into voting for the subsidy graft. It made dire threats against the Hon. Duncan U. Fletcher, senator from Florida, in the guise of predictions of his defeat for re-election. Well, the primary of that state has been pulled off, the tolls exempting was paramount, made so by the enemies of the president, and Mr. Fletcher was triumphantly renominated and will be triumphantly re-elected. On the other hand, Mr. L'Engle, member of the house from Florida, voted with Champ Clark and against the president for the subsidy and the Democrats of Florida cashiered the gentleman for his position on tolls. He was defeated for renomination and will not be a member of the Sixty-fourth congress.

Young Mr. Borah appears to be one of those unlucky folk who are born smart boys, live smart boys, and die smart boys. Of such Pope spake in the line:

"Each word-catcher that lives on syllables."

After the repeal of the subsidy Mr. Borah, in an ecstasy of patriotism, exclaimed: "You have given the canal to England, but the people will take it back."

Wrong—as usual. The canal was given to the ship trust, and the Democratic congress, with the aid of the intellectual aristocracy and political respectability of the Republican party in the United States senate, took it back again. That canal now belongs to the American people and they will see to it that no depraved congress of the future shall vote it to any selfish and special interest. Thank God, this insolent and opulent ship monopoly has been whipped from the halls of congress as was Pacific Mail a generation ago.

• • •

And the Hon. Vardaman predicts the death of the Democratic party as the consequences of the repeal of free tolls. Very well, Vardy. Glorious death. If the Democratic party is to be destroyed for smiting special privilege it will take its rank high among the martyrs. The Hon. Vardaman loves poetry. How is this?

"Then out spake brave Horatius,
The captain of the gate:
"To every man upon this earth
Death cometh soon or late.
And how can man die better
Than facing fearful odds
For the ashes of his fathers,
And the temples of his gods?"

If the throttling of the subsidy kills the Democratic party then it will die the death pleasing to all Jeffersonians.

And speaking of poetry—I have never known a statesman at this capital as fond of spouting it as the Hon. Vardaman seems to be. I fear, however, that the senate of the United States is not as good a theater for that sort of thing as the stump. Senators are likely to resent it when taken for a band of groundlings.

The tuneful, though somewhat flatulent, speech of the Hon. William Alden Smith came in on the wind-up. The Hon. William Alden has visions and things. He imagines vanities. For example, he would have us accept his view that the president urged the repeal of the ship subsidy because he was afraid of Japan! I have long suspected that William Alden believes in hants, and now I am convinced of it.

But the Hon. William Alden is "a orator." He can scrape the sky. Horace Greeley said that it took fourteen things to make a great orator, one of them lungs, and, he added, "John A. Logan has lungs." So has William Alden.

Who that heard it will ever forget that voiceful, verbose and lachrymose funeral oration Willie pronounced over butchered beet sugar that time Teddy Roosevelt jammed the reciprocity treaty with Cuba through both houses of a Republican congress?

THE WANDERING ISLANDS OF THE RIO GRANDE RIVER

Mrs. Albert S. Burleson, wife of the postmaster general, in a communication to the National Geographic society, at Washington, D. C., describes the wandering islands of the Rio Grande, whose migrations from side to side of the water course have caused years of diplomatic correspondence and discussion between the United States and Mexico.

"The refusal of certain small bodies of land to remain permanently attached to one or the other of the river's banks deprived them of a fixed legal status as either Mexican or American territory and brought about their participation in many illegal and unrighteous adventures, which in turn led to misunderstandings between the two countries," writes Mrs. Burleson.

"In no river is spirit more evident than in the Rio Grande. Along its sinuous route below Rio Grande City it pushes its way through miles of level sand in its final reach for the Gulf, twisting and doubling upon itself like a sea serpent. In 1848 it was fixed upon as the boundary line between the United States and Mexico. The boundary was to be the 'middle of the river, following the deepest channel.' But the river possessed characteristics that had not impressed themselves upon the framers of the convention as possible causes of friction between people living along its banks. In addition to its eroding power, exercised through long months of low and mean water, it could during flood periods leap with torrential force across a narrow neck of land at the base of one of its long loops and cut for itself a new channel. Through such avulsive action of the river, Texas soil would sometimes become Mexican, and on occasions a plantation occupied by jacals and Mexican citizens would over night find itself a part of Texas.

"An example will serve to show both the extraordinary actions of the river and the difficulties in the way of any satisfactory adjustment of conflicting interests. A certain Josiah Turner began to farm the Galveston ranch, on the Texas bank. Eight years later he was surprised when 221 acres of Mexican land came across the river and attached itself to his ranch. An arrangement was effected by which he became the owner of this land. Six years later the river cut off a piece of Mr. Turner's land and took it to Mexico. Twenty-one years later the river made up its mind to repay the farmer for what it had taken from him and so carried back into Texas a piece of land far larger than the tract originally lost. The Mexican owners claimed possession, and a new convention, dealing with the questions under dispute became necessary.

"To the fine discrimination, patience and tact of Brig. Gen. Anson Mills, U. S. A., appointed to represent the United States, we owe the final solution to the problem. He recommended that the 'cut-offs' be forever eliminated from the boundary line, all those occurring on the right of the river to pass to the jurisdiction of Mexico, those on the left to that of Texas. The inhabitants, if any, should retain their citizenship in the country from which they had been so suddenly and violently detached, or they might acquire the nationality of the country to which they were now attached. Any cut-off exceeding 650 acres in area and having a population of over 200 souls was not to be considered a banco, and the old bed of the river should remain the boundary. A convention embodying his recommendations was finally ratified by both countries. Thus the great turbid, silt-bearing river is left to pursue its way untrammeled; but the terrors so long synonymous with its name have through the operation of this equal arrangement become a part of the storied, romantic past."

Greatest of All Human Blessings

The most wonderful thing in the world is love expressed in the helpless infant.

And among those aids and comforts for expectant mothers is the well known "Mother's Friend."

This is an external application to enable the abdominal muscles to become more pliant, to expand naturally without undue pain from the strain upon cords and ligaments.

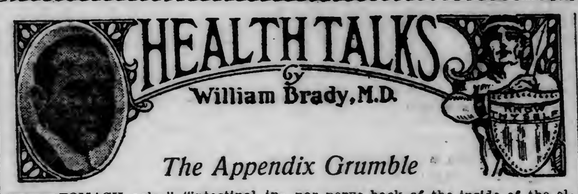

Applied as directed upon those muscles involved it soothes the fine network of nerves with which all the muscles are supplied. Thus a great share of the pains so much dreaded may be avoided and the period of expectancy passed in comfort.

There is no question but what such relief has a marked influence upon the general health of the mother.

In a little book sent by mail much useful information is given to inexperienced mothers. It tells how to use "Mother's Friend" and how to avoid caking breasts. It has been prepared in our laboratory for over forty years and is known favorably to most druggists everywhere. Get a bottle to-day and write for book to Bradfield Regulator Co., 309 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to ask for and see that you get "Mother's Friend."

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

The Appendix Grumble

STOMACH ache," "intestinal indigestion" and "gas colic" are scarcely respectable symptoms for a grown-up to complain of any more. These troubles are properly grouped with "children's diseases," and any well nourished, apparently healthy adult person who holds himself out as suffering from such symptoms does so at the risk of his vermiform appendix.

Of course, an adult of strong will and obstinate character may call the doctor out of bed at 4 o'clock in the morning to stop a pain from —oh, anything the cook may have been trying out on him. But at the same time the modern physician, hurrying to the bedside at unseemly hours of the night, always has a suspicion that the patient possesses a purely useless organ somewhere in his midst.

Although most young housewives unquestionably do use very tough flour in their earlier experiments upon the human race, nevertheless an attack of pain in the middle of the night, when severe enough to get the doctor out of bed, is at least presumptive evidence of a worthless appendix.

In early adult life, about the time the wisdom teeth begin to cause trouble, the tonsils and the appendix begin to undergo a process of involution or gradual disappearance. The tonsils generally make a fairly good job of it, but the appendix is apt to grumble a great deal about being pensioned off so young. It is this grumbling that masquerades in many cases as "intestinal indigestion" or "gas colic."

The explanation for coliky pains and so-called indigestion in such cases is that the fibrous tissue of the appendix pinches delicate nerves in contracting, and the injured nerves refer the matter to the stomach or the bowel, much as a blow on your "funny bone" (the ulnar nerve back of the inside of the elbow joint) is referred to the little finger. The moral of which deception is—never diagnose your own stomach trouble. It may be nothing but a grumble from your useless appendix. Let the doctor decide.

But doctors differ. Some like to take chances on saving useless organs. Others like to operate early and often. Take your choice. Would you prefer the pain and the risk of an acute attack of appendicitis, or would you prefer to take your ether like a man and have the risk cut out?

Questions and Answers.

Mother of four writes: Our little girl, 12 years old, is not strong. She has frequent sore throats and some catarrh. We find it impossible to make her take cod liver oil in any form. Is there any other food tonic to upbuild the system?

Answer—Possibly she should have her tonsils removed. That alone would in all likelihood upbuild her system. The best food-tonic I know about for children is the following recipe, which I advise you to administer —two or three times a day, two hours after meals:

Take of bread, preferably whole wheat bread, one large slice. Spread it with one-eighth or one-fourth inch of butter. Then coat the top thoroughly with an equal thickness of brown sugar, and administer as directed.

Mrs. J. H. B. writes: Can you suggest how to stop people from expectorating on floor of the grocery store without giving offense?

Answer—Tack up signs forbidding spitting on floor. Haven't you a health officer in your town? It would seem that he should do a bit of educational work in your neighborhood, even if it makes hard feelings.

If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. AMONG THE MAGAZINES

Nearly one-half of the 164 profusely illustrated pages of the July Century Mazagine is devoted to fiction. John Luther Long, author of "Madam Butterfly," contributes a story of sentiment entitled "The Sandwich Man." The other stories are "The Dark Night," by L. Frank Tooker; "The Hand of Nature," by Arthur F. McFarlane; "The Dagger," by Charles D. Stewart; "His Biggest Venture," by Eugene P. Lyle, Jr.; "The Great Tradition," by Katharine Fullerton Gerould, and "Keepsakes," by Marion Pugh Read. Particularly timely are papers on "The Nation Without a Ship," by A. C. Laut, and "Italians in America," part of Prof. Edward A. Ross's immigration series. Arnold Bennett's narrative, "From the Log of the Velsa," describes his personal adventures in Holland. Albert Bigelow Paine continues his serial on "The Car That Went Abroad" and amusing superstitions of the tropics are described in Julius Muller's "Among Carribean Devils and Duppies." Among the literary features are "Reminiscences and Letters of Bulwer-Lytton," by Gabrielle de R. Waddell, and "Reminiscences of Tolstoy," by his son, Count Ilya Tolstoy.

The July Woman's Home Companion contains a great variety of fiction including the first installment of a four-part mystery story entitled "The Sound of Water," by Margarita Spalding Gerry. Other contributors of fiction are: Mary Heaton Vorse, Molly Elliot Seawell, Mabel Martin Dill, Frederick M. Smith, and Adele Randolph. Special articles in the number full of new facts and interesting, practical ideas are: "The Business Girl's Vacation"—made up from letters sent in by various contributors; "Why I Shall Marry Again," written by a woman whose report and suggestions are so specific that she declines to sign her name; "How to Write a Moving Picture Play," by Daniel Frohman, the well-known theatrical manager; "Fifty-one Better Babies;" "The Queen of the Garden," in which Frank A. Waugh, the well-known horticulturist, tells how to grow roses.

A light, fluffy novelette is "The Lieutenant of Fate," by Kate L. McLaurin, which appears in July Ainslee's. By enlisting an attractive young engineer as his secretary and "lieutenant," a clever American father cures his daughter of her inclination toward snobbishness and prevents her marriage with an Italian count. Bonnie R. Ginger contributes a fascinating western story with the unique title of "The Beneficent Kettle." Crippie Creek is the city in which a charming romance is brought about through the medium of the kettle. "The Brand of God" is a grim but unusually sympathetic story by William Slavens McNutt.

The Yale Review is now in the midst of publishing a series of articles which will present a wide and thorough criticism of current American literature. Robert Herrick's essays in the January and April numbers, upon the American novel, attracted general attention. Bliss Perry's article in the July number is of equal importance, and will be as widely quoted. In it he describes with a brilliant and unsparing pen the radical defects of American literary criticism and the cause of its inadequacy. Less pungent, but equally notable are the charming reminiscences of the Maryland Colonel, contributed by Prof. Henry A. Beers in a characteristic essay describing his summer at the famous school of philosophy, where Emerson attended, wearing his "wise smile." The materials of literature rather than its criticism are to be found in the third of the essays of this kind in the July number. Mr. Vaill's collection of old letters discovered in a fortunate hair trunk, contains a treasure trove of humor, pathos, and curious information which readers of the Review will relish. The letter from "Sallie McK." found in a deserted camp of the Civil war, and now perhaps for the first time read, is packed with delightful humanity. For public affairs, Hiram Bingham analyzes the South American attitude toward the Monroe doctrine, not theoretically, but practically, by interviews, quotations from South American newspapers, and the testimony of travelers. His intimate acquaintance with the field makes his deductions exceptionally valuable.

Edgar Jepson's novelette, "The Night Hawk," in the July Smart Set, is a story of a man-about-town who decides that the ideal life consists of sleeping in the daytime and enjoying himself at night. This sort of life as it works out makes a story that is full of unusual situations and clever dialogue of the sort that Mr. Jepson is distinguished for. There is nothing in this story but entertainment but it's full of that. Edwin Balmer's "An Eavesdropper," is a story of more impressiveness. It describes the first actions of a man who was released from prison. And there is a surprise in this story. Flota Campbell Springer's "The Finer Sensibilities" is an account of a very unusual domestic situation in which a casual guest finds himself placed.

Not departing from its custom of describing everything new in the fields of mechanics and science, the July Popular Mechanics Magazine is, perforce, a "marine number." The past month has been especially prolific in developments which may be so classed. Mammoth vessels have been launched; submarine motion pictures were successfully taken; yachts, pleasure craft of all kinds, hydroplanes and flying boats, of improved types, were built; an important canal neared completion, a huge ocean liner on its maiden voyage had difficulty in docking at New York, and then—just as the last pages of the magazine were going to press—one of the greatest disasters in marine history occurred. All these matters are discussed in the July magazine. The cover design is a handsome cross-sectional view of the recently launched White Star liner "Britannic," and an article entitled "The Great New Skyscrapers of the Sea" points the trend of ship construction toward the 1,000-ft. liner, declaring that, "It is as certain as anything still in the future can be that the day of the 1,000-ft. ship is close at hand."

"The Kiss and the Cross," by Nalbro Bartley, in July Young's Magazine, is unique in that its heroine, though a very beautiful girl, is a cripple. "The Confessions of An Amateur Affinity," by Alice Cowdery, is a delicious bit of satire. It sets forth the pomps and vanities of husband-snatching and shows how a coveted object may lose its desirability under careful scrutiny. "At Her Own Door," by Lucy Stone Terrill, is a forceful portrayal of two women's love for the same man. It is absorbing and intensely human.

One of the most interesting articles in Harper's Magazine for July is by Charles Wellington Furlong, F. R. G. S., on "The Salt-Harvesters of the Caribbean," which tells about the methods of gathering salt in the West Indies, the article being illustrated with photographs and a map. "A Chat About Charles Dickens," by a son of the great novelist, gives a very intimate idea of his character and relates some striking instances of his remarkable popularity. "American Holidays, Fresh Water and Inland Valleys," Harrison Rhodes; "The Variable Sun," by C. G. Abbot; "Airgnon, Legendary and Real," by Richard Le Gallienne; "With the Poor Emigrants to America," by Stephen Graham, are other articles of particular note. Arnold Bennett's novel, "The Price of Love," is concluded in this number, and there are several bright and attractive short stories.

Lippincott's for July offers an especially attractive table of contents. The complete novel is "Northborough Cross," by L. Cope Cornford, a distinguished British author. It is a "buried treasure" story of a new type. The scenes are laid in a staid English village—that is, it was staid before the incidents narrated in the story began to happen. Extraordinary characterdrawing and remarkable local color characterize the story, and the plot is commendably new. Owen Oliver contributes a vivid short story entitled, "The Wisdom of Folly." Thomas Grant Springer's offering is "Babes in the Woods"—the "woods" in this instance being the great city of New York, and the "babes" a youth and a girl who are alone and stranded there. "That Blooming Azalea," by Agnes Edwrds, has a subtly humorous touch and may help to solve a vexing problem that is bothering more than one woman. "A Communal Execution," by Francis James MacBeath, is tragic without being grewsome or horrible. "Bum O'Reilly, Philanthropist," by Lucy Copinger, is a funny yarn about a tough schoolboy and his teacher, who displays a distinctly feminine trait.

The June number of the Keramic Studio contains many designs attractive to china painters. The colored supplement is especially adapted to various shaped vases or jardinieres. Bird designs adapted to vases, plates, jugs, and trays are numerous in this issue and may be worked up very effectively. The designs for decorative plates are quite novel and afford a unique blending of colors, thus giving a very pleasing effect. Another attractive feature is the skillful conventional treatment for pitchers. The designs are varied and useful for different shaped pitchers. Another artistic study of "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," which is adaptable to various shaped dishes.

"There is no doubt that Villa is, according to our code, an entirely bad man," says Joseph Rogers Taylor, in the July World's Work. "But immorality and courage are not incompatible, and it seems equally beyond question that Villa is a brave man and a born leader." "The bandit chieftian who has risen to be the most powerful man in Mexico" is the subject of two articles in the July World's Work, one by Mr. Taylor, and the other by George Marvin, profusely illustrated by pictures of Villa at close hand. In "Triumphs of Our Trade in Other Lands," Lewis R. Freeman describes the passing of the "wooden nutmeg" as an internal appendage of American exports and the steady growth of our goods in the favor of foreign peoples. Arno Dosch writes about "Trenton's Three Years of Simple Government," and describes the beneficent results of the commission form of government in that city. Janet Ruth Rankin, in an article entitled, "Profit Sharing for Savings," tells about William Cooper Procter's successful plan under which hundreds of employes that make less than $1,500 a year in wages in the soap factory of Proctor & Gamble have acquired stock that is worth thousands of dollars.

John Reed has written for the July Metropolitan a big, smashing story of the strike war in Colorado. This story was written on the ground and describes conditions that one can scarcely believe to exist in this supposedly civilized country. "With Villa on the March" is the title of John Reed's fourth Mexican article. In this he describes the life of the men in the Constitutionalist army. "What the Socialist Movement Is," by Algernon Lee, tells of the beginning and the growth of the Socialist party and is the introduction to a series of articles written by prominent Socialists in all parts of the world. The number contains fiction stories by Earl Derr Biggers, Joseph Conrad, Justus Miles Forman, Peter B. Kyne and others. There are the usual departments and pictorial features, including six pages of rotarygravure.

Outing for July contains "The Big Four in Tennis," an interesting article on McLoughlin, Parke, Brookes and Wilding, the men who will loom the largest in the tennis cup tournament this year. The article shows how Brookes and McLoughlin rely upon the excellence of their service and volley combination for their attack, while Wilding and Parke build their offensive tactics upon the solid foundation of their back court game. "The First Automobile Race in America" is a story of the race in Chicago in 1895. This story illustrates the tremendous advance that has been made in the automobile in less than twenty years.

The July Strand contains a number of interesting articles ,one of the best being a well-illustrated account of how the America cup defenders are built. George R. Sims, the well-known dramatist, writes on "Clever Detective Feats," giving many interesting cases which have happened within the last twenty or thirty years. "The Latest Development in the Teaching of the Blind" is another interesting article dealing with a subject which is attracting a great deal of well-deserved attention at the present time. In this article the curious fact is stated that people blind from their birth have no conception of the actual sizes of animals and people.

The boy always loves war stories, and the current issue of the American Boy presents the opening installment of what promises to be one of the very best war stories for boys that was ever written. Donal Hamilton Haines —who makes the portrayal of war his specialty—is the author of the story, and its title is "The Last Invasion." It is a powerful lesson in patriotism as well as a portrayal of thrilling adventure. The war of the future, with its conflicts between armed aeroplanes and airships, its aerial transports, and its scientific management is vividly presented. Two boys and their automobile take a large part in this blood-stirring tale.

One of the most interesting articles in the July Wide World is entitled "Uncle Sam's 'Floating Court,'" by Walter Noble Burns, who describes and illustrates the manner in which the United States government administers justice among the Eskimos, whalers and the scattered white population of the far northern Alaskan coast, Bering sea and the Arctic. Many strange cases are brought to the judges, and the tasks they are called upon to perform are varied, amusing and sometimes tragic. "Pussy-Foot of Oklahoma" deals with William E. Johnson, late head of the bureau of the United States Indian service, and his successful efforts to "smash" the outlaws of Oklahoma who were selling vile spirits to the Indians and generally defying the law.

In the July American Magazine "Eddie" Collins of the Philadelphia Athletics, whom "Johnny" McGraw of the New York Giants has called the greatest baseball player in the world, writes an article entitled "Pitchers I Have Faced," in which he tells many stories of his experiences with the most wonderful baseball pitchers in the major leagues. In the same issue Stephen Leacock, who is called the "Canadian Mark Twain," begins a new comic series entitled "Arcadian Adventures with the Idle Rich." Under the title "The Part Money Plays in Marriage" a man who has had twenty-five years' experience as a husband reports some of of his adventures in the marriage relation. Richard Spillane, a newspaper man, writing under the title "Through Hurricane and Flood," contributes a wonderful story founded on actual experiences in the Galveston disaster. Ray Stannard Baker, writing another letter from the field in his series entitled "Seeing America," describes a daily newspaper advertising campaign conducted on behalf of the churches in Baltimore.

The July month-end Popular Magazine is a war number. There is a complete book-length novel called "Fountain Island," by Frank Blighton. In it Japan is the aggressor. It is the grand entry of the island kingdom into the theater of nations. The discovery of a coal-bearing island in the Aleutain islands points the way by which Japan may attack the United States. Then there is the first half of a two-part story called "War—Personally Conducted," by Clarence L. Cullen. In this instance it is a newspaper correspondent who is directly responsible for the opening of hostilities. They are both great stories.

The July issue of Woman's World is called the summer fiction number. It has a story, "Her Star-Led Course," by Maud Mary Brown, which strikes a new note. The question, "Can perfect marital happiness be found in a union into which either the man or the woman has entered with some part of the past life a secret?" is presented to readers and their opinion invited. Of other fiction, "Thy People and My People," by Grace MacGowan Cooke, delineates a situation in which many a girl finds herself when she marries and is transplanted into entirely new ground. "When a House Pursues," by Elliott Flower, is an amusing account of a family pursued by a house. The serial story, "At the Three Sorrows," by Alice MacGowan, in continued, and Bailey Millard, in "The Lady in the Car," depicts an incident common in daily life, but of human significance.

"The Golden Web," by Ethel Watts Mumford, a story of New York life, opens the July number of Women's Stories. The adventures of Velma Leslie with the "smart set," in which her birth and beauty have found her a place, follow one another so rapidly that no reader would dare put down the story unfinished. Too inexperienced and simple-hearted to judge correctly the motives and standards of her new friends, Velma goes on a yachting cruise, and is miles away at sea before Gordon Murray, a friend of hers—of a very different kind—has his eyes opened to her danger, and speedily becomes her champion.

Col. Roosevelt's statement in regard to the discovery and exploration of "The Unknown River," leads the July Scribner. In brief and forceful phrases he presents the indisputable facts of this important exploration. "We put upon the map an unknown river, in length and volume roughly corresponding to the Elbe, the Rhine, and the Rhone and Saone. The upper course of this river where we went down it, had never hitherto been traversed, nor the adjoining country visited by any civilized man." Astronomical observations were taken throughout the journey, and the map in this article is from Col. Roosevelt's own sketch on a standard map. The full narrative, which is to appear in the October and November numbers of Scribner's, was written from day to day during the sixty days in canoes. Part of the time Col. Roosevelt was on his back with fever, but seldom a day pass without his writing the record. No better picture of what is happening at Vera Cruz can be given than Richard Harding Davis's "When a War Is Not a War," sent from the very heart of the trouble, and including his own adventure in going to Mexico City and meeting with arrest and deportation. Mr. Davis compares his experience to that of his own novels and plays: "All parts were well played and scenery and local color correct; the wigs by Clarkson • • • in every particular it was a first-class New York production." Mary Synon's story, "A Toast, to Dewey," has to do with the spirit of the navy and the boys of the fleet on their way to Vera Cruz. It is a stirring bit of patriotism. When Senator Lodge was recovering from his critical illness some months ago, the first sign of returning health was his interest in the world of books. In "The Diversions of a Convalescent," he reproduces the moods of an invalid who has always loved literature, and whose mind is stocked with the best of it.

Prompt and vigorous discussion of the bearing of the Empress of Ireland disaster on the movement for safety at sea appears in The Survey for June. An article by a former ship's officer presents forcefully reasons against ratifying the International Convention on Safety of Life at Sea, drawn up in London and for the enactment of the La Follette bill now before congress. The thrilling experiences of a girl of 28, "one of the most feared of Russian revolutionists," are detailed by Winthrop D. Lane. How she grew up in the revolutionary movement, was exiled to Siberia for life and escaped to this country, makes a story of wonderful human interest and dramatic appeal. "Philanthropy and Business" is the title of a powerful analysis of the province of each by Dr. Edward T. Devine—his address at the National Conference of Charities and Correction. His references to Mexico and Colorado give special timeliness to the article.

STAGELAND

Lyceum

The Baldwin Players will start the seventh week of their summer season at the Lyceum theater with a matinee tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. A beautiful production of the great play of the hour, "The Rosary," will be presented. This play, like the poem and song, is founded on an emblem of purity.

Matinees will be given Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday. There will be no raise in prices for the Saturday (Fourth of July) holiday matinee.

How many homes in this city are gradually being wrecked through the husband not appreciating the true, honest and sincere love of a good wife? How many husbands in this city are imbued with the spirit of atheism, while their wives, women of serious conviction regarding faith in the things of life unseen, sacrifice the unequaled love of true, honest and sincere creatures? These are two of the questions that are forcibly brought to the attention of all who witness a performance of "The Rosary." The play treats a great and powerful subject graphically and in such a way to grip the attention every minute. "The Rosary" is built upon a thoroughly modern theme, showing the influence of thought upon the lives and well being of the men and women of the present day. Theories have sprung from this theme that have engaged the serious attention of the foremost psychologists, but their portrayal upon the stage has been neglected previous to Edward E. Rose's conception of the necessity of such a play for the American public.

"The Rosary" deals with the lives and fortunes of a little group of people living in the beautiful West Chester country near New York city. The husband is a disbeliever in all religion; his wife, a woman of serious conviction regarding faith in the things of life unseen. Strong in his belief and thoroughly human, a priest moves through the subtle story of the play. When doubt comes and the man and woman's lives are shattered seemingly beyond human power to repair, this priest analyzes the situation, and by the power of his faith brings both the people, whom he loves, back to happiness. Mingled with the darker colors of human tragedy is a vein of natural comedy evolved from the events which occur during the action. In the fourth act, during the scene at the church, which has been presented to Mr. Kelly by his former pupil, Bruce Wilton, "The Rosary" is sung. The stage settings are unique in their way; the first act occurs in a wonderfully beautiful outdoor scene, the second and third acts are laid in a charming interior, showing the atmosphere of serene home life, while the fourth act is the new church.

"The Spit-Fire" might be classed as melodramatic, there is an exciting blending of action, comedy and sentiment, and a tale of love, adventure and daring, which grips old and young with its irresistible appeal.

At the Sunbeam.

When a motion picture can enjoy a run of 250 consecutive performances before capacity audiences it is an acknowledgement that the picture is a masterpiece and it is a record breaking achievement in the annals of the film world. Yet this is the record of the picture entitled "Goodness Gracious" or "moving pictures as they shouldn't be," produced in three parts by the Vitagraph company and selected by that concern to open their new $1,000,000 motion picture palace the first to be opened by a manufacturing company on Broadway in New York city.

Duluthians will have the opportunity of witnessing this picture at the Sunbeam theater at tomorrow's program only and it is offered at the very height of its wonderful record breaking run. This film is universally proclaimed the most brilliant success of the Vitagraph company and one of the finest motion pictures the screen has ever seen. Two of the leading Vitagraph players assume the leading roles in this humorous playlet, namely Clara Kimball Young and Sidney Drew. In this funny laugh producer the audience will see the most villainous villain who ever pursued a heroine, out-heroining all other heroines, a horrible murder plot nipped in the bud, in fact it is undescribable in words but the pictures tell it all.

SCENE FROM "THE ROSARY,"
Which Will Be Presented at the Lyceum All Next Week By the Baldwin Players.

AT EMPRESS

Arthur Clamage, the star of "The Pink Widow," which is now playing at the Empress theater, under the direction of W. M. Abrahamson, is an able laugh getter.

In speaking of his profession Clamage said in a recent interview:

"Comedy like any other line of endeavor is a business. If you are to be successful you must mind your business and know your business. There are gifted actors who from an artistic standpoint are on a plane by themselves but still have failed to reach the high road to success, because they have wandered in by-ways of self satisfaction, forgetting that what might please them personally does not always meet with favor from those 'out front' as actors call the folks who pay to get in. Another thing to bear in mind, a comedian to be a continued success must be clean in his work and free from vulgarity. A man can't run a dirty restaurant and expect people to eat in it the second time. It is the same with show business. It is the clean shows that pay."

Vaudeville for a change will hold the boards at the Empress theater for three days starting with the matinee Monday, June 29. Headlining the bill will be Helen Dixon and the Rambler girls offering a novel singing and dancing act. Helen Dixon is said to be a very stately and pretty maiden with a charming voice. The Rambler girls are both of the Gibson type. Their personality is such, that they become interesting at their very first appearance on the stage. The trio offer a dainty act which will no doubt please lovers of good music and clever dancing.

Earl and Edwards are two comedians. Their material is said to be new, bright and witty, and they have parodies and eccentric dances. The two boys are neat dressers.

The musical Kuehns are just what their name implies, musical. The mixed team present a program of musical selections. Their songs and hits are of the very latest and have the knack of picking just the right kind of tunes.

Cycling Crane is a comedy cycle comedian, who performs numerous feats in a funny fashion. While many of his tricks are difficult and hazardous he does them in a care-free and easy manner which seems to take audiences by storm. His feats are new and of the startling variety and some of them out of the usual routine.

As a special added attraction and in addition to the usual liberal display of motion pictures on Empress programs the twenty-third chapter of "Our Mutual Girl" will be given. This film will be seen only at the Empress theater in Duluth, as Manager Abrahamson has gone to considerable expense to secure this reel and will give "Our Mutual Girl" series every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday until the Zelda theater opens. In chapter twenty-three, Dunbar, "The Man of Mystery," follows a well-dressed stranger who went up the stairs of the Knickerbocker home but seemed afraid to ring the bell. He trails the stranger to his country home and finds Margaret, who had been badly injured by the rich man's auto. She has been under the care of a physician and the rich young man's mother. This film shows Margaret and her aunt reunited.

The usual good photo plays will also be seen on this program.

Owing to the success of Arthur Clamage, Don Clark and associate players, in presenting the musical farce, "The Girl From Luxemburg," and "The Pink Widow," Manager Abrahamson of the Empress theater and Manager Sigel of the Lyric theater in Virginia have completed arrangements whereby this excellent company of girls and boys will continue to appear at the two houses as long as their popularity lasts. For the next bill, the very funny musical farce comedy, "The Speculators," has been selected. This attraction relates the complicated adventures of two wealthy Germans in Wall street, their odd dealings in stocks and mixups with fascinating women. Arthur Clamage will again assume the role of the eccentric German character while Don Clark will have a part which will enable him to show his ability as an ctor. The women principals will all be well cast, while the chorus will be trained in a number of new fancy dances. The songs for "The Speculators" are said to be tuneful.

"The Speculators" will play at Virginia for three days opening June 29, then will come to the Empress on July 2, Thursday, for an engagement of four days.

A long list of popular musical successes will be presented by Arthur Clamage, Don Clark and associate players as long as Empress theater patrons desire this form of entertainment.

Echo

This is the fourth week that the Echo theater has been presenting musical comedy, and it can be said that the management is more than pleased with the results. Mr. Mistachkin has been very successful in his endeavor and is pleasing more than 2,000 people daily, while only a few weeks ago 90 per cent of the theater patrons did not know that there was a theater in the city by the name of "Echo."

The theater is conducted in the most respectable manner, catering to women and children. Before each new performance the management calls for a dress rehearsal and the performance is put on for the manager and his advisers, just as if the theater was packed with a large audience. Each line is gone over carefully for fear that one word may possibly offend. If such a line be heard it is immediately cut. Last evening the Echo played to three women to each man.

The Echo presents "Oh, You September Morn," with Marie Russell in the title role, closing Sunday night. It is a musical comedy that scored in the East and is drawing good crowds.

For Monday Mr. Hubb will present with his entire cast, the musical success entitled "Hogan's Last Fight," a farce comedy. Plenty of good musical numbers are included in each production presented at the Echo. "Oh, You September Morn" plays tonight and tomorrow and Monday "Hogan's Last Fight." The price of admission remains the same. Three performances are given daily, one in the afternoon and two at night.

AT THE REX

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be three days that will be long remembered by Rex patrons for these are the dates selected to show the widely talked of and much discussed picture-play, "The Battle of the Sexes." Out of all the talk and arguments has come the verdict that this is a powerful story delicately told.

Chapter Ten finds Lucille Love, the "Girl of Mystery," on Hugo Loubeque's ranch in Mexico. The priceless ruby necklace becomes another danger to Lucille, but eventually aids in her escape from the Hacienda and her prison house.

"Pop" Courtney declared he had the best Cornell crew he ever turned out in the eight which represented that institution against Columbia, Syracuse, Pennsylvania, Washington State and Wisconsin in the intercollegiate rowing races at Poughkeepsie this year, and so good is the crew that the Animated Weekly No. 119 features them at the Rex Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A romantic farce of thrills and laughter is "The Spit-Fire", a Daniel Frohman production to play the Rex Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Edward Peple, the author, is well known through his stories, including "Prince Chap" and "A Pair of Sixes." While

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

A new play by the veteran, Augustus Thomas, "The Battle Cry" by name, will be one of the notable productions of the Shubert's in the future, the first of October having been set for its initial appearance upon the boards. It is an adaptation of the successful novel by Robert H. Davis.

For next season De Wolf Hopper will add "The Yeoman of the Guard" to his list of Gilbert and Sullivan operas. This will give him a repertoire of five operas, embracing in addition to the one already mentioned, "The Mikado," "Iolanthe," "Pirates of Penzance," and "H. M. S. Pinafore," for each of which a complete scenic production will be carried. The supporting company will be practically identical with the one that assisted Mr. Hopper last year. The season is to begin late in August with a straight "jump" across the continent to San Francisco; this engagement to be followed by a tour of the Pacific coast.

Having completed the season in New York, Guy Bates Post and "Omar, the Tentmaker," move to the Pacific coast for the summer. Tully and Buckland, Inc., the producers, have arranged a route which extends through to June, 1915, without a break, and the Persian love play has already entered on its long tour.

Wilton Lackaye, who has recently finished a long season in "Fine Feathers," went to Washington, D. C., to deliver an address during the celebration of the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of Georgetown university. On this occasion the university conferred upon Mr. Lackaye the honorary degree of bachelor of arts.

Mollie Williams, burlesque star, will take a whirl in the two-a-days next season, according to a recent announcement.

Owing to the recent death of William Hammerstein, the second son of Oscar Hammerstein, his brother, Arthur, is now in charge of Hammerstein's vaudeville house in New York.

* * *

Julian Eltinge's former starring vehicle, "The Fascinating Widow," will be sent over the popular-priced route, having been acquired by the Stair and Havlin circuit.

* * *

Richard Bennett is planning to try out two new vehicles, namely "The Idol Breaker," by Charles Rann Kennedy, and "The Man Who Forgot," by James May, a Washington, D. C., newspaper man.

* * *

The receipts for the first week of the new "Follies" at the Amsterdam, New York, are said to have broken all previous records at this house. They are stated to have been in the neighborhood of $19,500.

* * *

David Belasco will be the first in the field for the new season. The play is called "The Vanishing Bride," and it will open at Long Branch, July 20. "The Vanishing Bride" is an adaptation from the German by Sydney Rosenfeld. If Belasco finds the affair to his liking he will take it into New York in September.

* * *

Lillian Lorraine is out of the "Whirl of the World" show, her place being taken by Yvonne Darle, a French actress. "The Whirl of the World" is reported as doing splendid business in Chicago.

* * *

Rumor has it that Anna Held will be seen in a new musical piece next season. A trip around the world is said to be in contemplation for the star in the new play.

* * *

Preparations are afoot for the production of the London success, "A Pair of Silk Stockings" in New York. The Shuberts will stand sponsor for it, and the company will be imported from England, with Allen Aynesworth and Bronson Albery at the head.

* * *

"The Belle of Bond Street" is reported as having scored an unqualified hit in London, with Sam Bernard and Ina Claire in the leading roles.

* * *

Evelyn Nesbitt is about to educate the Parisians up to her standard of the art. It is said that she will appear there in July.

* * *

"The Call of Youth" recently closed in Chicago, and when the manager was sought after to pay back salaries he was nowhere to be found, thus leaving the company stranded high and dry, without the wherewithal to pay railroad fares and hotel bills. "The Call of Youth" was written by Frederick and Fanny Hatton, authors of "Years of Discretion," which made a hit during the season just passed.

CONTROLLING THE MOVIES

How Films Are Censored By National Board.

By ORRIN G. COCKS,
Advisory Secretary, National Board of Censorship of Motion Pictures.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Control over motion pictures has recently aroused wide-spread public discussion. Official censorship has been established in four states and many cities. And a bill is pending in congress to create a federal motion picture commission for licensing films.

Especial interest therefore attaches to a statement recently issued by the National Board of Censorship of Motion Pictures, giving its present policy and standards of judgment. The board is a voluntary self-governing organization working with the manufacturers and importers of motion pictures and in the interests of the public. It was formed by the People's Institute of New York. No member is engaged in any branch of the motion picture business. The thirty-three members of the general committee speak as skilled social workers, representing such agencies as the Y. M. C. A., Charity Organization society, Children's Aid association, Federation of Churches, Women's clubs, Y. W. C. A. and People's institute.

The Censoring Committee.

The 105 members of the carefully selected censoring committee drawn from the most intelligent groups in New York volunteer their services. The board at present views from 150 to 185 film subjects a week, covering 95 per cent of the industry. These pictures are daily seen by about 8,000,000 people in 18,000 motion picture houses in the United States. Last year 53 film subjects were entirely condemned and 4 parts were eliminated from 401.

The total cost of negatives and copies kept off the American market was more than $682,000. The board sends out weekly a bulletin of all the pictures passed for the week with or without parts eliminated and those which have been condemned. These bulletins go to some 400 city authorities, social workers, censoring committees and interested individuals.

The board's statement of its policy and standards of judgment is an interesting attempt to crystalize in words the moral and psychological effect of this new form of recreation on the minds of people, to estimate public opinion and to criticise or exclude from the screen those scenes which have dangerous effects.

Difficulties of Censorship.

Few people realize the scope and complexity of such criticism. Laws have always lagged behind public opinion and there has been startling disagreement on basic ethical principles. The members of the national board recognize these obstacles and freely acknowledge that they are open to error. Their methods, however, are sound. They know the motion picture business. They have actual knowledge of the effects of the pictures on people of different classes and in different parts of the country. They seek advice from people skilled in a part or the whole of the field of life.

The problem is found complicated by the necessity of reviewing and criticising pictures for all the people. The same films are released on the same day in Florida, Maine and Oregon. The motion picture houses are open to people ranging from 3 to 80 years of age and representing social traditions and educational influences, some modern and some antiquated, some native and some foreign. A partial solution of this difficulty appears to be special theaters and programs for children and young people, community theaters and unusually fine films in schools, churches and libraries.

The board recognizes that the imagination of young people acts quickly on the senses. It appreciates that they are open to all kinds of suggestion. On the other hand, it knows that the safe-guards of youth, reticence, respect, fears and ideals, act as barriers against impure and unworthy thoughts and acts.

Sensuality or Crime.

It realizes that pictures stimulating the senses require particular study from the point of view of the adolescent. It, therefore, has adopted standards "curtailing prolonged love scenes which are ardent beyond the strict requirements of the dramatic situation. It believes that it is one of the purposes of censorship to keep out of the mire the great experiences of humanity so that they may not be cheapened to the extent of losing their significance." The board restricts also very carefully the display of clothing and the person in ways to arouse the imagination and suggest immorality and indecency. It also enforces strictly the exclusion of those forms of close dancing which have the same sensuous appeal.

A bewildering variety of crimes against person and property requires careful treatment. "The portrayal of crime should not degenerate into pandering to a morbid appetite, but should seek ends which are legitimate for the drama." The board insists that punishment naturally and fatally follows crime and that an adequate dramatic motive for committing a crime is always necessary to warrant picturing it. Gruesome and suggestive details are excluded. Regarding violence, the board states, "The actual deeds of violence need to be treated with the greatest discretion in motion pictures and the producer should remember that he is not writing a detailed exposition of the crime, but is telling a dramatic story which most often does not need such detail, but merely enough to make clear what has happened."

Vice Films.

The board critically examines films presenting various forms of sex lapses, for those effects on audiences which arouse rather than minimize passion, which tend to perpetuate the double standard of morality, which reveal easy ways of gratifying desire and of making money in the "trade," or which simply indicate the weakness of humanity or recite the dreary detail of the lives of "prostitutes." The board gives its support to those subjects and films which present facts in a sincere, dramatic way leading to repression or to the removal of causes of commercial or sub-rose prostitution. "There is a place on the screen of the motion picture theater for presentations which unquestionably indicate the causes, the dangers and the effects of sexual misconduct. Those subjects dealing with the social evil will therefore be supported by the National Board of Censorship which arouse fear in the minds of both sexes, which develop a hatred on the part of audience of this ancient evil, which stimulate efforts to rescue the prostitute, and which indicate sensible and workable method of repression or suppression."

The board deals severely with films which picture maniacs, on the ground that they unduly harass the emotions of the normal person and seldom serve a real dramatic purpose. The insane character who is not a maniac is less liable to be eliminated from a picture; though if the presentation of such character be unduly unwholesome or unpleasant, it is challenged.

The board recognizes the need of popular education as to extent and dangerous effects of habit-forming drugs, and believes that motion pictures may be a medium for this purpose. But it is opposed to the portrayal of the alluring, the gruesome and suggestive, and will allow only those scenes which are dramatically necessary to point the moral. It also opposes those methods of using such drugs as would stimulate curiosity and experimentation. It will critically scan any suggestions of easy methods of obtaining such drugs.

It will support those subjects presented in a dignified, sincere and dramatic way which will enlighten and arouse the public to the enactment and enforcement of laws tending to the repression or prevention of illegal or immoral use or sale.

Though located in New York as being the headquarters of the motion picture industry for the distribution of films, the national board does not accept as a basis of criticism the standards of the New York stage or of its complicated, liberal and abnormal life. It seeks constantly the point of view of typical Americans and attempts to write this same judgment into its standards.

MONTE CARLO AT PANAMA PLANNED

British Earl at Head of Gambling and Amusement Scheme.

London, June 27.—The "Casino Nacional de Panama Co., Ltd.," with the Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot as chairman, which proposes to start a second Monte Carlo at Panama, gives an alluring description of the wonderful gambling and amusement resort it intends to launch.

The company is to acquire 250 acres of land, and to operate under a charter "insuring absolute freedom from all interference for a period of twenty-five years," according to the promises of its prospectus, but no statement is made of what authority is to give the charter, and to ensure the freedom from interference. The casino is to include most of the atractions of Monte Carlo, a big hotel, an orchid garden which will be one of the wonders of the world, a bathing pavilion, pigeon shooting, tennis grounds, golf courses, and principally the gambling hall.

Panama is advertised as a splendid winter resort, while passengers will have twenty-four hours to spend on land while the steamers traverse the canal, thus encuring a constant patronage. Profits to the stockholders must be large, because the roulette tables will be run on a system giving the bank a much larger percentage of profits than the Monte Carlo company gets from the play there. Forty per cent of dividends on the four-pound shares are predicted by the prospectus.

WHAT THE HAIR TELLS.

Answers: To the unassisted eye all hair is apparently similar, except that some is long or short, coarse or fine, dark or fair, or straight or curly.

When, however, hair is closely examined under the microscope this is not so. The European's hair is round and the negro's oval, while that destructive rodent, the mouse, possesses hair that is evidently jointed. The bat's is jagged. Indeed, every animal possesses filament of a peculiar quality. Human hair, the root of which is bulbous, is inclosed in a skin follicle, associated with which are sebaceous glands, whose secretion gives food and glossiness to the hair.

Another fact that emphasizes the wonders of nature is that each hair, insignificant as it is in size, holds a coloring pigment. It may be brown, black, red or flaxen, but when the coloring matter fails the hair adopts the dreaded gray hue.

The microscope and the hair have frequently provided the means of bringing about a criminal's conviction.

There is one case on record—that of a murderer who had killed his victim by means of a blow on the brow—in which hairs that had been found on a hammer in the possession of the suspected man, after being subjected to careful scrutiny under the microscope, proved to be those of the human eyebrow.

This, coupled with the fact that the victim was killed by a blow on the brow, proved to be the link in the chain of evidence which sufficed to convict the prisoner.

CARNIVAL WEEK UNDER AUSPICES OF AAD TEMPLE WILL OPEN MONDAY

FANTANA, ONE OF THE CARNIVAL ATTRACTIONS.

Carnival week will open Monday afternoon and the entertainment provided for Duluthians by Aad Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will continue each day until Saturday evening, July 4, at Harrison park, Thirtieth avenue west and Third street.

The carnival has fifteen star vaudeville acts for the amusement of those who will attend the entertainment, while a country store will be in operation throughout the week under the direction of the Shrine girls. At this store a $1,050 automobile will be given away free on the last night of the carnival.

Among the more important acts on the bill are Fantana, featuring Alice Melville and the twelve tango girls; the Motordrome, the steepest of its kind in existence; the $10,000 carry-us-all; the crystal maze, with its dazzling lights and glasses; trained animals, including a dog and pony show and the Ferris wheel.

On Wednesday noon, July 1, there will be a parade on the downtown streets, in which the Arab patrol of Aad temple and the drum corps will take part. The 30-piece band from the Tom W. Allen carnival will lead the line of march, while the performers and entertainers will follow in the rear. Many of the animals, which take part in the carnival, will also be in the parade.

A special train carrying Shriners and their wives is expected from the range on Wednesday noon and if they arrive on time, they will be included in the parade. The range people expect to visit the carnival grounds in the afternoon, returning to their homes in the evening.

On Saturday evening, July 4, the last night of the carnival, the $1,050 automobile will be given away, while the most popular girl in Duluth will be crowned as the "Shrine Lady" and also awarded a $200 diamond ring as a gift from Aad temple. The girl having the second largest number of votes in this contest will be given a gold watch, while the third, will be given a mesh bag.

The carnival will open at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and will continue until 11 o'clock in the evening. This order will follow throughout the week, until Saturday evening.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

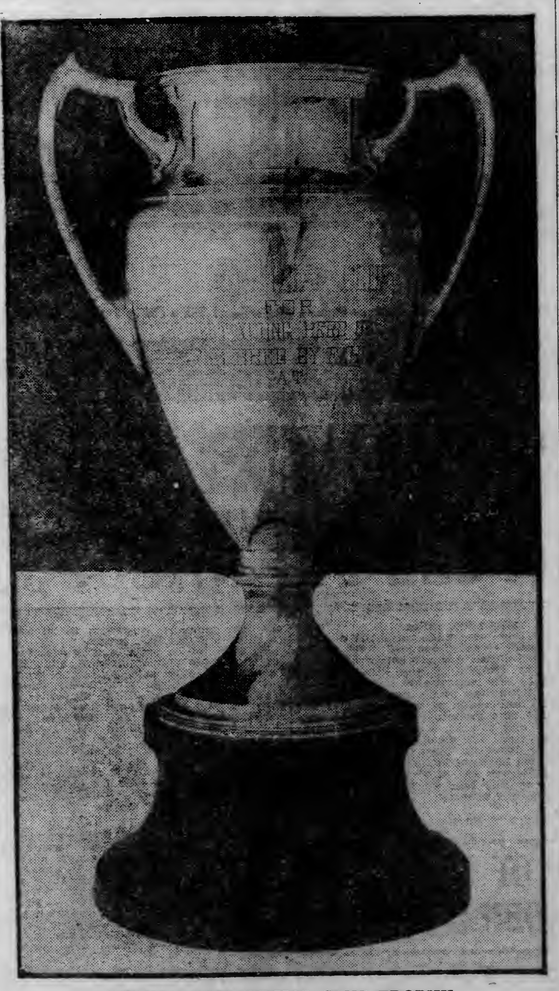

IT HAS been ascertained by scientific research that carelessness in regard to garbage is the cause for a great deal of sickness in a community. In fact, the spread of contagious diseases has been directly traceable to garbage neglect.

Research investigation of a large number of cities shows that cities are not particular in this point. Garbage collections should be compulsory, whether it is collected and disposed of by the city or by a private corporation. Each house should be compelled by ordinance to provide itself with a proper garbage can, and the garbage should be collected at least twice a week. Families are nearly all willing to pay for the collection of garbage, and if it is made compulsory there should be no difficulty in providing a proper investigation. In a large number of cities garbage is collected and disposed of at a profit, or at least in a way to produce revenue, as by-products can be sold. A great many cities do not take enough interest in the proposition to learn and see what other cities are doing and what is possible along this line. Where cities are collecting and disposing of garbage, the expense of it is included in the tax budget, or a more satisfactory way is to charge each house so much a month for the collection. Provide in the ordinance a penalty for non-payment of dues.

In cities where private corporations collect and dispose of the garbage the bills are mailed monthly and any delinquents are sued in civil courts like any other action. But this is very seldom necessary as garbage collectors report negligence to the city health department, which sends an officer to delinquent payers, warning them about the violation of the ordinance in not having their garbage collected, which means another penalty. There is nothing that causes the spread of disease more than neglected garbage, where flies collect and breed, and spread disease to anything that they touch.

Duluth has a limited municipal collection of garbage in the downtown section and the West end, the charges being based upon the service rendered. Plans are being made to extend the municipal collection to all parts of the city, the expense to be borne by the city. Provision for this may be made in the budget for 1915. Thus far the city has made no effectual attempt to derive a profit from the by-products.

DULUTH COMMERCIAL CLUB OFFERS TROPHY AT NORTH DAKOTA FAIR

DULUTH COMMERCIAL CLUB TROPHY.

Following a course adopted some years ago, the Commercial Club of Duluth is again offering a trophy for competition at the North Dakota state fair this year. The cup is offered for the best young herd of dairy cattle consisting of one bull under 2 years old, two heifers 1 year old and under 2 years, and two heifers under 1 year old, all females to be bred by the exhibitor. The trophies offered by the Commercial club at the North Dakota fair have always aroused keen competition among the exhibitors, and this year's cup is a beauty. It has been sent to Fargo and is being shown there with other fair trophies. The fair will be held this year at Fargo, July 20 to 25.

THE LUCK OF MINERS.

How Millions Have Been Taken From Claims Abandoned as Worthless By Owners.

Answers: "Boss, come here," said one of the "boys" in the employ of Mr. Bowker, an Englishman who was working a diamond claim at Drogeveld, on the Vaal river in South Africa.

The boss came, and the kaffir showed him a huge diamond of 178½ carats, or nearly the size of the Koh-i-noor.

This was in October last, and on the very day when Mr. Bowker and his partner had decided to abandon the claim, which had produced only a few small stones. Needless to say, they did not leave, and a few days later they hit upon another diamond even larger than the first. It was 196¾ carats, and sold in the rough for £1,770.

It is strange how often the miner makes a fortune out of an abandoned or almost abandoned claim.

There was such a case at Waarn Yarra, in Australia, in May, 1903. Two Kingston men bought an old claim for a song, and found it in such bad condition that it needed timbering all through. One wanted to give it up, but the other suggested that they might try their luck for a day or two. So they took some props down and set to work.

The first man stuck his pick into the clay roof to make a hole for a prop, and down fell a large stone almost on his head. But it was not a stone. It was a nugget o pure gold weighing 118 ounces.

The richest copper mine in the world is the United Verde in Arizona. It was originally found by a couple of ranchers, who sold it for $10,000 to two men named Murray and Trimble.

They worked it and found little copper, and were absolutely at the end of their resources when they struck a pocket, not of copper, but silver ore, which netted them a sum of £16,000.

They came to an end of the silver and abandoned the mine as worthless. Another man came down from Montana and bought the old claim for a few hundreds. He struck the real vein of copper, and within ten years it made him one of the richest men in the world. In a single twelvemonth he took out copper valued at £2,400,000.

This calls to mind the even more famous Mount Morgan gold mine. The first owner of the land was Donald Gordon, who grazed his flocks above untold and unknown riches, and sold the land for $1 an acre to two brothers named Morgan.

They set to work, and the quartz panned out up to 800 ounces of gold to the ton. In 1889 £1,000,000 was distributed to the shareholders. One shareholders left a fortune of £2,311,000.

Gradually the gold quartz petered out and the Mount Morgan mine was supposed to be dead.

Then some clever mineralogist, poking about the half-deserted works, realized that there was more copper than gold. In 1906 the mine was reborn as a copper producer, and a new process was discovered for extracting gold from the copper. Today Mount Morgan is still going strong.

SEWING ROOM POINTERS.

New York Sun: The soft, floppy summer straw hat in vogue this year can be made into a pretty work basket. First rip off all the trimming, then turn the hat upside down. Take some silk or cretonne to harmonize with the straw and line the inside of the crown, making a tiny frill all around the edge. Put bias pieces of the material here and there along the sides of the basket in which to insert papers of needles and spools of thread. Make also a thimble case, which you sew securely to the frilled edge.

Rip off a section of straw from the brim of the hat and with this make a handle, or if the brim is not wide enough use ribbon, with a bow at the top. The summer hat has become a useful article.

Pretty pompons for slippers are made in this way: Gather a double strip of chiffon about three inches wide, or an inch and a half wide when folded into a rosette. Make a little satin rose of the same color.

If you are not versed in the way of making roses from satin, make two rosettes, as you make the chiffon ones, one smaller than the other, and fasten them together, and they will look flower-like.

Use bright crystal beads for the flower center, and dot beads around the edges of the petals of the satin roses. Pure, clear glass beads give the best effect but gold or silver beads would also be pretty.

BORAH SCORES TRADE BILL

Says It Would Leave Business Uncertain as to Law.

Opens Republican Attack on Administration Measure.

Washington, June 27.—Republican attack on the Federal trade commission bill was opened in the senate last night by Senator Borah, who told his colleagues that passage of the measure would lead, not to certainty among business men as to what they might lawfully do, but to another period of uncertainty such as followed the enactment of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Senator Borah criticized particularly the provision in the bill which says "unfair competition" is unlawful. He declared that leading lawyers in the senate were unable to agree on what that term means, and insisted it was unjust to ask the business of the country to determine a matter where the national legislators had failed.

Wants Definition.

"You are putting business in a straitjacket," said Senator Borah. "You should define what shall constitute unfair competition. The Sherman law bids business to be competitive and lays down the rule that competition is the life of trade. Competition is the primal element of interstate commerce. This bill provides that there shall be no unfair competition. When we say competition is the life of trade and is essential to the public and business welfare, and then say that it shall not be unfair, it certainly is due the business of the country that we lay down rules for competition and say what unfair competition shall be."

The senator said he agreed with the president that the element of uncertainty in the business world should be removed, but would not agree that the passage of this bill, with unfair competition undefined, would accomplish that end.

Could End Monopoly.

Senator Borah announced that he would favor a measure to strengthen the Sherman law, but said that, in his opinion, under the law as construed by the supreme court, it is in the power of the executive branch to end monopoly if it has the courage to do so.

Senator Newlands urged that it would be almost impossible to define practices that constitute unfair competition, and Senator Lewis said that if such definitions were put in the bill, practices not named could be indulged in which were admittedly unfair, but which would not be unlawful because not specifically mentioned.

GREWSOME EXHIBIT ON EVILS OF DRINK

Graves and Tombstones Are Used to Drive Lesson Home.

Chicago, June 27.—Reports and addresses at the big Sunday school convention here are mostly cheerful, optimistic affairs, but the Scientific Temperance Federation of Boston has chosen a grim and gloomy but effective method of driving its lesson home. It is an exhibit of statistics, with graves and tombstones as symbols, and a corner of the main meeting place is given over to it.

In demonstrating the number of deaths in Basle, Switzerland, in a certain period as the result of alcoholic indulgence, a row of graves, painted black, is used, with the statistics on the headstones. Then there is a row of wooden figures in convict garo accompanied by statistics showing that 95 per cent of them owned their troubles to strong drink. Children of alcoholic parents are represented as weaklings.

Sees Opium Traffic End.

A country without opium by 1920 was the prediction made for China in in an address by Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts of Washington.

"The chief encouragement of the movement for world-wide prohibition of opium has been the success of the Chinese government in suppressing the traffic" said the speaker. "It was admitted by the British embassy a few months ago in Washington that 85 per cent of the poppy growing and 90 per cent of the opium smoking had ceased. This, in spite of the insistence of the British government on its treaty rights to sell opium at wholesale in the foreign settlements of Shanghai and elsewhere. In five Chinese provinces, the suppression is complete and five more will be added soon."

WILL STRENGTHEN THE PACIFIC FLEET.

Washington, June 27.—Secretary Daniels has reiterated his determination to increase substantially the strength of the Pacific fleet with the opening of the Panama canal. The secretary also announced that the ships of the Atlantic fleet which are to lead the international parade out of Hampton roads for the canal opening next March, would remain in Pacific waters several months. He said they would be there until the fourth of July next year, and possibly Christmas.

Definite plans for permanently dividing the country's naval force between the two oceans have not been made. Mr. Daniels said in response to a question that the decision to strengthen the fleet in Pacific waters was not influenced by the Japanese situation.

ALLEGED "JURY FIXERS" CAUGHT.

Chicago, June 27. — Indictments charging conspiracy as a result of bribery charges made by John P. Cummings, a manufacturer, were voted against the following:

Herman Schmitz, a deputy clerk of the criminal court; Robert E. Malone, alleged "runner" for cheap lawyers, and Frank P. ("Slickey") McMahon, a hanger-on of the courts.

Cummings, facing trial on charges brought by Miss Dorothy Moore, a former stenographer of his, alleges that the indicted men offered to assure him acquittal. Detectives secreted themselves in Lincoln park, where it is alleged he passed out the money demanded, and the men were arrested.

Cummings claims to have been careful to have witnesses to all transactions with the alleged jury fixers, except when he was first approached.

WOOD WILL TAKE UP NEW COMMAND.

Washington, June 27.—Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, former chief of staff of the army, will go to New York in a few days to assume command of the Eastern department. Gen. Wood was assigned to command this department before the expiration of his detail as chief of staff last April, but in the meantime he was selected by Secretary Garrison to command the field army in the event of a Mexican campaign. The present determination to have him take up his duties in New York is taken here to indicate that officials do not expect a forward movement by the American forces in Mexico.

MILEAGE QUESTION BOTHERS CONGRESS.

Washington, June 27.—Amid a maze of parliamentary tangles that kept the members guessing, the house yesterday sent back to conference the question of mileage of representatives in congress. Thursday the body voted in favor of 5 cents a mile each way for senators, and the defeat yesterday, 184 to 59, of a motion to recede from disagreement to the senate proposition of continuing the present 20 cents a mile sent the whole question back to be threshed out again by the conferees.

COMPLAIN IN NAME OF CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Mexico City, June 27. — Most Rev. Francisco Plancarte Y. Navarrete, archbishop of Linares, and Most Rev. Francisco Orozco Y. Jiminez, archbishop of Guadalajara, accompanied by the French charge d'affaires, called at the Brazilian legation here yesterday and held a long conference with Minister Cardoso De Oliveria regarding what they termed the hostile attitude of the Constitutionalists toward the Catholic church.

The Brazilian minister will send the statements of the archbishops to the state department at Washington, which is expected to exercise its influence in preventing a continuation of the Constitutionalists' alleged anti-religious crusade.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MINE TO BE CLOSED.

Lethbridge, Alta., June 27. — The Canadian government has appointed Judge Carpenter and four other officials to conduct an investigation into the Hill Crest mine disaster of last Friday, in which 199 miners lost their lives.

After donating $20,000 to the relief fund, the Canadian Pacific railway announced that it would immediately begin dismantling its mine at Hosmer, B. C., in which several million dollars have been expended. One thousand men will be thrown out of employment.

Only one body remains in the mine where the explosion occurred. Nine bodies have not been identified.

GET BODIES OF TWO VICTIMS IN MEXICO.

Washington, June 27.—Recovery of the bodies of Weston Burwell, the American engineer, and Louis Cordoba, his companion, who were shot by Mexicans at Tamiahua several weeks ago, was reported to the state department yesterday from Tampico. Burwell's body will be sent to Washington.

FELKER TO HEAD SPEAKERS AT MEET

Noted Authorities Will Address Good Roads Session in New Hampshire.

Governor Felker of New Hampshire will head the list of noted speakers who will address the good roads session of the midsummer meeting of the American Automobile association, to be held at the Hotel Maplewood, Bethlehem, N. H., on the afternoon of July 6. White Mountain visitors generally are invited to attend the highways gathering which will be in charge of Chairman George C. Diehl of the American Automobile association national good roads board.

State Highway Commissioners S. Percy Hooker of New Hampshire, Lyman H. Nelson of Maine, and Charles W. Gates of Vermont, will tell of roads development in their respective states. An address which will have some reference to Federal aid will be delivered by Paul D. Sargent, the state highway engineer of Maine, who was formerly acting director of the United States office of public roads of the department of agriculture. Col. W. D. Sohier, chairman of the Massachusetts highway commission, also expects to arrange his plans to be present.

The association is accentuating this summer New England territory, for the reason that a year hence there will be a decided trend to the Pacific coast on account of the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco, and the magnet of wonderful roads accomplishment in Southern California, as well as in Oregon and Washington.

Chairman Lewis R. Speare of the association midsummer meeting committee calls upon those participants who intend to make the journey by way of Boston to notify him at the earliest possible moment of such intention, in order that he can provide for hotel accommodations and supply special route information which gives varied itineraries to Bethlehem from various New England points. His address is Cambridge Co., Boston, Mass.

The rendezvous at Bethlehem will begin with arrivals on the afternoon of July 3. For the Fourth of July a program of gymkhana stunts, in charge of Dal H. Lewis, secretary of the Automobile club of Buffalo, who has made a specialty of this sort of thing, is being prepared. Sunday, the fifth, will be devoted to short tours to various points in the White Mountains; with the meeting of the association directors and the good roads session on the following day. There will be a scattering of the claus on the morning of the seventh, many having planned supplemental tours into Maine and Vermont.

'FIRST AID' FOR TOURISTS

Long-Distance Driver Should Prepare for Emergencies.

Volumes have been written about emergency repairs to the disabled motor car. Little, however, has been said about the minor repairs and adjustments which the tourist may occasionally be called upon to make upon his own person.

The growth of long distance motor touring and the popularity of trips which lead far from the centers of civilization make it imperative that the well-equipped tourist should have in his kit some simple "first-aid" outfit and should know how to use it.

European motorists have awakened to these facts rather more rapidly than ourselves, if one may judge by the number of compact and yet complete first-aid outfits offered to motor firms. It is, however, quite possible that the excellent finish and compactness of these little kits, together with the fact that they are well advertised, has been as effective in promoting their use as a general realization of the necessity for them.

Sample of Outfit.

As a good example of their kind may be taken an outfit put up in an enameled metal box measuring 4¼ by 7¼ by 2½ inches. It contains a half-dozen of the commoner medicines in tablet form, an ounce of sterilized cotton, boric lint, three bandages, collodion, a dressing for burns, safety pins, common pins, smelling salts, cold cream, a sponge, material for an eye wash, adhesive tape; and castor oil for use in the eye. It will be seen that this is little short of a miracle in compactness, and no motorist need begrudge the space required for an outfit of this sort.

The scissors should be dipped in gasoline to render them approximately sterile, and after opening the package of gauze in such a way that none of it comes even momentarily in contact with the fingers, the clothing, or anything else that might contaminate it, a bit of it is cut off and saturated in the hot water from the radiator. This should be done by having an assistant open the drain cock and then holding the gauze pledget in the stream that issues from it.

List of Articles.

Bearing in mind the things which are apt to come up in any trip, and with an eye to compactness and the elimination of all articles not really needed, the tourists' first-aid kit might well consist of the articles enumerated below.

Small pair of straight scissors.

Plain sterilized gauze in one-yard rolls, two or three rolls.

Plain sterilized absorbent cotton, one ounce.

Two one-inch muslin bandages and one each of the two, two and a half and three-inch sizes.

Two or three safety pins and some common pins.

Small piece of rubber tissue.

Tube of sterillzide carron oil or carbolic acid ointment.

Roll or one-half inch adhesive plaster.

Two-ounce bottle of sterile, 3 per cent boracic acid solution.

Medicine dropper.

One drachm bottle of sterilized castor oil.

Let the Factory Man repair your radiator and make your fenders to order. All work strictly guaranteed.

OAKLAND POLICEMEN ADOPT RAILWAY TRAFFIC SIGNALS

OAKLAND TRAFFIC SIGNAL.

Two policemen of Oakland, Cal., have adapted the railroad semaphore system to the control of street traffic. They are Jack Sherry and William Wallman. The semaphores are placed at opposite corners of a street crossing and the arms are worked exactly like those of railroad semaphores. When the east and west arms are raised, traffic east and west stops. After an interval, the north and south arms are raised and the east and west arms are dropped. Then the traffic north and south stops and traffic flows east and west. The crossing policeman operates the semaphores by means of an electric controller.

WHAT SHARP STONES COST AUTO OWNERS

Bits of crushed rock scattered about Duluth are believed by local autoists to have caused a loss of about $25,000 to automobile owners in this city alone.

Wagons loaded with crushed rock often leave a trail from start to destination and these small stones, many of them with sharp corners, are continually cutting the automobile tires. Although the damage is not noted immediately, it results in a very heavy loss to owners of automobiles.

Estimating that there are approximately 1,000 automobiles in the city of Duluth and estimating the loss of one tire on every car as a result of these stones, the damage would amount to about $25,000. These figures would not take into consideration the loss to visiting automobilists.

Local auto owners, who are complaining of this condition, are unable to offer any remedy, except that the wagons should not be overloaded, permitting the stones to fall out along the thoroughfares.

REPLACING HORSES.

Auto Trucks Rapidly Coming Into General Use for Delivery Work.

Exact data just made public by Edward Cohen, Chicago city collector, furnishes an interesting comparison of the delivery methods now in use in that city.

All vehicles in Chicago, whether used for pleasure or business, must be licensed. As the city derives a large revenue from this source, comparatively few vehicles escape registration.

The license list compiled by Mr. Cohen shows the speed with which motor vehicles are replacing horses as a means of heavy-duty transporation. Since 1911 there has been a decrease of 1789 in two-horse wagons. During the same period is noted an increase of 3,408 in the number of commercial motor vehicles. Of the latter 2,012 are delivery wagons of less than one-ton capacity, while 1,396 are heavy-duty trucks. In April of this year only seventeen four-horse vehicles were in use in Chicago.

"The figures from Chicago can be taken as a criterion for all parts of the country where business competition is keen," declares John N. Willys, manufacturer of the Garford & Willys utility trucks. "And traffic conditions in Chicago are more favorable for horses than in almost any other city in the United States. Level streets, which for the most part are well paved, make the city easy on horses and as nearly ideal as possible for teaming.

"But the speed of horses is limited even under the best conditions. They are affected by other conditions than those of traffic. Extremes of weather affect horses just as they do human beings. On hot summer days horses cannot keep the pace that they set when it is cool. On the other hand motor vehicles are not affected by weather conditions.

"We invariably find that the wide-awake business man who motorizes his delivery system, enlarges his scope for doing business and at the same time enlarges his business itself. The man who clings to the old idea that the horse is good enough, is finding his territory circumscribed and his business taken away by the motor vehicles of his more modern competitors.

"In all lines of business the same principle holds true. You must either be up-to-date or fall behind. The delivery problem is of more importance today than ever before. Customers demand the best delivery service. If they can't get it at one place they will go to another. The man who hitches his business to the traces of his horse delivery wagon is rapidly losing ground."

ELECTRIC EQUIPMENT IS HIGHLY DEVELOPED.

"It is remarkable how electrical equipment has been developed and successfully applied to the modern automobile," stated Elwood Haynes, pioneer auto builder of Kokomo, Ind. "It speaks well for the manufacturer when he can produce an electrical device that will operate 100 times out of every 100 trials under the severe service that it is put to in the course of the average running of the car. It must withstand all the shocks and jolts coming from the road, as well as dampness and all temperature ranges.

"The average owner knows little or nothing of the theory of operation of the electrical parts, so that they must be rigidly constructed and capable of permanent adjustment. To eliminate the human element, all devices should be automatically controlled as far as is possible. Above everything else, simplicity of design is most essential to the successful operation of this equipment.

"It is very rare to hear of trouble in the various units of an electrical system, and when complaint is made, it may be traced to the storage battery in the majority of cases. With the present state of development of the battery, no trouble will arise in it unless it is abused by the operator of the car. A starting and lighting system is a drain on a storage battery in the hands of an inexperienced driver, and the mistake is often made, especially in city driving, of stopping and starting the car frequently without running the car far and fast enough to allow the generator to replace the current in the battery that was consumed in starting, and when a long drive is taken it is unusually at night when the larger part of the generator output is going to the lamps in place of the battery. The cure for this is to allow the engine to run with the car remaining stationery for a short time each morning.

"All electrical units on the car should be as entirely independent of each other in operation as possible to insure the greatest reliability. In the Haynes car, the ignition system is entirely independent of the storage battery, a dual, high tension magneto is used so that smooth running of the engine is secured, regardless of the condition of all other electrical equipment."

INFLATION IMPORTANT.

Flat Tires Are Cause of Much Trouble to Driver.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the care and repair of tires during the summer months.

Probably half of the tire troubles are caused by under-inflation. When a tire is allowed to run flat, not only is more surface being subjected to wear, but the fabric is strained and broken, and the tire heats up much more quickly.

The following tables gives the correct air pressures for various size tires as recommended by some of the leading makers:

Sectional Diameter (in inches)	Pressure (in pounds per sq. inch)
2½	50
3	60
3½	70
4	80
4½	90
5	95

The correct pressure may in most cases be found by merely multiplying the sectional diameter of the tire by twenty pounds.

In buying tires it is economy to invest in a guaranteed article, as only an expert can judge a tire by its appearance, and it is very, very seldom that an unguaranteed brand is a bargain.

Non-skid tires will give greater mileage than plain ones, provided the non-ski projections have been added on rather than cut out of the tread proper. While such tires prevent skidding on wet pavements, the use of chains is advisable when driving in snow or mud.

The real strength of a casing lies in the fabric and when water and dirt begin to creep in between this fabric and the rubber casing will rapidly become worthless.

The best repairs are obtained by thoroughly cleaning out a cut when it first appears and vulcanizing new rubber in the recess. However, temporary repairs may be made by using some of the plastic rubber preparations that are on the market at the present time. Do not try to see how many miles you can run on a casing without having it repaired. Use plenty of talc on the inner side of the casing. This will not only reduce friction and heat to a minimum but will absorb moisture.

As the rear tires do the driving, they wear more rapidly than those on the front wheels. Often it is an advantage to interchange the front and rear tires.

MAKES BIG DAY RECORD.

Driver Covers 546 Miles, Crossing Alleghenies Several Times.

Over the Allegheny mountains several times and covering 546 miles in one day with the thermometer ranging as high as 92 deg. is the phenomenal record made by A. E. Glisan of Cumberland, Md., driving a Franklin Six-Thirty touring car.

The route led from Cumberland to Pittsburg via Bedford; from Pittsburg to Baltimore via Everett and Hagerstown, and from Baltimore back to Cumberland. The car with its three passengers left Cumberland at one minute past 12 Saturday night and arrived in Cumberland at 10:25 Sunday night, after nineteen hours of driving—five hours ahead of the scheduled time for the trip.

In going from Bedford to Pittsburg the Allegheny mountains and Laurel mountains were crossed both ways. From Bedford to Mercersburg, Rays mountain, Sideling Hill mountain and Mercersburg mountain were crossed one way. From Hagerstown to Baltimore, Braddock's Heights and North mountain were crossed both ways. From Hagerstown to Cumberland, Fairview, Tonoloway, Sideling Hill, Town Hill, Green Ridge, Polish and Martins mountains were crossed. The distance up these mountains ranges from a mile and a half to five miles.

The trip was made on a set of tires that had already covered 9,000 miles. No mechanical adjustments were made nor any trouble of any kind encountered in this remarkable one-day drive. Mr. Glisan has made many fast trips from Cumberland to Baltimore and has crossed this mountainous route in four hours and a half, more than an hour better than the best train time. The car he drove on these trips is the one in which he went 50.9 miles on a gallon of gasoline in the recent national economy test held by Franklin dealers all over the country.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

Charles Courtney of Hartford, Wis., has completed plans to drive a Kissel Kar truck, with carry-all body, across the continent. It is Courtney's intention to start late in the summer, visit local fairs and conventions on the way, and pull up at San Francisco in the spring of 1915 for the Panama-Pacific exposition. Courtney's Kissel Kar carry-all has been in service three years, running between Wisconsin summer resorts.

That even a reliability run in these days of mechanical achievement can reveal something new and unusual was demonstrated at the recent contest held by the Chicago Athletic association and the Chicago Automobile club in a run to Peoria, Ill., and back. By long odds the most discussed feature of the contest was the winning of a perfect score by a Cadillac coupe, the only car of that type in the event.

Among the contestants was George B. Dryden, a director in the C. A. A. Mr. Dryden had never been in a reliability run, and, doubtful of his ability to handle a car under such conditions was about to decline to participate. At the last moment, however, he elected to pilot his Cadillac coupe.

So well did he drive and so satisfactorily did his coupe perform, that Mr. Dryden not only earned a clean score, but satisfied himself that his coupe was as fast as any of the machines in the run, and as economical as many a smaller and lighter car. Moreover, on the return from Peoria Mr. Dryden had the laugh on the other contestants because of the hard rain that fell.

At the banquet following the run, Mr. Dryden was voted a medal as the only man who had ever driven a coupe to victory in a two-day reliability contest traversing 320 miles.

How to give farmers' boys and girls a high school education without sending them from home is now being solved by the motor truck. In several places in the country — notably on Long Island and in California, where the roads have been improved—four or five adjoining school districts have combined resources to erect union high schools in central locations and purchase motor trucks fitted with stage bodies.

These buses are driven over certain routes through all the districts to pick up the pupils in the morning and take them to the schoolhouse, returning with them over the same route for a hot lunch and taking them home again after school. In some cases the older high school boys are hired to drive.

Slightly more than one-third of the 573 miles of state highways built and contracted for in Ohio during the last seven years has been built of brick and concrete construction, as shown by Bulletin No. 22, just issued by the Ohio state highway department.

More than 200 miles of road were built and contracted for during each of the two fiscal years ending in 1912 and 1913, of which sixty-two miles were of brick and sixty-two of concrete.

The first concrete road contracted for by the department was put down in July, 1911, although the city of Bellefountaine, Ohio, laid the first concrete pavement in the country twenty-two years ago and it is still giving excellent service:

"One of the most notable features of this season's automobile buying has been the unprecedented demand for roadsters," says Cecil E. Gibson, general manager of the Empire Automobile company of Indianapolis. "In the general order the manufacturer has at the beginning of the season a fixed proportion assigned to be brought through in roadster models, and production schedules are made up on this basis. Roadsters are apportioned a certain percentage of the output.

"This year we made the percentage for the Empire even higher than the general practice, for upon investigation I found that the buyers' demand for roadsters was general this spring. I noted that many of the new cars on the streets were of the two passenger type, and in fact it has been about the greatest roadster season the trade has known. This popularity of roadster types found us well prepared, for at the shows last winter we exhibited a new Empire roadster that met with approval from all who inspected it, both on account of its mechanical and artistic features, the car being built on our standard chassis. A big feature

Overland $950

Completely equipped $1075—With electric starter and generator Prices, f. o. b. Toledo, Ohio.

A Higher Price Does Not Insure a Higher Value

ONE of the most misleading and most misunderstood things about automobiles is their prices. Because one car is priced at from 30% to 40% higher than another car it does not follow that the former car is worth more money. A higher price is no sign or explanation of superiority. In fact the unfortunate experience of thousands has proved that in most cases just the reverse is true.

Other cars cost more, because other manufacturers do not build 50,000 cars in a single season and therefore cannot produce as economically as we can.

For that reason we urge you to be guided not alone by the bare price of a car, but rather by its reputation, performance and specifications.

In no other car but the Overland do you get all of these costly features—unless you pay a much higher price —a powerful and economical 35 horsepower motor.

—a long wheelbase of 114 inches.
—33 inch x 4 inch tires.
—large, positive and powerful brakes.
—a big, roomy and comfortable tonneau.
—genuine hand-buffed leather and tufted upholstery.
—complete equipment of the very highest grade.
—a gracefully fashioned and magnificiently finished Brewster green body—snappy and modish lines.
—a chassis, the parts of which are made of the finest special formulae steels, and are as accurate, precise and as lasting, both in measurement and performance, as the corresponding parts of the highest priced cars.

Yet this represents but a very meagre portion of the greater Overland value. But it is such value that has enabled us to sell more cars of this type than any other manufacturer in the world.

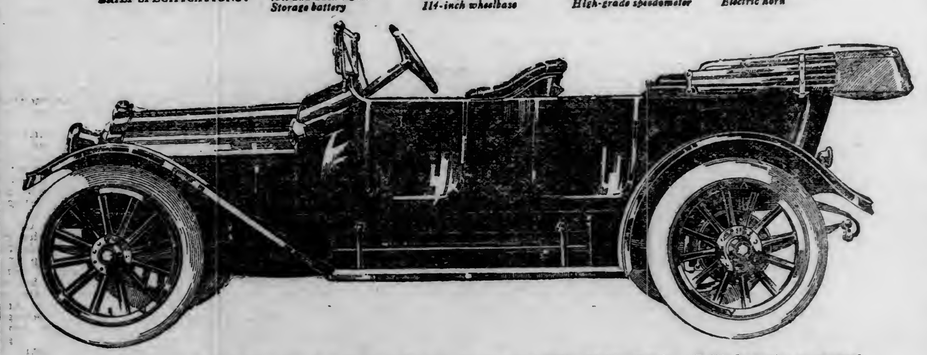

Why should you pay a higher price for some other car when the other car gives you no more, and in a great many respects, not as much value as you get in the Overland?

Why should you?

In the three-day, 663-mile endurance contest held in connection with the annual convention of the Indian F. A. M. the Yale team finished with perfect scores, despite the illness of one of the three riders.

The first day led the riders over hills and valleys, through sand and dirt and ruts, from Indianapolis to Martinsville, Spencer, Linton (noon control, Terre Haute, Crawfordsville and Lafayette, (night control).

The route sheets gave it as 231 miles for the day, but the riders vowed that the route sheets lied, for the mileage between several checking stations was greater than listed, owing to the many detours necessary.

With the temperature ranging between 92 and 93 deg., a Franklin Six-Thirty touring car made eighteen and three-fourths miles on one gallon of gasoline, running the entire distance on second gear. The car was driven about the streets of Baltimore, Md., by Walter F. Kneip, Franklin dealer. There was no coasting done as the clutch was not released once on the trip. The gallon of gasoline was carried in a one-gallon tank located on the side of the lamp bracket.

The Kissel Motor Car company has delivered three truck chassis to the Big Trees auto stage line of California. Equipped with passenger bodies to carry twenty persons, these trucks will ply between El Portal in the Yosemite National park and the tree groves at Merced and Tuolumne. The giant trees at these points have made them an objective of most tourists who visit the park.

AUTO FASHIONS SELDOM CHANGE

Kissel Kar, Two-Door Tonneau, Causes Considerable Excitement.

"Did you ever stop to consider how little the style of the automobile has changed in comparison with other commodities?" asks J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the Kissel Kar.

"Articles of apparel, furniture, garniture, and even buildings change in fashion radically, yearly or oftener, yet the motor car has maintained about the same form, developing refinements to be sure, but all along the identical body lines.

"That is perhaps why, in a measure, the Kisel Kar two-door tonneau has created so much genuine interest. It is the most pronounced departure from conventional design that has been made, and everybody wants to see it.

"We have emphasized its advantages from the standpoints of beauty and comfort, but those who have bought this car are inclined to put its convenience to the fore. They praise principally the greater freedom which the individual seats give the driver and the fact that persons sitting in the rear can swap seats with those in front without leaving the car. Another point made is that the lesser number of doors reduces the possibility of lock and hinge trouble."

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Everything is in readiness for the biggest motorcycle rally ever staged in the East—the Saratoga Fourth of July Meet, July 3, 4 and 5. Motorcyclists from all over the East have signified their intention of joining one of the four big tours, starting from Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica and leading to Saratoga. In connection with this Mid-Summer Rally will be held the New York State Annual F. A. M. convention at which five state championship races will be run, and the two-mile national professional championship. Motorcycle dealers as well as riders are enthusiastic about the convention, as space has been reserved at the official hotel where the various makes of machines and accessories may be exhibited. Governor M. H. Glynn of New York has been invited to attend the meet, and it is probable that he will accept. He is scheduled to address the motorcyclists at a dinner given on the evening of July 4.

As an experiment, the Automobile Legal association last year employed a small squadron of motorcyclists to patrol the roads of Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire. So successful was the experiment that this year the force has been increased to thirty men. Primarily the duty of these riders is to patrol the roads, giving assistance wherever needed to members of the A. L. A. However, they also play the Good Samaritan to all automobilists and motorcyclists. They also report to the association instances of reckless driving. There are four divisions of this squadron, with headquarters in Boston, Springfield, Providence and Worcester, and the riders will cover from 2,500 to 3,000 miles a day. Members of the squadron wear uniforms bearing the emblem of the A. L. A.

One day of the automobile beach meet which is to be held at Galveston, Tex., from July 3 to Aug. 3 is to be given over to motorcyclists. On July 31, the best riders of the single-tracker in the country will compete for first honors. The beach course will be in perfect condition for the big automobile events and it is expected that some new dirt track records will be hung up by the two-wheelers. These events are to be under the auspices of the Galveston Motorcycle Club. A ten-mile amateur contest is also scheduled for the meet.

Paul Bushnell of Aberdeen, S. D., has been appointed tour master of the motorcyclists who will ride from the Northwest to the . A. M. convention at St. Louis.

On June 27 and 28, the Chicago Motorcycle Club will make a twenty-four run to Indianapolis and return.

UNIQUE OUTING FOR FORD OWNERS

Mutual Auto Company to Give Free Entertainment July 4.

A unique method of assembling those owning Ford motor cars in one big gathering at a picnic to learn more of the operation of their Ford cars, method of maintenance and also the proper manner of reducing the cost of upkeep, is being put into force by the Mutual Auto company, distributers of the Ford motor cars in Northern Minnesota.

The first annual Ford picnic is going to be held on July 4, at Jungle lodge, on the Whiteface river, thirty-eight miles from Duluth. An orchestra will be on hand the entire day to play both concert and dance music. Hot coffee, lemonade, cigars and candy will be dispensed free of charge to all those Ford owners who will avail themselves of this enjoyable and sane method of spending the Fourth of July.

Several representatives are coming direct from the Ford factory to render a number of valuable talks to the Ford owners assembled at this picnic. An arrangement committee consisting of five Ford owners has been chosen to assist in working out the details and no expense will be spared to give everyone participating a good time.

A suitable platform is being built for the younger people who desire dancing. Long tables, under the beautiful trees are being erected and plenty of room will be available for everyone. Mr. Filiatrault says that an abundance of decorations will be on hand so that those in the vicinity of Duluth and the iron ranges have only to call on the local agent to obtain their supply and start for the picnic in full regalia.

A special invitation is being sent to every Ford owner, inviting him to attend. All those attending are expected to bring their picnic lunch and drinking cups only. All the rest will be free and at the expense of the Mutual Auto company.

Mr. Filiatrault says, to reach Jungle lodge drivers should proceed to Mesaba avenue at the intersection of the boulevard. From this point the sign boards will direct to Jungle lodge and the picnic ground. The main highway connecting Duluth and the ranges will be the one traveled to reach there and is guaranteed to be a good road, rain or shine. To range motorists who will attend, the highways from the ranges will also be posted with signs en route directing them to Jungle lodge and the picnic grounds.

Three prizes will be given to the Ford owners who register at Jungle lodge, nearest the blind time which will be set by Mayor Prince in a sealed envelope and which will be opened by a committee of three appointed from the owners on the grounds. The first prize will be a Ford tire; second prize, shock absorber, and third prize, electric lights.

QUESTION OF MONEY ONLY

Aviator Believes Attempt to Cross Atlantic Will Be Successful.

Decries Dare-Devil Stunts; Sees Great Future in Aviation.

That crossing of the Atlantic in an aeroplane is simply a question of money, is the opinion of Roger Jannus, the aviator who is flying the W. D. Jones' boat, "Lark of Duluth," from the boat club.

Mr. Jannus is a brother of Tony Jannus, who spent last summer in Duluth, and is especially interested in the Wannamaker boat which will attempt the Atlantic crossing, because of the fact that Tony Jannus is making every effort to be named one of the crew which will fly the new boat. Mr. Jannus takes his work seriously, and does not look upon it merely as a spectacular way of making a living.

"There is no longer any doubt but that the Atlantic will be crossed in the very near future and with comparitively little danger," said Mr. Jannus. "It is simply a question of raising enough money to build the proper boat. If the Wannamaker boat is not the proper one, they will build another one that will be. This little boat we have here has a wing spread of only thirty-feet. If you increase that wing spread up to 100 feet, you greatly increase the lifting power. That means you can put in bigger and better engines, and more of them. You can have a duplicate or triplicate set of engines working on one crank shaft, so if one engine fails you have an auxillary plant. Then the bigger lifting power gives you more gasoline capacity and more carrying capacity.

ROGER JANNUS,
Aviator.

Test Every Stick.

"Then with unlimited funds you can test every stick and every wire that goes into the construction of the boat, and make it mechanically perfect. With that done it is merely a question of navigation to cross the Atlantic.

"It is possible to make from seventy to ninety miles an hour, so you see the trip across will not be a very long one.

"Aviation is just in its infancy both as a sport and as a business. You will see before long aeroplanes with a wing spread of 200 or 300 feet and carrying a number of passengers, and you will see them in common use for carrying passengers. They can be made as safe as boats or trains, and when they can make speeds of from sixty miles an hour up, why shouldn't they come into common use?

"I do not believe dare-devil stunts help aviation. Looping the loop is spectacular, but most aviators could do it if they had machines constructed for it. But what good is accomplished by it? It helps aviation about as much as driving an automobile off the boulevard would help the automobile business.

"Those who predicted that aviation would have no practical value and would be simply a fad of a few years, have already been proven wrong, and all the serious minded men who are in the game now are devoting their time and attention to making it safe and to its practical side. New uses for the aeroplane will be constantly developed. It is now no more dangerous as a sport than motor boat racing, in my opinion, and the industrial value is being rapidly proven. Many people call this attempt to cross the Atlantic a 'crazy proceeding,' but far more people called the attempt of Columbus a crazy enterprise, and still more so labeled the first attempt to cross in a steamboat. Before many years crossing the Atlantic in the air will be so commonplace as to attract little attention, and there is no reason why it should not become a serious factor in trans-Atlantic travel. You will certainly eliminate the danger of collision with icebergs and with other boats in a fog, for you can very easily rise above the fog."

MAKE THE FOURTH SIGNIFICANT

By SIDNEY L. GULICK

Great progress has been made of late in making Independence day "safe and sane." Why not also make it really significant in our national life? Let us make it, not only a day of commemoration of a glorious past, but also a day constructively productive of a better present and a greater future.

This is not so difficult a matter as might be supposed. Pageants, historical and radical, have already been tried here and there, with excellent results. Can it not go further? Can we not make the day still more significant and valuable? My proposal is as follows:

Make the Fourth of July our great national birthday, the one day in the year when new individuals are admitted to citizenship in this republic. Let the ceremony of administering the oath of allegiance be restricted to a single day, and let the service be dignified and patriotic. And why administer the oath of allegiance only to aliens who become Americans? Is it not important and highly desirable that every young man, though born in the United States and of American parents, shall also in a formal way acknowledge his citizenship and swear allegiance to the Stars and Stripes?

How impressive and significant would the Fourth of July become if on this national birthday all young men who have attained their manhood, together with all aliens who desire citizenship in this land, should take part in a formal service of admission to the rights and duties of citizenship.

Let there be processions, with flags and banners and bands. Let each race carry its own flag to the churches or schoolhouses or courthouses. Let native-born American sons carry pure white flags without colors. Let there be welcome orations by noted citizens; and let responses be made by representatives of the different groups and races seeking citizenship. And when all the preliminary exercises have been completed, let the flags of the nations be lowered, let the Stars and Stripes be raised, and then, with uplifted right hands, let the new citizen pledge with a loud "I do" their loyalty and love for the flag and the nation of which they now become an organic part. Then let miniature American flags with the date upon them be given to each new citizen to take to his home as a life-long souvenir of admission to the great republic.

Thus shall we make the great and glorious Fourth, not only a day of commemoration of a great past, but constructively productive of a greater future. Let every new citizen, whether native or foreign born, enter upon his citizenship rights and duties only after formal admission to citizenship and public expression of allegiance.

ANCIENT DENTISTRY IN ECUADOR

Triumphs of the Indian Dentists of a Thousand Years Ago—System of Decorating the Teeth Quite Common.

Washington, June 27.—That the art of filling teeth with foreign substances was known to various aboriginal tribes of the Americas hundreds of years before the Columbian era, perhaps even a thousand years ago, is a fact that has been known to archaeologists for some time. Among the leading anthropologists of this country is Dr. Marshall H. Saville, Loubat professor of American archaeology in Columbia university. In his scientific investigations in the west coast provinces of Ecuador and Colombia he has made many valuable discoveries. His first visit to this region was made in the summer of 1905. In a communication to the International Congress of Americanists held at Vienna in 1908, among other interesting details was the following account dealing with the subject of decoration of the teeth:

"Another custom which we found in Esmeraldes, and which, so far as we are aware, is not present in any other part of South America, is the decoration of the teeth by the insertion of inlays in small perforations cut in the enamel of the upper incisors. This custom of decorating the teeth was quite common in various parts of Mexico, where different settings were used. In the Mayan area, as far south as Salvador, the object most often used for the inlay was jadeite. In Mexico, for example in Oaxaca, I have found hematite used; in Vera Cruz, turquoise has been found; and in other parts teeth with settings of rock crystal, obsidian, and a red cement have been found. We have never heard of this custom in Colombia or Peru, but in Esmeraldas, in Atacames, skulls have been found with tiny disks of gold set into the teeth in the same manner as in Mexico and Central America, with the exception of the material."

In the June number of The Bulletin of the Pan-American union, appears a review of Prof. Saville's latest publication, "Pre-Columbian Decoration of the Teeth in Ecuador," in which the reviewer states that the finding of teeth inlaid with gold, turquoise, and other substances, in the skulls and among the skeletal remains of aborigines who lived in various parts of the American continents prior to the Spanish discoveries has been a matter of peculiar interest. "Whether this insertion of foreign substances in the enamel of the teeth was always for merely decorative purposes or whether at times it may have been to serve a useful end has been a mooted question. The general consensus of opinion among anthropologists is that ornamentation was the sole object."

Last summer Prof. Saville returned from another archaeological trip to South America with numerous valuable specimens, among them being one of unusual interest, described by the professor as follows:

"In the spring of 1913, a Cholo, one of the natives of Atacames, a town in the province of Esmeraldas, about twelve miles southwest of the city of Esmeraldas, found a skeleton in a burial tube on the right bank of the Rio Atacames, just above the town. The skull was found with the teeth inlaid with gold, but the finder contented himself with breaking off the superior maxillary, throwing the rest of the skull away. When I visited the town in June of the present year for the purpose of making some excavations to supplement my former work, I obtained the fragment. The two upper middle teeth are decorated by the insertion of thin gold disks in cavities drilled or bored in the enamel of the face of the teeth. An unusual dental feat, in addition to the decoration, is found, in the right middle tooth. This is not a right middle incisor, but a right lateral incisor which does not belong to the jaw but was implanted to replace the middle incisor. This is such an extraordinary feature that we must weigh very carefully the evidence as to its having been found in the jaw, * * * Indeed there is no reason to doubt that the replacement is a genuine triumph of the ancient dentists of Atacames."

Another skull showed teeth that had been "face-crowned" with gold, the enamel having been skillfully removed down to the dentine and the teeth being in a perfect state of preservation. So much for the Indian dentists of a thousand years ago.

BOXES OF MATCHES USED FOR CURRENCY

Money Famine Threatens Business Suspension in Tampico.

Tampico, June 25.—Via Laredo Texas, June 27.—Suspension of all business at Tampico is threatened by the money famine resulting from prohibition of the use of Federal bills dated later than Jan. 22, 1914, the failure of the Constitutionalist authorities to fill the deficiency thus created by an adequate issue of their own currency, and the complete disappearance of all silver coin.

The recent decree against the use of Federal bills having proved ineffective, many arrests were made today and heavy fines were imposed. As a result the only official circulating medium consists of a small number of Carranza and old Federal bills and little cardboard tickets purporting to be worth 5 and 10 centavos, which are so inadequate as to be reinforced by private issues of currency in the shape of poker chips, brass checks and even boxes of matches, which constitute small change.

Many business places today declared they would be compelled to close if relief is not extended soon, it being impossible either to sell goods or to pay expenses. The situation is further complicated by the fact that all Carranza money is refused throughout the oil fields which are almost entirely in the state of Vera Cruz.

HELD FOR MURDER ON EMPLOYE'S STORY.

Canajoharie, N. Y., June 27.—George W. Potter, collegian agriculturist of Palatine, was arraigned last night before Judge Hubbard at Fonda, charged with the murder last December of a neighbor, John Barrett, an aged and wealthy farmer. He was arrested after the county authorities had heard what they declare was a confession by Lewis M. Roach, one of Potter's farm hands.

According to Roach, it was declared, he and Potter went to the home of Barrett and shot him as the outcome of a dispute over water rights.

Potter pleaded not guilty and declared Roach was suffering from a hallucination in implicating him in the murder. He said he would be able to prove an alibi.

According to Roach's purported confession, when he and Potter went to the Barrett home, Kate Barrett, a daughter of the farmer, sat reading in the kitchen. She was rendered unconscious when Roach struck her over the head with a piece of firewood. When her father, aroused from sleep, came downstairs, Roach shot him at Potter's instigation, he said.

The confession is reported to have been due to a quarrel between Roach and Potter.

GOVERNMENT KODAK CASE IS FINISHED.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 27.—The government's case against the Eastman Kodak company for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, practically was finished yesterday when John Lord O'Brien, United States attorney, introduced as evidence fifty contracts covering the purchase by the Eastman company of rival corporations and the agreements by which it is alleged the European supply of raw paper for export was cornered.

Photographic copies of the contracts submitted were ordered produced several months ago by the court. After receiving them Judge John R. Abal continued the case until Sept. 22.

ADMITS THREAT TO BLOW UP STEAMER.

New York, June 27.—Joseph Burton, a young negro who was arrested recently for sending a letter to the Cunard Steamship company threatening to blow up the new steamer Aquitania unless he received $10,000, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with blackmail. He was remanded until July 1 for sentence. The maximum sentence is fourteen years in prison.

After his arrest, Burton told the police he had intended to place dynamite in the coal bunkers of the liner if her owners failed to comply.

VETERAN OARSMEN TO OPPOSE DULUTH CREWS AT KENORA

Ten Eyck's Juniors and Bantams Will Meet More Experienced Men---Pal Brown May Take the Count From Frankie Whitney---Joe Gans the Cleverest Fighter of All Time.

BY BRUCE.

A CREW from this side of the brine has never won the eight-oared rowing contest at the English Henley. This is one of the world's championship events that the British have managed to cling tenaciously and highly successfully to. But we had better proceed with infinite slowness and the very ripe essence of caution in the discussion of the English and world's championships. Golf and pony polo rise and confute us. But Cornelius Riley and his crew of well seasoned men are on the trail of the eight-oared championship this season and the trophy may come to this side of the pond, even though it will not come into possession of the dear and always revered old U. S. A.

Con Riley's senior eight will not compete at Kenora this year, just as it did not compete at St. Paul last season. This makes it look like a cake walk for the Duluth senior eight. But on paper and on water things are different. Winnipeg has a junior eight that has been trying for three years to cop—and the Minnesota Boat club has also an eight that for the same length of time has been in the running for eight honors.

Our junior eight will be opposed to these veteran junior eights of Winnipeg and St. Paul—and our senior eight will, on the second day of the regatta, be opposed to the same two eights—and there is the lurking chance that in three tedious and somewhat unfruitful years one of these eights has developed sufficient speed not only to vanquish our juniors, but to also beat our senior eight.

In the next month Ten Eyck will put on the finish to his crews. The Duluth senior eight and the senior four should be faster than a year ago. This is merely giving logical room for development. The junior eight is uncertain at the best. The bantams give promise of coming through. In the case of the bantams we will be opposed by veteran material; as a stern and unrelenting matter of fact the Duluth crews will be opposed by veterans in all the events save the senior eight, where our veteran material by the very fact that it is more veteran than the veterans of the other two clubs, offsets the experience of the others.

Brown May Get His.

IT was the great Hans Wagner who uttered the immortal words: "You are a hero today and a bum tomorrow." This applied to athletics and its application is especially trite. Fans are fickle—he who wears the crown of sportdom of today may be a fugitive from stinging malice of tomorrow.

It is a true and peculiar fact that a lot of the boxing fans of these parts are going to journey over to Superior on the glorious night of the glorious Fourth with the idea of seeing Pal Brown, erstwhile hero of this section of the country, get his from the more or less brawny hands of Frankie Whitney.

Why this is—who can tell. Brown has been one of the most popular fighters in the country. Maybe it is because the fans are fickle—maybe another reason; the fact remains that some of the fans expect Whitney to slip over the kayo on Brown and are gleeful in anticipation thereof.

Mike McNulty, a fight follower of some experience, predicts a decisive win for Whitney in the coming encounter.

"I saw Whitney fight Jimmy Potts three years ago when Potts was good," said McNulty yesterday. "Whitney put Potts down three times. The boys fought in Minneapolis and it was not on the cards for Whitney to win. Potts grabbed Frankie by the legs and held on. This Whitney can hit. His blows don't travel very far—ohie; but they hurt."

It was rumored yesterday that some wise money was coming in the wake of Whitney and would be placed on his chances. The Whitney boy is expected to reach the Head of the Lakes on Tuesday and will complete his training in Superior. Brown will come down from the range on Friday. Brown is said to be right, and if reports of the ability of Whitney are correct, the range fighter will have to be in shape to make the fight of his life.

The Cleverest Fighter.

TAKING a symposium of opinions of the greatest fighters of the world, we will string along with Joe Gans. In the boxing line Jim Corbett may be accorded the gilded palm. Gans was a fighter more in the literal sense of the word than the Mercury-footed Gentleman Jim, the fastest big man that the world has ever produced.

Jem Driscoll was one of the marvels of the world; the same was true of the marvelous ability of Young Griffo. Kid McCoy was one of the marvels of his time and of all time. George Dixon was a wizard and so was Jack McAuliffe. Packey McFarland was one of the great masters of boxing and Mike Gibbons is today perhaps the greatest boxer in the ring.

But Joe Gans combined everything; he had all that goes to make up the qualities of pugilism that count. The negro boy was like a shadow and he could hit—he could box cleverly and he could fight.

Don't judge poor Joe by the last two fights he made against Nelson. Father Time was standing over him and slowly taking the toll. His first fight with Nelson was made when he was driven to the staggering point of starvation by the avaricious Nolan. There is little use in dealing in might have beens, but it is generally acknowledged that the Gans of his prime would have severely dealt with Battling Nelson, and the Hedgewisch lad was great at one time.

The Uncertain Outcome.

BY the time these words are read the outcome of the Johnson-Moran fight may be known—Paris time gallops ahead of the local clock. Sneaking in an opinion at the last moment, let us say that Johnson will win if he is but half of the Johnson that battled indolently with Jeffries. That is precisely not an opinion. No one in the world knows the condition of Johnson—save Johnson. He won't tell. The fight is therefore more than the ordinary gamble. Some wise money is on Moran. Even the one horse-chaise broke down. The day of Johnson may have come.

CLARK WINS EASY FIGHT

Kid Billings Ill and Kid Gleason Substituted.

Young Ertle Proves the Star of Arena Club Fight Bill.

Inclement weather conspired with general ill fortune to smear gloom over the fight card of the Arena fight club's program of last evening. Kid Billings, the star of the fistic talent, was taken ill and was unable to appear. In his stead appeared Kid Gleason, an attenuated youth of peaked countenance, who lasted one round and part of another before the onslaught of Hal Clark. Some of those present declared that, in the general nature of things this was a moral victory for Gleason. He wasn't expected to last part of one round.

Young Ertle of St. Paul proved the bright and shining luminary of the evening. Opposed to the remarkable little boxer of the Saintly city was Kid Blanche. Ertle had it all over his opponent and knocked him down twice in the first round. It looked as if Blanche was looking for a soft place to light. In the second session of the bout Ertle swung to the jaw of his opponent and he took the count. Spectators were treated to the unedifying spectacle of seeing a referee weighing 200 pounds stooping over a kiu weighing possibly 110 pounds and pinching the boy's skin as he lay unconscious on the floor. As a referee one Mr. Ryan is a first class blacksmith. It is a pity that one of the members of the Wisconsin boxing commission was not present.

Young Cushway and Kid Butler went six rounds in the curtain raisers and the kids fought all the way. There were many things that the boys did not know of the science of boxing, but the go was filled with action from beginning to end and had the members of the small and select audience on its feet.

Kid Clemmons stopped young Jack Johnson in the second round, or rather the referee stopped the fracas. Johnson received decidedly the worst of the going.

In the windup Gleason couldn't fight and Clark let him stay through the first round, hitting with open gloves and purposely swinging around the head of his opponent several times.

In fairness to the management it should be stated that those present were offered their money back. Kid Billings had a high fever, it was stated, and was so ill that two doctors were in attendance.

BASEBALL SUNDAY
ELKS 133 vs. EAGLES 79
Athletic Park Game Called 3:00 P. M.

FORFEITS A GAME.

Umpire Chill Sustains Athletics' Objection to Washington Pitcher.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 27.—During the fourth inning of the first game of yesterday's doubleheader with Washington, Umpire Chill forfeited the game to Philadelphia by 9 to 0. The trouble arose over the manner in which Engel, pitcher for Washington, delivered the ball. Capt. Thomas of the Philadelphia club claimed that Engel was making an illegal delivery every time he pitched. Umpire Chill cautioned Engel twice, but the latter persisted in pitching in his usual manner.

After Philadelphia had scored a run in the fourth inning on a single and three bases on balls and with two out, Oldring went to bat. Chill called a ball on Oldring. Capt. McBride of Washington, requested Chill to show Engle how he should pitch. The umpire did as requested.

On the next two pitched balls Engel continued to draw penalties of a called ball each time for an unfairly delivered ball. Manager Griffith and eight of the Washington players gathered around Chill and protested vigorously.

Chill finally drew his watch, and after waiting several minutes declared the game forfeited to the Philadelphia club, as the Washington players refused to go to their positions.

The umpires claimed that Engel placed one foot off the pitchers' slab each time he delivered the ball.

TRYING OUT THE CUP CONTENDERS

Resolute Outsails Rivals and Shamrock Beats Her Predecessor.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 27.—The cup class sloop Resolute scored her eighth victory in the preliminary racing series yesterday. Except for the first three miles, the race was a procession with the Herreshoff yacht making the pace.

The Resolute's margin in corrected time at the finish over the Vanitie was 5 minutes and 46 seconds and over the Defiance 6 minutes and 32 seconds. The Vanitie beat the Defiance 46 seconds in corrected time.

Torquay, Eng., June 27.—Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America's cup, had her first real official trial under cup conditions yesterday. She beat the old Shamrock over a seventeen-mile course by 4 minutes, 53 seconds, elapsed time. The corrected time was estimated at about a minute and a half.

COLUMBIA IS VICTORIOUS

Takes Big Varsity Race in a Thrilling Finish at Poughkeepsie.

Pennsylvania and Cornell Finish Second and Third; Westerners Out of It.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—In a thrilling four-mile triangular struggle with Pennsylvania and Cornell, the Columbia university eight-oared crew won by a scant length the premier race of the twentieth annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing association on the Highland course late yesterday afternoon. Pennsylvania finished second, defeating Cornell by the length of its shell, with Syracuse, Washington and Wisconsin taking the wash of the leaders in the order named.

The official times of the crews for the four miles were as follows: Columbia, 19:37 4-5; Pennsylvania, 19:41; Cornell, 19:44 1-5; Syracuse, 19:59 2-5; Washington, 20:01 3-5; Wisconsin, 20:20.

Columbia's victory was the result of a desperate and sustained spurt in the first half mile. The Cornell crew, completely exhausted in trying to keep pace with the victors, faltered and slipped back into third place at the finish. Better fortune attended the efforts of the Cornell junior varsity and freshman eights, each in turn winning its race in impressive fashion.

The victory of the Columbia crew after twenty years' effort was extremely popular and last night all Poughkeepsie, aided by the Morningside university students and alumni, celebrated the event in uproarious fashion. Not since 1895, when Columbia won the four-mile race, defeating Cornell and Pennsylvania in the initial regatta held on the Hudson river course, have the New York city university oarsmen showed the way to the finish line.

Pennsy a Surprise.

The real surprise of the regatta, however, was the remarkable showing of Pennsylvania, for Cornell and Columbia were favorites among the veteran oarsmen and in the wage ring. While the Quaker eight was named to row a good race, the possibility of the Red and Blue winning was dismissed without discussion. Yet the crew, coached by Vivian Nickalls, the famous English oarsman and former member of Oxford university eights, sprang a surprise just as his brother, Guy Nickalls' Yale crew upset tradition and won at New London one week ago yesterday.

From the start, the Pennsylvanians were decided factors in the racing, rowing a deliberate but powerful and finished stroke. It was only in the last quarter mile that Pennsylvania relinquished her lead, and it appeared that this was due more to a lack of fighting spirit than to any superiority on the part of the winning eight. Pennsylvania finished more like a machine than a combination of oarsmen, rowing steady and true, while Columbia and Cornell were fighting like wild men for the lead. The fact that these crews were two courses removed from the Quaker oarsmen, probably militated against their chances in the final dash for the stake boat.

The race furnished an exciting spectacle for the 50,000 persons who lined the river banks and crowded the steamboats and yachts at the finish, despite the fact that Syracuse, last year's winner, and the two Western crews, Wisconsin and Washington, were nearly eliminated by the hot pace.

Quaker Crew Leads.

Although the stroke was comparatively slow, the Nickalls crew drove its shell through the water at high speed and was showing the way by half a length over Cornell at the half-mile mark. Columbia and Syracuse were lapped for third place, while Wisconsin and Washington were fighting to keep out of last place. With the Eastern crews rowing a slower stroke than the Westerners, they continued to pull away. At the mile Pennsylvania was in front, with Cornell second and Columbia third. When the two-mile point was passed and half the race completed, the Quakers led by half a length over Cornell, with the Ithaca eight leading Columbia by a trifle more than that distance. Syracuse was fourth, Washington fifth and Wisconsin last, falling behind the Pacific coast champions.

Passing under the railroad bridge after covering three miles, the real struggle for first place began. Columbia had fought her way into second place, one-third of a length behind the Pennsylvania shell prow. Cornell was lapping the New York oarsmen. All three leaders were rowing 34 strokes to the minute, but Columbia was getting more drive and run than either rival. Cornell made its last effort at the 3½-mile point, but failing to overhaul either Columbia or Pennsylvania, appeared slowly to lose power, and gradually dropped back a few feet at a time, leaving the Philadelphia and New York crews to fight it out.

Exciting Finish.

Coach Rice's lightweight, but finished sweep-swingers, having killed off Courtney's crew, went after the leaders in the final spurt which carried their stroke up to 36, 38 and then 40 to the minute. Stroke Marcy raised the Pennsylvania beat to 38 and the shell continued to travel fast and smoothly, but Columbia, with every ounce of energy and smash in its stroke, would not be denied. Little by little it crept upon Pennsylvania and then began to pass. Once out in front, it quickly swept into a full length lead, and had a splendid margin of victory after the long, gruelling struggle for vantage.

A length in the rear, Syracuse and Washington were battling just as hard for the right to fourth place, while Wisconsin was hopelessly out of the race, rowing grimly to finish, regardless of time or place. The Washington eight put every bit of power into the drive, but it lacked the form to get the best results and although drawing up almost even with Syracuse, could not hold its advantage, and the Pacific coast crew finally slipped back until the Orange had half a length lead for fourth place as they crossed the line. Last came Wisconsin almost five lengths behind the Seattle oarsmen.

In the two minor races, the Cornell eights gained an early lead in both the junior and freshman races and won handily. In the second varsity contest, the official times were: Cornell, 11:16 3-5; Columbia, 11:24 3-5; Pennsylvania, 11:33 3-5 and Syracuse, 11:50 3-5.

The freshman race was even a more pronounced victory for the Red and White. Syracuse clung on gamely until near the finish, being paced by both Pennsylvania and Columbia, with the Wisconsin freshmen last, but less than a length behind. The times were: Cornell, 10:26; Syracuse, 10:50 1-5; Pennsylvania, 10:53; Columbia, 10:66 1-5; Wisconsin, 10:59.

DOOKS TAKE EASY GAME

White Sox Down Fort William Twins By 7 to 2 Count.

Fort Williams, Ont., June 27.—Old Mike Kramer had the visitors on the run for seven innings of last evening's game. In the seventh round the Dooks piled up three scores and in the ninth added four more to their total. The visitors went hitless to the fifth round. In the next four innings the visitors secured nine blows off the offerings of Kramer, including a home run by Brackett. Edmunds singled in the eighth and scored on Brackett's home run. Bond doubled after Croake was down and scored when the offering of Collins was mussed up by Fortman.

Hargrove strolled in the ninth, advanced on an out, and came across the pan when Dreis let Grina's grounder get away from him. Brackett singled and Croake doubled and both men counted when Bond singled. Bond swiped both second and third and scored on a sacrifice fly of Collins. Three hits in the fourth gave the home team its runs.

SUPERIOR IS BEATEN AGAIN

Virginia Wins Second Game of Series By 4 to 0 Score.

From a telegraph pole yesterday Kid Taylor saw his Virginia team defeat Superior by the score of 4 to 0. Chicken was on the mound for Superior and as usual got it in the neck. Wilson worked steadily for the Ore Diggers. Jack Olson appeared in the role of arbiter and had a run in with Taylor. The manager of the Superior team was ordered from the grounds, and it was then that he conceived the idea of climbing a near-by telephone pole and coaching his comrades from this position of vantage. It is hard to keep a good man down. The score:

PEGGERS WIN LOOSE GAME FROM FARGO.

Winnipeg, Man., June 27.—Winnipeg defeated the Fargo team last evening by the score of 11 to 5. Drucke, the former member of the New York Giants, started the game for the visitors, but was wild and unsteady. Barr started for the Maroons and was driven from the mound. Boley replaced him and pitched steady ball. In the sixth Tacke hit for the circuit with the bases full. Altermott followed with another home run. A long running catch by Jack Doyle was the fielding feature of the game. The score:

Giants Win Both.

Boston, Mass., June 27.—By batting all of Boston's pitchers hard, New York won both games yesterday, the first 8 to 4 and the second 10 to 4. The champions won the first game in the fifth inning, when Mathewson and Bescher singled, Burns walked, and Fletcher tripled, three runs being scored. Mann then made a wild throw to the plate after Snodgrass had flied out, and Fletcher also scored. Connolly was the only Boston player who hit Mathewson consistently. He made a home run, a double and a single, scoring two runs himself and driving in another.

In the sixth inning of the second game, New York drove James from the box with none out. Cocreham, Boston's relief pitcher, was easier than James for the visitors. Fromme was slightly wild, but kept the hits scattered.

Evers, Gilbert and Taylor were put off the field in the fifth inning of the first game for disputing a decision of Umpire Rigler. Scores:

Cubs Take Double-Header.

Cincinnati, O., June 27.—Chicago won a double-header from Cincinnati yesterday, 6 to 2 and 1 to 0. The second game was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of darkness. Chicago won the first contest by hitting Douglass hard, two triples and a home run being made off him in the third inning.

The second game was a pitcher's battle between Humphreys and Ames. The former had the better of the argument, for in the fourth inning Schulte's double and Corridon's single, two of the three hits made off Ames, brought Schulte home for the only run scored during the contest. Scores:

First game	R.	H.	E.

Dodgers Out of Cellar.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 27.—The Brooklyns got out of the cellar yesterday by beating Philadelphia 7 to 4 in a free hitting and loose fielding game. Singles by Daubert and Dalton, Wheat's triple and Cutshaw's sacrifice fly scored three Brooklyn runs in the first inning and sent Jacobs to the bench. Mattison went six innings and gave four runs and six bases on balls. Baumgardner started the eighth and struck out Cutshaw, but Stengel and Smith singled. He was relieved by Tincup and the next two men were strikeout victims. Pfeffer was hit often, the Philadelphia batters picking at his delivery for single tallies in four different innings. Good support saved him further trouble.

Pittsburg Wins Again.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 27.—A triple by Mitchell followed by Kelly's fly gave Pittsburg a 3 to 2 victory over St. Louis in the tenth inning. The Pirates started the scoring in the second when Wagner received a base on balls, went to second on Konetchy's sacrifice hit, to third on Mitchell's out and stole home while Sallee held the ball. The visitors tied the score in the fourth on Miller's single, an out, a wild throw and Butler's single. In the fifth Huggins walked, stole second and scored on Cather's double. The tie was scored in the sixth on Mitchell's double and Kelly's triple. Score: R. H. E.

Athletics Get Two.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 27.—Both games of yesterday's double-header here with Washington were victories for Philadelphia, the visitors forfeiting the first in the fourth inning 9 to 0 and the second being decided in ten innings, 6 to 5. Umpire Chill repeatedly called balls on Pitcher Engle of Washington, thereby sustaining the claim of Capt. Thomas of Philadelphia that the twirler was delivering the ball unfairly by having both feet off the rubber when he pitched. Manager Griffith protested and refused to order his men to resume play after Chill pulled his watch and ordered the players to their positions. Chill then forfeited the game, the score being 2 to 0 in favor of the Athletics with the bases filled and two out.

In the second game, after Baker had driven in five runs for Philadelphia on two hits over the right field fence, each with a man on first base, and by a sacrifice fly, Washington developed batting streaks in the eighth and ninth innings and tied the score. Bender succeeded Shawksy in the tenth and held Washington safe, while the home team scored a run off Boehling on Strunk's single, Barry's sacrifice and Schang's single. Score:

Second game—	R.	H.	E.

Three Straight From Tigers.

Chicago, June 27.—Chicago won the seventh consecutive game yesterday when they made it three straight from Detroit, 2 to 1. The game was a pitchers' duel between Faber and Dubuc, the former having a shade the better of the argument. It was Faber's double in the sixth inning, which started the locals to victory. Weaver followed the pitcher with a single and Faber moved to third. Blackburn forced Weaver on second and Faber scored. Blackburn stole second and scored the winning run on Demmitt's single. Detroit was held to three scattered hits and saved a shutout in the sixth on Stanage's single, Weaver's error of Dubuc's grounder and an infield out. The fielding of Fournier, Weaver and Bush were features. Score:

TWO GREAT TENNIS STARS

R. L. MURRAY. H. L. HAHN.

R. Lindley Murray and H. L. Hahn came out of California to dispute the tennis championship with the eastern cracks and last week Murray annexed the metropolitan singles championship, beating Fred B. Alexander, a three times title holder, in the final match. Alexander was said to be in particularly fine form, too. It is believed that Murray will be heard from at the Newport national games this summer.

SPORTSMEN ELECT.

North Dakota Association Votes to Meet Next at Dickinson.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dickinson was selected by the North Dakota Sportsmen's association, which ended its annual shoot here last evening, for the 1915 tournament. J. W. Sturgeon of Dickinson was elected president and F. J. Ray of Dickinson secretary.

The executive committee is composed of the two principal officials and A. R. Chezik, Portal; J. Dawson, Devils Lake, and H. E. Peck, Kenmare.

E. B. McCutcheon and Charles Brewer, the former state game warden and the latter a member of the board of control of game and fish, appeared before the association and advocated that the association place itself on record as favoring the promotion of game protection on an even wider basis than it has been previously carried out.

George Kreger won the professional event, shooting 224 out of 240. The interstate champion is A. R. Chezik of Portal, N. D., and the amateur state champion is Dr. F. J. Anderson of Grand Forks. J. F. Duis of Devils Lake attained the highest average in the amateur class with 221 out of 240.

FIGHTERS FIT AND READY FOR BATTLE

Johnson and Moran Will Contest for World's Heavyweight Title.

Paris, June 27.—French sportsmen and thousands of Americans and other foreign followers of boxing were gathered in Paris today awaiting the beginning of the fight tonight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frank Moran of Pittsburg and Jack Johnson, holder of the title since he defeated Jeffries on July 4, 1910, at Reno, will meet in the ring at the great Velodrome d'Hiver at 10:30 o'clock tonight to fight for twenty rounds under Queensbury rules.

On every hand the question was discussed whether the white challenger was capable of wresting the title from its negro holder. Each of the prospective combatants expressed strong confidence in his own chances of victory but the betting odds on the event were 2 to 1 in favor of Johnson. Johnson said today:

"I was never more sure in my life than I am today. It is now a question of true sportsmanship. If Moran wins tonight he will win by strength, skill and better generalship. If he wins I shall be the first to congratulate him from the bottom of my heart."

Johnson has made plans for a tour of Europe in an automobile after the fight. The journey will include visits to London, and to Moscow, and he says he will later return to the United States.

ELKS TO MEET EAGLES' TEAM

Fast Baseball Game Will Be Played Sunday at Athletic Park.

One of the best amateur baseball games of the season is expected to result in the meeting tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park between the fast teams of the Elks and Eagles.

Both of the teams are in the best condition for the game and both will present their strongest lineups. Herb Hanson will do the pitching for the Eagles and Ed Stevens will be on the mound for the Elks. Frank Schaeffer is the captain and catcher for the Eagles. Stauss will be behind the bat for the Elks.

As the Elks and Eagles are about the strongest of the lodge teams, and as there has been a great deal of rivalry all season between the members of the two aggregations, the fans can look for a hot contest. For the last three weeks the members of the teams have been practicing with this game in view. Some real stars are in the lineup and some real baseball should be played.

The game will be played at Athletic park and will be called at 3 o'clock.

HARD FIGHT FOR W.-I. LEAGUE FLAG.

Green Bay, Wis., June 27.—Since the successful trip through the southern end of the Wisconsin-Illinois league circuit of the Twin City and the Green Bay clubs, the pennant race seems to have narrowed down to a fight between those clubs and the Oshkosh team, twice flag winners.

The Madison club, after battling around the top since the season opened, dropped to fourth position after the Thursday's defeat and with what looks like dissension within the ranks, the chances which the Senators had of leading a fight on the leaders seems lost now. The Green Bay club moved ahead of the Senators by winning three games from the Wausau club and with a long string of home games to play Manager Lynch is predicting his Bays will make the fight interesting for the Twins and Champions.

Within a week the clubs which were kicking on account of attendance shortage have ceased complaining and seem content to hope for better things in a financial way. There is a feeling in the heart of each club president that he has one or more players on his team, who may show class enough to be picked up by purchase or draft by a higher league team and then the financial burden of his club is lessened somewhat.

Win Uphill Game.

Kansas City, Mo., June 27.—Coming up from behind at the beginning of the eighth period and playing an aggressive uphill game, the St. Louis Country club polo four, defeated the Denver Country club team here yesterday, 9 to 7¾. The match was a special one arranged in connection with the tournament of the Western circuit of the National Polo association as the result of the withdrawal of the Onwentsia club team of Chicago.

Cross and Duffy Matched.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 27.—Leach Cross and Jimmy Duffy, lightweights, have been matched for a twenty-round contest at Vernon arena the night of July 25.

The Northerns are looking for an out of town game for the Fourth of July. The Northerns will play at Two Harbors tomorrow and at Moose Lake July 12. For games call Manager Norstedt at the Northern Hardware store.

NEW STARS DEVELOPING FOR OLYMPIC TEAM

Many Athletes Will Be Candidates for the American Team That Will Compete at Berlin Stadium.

New York, June 27.—Practically an entirely new Olympic team is being molded into shape for the games which will be held in the Berlin stadium in 1916.

As a result of the recent collegiate meets, experts are predicting that three-fourths of the next American Olympic team will be composed of athletes representing educational institutions. All the collegiate meets have produced men who warrant the belief that they will win their way to Germany to battle for the world's honors.

In the intercollegiates at the Harvard stadium, the Mississippi conference at St. Louis, the western conference at Chicago and the Pacific coast meets sterling performances were made.

The Mississippi meet at St. Louis uncovered a young quarter-miler who is likely to develop into a record-breaker. He is a sturdy lad named Cowman, from Rolla School of Mines. In the quarter-mile race ho defeated a big field on a rather slow track in the exceptionally fast time of 46 2-5 seconds. Reports from experts who saw him run say he will improve and that before the Olympics will develop into another Maxey Long.

From Chicago comes word of remarkable performances in the middle distance events by W. A. Goellitz of Illinois, Sanders of Illinois, Haff of Michigan, Stegeman of Chicago, Williams of Wisconsin and East of Purdue. Ward of Chicago and F. W. Kelly of California demonstrated at the Penn relays that they are as good as any high hurdlers in America.

Bond and Seward of Michigan and Reler of Cornell are expected to develop into the sprinters who will make the team. Howard Drew of the Southern University of California is now in a class by himself as a sprinter, but it is a question of whether or not he will hold his form for two more years. He is nearly 30 years of age, and experts say he will lose his great speed before the next Olympics. Dave Caldwell of Cornell, Ted Meredith of Pennsylvania, Donald Lippincott of Pennsylvania, Speidon of Cornell and Madeira of Pennsylvania are middle-distance runners who are expected to be on the next American team. All of them showed great form this spring, and each is likely to improve with training and competition.

In California Edwin Beeson seems to be improving in the high jump. He recently established new figures in this event and reports from the coast say he will continue to improve.

Other collegians who have shown Olympic form are Beatty of Columbia in the shot, Bailey of Vermont in the hammer throw, Richards of Cornell in the high jumps, Whitney of Dartmouth in the hammer and discus throws, Hoffmire of Cornell in the distance runs, Nichols of California and Oler of Yale in the high jumps, Ferguson of Pennsylvania in the low hurdles, Cline of Colorado in the middle distance runs, Brown of Yale in the half mile, Longbridge of Yale in the hammer, Barron of Harvard in the pole vault, Nordell of Dartmouth in the broad jump, Preble of California in the high hurdles, Bingham of Harvard in the quarter-mile dash, Mackenzie of Princeton in the mile run and Kohler of Michigan in the discus.

There are a score of other college men who are likely to earn places on the team. They have not shown championship form yet, but their trainers are confident they will improve greatly during the next two years.

While the collegians undoubtedly will be in the majority, the clubs have many youngsters who promise to make records before the selection of the team. A few of the veterans, such as Pat McDonald, Matt McGrath and Abel Kiviat, are likely to retain their form on their specialties, but most of the contenders for places on the team are likely to be youngsters.

Some of the youngsters who should round into great champions before 1916 are the three Gordon boys—Louis, Fred and William; Jim Powers of the Boston Athletic association; Sidney Leslie, the young distance runner of the Long Island Athletic association, and Homer Baker of the New York Athletic club.

The Gordon boys are three athletes who, experts say, will soon earn world-wide fame. Louis is a half-miler who can cover his distance in 1:56. Fred and William are milers, and both can beat 4:20 for the mile. It was William who defeated Abel Kiviat in the Baxter mile. Since then Fred has beaten him. They belong to no club and it is their intention to form an organization of their own and call it the Gordon Athletic club.

Of course some of the present day club champions will hold their form until the next Olympics. Tom Halpin of Boston is a sturdy fellow and seems to improve in the middle distance runs with every race. Emil Miller of Paterson is improving with the discus; Mucks of Wisconsin is a young man and should improve throwing the discus. Shattuck of California is better now than ever with the weights and should continue to improve.

Of the distance runners, Ray of Chicago is a likely candidate for Olympic honors. He defeated Hannes Kolehmainen, and those who saw him race say that he will increase his speed several seconds before the Berlin games.

Besides these men, there are hundreds of school boys who are showing good form and are likely to develop into champions.

WARDEN'S ACTION HAS STIRRED BUHL

Arrest and Punishment of Wife of Lawbreaker Unpopular.

Buhl, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Woods, the game warden, created considerable feeling here by his arrest of Veda Zubick, wife of Bob Zubich. Woods secured a warrant for Bob Zubich, charging him with having venison in his possession. When he went to the Zubich home to arrest the man, he did not find him. Mrs. Zubich was at home, however, and the game warden arrested her in the place of her husband, took her to Kinney, where she was arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. W. McCleary and sentenced to fifty days in the Buhl jail for having venison in possession.

Mrs. Zubich friends learned of the matter and took it up with Justice E. A. Barrett of this village, who secured the woman's release. Some of Mrs. Zubich's friends declare that a warrant will be issued for Woods for this action. No steps have been taken in the matter thus far, however.

From early spring the ground has remained cold, the weather being hot but a few days and rainfall has come at an average of about two times a week. Last night a heavy rain set in. Mrs. Troop came to the rescue with a pitchfork, diverting the animal's attention until her husband escaped. No Keewatin Players.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last Thursday's issue of the Itasca Iron News at Coleraine stated that the Nashwauk city team that played against Bovey on their grounds to a 2 to 1 victory for Nashwauk on Sunday, June 21, was composed of Keewatin players and called the winning team the "Nashwauk-Keewatin aggregation." The manager of the Nashwauk team wishes to state that the team representing them are not Keewatin players nor any other outside players were used in the game that defeated them. The pitcher used in that battle is a home man and is employed here. This paper further alleges that the Nashwauk juniors who defeated the Bovey juniors on the Nashwauk grounds on Sunday, June 21 by the score of 19 to 11 instead of 16 to 13, as stated by this paper, were composed of a number of men picked from the Nashwauk city team and that statement is untrue and shows that the Bovey ball teams take their defeat rather to heart. The manager also wishes to state that the Nashwauk city team challenges any amateur team on the range.

RAIN

Showers were promised for last night and today, and not only showers came, but the rain fell in sheets —and the wind! Some wind, and no doubt about it. It blew as hard as sixty miles an hour and worked overtime at it during the night, doing consnderable damage to property.

More showers are promised for tonight and tomorrow, with warmer weather.

The weather a year ago today was showery. The sun rose this morning at 4:15 and will set at 8:07, giving fifteen hours and fifty-two minutes of sunshine.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over Minnesota has caused light to heavy rains throughout the Northwest, the lake region and Ohio valley, and a strong northeast gale on Western Lake Superior. The highest wind velocity at Duluth last night was sixty miles per hour from the northeast. Storm northeast warnings were ordered Friday afternoon on Lake Superior from Duluth to Marquette. Hot weather continues in the Central, Southern and Eastern states."

WRITING HISTORY OF LABOR MOVEMENT

The first complete history of the labor movement in Minnesota is now being written and will probably be published just before the annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Labor here in July. William E. McEwen, editor and publisher of The Labor World and former labor commissioner, is the author of the new book.

Mr. McEwen was recently in the Twin Cities searching old records and ran upon some interesting matter pertaining to the early work of organization in this state. Even Mr. McEwen himself, who is pretty well informed on labor matters in this state, was surprised to find the movement was fairly well started before the Civil war.

The first real local union in this state was that of the National Typographical union organized and under charter in Minneapolis, started Sept. 5, 1859. This union was No. 42 and it still retains the same number.

The officers of this union were: D. L. Payne, H. C. Stone, A. J. Underwood, James Morvatt, Benjamin Drake, J. B. Clancey, A. C. Squire, William H. Allen, W. J. Carpe, H. M. Metcalf.

The oldest continuous local was the Brotherhood of Engineers founded at Austin in 1870. The first unions to be incorporated secured articles in 1867.

Mr. McEwen has obtained information from various sources on the early labor movement and many important records that are not available to the public will be incorporated in his work.

The parents were at the barn doing the morning chores and had left a kerosene stove burning in the kitchen. Its explosion threw oil on the walls and the building was quickly ablaze. The little girl was still in bed and was burned to death. This is the third time the Andersons have lost their home by fire.

INDIAN SUPERSTITION.

Sunday Afternoons: A man years ago spent much of his time among the Indians. The man was an artist, and once painted two of the Indian chiefs. No one was allowed in the room and the chiefs did not see their pictures until they were finished. Then they came and looked and each of them recognized the other. They looked with wonder at the pictures and at the artist and his colors—and pressed their hands over their mouths, which they do when anything surprises them very much.

These two chiefs went to their homes and sat before their fires for a time without speaking. But after a while they began to tell their friends what a wonderful thing happened. People began to gather about them with open mouths and eyes, and then all the women and children gathered around the artist's house peaking in at all the cracks and crannies and at last climbed all over the house. After a while the men and warriors came. They walked into the house and came into the painter's room. It was explained to them about the painting—how it was done and that the artist meant them no harm. At last they seemed satisfied, but nothing would do but to hang the pictures over the door that all might see. The people were wild with excitement; they were sure the faces smiled; they saw their eyes move, and they were sure they could speak if they wanted to. They thought that the artist had made two people out of one. Both the man and his pictures were alive, they said, so some of the life of the man must be taken to give life to the picture. At this they grew frightened and they held a council of war to decide what must be done to such a person, till the artist, being allowed to enter their counsel, explained that there was no magic in it and offered to teach them how to do it themselves.

Mrs. Ed A. Smith, of McAllisterville, an invalid, owns a remarkable hen, named Collie, which comes into her room every day and lays an egg in a nest made of a shawl. Another hen followed Collie into the room recently, pushed her off her nest, then laid an egg.

The latter part of the evening was devoted to social dancing.

The wedding of Miss Carolyn Munger and Cavour Hartley took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Munger. Pattison were married Wednesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kennedy of 5830 London road. This wedding was a departure from the others that have taken place this summer, held as it was on the lawn in the light of Japanese lanterns and a bonfire on the lake shore. Miss Gertrude Ellis Cleveland and Carl Fox Tronsen of St. Paul, whose wedding was an afternoon event, went to St. Paul where they will make their home. Miss Gertrude Reilly and Warren G. Lucore were married at the Sacred Heart Cathedral and Miss Alvertene Gilson and Arthur J. Robillard at St. James' Catholic church Wednesday morning. Both these church weddings were followed by wedding breakfasts at the homes of the brides. Another church wedding was that of Miss Anna Fronk of Rice Lake, Wis., and Leonard J. Patrick who was a delegate from the Duluth center and an account of the St. Louis pageant and masque was given by Mrs. S. R. Holden who represented Duluth in the league of cities that was one of the important outcomes of the St. Louis celebration. No other meetings of the Drama league will be held until fall.

The galeties of the week will be concluded this evening by the Boat club dances at the main house and Oatka branch.

Next week will be rather quiet but several functions are scheduled. Mrs. Nathaniel Upham will entertain a musicale at her home, 1531 Jefferson street, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. That evening Miss Enid Freimuth and Sidney L. Birdie will be married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Freimuth of 1306 East Second street. Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the first of a series of lecture-recitals on Shakespeare will be given at the home of Mrs. Henry H. Myers, 2505 East First street, by Dr. Edgar C. The Fourth of July with its many opportunities for effective decorations will be no doubt the occasion of many informal entertainments. As most persons enjoy a holiday on the national day, many picnics and water excursions will be enjoyed. The Duluthians who are spending the summer at Solon Springs and those who will go there for the day will witness a novel form of entertainment when the Indians of the neighboring reservations assemble at the springs for their annual "powwow" and dance.

DULUTH DANCER WILL MAKE TRANSCONTINENTAL TOUR NEXT FALL AT HEAD OF HER OWN COMPANY

MISS EMILY SCHUPP IN THREE DAINTY DANCE POSES.

Miss Emily Schupp, formerly of Duluth and a nice of Mrs. Henry Nesbitt of 210 Thirteenth avenue east, will make a trans-continental dancing tour next season at the head of her own company of dancers. Miss Schupp, whose stage name is Lada, has studied in most of the countries of Europe and was adequately prepared for her debut that took place in New York in April at the Princess theater. At the time of her debut the New York papers attributed to her a youthful gracefulness, temperament and charm. It is said her dancing combines the characteristics of Ruth St. Denis, Isadora Duncan and Anna Pavlova.

It is thought by some that Lada is a Russian or an American Russian. Perhaps this is not to be wondered at as her debut program contained several Russian numbers.

The New York Press said the day after her debut: "There can be no doubt that the dainty little ballerina, who strangely, enough, hails from Duluth, though for the last three years she has been perfecting herself in Russia, is an unusual and interesting apparition in the world terpsichorean. She represents, it would seem, the newest school of Russian choreographic art, now cultivated in Moscow, the aim of which is to break away from the shackles of time-worn tradition without disregarding the best lessons of the past."

The New York Sun of the same date said: "Lada was applauded and that reward she seems always destined to receive for her efforts from an audience susceptible to the effect of such a pretty exhibition of her art as the young woman gave. As soon as her qualities are well known she will probably enjoy the enthusiasm of many more than the small number that gathered to see her yesterday."

This opportunity to appear before larger audiences will be given by Miss Schupp's trans-continental tour that is now being booked. The tour, under the direction of Marc Lagen, will start from New York in November.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

It's Mean to Show Love Letters.

Have you ever been placed so you wanted with all your heart to avenge some absent, unknown member of your sex? Let them say what they will about woman's disloyalty to woman, I feel sure that this feeling is common enough to give the lie direct to the ancient axiom that women are less honorable than men in their dealings with the members of their own sex. I doubt if any woman likes to hear her kind reviled or belittled by one or more men.

I have wished to express my opinion of men who have not hesitated to sneer at women publicly, probably never more than one day recently. The car was crowded, yet that did not prevent two young men entertaining them selves and others near them with the contents of a woman's letter, which had been written to one of them in trust and confidence.

There was no mistaking the nature of the letter. It was a love letter that they bandied back and forth in keen enjoyment of its gushy contents. It might be added, too, that the girl or woman who had no more common sense than to spread the prompting of her heart over three or four sheets of paper deserved to be laughed at.

Just here is an opportunity to caution the girl, the young woman and even the one of mature years, against making a fool of themselves in this manner. Somehow nothing reads more inanely than a love letter of the everyday type once it is cold, no matter how sincerely penned. Nearly every girl and woman who has been unwise enough to write this sort of letter has seen the day when she would give much to be able to recall the same.

However, this does not excuse any man, whatever his age, for making sport of a woman's imprudence, or we might say, her faith in some individual man, for that is what it amounts to oftentimes. A man with the proper spirit and the right attitude toward woman, will never make her the target of another man's ridicule. A love letter is intended for but one pair of eyes.

The man who shares a tender missive with a friend loses standing with that friend in spite of the latter's enjoyment. Both men deserve to be roundly scored for their lack of chivalry. I always want to do it in the name of my sex when I see such an exhibition.

Every woman who spends the Summer at the seashore, in the mountains or at some fashionable watering place should take with her a few bottles of

GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM

The surest guarantee of its perfection is the fact of it having been in actual use for nearly three-quarters of a century.

DRAMA LEAGUE HOLDS ITS CLOSING MEETING OF SEASON

MRS. F. A. PATRICK.

MRS. S. R. HOLDEN.

AT THE last meeting of the season of the Drama league held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Hartman two of the most interesting events of the year in dramatic circles were reviewed by Mrs. S. R. Holden and Mrs. F. A. Patrick.

Mrs. Holden traced the rise, development and presentation of the St. Louis pageant and masque, speaking of the business and poetic sides of the celebration that marked the 150th anniversary of the founding of that city. She told of the fear felt by the leaders of the production that large crowds would not attend the performances and of the vast audiences that exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic, of the wonderful setting for the production on the slope of Art hill in Forrest park and the stage built over the lagoon and of the perfect order in which the 7,500 actors were marshaled from their tents onto the stage.

Mrs. Patrick, who was a delegate from the Duluth center to the convention of the Drama League of America held in Philadelphia, told of the suggestions made by delegates for the strengthening of the league that stands for the best dramas, for not only the wealthy, who can afford to pay the high prices demanded in small playhouses, but also for those who are interested in good productions, but cannot afford to see them.

The meeting at Philadelphia was a success not only in respect to the papers read and the talks made by leading men and women in the drama of America, but in the discussions by the delegates who were enthusiastic enough about the work to tell what were their opinions upon the questions discussed and what their centers were doing.

MUSIC LEAGUE OF AMERICA NOW FIRMLY ESTABLISHED

AFTER less than three months of activity the Music League of America, a philanthropic organization formed to benefit music, musicians and the music-loving public, has developed its undertaking into full working order. It has not only established a firm working basis, but it has also maintained those essentials to which it pledged itself.

The league purposes to give hearings to musicians and to arrange recitals for the most accomplished ones, thus giving unknown musicians of ability opportunities to show the public what they can do and at the same time making it possible for clubs, schools and small towns to hear real musicians instead of mediocre and even worse than mediocre aspirants for engagements.

Fairness is a watchword of the new league. The candidates for examination are known by numbers instead of by names. They are not even seen by those who are to pass upon their merits and the examining board is changed often to do away with any chance of showing favoritism.

Ten Hearings.

During the last two months ten hearing have been given in New York. The judges have heard 196 young singers and instrumentalists. Of this number 144 were singers, 18 violinists and 34 pianists. Nine singers, four pianists and three violinists were regarded by the expert judges as possessing qualifications entitling them to recommendation by the league for professional appearance. Each of these youthful musicians will be given every opportunity possible to be heard in public at professional fees in accordance with their respective abilities. Howard E. Potter, who has served successfully as acting manager on the American tours of Melba, Sembrich and Kubelik, is the business representative of the league. Among his duties is the advantageous placing of those whose abilities the music league unhesitatingly recommends.

Among the judges who placed the seal of approval on demonstrated efficiency and who discountenanced mediocrity at the hearings of applicants were such recognized professional and amateur musicians as Andreas Dippel, Francis Rogers, Adriani Arlani, Gustav Becker, Paolo Gallico, Maximilian Pilzer, Edouard Dethier, Max Karger, Michael Banner, Mrs. Charles B. Foote, Mrs. Kelly Cole and Miss Florence Pease.

Another move taken by the league is the extending of co-operation to communities feeling the need of expert musical advice and guidance. As the result of requests for such aid the league is arranging to give a series of concerts in various cities and towns. Every concert in each series will provide chances for some of the best of the music league's young artists to be heard. The programs will be made of greater interest and value by the appearance of some artists of distinguished reputation.

The financial profits of each concert will be set aside for a fund that will be used to educate the most talented young music students living in the city or town where the series of concerts is given. To make the progress of every music student as certain as possible it is the intention of the league to supervise the work done.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

NATIONAL EDUCATORS WILL MEET IN ST. PAUL

Forty-Second Annual Convention Will Open Saturday, July 4, and Continue One Week.

ST. PAUL will be "at home" July 4 to 11 for the forty-second annual convention of the National Educational association. Meetings of the national council will be held Saturday, July 4. Educational Sunday will be observed July 5 and the regular sessions will open July 6.

The vicinity of St. Paul offers interesting places for strangers to visit with Fort Snelling, the Indian mounds, the state fish hatcheries, Univeristy of Minnesota, Lake Minnetonka, Minnehaha Falls, Lake of the Isles, the falls of St. Croix and other natural attractions.

Judging from the program, the committee in charge of the sessions has thought an educational convention was meant for education, with pleasure trips as only side issues. There will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions. In addition to the general meetings there will be meetings of the departments dealing with kindergartens, higher education, manual training, music, physical training, science, school administration, libraries, special education, religious education and other phases of school work.

The names of sixteen Minnesotans appear in the announcement of the meetings, either as speakers or as officers of the departments of the association. Among them are Elizabeth Hall, assistant superintendent of the Minneapolis schools, who will speak on "Self-Protection By the School"; Lilla Frick, supervisor of domestic science in Minneapolis, who will give the report of the committee on manual training; Mary E. Samson of the state normal school at Winona, who will speak on "The Physical Director in Her Relation to the School"; Florence Rood, kindergarten director of the St. Paul normal school, president of the department of classroom teachers; and Grace Baldwin of Minneapolis, president of the League of Teachers' Associations; Charles E. Siegerfoos, of the University of Minnesota, vice president of the department of science instruction; W. Dawson Johnson of the St. Paul library, whose subject will be "The Newspaper Morgue, the Library and the School," and A. W. REPAIR WHILE IRONING.

New York Press Contributor: I wear large house aprons with deep pockets, and in ironing days I slip into the apron pocket a small flat needle-book for needles and pins. I have white, black, brown and blue thread wound on flat cards, also darning cotton on cards. This method does not make the pockets bulky. I also have a small pair of blunt scissors and a few common pearl buttons, assorted sizes. As I iron, I put all the garments needing attention on lower part of line. While I am waiting for irons to heat, or for other small kitchen delays, I sew up a rip here, a button there, darn stockings, and so on. If a garment needs patching, I put it in a drawer kept for that purpose in which are kept my patching pieces. Then if I am getting a meal or waiting for some member of the family I am able to work off these garments, one by one, or at least get the work basted for the machine.

A MINIATURE COLONY SCHOOL.

Making the school grounds a miniature colony, with the pupils busily engaged in all kinds of productive occupations, is the device of the Birley house school, an open air school in England, as described in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education.

Various minerals—coal, iron ore, copper ore, lead ore and gold quartz—are buried in different parts of the school garden, and the children go out "prospecting" for them. The finders become captains of industry. To work the mines the captains of industry engage laborers at the labor exchange, which is managed by one of the pupils. Boring is then proceeded with, shafts are sunk, winding apparatus is constructed and the mineral is brought to the surface.

Here arises the need for coal and a system of transportation in the form of a miniature railway is organized, furnaces are set up, factories are planned, the possible markets for the product are considered, and the importance of a merchant marine is recognized.

In close connection with the industrial side of the colonization scheme the agricultural plan is developed. A portion of the garden is cleared, a miniature farm of six fields is prepared, and the different methods of fencing are applied to these fields. The ground is plowed and crops are sown in rotation—wheat, potatoes, barley, oats, clover and cabbage. A thatched log hut is built and furnished to serve as a homestead for the farmers, and the necessary outbuildings—barn, stable, pigsty, poultry house and dog kennel—are built around it.

All the school work is done in close relation to the community activities. Practice in woodwork and carpentry is obtained by making a rabbit warren, an aviary, insect cases, garden frames, cases for weather insruments, etc. The use of "puddling" clay and the mixing of concrete and cement are illustrated by constructing a pond, drainpipes and other mason work. There is practical arithmetic in the measurement of lengths and distances, in estimating costs and quantities, in finding heights by means of simple instruments, in making records of rainfall, barometer, thermometer, sunshine, etc., and in other calculations required in garden and manual work.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Indianapolis News: To bake potatoes quickly, clean and pour boiling water over them, and let stand on the stove five or ten minutes before putting them in the oven.

Iodine is a healing remedy for wounds caused by rusty nails. Such wounds, however, should have the attention of a physician from the start.

If eggs are to be stuffed, they must be put into cold water as soon as they are taken from the stove. This will keep the whites in better shape.

Mending Holes—It will be found a simple matter to mend a hole in a small boy's trousers pocket if a darning egg is slipped into the pocket and the darning done over it.

If salt fish is required for immediate use, it will freshen much more quickly if soaked in milk instead of water. Sour milk will answer as well as sweet.

An outdoor cupboard will be found useful and economical during the winter weather. It will do away with the necessity for ice for quite a long time.

Mix stove polish with equal parts of household ammonia and turpentine and apply to the coal stove. Rub off with a soft woolen cloth. It gives a high polish.

To disguise the unpleasant taste of Epsom salts, drop in a little lemon juice. Then you will find the salt solution quite pleasant to take.

To insure a Yorkshire pudding always being light, it is a good plan to add a tablespoonful of cold water to the batter just before placing it in the oven.

Powder the insides of new gloves to make them easier to slip on, and also, in the case of colored kid gloves, to prevent the dye from staining the hands.

The cooler eggs are the quicker they will froth when whipped, so they should be beaten in a cool place. A pinch of salt always cools and freshens them.

The Painconcecas were a race of Indians of northern Bolivia, at one time very numerous. They were much occupied with agriculture, and many were converted by the Jesuits and joined the Mission of the Conception, where, in 1831, there were about 500 of them. They were supposed to come of the same stock as the Pauacas, a tribe mentioned by Fernandez.

HAIR FOR FISH BAIT.

Youth's Companion: A husband and wife, who are both skilled anglers, were members last summer of a jolly camping party and were held in high estimation as providers for the camp table. One day, when the fatigue of a mountain climb, which these two had not shared, kept the rest of the party lazily in hut or hammock, they were delegated to go to a trout brook a mile or more distant and catch a supper for all. Some time after their departure it was found that their fishing book had been left behind. When they returned with baskets brimming they were asked what flies they had used.

"Oh," said the wife casually, "Jack's hair is red and mine is black, and I was able to make a cast that suited the trout to a T. It was just like the flies they were rising to. We've found it convenient before to be blond and brunette."

Although she did not know it, the woman had a distinguished predecessor in the same ingenious form of angling. This was John Wilson, known to literature as "Christopher North," who was a skillful and ardent devotee of the sport. Once, arriving at a fine stream in Scotland, he found the trout numerous and rising freely to feast upon a peculiar kind of insect, with which he was not acquainted, apparently a variety of red spider. On searching his fishing book he found he had nothing with which he could make up a cast that resembled this insect closely enough to deceive even the least intelligent of fish. For a moment he was bitterly disappointed. Then he hastily retraced his steps to the village.

"Wha's the nearest mon, wi' a carrotty pow?" he asked the first native he met, who, after a brief consideration, informed him that the nearest red-headed resident "wasna a mon—she's a lassie." She was, in fact, the "meenister's hired lass," Mysie by name.

The angler, with hasty thanks, hurried at once to the parsonage, where he found Mysie, whose "pow" was more than carroty—it was fiery and flaming. By a judicious mingling of persuasion and payment she was induced to part with a tress. The enterprising author-fisherman carried the hair back to the burn, twisted a portion of it rapidly into an excellent semblance of a sprawly red spider and cast upon the waters. With a rush and a swirl a fine large trout seized it instantaneously, and before the day was over enough flecked and flashing victims had followed their leader to afford the triumphant angler his best catch of the season.

CLEARLY UNJUST.

Boston Advertiser: Ever since they came to school that morning two of the boys had been persistently naughty. At last, therefore, the teacher, thoroughly exasperated, turned to them angrily and said that they must stay in during playtime until each had written his name 1,000 times.

Playtime duly came, and, as the rest of the class rose and hastened from the room to enjoy a spell of freedom, the two miscreants settled down to their irksome imposition.

Five minutes later the teacher returned to see how they were getting on, and found a heated argument in progress.

"Come, come!" she cried. "What's the matter now?"

Whereupon one of the boys burst into tears.

"'Tain't fair, mum!" he gasped. "His name's Tim Bust and mine's Alexander O'Shaughnessy!"

NOT SO BAD OFF.

Tit-Bits: A broker, brooding over the heavy expenses of maintaining his office, thought he would save money by having a cheap lunch.

He wandered into a little restaurant off Cheapside and ordered a frugal meal costing a few pence. Looking up, he recognized in the waiter an old stock broker.

"Hallo, Harry, have you come down to this?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm all right. I only wait; I don't dine here!" was the reply.

LAUNDRY WORK AS PART OF REGULAR COLLEGE COURSE

New York Times: Yellow soap and washtubs may seem very remote from college work and "higher education," yet they form a part of the regular curriculum at Teachers' college, Columbia university, and unless a girl can qualify as an expert washwoman she cannot hope for her B. S. degree in the department of household arts.

The terrors of Greek, the intricacies of mathematics, the mysteries of psychology—all pale before the laborious tolls of the laundry course, which requires good, stout muscle and a cheery heart rather than quick wits and a vocabulary. For there is no bluffing here, but hard, hard labor of the strong-back variety, where dainty girls, pretty girls, luxurious girls, all forget their previous conditions and fall valiantly to rubbing and boiling and starching and bluing like true professionals. With white arms flashing in and out of the foam and curly heads bent low over the tubs, with scraps of song and bursts of laughter, with the rumble of mangles and the hissing of steam, with model equipment and sunshine and air—the education of the American girl goes bravely on as she learns the lessons of homecraft.

Sometimes it is flannel petticoats and sometimes big, heavy blankets that tire the muscles and weary the backs, sometimes tablecloths and bed linen, but whatever the "problem" is, the work is always to be done, the tubs are waiting, and the articles nicely stained and soiled and mussed especially for the laundry class. Every week there are different "problems," different soaps, and different blulngs. All kinds of washers and mangles are tried. Incidentally, the girls have to learn the chemistry of soap and bluing and starch and textiles and stains, and everything else that has chemistry—a no small part of their labors.

They are asked to bring in problems, too, as accidents with hot chocolate and ink are not nearly so dire as they might be if the laundry class did not welcome such fatalities. One girl, for instance, whooped with fiendish glee at her roommate's disaster with the olive oil.

"Just the thing for laundry!" she exclaimed delightfully, as she watched the thick, yellow stream ooze down a flimy bit of lace and chiffon. "I know nobody has brought in olive oil stains. Spill some more on it, Kitty."

Kitty stiffened.

"Your sympathy is gratifying. I might remind you that this is my only decent waist."

"But, dear heart, think what a lovely problem it will make. I isn't that I love you less, you know, but laundry more. And after we get through with it it will be much prettier than it was before. That's the way we T. C. wash ladies do things."

Much more delicately and leisurely than the laundry course is the course called housewifery, which calls for nothing more strenuous than scrubbing floors, washing windows, and polishing furniture. There is a model apartment for housewifery which must be kept in model order. The living room must be swept and dusted, the silver and brass must be scoured, the windows must shine, the floors must gleam. Therefore, squads of girls on the floor with buckets of hot water and brushes, under the furniture with flannel cloths and bottles of polish, on top of stepladders with covered brooms and dusting cloths. Nothing feminist about Teachers college, but good old-fashioned ideas and ideals.

The girls have a few things to say about the delights of this form of "physical education."

Helen, for example, is Southern and luxurious and it goes rather hard to have to do the things that servants have always done.

"I decleah," she said, "every bone in my body aches. My fathah would have a fit if he knew his daughtah was doing niggah's wuk up heah. The Fostah ladies don't know what wuk is. Honey, she had me on my knees today, scrubbing."

"Well, I think it's the nicest course I ever took in my life. I hate your old Latin and Greek; what good does it ever do? And I can hardly wait until I get home and try it on the folks. Mother'll be glad, I know. She thinks the modern girl is an abomination. I can't imagine anything more fun than keeping house for those wonderful big brothers of mine."

"I think so, too, Marjorie," agreed the quietest one of them all. "I'd much rather—"

"Oh, yes, we know you would, but its somebody else's brother with you. It's a beautiful course for engaged girls. Oh, how my arms ache from polishing that miserable piano!"

"And my back!"

"Well, kindly look at my lovely red hands. The boiled appearance was acquired in the delicate art of windowwashing. And I dropped the soap out of the window and it went skating down the street, with two little boys after it. I giggled and snickered and forgot to wash the upper half, thereby receiving a very black mark against the fair name of Armstrong."

"Indeed, I should rather wash windows than woodwork, for at least you can see things from a window. But groveling on the floor for three hours is miserable. Imagine, I was at it all morning yesterday, and I had to refuse Mr. Young's invitation to luncheon because I had to wash woodwork. When I told him he wouldn't believe it at first, and then he died laughing. It didn't seem so funny to me. And he had the audacity to ask me if I wore my suffrage button to that class."

"Well, let us laugh and be merry, for tomorrow we wash. It's bed clothing, isn't it?"

"Ye gods, yes!"

"Oh, dear!"

"Oh, dear!"

"Oh, dear!"

LINCOLN'S LOVE WANED

An Old Letter Lays Bare an Amusing Love Affair.

New York Times: Maj. William H. Lambert, Civil war veteran, who died at his home in Philadelphia, June 1, 1912, owned the finest Abraham Lincoln and William M. Thackeray collections in existence.

Owing to his death they have come into the public market, and will be sold at auction. The first part, consisting of the most important of the Lincoln autographs, books and relics, will be auctioned Jan. 14, 15 and 16.

An Extraordinary Letter.

Perhaps the item of greatest general interest is the five-page quarto letter written by Lincoln to Mrs. Orville H. Browning, telling how he made love to Mary S. Owens, afterward Mary S. Vineyard, asked her to marry him and was rejected. The letter, which is worn at the folds, is dated Springfield, April 1, 1838. He first met Miss Owens in 1833 at the house of Mrs. Bennet Able, her sister.

The letter reads in part as follows:

"It was then, in the autumn of 1836, that a married lady of my acquaintance (Mrs. Able), and who was a great friend of mine, being about to pay a visit to her father and other relatives residing in Kentucky, proposed to me that on her return she would bring a sister of hers with her on condition that I would engage to become her brother-in-law with all convenient dispatch. I had seen the said sister some three years before, thought her intelligent and agreeable, and saw no objection to plodding life through hand-in-hand with her. I, of course accepted the proposal, for you know I could not have done otherwise had I really been averse to it; but privately, between you and me, I was most confoundedly well pleased with the project.

"Time passed on, the lady took her journey, and in due time returned, sister in company, sure enough. This stomached me a little, for it appeared to me that her coming so readily showed that she was a trifle too willing, but on reflection it occurred to me that she might have been prevailed on by her married sister to come, without anything concerning me having been mentioned to her, and so I concluded that if no other objection presented itself I would consent to waive this.

Fair Match for Falstaff.

"In a few days we had an interview, and although I had not seen her before, she did not look as my imagination had pictured her. I knew she was oversize, but now she appeared a fair match for Falstaff. I knew she was called an 'old maid,' and I felt no doubt of the truth of at least half of the apellation, but now, when I beheld her, I could not for my life avoid thinking of my mother; and this not from withered features—for her skin was too full of fat to permit of its contracting into wrinkles—but from her want of teeth, weather beaten appearance in general, and from a kind of notion that ran in my head that nothing could have commenced at the size of infancy and reached her present bulk in less than 35 or 40 years; and, in short, I was not at all pleased with her.

"But what could I do? I had told her sister that I would take her for better or for worse, and I made a point of honor and conscience in all things to stick to my word, especially if others had been induced to act on it, which in this case I doubted not they had, for I was now fairly convinced that no other man on earth would have her, and hence the conclusion that they were bent on holding me to my bargain. Well, thought I, I have said it, and, be the consequences what they may, it shall not be my fault if I fail to do it.

Said No to Lincoln's Proposals.

"At once I determined to consider her my wife, and this done all my powers of discovery were put to work in search of perfections in her which might be fairly set off against her defects. I tried to imagine her handsome, which, but for her unfortunate corpulency, was actually true.

"After all my sufferings upon this deeply interesting subject, here I am, wholly, unexpectedly, completely out of the 'scrape,' and I now want to know if you can guess how I got out of it—out clear, in every sense of the term—no violation of word, honor or conscience. I don't believe you can guess, and so I may as well tell you at once. As the lawyer says, it was done in the manner following, to-wit:

"After I had delayed the matter as long as I thought I could in honor do I concluded I might as well bring it to a consummation without further delay, and so I mustered my resolution and made the proposal to her direct; but, shocking to relate, she answered 'No.'

"At first I supposed she did it through an affection of modesty, which I thought but ill became her under the peculiar circumstances of her case, but on my renewal of the charge I found she repelled it with greater firmness than before. I tried it again with the same success, or rather with the same want of success. I finally was forced to give it up, at which I very unexpectedly found myself mortified almost beyond endurance.

His Vanity Deeply Wounded.

"I was mortified, it seemed to me, in a hundred different ways. My vanity was deeply wounded by the reflection that I had so long been too stupid to discover her intentions, and at the same time never doubting that I understood them perfectly, and also that she, whom I had taught myself to believe nobody else would have, had actually rejected me with all my fancied greatness.

"And to cap the whole I then for the first time began to suspect that I was really a little in love with her. But let it go! I'll try and outlive it. Others have been made fools of by the girls, but this can never with truth be said of me. I most emphatically in this instance made a fool of myself. I have now come to the conclusion never again to think of marrying, and for this reason—I can never be satisfied with anyone who would be blockhead enough to have me."

This extraordinary missive, it will be noted, was written on April Fool's day. Lincoln then was 27 years old and a member of the Illinois legislature. He was 25 years old when his marriage proposal to Miss Owens was rejected.

STOPPED A BATTLE TO DRINK.

Kansas City Times: The amusing accounts of peaceful barter between Federal and Confederate soldiers on the picket line are paralleled by an incident from the memoirs of Col. Angeli who served in the Austrian army during the war with Italy in 1859. Angeli's personal adventures on the day of Magenta are well worth giving, says Dorothea Gerard, who has reviewed the colonel's work for the Cornhill Magazine.

The adventures began when he, together with a handful of men, got separated from his battalion, and that in turn resulted from an attack that the battalion made on a troublesome troop of "Turcos." Presently Angeli and his men found themselves on one side of the little river Naviglio, the opposite bank of which was occupied by the French. There they stayed until evening, firing and being fired at in rather desultory fashion. No orders reached them and they were quite unaware of how the battle was going.

The day was hot and both the temperature and the occupation were conducive to thirst. The sight of flowing water soon became tantalizing, but to leave the ranks meant, of course, to become a target for the French bullets, so even the thirstiest desisted. All at once the French fire stopped; the Austrians followed suit. A moment later the figure of a French officer rose from the bushes on the opposite bank and advanced, flask in hand to the border of the river, where, having punctiliously saluted, he went through a pantomime whose meaning was not to be misconstrued. A burst of laughter gave him the license he wanted, and in another moment both banks of the stream were swarming with thirsty men, who exchanged friendly and jocular remarks across the water. When all had drunk their fill and returned to cover, the captain pantomimically expressed his thanks, and ended by blowing a kiss across the river, before he disappeared among the bushes. A minute later the firing had begun again, as merrily as ever.

BEDROOM CONVENIENCES.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: A woman usually sews a great deal in her bedroom no matter if she possesses a sewing room because there are apt to be stitches necessary in some garment just removed or about to be put on. Hence a work table or stand is a great convenience, especially when it is made to correspond with the rest of the room. All sorts of clever contrivances come now-a-days to contain the homely weekly mending pile from a wicker scrap basket to the quaint mahogany stand of our great-grandmother's.

A little table to hold the work-box and reading lamp is another comfort by the side of the bed. Sometimes this table has a brocade top covered with glass or perhaps a cretonne cover to match the curtains.

POSTWOMAN'S RECORD.

London Tit-Bits: A postman of Hartlepool who retired lately has not achieved a record by his forty-one years of service and estimated 160,000 miles of tramping to deliver 6,250,000 letters and parcels. A woman beat this hollow. Mary Jackson, postwoman of Bilston, must have trudged 250,000 miles between 1819 and 1860, during which time she never missed a day from sickness or took any holiday. Only four Sundays off duty in her half a century spoilt her continuous record, and were not her fault. Delivery was experimentally suspended for those four days, and Mary's own comment was that the persons responsible were a pack of fools. She left at her death a useful sum to the Wolverhampton hospital.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. P. W. LANSENG, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CAN RECLAIM GREAT TRACT

Great Drainage Scheme of Lake Reservation Is Proposed.

Report to House of Representatives on Saving 236,800 Acres.

Bemidji, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Land on the Red Lake Indian reservation may be drained for $369,680, or an average of $1.56 for each of the 236,800 acres affected, according to the report of the drainage survey of Red Lake Diminished reservation, made to the house of representatives. This improvement would be made by carrying the water to Red Lake, and this action would not endanger the surrounding land with an overflow, according to the report.

In a surrounding district, there have been 550 miles of ditches and good roads built, with 1,800 culverts and twenty-two steel bridges. This work has been rapidly followed by an increase in land value and the same conditions exist and the same results could be gained, on the reservation, according to the report. The main ditches are estimated at 13 cents per yard per cubic foot and the smaller ditches are estimated at 15 cents per yard.

Can Increase Depth.

Red Lake being formed of two bodies of water is so situated that the depth of the water may be increased from two to five feet without endangering the surrounding territory. The lakes have a combined area of 440 square miles. The decided fall of the past, there being a fall of seventeen inches from October, 1907, to October, 1913, makes the increasing of the depth possible. The report mentions that timber in the section, outside of the reservation, is practically exhausted, permitting the erection of a storage dam to solve the question of floods of Red Lake river.

FACE BROKE OUT WITH PIMPLES

Would Enlarge to About Four Times Their Size, Itched Very Much and Cracked Open. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Short Time Cured.

R. F. D. No. 1, Thurston, O.—"About a year ago my face broke out with small pimples. They were about as big as the head of a pin when first noticed, and would enlarge to about four times that size. A yellow fluid would gather in them and I could open them. This enlarged the sores and caused large scabs over my face. When it would commence to dry up it would itch very much and then crack open around the scab making a very sore spot.

"I tried several different salves and ointments but none of them did any permanent good. At last I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I used according to directions and in a short time I was completely cured and it did not even leave a scar." (Signed) Miss E. Irena Thomen, June 16, 1913.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Not only is it unrivaled in purity and refreshing fragrance, but its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness, roughness and chafing, soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and hair health generally. BEAVER WIN LONG FIGHT.

Industrious Animals Triumph Over Winter, Wis., Town Board.

Couderay, Wis., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A colony of beavers finally won out after a two years' fight with the state game wardens and town board of Winter.

The beavers built their dams across Barber creek, backing up the water and flooding the nearby public highway so the road was impassable. The town board and the state game wardens dynamited out the dams a number of times but the thrifty little animals soon had them rebuilt, and as the animals are protected by law they could not be killed legally.

The beaver colony will now be left unmolested by the town board, as they have just completed the raising of the road several feet higher then the old roadbed, or high enough where the back water will not flood it again.

HEAVY RAINS BULL WHEAT

Market Bulges on Short Covering Through Northwest Damage News.

Flaxseed Sells Slightly Up; Offerings and Demand Only Nominal.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 27.—The wheat market developed strength today, especially in the new crop options, bulges of ½@⅞c being recorded at the close.

The advance was brought about on reports of heavy damage through storms over a wide area of Western Minnesota and North Dakota. That led to nervousness on the part of the short interest and liberal covering over the holiday. Eastern inquiry was reported light.

July wheat opened ½c off at 86⅛c, and closed ½c up at 86¾c bid. September opened ¼c up at 80⅛c, and closed ⅞c up at 80⅞c, and the December option closed ⅞c up at 82¼c. There was a fair general demand for durum. July opened unchanged at 85¾c, and closed ⅜c up at 86½c, and the September option opened unchanged at 81⅜c, and closed ⅜c up at 82½c bid.

Oats were stronger, closing ⅜c up at 36⅜c for on the track. Rye was 1c easier, closing at 58c for on the track or 57c for to arrive. Barley closed unchanged at from 41c to 50c.

At Winnipeg, July oats closed at 39¼c and October at 38⅝c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis September wheat closed at 79c asked and calls at 80⅛c asked.

Heavy trading was in evidence on all the markets, including Winnipeg. While Duluth operators were anxious over the arising of any conditions that might tend to impair the present bright crop prospects, the opinion is largely entertained that no damage has resulted thus far that could not be recouped through the incoming of a spell of fine warm weather. It is admitted, however, that dry conditions for a time are urgently required.

Advices from over the winter wheat country continued optimistic. With the prevailing warm weather down there harvesting and threshing operations are making rapid progress. A large proportion of the arrivals at Kansas City and St. Louis today were new wheat.

Spring wheat supplies in Duluth elevators are being gradually depleted, stocks today being reported at 1,536,000 bu, a decrease of 201,000 bu in the last six days. Coarse grain supplies here, outside of flaxseed, are now a negligible quantity. Receipts continue heavy for the season, there being 250 cars of all grains on the tracks today.

Flaxseed Trading Quiet.

Trading in flaxseed was on the dullest order, and the price movement only fractional. Offerings and demand were both only nominal.

July flax opened ½c off at $1.58½ and closed ⅛c off at $1.58⅞; September opened unchanged at $1.61⅛ and closed ¼c up at $1.61⅜ bid; October opened unchanged at $1.61 and closed ⅝c up, and the November option opened ⅜c up at $1.61½ and closed ⅛c up for the day at $1.61¼ bid.

At Winnipeg, July flax closed at $1.38⅜ bid, and October at $1.42¾ bid.

The foreign markets were irregular. Buenos Aires closed ¾c up; London ½d off, and Antwerp unchanged.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A wire received by Baker from Fargo, N. D., said: "Fargo was one of the least of the sufferers from the heavy cloudbursts that have caused untold damage in every section of North Dakota and the greater portion of the middle Western states during the last thirty-six hours. For this state the past month has broken every record of rainfall for thirty-one years back, exceeding by at least half an inch the previous record. Among North Dakota cities, Grand Forks, Mandan and Bismarck are particularly heavy sufferers. At the Forks it rained all yesterday a steady downpour at times, accompanied by high winds, that at times made it almost impossible to walk about."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—Weakness in America and Winnipeg yesterday prompted further selling here, and values at the opening were ¼d to ¼d lower. Following the opening there was further liquidation in July which showed an additional decline of ⅝d, with persistent talk here of early shipments of new American, winters and expectations of liberal American shipments this week as indicated by Bradstreets. The distant months were supported, and after the opening decline they advanced ¼d to ½d, with shorts covering. Towards the close the market was dull with pressure on favorable harvesting reports from Russia and values were ¼d to ⅜d lower.

"Corn opened steady unchanged and later advanced ¼d to ⅝d, with shorts in July nervous. At the close the undertone was firm, ¼d to ⅜d higher."

There was good cash demand at Minneapolis with the market firm. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 2@3½c over July and velvet chaff at 1½@2c premium. There were fair scattered flour sales, buyers showing considerable interest in the market for nearby shipments. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold here at from 85⅜c to 87¾c and No. 2 northern at from 83¾c to 85¾c.

Regular and private warehouses at Minneapolis were reported as follows: No. 1 hard, 1,652,828 bu; No. 1 northern, 6,015,593 bu; No. 2 northern, 744,177 bu and all other grades, 1,101,557 bu. The total last year was 15,282,551 with total wheat of 9,544,155 bu.

The Chicago Herald says: "Wheat traders were less bearish last night. One of the largest cash handlers said the market was heavily oversold. Those who considered prices as low enough admitted that they saw nothing to make an advance unless crop damage comes from the Northwest. Bears said the situation was hopelessly bearish with too much wheat in sight for any bulge to be maintained."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Heavy Rains Help to Push Wheat Prices Up.

Chicago, June 27.—Wheat advanced today as a result of heavy rains in the Northwest and of complaints from that section that the spring crop was receiving entirely too much moisture. It was said conditions were such that rust might easily develop. Bearish cables had only a temporary effect. The opening, which was ¼c off to ⅛c up, was followed by a rise all around.

Attention to the fact that it has rained 24 out of 27 days this month all over the spring wheat region continued to uphold the market. Closing prices were steady at a gain of ⅜c.

Drought and damage reports from Kentucky, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma brought about a rush of buying in corn. Reduced estimates of the Argentine surplus counted also against the bears. After opening ⅛c to ½@⅝c higher the market continued to bulge.

No important reaction took place. The close was strong, 1⅛@1¼c to 1⅛@1⅝c above last night.

Oats hardened with corn. Demand, however, was only fair.

Although provisions at first showed a downward bent, the market later responded to the strength of grain. The most activity was in lard.

STAGNATION IN STOCKS

Virtually All the Business Transacted in First Half Hour.

Trading Deterred By Absence of Decision on Freight Rates.

New York, June 27.—Good fractional gains were quite general in the early dealings on the stock exchange today and the list bore further evidence of its disposition to break away from the apprehension created by the Claflin failure. St. Paul was strongest of the representative shares and May department stores was prominent in the special group, with an advance of 1½. Unofficial reports from Washington to the effect that the Eastern freight rates decision, now in the hands of the Interstate commerce commission, would not be issued today, acted, however, as a deterrent on trading which was dull and professional.

Virtually all the business was transacted in the first half hour, after which the market fell back to its recent stagnant state. Prices receded here and there, but the movement was too insignificant to warrant extended comment. A two-point decline in Rock Island 5s was the only feature of the bond division.

The two-hour session on the stock exchange today was barren of developments. Prices inclined slightly toward a higher level, and the Claflin failure with its attendant circumstances appeared to be forgotten for the time. The market closed firm.

London Stocks.

London, June 27.—American securities were quiet and steady. Opening prices were about unchanged and later the list advanced a fraction on fair buying and closed from ⅛@⅜ above parity.

CROP LETTER IS MOST OPTIMISTIC

The weekly crop letter of the Van Dusen-Harrington company, issued today, is optimistic in tone. It is thought that conditions are such as to promise a bumper crop in the three Northwestern states. Going into details, it says:

"Conditions in North Dakota are as nearly perfect as is possible. The only portion of the state which is not in almost ideal condition is a narrow strip along the Red river in the extreme southern end of the valley where they have received too much rainfall.

"Southeastern Minnesota has received a heavy rainfall again this week and must have bright, drying weather for the next few days or conditions in that territory may warrant some little anxiety. Southwestern Minnesota while it received almost as much rainfall, is not in as serious condition as the water has been able to run off into natural depressions where it can do no damage. The balance of the state is in excellent shape except for a narrow strip across the Red river from the strip in North Dakota mentioned above.

"South Dakota is in splendid condition as regards all small grains. The occasional showers they have received during the past week have about made up for the amount of moisture evaporated by the warm days. Corn in the northern part of the state shows the effects of too much rainfall and consequent lack of cultivation, but we would not say as yet that it is suffering on that account.

"Taking the three states as a whole, we believe the recent rains have been beneficial rather than harmful, those districts having received too much moisture being small compared to the territory as a whole. To all three states cool, bright growing weather would be of great benefit, and in the localities where too much rain has fallen, it is practically necessary to secure a crop."

MINING STOCKS EASY AT CLOSE

Market Sells Off After Showing Strength in Early Trading.

After opening strong the market in mining stocks turned easy at the close today and early gains were largely lost. Business was distributed over a larger number of issues than in several days back.

Butte & Superior closed unchanged at $37.13; Calumet & Arizona unchanged at $64; Granby 50 cents off at $79; Greene-Cananea a shade up at $31.13; Alaska Gold unchanged at $26.75; North Butte a fraction up at $24.88; Shattuck 50 cents up at $23.50, and Amalgamated Copper a fraction up at $68.13. South Lake closed slightly easier in the curb list at $3.50 bid.

In the Duluth curb list, Keating sold at $2, and it closed at that figure bid.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following market comment from New York: "American cars were steady in London. Some further short covering may be witnessed but we believe that a judicious policy when operating on the long side will continue to be in order until at least the Eastern rate cases have been disposed of and more is known relative to the probable effects of the Claflin matter."

Commenting on the general mining and business situation, Skillings' Mining and Market Letter of today says: "Business waits in heavy harness for the magic word "Get-up." President Wilson has just made a speech of considerable import, in which he says that the best times that the country has experienced are ahead. It is to be hoped that he is right, for it is unnatural that times should be bad when fundamental conditions and crop prospects are considered. Fortunately the country is not confronted with a constructive period to repair the devastation of long interrupted industry and business, or of panic. The Mining Letter notes that signs of improvement are not wanting, even at this time, and firmly believes that by Sept. 1 this country will be aware that the year 1915 will be a prosperous period, and that will mean active preparations during the latter part of the present year."

NEW HOSPITAL FOR CATHOLIC CHILDREN

Ground Will Be Broken Above Boulevard When Weather Settles.

Ground will be broken for a new hospital for Catholic children just as soon as the present inclement weather settles. Bishop McGoirick said today that the plans are almost completed and that the project is far enough advanced for the putting in of the foundation.

The hospital will be built on Eighth avenue east above the boulevard and will be modern in every way.

The location, owing to the pureness of the air and the distance it will be away from the noises of the city, is considered ideal.

Superior

WOUNDED MAN WILL RECOVER.

George Riley, who was accidentally shot by Gust Gobin while the latter was hunting for wolves, will recover, according to statements of attending physicians. The man is at St. Francis hospital where his wounds are not considered as serious as at first thought.

Struck By Street Car.

Edwin Nunemacher, a clerk in a Tower avenue poolroom, stepped in front of a Duluth bound street car at 12:30 o'clock this morning and was rendered unconscious by the impact. Inability to see the car approaching on account of the storm is given as the reason for the accident. The man was taken to St. Mary's hospital where it is reported that he will recover. The motorman of the car said he had been unable to notice the man's approach. The car was going at a slow rate when it struck the man.

Sheriff Commended.

The Superior Woman's council yesterday afternoon indorsed the work of Sheriff Carlson in causing a discontinuance of the sale of liquor, music and dancing in the disorderly houses of the red light district. Resolutions commending the sheriff were adopted.

Sheriff Carlson has served two terms as sheriff of Douglas county and will, under provisions of the state law, be unable to enter the race for re-election this year.

HALF AND HALF.

Chicago Record-Herald: "The Hon. Horace E. Stanton, apropos of the mismanagement of a railroad that had gone into a receiver's hands, said:

"The calm and bland excuses offered for their mismanagement by the road's various heads remind me of Smith.

"Smith, last Sabbath, put in a strenuous day cleaning up his garden for the spring planting.

"But Jones, his next-door neighbor, tackled him indignantly in the smoker the following morning and said:

"'Look here, Smith, do you think I want all your tin cans and bones and old shoes thrown over into my garden?'

"'You haven't got 'em all, old man. You've got only half,' said Smith calmly. 'Brown, on the other side, got the other half.'"

M'CAREY FAVORS BOXING UNION AS PROTECTION

Los Angeles Promoter Suggests Means and Measures of Dealing With the Present Day Glove Man.

If the boxing commissions in the different states where fighting is legal will only hold together under "fire," Tom McCarey, the veteran Los Angeles promoter, has a scheme whereby present champions will be forced to fight at least three times a year or lose their crowns. The only hitch in McCarey's idea remains with the rulers in charge of the game, but the plan looks so good on paper that it would be advisable for them to think twice before turning it down.

The coast promoter wants a committee formed, composed of an Eastern, Middle Western and coast fighting authority, whose duty it will be to look after the champions, or, in other words, "champion the champions." It does not necessarily follow that the new commission will in any way interfere with the authorities of the different states permitting bouts, but its purpose will be to keep the game alive.

Will Set Dates for Bouts.

This body, if it materializes, will get together once or twice a year and set aside certain dates for championship encounters. The nearest contender for the title in question will be awarded the date as the titleholder's opponent and the mill must be pulled off unless an accident befalls either fighter. The club offering the best inducements gets the contest, so the boxer will have no kick coming as regards a holdup.

In a few words this boxing committee will be something on the order of the national commission governing baseball and its players. No salary will be paid the members, but their expenses will be paid by a general tax on the different clubs interested in the plot.

The main object of McCarey in suggesting this union of clubs is to do away with the artistic champions and force them to fight in a ring now and then instead of through the newspapers. The cases of Johnnie Coulon and Willie Ritchie are responsible for the idea, together with the general wail from the near-champions, who say they are not getting a square deal.

Wanted Ritchie-White Go.

A few days after Ritchie lost to Charley White in Milwaukee McCarey, realizing the value of this card, attempted to sign Willie for a return match over the twenty-round route. According to all rules and regulations of the pugilistic game this should have been the lightweight champs' logical contest, but instead of accepting he got in touch with British promoters in view of meeting Freddie Welsh. This must have angered McCarey, for the general request from boxing clubs for comment on the new rules followed.

Coulon's case with "Kid" Williams is another illustration. Not that Johnny did not have the right to name the date for a meeting with his nearest contender, but the Logan Square boy's demand for $1,000 from William's manager brought about the bad feeling. It was conceded by almost every critic in the country that the Chicagoan owed the Baltimore scrapper a return tilt because of the unsatisfactory ending of their six-round combat in New York.

Instead of going to the coast immediately following this and signing for a long mill Coulon held off until he was forced to fight or announce his retirement, and then he had to be promised the biggest purse ever given a bantamweight champion. However, this may be listed under the title of good business.

Would Help Promoters.

McCarey is not the only promoter who has registered a kick on the ways of the different men now listed at the top of the heap, for nearly every matchmaker in the country has a private knock under his hat regarding the "holdup" methods of the men posing as "world's champions." The new scheme would do away with this, always provided, however, that the boxing commission hang together, for they have not done so in the past.

The sudden fall of Johnny Coulon as leader of the 116-pound division is still fresh in the minds of boxing enthusiasts, many of whom look upon the bout with suspicion. Ugly reports from the coast have gone a long way in confirming these facts, and according to a Los Angeles writer, they have almost broken Coulon's heart, for it is the first time in his career any such facts have been connected with his name. Those closest to Johnny know that he did his best, but was outclassed.

Another thing that did not help Coulon's case was the telegram sent on the day of the fight, advising his friends to take advantage of the odds and get a bet down. The favored ones who lost are advancing the argument that Coulon must have known that he was not right and should not have sent out this "inside stuff." Here is how one Chicago fan who saw the fight explains it:

"George Siddons, the former lightweight, who had charge of Coulon's camp, knew from the start that Johnny was not the Coulon of old. He was slow in his training workouts and seemed unable to move with his old-time speed and freedom. When Siddons asked Coulon about it, the latter replied that he was merely resting up and that it would not happen in the ring.

"Siddons believed this and went along handling the champion as if he were preparing him for a battle with a second-rater. All this time the Logan square boy knew that he was not right, but was banking on the low weight to win the battle. He listened to several near friends, who kept telling him that Williams could not make 116 pounds ringside, but this was merely to throw the champion off his guard. When he entered the ring and saw that the Eastern lad was strong, he lost heart."

Willie Ritchie, lightweight "boss," and Freddie Welsh, England's best 135-pounder, have signed up for a return match to be held between Nov. 4 and 11. This before their July 4 clash.

Rivers and Wolgast once attempted to get away with a two-match agreement, but someone discovered that they had a prearranged agreement to fight a draw the first time out. Can this have any bearing on the London affair?

RAINS INTERRUPT TENNIS SCHEDULE

The Net Game May Be Resumed or Started When the Waters Recede.

Wet weather the last week has kept down play in the tennis singles of the tourneys of the Longview club and the Duluth Boat club. Either the courts have been wet or the players have been wet—or both. Sometimes both. The weather has caused one awful racket with the players. The tennis has scarcely brought out any racquet at all. This is a joke and a diagram will be furnished upon application.

With the assistance of the weather man and the groundkeeper it is hoped that one or two games will be played during the coming week. There is a rumor that the tourneys will be played at the curling club rink. At a late hour the rumor could not be confirmed. It may be confirmed on Sunday, however.

Another proposal came in the form of suggestion to play the tourney in boots and raincoats. The situation is indeed growing desperate. Two men and a boat went over the courts early today. The top of the fence at Longview was barely discernible.

The net upon one of the boat club courses was unintentionally left standing. It is believed it will be filled with fish when the flood recedes.

NEW SHAMROCK ONCE MORE BEATS THE OLD

Leads By 4 Minutes, 57 Seconds Over Thirty-Mile Course.

Torquay, Eng., June 27.—Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America's cup, had another successful trial in the channel today. She beat the old Shamrock by 4 minutes, 57 seconds, corrected time, over a thirty-mile course in a brisk breeze.

YACHTS RACING AGAIN.

Light, Flukey Airs Promise to Prevail for Cup Candidates.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 27.—Another test of the three American cup yachts, Resolute, Defiance and Vanitie, in light, flukey airs was indicated today when the sloops ranged along the starting line for the second race under the auspices of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht club.

The course was twice around a triangle of 15¼ miles. A large fleet of steam yachts was anchored in Oyster Bay.

Resolute will not participate in today's race, it was announced by the regatta committee shortly after 11 o'clock. Her withdrawal from the race is explained by an accident in yesterday's race in which her bowsprit cap worked loose. This left Vanitie and Defiance in a dual contest.

FITWELLS WANT GAMES FOR HOLIDAY DATES.

The Fitwell Intermediates are scheduled to meet the West End Tigers at the Fifty-second avenue west grounds at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The Fitwells would like to hear from any team wishing a game for July 4 and 5.

GOLF CONTEST OFF BECAUSE OF STORM.

Telegraphic dispatches from Houghton indicate that the contest between the Northland players and the players of the Portage Lake club of Houghton for the Cole cup will have to be postponed because of a bad storm. A storm is raging at Houghton, according to the dispatch, and the game will probably be played Monday.

Robinson Signs.

New York, June 27.—The Brooklyn National league club today signed Manager Wilbert Robinson to a contract covering 1915, 1916 and 1917. This set at rest all rumors regarding a change in the management of the Superbas.

Outfielder Joe Riggert has been released to the St. Louis Nationals.

Two Players Suspended.

Philadelphia, June 27. — Manager Griffith and Germany Schaefer of the Washington American league team, were today notified by President Ban Johnson that they had been indefinitely suspended for their part in the affair at Shibe park yesterday which resulted in the umpire forfeiting the game to Philadelphia.

During the argument yesterday Schaefer was ordered off the field by one of the umpires.

Hofman Will Collect.

Chicago, June 27.—Application of the Chicago National League Baseball club for a new trial of the case wherein Artie Hofman former outfielder, was awarded $2,900 back pay was overruled here today by Judge Dolan.

STORM DRIVES MEN FROM "JUNGLES"

High Waves Dash Over Old Dock; Police Offer Refuge.

The inhabitants of the "jungles" along the bay front were driven from their quarters today by the violent storm. Waves dashed with fury and broke over the old dock where the camp-fires were burning and the heavy rain proved very unsatisfactory for outdoor lodging.

Most of the idle men who have been in the "jungles" left the city after the raid by the police recently, but a few others have braved the edict of the city authorities and persisted in enjoying the cool lake breezes and the privacy offered by the foundation of the old dock jutting out into the water. No one, however, could be seen today in the camps.

A few of the men were to be seen on lower Michigan and Superior streets while others took refuge in saloons or other places of shelter. About fifteen took refuge from the storm last night at the police station and more will probably do so tonight.

JAPANESE ANGRY OVER LAND DISPUTE

One Newspaper Urges Making War on California.

Tokio, Japan, June 27.—The Japanese press generally expresses indignation today at the attitude of the United States in the Californian anti-alien land controversy, as outlined in the correspondence between the two governments, recently published. Several of the newspapers insist that a remedy must be found for the "insulting" situation.

The Nichi Nichi is especially violent in its utterances. It condemns what it calls "Japan's flattery of America by participation in the exposition at San Francisco," and says that instead of doing this, Japan should, in view of the United States government's inability to control the states, consider the wisdom of taking action against California in order to obtain satisfaction."

PAYNTER'S DEALINGS WITH LORIMER BANK

Detailed Statement Given Out By District Attorney.

Chicago, June 27.—A detailed statement of the transactions of Thomas H. Paynter, former United States senator from Kentucky, with the Lorimer-Munday La Salle street bank from Nov. 1, 1911, to Oct. 1, 1912, when it operated under a national charter, was made public today in the district attorney's office.

On July 1, 1912, the report shows that Paynter owed the bank $29,150. Two weeks later, on July 14, Lorimer was ousted from the senate by a vote of 55 to 28, Paynter voting with the minority in favor of Lorimer.

The record as given out by the United States district attorney purports to show that Paynter made no reduction in the balance against him between July 2 and Sept. 30. In other words his debt on the day of the vote in the senate was $29,150.

On Oct. 22, when the bank became a state institution, the balance against the former Kentucky senator had been reduced to $21,650, and the account was placed on the books of the state bank. Paynter made various payments up to June 2 last, when the account was wiped off, but he started a new one by obtaining a loan of $2,675. Ten days later the bank failed.

In a statement Paynter has said his note would be paid on demand.

MOORHEAD MEETING IS VOTED SUCCESS

Old Officers of Red River Development Association Re-Elected.

Moorhead, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first annual meeting of the Red River Development association ended here late Friday and the affair was voted a success in every particular. All the old officers were re-elected excepting Treasurer Wood of Warren, who did not seek re-election. Governor Eberhart addressed the convention yesterday afternoon.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Cal Foucault, 2713 West Second street, entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of the sixth birthday of her son Henry. Twenty little guests were present. Games and music and luncheon featured the entertainment.

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

Kansas City Star: Dry sponge cake smothered in custard makes a delicious dish.

Cocoanut matting should be well scrubbed with hot water and soap.

Toes of old shoes, cut into shape and covered, make excellent iron holders.

Clean fire irons, brass and nickel ornaments with rotten stone and sweet oil and polish with chamois skin.

While boiling cabbages try placing a small vessel of vinegar on the back of the stove. The odor of the cabbage will not be so unpleasant.

The most convenient and cheapest of disinfectant to use in the cellar is quicklime. It may be placed in dushes, in bins or cupboards, or scattered loose in dark, damp corners.

A cut or wound should be thoroughly cleansed from dirt, bits of glass, stone, etc., by washing it with clean water, in which a teaspoonful of salt has been dissolved to every pint of water.

A DISH OF TEA IN LONDON.

Pall Mall Gazette: The Tavistock—the bachelors' hotel in Covent Garden—is probably the only place in London where a man must drink his "dish" of tea after the fashion of a century and more ago. These dishes are cups without handles. They are larger than those used by our great-great-grandmothers, which would hardly suit the masculine demand. The Tavistock dishes are of uniform pattern—white china with a broad blue band.

WERE GIVEN LONG CHASE

Detectives Followed Herbert Anderson to Ely and Then Chicago.

Youth Arrested as He Was About to Board Train.

Reading like one of the stories of the Nick Carter series, popular among boys, is the story by C. A. Pond, chief special agent for the Oliver Iron Mining company, told of the chase for Herbert W. Anderson and his final arrest as he was about to board a train out of Windy City on Thursday morning.

Mr. Pond and one of the detectives of the Duluth police force arrived yesterday afternoon from Chicago, where they brought about the arrest of Anderson.

Anderson, who was arrested on a charge of stealing $800 worth of platinum from the assay laboratory of the Oliver Iron Mining company at Ely last Sunday, is the son of August Anderson, a saloonkeeper, residing on East Fourth street. He is twenty-one years old and was formerly employed for the mining company, having resigned a week ago Wednesday.

Deputy Sheriff Levy left last evening for Anderson, who will not fight extradition, and he will return with the prisoner tomorrow morning. Anderson will be arraigned in police court Monday morning on a charge of grand larceny. He is said to have admitted his guilt.

The chase for Anderson reads like a detective story. The two officers followed their quarry from Duluth, back to Ely, down to Milwaukee and then to Chicago, finally having him arested just as he was about to board a train for Kansas City, en route to Bisbee, Ariz., where he was planning to work for Col. John C. Greenway, who is known as a member of Col. Roosevelt's famous Rough Riders.

Young Anderson was employed with the assay office of the Oliver company at Ely and a week ago Wednesday he resigned to take a position in Arizona. He also had a letter of reference from the general manager to Col. Greenway. On Saturday he bought a ticket for Bisbee and in the evening his father, August Anderson, went with him to the Soo station. About ten minutes before train time the father left, biding his son farewell.

Returns to Ely.

But instead of boarding a train to the Twin Cities, en route to Bisbee, Anderson took the 11:30 train at the Endion station for Ely and the next morning he appeared at the assay office, with a large bandage tied about his head. He was also wearing smoked glasses. Anderson was recognized by one of the men in the office and when asked why he wore bandages, he said that he had been in a fight.

When Anderson went into the assay office, where he formerly was employed, the janitor was the only one in the room. He sent the latter out on some pretext and when the janitor returned, Anderson was gone. He took a train back to Duluth and at 5 o'clock that afternoon appeared at the Soo station and asked to have his ticket to the Twin Cities changed for a Chicago ticket, with a stop-over privilege at Milwaukee, where he said he wanted to visit.

All this information was obtained by Mr. Pond and the local detective, who were informed of the theft Monday morning and went to Chicago in the afternoon in an effort to find Anderson. The latter, in the meantime, had gone to Milwaukee, where he sold the platinum and returned to Chicago Thursday morning. The two officers having learned from the local ticket agent that Anderson was planning to go to Chicago and then Kansas City, on his way to Bisbee, left his description with the Chicago police and they left for Duluth late Thursday. It was that same evening that Anderson was arrested, although the detectives did not know of the arrest until their arrival in Duluth.

The platinum is worth $800, according to Mr. Pond.

Young Anderson's father, who went with him to the railroad station, could not reconcile the report of the theft with his son, as he was positive the young man had taken the Soo train to Minneapolis on Saturday evening. That he had changed his plans and gone back to Ely that same night, the father would not believe.

GRANDPA'S REMEDY.

Philadelphia Telegraph: They were talking about the sweet innocence of childhood in the lobby of a Washington hotel the other evening, when Congressman John A. Moon of Tennessee recalled a pretty little incident of Willie and his grandpa.

"One afternoon," according to the story of the congressman, "little Willie was romping with his grandfather, when he suddenly fell and bumped his head.

"Come here, Willie," kindly remarked grandpa, to the tearful youngster. "I will kiss you on the head and it will be well in a few minutes."

All of which grandpa did, and in a little while Willie was playing as happily as before. Two hours later the youngster precipitately rushed into the den where grandfather was reading.

"Oh, grandpa," he cried, with a look of great concern, "can't you come downstairs a minute or two?"

"I guess so, Willie," obligingly replied grandpa. "What do you want?"

"Nurse has got the toothache," was the startling rejoinder of Willie.

A QUAINT CRITIC.

Los Angeles Times: George B. Luks, the famous painter, said to a critic in his New York studio: "Your criticism is at any rate original and amusing, my boy. It reminds me of the colored laundress in the Uffizi gallery.

"When this colored laundress visited the Uffizi, her mistress led her up to Correggio's masterpiece.

"'There, Hannah, what do you think of that?' she said.

"Hannah, shaking her head lugubriously, stared a long while at the pictured angels whose white robes were all yellowed by time, and then, with a sigh and a disapproving shake of the head, she said:

"'De saints is de last folks to put up wiv bad laundry work.'"

FATHER AND SONS.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Father Dorney tells of an Irishman who had eight sons. The boys were worthless, lazy fellows, who went through life shirking every bit of work they could avoid. The old father toiled on to support them, until finally he tottered into the grave. At the funeral the eight sons officiated as pallbearers. A neighbor, who had always sympathized with the hard-working father, and who had frequently deplored the shiftlessness of the sons, shook his head sadly as the casket was borne out.

"Arrah, arrah!" he remarked; "sure, and it's the first time the byes ever gave the old man a lift."

A HOUSEWIFE IN THE MAKING.

Youth's Companion: Miss Emery had given little Tim a simple problem in addition that he failed to work out. "Numbers are dry," she reasoned with herself, and determined to make the lesson more interesting.

"Suppose," she began, engagingly, "your mamma sent you to the store to buy three pounds of lamb, two pounds of potatoes, half a pound each of carrots and turnips, and one pound of tomatoes—what would you have then?"

Tim shook his head, but Marybell, only a year older, raised an eager hand.

"Well, Marybell," said the teacher, with a sorrowful glance at little Tim. "Stew," said Marybell sweetly.

DAD WASN'T THANKFUL.

Philadelphia Telegraph: They were talking at a recent dinner about the youngsters, when Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida was reminded of a certain small party named Jessie.

One afternoon little Jessie was permitted to visit a friend of the family and stay for dinner. When the dinner hour came those at the table bowed while the head of the family proceeded to revenently say grace.

Evidently the small visitor was not accustomed to a ceremony of that kind at home, for she looked from one to the other with an expression of wonder.

"Mr. Smith," asked the little girl when grace was finished and the host began to hand things around, "why did you do that just now?"

"We were thanking the Lord for giving us this bread to eat," kindly replied Mr. Smith with some surprise. "Doesn't your father give thanks?"

"Oh, no," was the quick rejoinder of Jessie, "we buy our bread at the bakeshop."

THE WRONG IDEA.

Los Angeles Times: W. Goodby Loew, the brilliant raconteur, said at a dinner in Newport:

"Too many people regard society much as Lotta Golde did.

"Lotta Golde, pouring tea for her father Gobsa and her brother Scattergood, said the other afternoon:

"'I'd like to give a Venetian fete next week, papa.'

"'But you gave a Roman revel only yesterday, my dear,' said Gobsa. 'How often do you wish to entertain your friends?'

"'This,' the young girl replied, 'is not to entertain my friends—it is to snub my enemies.'"

STANCH SUPPORT.

Los Angeles Times: Mayor Gaynor of New York was talking to a group of Russian educators about the corrupt voting that had now been abolished in the metropolis.

"They tell a story," said the mayor, "a story of the past, about a newly-elected official who was holding a reception on the evening of his victory.

"Among his visitors was a red-faced man with a fur cap perched above his left ear.

"'Howdy, boss,' said the fur cap.

"'My dear sir, good evening,' said the official. 'And so you were one of my supporters, eh?'

"'One? Excuse me, boss. I was eight.'"

GOOD ORE BODY IS LOCATED BY JUNE LAKE IRON COMPANY

Test Pitting Discloses Ore Body of About 20,000,000 Tons.

Main Shaft Located on the Merrimac Company's Holdings.

Brainerd, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Test pitting is being carried on by the June Lake Iron company on its holdings in lot 3 and the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 9, township 46, range 29. The test pit is being sunk by Fred Baxter of Superior. The fee is owned by G. G. Hartley, Chester A. Congdon and Leon A. Lum of Duluth. On the west side of the section the test pit struck ore at forty-three feet, and they are now down in ten feet of it. Drill records of two different exploration companies at this exact spot certified to ore of from 40 to 50 per cent value. The test pit samples run from 55 to 60 per cent. The quality of the ore is improving as the sinking progresses. It will be an open pit proposition with the surface over the larger part of the property ranging from 29 to 45 feet. A portion may be underground mining at a point where the surface is 80 feet and where the drills stopped in 280 feet of ore running 50 per cent.

The stock of the June Lake Iron company is largely owned by Superior people. In the company are Gurdon H. Winsor, E. L. Johnson, W. E. Pickering, Mrs. A. D. S. Gillette, Clough Gates, William H. Cruickshank, also Mrs. R. P. Dowse of Duluth and C. W. Potts of Deerwood. Mr. Potts selected the property, organized the company and did the first drilling. Two distinct ore strikes were made. The north one on the north side of the property is an extension of the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs to the north lens of the Riverton-Rowe mine. The south strike is on the trend of ore from the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company property in section 10, extending on to the middle of the ore body of the Rowe mine. The first drilling at the June Lake Iron company's property showed up only low grade ore. Believing that drilling alone did not prove up the real value of the property, as was shown in the operations of the Rowe pit mine, the company held to its lease, paid royalties four years and today its persistence has been amply rewarded. While part of the ore will undoubtedly be concentrated, there is also a large body which will not require concentration. The result of the drilling and test pitting has disclosed an ore body believed to be 20,000,000 tons in extent.

Merrimac Shaft Located.

Surveyors have been at work on the holdings of the Merrimac Mining company, situated at the north end of Crosby, and comprising the Hans Anderson forty and the forty owned by John G. Williams and A. M. Chisholm of Duluth and B. Macoffin, Jr., of Deerwood. The main shaft has been located. A temporary shaft will be located 400 feet north of the main shaft, to be used later as a timber shaft and also as a drain for the main shaft. It is thought that about 100 feet of sinking will reach ledge.

A company doing considerable exploration work on the Cuyuna range is the Ecogal company, whose main offices are in Duluth and range headquarters are in Deerwood. The company is composed of Frank A. Edson of Deerwood, Thomas A. Gall and H. W. Coulter of Duluth. The company has one drill operating for the Provident Iron company at Rabbit lake, two drills for the Combination Iron company at Cedar lake and one drill for a fee owner north of Tamarack. The Ecogal company does contract drilling and also drills for interests in desirable properties.

The Rowe pit mine of the Pittsburg Steel Ore company is operating its hydraulic equipment and has its steam shovel in the ore. Shipping should commence very soon. The Pennington pit and the Thompson pit are in shape to ship soon.

It is reported that the Armour No. 1 mine will resume mining soon with a force of 200 men, and that the Meacham mine will also be operated this season, shipping its first ore.

Duluth-Brainerd.

The Duluth-Brainerd Iron company's shaft is down 165 feet and the work of drifting to the ore body is now in progress. The Cuyuna-Sultana Iron company is sinking an exploratory shaft. The Armour No. 2 mine and the Kennedy mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore company are shipping from stockpiles and shafts. The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine of the same company will also ship soon.

E. J. Cooke, ore shipping agent of the Northern Pacific railway, was on the range this week. E. T. Merritt of Minneapolis has been on the range inspecting properties he is interested in.

Fee owners of the Barrows mine are working on plans to quickly resume mining. They are confident that a new lease will soon be closed with another operating company. The Barrows mine has revealed a large quantity of high grade ore, easily accessible and convenient to ship. It is in Northern Pacific railway territory. During the life of Judge G. W. Holland, one of the fee owners of the mine, traces of copper were found on the property.

The Wilcox mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company has its shaft down eighty-four feet and ledge will be reached about July 1. But little water is being pumped and the shaft sinking so far has not been attended with many difficulties. Supt. Allen MacKay is well satisfied with the progress made. The Hale-Bradley Exploration company is drilling the Haaland property in section 10, township 46, range 28, under lease to G. H. Wyman of Minneapolis.

New Shaft Sinking.

An invention of C. B. Rowley of Brainerd, one of the directors of the newly organized American Manganese Manufacturing company, is expected to revolutionize shaft sinking on the Cuyuna range. Mr. Rowley has been granted a patent on the construction of shafts of all steel or steel and reinforced concrete. Eleven points are covered by the patent. Many wood shafts have been started on the Minnesota ranges, either of the hanging or drop design that never reach their destination. And if they do, it is only by the adoption of a second shaft, which in many instances takes from one to two years to complete and then are often crooked, subject to fire and of short duration. The obstacles that miners have to contend with in shaft construction are the gravel, sand and quicksand strata which are accompanied by more or less water causing boils from the bottom which rob the earth from behind, causing the shaft to go crooked and often resulting in the loss of the shaft entirely. All these obstacles Mr. Rowley claims are overcome in his shaft of steel or reinforced concrete construction.

The Rowley shaft is provided with ten or more large relief valves for the purpose of drawing off and reducing the water pressure which causes all damage in shaft sinking. When it is necessary to go to a depth of 156 feet or more to reach ledge and the natural water level is, for instance, 180 feet above, using air under the old method, the pressure necessary to keep the water out would be 65 pounds. This would be impossible for any man to work under. With the aid of the above referred to relief valves, the water pressure can be drawn down to a height that would reduce the air pressure to 50 pounds or less to favorable conditions to work under, should it be necessary to use air. But under ordinary conditions, says Mr. Rowley, it would be possible for him to go to a depth of 150 feet or deeper with a high water head natural and not require air, as the water head would be reduced at all times.

Changes in Interests.

There has been placed on record an agreement filed by J. J. McAuliffe of Duluth with F. A. Edson of Deerwood, the property being the east half of the northeast quarter and the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 19, township 47, range 28. Robert B. Whiteside of Duluth has assigned to the Cleveland Trust company lands in sections 1, 2, 3, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14, 15, 18, 19, 20, 23, 24, 26, 27, 30, 31, 32, 35, township 138, range 26; also in sections 3, 4, 7, 9 and 10, township 138, range 27; also in sections 5, 7, 8 and 10, township 137, range 26. Wallace H. Rowe of Pittsburg has assigned to the Pittsburg Steel Ore company the mining lease on the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter, the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 17, the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter and lots 8 and 9 in section 18, all in township 46, range 29.

The Toulouimoe Mining company has filed two releases of options on mining leases. One was the option made October 28, 1913, by Emma Tuck to Charles W. Potts of Deerwood and covering the south half of the southeast quarter of section 17, township 47, range 28. The other option for a lease was made by Gust Johnson to Charles W. Potts of Deerwood, dated November 6, 1913, and covered lot 1, the east half of lot 2 and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 17, township 47, range 28.

SUNLIGHT GROUP OF MINES IS SOLD

New York Syndicate Obtains Control for About $300,000.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—For the second time in about six years the Sunlight group of mines, near Whitehall, has been disposed of, this time to parties who promise to see that the deal goes through. Some years ago the American Mining & Development company had a bond on the properties. It put up a concentrator at Whitehall and started to take out ore and reduce it. Whatever process it was using did not seem to give results and the option was surrendered and the concentrator later dismantled.

D. A. Morrison of Butte, representing the owners, was East last fall and succeeded in interesting a New York syndicate in the matter of taking over and developing the group. In company with Charles B. Griffith, a member of the syndicate, he came to Butte recently and the details of the deal were arranged. Last week the transfer took place, Mr. Morrison representing the owners and Mr. Griffith the purchasers.

While no figures are given out, it is understood that the price to be paid for the property is about $300,000. The first payment was made when the papers were signed.

The Sunlight group includes twenty-one patented claims. The owners are Mrs. John B. Wellcome, A. J. McKay and Eugene Ring.

CRUSHING PLANT AT THE JUNCTION

Expected That It Will Be Ready to Operate in Month.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 27.—At the Junction shaft there is now delivered the big crushing plant which is to be operated on the sulphides produced from the mining area served by the Junction. This piece of machinery equipment is well worth seeing. It is a huge plant of its kind. No one may look at it without feeling a rise in his confidence in the district, no matter how large it may be, and inasmuch as the district deserves the largest confidence there can be no hurt in our saying that one may encourage. This Junction crusher when erected will be equal to the handling of all the sulphide ore output of the district at the present time. Every mine in the camp could send its sulphide output to the crusher and know that it would be gotten away with promptly. The capacity it can devlop is unlimited, so far as the present or likely needs of the Junction may be considered, regardless of the great mining area which it is destined to furnish delivery for.

The foundations for the new plant are now being made, a concreting force having commenced pouring in the frame. It is expcted that in a month the plant will be ready to turn over. It will have about 1,400 tons daily sulphide output from Junction and Briggs to handle from the start. Later on in the year the Hoatson output will be added. The hourly capacity of the plant depends upon the size to which it is called upon to crush the rock. The finer they may wish to grade it, the less tonnage the plant will get away with in a given time. As they have it figured out now, the six-inch size is what they will grade to.

ORE IS SHIPPED FROM ELLA MINE

Work of Reopening Old Montana Property Is Progressing.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—Although much of the actual repair work remains to be done at the Ella mine, the work of reopening has progressed to the stage where shipments of ore are made with some regularity. During the last few weeks 12 carloads of ore have been shipped from the property. The ore extracted at present carries heavy silver values.

The shipments have been made of ore which was removed by necessity in order that the work of retimbering which has been in progress since early in the spring, may be continued. At present, no attempt to mine ore is being made except that which is encountered in the drifts which are being reopened. The retimbering of the main shaft was completed only to the 40-foot level.

Repair work has been carried on in drifts at the 400 and 300 levels, however. The ore shipped was taken from the 300 level. In addition to the repair work which is going on in the main workings, an airshaft has been sunk 165 feet, and will be sunk to the 300 level.

Until work was started on the Ella mine, early in the spring, the property had been abandoned for years. It is now being operated by the Anaconda company.

BUTTE MINES BULKHEADED AND ARMED MEN ON GUARD

Cause of Miners' Revolt Against the Western Federation.

Have Paid Big Strike Assessments and Got No Accounting.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is an evil day in store for Butte. Whether the dawn of it has been ushered in by the rebellion in the ranks of the miners themselves is not yet fully determined. Mine owners and business men and many conservative labor leaders fear the worst and are making preparations to meet it. After the violent demonstrations a week ago things were ominously quiet on the surface, and then came the attack on Union hall and the attempt to dynamite it Tuesday night. The strikers, or rebels, numbering about 95 per cent of the miners in the district, declare that they will fight the Western Federation of Miners to a finish. Federation officials, including President Moyer and several executive board members, who came to Butte when they thought it safe for their personal comfort, have been engaged in "lining up" the smelter men and other affiliated unions preparatory to a discipline of the rebels, but they have found a very rebellious spirit among all, subdued only by fear which has been impressed on them by the talk of an open town and the Western Federation, affiliated with the United Mine Workers and the American Federation of Labor, be defeated.

Mines Bulkheaded.

Viewing the situation as one of grave consequences and possibilities, the mine owners have bulkheaded their mines in anticipation of a long shutdown and reliable and dependable men have been armed and placed on guard at all of the mines. Public buildings have been stored with arms and ammunition and many guards are on duty. The hoisting engineers, who have a long-standing grievance against the miners' union and the Western Federation, have declared that they will remain neutral in the present trouble and will not obey orders of the federation to refuse to hoist the rebels at the mines. The engineers have had the same cause for complaint against President Moyer and his associates that the rebel miners have. For years large and excessive strike assessments have been paid into the federation men and requests and demands for an accounting or statement to show what has been done with the money have been refused. The engineers rebelled twice, and through the sympathy of the mine owners for the federation they were each time compelled to return to the federation and never did get satisfaction as to their very just grievances.

It Is to Laugh.

President Moyer says accounts are given at every annual meeting and are open to investigation and that if there is any just grievance they are subject to being righted, and miners having the right to recall can oust any corrupt officers. This statement makes everyone but the most unsophisticated laugh. The Moyer machine has been in control of the federation and its finances, especially its finances, for years and they have grown fat and prosperous, while the thousands of Butte miners, who have been supporting and maintaining the federation and its officers by contributing $5.50 to $6 per month out of an income of $60 to $90, have been living in squalor and maintaining families at near starvation points. Before the federation got into Butte the miners were carefree, prosperous and happy. Since then there has been nothing but dissension, graft and violence among themselves. The newspaper reading world knows little of what has been going on in federation circles because it has been made unsafe to publish all the news and all the facts.

Protesters Put Out.

It had become a chronic habit with the old gang to put opponents out of their union hall if they dared to protest, throw them down stairs, or if they became too persistent with inquiries or objections to call an automobile and take them six or twelve miles out of town and give them a warning to keep on going, a warning that has invariably been obeyed. And so the big membership in the union has gone on paying and curbing its resentment until endurance broke and the explosion resulted.

There have been very gross and misleading stories published in the East by "special representatives" and others about the causes of present conditions in Butte. It is not a fight between the "conservatives" led by President Burt Riley of the miners' union and the I. W. W. in the district. There are I. W. W. men in the revolt, and they have been the leaders in the violence and destruction that has been carried on, but the very large percentage of the rebels are the best and most peaceable element among miners in Butte—American and English miners.

The Pilot-Butte Suit.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company gets a lot of blame and unenviable criticism by the fact that it appears as plaintiff in every new vein controversy in which struggling, independent mining companies are defendants. Just now it is engaged in a fight with the Pilot-Butte Mining company over a rich vein which the Pilot-Butte opened on a depth of 1,800 feet after an expenditure of a lot of money, in fact all the money it has been able to raise. Of course, the Anaconda company claims that there isn't a question about its ownership of the ore body in question. The Anaconda claims that the apex of the vein in controversy is in the Emily and Badger State claims. The Pilot-Butte company is a local concern and is backed chiefly by the same people who made such a botch of the management of the Tuolumne company. When the Pilot-Butte opened the vein on the 1,800 and 2,000-foot levels, they discovered that the same vein was being mined by the Anaconda company in the Emily and Badger State between the 1,000 and 1,800-foot levels. The Anaconda company contends that at the surface, within the boundaries of the Anaconda properties, there are two veins which unite at a depth of 1,000 feet and form the vein in controversy. The Pilot-Butte admits the existence of two veins, but claims that one has its apex in the Pilot and that the two unite and form one vein near the 1,800-foot level and that after the union the vein becomes the exlusive property of the Pilot-Butte company, which, by reason of an alleged defect in the location notice of the Emily, gives the Pilot claim the prior location and prior rights to the united vein. It is the claim of mining men that the ore body in controversy is worth a million dollars, but that the claim of title by the Pilot-Butte is what gamblers would term a long chance—a 1,000 to 1 shot. The hearing for a preliminary injunction has been heard in Butte and, as usual with courts, has been taken under advisement for an indefinite period.

Butte-Ballaklava.

The Butte-Ballaklava Copper Mining company has been operating at a loss ever since it resumed work following its settlement of a vein controversy with the Anaconda company. It resumed with a heavy indebtedness of which a small amount has been liquidated, but still there remains a debt of about $50,000. President Freimuth has appealed to stockholders to make some provision to pay the debt and provide a developing fund. Accompanying a timely strike was reported on the 1,600-foot level of the mine which, according to reports, shows a continuous ore body in the drifts both east and west, giving the company on its portion of the vein a shoot probably 420 feet long. The company's engineers recommend that the shaft be sunk 200 feet deeper, from the 1,600 to the 1,800-foot level, believing that by opening the mine to that depth and developing the ore body the property can again be placed on a dividend paying basis.

Barnes-King.

The June earnings of the Barnes-King Development company will be much larger than those reported for May when the gross was $24,000 from 3,709 tons of ore treated, the average assay being $6.60 a ton. The June assays have averaged about $2 a ton better. The North Moccasin mine, from which the company is now mining its ore, was paid for out of the earnings of the property, but like all gold properties in that district its values are very erratic and uncertain. Much hope had been based on the Flegan-Gloster mines near Helena but the development there is slow and reports to stockholders not satisfactory. The company has considerable money in the treasury and is adding to it each month. Some directors and stockholders have been urging the payment of a dividend, but the dominating directors are opposed to it and favor a larger treasury and production from the Flegan-Gloster before the disbursement of any dividend. The management of Barnes-King is so conservative that stockholders are at least assured of getting the worth of every dollar taken out of the property, although it may be put back into the property again. All the officers, experienced mining men and engineers, are giving their services to the company free in the hope of pulling the great hoodoo out of the mine in which it was left by the fake promoters.

Raven.

Some of the stockholders of the Raven Mining company fear that the directors contemplate disposing of the property at a ridiculously low figure and are asking other shareholders to join in a movement to save the property. J. H. Fariss, formerly of Butte and now a resident of Greensboro, N. C., is asking for correspondence on the subject. He is a large stockholder and wants an investigation of the management.

GIROUX TO BUILD LARGE MILL AT ELY

Construction Engineers and Officials Pay Visit to Property.

Salt Lake, Utah., June 27.—After an inspection of recent developments at the extensive properties of Consolidated Coppermines company, Henry Krumb, consulting engineer, has returned to Salt Lake. Thomas F. Cole, the managing director of the company, Dr. L. D. Ricketts, an expert mill designer, and John C. Greenway were present inspecting the Giroux and allied interests near Ely. The general impression is that the visit was for the purpose of definitely locating the site of the proposed new plant and to make certain preliminary arrangements for the starting of work of construction.

President Charles F. Rand of the company has sent a statement to stockholders from which the following is taken:

"The general manager's report shows that this work, which is still being carried on, was justified, has been productive of excellent results, both on Giroux and Coppermines mineralized ground, and has been accomplished at reasonable cost.

"At the time of the formation of the Consolidated company the stockholders authorized an issue of $3,500,000 first mortgage 7 per cent convertible bonds. The purpose being to fund into these bonds the existing indebtedness of the subsidiary companies and to provide working capital for explorations and development of the mines and the ultimate construction of adequate reduction works for the treatment of ores.

"Giroux—Fully developed, 14,199,180 tons averaging 1.219 per cent copper; partially developed, 6,456,872 tons averaging 1.041 per cent copper.

"Old Coppermines — Partially developed, 968,184 tons averaging 1.01 per cent copper.

"Totally developed and partially developed, 21,624,236 tons averaging 1.153 per cent.

"Production from Aug. 20, 1913, to May 1, 1914, was as follows dry weight:

"From Morris by underground mining 17,427 tons averaging 1.773 per cent copper and costing $1.162 per ton.

"From the Ora claim, 85,045 tons averaging 1.365 per cent costing to produce 4.1 mills per ton.

"In the early part of July, 1913, the old Coppermines shipped 458.05 tons which averaged 10.52 per cent copper."

DRAWING WATER FROM THE DENN

Deep Level Pumping of Junction Having Important Effect.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 27.—Demonstration that the 1,800 level pumping station of Junction will get away with a good deal of Denn's water, finding its way down through the folds, may have considerable to do with future handling of that property by its owners. It has been an open secret for sometime that Denn was not averse to waiting for Junction to help it out with its water problem. It has been said at several times when Denn refinancing has been subject of much talk, that the company would doubtless wait to see what Junction's deeper operations might do in the way of relieving the water burden of Denn.

Whether Junction's deep pumping would relieve Denn to any appreciable extent has been considered doubtful. However, recently there has been a great deal of lessening of this doubt. The amount of water Junction is getting determines conclusively, it is said, that Denn will drain largely into the common basin of the district. If this surmise is correct, as now indicated by falling water in Denn, it is a matter of great importance to that property and its owners and will doubtless lead to a new line of action on their part.

The resumption of work before very long in Denn would not be surprising if it should be one of the outcomes. Denn's great trouble has been its surplus of water. Nothing more important could happen it at this time than the reduction of this trouble, and it is being reduced.

MOHAWK IN FINE SHAPE

Mill Running to Full Capacity and Openings Looking Good.

Foundations for New Mill for White Pine Nearly Completed.

Houghton, Mich., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mohawk is in fine condition at the present time. The mill is running to full capacity, the openings are looking very good and the management is now resuming sinking at the three southern shafts, the three best, to open up the richer ground above the Ahmeek on the same dip and to get large reserves ahead. All the large improvements have been made and have been paid for, only minor ones that are necessary or that will add to the efficiency of operation and consequently to the advantage of the cost sheet are being effected. The cash and copper on hand the first of the year was about $320,000, merely a fair figure for working capital. It is thought here in the Copper country as two dividends have been passed, and as the dividend, that would ordinarily be payable in August, would according to the custom of this company be charged to the current year and that due in February be charged to next year, making only one dividend for this year, that it is likely that a dividend of $1 will be voted.

Sinking was resumed from the nineteenth level Monday at the No. 4 shaft and will also be begun from about twenty feet below the fifteenth level at No. 3 within a week, which period will be required for the completion of a concrete cellar about twenty feet long. The overburden is being removed in a very simple and rapid way by cutting through the lagging on the top and sides thus allowing the earth to drop onto the skip and by shoveling it in from the foot wall. The concrete will be placed close to the lagging which will be left in place for some time. No. 6 is now being deepened and as soon as a level is reached drifts will be driven. A wagon road which runs from No. 1 to No. 3 has just been extended to No. 6 whose ground opens out on to the county road and now each shaft can be easily reached from any other and much round-about hauling is avoided. A pipe for compressed air has been laid from No. 5 to No. 6 and the big compressor will furnish the latter with ample power.

White Pine.

White Pine has very nearly completed its foundations for the new mill of 1,000 tons capacity and will very shortly begin to set up the frame work. The two shafts that will provide about all of the rock at the start are Nos. 3 and 4, which are about 600 feet apart and which have been sunk slantingly on the lode so that they diverge in direction. Lidgerwood hoists formerly in use at the Ahmeek have been installed at these shafts. They can hoist rock from the depth of 2,000 feet. The rock shaft house at No. 4 has just been finished and that for No. 3 will be begun very soon. They will be of wood and rather small in size as the rock will be sent directly from the dump to the Gates gyratory crushers in the mill and as the latter is only a few hundred feet away only small bins will be required. No. 4 shaft has a depth of 600 feet and No. 3 that of 1,150 feet. They are connected at the first, second, third and fifth levels and the first extends about 600 feet on each side beyond the shaft. There has been accumulated already over 30,000 tons of rock on the stockpile, which has come wholly from development work. The copper bearing formation is generally known as the Nonesuch lode as it was discovered and worked on the property of that name. The Calumet & Hecla had an option on that mine as well as on the White Pine, but the diamond drilling and other exploratory work proved that the lode there was pinched out with depth. At the White Pine it is supposed to be in the form of a basin there being another outcrop some distance away from that its dip and character it is difficult to account for except on that theory. The great richness of this course sandstone or fine conglomerate is an established fact and it is believed here from the great care and thoroughness that characterized the company's experiments for the recoverability of the copper and also the exploration by the regular mining work together with a series of diamond drill holes extending over two miles to prove its extent that the White Pine will be a contributor of gradually increasing importance to the Calumet & Hecla's treasury.

Houghton.

Houghton copper has now covered with its drifts a length of over 300 feet on the tenth level and almost every foot has copper of a commercial grade. This is by long odds the best showing yet made at this property. As on all of the amygdaloidal lodes here, the grade, even though this stretch is commercial in values, varies greatly, running from that which is perhaps slightly under a paying yield to the very rich. On the two levels that have been worked before, the better disclosures have been to the south, but here the northern drift will average as good as the southern and in fact it has been for the few last days considerably richer. This level is on a winze that has been carried down on the lode which is 250 feet in from the shaft on the lower or foot-wall side, with the object of ascertaining if the lode contained sufficient copper to justify the extension of the regular mining operations of sinking the shaft further, and cross-cutting to the lode. The occurrence of the metal on the sixth level was poor and shaft sinking, especially when the ground is so soft that it has to be lined with reinforced concrete, and crosscuts of that length are very expensive. The winze which was planned to be a rock chute if mining operations should be resumed, is of course comparatively inexpensive. To the eighth level the ground revealed heavy copper throughout the width of twelve feet and all the way down, and on the level there was only a fair showing and that to the south, and down to the tenth, while there was always some copper it was poor. Now it would seem that this ground would continue, from the length already opened on the tenth, and as both faces are still in the good ground and if it does continue the directors will undoubtedly feel themselves warranted in deepening the shaft. When the lode was first found, its identity was considered uncertain, but subsequent developments and close study of those familiar with the Superior lode, as developed at the Superior mine, have determined it to be a continuation of that lode. From the boundary line of that property to its No. 1 shaft, a distance of 1,200 feet, the lode has averaged paying values. There is an excellent electrical hoist at this shaft and a new compressor also operated by electricity which can provide all the drill power needed for some time.

VALUATIONS ARE REDUCED

Material Cuts By Michigan Tax Commission on the Iron Mines.

Decision That Mining Company Need Not Develop Leased Tract.

Iron mine valuations in Upper Michigan have been materially reduced by the state tax commission. Followin cuts of $2,500,000 at Negaunee, $2,000,000 at Iron River, and several hundred thousand dollars at Crystal Falls, the assessments of the Ishpeming properties have been lowered an aggregate of $750,000. This action was taken after workings and maps had been inspected by representatives of the state geologist. A review for a similar purpose will be held at Iron Mountain during July. Unless new deposits are found, it is now held by the commission, mines decrease in value as the ore is removed. The question of the value of stockpiles is still in abeyance. The mining companies are protesting against being taxed heavily on ore after it is stored on the surface, and at a recent hearing at the state capital a strong showing was made in support of this contention. It is expected concessions will be granted.

While the pulsations of some Ishpeming properties have been changed but little, the reductions in several instances are substantial. The assessment of the Salisbury mine of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company is decreased 50 per cent. The Lake Superior Hematite of the United States Steel corporation and the Lake Angeline of the Jones & McLaughlin company are other properties accorded substantial reductions. The assessment of the Lake Angeline is lowered from $152,800 to $99,548. The revised valuation of the Cleveland Cliffs company's Cliffs Shafts mine is $2,417,540; that of the Salisbury, $63,000, and that of the Cleveland Lake, $2,553,220. The Steel corporation is assessed $2,504,189 on its section sixteen property, and $1,066,849 on the Hard Ore and Hematite mines.

Furnace Assessment Cut.

The assessment of the Pioneer Iron company's Marquette furnace and chemical works has been cut to $780,000. This action was taken following a hearing in which experts for the company detailed their views of the present value of the plant as a going concern and after the commission had taken counsel with its own expert. Last year the commission practically doubled the assessment returned by the Marquette assessor, placing it at $1,088,000. The company protested the taxes. In asking a reheaing this year the corporation presented voluminous reports and inventories estimating the value of the plant at about $500,000. At the hearing held subsequently Prof. W. E. Vernon of the University of Michigan, retained by the commission as an expert, figured the cost of reproduction at between $1,300,000 and $1,400,000. The commission, after due consideration, reassessed the property at a $308,000 reduction from the old figures of $1,088,000.

Two years ago the valuation of the Lake Angeline mine at Ishpeming was cut from $450,000 to approximately $128,000. This year the valuation of the mine is further reduced to $83,048, and the value of the company's forty-seven dwellings from $24,300 to $16,500, an average for the houses and lots of $351. The Lake Angeline mine is about worked out. All of the ore that can be recovered will be taken out by Dec. 1, when the property will be closed and the machinery removed. The Lake Angeline has been a noted producer of high-grade ores. It was opened in 1864—the sixth iron mine developed in the Lake Superior region. It has shipped 9,000,000 gross tons of ore. The biggest annual output was in 1898, approximating half a million tons. There is some ore in stock and some is being hoisted daily, but all of it will, it is expected, be shipped before the close of navigation. Most of the employes have been in the company's service for a long term of years and an effort will be made to retain them on the pay roll. A mine is being developed at Iron Mountain lake, several miles south of Ishpeming. Many of the men will be given work there. The others will be transferred to the milling property at Negaunee and the Forbes at Iron River.

Need Not Develop Tract.

In the case of Lorenzo A. De Grasse of Iron River, Former State Senator M. H. Moriarty of Crystal Falls and others against the Verona Iron company, a Pickands, Mather & Co. subsidiary, Circuit Judge R. C. Flannigan has handed down a decision favorable to the defendant. The plaintiffs are interested in a valuable property neighboring to the Zimmerman mine in the Iron River region, Menominee range, which property they leased to the Verona company in 1896 for a period of fifty years. Suit was brought because the company had been content to pay the minimum royalty and had done nothing to develop the tract. Judge Flannigan found for the defendant, on the ground that the lease provided only for a minimum royalty and had no provision obligating the company to proceed within any limited time to make the mine a producer. The case has been followed with much interest in the Iron River country, and it is said that had the plaintiffs won numerous similar actions would have been instituted, for there are other instances in which fee owners are waiting impatiently for the development of properties on which they are receiving only minimum royalties. The minimum royalty involved in the suit now decided is $1,000, and it has been paid regularly for eighteen years. In 1909 an exploratory shaft was sunk, but the work was abandoned within a few months and since then no effort has been made to open the property.

The hydro-electric plant built by the Steel corporation at the Quinnesec falls of the Menominee river to supplement its hydraulic works at that point, and which was completed a few weeks ago, is now furnishing power for the operation of machinery at the Chapin mine, Iron Mountain, which property it was erected to serve.

As was promised by the Longyear interests, discoverers of the big deposit of ore now being developed at the Judson and Balkan mines, the townsite at the embryo city of Alpha, Western Menominee range, is being improved and beautified.

Working Force Increased.

The Newport Mining company, controlled by Ferdinand Schlesinger of Milwaukee, has added 150 men to the working force at its big Ironwood property. Shipments have been increased correspondingly. The Newport has sold considerable ore and it is expected that practically all the tonnage in stock will be sent out this season along with the daily hoist. The ores are of excellent grade, largely of Bessemer. The Newport is the possessor of a shaft that outputs a greater tonnage than any other in Michigan. The mine is the biggest producer on the Gogebic range. Near Ironwood the Newport company is engaged in opening up the north ore body at the Anvil. This is asserted to be one of the largest deposits yet found in the Gogebic country, the peer even of the famous Newport. The mines at Ironwood are employing in the neighborhood of 3,000 men, steam shovels are loading from stockpiles and shipments are of fair tonnage. Ore is moving more briskly than from any other field in the old ranges of the Lake Superior region. The Hayes Bros. recently have increased the working force at the Ashland mine to 200 men.

The annual meeting of the Lake Superior Mining Institute will convene at Ishpeming Aug. 31. After one day devoted to inspecting Marquette range mines, a special train will take the members and their guests to St. Ignace, Straits of Mackinac, to board a Detroit and Cleveland line steamer for Detroit. Business sessions will be held on board the boat, which will arrive in Detroit the morning of Aug. 2. Two days will be spent in a sight-seeing tour of that city, one of the industries to be visited being the plant of the Ford Automobile company. The tickets will be valid for return on any of the Detroit & Cleveland steamers during September. One of the features at Ishpeming will be a "first aid" exhibition. Teams from all the ranges will compete.

CONDITIONS BETTER AT GREENE-CANANEA

Great Mexican Producer Getting Back to Normal State.

Operations at Greene-Cananea, according to the latest advices, are gradually getting back to where they were before the recent shut-down and the exodus of Americans. With such a large force as is employed at Cananea, considerable time is always necessary to reorganize. In view of these conditions it will probably take some little time before operations will be back to normal. The labor situation, however, is working out very well, although some little trouble has been experienced in getting crannemen in the converter department, though this difficulty is rapidly being adjusted.

The Cananea property shut down April 24 and resumed on May 6. The April production up to the time of shutting down, or representing a period of little more than three weeks, was 2,044,000 pounds from the company's own mines and 588,000 pounds from custom ore.

At last advices four or five of the blast furnaces and both reverberatories were in commission. Miami concentrates are again being shipped to Cananea for treatment and are no longer going to Bisbee for smelting as they did during the shutdown.

FACTS AND ADVICE FOR THE FARMERS

NOT A CHOLERA CURE.

By A. F. WOODS,
Director, Department of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul.

In view of the fact that certain claims for a proprietary remedy—benetol—have been made in the public press recently, calling attention to it as an alleged preventive and curative remedy for hog cholera, in such a manner as to indicate that the Minnesota experiment station approves it, we wish to call the attention of hog owners to the following facts:

Dr. E. W. Berg, whose name is mentioned in the press articles, is not and never has been connected with the Minnesota experiment station either directly or indirectly.

In a series of experiments recently conducted at the state hog cholera serum plant, it was found that benetol had absolutely no value as a preventive or curative agent for hog cholera.

In one series of experiments the hogs that were given benetol died before others which had not been given any treatment at all, and the characteristic lesions of hog cholera were found, on autopsy.

In a large number of cases it was found that the hogs that were given benetol, by drench, as directed, developed a severe inflammation of the entire digestive tract, evidently due to the irritating action of the drug.

When benetol was injected hypodermically, local abscesses usually followed at the points of injection.

In a herd of hogs sick of cholera by natural infection, and treated with benetol by a representative of the company manufacturing the remedy, every hog treated with benetol subsequently died of cholera, while a few that were untreated made a recovery. The treatment of this herd was under observation by a veterinarian from the experiment station.

Neither the Minnesota experiment station, the state live stock sanitary board, nor the federal department of agriculture has given any indorsement of benetol as a remedy to combat cholera, as might be inferred by the newspaper articles referred to.

SOILING CROPS FOR THE DAIRY.

A small silo filled with corn silage provides the best and cheapest feed for dairy cows that must have some feed to supplement pasture. As silage spoils much quicker in summer than in cold weather, a greater amount must be fed off the top each day. This means not less than two inches. For this reason a silo which is deep and small in diameter is required.

A silo 10 feet in diameter has a surface area of 78½ square feet. Taking off two inches a day is ample for a herd of 20 cows, feeding each at the rate of 30 pounds. If the silo is larger or the herd smaller, it will be necessary to cut down and feed only one-half of the surface, says a Farm and Home expert.

There is much less work connected with feeding silage than soiling crops, but where the silo is not available, soiling crops must be relied upon. Rye makes the first feed in early spring, but it is not particularly relished by cows, especially after it begins to head.

Oats and peas are the first crop that can be planted in early spring, and these will provide an abundance of the best quality feed for about three weeks. When they begin to get a little old they should be cut and cured. Three sowings at intervals of two or three weeks will carry along the herd until the first planting of early sweet corn is ready.

An occasional feed of alfalfa, clover or grass will be greatly relished. In fact, alfalfa or clover makes the very best kind of forage at any season of the year.

For fall feeding after corn is gone and before the silo is opened, a midsummer sowing of barley and peas will come in about right.

Flat turnips can be sown up to Aug. 1 and are the cheapest of all crops to grow.

CUCUMBER BEETLE.

The striped cucumber beetle appears early in June on cucumber, squash, and melon vines and should be given frequent and generous applications of air slaked lime and Paris green mixed in the proportion of ten pounds of lime to one of Paris green. The squash bug which destroys plants of the same kind should be treated with lime alone.

The cucumber beetle often proves destructive to the roots of the vine. It appears as a pale straw-colored worm about the size of a cabbage maggot and may be treated with a mixture of one tablespoonful of commercial tobacco extract in a gallon of water. Apply one teacupful of the solution around each infested plant.

WHITE GRUBS.

By WILLIAM MOORE,
Division of Entomology, University Farm, St. Paul.

From the data available, it seems that three or four of our five species of white grubs will be in the May-beetle or June-bug stage this year and that potatoes, corn, and other plants susceptible to the attack of white grubs will be relatively little injured by them. It should also be a good year for transplanting strawberries, as they will become established with less injury from the grubs. These plants should be well cultivated throughout the summer to keep down the weeds, thus preventing the adult beetles from laying their eggs in such places. For egg-laying, the beetles prefer land occupied by timothy, grain, or other vegetation. Such places should be as far away from trees as possible, as the adult beetles feed upon the foliage of various trees, such as oak, maple, and poplar. Next year, these fields should not be planted with corn or to potatoes, which are liable to attack, as they will, no doubt, be infested with large numbers of white grubs.

Wherever possible, such animals as pigs, and chickens should be allowed to run underneath the trees upon which the beetles are feeding. The beetles feed at night and during the daytime remain hidden on the ground where pigs and chickens readily find them. The larger the number of these beetles destroyed this summer, the less the injury likely to be done by white grubs next year. Some good might be accomplished by jarring the trees upon which the beetles are feeding at night, having first spread a sheet under the tree. The beetles will drop onto the sheet, from which they can readily be collected and destroyed.

THE TYPHOID FLY.

By J. O. RANKIN,
University Farm, St. Paul.

It requeres no arguinent to prove that the annoying disease-bearing fly should be exterminated or controlled. The only question is "How?" Flies and Their Control, Extension Bulletin 43, of the Minnesota Farmers' Library, undertakes to answer this question. It deals with the house fly and some of the more important stock flies which are perhaps the worst pests of Minnesota animals.

In dealing with the habits and rapid increase of flies, Prof F. L. Washburn, tht author, lays special emphasis on the transmission of disease germs from filth to food and the importance of screens and clean-up sanitation in combating the pest. Stables and privies should be so managed that flies cannot breed or feed in them and then carry infection to the family table or the baby's bottle. Food for sale should be screened or kept under glass. Three teaspoonfuls of formalin in half a pint of milk diluted with the same amount of water makes an effective fly-poison, especially if no other drinking place is open to the flies, but should be kept out of reach of children. Sticky paper. The bulletin gives full directions for making the Minnesota fly trap.

The stock flies discussed include the horn fly, deer flies, the biting stable fly, and the horse bot fly. The general preventives suggested are (1) darkened stables with burlap over the door to brush up and exclude flies as the animals enters; (2) a spray of three parts fish oil and one part kerosene; and (3) an ointment made by mixing a pint of kerosene with a pound of lard and applied thinly with a cloth over the animal's back. The nits of the horse fly can be removed by clipping affected portions or by brushing them with a feather dipped in kerosene. Too much kerosene should not be used.

ALFALFA ON EVERY FARM.

An acre or more of alfalfa on every farm means 156,000 acres of alfalfa in Minnesota within the next year. It means 156,000 alfalfa centers where this most valuable forage crop may be observed and its great value learned. It means the seeding of more than seventy times as large an acreage as has been grown with success in Minnesota during the last fifty years. One acre of alfalfa on each farm may seem a small beginning, but the personal experience gained in handling one acre successfully this year will prove very valuable if it is found advisable to increase the acreage next year. A recent bulletin, entitled Alfalfa-Growing in Minnesota, may be secured free by addressing the writer, A. C. Arny, Assistant Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

BUFFALO TREE HOPPER.

By A. G. RUGGLES
In Minnesota Insect Life.

Often on young trees which are growing in sod, especially apples, the smaller limbs become very badly scarred by wounds made by the buffalo tree hopper. These scars, consisting of two or more parallel slits, are made by the mother insect at the time of egg-laying. Oviposition usually takes place from the middle of August up to the time of the first frost in the fall. In each of the slits mentioned, there is placed a series of eggs. Between the two slits made by the one insect, the wood ordinarily dies, thus causing a serious wound. When limbs are very badly attacked, they become very brittle and are easily broken off by the wind. The eggs hatch the following spring, when the young nymphs leave the tree and feed upon the rank weeds found near by, never feeding upon the trees themselves.

The remedy for such an insect, therefore, is obvious. Clean cultivation is necessary and weeds must be kept down for a considerable distance around the outside of the orchard. If it is impossible to do this, possibly a preventive insecticide might be used, such as iron sulphide, Bordeaux mixture, or even ordinary whitewash. This material should be sprayed on the trees quite heavily, the last part of August, and should be kept active during the egg-laying period. Very badly scarred limbs should be cut off and burned during the winter or early spring months.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

By LEROY CADY,
Associate Horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

During the last week of June:

Keep the cultivator going.

Elms and other share trees may be pruned.

Strawberries ought to be plentiful.

Many of the flowering annuals should be in bloom.

A final planting of Golden Bantam sweet corn should be made.

Rutabagas may be planted. Sow on new land for best results.

Currants will be almost ready to pick. They make the best jelly when about half ripe.

Perennial seed may be sown now and wintered over in a cold frame or protected place.

Set out late celery. Choose a location that is near water as it is often needed early in autumn.

It is a good plan to nip the new shoots of black raspberry when eighteen inches high. This makes a more bushy plant.

As soon as the strawberry crop is off mow the bed and burn or rake the dry foliage. Plow up all but a few young plants in the rows. Cultivate these and another crop may be taken off next year.

VESSELS CALL AT CANAL TERMINALS

Regular Ports of Call for Several Steamship Lines.

Panama, June 27.—The canal terminals at Balboa and Cristobal have now become regular ports of call for several steamship lines. Interruption of the Tehuantepec railway route across Southern Mexico drove considerable shipping to these ports, but even now, with the Tehuantepec service re-established, there are many boats which continue to call at Balboa or Cristobal for transfer of cargo across the isthmus. The American-Hawaiian Steamship company has gone back to the Mexican ports, but only until the canal is ready for regular use. The Elder & Fyfe company, however, which has hitherto had only an occasional service between Liverpool and Cristobal, has now increased its service and is running regular steamships, and a Norwegian line of tramp steamers call regularly, while on the west coast the Salvadorian Railway steamship line has been diverted from Mexican ports to Balboa.

It is understood also that steamers of a new Japanese line will begin service to Balboa soon.

SLIDE RAPIDLY BEING OVERCOME

Dirt Being Removed Twice as Fast as It Slides.

Panama, June 27.—Although the rainy season has been on for more than a month, the saturation of the earth has not increased the Cucaracha slide which the dredges have been racing to overcome. It is estimated that the dirt is now being removed twice as fast as it slides in the channel, and that a level of rest for the slide may soon be reached. The depth of the channel is now over 38 feet and with a width of more than 200 feet it was more than sufficient to accommodate the Panama railroad steamship Alliance, of 4,000 tons, which was the first ocean liner to pass through the canal, without mishap. Even a 10,000-ton ship would have no difficulty, but the canal is not yet ready for the bigger warships.

DR. PAGE PUT IN FALSE POSITION

Could Not Display American Flag Until Washington Ordered.

London, June 27.—The American ambassador, Dr. Walter Hines Page, came near to being charged with lack of patriotism by the 700 American Salvation Army delegates on their official visit to him, but the misunderstanding was cleared by one of the embassy clerks.

The Salvationists made an American patriotic display on this occasion as has been rarely seen in London. Bands played American patriotic tunes, the American colors alternated with the Salvation Army banners and each of the paraders waved a small American flag as they marched through Victoria street past the window at which stood Dr. Page. The chief officers then paid a formal call on the ambassador. But in the matter of bunting, the embassy might as well have been one of the big shops along side.

"Where is the American flag?" asked one of the officers in a grieved tone of one of the clerks. "Our parade was simply ablaze with 'Old Glory,' and there isn't a single flag displayed at the embassy to welcome us. It doesn't look patriotic."

The clerk explained that the flag of the embassy has purely ceremonial duties to perform rather than patriotic or ornamental, and is displayed only on instructions from the state department at Washington.

This explanation was passed around and seemed to satisfy the patriotic scruples of the visitors.

On account of the comparatively small quarters American diplomats without large private means necessarily maintain in foreign countries, Dr. Page was unable to invite the Salvationists to his home, and the embassy itself is likewise cramped. A reception in the street would have lacked dignity, so the delegates felt a disappointment in not being able to shake hands with him. They had been rather spoiled on their way over, they said, by Col. Roosevelt, who fraternized with them, stood in snap shot groups and answered to the familiar title of "Colonel" and Teddy."

The American Salvationists, who have been visiting London in parties, speak highly of their courteous treatment by the people.

BURIED CITY IN THE NILE VALLEY

Was Center of the Iron Industry of the Time.

London, June 27.—Recent exploration in the Nile valley has resulted in the discovery of a buried Egyptian city as well preserved as Pompeii, according to Prof. A. H. Sayce, the famous Egyptologist, in an address at the Royal society. The discovery was made by Prof. Garstang, investigating at Meroe. Walls fifteen feet thick surround a royal city containing two palaces, public baths, gymnasia, streets and private dwellings. Trees set in pits lined with brick bordered the streets, and walls, quays and landing stages were built along the river side. This city was the center of the iron industry of the time, and the slag from the smelting furnaces show that enough metal was worked there to supply the whole of Northern Africa.

An observatory at the bottom of an underground bathing establishment, found by Prof. Garstang, is of interest to modern science, as its walls were covered with astronomical calculations.

PRINCESS TAKES UP LAWN TENNIS

Game Now One of Most Popular in British Isles.

London, June 27.—Princess Mary, daughter of the king and queen, has seriously taken up the game of lawn tennis, and is receiving lessons from Mrs. Lambert Chambers, the present lady champion. The game is now one of the most popular in the British Isles, having been given an immense impetus from the championship matches played last year, when the Americans won the Davis cup, and McLoughlin made such a spectacular fight for the British championship. During the winter and spring new courts have been laid down all over the country, and the game is played at all the big house parties, while innumerable clubs have been organized. All the parks, too, now have their tennis courts, and if not immediately, at any rate in the near future England hopes to uphold her end in the game.

Other members of the royal family are devotees of the game. King George plays fairly well on the courts at Buckingham palace and Windsor castle, and is a frequent spectator at tournaments.

COLLECTION OF OLD MASTERS TO BE SOLD.

London, June 22.—The failure of the banking firm of Chaplin, Milne, Grenfell & Co., which shook the financial district recently, will result in an important art collection of old masters being thrown on the market, at which wealthy American collectors are expected to be lively bidders. The collection to be auctioned at Christie's for the benefit of the creditors of Arthur M. Grenfell includes the portrait of the Countess of Chesterfield by Van Dyck, formerly hung at Blenheim palace, and a portrait of a man in a red cap ascribed to Titian. The Dutch and Flemish schools are represented by Bol, Breckelenkam, Cuyp, Dow, Pieter Dubordieu and Wouvermans, and the English by portraits from the brushes of Sir Joshua Reynolds and Sir Thomas Lawrence. The only modern picture is G. F. Watt's "A Greek Idyll." Much public interest is excited over the Titian, which has been auctioned several times by Christie's for the uncertainty of its authorship makes it more or less of a gamble.

LABOR CANDIDATES TO BE SUPPORTED

New Women's Suffrage Organization Is Formed in England.

London, June 27.—Such aristocratic names as the countess of Aberdeen, Lady Brassey, Lord Courtney, Lord Lytton, Lady Strachy and Lady Frances Balfour appear as officers in a new women's suffrage organization, which is pledged to support Labor party candidates to parliament. Its title is the National Union of Women Suffrage Societies, and its policy non-partisan and non-militant. But in as much as the Labor party is the only one pledged to the cause, Labor candidates will be supported even against "tried friends" of other affiliation.

The fight, according to the organizers, will be concentrated on the present Liberal cabinet with a view to forcing its early retirement. And the Liberals, who are accused by the militants of "torturing" women in jail," will have to face the opposition of the suffragettes as well as of the propertied classes. Mrs. Henry Fawcett is president of the union.

BOY SCOUTS ARE NOW IN TURKEY

Movement Part of Farseeing Plan to Rejuvenate Country.

Constantinople, June 27.—The Boy Scout movement has been initiated here with the swearing in of the troop leaders before Enver Pasha, who, it is understood, is to be made the Bashbogh, or chief scout of Turkey.

The movement is part of a far-seeing plan to rejuvenate Turkey. On the patriotic side, the members, with the support of the young Turks, will try to purge the language of foreign words which have corrupted the Turkish of the border into more or less of a jargon. On the military and civic side, the government hopes not only to popularize army service among the educated classes but to develop initiative and flexibility among the people so as to compete more favorably with Western peoples.

It is significant that in the oath taken by the boys, the Arabic word for God, "Allah," has yielded to the Turkish "Tengri." All names used in the organization, such as Izdjis for "scouts," and Oimak Begs for "leaders," are pure Turkish. The word for leader in official use has heretofore been "bey."

The young Turks, and many of the older men, believe that the country's decline has been largely due to Persian and Byzantine influences. They hope to teach the youth to remember the racial origin of the people who once came near subduing Europe.

SAILING VESSELS DECLINE IN NUMBER.

London, June 27.—The special sign "S" before the names of steamers in Lloyd's announcements has been discontinued as a frank and final recognition of the fact that sailing vessels have been nearly crowded off the sea. In Lloyd's register of a quarter of a century ago, the sail ships led the steamers by 22,402 to 10,260 in numbers and 3,496,603 to 7,414,954 as to net tons. This year's register shows that there are now 6,694 sailing vessels of 3,890,836 tons, while the steamers have increased to 23,897 of 26,517,029 tons.

FINDS NEW SPECIES OF THE BEAN FAMILY.

Panama, June 27.—Prof. Henry Pettier of the Panama department of agriculture has discovered a new species belonging to the natural order of leguminosae, or the bean family, on which he has conferred the name Goethalsia isthmica, to perpetuate the name of the canal builder in botany.

Col. Goethals has had a number of children named after him, but this is his first honor of the botanic order. The leguminosae family, incidentally, knows no limit. Before Prof. Pettier's identification of this new member it already has upwards of 7,000 species.

FILMS OF MESSIAH BARRED IN PRUSSIA.

Berlin, June 27.—That films presenting the person of Jesus are calculated to shock the sensibilities of religious people and may not be presented in Prussia, is the final decision of the Prussian supreme court, upholding a police prohibition of the pictures. The film story was taken from Klopstock's "Messiah." It is a pretentious example of cinematographic art. The court, ruling against it, based its decision on a former decision, holding the Christian religion to be a part of the public order, against whose disturbance the police are empowered to act. It considers the film in itself likely to offend and declares a further possibility of offense is the fact that it might be presented in connection with comic scenes.

SCOTCH CHURCH UNION MAY COME

Negotiations for Union of Rival Bodies Regarded Promising.

Edinburgh, June 27.—The recent general assemblies of the two great factions of the Presbyterian churches in Scotland—the established Church of Scotland and the independent United Free Church—will be followed during the year by negotiations which are said to be promising for a union of these rival bodies, mending an historical quarrel.

Various sects broke away from the communion of the state church as far back as the seventeenth century, the secession being in protest against the alleged low moral state of the clergy and the political system of the established church. The established church sought to mend matters in 1834 by adopting the rule that no pastor should be thrust upon a congregation against the will of the people, but this was annulled in 1843. Negotiations for a union were renewed in 1907, but progress was slow until this year on account of the opposition of a powerful minority on each side. Even the former leaders of the obstructionists, however, are now urging union.

A constitution was drawn up by the recent assembly of the established church which concedes the spiritual independence of the free church, but at the same time aims to preserve the traditions of the state church. It is this draft that will be the basis of further negotiations during the coming year, and the willingness with which leaders of both factions have taken up the subject leads the pacificists to hope for success.

AMERICAN COAL SOLD IN EUROPE

Welsh Colliery and Ship Owners Alarmed By Its Success.

London, June 27.—The success of American coal shippers in securing a large portion of the trade of the Mediterranean and strengthening their hold on that of French and Spanish ports is occasioning considerable misgivings among the colliery and shipowners of South Wales, who formerly held a monopoly of this trade. It has just been announced at Cardiff that the Americans have secured an order for 100,000 tons of coal from the Italian state railways for delivery during the next six months, making a total of 300,000 tons for this year. Formerly the whole supply of these railways was secured from Wales. The Egyptian state railways have also bought more extensively from America this year, drawing in this way some $2,500,000 from South Wales. American coal cargoes are also finding their way to French and Spanish ports with increasing frequency.

The high price of Welsh coal and the cheapening of freights is held responsible for the change. American coal can now be delivered at foreign ports at from 50 cents to $1 a ton cheaper than the Welsh product. The Welsh collieries are working to their full capacity and are fully booked for this year's capacity, but it is the future which the owners fear, for the Italian and Egyptian orders could always be depended upon, whereas the orders now being filled are irregular.

BULGARIA TO SHOW AT THE FRISCO FAIR.

Sofia, June 27.—The minister of commerce has named a commission of fifteen members to study the details of Bulgarian participation in the San Francisco fair. A request will soon be made on parliament by the government for a grant of $60,000 with which to pay the expense of representation.

TWO NEW McKINLEY TRUSTEES ELECTED.

Canton, Ohio, June 27.—Dan Hanna of Cleveland and W. R. Timken of Canton were yesterday elected trustees of the McKinley Memorial association, to fill vacancies caused by the deaths of General Henry Duffield of Detroit and Thomas Dolan of Philadelphia.

The annual meeting of the trustees was held here and presided over by Justice William R. Day. The following trustees were in attendance: Former Vice President Fairbanks of Indianapolis, ex-Governor Murphy of New Jersey and Gen. El Torrance of Minneapolis.

Sentenced to Hang.

Chicago, June 27.—William Schultz, late yesterday was convicted and sentenced to hang for the murder Feb. 24 of Mrs. Elizabeth Healy, wife of a druggist. The woman was found in the kitchen of her flat, with her throat cut.

A New York youth has gone into the business of furnishing his blood for transfusion purposes, and at $30 a quart. He has earned $120 in the last four months.

BURST OF ACTIVITY IN THE REALTY MARKET THIS WEEK

Two Entire Blocks in Residence District Sold for About $45,000.

G. A. Tomlinson Buys Two Acre Tracts; Many Sales Pending.

A burst of activity culminated in real estate circles this week, some important transactions in residence and business properties being closed up. Other deals involving central business and industrial sites are pending and interesting developments in that connection are expected shortly.

The largest transaction in residence property in several months was put through yesterday in the sale of two entire blocks to a syndicate of local capitalists. The property involved is located between Wallace avenue and the Vermilion road, and between Bruce and Hardy streets. It is in the heart of what is considered the choicest high class residential district in the city, being directly opposite Waverly Park and between Hunter's Park and Congdon Park. The Woodland car line passes in front of it.

Fifty-One Lots.

It comprises fifty-one fifty-foot lots of a depth of from 190 to 200 feet each. The ownership of the parcels was formerly vested in two eastern estates, one of them being the Schiedt estate of New York. The identity of the buyers has not been disclosed, in view of the fact that some other transactions are under negotiation. They were represented by the McBean, Nesbitt company. Regarding the transaction, William McBean said today that it is the intention of the new owners to improve the property in the near future in the building of high-class residences.

"My clients were impressed with the success that attended the Waverly Park sale, and that, taken in conjunction with the sales recently put through at Congdon Park, led them to conclude that investment in the property just secured could not but result profitably. It is practically the only large block of realty left available in a district that promises to develop rapidly. The trustees of the estates formerly owning the property concluded to sell so that my people were afforded the opportunity they were looking for."

Another interesting transaction in the same district came in the purchase by G. Ashley Tomlinson of two acre tracts at the southeast corner of Hawthorne avenue and Third street, Congdon Park. The consideration was $11,000. One of the lots was bought from the Hartman Building company, represented by W. C. Sargent, and the other from Will C. Brown, represented by John A. Stephenson & Co. The latter office also represented the purchaser.

As previously intimated through The Herald, it is Mr. Tomlinson's intention to build a beautiful new home on the site. The plans for a residence estimated to cost more than $40,000 are now in preparation by F. G. German, architect.

Bought a Factory Site.

A further notable deal in the week came in the closing up of an agreement through the office of the E. D. Field company for the sale of ten lots on Grand avenue, West Duluth, which it is understood, will be utilized as a site for a factory. Earnest money was paid on the transaction, and it is expected the deeds will pass within a few days.

The sale of eight lots at Rice's Point, that said to forecast the establishing of a new industrial enterprise, was put through by the Hoopes-Kohagen company. The identity of the purchasers is at present under cover.

Waverly Park in Limelight.

Members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange interested in the Waverly Park proposition expect to close the whole transaction up within a couple of weeks. Despite the unfavorable weather, nineteen lots were disposed of at the opening sale last Saturday afternoon in addition to the eighty-eight lots sold in advance by the underwriters of the proposition. The sale will be continued this afternoon, when it is thought that the bulk of the remaining lots will be picked up by investors. It is pointed out by N. J. Upham, director of the sale, that the lots now being offered afford just as good investment possibilities as any of those that have been thus far disposed of.

The Pulford-How company sold for Frank A. Johnson to E. W. Kalterback, house and lot, No. 418 Seventeenth avenue east.

* * *

The L. A. Larsen company reported the best inquiry for houses and building lots in some time back, resulting in several sales during the week. The list included eighteen lots in Portland division on the west side of Chester park. Many of the buyers propose to improve in the near future. The office besides disposed of four lots on East Ninth street, adjoining Chester park to Anton Gronseth; three lots on the Boulevard at Fourth avenue east; a lot to William Kynell at Sixth avenue east and Ramsey street; to Charles E. Anderson for improvement, a lot at Sixth street and Fortieth avenue west; to Victor Johnson, a lot on Fourth street near Thirty-ninth avenue west; to A. M. Campbell, three lots on Thirty-ninth avenue west, near Fourth street; to M. Timmerman, a lot at Thirty-eighth avenue east and Fifth street, and to Harry Apton, an acre tract near Colbyville.

The Alliance Real Estate company reported the sales of nine lots and tracts at Exeter Farms during the week.

* * *

Interesting transactions were advised by Richardson, Day & Cheadle in sales of two 10-acre tracts near Duluth Heights yesterday to buyers who came all the way from Nebraska. One of them is preparing to clear his property for market gardening, while the other bought for investment. Three parcels in Norton's Acre Outlots were also disposed off.

* * *

Stryker, Manley & Buck sold 4½ acres in section 10, 50-11 to the Jackson Farmers' club. It is to be utilized for the purpose of holding agricultural exhibitions, and as a children's playground.

* * *

W. M. Prindle & Co. reported increased interest in their Crescent View Park proposition, attributable largely to the measure of success that had attended the Waverly Park sale. A number of lots were disposed of during the last few days.

* * *

C. L. Rakowsky & Co. reported the receipt of earnest money on the sale of a house on Eighteenth avenue east.

* * *

Gratification was expressed by the Hoopes-Kohagen company over the growing interest being shown in its Park Drive division adjoining Chester park, ten lots having been sold during the week. The laying of sewers in the addition is nearing completion, and the putting down of water and gas mains is to be proceeded with at once.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

ARCHITECTS AND BUILDERS HAVE BUSY WEEK IN DULUTH

New Residences for G. A. Tomlinson, W. C. Agnew and A. P. Barnes.

Extensive Building Program Planned By Syndicate of Duluthians.

Architects and builders found the present a fairly active week, considerable new work coming out both in the city and through the district. It is reported that a number of important jobs are still on architects' tables upon which figures will probably be taken in the near future.

The feature of the week was the intimation that G. Ashley Tomlinson proposes to build a handsome home to cost over $40,000 on the two-acre tracts just bought by him in Congdon Park. Plans for it are now in preparation by F. G. German, architect.

Buy Two Whole Blocks.

One of the most interesting developments in some time back came in the statement that the syndicate of Duluth capitalists which yesterday completed the purchase of two entire blocks of vacant property located opposite Waverly Park and between Hunter's Park and Congdon Park, proposes to improve it during the present season in the building of a number of expensive homes.

That taken in conjunction with the residences to be built by G. A. Tomlinson, W. C. Agnew, and Arthur P. Barnes in Congdon Park will inaugurate perhaps the most extensive high-class residence building movement that has ever materialized in this city. It is said that negotiations for two other residence sites in Congdon Park are in progress and that in the event of their being closed up as expected, the erection of homes to entail an outlay of approximately $35,000 each will be proceeded with.

Permits Give Faint Idea.

The twenty-one permits issued at the building inspector's office this week for undertakings estimated to cost $26,425, conveyed only a faint idea of the present activity in the trade. With the jobs in hand in the district towns in which Duluth builders are interested and the rush of construction of moderate-priced homes in all sections of the city, it is said that there are no idle men in the building trade in this city, but that on the other hand difficulty is being experienced by contractors in securing competent help, especially carpenters.

Speaking in that connection R. J. McLeod of the Lounsberry-McLeod company, said yesterday: "We were unable to secure interior finishers to work on the houses we are putting up in the Minnesota Steel company's model town locally and were compelled to send inquiries first down to Milwaukee and then to the Twin Cities. We have not even yet been able to secure the help we require."

The last foundation for houses included in that company's contract in the model town was put in this week, and work on the remaining superstructures is now proceeding rapidly with a force of over 300 men engaged.

* * *

Austin Terryberry, architect, has prepared plans for a frame house for William Olson at Wright, Minn., to cost about $4,000.

The contract for the Lutheran church parsonage at Fourth street and Sixth avenue east has been awarded to Gus P. Nossum. It will be a two-story frame, estimated to cost $4,000. The plans were prepared by Austin Terryberry.

Plans have been prepared by the same architect for a modern home for Dr. L. Spurbeck of Biwabik, Minn. Mr. Terryberry has also plans in hand for a frame and stucco home for James Curran at Woodland avenue and Eighth street, and he has completed plans and specifications for a Congregational church and parish house to be built at Wibaux, Minn.

* * *

The general contract for a handsome tile and stucco home for Arthur P. Barnes, to be built on the lot recently purchased by him in Congdon Park, and to cost about $14,000, has been awarded to Appleby Bros. The plans were prepared by Holstead & Sullivan, architects.

* * *

A brick and stucco home, to cost about $8,000, is being built for Joseph Horricks on Kent road above Woodland avenue. James Falconer is the general contractor. Holstead & Sullivan were the architects.

* * *

Edward P. Shurick and Oscar L. Solheim, associate architects, have plans in preparation for a six-room school to be built in this district. It is to be a two-story brick, and is estimated to cost $25,000.

The same architects have plans in hand for a residence for P. H. Madler to be built in District No. 24, five and a half miles northeast of Two Harbors. It is to be of reinforced concrete construction, brick faced, and is to be equipped with a lighting and heating plant. Its cost is estimated at $20,000.

They are besides preparing plans for a frame home for H. C. Foster to be built in Colman's addition at Woodland.

The contract for a double frame and stucco house for Mrs. Maria Richter at Twentieth avenue east and Second street, has been awarded to Frank A. Johnson at $7,500. A. W. Hunt was the architect.

* * *

A two-story brick and stucco home is being built for George Spaulding on Fifth street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues east. Gustafson & Olson are the general contractors and the plans were prepared by P. M. Olsen, architect. It will cost about $5,500.

* * *

The same architect has awarded the general contract to Johnson & Larson for a two-story frame house at Fifty-seventh avenue east and Third street for A. H. Carlberg to cost about $4,000.

* * *

Arthur Hanford, architect, is preparing plans for a frame dwelling for V. V. Hollimon at 223 East Fifth street. He has also plans in hand for a two-story frame house to be built on Glen Avon avenue at Woodland.

* * *

Plans are out for figures from the office of Bray & Nystrom, architects, for roofing and other improvements to the Roosevelt and Central schools at Virginia, Minn. The same architects have also plans out for a new roof on the technical high school in that city.

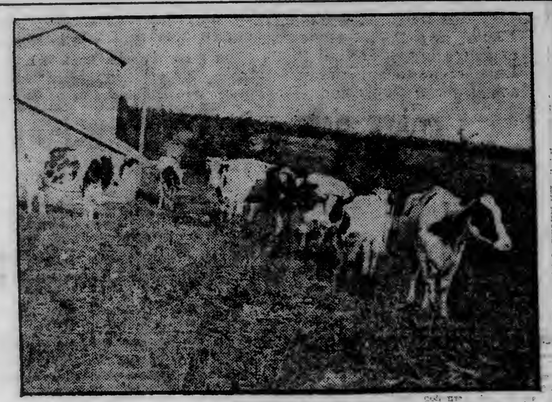

They are besides making plans for an addition to the Masonic temple at Hibbing, Minn., estimated to cost $10,000. Figures on the job will be taken next week.

ANOTHER DULUTHIAN JOINS THE RANKS OF "GENTLEMEN FARMERS"

REGISTERED HOLSTEINS, OWNED BY E. H. SMITH.

MAID CLOTHILDE OAK, OWNED BY E. H. SMITH.

E. H. Smith, Northwest representative and a director of the American Linseed company is sanguine regarding the outlook of the dairying industry in this district, especially now that a wider market for dairy products is afforded in the East as a result of the providing of refrigerator facilities of the package freight boats plying between Duluth and Buffalo.

He is arranging to take up dairying on an extended scale at his 150-acre warm located on Hanging Horn lake, one mile from Barnum. For a starter a thoroughbred Holstein herd of ten cows and a bull has just been installed, and this he proposes to augment from time to time.

The building of a barn of the most modern type will be undertaken at once on the farm. It is to be 36 by 60 feet in size, of concrete construction after the Van Guilder hollow-wall system, with hayloft of stucco. It will have a capacity for twenty-four stalls.

Bordering on the lake and with a stream running through it, Mr. Smith regards his farm as admirably adapted for dairying purposes. He has on it this season, forty acres in corn and oats and forty acres in clover.

THE "FIGHTING BANTAM'S" LIFE HAS BEEN ONE OF THRILLS

Whether in Cuba, Alaska, the Philippines, San Francisco or Mexico, Funston Has Been the Man Destiny Has Chosen to Take the Spotlight.

Chicago Tribune: Consider "Freddy on the Spot" Funston. If the Mexican upheaval is to throw a soldier into the presidential chair, the "Fighting Bantam of the Army" must be numbered among the possible candidates. He has had the happy faculty of being on the spot when history making events tore loose. And he has the ability to handle the problems thus suddenly presented.

Funston was in Dawson City before gold was discovered. He was in Cuba before the Spanish-American war. His regiment in that war complained because they were not sent to Santiago, but, being ordered to the Philippines, they fell into a far bigger, more dangerous and more important campaign. When San Francisco came tumbling about the ears of its—for once—serious inhabitants, who should pop up but Funston? And that was pure luck.

But it has not been by pure chance that Fred Funston has been found in the midst of stirring events. He has spent much of his life in the suburbs of civilization, where stirring events have the habit of happening. He has gone up and down the world from the Arctics to the tropics, a modern knight errant seeking adventure, or, as he phrases it, "looking for trouble."

As a Student at K. U.

The present brigadier-general has been a school teacher, newspaper reporter and editor, passenger train conductor, mining prospector, collector of botanic specimens, coffee planter on a Mexican plantation, magazine writer, filibuster, revolutionist, lecturer and a soldier in the artillery, cavalry and infantry of the Cuban and the United States armies.

He spent two years in Kansas university. While there, his classmate, William Allen White, asserts Funston, although but 5 feet 3 inches in height and weighing but 95 pounds, bluffed a bully of 200 pounds, got a warrant and at the point of a revolver marched him through Lawrence.

Subdued a Bad Man.

As a conductor on a Western railroad he ran against a cowboy who was expressing his joy by shooting holes through the top of the car. Funston kicked the gun out of the cowboy's hand, yanked him along the aisle, and chucked him on the back platform. The cowboy thereupon heaved a piece of ballast through a car window. Funston took after him and chased him up the track—and the train was delayed thirty minutes.

Funston, with a government party, next took a trip to Death Valley. On this trip half the party were disabled from lack of water and the great heat. In 1893 he set out on a trip for Alaska to gather botanical specimens.

Funston started out in the Arctic night Nov. 17 with the thermometer 62 degrees below zero and took a trip of twenty-two days. In March he made a social call—requiring a trip of six hundred miles—to a whaling fleet in the Arctic ocean.

It was while in Alaska that Funston made the longest journey on snowshoes ever made by a white man and paddled 1,100 miles down the Yukon without seeing a human face.

From Alaska to Mexico.

After failing in his project to establish a coffee plantation in Mexico Funston thought he would try a little filibustering. Failing in his first attempt to enlist with the Cuban junta in New York he went to the manufacturers of a rapid fire gun and learned from them the construction and operation of our guns.

He then procured a letter from Gen. Sickles which introduced him to the New York Cubans, and setting up one of the rapid fire guns in a back room above a Third avenue saloon, with curtains drawn and lights turned low, he drilled a number of young Cuban patriots. Through the hot summer he worked with them, in danger of arrest at all times—and no one but Funston of all the ardent band ever joined the Cuban army.

As a Soldier in Cuba.

With Gomez and Garcia in Cuba, Funston's career was one of constant thrills. He took part in the siege of Cascorra and on one day took an advanced position in a ravine with his rapid fire gun. "It has fallen to me to participate in a good many fights," he says of this occasion, "but never anywhere have I seen the equal of what was poured into us during the hour that we held our position in that ravine."

Funston's chief was killed at his side at Guimaro, and the Kansan was given charge of the artillery. At Bayamo he was shot three times, but soon was back "on the job" again. At Las Tunas he had charge of the dynamite gun which brought about the victory of the revolutionists, but after this battle his horse fell on him, injuring his hips badly.

With a shattered arm, pierced lung, generally battered, and suffering from malaria, Funston was allowed time to recuperate and started for the coast. He was captured by Spanish troops, imprisoned, and court-martialed, but escaped the death penalty because of his feat of eating Gen. Garcia's words written on the passport he carried.

Became a Brigadier General.

When war was declared against Spain Funston was offered a position on Gen. Miles's staff, but decided to take command of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers. He did not take part in the war in Cuba, but was sent to San Francisco.

A record of his life in the Philippines would be nothing but a long list of dangers of various kinds and only the more spectacular feats can be mentioned. Funston's regiment was the first to reach Malolos, the capital of the insurgents. It was Funston who broke the back of the revolt by his capture of Aguinaldo. In the short time that he was in the Philippines he rose from the rank of colonel of volunteers to that of brigadier general in the United States army.

EVEN SERVANT PROBLEM HAS ITS LIGHTER SIDE

New York Times: Several of our departed handmaidens stand out in our memory, surrounded by a veritable halo of smiles and laughter in spite of their faults and shortcomings.

One fat Swedish cook who substituted for the parlor maid on the latter's day "out," received explicit instructions to admit no patients coming to see the doctor through the private entrance; they should be asked to go to the doctor's entrance, instead of being led through the family's private rooms, as had frequently occurred in the past. Mathilda solemnly nodded her comprehension and proceeded to carry out instructions in the following masterly fashion:

A gentleman hurried up to the family's door, and Mathilda ponderously advanced to answer the ring.

Gentleman—Is the doctor in?

Mathilda—Blease go 'round te odder door.

Gentleman—Never mind that; is the doctor in?

M. (firmly)—Blease go 'round te odder door.

G. (very mad, loudly and distinctly)—Is-the-doctor-at-home?

M. (sadly)—Blease go 'round te odder door.

The gentleman, snorting his disgust, stamped down the steps, went around to the physician's entrance and rang hopefully.

Mathilda, looking at him as if she had never seen him before, soon opened the door acrack.

Gentleman—Well? Is the doctor in?

Mathilda—No, he iss oud!

Old Bridget was long in the family; and one of the tales about her which always started a chuckle ran as follows:

In order to have a chance to eat his luncheon in peace the doctor requested her to say he was "out" to any one who might call. The bell rang and she hastened to answer it. After a space she returned and stood awaiting a pause in the conversation.

"Ahem!" says Bridget. "Doctbor, dear, Oi don't moind lyin' fer yez; but, sow, Oi do feel dilicate about tellin' them yer out, phwin they hears yer voice in the dinin' room."

Annie was sometimes visited with gleams of near-intelligence, but she made no remark which will linger in our memories for many a moon to come.

In order to make the task of learning how to prepare meals on the cook's day off more attractive to Annie, the writer artfully suggested:

"You know, Annie, this knowledge will be useful to you when you have a home of your own—all roads to a man's heart lead through his stomach—they say!"

Annie allowed this to penetrate her very soul and after about ten minutes she said: "Well, ma'am, if that's so, how the master must love Bridget."

Black as the ace of spades was Mary, and many a smile was caused by her quaint humor.

One day she came prancing down the stairs in a very tight new pink dress with what, at first glance, seemed to be no less than a hundred small black buttons down the back. A large, flat, black hat sat down upon her wooly hair at an angle of forty-five degrees and three skyrocket pink plumes exploded from it in the opposite direction.

She slithered, giggling, into the room and came over to the woman lying on a sofa.

"Please ma'am, kin yo' button up this heah dress? Ah done try an' try, but sems lak Ah never kin get 'em fixed, an' Ah's gwine to be late fo' church."

"Yes," said the lady, "I'll button it for you if you'll kneel down here beside the couch."

Mary hid her giggles behind a yellow-gloved hand and finally: "Ah can't kneel down!" she confessed. "This yeah dress am entirely too tight fo' date."

The lady sat up. "Well,"—trying hard to keep her face straight—"how is that going to be when you're in church and going to kneel and say your prayers, Mary?"

More giggles and twisting from side to side, then: "Ah done said 'em upstairs, befo' I put this thing on!" she answered.

One morning shortly after this episode she was found weeping stormily as she cleaned the icebox—great tears splashing down to join the soda and boiling water.

"What has happened—can't I help you?" her anxious mistress asked, fearing some real trouble had come to the girl.

"No'm," sob—"'tain't nothin'"—gulp—"only—Jim an' I done bus' up fo' good last night!"

The long-suffering Jim had evidently decided that she needed a lesson, as she was an inveterate flirt, and she had never before shown more than a coquettish tolerance for his attentions and devotion. The gods smiled upon him that day, however, as he at that moment appeared at the open doorway, with the delivery slip for a ton of coal about to be put in the cellar, and sheepishly stood listening to his unconscious lady love bemoaning her loss, her back to the door, scrubbing and sobbing for all she was worth.

Suffice to say, her mistress tactfully vanished, and the evening saw Mary, gayly attired, go forth to meet her triumphant swain at the garden gate.

Lottie was equally black, and "kinder settled" as to age. Talking was her forte and no hints sufficed to silence her. Frequently, however, she made remarks worth hearing—so the family bore her long stories patiently, on the whole, and usually were rewarded.

Lottie had one brilliant gold tooth, which glittered as she smiled, and when she received her first month's wages she remarked: "Now Ise gwine ter be a sho' nuff swell! I'll git dat dentis' man to kiver up another tooth with gold!"

When her mistress observed that her teeth seemed unsually sound and healthy looking, Lottie grinned and said:

"Ob cose dey is; but yo' gotta hab gold ones mixed in to be fashionable now'days!"

She and her husband had occasional spats, from which Lottie generally emerged triumphant. The family was never left in ignorance concerning these bouts:

"Well, I done fix Sylvester. I done tell him I isn' gwine cook fo' him no mo' twell he behave hisself. Dat ain't no joke fer no feller, yes'm. He act mighty hifalutin' fo' a day or so, an' he preten' he didn' injare. But last night I done fry up a pohk chop an' when he came in so hig steppin' an' no carey he smelt the chop. I act like I don' see him nohow, and clear up the dishes.

"Pres'nly he sniff some mo', an' den he say: 'Lottie, honey, does I smell a pohk chop?' 'Yep,' says I, 'yo smell what was a pohk chop.' (I hid it an' he thought I'd done et it.) 'Well, sugar pie,' says he to me, 'ef Sylvester'll be a good boy, does you 'low you could find another pohk chop fo' him, too?'

"I looked at him outer de cohna of mah eye, an' I see he was fixin' to git out unless I said 'yes,' so I up an fetch dat pohk chop. You see, no matter how high a bird fly, he jest gotta come down fo' his food!"

SAME QUICK ANSWER.

Atlanta Constitution: Sam Jimpson, colored, had a colored reghbor of some means, who was unkind enough to build a high board fence about his yard, wherein grew many luscious melons. One day Sam found a hole in the fence, and, licking his lips, he started to crawl through. The neighbor happened to be standing near the hole.

"Heah, you!" he cried, "whah you gwine?"

"I'se gwine back," said Sam, quickly suiting action to word.

MOTION PICTURES TEACH VOTERS.

Consul Alexander W. Weddell, Catania, Italy: As a result of the new suffrage law, the number of electors in this district and presumably throughout Italy, has been enormously increased. In the province of Catania, for example, there were under the old law some 41,000 qualified voters; under the new statute the number leaps to over 140,000. (The electorate in all Italy is stated to have been thus increased from 4,000,000 to 8,000,000 or 9,000,000.)

The task of educating the new voters to cast their ballots properly is a heavy one. As a means to this end the moving-picture theaters throughout the district have exhibited films showing graphically the procedure to be followed; in addition the representatives of one of the political parties have exposed similar films in local assembly rooms. This means of educating the public has been so favorably received that similar methods for teaching the elements of domestic and personal hygiene and similar subjects are beginning to be discussed by physicians and others.

CLAM AND EEL IN BATTLE.

New York Sun: Michael Morrisey of Dedham, Mass., witnessed one of the strangest water battles ever heard of when in the tall grass along the bank of the Charles river above the Cottage Farm bridge.

Morrisey had been prowling along the shore, when he spied a disturbance in the water about five feet from where he was standing. Upon investigation the trouble proved to be an eel making for a clam which lay in wait for the eel with jaws wide open. The fight started over what seemed to be a disagreement as to whether the clam or the eel had a right to occupy the hole over which the clam had taken its position.

The eel tried to snap the tender part of the clam, and the clam did not seem to have sense enough to keep its mouth shut. Perhaps it had tried it, with the result that the eel nosed it off its resting place. The clam, on the defensive, would wait the dart of the eel and when it though the right time had arrived would snap the shell together in an attempt to catch the eel's head in its grip.

AN OLD SUN DIAL.

Indianapolis News: Record is contained in the Bible of a sun dial set up in 771 B. C., by Ahaz, to commemorate the miraculous healing of his son, Hezekiah. A very ancient one was recently discovered lying in the grounds of the ruined castle of Finlarig, Killin, Perthshire, Scotland. For many centuries the occupants of the castle deciphered its many angles as it stood reared on a tall pedestal, reflected in the waters of a fountain. The interval of nearly 2,000 years between this dial and that set up by Ahaz shows for how long the dial held its own as an object of utility.

ANCIENT MINIMUM WAGE LAW.

Indianapolis News: England knew the maximum wage long before the minimum was thought of. It came about after the plague of 1348 had swept away half the population. Work was at a standstill for lack of workers, and wages went up so enormously that the state thought it necessary to fix a limit. The state ordered that the laborer should not 'rerely accept gratefully what was offered him, but that he must not leave his parish in search of another master on pain of having the letter "F," (for fugitive) branded on his forehead. Statutes of this kind were popular up to Queen Elizabeth's time, when the last of the series was passed, "in the hope that it should banish idleness, advance husbandry and yield unto the hired person, both in the time of scarcity and in the time of plenty, a convenient proportion of wages."

NOT IN HIS CLASS.

Washington Star. "Statesmen and politicians are all very well in their way, but beside great artists they pale and dwindle somewhat."

The speaker was David Belasco. He was praising Nijinsky, the wonderful Russian dancer. He went on:

"Nijinsky will perhaps dance in New York next year. If he does his salary will be very, very high. An agent said to him in a discussion of his salary:

"But, my dear sir, that's more than President Wilson gets!"

"'Very well,' said Nijinsky, 'suppose you get President Wilson to dance my 'Spectre de la Rose' and 'Sylphides' for you in New York, then!'"

MUMMY WHEAT WON'T GROW.

Breeders' Gazette: Whether the wheat berries sometimes found with Egyptian mummies will germinate is a thing often asked about.

The claim that such seeds were capable of germinating was made by a German botanist a great many years ago. It has long since been shown that such seeds will not grow. Wheat seed retains its vitality only for a comparatively short period, not much more than seven years. However, for producing a crop the period is much shorter. Old seed does not have the vigor of new seed.

What happened in the case of the so-called germinating wheat seed from the Egyptian mummies was that the Egyptians substituted recently grown seed for the old mummified seed.

Marine

BREAKWATER AGAIN URGED

Marine Men Stirred By Narrow Escape of the Hamonic.

Big Vessel Maneuvers in High Seas for More Than an Hour.

The need of a breakwater at this port was again clearly shown this morning when the big passenger steamer Hamonic was delayed more than an hour in attempting to make the entry to the harbor during the violent gale. Even after getting into the harbor the vessel was unable to secure a place east of the Northern Pacific dock, and tied up east of the tug office.

Delayed More Than an Hour.

Driven by a gale that ranged from forty-five to sixty miles from the northeast the big steamer had to maneuver some distance from the entry for more than an hour before she could safely venture into the channel. Marine men believe that if the Hamonic had come in at night with the lights impaired as they were when the Benjamin Noble was lost, that she too might have gone down with all her passengers and crew.

The gale being from the northeast today made it extremely perilous for vessels attempting to go through the narrow channel. The wind and waves coming at an angle of about forty-five degrees to the stern threatened to dash the boat into pieces against the concrete piers. However, as the worst of the storm struck late this morning the vessels had the opportunity of coming in by daylight, which greatly lessened their danger.

Marine Men Stirred.

The necessity of building a breakwater was the topic of conversation in all the marine offices at the Head of the Lakes today, and it is probable that today's storm coming in the wake of the gale that sank the Noble will have a powerful effect in stirring up a stronger sentiment for a breakwater.

Marine men say that the seas were not so high today as they were when the Noble went down although the wind was stronger. The rain today is said to have helped calm the lake while the great difference in barometric pressure in different parts of the lake during the gale in April had a tendency to pile up the waters at that time.

CHANGES IN BILL PLEASE SHIPPERS

Buffalo, N. Y., June 27.—The news that the La Follette seamen's bill, in amended form as applied to shipping on the Great Lakes, had been reported to the house of representatives by the committee on merchant marine and fisheries, was received with much gratification here by persons interested in lake traffic.

In its original form the bill was a menace to Buffalo's shipping industry and traffic on the Great Lakes, as the stringent conditions would have driven most of the large carrier companies and excursion steamers out of business.

In its present form the bill exempts vessels whose terminal points do not exceed a run of thirteen hours from the two and three-watch provisions of the original bill, so long as the men are not on watch longer than six and one-half hours. The present bill also provides that a man may serve as an able seaman if he has had two years' service at sea or the Great Lakes.

Passenger steamers whose routes are more than three miles off shore must carry life boats and pontoon life rafts sufficient to carry all on board, 75 per cent to be life boats, but from May 15 to Sept. 15 life boats and rafts to accommodate 50 per cent of all persons on board are required, two-fifths of the equipment to be life boats.

On other vessels the number of life boats and rafts is to be determined as heretofore.

Passenger steam vessels, the keels of which are laid after July 1, 1915, for service on the ocean and the Great Lakes more than three miles off shore, shall carry life boats and rafts for all on board, not less than 75 per cent of the equipment to be life boats.

PROPER FOOD.

Chicago News: "I did not see you at the domestic science lecture yesterday," said Mrs. Twinkler.

"No," answered Mrs. De Vote. "There is no use in my studying domestic science."

"Why not? They tell you just what foods are to be fed to children to make them grow in a healthful manner and develop properly."

"My children don't want to hear about foods that are good for them. Neither does my husband. I don't dare tell them that a certain food is good for them. They will never touch it if I do. They think it in the medicine class.

"I used to feed them rice. Rice, as I learned when I attended the lectures, is rich in protein, and the body requires a certain amount of protein.

"I explained it all to my husband and the boys and that settled the rice question forever. They said they didn't care for drugs with their meals. They said they ate for the fun of the thing; not for their health.

"They made all sorts of fun of me. Mr. De Vote would say: 'Have some proteids, boys!' and the boys would respond, 'Side track 'em, dad!'

"It was the same with albuminous foods. They wouldn't eat eggs. They said they didn't care for albumen. I quit just in time or they would have abandoned their cereal in the morning.

"Some people want to be ill anyway. it would be a deprivation to them not to be ill. Suppose old Uncle Witterkop should cure himself of all his ailments by eating proper foods. What a lot of good fun he would miss!

"Uncle Witterop likes to take medicine. He can have more fun with such symptoms as he can extract than he can with a Japanese puzzle or a chemical experiment. It is science, philosophy and mental exercise to him to find out his symptoms. They are his companions morning, noon and night.

"When he discovers a new symptom he feels that life is worth living. He hurries to the medicine chest with an elastic step. He is anxious to see what his favorite remedy will do to that new symptom. If the remedy wins he smiles with delight. If the symptom wins he rubs his hands. It is a splendid game.

"It would be a shame to feed Uncle Witterkop properly and thus deprive him of all that sport.

"So I have decided to drop the lectures, and let things take their course."

WOULD HAVE COMPANY.

Los Angeles Times: There was an old Scottish pagan in a small village who could be by no means persuaded to attend church. One day the minister met him and began:

"How is it, John, you are so persistent in your absence from church?"

"Weel,' replied John, 'it's just like this—the sermons are over lang for me."

"John! John!" wrathfully cried the minister, "you'll die and you'll go to a place where you'll hear no sermon, long or short."

"Ah, weel, maybe that will be," replied the phlegmatic John; "but I'm sure it'll not be for want of meenisters."

TAKES BRYAN ONLY THREE MINUTES TO DRESS.

Washington correspondence Boston Advertiser: William J. Bryan, the secretary of state, has traveled so much that he has become an expert in how to travel. In his many campaigns he has acquired the habit of being able to sleep between stations, but he never could sleep unless he went to bed with his everyday clothes off, so that he had to hurry to put them on when the next station where he was to speak arrived.

The secretary gave a good exhibition of his celerity on this score, according to a traveler, as he came back to Washington last week from New York, where he had made an address. He had spent the night in a railroad car berth, and it was noticed that he was fully dressed three minutes after that, to the great surprise and admiration of those occupying the car with him.

TO SELL A USED AUTOMOBILE YOU MUST NECESSARILY REACH THE PEOPLE WHO BUY AUTOS!

98% Per Cent of the Present Car Owners Read The Duluth Herald—Future Car Owners Also Read It.

THAT 98 out of every 100 automobile owners in Duluth and vicinity read The Duluth Herald was shown by a careful comparison between The Duluth Herald's subscription list and the names of car owners to whom licenses have been issued.

It is fair to conclude that an equal proportion of future automobile owners also read this paper.

The Duluth Herald's complete, accurate, well-told news and absorbing features appeal to the alert earning classes whose income is sufficient to enable them to afford automobiles.

Take this into consideration if you wish to sell a used machine. Place a "want" in The Duluth Herald, where it will be seen by the likely buyers.

If you wish to buy a used car and do not find listed in the "want" ads just what you want, insert an ad of your own asking for it; in this way you will reach practically all the present car owners and you will be able to secure just the car you want at a satisfactory price.

LOWEST RATES

The Duluth Herald's charges for classified advertising are less per thousand circulation than those of any other newspaper in Minnesota.
